AUSTIN PEAY STATE UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS MISSION STATEMENT

Intercollegiate athletics at Austin Peay State University aspires to provide educational and broad-based competitive opportunities at the NCAA Division I level for eligible male and female student athletes. Seeking to maintain a proper balance between athletic and academic programs, the University is committed to preparing students for productive, fulfilling and responsible lives. In addition to developing individual ability and successful programs, those athletic experiences will be instrumental in developing the concepts of teamwork, sportsmanship, loyalty, self-confidence plus the qualities of leadership and discipline.

Intercollegiate athletics endeavors to provide positive impressions of University activities to a diversified group of audiences. Austin Peay strives to attract a diverse and talented group of participants, coaches and administrators with a strong commitment to excellence, openness, gender equity and integrity, reflecting a precise adherence to NCAA and conference rules and philosophies. As a result, Austin Peay athletics assumes a major role in assisting University development and fiscal responsibility.

The departmental goals and objectives are based upon its mission as it builds on its traditions, confidently looking forward to an exciting and progressive future.

AUSTIN PEAY STATE UNIVERSITY

Tennessee's governor from 1924 until 1927, the year APSU was founded.

The university is located in Clarksville, Tenn., just 45 minutes northwest of Tennessee's capital, Nashville, on Interstate 24. One of the South's most historic cities, Clarksville also is Tennessee's third-fastest growing city behind only Memphis and Nashville.

Situated on gently rolling terrain near picturesque downtown Clarksville, Austin Peay's main campus consists of 65 buildings on 160 acres. The classical Georgian architecture of the Austin Peay campus is combined with newer buildings. This blend provides a link with the past while reflecting the academic excellence and dignity of an institution of higher learning.

The newest building additions to the main campus are the Sundquist Science Complex and the new Morgan University Center, both opening for use during the 2001-2002 school year. The Sundquist Complex is one of the South's premier science education facilities and represents the largest capital appropriation ever in Tennessee for a single classroom building. The new Morgan University Center is located in the heart of the campus and features a cybercafe, meeting rooms, a food court, coffee shop, ballroom and lounges for Austin Peay students.

Austin Peay's campus has been the site of seven educational institutions since 1806. The campus was occupied by Southwestern for 50 years until 1925 when the school moved to Memphis. Austin Peay was founded two years later as a two-year normal school to train teachers for the region. Austin Peay has grown over the years to take its place among the finest mid-sized four-year universities in the nation.

Austin Peay Normal School became a four-year college in 1941-42, and university status was conferred Sept. 1, 1967.

Austin Peay State University is a comprehensive, state-assisted university with a distinguished tradition in liberal and professional education.

The institution is named in honor of Austin Peay,

Austin Peay State University currently enrolls more than 7,000 students from every region of Tennessee, most of the 50 states and several foreign countries.

Austin Peay offers more than 50 majors in associate, bachelor's, master's and education specialist's degrees with additional areas of concentration. Courses are offered in arts and sciences, business, education, engineering technology, nursing and human services. Graduate studies also are offered in several areas. In addition, numerous online courses are offered each semester.

A state leader in public service, Austin Peay State University has more than 750 employees. Engaged in the most modern teaching techniques and research are nearly 300 full-time faculty members, 91 percent of whom hold the earned doctorate or appropriate terminal degrees in their disciplines.

The sculpture, "The Gateway," (center) stands near the entry to the main campus at Austin Peay. It was created by Dr. James Diehr, professor of art, as part of the state of Tennessee's Homecoming '86 celebration. The "flame" at the top represents the "light of truth." The bell corresponds to the Liberty Bell, a reference to Browning's being modeled on Independence Hall. The human figure inside represents the men and women who come to the University to learn.

DR. SHERRY HOPPE, PRESIDENT ■ AUSTIN PEAY STATE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Sherry Hoppe was appointed Austin Peay's eighth president on January 30, 2001 – a three-way history-making event:

- First, she became the first woman president of Austin Peay.
- Second, she is the first person in Tennessee to move directly from the presidency of a community college to that of a four-year university.
- And, third, she is the first of only two women to be appointed – both on the same date – to the presidency of a four-year university within the Tennessee Board of Regents System – the nation's sixth largest system of higher education.

