This is Austin Peay State University…

Austin Peay State University is a community of learners that strives to provide quality education programs and to be a source of knowledge and strength for the community.

As a comprehensive liberal arts university, Austin Peay creates many opportunities for students to lead productive, fulfilling and responsible lives.

The University is committed to excellence, integrity, the open exchange of ideas, caring for each other's welfare, community involvement and an appreciation for individual and cultural differences.

Austin Peay is a mid-sized university with a dynamic learning environment that attracts traditional and non-traditional students from not only the region but the state, the nation and the world as well, enabling it to be a source of knowledge and strength for the region and a creative contributor to the global learning community.

CORE CURRICULUM

The undergraduate program is the nucleus of Austin Peay. The liberal arts core is required of all baccalaureate students. The core provides a broad, multicultural foundation in literature, the arts, history, mathematics and the natural and behavioral sciences. The core is designed to develop critical thinking and communication skills and a commitment to learning throughout a lifetime. Students who master the core are expected to possess the adaptability to succeed and contribute to society both personally and professionally.

STUDENT LIFE

Life at Austin Peay is what you want to make it. Here, you can explore your academic, social and career interests in an environment that encourages you to succeed.

APSU is the designated liberal arts university among all public institutions in Tennessee. That means we go out of our way to provide a rich variety of activities—in and out of class—that can enhance your university experience.

Learning is our focus–but having fun is part of learning, too, and APSU offers lots of good times. Develop your skills, stretch your imagination, show off your talents and get to know people who share your interests in almost 100 student organizations, include: departmental clubs, honor and professional organizations, special interest and service groups, religious groups and social organizations. A new student center opened in Spring 2002 to heighten those experiences.

From student government to Greek organizations, from the newspaper staff to community service groups, from competitive athletics to career preparation, you'll find your place at APSU.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

At Austin Peay, our commitment is to challenge your mind, expand your skills, explore your ideas and prepare you for success in your chosen field.

APSU is the state's designated liberal arts university, made up of the College of Arts and Letters, College of Business, College of Graduate Studies, College of Professional Programs and Social Sciences, College of Science and Mathematics and the School of Technology and Public Management at Fort Campbell. The School of Education and the School of Nursing are part of the College of Professional Programs and Social Sciences.

The University offers about 1,100 courses, including web-based courses, in more than 50 undergraduate degree programs leading to associate (two-year) and bachelor's (four-year) degrees, as well as graduate studies for master's degrees and the education specialist degree.

APSU has two Centers of Excellence, both recognized as "Accomplished" by the Tennessee Board of Regents for success in education.

The Center for the Creative Arts, the only program of its type in Tennessee, is dedicated to achievement in music, creative writing, visual arts and theatre. The center attracts outstanding national and international talents, enabling you to study with working artists. It sponsors outstanding activities, including the Mid-South Jazz Festival, Center Stage summer theatre program and The Dimensions New Music Series. APSU also provides you with creative facilities, including the state-of-the-art $9.4 million music/mass communication building.

The Center for Field Biology offers hands-on training in research and practical management under the guidance of practicing professionals. The Center for Field Biology is housed in the massive $38 million Sundquist Science Complex.

APSU also has four Chairs of Excellence, one in the arts, one in the School of Nursing and two in business. These visiting faculty positions bring outstanding scholars, artists and business leaders to campus to teach and share their "real-world" knowledge.

FACULTY

Nobody will have more impact on your college years than your professors. That's why it's so important to have faculty who are truly dedicated to teaching.

Ninety percent of our faculty hold the highest degrees in their fields. APSU, with its "Accomplished" Centers of Excellence and Chairs of Excellence, also attracts distinguished scholars, artists, scientists and business professionals to teach each year.

Best of all, the APSU faculty has a long tradition of active involvement with students. They make themselves available to consult with students during regular office hours and often outside class and office hours. Plus, many faculty members volunteer their time to work with student groups.

THE CAMPUS

Austin Peay has been at the center of Clarksville since 1927 when it was established by the Tennessee General Assembly as Austin Peay Normal School for teachers.

APSU and Clarksville have grown together.

APSU achieved university status in 1966, and a close bond exists between the University and community.

