THE CITY OF CLARKSVILLE™

TENNESSEE'S TOP SPOT

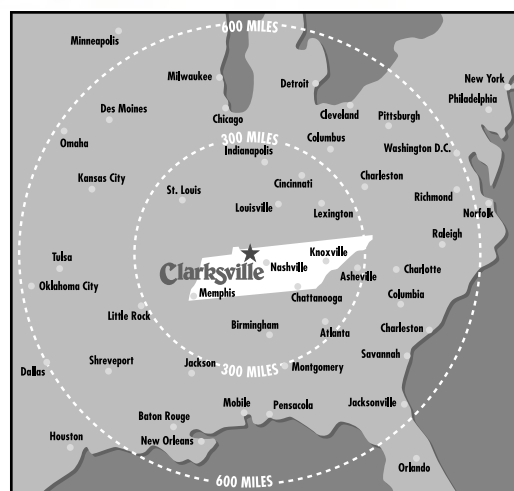

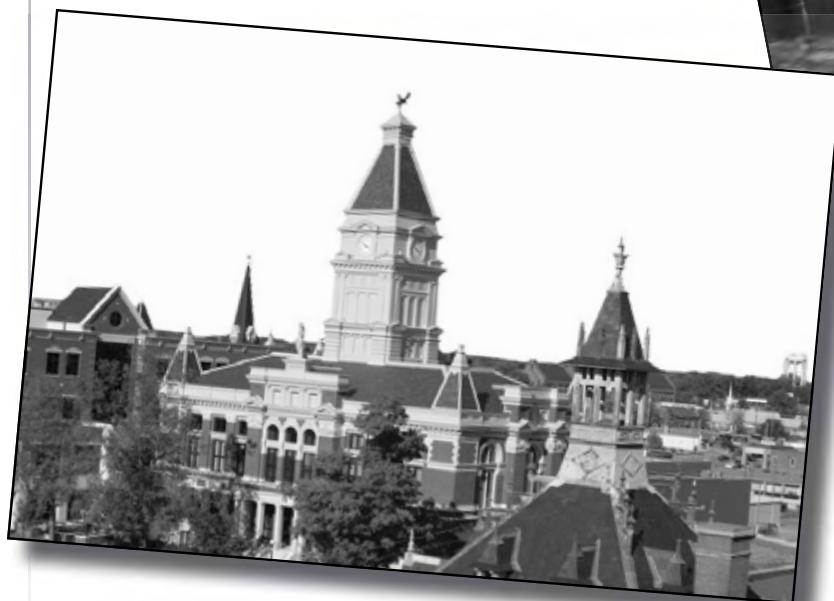

Clarksville is a vibrant community located in Middle Tennessee, directly off of Interstate 24, 40 miles northwest of Nashville and Nashville International Airport (BNA).

The fifth-largest city in Tennessee, Clarksville is the ninth-fastest growing city in the nation.

The Land Between the Lakes national recreation area is located 40 miles west of Clarksville and offers a wide range of recreational activities.

Clarksville is located within 300 miles of Atlanta, Birmingham, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Louisville, Memphis, Nashville and St. Louis and it is less than 500 miles from the sandy shores of the Gulf Coast.

Austin Peay State University is a comprehensive, state-assisted university with a distinguished tradition in liberal and professional education. The institution is named in honor of Austin Peay, Tennessee's governor from 1924 until 1927, the year APSU was founded.

The university is located in Clarksville, Tenn., just 45 minutes northwest of Tennessee's capital, Nashville, on Interstate 24. One of the South's most historic cities, Clarksville also is Tennessee's fastest growing city and one of the 10 fastest growing cities in the United States according to a 2013 U.S. Census Bureau Report.

Situated on gently rolling terrain near picturesque downtown Clarksville, Austin Peay's main campus consists of 68 buildings on 169 acres. The classical Georgian architecture of the Austin Peay campus is combined with newer buildings. This blend provides a link with the past while reflecting the academic excellence and dignity of an institution of higher learning.

The newest building additions to the main campus are the Hemlock Semiconductor Building, Foy Fitness and Recreation Center, Sundquist Science Complex and the Morgan University Center, each opening for use since

2001. The Hemlock Semicon-

ductor Building houses the chemical engineering technology (CET) associate degree program and laboratory. The $11-million Foy Center, features a rock-climbing wall and 10,000 square feet of fitness space and other amenities for the student body. The Sundquist Complex is one of the South's premier science education facilities and represents the largest capital appropriation ever in Tennessee for a single classroom building. The new Morgan University Center is located in the heart of the campus and features a cybercafe, meeting rooms, a food court, coffee shop, ballroom and lounges for Austin Peay students.

Austin Peay's campus has been the site of seven educational institutions since 1806. The campus was occupied by Southwestern Presbyterian University (now Rhodes College) for 50 years until 1925 when the school moved to Memphis. Austin Peay was founded two years later as a two-year normal school to train teachers for the region. Austin Peay has grown over the years to take its place among the finest mid-sized four-year universities in the nation.

Austin Peay Normal School became a four-year college in 1941-42, and university status was conferred Sept. 1, 1967.

Austin Peay currently enrolls more than 10,000 students from every region of Tennessee, most of the 50 states and several foreign countries.

Those students can choose from more than 50 majors in associate, bachelor's, master's and education specialist's degrees with additional areas of concentration. Courses are offered in arts and sciences, business, education, engineering technology, nursing and human services. Graduate studies also are offered in several areas. In addition, numerous online courses are offered each semester.

A state leader in public service, Austin Peay State University has more than 750 employees. Engaged in the most modern teaching techniques and research are nearly 280 full-time faculty members, 90 percent of whom hold the earned doctorate or appropriate terminal degrees in their disciplines.

