Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

International Visitors Programs-The Organization coordinates professional visits and training programs to Oregon for approximately 500 current and emerging leaders around the world each year. These visitors are top business, professional, cultural, and youth leaders, and promising emerging leaders. They are connected with their professional counterparts in Oregon for meetings, or come for week to month-long professional trainings. The visitors come through high-profile programs such as the U.S. Department of States International Visitor Leadership Program (IVLP), the USAID-sponsored Community Connections Program, and the Open World Program-the only international exchange through the U.S. Legislative Branch. While IVLP participants stay in hotels, the remaining groups often stay with local volunteer host families. The International Visitors Program enables cross-cultural conversations and facilitates professional knowledge exchange between Oregonians and the world. WorldOregon hosts approximately 50 high school leaders annually from all over the world through U.S. Department of State youth leadership programs. These international youth engage with area youth leaders and stay with local volunteer host families in often their first exposure to international travel and U.S. culture.

WorldOregon offers professional development training (Teach the World), speakers on international issues, networking opportunities for teachers and connections with students on international exchanges. An Educator Advisory Council helps provide teacher input to this work. The Young Leaders in Action program includes 20-25 students annually from area high schools who engage in leadership training, execute action plans and serve as ambassadors to their schools.