Located 40 miles northwest of Nashville at the Tennessee-Kentucky border, Clarksville is the fifth largest city in the state.

Clarksville also is the birthplace of Governor Austin Peay, for whom the school was named. The mascot, appropriately, is the Governor.

Situated just a few minutes walk from Clarksville's downtown, APSU's campus has served as the site for educational institutions since 1806. Today, the APSU main campus consists of 65 buildings and more than 160 acres. The University also maintains a 475-acre teaching farm and a separate facility at Fort Campbell.

The newest building additions to the main campus are: the Sundquist Science Complex and the new Morgan University Center, both opening during the 2001-2002 school year. The Sundquist Complex is one of the South's premier science education facilities and represents the largest capital appropriation ever in Tennessee for a single classroom building. The new Morgan University Center is located in the heart of the campus and features meeting rooms, a food court, coffee shop, ballroom and lounges for Austin Peay students.

While the majority of students are residents of Tennessee and Kentucky, APSU also attracts students from the entire Southeastern region and nationally. But wherever you come from, there's something about the APSU campus--its rolling lawns, the classic red brick tower of the Browning Building, the students gathering places–that says this is a good place to call home.

Jeff Gooch was named special teams MVP for the Detroit Lions in 2002. He is in his eighth NFL season and second with the Lions.

ATHLETICS SUCCESS

Austin Peay continues to grow as it offers broad-based athletic opportunities at the NCAA Division I level. In 1998, APSU added golf to its list of women's sports, joining tennis, basketball, cross country, softball, track, rifle and volleyball. Women's soccer began its first season of competition this fall. APSU offers men's teams in football (non-scholarship), basketball, cross country, baseball, tennis and golf.

2003 GOVERNORS FOOTBALL

In the 1990s, APSU gained much recognition for the success of its athletics program. Men and women's basketball and baseball participated in the NCAA tournament while several athletes brought national attention to themselves and the school.

This has continued into the next century. In fact, 2002-03 saw both the Governors and Lady Govs basketball teams win OVC titles and advance to the NCAA tournament—it was the third straight time for the Lady Govs. Meanwhile, the Golf Govs also won their third straight league title.

Trenton Hassell, who was the highest-drafted Gov by the NBA in 2001, went on to become the Chicago Bulls "Player of the Year" as a rookie. He is now in his third Bulls season.

With APSU alums playing professionally in the National Basketball Association and internationally, Major League Baseball, the National Football League, the Canadian Football League and overseas, and in golf and tennis, the University continues to build on its history of athletic excellence.

Jamie Walker

For instance, Jeff Gooch is in his eight year as an NFL linebacker, now with the Detroit Lions. Meanwhile, his former Govs secondary mate, Michael Swift, also played multiple seasons in the NFL while a third 1995 secondary member, Kirk Pointer, played in the Arena Football League.

Trenton Hassell, the 2001 OVC Player of the Year, was the highest-drafted NBA Gov (30th pick) in history and then was named the Chicago Bulls "Player of the Year" as a rookie in 2001-02.

Bubba Wells, who set several Austin Peay and Ohio Valley Conference basketball records, resurrected his pro basketball career in the Philippines after sitting out all the 1999-2000 season recovering from a torn Achilles tendon. He has decided to return to APSU to begin his coaching career.

Meanwhile, Lady Govs' all-time leading scorer Brooke Armistead because the OVC's first WNBA-drafted player. She was the 2002-03 OVC Female Athlete of the Year in addition to OVC Women's Basketball Player of the Year. Like Wells, she also has returned to APSU to embark on a coaching career.

After spending two seasons with the Kansas City Royals in the late 1990s, lefthander Jamie Walker, former OVC Pitcher of the Year (1991), is another Governor fighting his way back into the major leagues. After overcoming an assortment of injury problems, he has been one of the Detroit Tigers' most dependable relief pitchers the past two years.

GATEWAY TO THE NEW SOUTH

Situated in the rolling hills of Middle Tennessee, Clarksville is one of the fastest growing cities in the Southeast. With a heritage spanning more than 200 years, Clarksville/Montgomery County has continued to grow and adapt, becoming the state's fifth largest city, growing to more than 103,000 and growing faster than any other Tennessee city other than Nashville and Memphis. Area and business leaders have worked hard to build on community strengths with a vision of a vibrant, prosperous future.