AP Austin Peay State University

RAYMOND C. HAND PARK

Since 1970, Austin Peay State University's baseball team has called its current location on the northwest corner of campus home. Originally called Governors Park, it was renamed Raymond C. Hand Park in 1993 in honor of the late Clarksville business and civic leader, Raymond C. Hand, who was a great baseball enthusiast.

The Governors have made Raymond C. Hand Park an nightmare for visiting teams, winning nearly 60 percent of their home contests in their current location. The 2011 season was Austin Peay's 10th consecutive winning home season and 29th winning campaign in 42 seasons.

Charles Hand, owner of Ideal Distributing, Co. and son of Raymond C. Hand, began the task of modernizing the park with his donated donation to kick off the baseball field lighting campaign in 1993 and initiate night-time Governors baseball. The park renovations didn't stop with the lighting project. Again with Charles Hand's lead and another sizeable donation, the previous concrete structure used for seating was replaced by updated seating — chairbacks as well as bleachers — to bring the park's capacity to just under 1,000.

Improvements to the park have continued since the addition of lighting. Prior to the start of the 2011 season, the Governors saw the construction of a new indoor practice facility along the third base side of the field. Made possible by the generosity of former Governors pitcher and 11-year Major League Baseball veteran Jamie "Cat" Walker, the indoor facility has two cages to allow both pitchers and hitters space to hone their skills.

Cosmetic improvements, again thanks to the generosity of Charles Hand, were made during the 2012 season. New wrought-iron fencing was placed around the park's perimeter, new signage displaying the Governors proud history was added near the park's entrance and brick was added at the entrance and around the Governors clubhouse located just outside the park. In addition, fans have the benefit of new restrooms constructed during the offseason.

In the first decade of the 2000s, Raymond C. Hand Park saw the addition of an in-ground irrigation system, new fencing along each sideline and the addition of brick facing to the field's structures. In addition, the Governors replaced their outfield wall with a metal wall that included an expanded center field section that serves as a "Batter's Eye."

The Raymond C. Hand Park improvements are scheduled to continue into the future with the addition of a new press box and suite complex to replace the current structure.

When Billy Merkel stepped down as baseball coach in Fall 1987, then-Athletics Director Bob Brooks had a decision to make: begin a search for a replacement, possibly interrupting fall practice and workouts, or name Gary McClure, the program's graduate assistant, as interim coach.

It would be unfair to call Governors baseball an afterthought back then — APSU only had one Ohio Valley Conference title (1971) prior to that, but it certainly was not at the forefront of any APSU athletics discussions. Since McClure was familiar with most of the incoming recruiting class and had worked with the returning Govs as a student assistant in Spring 1987, Brooks chose to elevate McClure, with the promise if he enjoyed success during that interim season he would be strongly considered for the head coaching position.

After finishing well below the .500 mark the previous two seasons and consecutive last place OVC South Division finishes, the Governors finished 23-27 overall in 1988 with a 10-12 OVC mark, as many league wins they had garnered combined over the previous two seasons. As a result, McClure was named the Governors permanent head coach on June 23, 1988.

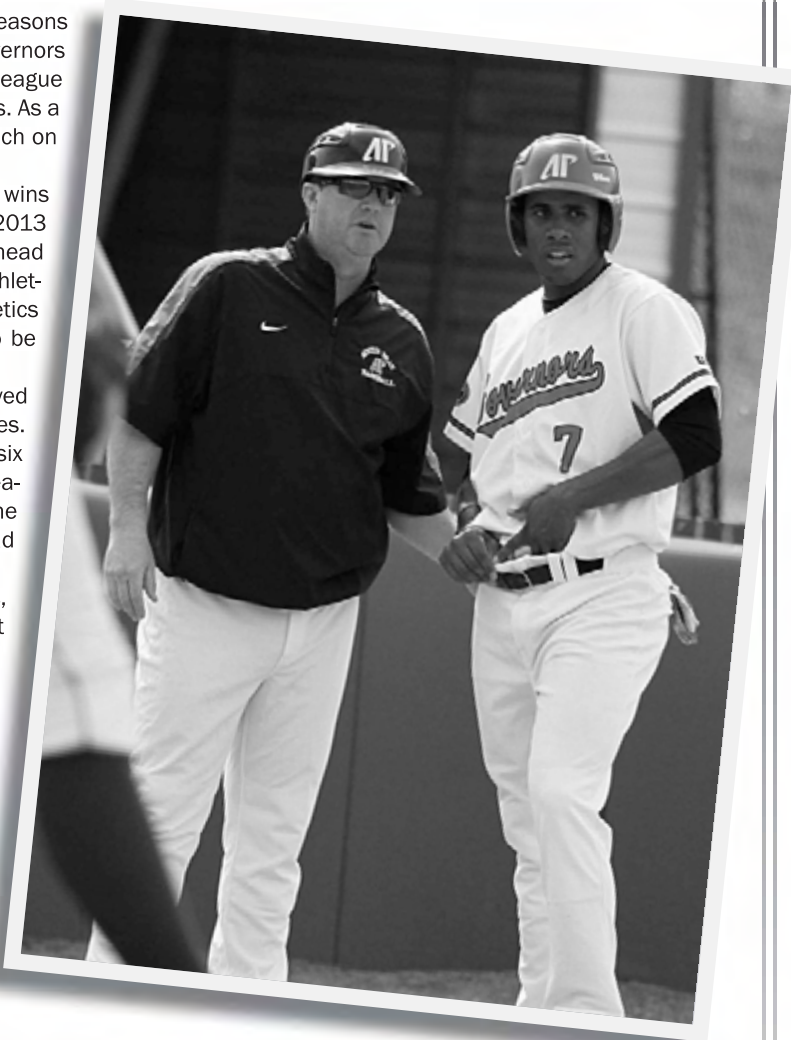

Now, 27 years later, the Iowa native is the Governors all-time wins leader and became the OVC's all-time wins leader during the 2013 season. He enters 2015 ranked 28th among active Division I head coaches with 822 wins. He also received Austin Peay's ultimate athletics honor in February 2013 when he was inducted into its Athletics Hall of Fame, becoming only the second active head coach to be inducted into the university's Athletics Hall of Fame.