Dr. Hoppe was president of Roane State Community College in Harriman, from 1988 until taking a leave of absence in 2000 to serve as Austin Peay's interim president. She has worked in the Tennessee Board of Regents System for more than 20 years, including more than 10 years at Chattanooga State Technical Community College and a short stint at Nashville State Technical Institute as interim president.

Hoppe earned her doctorate in educational administration with collateral work in communications from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. Her master's degree in counseling and her undergraduate degree in English Education are from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga.

In addition to her work in higher education, Hoppe has been active in numerous community affairs. She has served on the board of Chambers of Commerce in Roane County, Oak Ridge (where she served as chair), and Clarksville/Montgomery County. She also has served on economic development boards in all three of these areas.

Service to the community also includes board membership for the Methodist Medical Center of Oak Ridge, Technology 20/20, Tennessee Resource Valley, and numerous community agencies. She is a former member of the Commission on Colleges and has just concluded two terms on the Board of Trustees for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. She recently has served as the president of the Tennessee College Association. A member of Rotary, she and her husband Bob attend Trinity Episcopal Church.

They have a son, Kevin, who holds a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and is a member of the Tennessee Highway Patrol.

DAVE LOOS, ATHLETICS DIRECTOR ■ AUSTIN PEAY STATE UNIVERSITY

Dave Loos, the Governors head basketball coach is in his sixth year as Austin Peay's athletics director. Loos was named to the post in May 1997 and took over the duties July 1 of that same year.

The dual role is almost unheard of in this day of college athletics. He is in his 13th season as Austin Peay State University head basketball and sixth as the school's athletics director.

His double duties aptly point out the respect Loos earned both on and off campus. His common-sense approach to athletics director's duties have been with the same diligence that have been so representative of his APSU basketball tenure.

That has resulted in Austin Peay winning the Ohio Valley Conference tournament and gaining an NCAA tourney berth in 1996; APSU capturing a 1997 league co-championship—the first since 1977—and Loos being named OVC Coach of the Year in 1990-91 and 1996-1997—the first APSU coach in history to twice earn that honor.

Loos not only has elevated APSU's program to the pinnacle of OVC prominence, but has done it as well with the dignity and class reflective of the reputation he built as an athlete and as a high school and college coach.

He is only the second APSU coach to lead the Govs to an OVC regular-season co-championship and NCAA Division I tournament berth. His APSU teams have advanced to at least the OVC tourney semifinals in five of the last seven years. That has sustained his reputation of elevating his club's play during February-March, where the Govs own almost a .667 winning percentage in the last eight seasons.

Entering his 13th Govs' coaching season, Loos has earned three "Coach of the Year" citations, two from his fellow OVC coaches and one from the Tennessee State Sportswriters Association. He was their 1995-96 "College Coach of the Year."

He was named OVC "Coach of the Year" after his first APSU season (1990-91) in leading the Govs to a much-improved 15-14 record. He then began building his own program with young men who reflected their coach both on and off the court and represented the University with great class.

As a result, Loos achieved one of his program's goals—the Governors reclaiming their spot among the OVC elite and annually competing for the title. He previously restored the program's image, tarnished by an NCAA investigation prior to his arrival.

Loos became Austin Peay's 11th head men's basketball coach on July 14, 1990. The likeable 55-year-old has proven to be a "perfect fit" for the APSU program.

Loos came to APSU after four seasons as a Memphis State assistant. He joined Larry Finch at Memphis in 1986 and helped direct his alma mater to an 85-43 record, including two NCAA tourney appearances and a Metro Conference tourney title during his tenure.

Prior to joining Memphis State, Loos enjoyed four successful head coaching seasons at Christian Brothers College in Memphis. He took over that program in 1982-83, and after an initial 16-14 season, recorded three straight 20-victory campaigns.

Loos' move to CBC came after spending eight seasons as head coach at his prep alma mater, Mehlville High School in St. Louis.

The Missouri native played both basketball and baseball during his college days at Memphis State. Loos was the starting point guard for the 1968-69 Tigers, leading the team in minutes played. He also was the baseball Tigers' shortstop.

Upon completing his eligibility, he remained at Memphis State as an assistant in 1970. Following his graduation (1970), he officially began his coaching career as an assistant basketball coach and head baseball coach at CBC.

Loos is involved in many charitable events, including the NABC (National Association of Basketball Coaches) Coaches vs. Cancer Three-Point Attack.