Clarksville is an award-winning city, having received numerous rankings and recognitions during the past few years, including being a finalist for All-America City honors in 2002. It continually is ranked as a top quality community by publications like Reader's Digest, Money Magazine, Demographics Journal, Expansion Management, Forbes and others. It also was recognized as the 10th Best City for New College Grads by National Business Employment Weekly.

Founded in 1784, Clarksville is named in honor of General George Rogers Clark, a Revolutionary War hero from the area.

Although agriculture has been a vital part of the past, Clarksville has grown to become a culturally diverse community, offering residents and visitors unique sights and sounds.

In partnership with APSU, Clarksville stands in a class of its own with art galleries and a wide variety of musical and theatrical events to satisfy most artistic tastes.

From significant Civil War history to mid-1800s architecture, some damaged by the January 1999 tornado, to Fort Campbell, home of the 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault), history buffs find interesting landmarks that tell unique tales of the area's past and present.

Clarksville began as an agricultural town with tobacco as a major source of income for the local community. Since then, Clarksville's economic base has boomed and now includes a diversified mix of manufacturing, government, finance, state university, military installation and retail. The downtown has rebounded from that devastating tornado to again take iits place as community's hub.

Today, Clarksville continues to lead the region in health care, business, education and agriculture. Its natives have led state government, and its athletes have competed against the world. For more than 200 years, Clarksville has been building on the tradition of a proud past with an even brighter, progressive future as the Gateway to the New South.

Dave Loos, APSU Athletics Director

Dave Loos, the Governors popular head basketball coach, is in his seventh year as Austin Peay's athletics director. Loos was named to the post in May 1997 and took over the duties July 1 of that same year.

His leadership style has seen the APSU athletic department flourish like never before. Nine OVC regular-season or tourney championship banners have been hung during Loos' tenure. Seven APSU teams also have appeared in NCAA tourney play. The department also won its first-ever OVC Academic banner under his direction.

His double duties aptly pointed out the respect Loos has both on and off campus. His common-sense approach to athletics director's duties have been with the same diligence that have been so representative of his APSU basketball tenure.

His Governors teams won the Ohio Valley Conference tournament and gained an NCAA tourney berth in 1996 and 2003; captured the 1997 (first since 1977) and 2003 league co-championships. Loos was named OVC Coach of the Year in 1990-91, 1996-1997, 2002-03—the only APSU coach in history to earn that honor more than once.

Under Loos, the Govs have had six winning seasons in the last eight years, including last season's 23-8 mark—the most under Dave Loos and the second most in school history. He has led APSU to two of its four 20-win regular seasons—the other being the 2000-01 season's 22-10 mark.

Loos not only has elevated APSU's program to the pinnacle of OVC prominence, but has done it with the dignity and class reflective of the reputation he built as an athlete and as a high school/college coach.

He is only the second APSU coach to lead the Govs to an OVC regular-season co-championship and NCAA Division I tourney berth. His APSU teams have advanced to at least the OVC tourney semifinals in seven of the last nine years. That sustains his reputation of elevating his club's play during February-March, where the Govs own nearly a .667 winning percentage in the last nine years.

In 1994-95, the Governors finished the regular-season at 12-15 but pulled two upsets in the Ohio Valley Conference tournament before falling to Murray State when star forward Bubba Wells suffered a surgery-necessitating right leg stress fracture.

In 1995-96, the Governors again peaked late. In February, the Govs fashioned an 8-2 record, including six straight victories. APSU entered the NCAA tourney with a four-game win streak before losing to Georgia Tech.

A year later, the Governors finished 17-14 overall—with All-America forward Wells missing the season's first 12 games—but won six of their final eight games, including a four-game winning streak that helped clinch a regular-season OVC co-championship.

In 1997-98, the Govs, despite a rebuilding season, ended the season with a surprising 17-11 record and a fourth-place OVC finish.

In 1998-99, the young Govs finished in a third-place OVC tie, although the 11-16 mark ended the string of winning seasons at three.