During McClure's tenure at Austin Peay, the Govs have achieved 19 of the program's 24 all-time league postseason appearances. He also has led Austin Peay to the NCAA Baseball Tournament six times. In addition, 14 of McClure's teams have posted 30-win seasons, including a school and OVC record 47-win campaign by the remarkable 2013 unit, a 44-win season by the storied 1996 squad and 40 victories by both the 2007 and 2012 squads.

On the field, McClure's players have earned a number of awards, including three OVC "Player of the Year" awards (Randy McDermott in 1992, Nate Manning in 1996 and Craig Massoni in 2013) and nine OVC "Pitcher of the Year" honors: Jamie Walker (1992), Shane Dortch (1994), Craig Smith (1996), Mike Weel (2000), Jeff Mault (2004), Rowdy Hardy (2005), Shawn Kelley (2007), Jeremy Dobbs (2011) and Tyler Rogers (2013). McClure also has cultivated 49 first-team All-OVC players during his career.

Additionally, McClure has seen 46 players signed by major league ball clubs, including five who have advanced to the major league level. Currently three of his former players are on major-league rosters: catcher A. J. Ellis will begin his sixth season with the Los Angeles Dodgers, pitcher Shawn Kelley begins his sixth major league season with the New York Yankees and pitcher Matt Reynolds is in his fourth season, now with the Arizona Diamondbacks.

Speaking of the Governors field, McClure has been instrumental in making Raymond C. Hand Park — the Governors home field since 1970 — one of the OVC's top baseball facilities. Through his leadership,

CAREER NOTES

- Finished his 27th season as the OVC's career wins leader, with 822 career wins. During the 2013 season, McClure surpassed the previous OVC record held by legendary Murray State head coach Johnny Reagan (1958-93).
- Became first head coach to record 300 career Ohio Valley Conference victories, reaching the milestone during the 2012 season.
- Since 2000 his teams have compiled 487 victories (averaging 32 per season), including 219 OVC wins (15 per season). The Govs have recorded five OVC regular-season titles — the most of any OVC program — and five OVC tournament titles this millennium.
- While at Austin Peay he has coached 49 first-team All-OVC players, nine conference pitchers of the year, three conference players of the year and two league rookies of the year.
- Has coached 38 players selected in Major League Baseball's First-Year Player Draft, including three current major leaguers: A.J. Ellis (Los Angeles), Shawn Kelley (New York) and Matt Reynolds (Arizona). In addition, 22 players have signed free-agent contracts.

Hand Park has seen the addition of lighting (1993), which was expanded in a renovation prior to the 2015 season. In addition, chair-back seating (1994), replacement and restructuring of the perimeter fence and most recently the addition of an indoor practice facility (2011).

The on-field product also has improved along with the facility, with the new millennium bringing McClure and the Governors to heights previously unknown to the program. In the 13 seasons since 2001, Austin Peay has recorded 487 wins, including 10 30-victory-plus seasons. Additionally, the Gobs also have won 219 OVC contests – the most of any OVC team in that span – and captured a league-best five regular season titles as well as won the OVC tournament five times.

Although the 44- and 40-victory NCAA-qualifying teams of 1996 and 2007, respectively, may have been the most impressive in McClure's tenure, the 2011 team's achievements may have been the most improbable. Picked to finish seventh – and not to even qualify for the OVC tournament – the sophomore and freshman-dominated Governors instead won their seventh OVC regular-season title and did it in remarkably consistent but dominant fashion. The Governors did not lose an OVC series the entire season and made the conference season's final weekend anti-climactic, already having clinched the regular-season crown with three games remaining. In fact, the Gobs' 17-8 OVC mark represented the second-best conference winning percentage (73.9 percent) in McClure's tenure.

As a result, McClure was named OVC Coach of the Year for a fifth time and then he guided the Governors to an impressive three-game sweep of the OVC tournament, APSU's fourth postseason crown and subsequent NCAA tourney berth.

The Governors traveled to the NCAA's Atlanta Regional and again made a splash, upsetting regional host Georgia Tech, 2-1, in the opening-round contest. It was the Gobs first-ever opening-round victory in the NCAA Tournament and pushed McClure to his 712th career win.

But that was just a springboard to 2012. The Governors again captured the OVC regular-season title in wire-to-wire fashion but were forced to win the tourney title through the loser's bracket. They did so by becoming the first team since 1989 to win four straight games, including back-to-back shutouts against Eastern Illinois in the championship round.

That set the stage for another NCAA chapter to be written. After the Gobs lost a controversial 6-5 last-inning decision to top-seed Oregon, they bounced back with consecutive shutouts of Indiana State, 1-0, perennial NCAA power Cal State Fullerton, 3-0, advancing the program to its first-ever regional final.

While the 2011 and 2012 campaigns were highlights, the 2013 season was an ride into the improbable. With only 14 returning letterwinners from the 2012 team, the Gobs rocketed off to a 25-5 start. The 25-win mark was important for McClure as it was his 777th career win, breaking the OVC career wins mark that had stood for 30 years.

