

THE SOUTHERN FOODWAYS ALLIANCE AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI LEADS THE REGIONAL FOODWAYS CONVERSATION.

THROUGH ORAL HISTORY, documentary film, print, podcasts, and events, we tell true stories about this place and its people. You, our supporters, give us the momentum (and resources) to enable this work.

Member and donor dollars allow us to sing the unsung and support vibrant, vital storytelling across our projects and platforms.

In 2024, we'll tell more stories of a South that is constantly evolving, one where past, present, and future come together on the plate.

4 ISSUES of Gravy published, showcasing the work of nearly 100 writers, illustrators, and photographers

20 EPISODES of the Gravy podcast released. We joined the APT Podcast Studios network to expand our reach and passed the 3 million all-time downloads mark.

9 DOCUMENTARY FILMS produced on subjects ranging from the high cost of cheap food to the Great Migration experience in Los Angeles. We also supported the work of three summer film residents.

81 ORAL HISTORIES recorded and photographed with bakers, brewers, and farmers from Virginia to Texas

10K + ITEMS added to our digital archive to keep our storytelling work alive for future scholarship

26TH FALL SYMPOSIUM staged in Oxford. We asked, "Where is the South?" by way of original art, storytelling, meals, cocktails, and presentations.

3 AWARDS bestowed to a sno-ball stalwart, a taco impresario, and a culturally driven nutrition advocate