He and his wife, Phyllis, have four children, David, Todd, Brad, who recently was named assistant coach at Central Missouri State, after playing and coaching for four seasons with the Govs' basketball team, and Nicole, age 19, a junior at Austin Peay and member of the school's dance team.

In 1997, Loos was inducted into the St. Louis Amateur Baseball Hall of Fame. He recently was selected for induction into the University of Memphis Athletic Hall of Fame.

WINFIELD DUNN CENTER ■ DAVE AARON ARENA

The Winfield Dunn Center became home to Governors and Lady Govs indoor athletics in 1975, after ground breaking for the $5.3 million, 9,000-seat structure in February 1973.

The 132,000 square-foot complex, named the Winfield Dunn Health and Physical Education Building and Convocation Complex in honor of Governor Dunn, is a dominating edifice with 78 feet separating the top of the building from its maplewood playing surface. The Dunn Center replaced Memorial Gymnasium, affectionately called "The Little Red Barn," which served as the Governors home-court from 1952 until the Dec. 1, 1975 tip-off.

On Jan. 16, 1988, the basketball arena was named Dave Aaron Arena in honor of the school's former athletics director, football coach and all-time winningest basketball coach.

Several improvements have taken place in recent years, including the addition of new scoreboards, and floor lighting to allow fans better viewing of Lady Govs and Governors events.

The Dunn Center – home to Governors basketball and Lady Govs volleyball and basketball – serves as a practice facility for track, baseball and softball and it is where trainers Chuck Kimmel, Joni Johnson and Karen Lovell treat and rehabilitate injured athletes.

A weight room is conveniently located in the Dunn Center's lower level at the south end and athletes also have access to air-conditioned dressing rooms.

Entering the facility's front lobby, visitors are greeted by an impressive Hall of Fame, honoring APSU's greatest former athletes, administrators and supporters.

The Winfield Dunn Health and Physical Education Building and Convocation Complex

APSU's athletic offices, including academic coordinator Dr. Johnnie Smith, are located in the Dunn Center with the exception of tennis, located in the Governors Tennis Center, and rifle located in the ROTC Armory. Both facilities are in close proximity to the Dunn Center.

HOLT'S CAREER BIOGRAPHY

Head coach Cheryl Holt begins her 21st season at the helm of the Lady Govs volleyball squad.

In the past 10 years, Holt has seen her squads finish with winning records 11 times, including each of the last six seasons. Her 2001 squad finished with a 15-13 overall record, the fewest victories during that stretch. This remarkable run has placed Holt among the top 25 in victories among active NCAA Division I volleyball coaches (see sidebar, below), as her 458 career victories rank 28th entering the 2002 season.

Holt has showed no signs of slowing down since she first stepped onto the APSU campus in 1982. Her impact has intensified during the last 11 years, leading her teams to a 216-141 overall record, including APSU's first OVC tournament crown and its only OVC regular-season championship. Holt doesn't hesitate when naming the reasons for her success at Austin Peay.

"We've received great support from the APSU athletics administration and athletics director Dave Loos. Additionally, the Clarksville community has come out and supported us, turning the Dunn Center into a true homecourt advantage for us."

Besides their success on the court, Holt's teams have traditionally been among the top teams academically at Austin Peay. The Lady Govs capped their 2001-2002 academic campaign with a 3.46 cumulative grade-point average. They were just one of five Ohio Valley Conference squads to receive the American Volleyball Coach/Molten Team Academic Award. Only 41 of 312 NCAA Division I volleyball teams qualified for the award, which requires honorees to maintain a 3.3 cumulative team GPA during the academic year.

The Lady Govs' academic success included nine players being named to the athletic director's honor roll during the spring semester. Eight of those players were dean's list honorees with three perfect 4.0 GPAs (Casey Kelley, Natalie Rossier and Cindy Wall).

"I've been very fortunate that over the years we have recruited kids that make academics a priority," said Holt. "We've traditionally had great players on and off the court, and this year's team is no exception."

"As a coach, I give more than lip service to academics. I also think that our academic services department has been instrumental in our success."

Holt began her collegiate coaching career in 1976 as an assistant coach at Ole Miss. The Columbus, Ohio, native was promoted the next year to head coach, leading the Lady Rebels to a 33-17 record, a state championship and a top-20 national ranking.