Yet, the ride wasn't over. After a rough two-week spell that saw the Gobs pick up seven losses in eight games, they found their stride again. Austin Peay went undefeated for the entire month of May, a 16-game stretch that included a three-game sweep through the OVC Tournament – for a vaunted “Three Peay-t” – and then a win against Florida in the NCAA Bloomington Regional's first round. The Gobs would eventually reach the regional final for a second consecutive season before again bowing out to the host school, this time an Indiana squad that reached the College World Series.

The three consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances brought the Gobs to five NCAA berths in the past nine seasons. Austin Peay's recent run began with their second-ever NCAA Tournament appearance in Knoxville that capped a 2005 campaign with a 38-24 overall mark and the OVC Baseball Tournament championship.

However, the 2007 OVC tournament championship may be seen as another defining achievement in McClure's storied career. In addition to leading the Governors to a 40-22 record, the OVC tournament-clinching victory against Jacksonville State was the 600th win in McClure's distinguished career and qualified the Gobs for NCAA regional play in Nashville. He then directed the Governors to their first NCAA tourney victory, an 18-7 verdict, a day after the Gobs suffered a gut-wrenching 2-1 11-inning loss to top-seed Vanderbilt.

The 2007 campaign was the culmination of an impressive nine-year run by the Governors under McClure. Austin Peay did not record a losing record between 1999 and 2007 and won the OVC regular-season title in 2003, 2004, 2005 and 2007. The Gobs also won the OVC tournament in 2005 and 2007 and their resulting NCAA Tournament appearances were their first since the 1996 campaign.

The 1990s saw McClure's teams reach the 30-win mark in all but three seasons, averaging 30 wins during the decade's final five seasons. The decade included two OVC regular-season titles (1994 and 1996) and the Governors' first league tournament championship in 1996. The 1996 season was a memorable one as the Governors posted a school-record 44 wins, the second-most in OVC history. A regular-season title and a NCAA Play-In series victory against Southern University propelled the Governors to the NCAA tournament for the first time as a NCAA Division I member.

McClure served as a student assistant during 1987, joining the Governors after completing his eligibility at Cumberland University (Tenn.). He was a second baseman and shortstop for Woody Hunt at Cumberland, the team compiling a 34-16 record during his junior season. Cumberland ended his senior season ranked 12th-nationally, winning 43 games. McClure hit better than .300 during his two seasons.

Prior to his stint at Cumberland, McClure was an all-region honoree at Southeastern (Iowa) Community College as a freshman.

He continued his baseball playing in the Dallas Amateur Baseball

Association, where he was voted the No. 1 shortstop in the league during the 1986 season.

28 DERRICK DUNBAR

Position: Assistant Coach (Hitting) • Experience: Fifth Season
Alma Mater: Austin Peay, 2002

Derrick Dunbar, a former four-year letterwinner for the Govs, begins his fifth season with his alma mater's baseball program as assistant coach.

Responsible for the Governors hitters as well as outfield defense, Dunbar was elevated to recruiting coordinator during the 2014 offseason. In addition, he works with player placement on teams in summer collegiate-level wooden bat leagues to hone and improve their skills during the summer months.

Dunbar brings a dimension of energy and enthusiasm in his philosophy of teaching the offensive game and has an excellent ability to evaluate talent. In his three seasons at Austin Peay, he has coached the program's first Player of the Year (Craig Massoni) since 1996 and five players who have surpassed 200 career hits. In his 15-plus seasons as an assistant coach, Dunbar has worked with 37 players who have gone on to the professional ranks.

Preaching patience at the plate, Dunbar saw the Govs lead the OVC in on-base percentage during both the 2012 and 2013 seasons after they ranked second among OVC teams in that statistic his first season with APSU (2011). In addition, the Govs have ranked among the nation's top 60 teams in on-base percentage each of the last three seasons.

The Govs patience at the plate hasn't hurt their power numbers as they ranked among Division I's top 60 (out of nearly 300 teams) in home runs, slugging percentage and runs scored each of his first four seasons. Austin Peay's offense finished the 47-win 2013 campaign ranked among the nation's top 50 in 15 statistical categories.

Thanks to Dunbar's guidance, the Govs made a smooth transition to the BBCOR bats the NCAA required in 2011, with their team average dipping by just five points (from .304 in 2010 to .299 in 2011). However, that was the 55th best batting average in Division I that season (up from a 151st ranking the season prior) and the Govs ranked among the nation's top 100 in 14 offensive categories, including 55th in walks (238), 29th in home runs (46) and 40th in runs scored (387).

Prior to his return to Austin Peay, Dunbar spent two seasons as an assistant at the University of Memphis, where he instructed the infielders and assisted with hitting instruction. He also was instrumental in overseeing the program's summer and winter camps, summer high school tournaments and fall instructional league.

Before heading to Memphis, Dunbar was an assistant at Jackson State Community College under head coach Steve Cornelison, also an APSU baseball alumnus. While there he had the responsibility of being the Generals' recruiting coordinator, hitting coach as well as working with infielders.

A former Governor, Dunbar played four seasons (1999-2002) at first base and as a pitcher. He appeared in 124 games, including 31 starts in a senior campaign in which he played only first base and saw him hit .289 with 14 RBI. On the mound, Dunbar made 25 appearances in his first three seasons at Austin Peay, compiling a 2-1 record and a 5.67 ERA.

Dunbar has extensive ties in the Clarksville community, graduating from Northwest High School in 1997 as a four-year letterwinner at first base and pitcher. After his Austin Peay playing career, he began his coaching career as an assistant at his prep alma mater in 2003. He was then hired by his former high school coach – and APSU alumnus – Jason Rice at Rossville High School for the 2004 campaign. Dunbar then returned to Austin Peay as a volunteer assistant in 2005 before being hired at Jackson State Community College.