A year later, the Govs ended 18-11. The 18 wins represented the most regular-season wins by the Govs since 1976-77.

APSU topped that mark in 2000-01 with a 22-10 record—the Govs first 20-win season since 1986-87 and the most regular-season wins (20) by an APSU team since 1976-77—and topped that a year ago.

Entering his 14th Govs coaching season, Loos has earned three "Coach of the Year" citations, two from his fellow OVC coaches and one from the Tennessee State Sportswriters Association. He was their 1995-96 "College Coach of the Year."

He was named OVC "Coach of the Year" after his first APSU season (1990-91) in leading the Governors to a much-improved 15-14 record. He then began building his own program with young men who reflected their coach both on and off the court and represented the University with great class.

As a result, Loos achieved one of his program's goals—the Governors reclaiming their spot among the OVC elite and annually competing for the title. He previously restored the program's image, tarnished by an NCAA investigation prior to his arrival.

Loos became Austin Peay's 11th head men's basketball coach on July 14, 1990. The likeable 56-year-old has proven to be a "perfect fit" for the APSU program.

Loos came to APSU after four seasons as Memphis State's top assistant. He joined Larry Finch at Memphis State in 1986 and helped direct his alma mater to an 85-43 record, including two NCAA tourney appearances and a Metro Conference tourney title during his tenure.

Prior to joining Memphis State, Loos enjoyed four successful head coaching seasons at Christian Brothers College in Memphis. He took over that program in 1982-83, and after an initial 16-14 season, recorded three straight 20-victory campaigns.

Loos' move to CBC came after spending eight seasons as head coach at his alma mater, Mehlville High School in St. Louis.

The Missouri native played both basketball and baseball during his college days at Memphis State. Loos was the starting point guard for the 1968-69 Tigers, leading the team in minutes played. He also was the baseball Tigers' shortstop.

Upon completing his eligibility, he remained at Memphis State as an assistant in 1970. Following his graduation (1970), he officially began his coaching career as an assistant basketball coach and head baseball coach at CBC.

Loos is involved in many charitable events, including the NABC (National Association of Basketball Coaches) Coaches vs. Cancer Three-Point Attack.

He and his wife, Phyllis, have four children, David, Todd, Brad, a former Gov who is a graduate assistant at Central Missouri State, and Nicole, age 20, a senior at APSU and member of the school's dance team.

Loos was inducted into the Memphis University Athletic Hall of Fame a year ago.

Country music entertainer Rebecca Lynn Howard helped Dave Loos and the APSU Athletic Department raise funds through a benefit concert in August.

Carroll McCray, Governors Head Football Coach

Carroll McCray became Austin Peay's 16th head coach on Jan. 20, succeeding Bill Schmitz.

After spending 14 years as a Division 1-A/1-AA coach, the veteran coach ascent to his first head-coaching position was a natural one. And in doing so, became APSU's second coach in the non-scholarship era.

He spent his two previous seasons as an assistant at Mississippi State, coaching centers and offensive guards.

"Carroll McCray is a very knowledgeable football coach who we think will continue the success achieved this past year in our football program," APSU athletics director Dave Loos said on his hiring. "He is a man of great integrity who will have the best interests of our student-athletes at heart.

"Carroll is someone who will have a strong presence in the community and quickly build additional interest in this program."

No truer words could have been spoken. No sooner had he been named, he was a guest at local and area services clubs and other public gatherings.

McCray brings 19 seasons of coaching experience to Clarksville. Most recently, he was brought to Starkville by then offensive coordinator Sparky Woods. McCray previously served five seasons (1988-93) under Woods when the latter was head coach at South Carolina. He coached the offensive line, tight ends, h-backs and special teams during that tenure in helping the Gamecocks in their transition to the Southeastern Conference. He coached offensive tackle Ernest Dye, the school's first all-SEC performer.

"We had a strong pool of candidates....but in the end we found who we strongly believe is the right fit for our football program and this University."

—Dave Loos, APSU Athletics Director

He also helped tutor three players who earned spots in the Senior Bowl and two in the Blue-Gray and East/West Shrine games.

In between the two stints working with Woods, McCray worked seven seasons (1994-00) as the offensive line coach under Pete Hurt at Samford University.