She then headed to the University of Miami, where she compiled a 98-47-1 record in four seasons, again captur-

Holt wore many hats in her first few years at APSU. In addition to coaching volleyball, Holt was the head women's tennis coach (1983-85), head women's softball coach (1986-87) and assistant women's basketball coach. She also initiated the women's softball program in 1986.

Holt received her bachelor's degree from Ohio State and her master's degree from APSU in physical education.

Her combination of class and enthusiasm was rewarded in July 1997 when she was named special assistant to the athletics director. Holt heads athletic department special projects and serves as liaison to women's athletics and adviser to athletics director Dave Loos on gender-equity issues. She also serves as the department's senior women's administrator.

Holt received consecutive OVC Coach of the Year honors in 1991 and 1992. She earned the honor in 1991 after leading her squad to an OVC tournament championship, and again in 1992 when the Lady Govs won the regular-season title.

Holt also earned back-to-back South Coach of the Year honors in 1986 and 1987 during the old North-South format.

CARLIN'S CAREER BIOGRAPHY

Corey Carlin, a native of Fort Wayne, Ind., joins the Lady Govs after two seasons at Evansville. With the Purple Aces, Carlin was responsible for all aspects of recruiting, opponent scouting and match-day preparation. He replaces long-time assistant Melissa Luckey, who left in May 2002.

"There are three things I like about Corey," said Holt. "First, he is a player's coach who can work with the players and physically get on the court to show them what they need to do. Second, he has a lot of experience and has worked his way up. He has coached at Ball State, which has excellent men's and women's programs, and was the first assistant at Evansville. Finally, he has been in charge of recruiting at Evansville, which is the primary responsibility of this position."

The Purple Aces finished a disappointing 6-25 in 2001 with a squad that featured just two seniors. In 2000, Evansville posted a 19-15 mark and finished tied for fourth place in the Missouri Valley Conference with a 10-8 mark.

The 27-year-old Carlin joined the Purple Aces after a two-year stint as the assistant coach at Tarleton State – a NCAA Division II school in Stephenville, Texas. The TexAnns compiled a 30-32 record, including a 17-13 mark in 1999. While there, He also completed his master's degree in physical education; his bachelor's degree is from Ball State.

Prior to his stint at Tarleton State, Carlin coached the men's club volleyball team at Ball State to a 22-9 record in 1997. He also was the head girl's varsity coach at Randolph Southern High School, leading that team to its best record in six years and producing the school's first all-conference selection.

"Corey will be a great addition to our program," said Holt. "I have great confidence in his abilities and experience. He'll be a refreshing change and is a positive move for our program to make."

YOUNG SQUAD HAS PLENTY OF QUESTIONS TO ANSWER IN 2002

Questions abound as the 2002 Austin Peay volleyball squad takes to the court. The top question in head coach Cheryl Holt's mind is how a young, inexperienced squad will play against a strong schedule. The Lady Govs boast just one senior and two juniors on a 12-person squad. Adding to the youth movement is new assistant coach Corey Carlin.

"Corey is going to be a big part of the success of this team," said Holt. "He brings new life, new blood into the program. I believe this year is going to be a lot of fun and I'm looking forward to this season."

With the influx of new personnel, Holt has had to keep her goals reasonable for the upcoming season.

"There are a lot of questions that we have to answer about this team very quickly," said Holt. "As young as we are, I have just two main goals for us this season. First, we have to get better as the year goes on. We need to see measurable improvements when we compare the last match of the year to the first. Second, I want us to be competitive in every match we play. We have to be proud of the way we play when we finish a match."

MIDDLE HITTER

The Lady Govs return two-thirds of a dominant middle hitter core in juniors Amy Walk and Elizabeth Murrieta. However, the missing third, graduate Natalie Rossier, will be a tough fill. That task falls to the two returnees and two newcomers, Ranay Dato and Veronica Senica.

"We have a big void with Natalie's graduation," said Holt. "It was a total shock that she did as well as she did last year. However, we also believe that we've had a good middle attack the past few years. Since Kim Smith (a 1999 graduate), we've always had someone who comes out and takes command."

This year, the opportunity to command will be left to Walk. The two-time All-OVC honorable mention struggled some during her sophomore season but finished the year as the team's third-best attacker (.235 pct., 3.11 kpg) and best overall defender (3.12 dpq, 0.60 bpg).