In addition, Dunbar was a coach for the Clarksville Orioles summer baseball program, coaching the 13-year-old squad and assisting with the 18-year-old team from 2002-05. He also was an assistant for the Vermont Mountaineers of the New England Collegiate Baseball League, a summer college baseball league, in both 2007 and 2008 with them winning the NECBL championship in 2007.

26 CHAL FANNING

Position: Assistant Coach (Pitching) • Experience: First Season
Alma Mater: Cal Poly, 1996

Chal Fanning, a 20-year coaching veteran begins his first season with the Austin Peay baseball coaching staff. He will serve as the Governors pitching coach and will lead the team's game-day operations.

Fanning, who brings 20 years of coaching experience to Clarksville, has previously coached at Division I members Missouri and Cal Poly. In seven seasons at the Division I level he has coached or recruited 49 student-athletes who eventually played at the professional level.

Fanning joins the Gobs after spending three seasons at Cuesta College (2012-14), his junior college alma mater located in San Luis Obispo, California. He coached four all-conference selections and saw a pitcher named Western State Conference North Pitcher of the Year in consecutive seasons.

This will not be Fanning's first Division I experience, he spent six seasons at Missouri (1997-2002) as that program's pitching coach and recruiting coordinator. While in Columbia he coached or recruited 19 All-Big 12 selections, including Jody Harris, the 1999 Big 12 Newcomer of the Year. That effort also included three All-America selections, six freshman All-America picks and four professional players: Justin James, Shawn Marcum, Ian Kinsler and Kyle McClellan.

After his time at Missouri, Fanning returned to Cal Poly, his collegiate alma mater, where he was the recruiting coordinator and assisted in offensive and defensive development of student-athletes. Again his coaching and recruiting efforts paid dividends with 10 all-conference selections, two All-Americans, one conference player of the year and 16 future professionals among the players he coached or recruited. While with the Mustangs, he recruited Bud Norris, now with the Baltimore Orioles, and coached Garrett Olsen, who played parts of six seasons at the major league level.

Fanning also has kept in touch with collegiate baseball through his management of the SLO Blues collegiate summer baseball league team. In 12 seasons spanning two stints with the program, he has compiled a 425-226 all-time mark winning to California Collegiate League titles and two Coach of the Year citations. Major league players passing through his program include Brian Fuentes, Casey Fien, C.J. Cron and Kyle Hendriks.

Fanning played collegiately at both Cuesta College and Cal Poly. In his freshman season at Cuesta, he led the team in wins (4) and strikeouts (43) and left with the program's career marks for appearances and strikeouts. He then transferred to Cal Poly where he was a member of the 1992 third-place Division II World Series team. Fanning served as the closer of that team and collected four saves. In regional play that season, he picked up a save and started the final game, leading Cal Poly to a World Series berth.

29 GREG BACHMAN

Position: Volunteer Assistant (Catchers) • Experience: First Season
Alma Mater: Austin Peay, 2012

Bachman, a 2012 Austin Peay graduate, begins a new phase in his baseball career after retiring from playing professional baseball in the Frontier League.

Bachman, an infielder while with the Govs, ended his collegiate career as the program's all-time hits leader (276), erasing current Dodgers catcher A.J. Ellis from the top of the list. He held the hits record for just one season, but remains the program's career leader in runs batted in (188), doubles (62) and total bases (444) while ranking second in six other categories, including hits, home runs (34) and games played (228).

Twice named second-team All-OVC, Bachman capped his Austin Peay career by being named the 2012 OVC Tournament's "Most Valuable Player." He went on to be named to the NCAA Tournament's Eugene All-Region team. Bachman batted .538 during that postseason with 21 hits in nine games – the finest postseason performance in program history.

NOTES: Prior to 1979 the winner of each division matched up in a three-game series to determine who the OVC regular-season champion was in that season. Since 2001 the tournament has been played at a neutral site (prior to that, the event was held at the No. 1 seed and regular season champion or the Highest-seeded team with lights). ♦ - indicates Austin Peay won playoff/tournament that season.

Austin Peay defeated Jacksonville State in the 2011 OVC Championship for its fourth tournament title.

NCAA TOURNAMENT RECAPS

■ 1996

Austin Peay made its first-ever appearance in the NCAA Division I Baseball Championship in 1996. The Govs earned a share of the OVC regular-season title and followed that by winning the OVC tournament crown. However, that did not earn the Govs an automatic bid into the tournament, which was a 48-team affair. Instead, the Govs would have to earn their way in through a play-in series.

The Govs hosted that play-in event against Southern University, the Southwestern Athletic Conference champion. Austin Peay won the opening game thanks to a 14-hit outburst that included two-run singles by Nate Manning and Brock Maiser that gave APSU the lead for good in the fifth inning. Southern returned the favor in Game 2 with 14 runs on 15 hits in an error-prone affair. The Govs secured a trip to their first NCAA tournament behind Craig Smith's dominant pitching performance in Game 3, as he held Southern to one hit through eight scoreless innings while striking out nine.

The Govs were sent to the six-team South II Regional hosted by LSU, the eventual national champion. Austin Peay fell behind early in each contest and the offense could not keep pace in what turned out to be an explosive offensive atmosphere (LSU won the regional title by a 29-13 score against Georgia Tech). In their NCAA tournament premier, Austin Peay surrendered four first-inning runs to host LSU while the offense could not solve starter Ed Yarnell. The Govs second game saw Georgia Tech score seven runs in the first four innings. However, Manning would belt a two-run home run off Yellow Jackets starter Jase Wrigley to provide the Govs a tourney highlight.