While with the Bulldogs, McCray's offensive lines ranked among I-AA's best. In 2000, McCray's unit paved the way to a school-record 3,439 yards rushing and 41 touchdowns. Just one year prior, Samford averaged more than 300 yards rushing per game, the fourth highest total in Division I-AA.

During his seven-year stint in Birmingham, McCray's offensive lines helped lead the way for 11 Samford running backs to gain more than 500 single-season rushing yards.

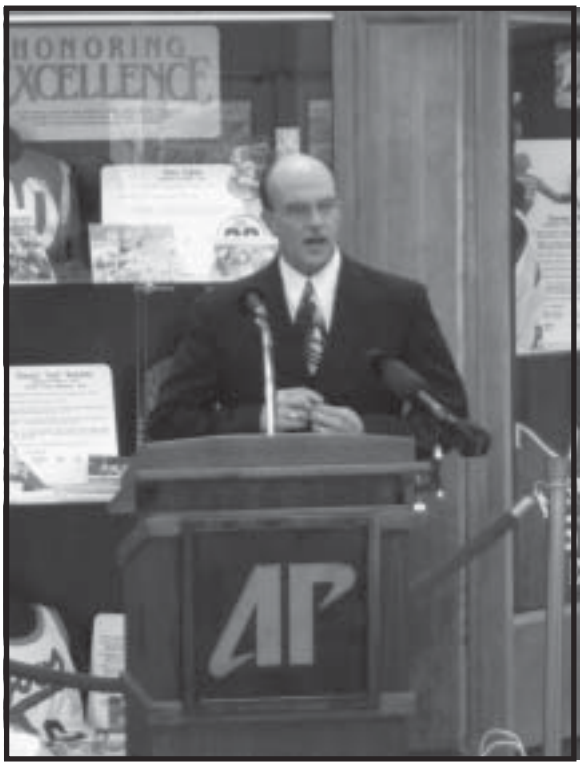
McCray began his coaching career with Woods at Appalachian State, where he served two years as a graduate assistant, working with the tight ends and tackles, and three years as an assistant in charge of the inside linebackers. While at Appalachian State, the Mountaineers compiled a 38-19-2 record. Appalachian State advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs in 1986 and again in 1987, advancing to the semifinals the latter year after eliminating defending national champion Georgia Southern.

McCray enjoyed a stellar playing career for Gardner-Webb College, an NAIA powerhouse, as an offensive lineman, earning three letters. Coincidentally, Gardner-Webb also produced Morehead State football coach Matt Ballard, a soon-to-be Pioneer Football League coaching opponent. Prior to beginning his career at Gardner-Webb, McCray was a standout lineman for Parkwood High School in Monroe, N.C.

McCray is married to the former Angel Allen. They have two children, a son, Trey, age 15, and daughter Meredith, age 10.

"I think you work a long time to put yourself in position to have this opportunity. So we are going to work extremely hard to make this successful and, hopefully, make the young people feel important plus give them the opportunity to continue the success they have had."

—APSU coach Carroll McCray



Carroll McCray became Austin Peay's 16th head coach in January

Carroll McCray, a former offensive line coach at Mississippi State, came on board in January and immediately began asserting his influence on the Governors football program.

The Pioneer Football League Begins Third Year

The 2003 season marks the third year of the new Pioneer Football League and the 11th overall for the conference.

Two years ago, the PFL embraced its most significant changes in conference history when it became nine members strong with the addition of Austin Peay State University, Davidson College, Jacksonville University and Morehead State University to the league's newly created South Division. They joined charter members Butler University, the University of Dayton, Drake University and Valparaiso University, plus the University of San Diego (joining in 1992) forming the North Division.

The PFL is committed to operating a quality football program for the benefit of student-athletes and the university community. It is comprised of NCAA Division I universities that previously sponsored intercollegiate football at other levels. With the passing of NCAA legislation at the January 1991 convention, Division I institutions were required to conduct all intercollegiate sports at the divisional level. Therefore, the five charter members (Evansville the fifth before dropping football in 1997) joined together, sharing a common academic and athletic philosophy and a common commitment to operate quality football programs.