"Amy is going to be a key component in our offense," said Holt. "Early on we'll look to her to become stronger and be the No. 1 offensive threat."

The two newcomers will have ample opportunity to prove themselves on a young squad. Dato and Senica both measure six feet or taller.

"We'll look to a couple of new people very quickly (to contribute)," said Holt. "We signed two players who can come in with a lot of power and hopefully replace Natalie. Both Ranay and Veronica are big, strong girls. The only question is how quickly they can adjust to the collegiate game."

Murrieta will look to contribute as a key reserve for the Lady Govs. During her sophomore campaign, she showed some inconsistencies offensively but her defense continued to improve as she finished sixth in defense (2.49 dpq).

"Elizabeth had a real strong spring and has the most experience at the position behind Amy," said Holt. "She's a good go to person but isn't a terminator on offense."

The quartet also will provide the first line of defense this season, serving as a blocking line. The Lady Govs finished next-to-last in the OVC in team blocking, averaging just 1.38 blocks per game, the lowest block average since 1990.

"Ranay and Veronica are two of the biggest players we've had," said Holt. "We believe their addition will improve our block. Amy's blocking is much improved but it's going to take big girls to stop some of the hitters in this league. We also have one of the best-kept secrets on defense in Sarah Schramka. I believe she is one of the best blockers in the league. She's not only going to be better this year, but she has such great technique that she should be a force on defense."

OUTSIDE HITTER

Returning senior Casey Kelley anchors a solid corps of outside hitters that includes sophomores Julie Burkhalter and Sarah Schramka. Joining the ranks is incoming freshman Amber Stein, another raw Wisconsin product with plenty of potential.

Kelley had another great year defensively, finishing second in defense (3.16 dpq). However, her offensive inconsistency left a question mark entering the season. Last year, Kelley opened the season with four double-digit kill performances in her first five matches, but she recorded her last double-digit kill effort at Eastern Kentucky, Oct. 5, and failed to record more than two kills in any match the rest of the season.

"We had a great spring with Casey," said Holt. "She's small but, as a senior, has the most experience on the squad. We've discussed her offensive inconsistency and she understands our concerns. She's someone who wants to do what she can for the team."

LADY GOVS INSIGHT

DEFENSE – THE NAME OF THE GAME

In each of the last five seasons, the Lady Govs have been ranked in the top 15 nationally in digs average. In each of the past two seasons, Austin Peay has led the OVC in digs per game and been ranked in the top three nationally.

Since 1991, the Lady Govs have claimed the OVC's unofficial dig title seven times, including a five-year run from 1992-1996.

"To be honest we've been one of the smallest teams in the conference," said Holt. "When you don't block well at the net you have to compensate for it on the court."

"It has become a tradition here; it's a mindset. Not because we coach the girls but their passion to play defense."

1997	21.32	2nd	2nd

She wants to play where she can best help the team. Casey will be in the lineup; the only question will be where."

Burkhalter returns after an up-and-down freshman campaign that saw her lead the team in back-row defense (3.72 dpq) and finish fourth in kills per game (2.18).

"Julie should be past her freshman jitters," said Holt. "How she does this year is totally up to her and her level of confidence. She is a versatile player who hits better from the middle and weak side. She has to have the confidence to vary her attack. She can hit the ball anywhere, but has a tendency to fall back to what's comfortable."

The versatile Schramka will start the season as outside hitter. However, her ability won't limit her to playing just one position throughout the year. Last year, she finished as the second best hitter on the team (.251 pct., 2.70 kpg) and third in points scored (3.10 ppg).

"With Natalie gone, Sarah is our top returning hitter and will be our go-to person," said Holt. "She'll start the season as an outside hitter. But, wherever we put her she can play and be an effective scorer."

Newcomer Stein brings a lot of potential to the outside hitter position.

"Amber is a tremendous athlete," said Holt. "She has great ability but lacks the technique so we're going to have to do some work with her. She's probably a year away from having the confidence to play the position at this level."

Holt has two key requirements for her outside hitters this season.

"We're looking for someone who can do two things," said Holt. "First, we're looking for someone who can put the ball down consistently, preferably hitting .240 (attack percentage) or better. Second, they have to be able to block. More and more teams are running a right-side attack and we need someone who can force that hitter to go around them."