The Govs waited nearly a decade before returning to the NCAA Tournament, but earned a berth in 2005 after an improbable OVC Tournament crown. Austin Peay finished second in the OVC regular-season race after being swept by regular-season champion Jacksonville State on the final weekend. The Govs stunned the Gamecocks in their first tournament meeting with a 4-1 victory, but lost the next day in extra-innings to force a winner-take-all contest. Austin Peay turned to reliever Brad Daniels to start the championship game and the senior turned in a sparkling complete-game shutout that included nine strikeouts.

Austin Peay was sent to the Knoxville regional and faced host Tennessee in the opening game. The Govs had the host Volunteers and Luke Hochevar, their starter, on the ropes following a four-run seventh inning that was highlighted by Ryan Kane's two-run double. However, the setting sun played a huge factor as it obscured a throw home from right field that allowed the Volunteers to rally for three runs in the eighth for a 7-5 win.

The Govs offense was held to one run against Wichita State in Game 2, but it had plenty of opportunities stranding nine men in scoring position. Austin Peay starter Shawn Kelley scattered four runs on 14 hits over 6.2 innings in the loss.

■ 2007

Two years later, Austin Peay returned to the NCAA Tournament following a remarkable regular-season campaign that saw it win 11 consecutive games, including two against SEC foe Mississippi State, in the season's final month. The Govs won the regular-season title on the final weekend then blitzed through the OVC tournament behind a pitching staff that allowed four runs in three games.

The Govs third trip to the tournament would lead them 50 miles south of campus to Nashville. Austin Peay opened against No. 1 seed Vanderbilt and starting pitcher David Price – the eventual No. 1 pick in that season's Major League Baseball draft. Austin Peay starter Shawn Kelley, who ultimately went 10 innings in his final game as a Gov, outdueled Price through five innings but surrendered a run on a wild pitch in the sixth inning. Price put together a dominant performance, striking out 17 Govs over nine innings, but left a pitch over the plate to start the ninth and the Govs Tyler Farrar leveled the score with a home run to left field. However, Vanderbilt took advantage of a passed ball and an error in the 11th inning to secure the win.

Austin Peay bounced back to pick up its first NCAA Tournament win with a wild 18-7 victory against Memphis the next day. The Govs scored six runs while batting around in the first inning and made that lead stand up with a six-run fifth inning. Jeff Lykins picked up the win on the mound as a nearly three and a half hour rain delay chased starter Matt Reynolds from the mound after three innings.

The win gave the Govs a second chance against the host Commodores. Austin Peay scored three runs in the first two innings, including a two-run home run by Farrar. However, Vanderbilt took advantage of Austin Peay error in the third to score six runs in the frame and take the lead for good.

Farrar and Kelley were joined by catcher Matt Smith on the all-region team. Farrar finished the tournament with two home runs and six RBI. Kelley allowed one run and struck out nine batters over 10 innings in his Game 1 loss. Smith had three hits and two RBI and made three tournament starts.

■ 2011

Austin Peay pieced together an impressive 2011 campaign, winning the OVC regular-season title in wire-to-wire fashion before a dominating sprint through the OVC tournament that saw its pitching staff surrender five runs in three games.

The Govs

SNODGRASS FOR THE WIN

Austin Peay starting pitcher Jack Snodgrass held host Georgia Tech to one run over seven innings during the 2011 Atlanta Regional to pick up the Govs first-ever opening-round victory in NCAA Tournament action.

reward was a trip to the Atlanta Regional where they met Georgia Tech in a rematch of their first-ever trip to the tournament. The second meeting between the two programs was a pitcher's duel from the start. It took a Jordan Hankins solo home run in the seventh inning to break a 1-1 tie and give APSU the eventual winning run. Govs starting pitcher Jack Snodgrass picked up the win, allowing one run over seven innings.

Austin Peay wasn't as lucky against Mississippi State in the winner's bracket. APSU starter Jeremy Dobbs left in the third inning due to an injury and the Govs bullpen suffered through a rough fourth inning as Mississippi State scored seven times to break the game open. Bulldogs starter Evan Mitchell kept the Govs scoreless through seven innings before departing the game. The Govs broke up the shutout bid in the ninth as the Govs pinch hit for each of their first three batters and all three reached base and eventually scored in the 8-3 loss.

Georgia Tech awaited the Govs in the loser's bracket and jumped out quickly with five runs in the first three innings. Austin Peay's offense again was held in check through seven innings, this time by Georgia Tech starter Buck Farmer who went the distance allowing two runs and struck out nine. John Hogan had the Govs lone RBI when Georgia Tech misplayed his infield hit, allowing two runs to score.

Reed Harper was named to the all-region team after leading the Govs with three hits in three games while going errorless on defense.

■ 2012

Austin Peay completed a rare back-to-back sweep of both the OVC's regular-season and tournament titles in 2012. It was the first time since the league returned to single division play in 1989 that a team had claimed back-to-back titles during both the regular season and tournament.

The Govs destination for the 2012 NCAA Baseball Championship was unexpected, but not unwelcome, as they were awarded a trip west to Eugene, Ore. – the farthest west an Austin Peay baseball team had traveled.

Host and No. 4 national seed Oregon gained the early edge with two runs in the first four innings. Austin Peay broke through in the fifth when Jordan Hankins hit a three-run home run into the Oregon bullpen in right field. The Ducks scratched out a pair of runs in the sixth, but the Govs responded again with runs in both the seventh and eighth innings to take a 5-4 lead.