The league spent its first season in 1993 under the administrative guidance of the Missouri Valley Conference, but the offices moved to St. Louis in 1994, where current commissioner Patty Viverito took over PFL leadership.

In 1996, the Yankee Conference, a football-only conference, disbanded as its members began playing under the Atlantic-10 umbrella, making the Pioneer Football League and the Gateway Football Conference the only Division I conferences that sponsor football as their only sport. Additionally, the PFL, the Ivy League and the Patriot League are the only NCAA Division I-AA conferences that provide only need-based financial aid for football players.

The PFL remains a proponent of NCAA Division I-AA legislation that would develop a classification for Division I football programs operating with need-based aid and adopted the moniker of Pioneer based on the intent to become the first league in that new division.

Assistant Coaches – Defense

STEVE HAYWOOD — Defensive Coordinator/Linebackers

Steve Haywood returned to his alma mater three years ago and quickly made himself an indispensable part of the Governors football program.

Those attributes also were quickly noticed by new head man Carroll McCray, who retained the young coach as his defensive coordinator.

A former Govs standout offensive guard, Haywood returned to APSU in 2000 as offensive line coach in 2000. A year later, however, his career took a dramatic turn. He accepted the challenge as defensive coordinator.

In a short period of time, he has helped build what again should be the Govs' strength in 2003. He also assumed many other duties in his full-time coaching tenure and was named assistant head coach in Summer 2002. He served as director of football operations prior to McCray's hiring.

The former Govs' four-year starter, student assistant coach and graduate assistant returned to Austin Peay in 2000 after spending one season as offensive line coach at Cumberland College (Williamsburg, Ky.). His previous six years were at Austin Peay.

The Huntingdon, Tenn., native came to APSU in 1993 starting at tackle as a freshman. A year later he was shifted to his more natural guard position, where he started on the right side for the next three (1994-96) years. He earned second-team All-OVC honors as sophomore and honorable mention his senior season. He also was voted team captain as a senior.

After completing his eligibility in 1996, he remained at APSU as a student assistant offensive line coach in 1997 and then became graduate assistant a year later, working with the defensive line, giving him a different perspective on line play.

Haywood, 27, received his bachelor's degree in health and human performance in 1997 and his master's the following spring.

He played both offensive and defensive line at Huntingdon High School and was a two-time all-district and all-West Tennessee offensive line selection. As a senior, he was selected offensive most valuable player, as well as team captain.

GRANVILLE EASTMAN — Secondary

Granville Eastman joined the Govs coaching staff in the spring as secondary coach. He also will work extensively with the Governors special teams.

The energetic assistant came to APSU from Tiffin (Ohio) University, where he served as a defensive assistant for four seasons.

Head coach Carroll McCray and defensive coordinator Steve Haywood were so impressed with Eastman in the interview process, they delayed spring practice so proper paperwork could be finalized in the hiring process for the Toronto, Canada native.

Eastman was afforded increased responsibility in each of his four years at Tiffin. In 1999, he was hired as secondary coach while also serving as the program's academic advisor and recruiting coordinator. A year later, he was elevated to defensive coordinator in charge of the defensive line while continuting to serve as recruiting coordinator. In 2001, again he served as defensive coordinator while working with the secondary

During Summer 2002, he served an intership with the NFL's Detroit Lions.

Eastman was a two-time all-city defensive back at Leaock High School in Toronto before attending Saint Mary's University, Halifax, Canada).

There, he was a three-year letterman as a defensive back. Twice Sanit Mary's played in national title games while he was there.

Eastman served one year as a volunteer coach at York University in Tornoto before deciding to pursure a coaching career. From 1996-98, he served as graduate assistant at Arkansas State (1995-98) before going to working at Tiffin in 1999.

BILL NOLL — Defensive Line

Bill Noll, a four-year starter at defensive tackle, now will begin his coaching career. The graduate assistant will serve as defensive line coach.

Noll was offered the opportunity to coach last spring by new head coach Carroll McCray. He enjoyed the challenge during spring football and elected to return for the fall.

Noll watched his football career come to abrupt halt against Dayton last season in the season's fifth game. He suffered a broke right foot, necessitating surgery.