SETTER

Holt will look for improvement at the setter position this year with Jamie deTurck and Cindy Wall, returning from last year's squad. Joining that duo will be freshman Kelsey McNalley.

"We had two first-year setters last year," said Holt. "Even Cindy was truly in her first year after playing behind Annie (Glieber) her freshman year. The nice thing about Jamie and Cindy is that they can both do different things at the position."

deTurck enters the 2002 campaign with the inside track for a starting position. The sophomore broke out last year and quickly found court time at the season's midpoint. She finished the year averaging 7.73 assists per game while playing in just 52 of 104 games.

"Jamie is in the driver's seat because she played all spring," said Holt. "We like her intensity and she has a great rapport with the team. It will still take some time for her to learn all aspects of the game, but she has worked hard so far to do that. She's also come a long way defensively and has a tremendous serve."

Wall returns after leading the team in assists (8.74 pg) last year. However, she missed spring practice after joining the tennis team for its spring season and is suffering a wrist injury. She enters the upcoming season as the Lady Govs' No. 2 setter.

"Cindy has great hands and is very smart," said Holt. "She also has a lot of experience. This team needs her to perform this fall."

McNalley joins the Lady Govs and will have the opportunity to learn the offense behind deTurck and Wall.

"Kelsey is probably the most visible in-state recruit we've signed since I've been here," said Holt. "We really like what she brings to the table as a setter and feel that she's our setter of the future."

LIBERO

The 2002 season will see the addition of one new position to the world of college volleyball, the libero. A staple at the international level, the libero is a defensive specialist that can enter the game freely at any dead ball. In the past, the Lady Govs have had plenty of players who could play the position. The same is true this year, but the question is when the Lady Govs will have the opportunity to use the new position.

"The libero is a blessing and a curse," said Holt. "We have the opportunity to use it, but we may not have the need. Amy (Walk) is one of our best defensive players, so we can't justify replacing her. Our weakest defensive player is our setter (deTurck) but we can't replace her because she's a key part of the offense."

If the Lady Govs can find the opportunity to use the position, they have a couple of returnees who could fill it. In addition, a number of walk-ons will attempt to join the team and each of them has the ability to play the libero. Top among the possibilities is Kelley and Wall.

OHIO VALLEY CONFERENCE

When the presidents of six mid-southern universities gathered 53 years ago at a hotel in Kentucky, they united with a goal of providing leadership and vision, in education and athletics, for the future.

That vision has grown and fostered since the initial meeting in 1948, when the Ohio Valley Conference was formed.

It didn't take long before the OVC was making a mark nationally in athletics, and the league also became a pioneer on a much more significant scale socially. During times of racial integration, OVC member Morehead State became one of the first non-traditionally black institutions to accept a black student. In 1958, Marshall Banks earned athletically-related aid at Morehead, which signed a second black athlete, Howard Murphy, a year later. With racial barriers broken, the rest of the institutions in the league began to provide educational and athletic opportunities to blacks students.

Recognizing the need to provide increased opportunities for female athletes, the OVC established women's championships in basketball, tennis and track in 1977, with volleyball added four years later. Those sports were initially governed by the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women, but the overall strength of women's programs in the league was demonstrated by the automatic bids the OVC instantly received when the NCAA became the governing body in 1982.

The playing field isn't the only place where OVC athletes are working hard. The league also recognizes excellence in the classroom. The prestigious OVC Academic Achievement Banner is awarded annually to the league school whose athletes produce the highest grade-point average when compared to the general student body. In addition, a dozen Scholar-Athlete awards are presented yearly to male and female athletes while others are commended for their academic success by being Medal of Honor recipients or named to the Commissioner's Honor Roll.

The OVC presently sponsors the following sports: baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, tennis and track for men; and basketball, cross country, golf, softball, soccer, tennis, track and volleyball for women. The OVC also sponsors the combined men and women's sport of rifle.

Over the last few years, the league has grown, not only in the number of athletics opportunities it provides, but also in number of league institutions. In the 1990s, the league grew to 10 members as Eastern Illinois University joined the league for all sports. In recent years, Southeast Missouri and the University of Tennessee-Martin also were a part of league expansion. Other representatives include charter members Eastern Kentucky, Morehead State and Murray State along with Austin Peay, Tennessee State and Tennessee Tech. The OVC will expand into Alabama, it's fifth state, in 2002 as Jacksonville State and Samford will join the league.