However, it is the ninth inning that will reside infamously in Govs history. Austin Peay turned the game over to closer Tyler Rogers who hit the first two batters he faced then loaded the bases with an one-out intentional walk. Rogers believed he had the inning's second out when he fielded Brett Thomas' soft grounder and sprinted to tag the runner racing down the third-base line. However, the home plate umpire ruled that Rogers had not applied the tag and the tying run scored. The Govs could not recover from the sudden change in momentum, surrendering the game-winning run on an infield error on the next at-bat.

Despite the hangover of losing that emotional opening game, Austin Peay responded with two of the best pitching performances in its brief NCAA Tournament history. Andy Cox took the mound against Indiana State and tossed seven scoreless innings in a 1-0 victory. The next day it was Casey Delgado's turn and he turned in a sparkling shutout of nationally-ranked Cal State Fullerton as the Govs reached the regional final with a 3-0 victory.

The Govs ran out of pitching in the regional final as Oregon scored six runs in the first four innings. Austin Peay's offense was only able to scratch out an unearned run in the ninth inning to avoid the shutout in an 8-1 loss.

Hankins, Greg Bachman and Delgado were each named to the all-region team. Bachman led the Govs with nine hits and a .529 batting average. Hankins had a team-best three RBI with six hits and a .400 batting average. Delgado was picked after his shutout effort against Cal State Fullerton.

■ 2013

Austin Peay's third consecutive trip to the NCAA Baseball Championship came courtesy its "Three Peay-T" at the OVC Baseball Championship. The Govs entered the Bloomington Regional as a No. 2 seed, the first time an OVC team was anything but a No. 4 seed, and were pitted against host and No. 1 seed Indiana, No. 3 seed Florida and No. 4 seed Valparaiso.

The Govs put the nation's longest win streak (15 games) and its undefeated mark in May into their May 31 contest against perennial tournament squad Florida. Austin Peay trailed 3-1 entering the seventh inning when designated hitter Michael Davis belted a three-run home run into the Govs bullpen in left field for a 4-3 lead. APSU nursed the lead into the ninth when closer Tyler Rogers faced the minimum to record the save and eradicate the ghosts of a year ago.

Austin Peay could not solve one of the nation's best hitting teams in its second round contest. The Govs pitching staff had the worst of the day, surrendering a season-high 12 walks in the 15-6 loss. Offensively, the Govs highlights included shortstop Reed Harper's three-run home run in the first inning and center fielder Dylan Riner and third baseman Jordan Hankins each notching three hits.

Davis would again prove the hero in the Govs third contest of the regional, a 5-4 victory against familiar foe Valparaiso. With the game tied 4-4 in the seventh, Davis hit a leadoff home run to break the tie and ultimately send the Govs to the regional final. Rogers tossed two scoreless innings to record his NCAA Division I record-breaking 23rd save, a mark that would last until the College World Series.

After scoring 15 runs in its first three tournament games, Austin Peay's offense was stymied in a season-ending 6-1 loss to host Indiana. The Govs did have their opportunities. In the second inning, catcher P.J. Torres saw a potential game-tying three-run home run brought back into the park for an inning-ending out. Three innings later, Austin Peay would load the bases with one out, chasing starter Will Coursen-Carr from the mound. Designated hitter Michael Davis would milk a bases-loaded walk out of reliever Luke Harrison to push the Govs first run across, but the next two Govs to the plate struck out, ending the threat.

Following the tournament's conclusion, left fielder Cody Hudson and Hankins were named to the all-tournament team. It was Hankins second NCAA Baseball Championship Region All-Tournament team selection.

DAVIS' BLASTS DOWN GATORS, CRUSADERS

Austin Peay designated hitter Michael Davis had two home runs during the 2013 NCAA Bloomington Regional. His eighth-inning three-run shot in the Gobs tourney opener downed Florida. Two days later, Davis' leadoff home run in the eighth pushed the Gobs past Valparaiso and into the regional final. Photo by Lisa Kemmer.

NOTES

- NCAA postseason participant

Austin Peay was a member of the Volunteer State Athletic Association as a two-year school (1947-1962). The Governors joined the Ohio Valley Conference in 1962 and started play in 1963.

The OVC played in a East-West Division format from 1963-70 and again from 1973-78. A North-South alignment was in use from 1981-88. For more information on tournament formats, please see the Ohio Valley Conference's Records Book.

All win-loss records on this page reflect the on-field result per NCAA Statistics policy. Forfeit decisions in 1981, 1982 and 1998 are not included. However, APSU's 1981 OVC regular-season finish is adjusted for forfeits imposed by the OVC office after the season's conclusion.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RESULTS

NOTES: Austin Peay baseball began play during the 1931 season and played as an independent until 1947 when it joined the Volunteer State Athletic Association (VSAC). Austin Peay's membership in the Ohio Valley Conference began with the 1963 baseball season. Known Ohio Valley Conference regular-season matches are noted with a bullet (•) prior to the opponent's name. Match locations are indicated in parentheses after the opponents name as follows: (H)=home, (A)=away, (N)=neutral and (U)=unknown. Forfeits are indicated by [F] preceding the decision and a note following the season clarifies the reason. The decisions indicated in the following listing are the on-field result, per NCAA policy. Extra-inning contests and no-hit games are also indicated in brackets preceding the decision, where known.

MIKE WEEL, 2000 OVC PITCHER OF THE YEAR

THE OHIO VALLEY CONFERENCE

THE OHIO VALLEY CONFERENCE

Now in its 67th year, the Ohio Valley Conference continues to build on the success that has made it the nation's eighth-oldest NCAA Division I conference. In May 2011 the Conference expanded for the second time in four years, adding Belmont University which begins competition in the 2012-13 academic year. The addition of Belmont gives the OVC 12 members, the most the league has had at one time in its illustrious history. The move added a second team in the city of Nashville and was the first addition to the league since Southern Illinois University Edwardsville joined in 2008.