The injury cut short an impressive four-season career that saw him collect 134 total tackes in three-plus seasons. He moved into the starting lineup midway through his freshman season. Along the way, he was credited with 66 initial hits and 14 tackles for loss.

Noll, a Cincinnati native, came to APSU after a superb career at Elder High School where he earned all-star honors.

He graduated in May with a bachelor's degree in public management.

Assistant Coaches – Offense

KEN JONES — Offensive coordinator/offensive line

Ken Jones, who has nearly 15 years of college coaching experience, is the Govs new offensive coordinator. He was hired last winter by new head coach Carroll McCray.

Jones came to APSU after coaching two seasons at Gardner-Webb, Boiling Springs, N.C., where he served as offensive line coach—the on-field position he will coach with the Governors.

Previous to that he was an assistant at the University of the South from 1997-2000, working with the defensive line. He also was strength and conditioning coach for four years at Samford, where he became acquainted with McCray, who also was an assistant there at the time.

He also had stops at Troy State (1983-85) working with the offensive and defensive lines; John Carroll (1986-87), serving as defensive coordinator; West Alabama (1987-89), coaching the offensive line, and Southern Illinois (1989), tutoring running backs.

In addition to Samford, he has been strength coach at every coaching stop, except West Alabama. He also has served as sponsor for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at all stops.

The Birmingham, Ala., native received his bachelor's degree in education from Livingston in 1978; master's in education from Troy State in 1985, and doctorate in Human Performance from Alabama in 1997. He began his coaching career at the high school level in Alabama before moving to college.

He is a certified strength and conditioning specialist by the National Strength and Conditioning Association. In fact, he will be featured in two Coaches Choice videos, dedicated to weight lifting and Olympic power lifting. He also has had several articles published in his speciality and has lectured on the subject.

BOB ATECA — Running Backs

Bob Ateca, a veteran area high school coach, joined the Governors coaching staff late in the summer. He will handle running backs.

Owning a longtime dream to coach at the college level, Ateca came to APSU after spending eight years at Clarksville High School, the last seven as head coach. He directed the Wildcats to a pair of playoff appearances. His 2000 Wildcats finished 10-2 followed by a 7-4 mark in 2001. He will continue to teach in the local school system while working with the APSU football program.

Prior to that he coach five years at Houston County, his final two as head coach, including a state playoff appearance.

The Govs newest offensive assistant built an outstanding reputation in the local area with his respective schools, turning both into respectable programs.

In fact, he coached former APSU All-America running back Jay Bailey at Clarksville High School.

Ateca is a Jacksonville, Fla., native where he played outside linebacker at Forrest High School. He later transferred to Hendersonville where he graduated in 1983.

Ateca attained his bachelor's degree in health and physical education from Austin Peay in 1989.

He has has wife, the former Regina Evans, have four children; Lauren, age 13; Anamarie, age 11, Isaac, age 7, and Mirian, four months.

ADAM CAINE — Quarterback/Receivers

Adam Caine, who spent the past two seasons as an assistant at Washington and Lee University, is APSU's new quarterbacks and wide receivers coach. He also will assist with special teams.

The graduate assistant came to APSU after coaching running backs and kickoff coverage and return teams at Washington and Lee. There, he coached Chris Sullivan, who led the nation in all-purpose yards in 2001 and was the conference's leading rusher a year ago. He also mentored the conference's leading kickoff coverage, with the return unit tying for the conference lead.

Caine elected to pursue college coaching again—he served as a part-time assistant at Samford in 1993-94 where he first met McCray—after spending seven seasons as a prep assistant at John Carroll Catholic High School in Birmingham. He spent the last four season as offensive coordinator after coaching offensive backs and running backs initially.

The 1994 John Carroll squad advanced to the state quarterfinals while the 1998 team won its opening-round playoff contest.

Caine also served as the school's golf coach during the spring.

The Chattanooga, Tenn., native was an all-city performer in both football and track and was named the Harry Milligan Fellowship of Christian Athletes Athlete of the Year in 1989.

Caine attained his bachelor's of science in business management from Birmingham Southern in 1994 and a second bachelor's deree in social sciences from UAB in 1998.
