Video System Health Check

Technical Support

Experienced Service Teams

Stealth runs a proactive, proprietary system health-checking program that analyzes cameras, NVRs, hard drives, internet, and other on-site equipment to improve performance.

The system works in conjunction with Stealth's field technicians and service teams to maximize uptime.

The health check can detect problems related to power, internet, wireless, and camera outages.

Both property incidents and technical issues are logged into a client database for resolution, tracking, and analysis.

The system has a back-end tracking and service ticket system to manage technical issues and prioritize service problems.

The health check is designed to notify us quickly, so we can proactively correct as many problems remotely as we can to reduce the number of expensive truck rolls and achieve faster resolutions.

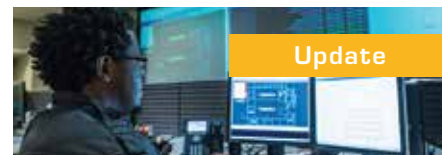

Choose an industry leader with over 25,000 watched cameras every night

Find out if there is a problem with your system before you experience a crime.

If there is an issue, our trained specialists will work to fix it as soon as possible.

Technical issues are logged to a client database and analyzed for quick resolution.