The 2009-10 school year saw a change in leadership as Beth DeBauche was named the seventh full-time commissioner in league history on July 28. She is currently one of just five females to be the head of a Division I conference, and one of just eight to lead a Division I conference all-time. The last three commissioners of the OVC have moved onto jobs as the commissioner of the Big Ten, Big 12 and the Mid-American Conferences.

The OVC's proud past dates back to 1948, but seeds for the new league were actually planted in 1941. It was then that Roy Stewart, the athletics director at Murray State, Charles (Turkey) Hughes, the athletics director at Eastern Kentucky, and Kelly Thompson, the public relations director at Western Kentucky, first broached the idea of forming a new conference. Discussions were put on hold by World War II, but reemerged Feb. 27-28, 1948 at the Kentucky Hotel in Louisville as the three original institutions combined with Morehead State, Louisville and Evansville to form the OVC.

Now in its seventh decade of competition, the OVC has grown significantly from its humble beginnings while increasing the number of athletics opportunities it provides for students. Current league representatives include charter members Eastern Kentucky, Morehead State and Murray State, along with Austin Peay, Eastern Illinois, Jacksonville State, Southeast Missouri, SIU Edwardsville, Tennessee State, Tennessee Tech and the UT Martin.

The league's baseball presence has continued to evolve since its inception. The OVC baseball tournament moved to a neutral site for the first time in 2001 with Paducah, Ky. and Brooks Stadium hosting the tournament in front of raucous crowds. The success of the tournament led to Jackson, Tenn. and The Ballpark at Jackson (the home of the Seattle Mariner's Class AA affiliate) – hosting the event for the first time in 2010.

The OVC also has made a statement in the NCAA Baseball Championship in recent years, with its teams involved in several memorable contests in the last decade. Tennessee Tech surprised Wake Forest in the opening round of the 2001 tournament and Southeast Missouri stunned host Alabama in the opening round of the 2002 championship. Five years later, Austin Peay captured the collegiate baseball world's attention by taking Vanderbilt, the 2007 No. 1 overall seed, to extra innings. Eastern Illinois pushed host Nebraska to the limit in 2008 followed by Tennessee Tech's memorable contest against host Clemson in 2009.

After not making the OVC Tournament field in either 2009 or 2010, Austin Peay, who was picked to finish seventh in the 2011 preseason poll, won the regular season and tournament championships to garner its fourth NCAA Tournament appearance. In the first game of NCAA Regional play the Gobs knocked off host and No. 1 seed Georgia Tech 2-1.

THE OHIO VALLEY CONFERENCE

In 2012 Austin Peay completed a "repeat squared" (back-to-back regular season and tournament championships) for the first-time in OVC history. The Gobs would go on to top Indiana State and Cal State Fullerton at the Eugene Regional, before falling to host Oregon in the regional final. It marked the first time since the 2000 season (Middle Tennessee) that an OVC team had won multiple NCAA Tournament games in the same season.

Austin Peay completed a "3-Peayt" by winning its third-straight OVC Tournament crown in 2013. Along the way the Gobs garnered the first nationally-ranking by an OVC team since 2009 (climbing to as high as 21st nationally) and tied the OVC single-season record with 47 victories. The Gobs earned the No. 2 seed in the NCAA Bloomington Regional, becoming the first OVC team in the current regional format (since 1999) to earn anything other than a No. 4 seed. The squad topped Florida and Valparaiso to advance to the regional final for the second-straight season before losing to host Indiana. Gobs senior closer Tyler Rogers was a big part of his team's success during the year, setting the NCAA single-season record for saves (23 – a mark that was later eclipsed during the College World Series).

After the 2014 baseball season OVC teams have won at least one game in the NCAA regional round in five of the last eight years.

For the third-straight year 12 OVC players were selected in the 2014 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft. Of those 12 selections five came in the first 10 rounds, setting a new record for most OVC players picked in the first 10 rounds (eclipsing the old mark of three set several times). The 12 selections were once again just one off the record of 13 selections in 2010; overall the OVC has had 58 players selected over the past five years (2010-14).

A first in the OVC occurred in 2008, when the league had a first round draft pick in both the NFL (Tennessee State's Dominique Rodgers-Cromartie) and Major League Baseball (Eastern Kentucky's Christian Friedrich) Drafts in the same school year. A year later (2009) the league had a Major League Baseball First Round Compensation Round pick (Eastern Illinois' Tyler Kehr who was No. 48 overall) and NBA Second Round pick (UT Martin's Lester Hudson) in the same season. The playing field is not the only place where OVC athletes are working hard. The league also recognizes excellence in the classroom. Six Scholar-Athlete Awards are presented yearly to male and female athletes, while others are commended for their academic success by being Medal of Honor recipients or earning a spot on the Commissioner's Honor Roll. Additionally, the league annually presents one institutional Academic Achievement Award, as well as separate team awards in each Conference-sponsored sport. Since the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-America program began, the Ohio Valley Conference has had 229 student-athletes honored with the award, including 50 over the last five years.

Through the early years of the league, administrators wrestled with fan behavior due to the close proximity of the Conference members and the intense rivalries which developed. Just as it did decades ago, the OVC took the leadership role on what has become a national issue. In 1995, the OVC implemented a first-of-its-kind "Sportsmanship Statement," a policy which promotes principles of fair play, ethical conduct and respect for one's opponent. The statement has become a model for others to follow across the nation, and has answered the challenge of the NCAA Presidents Commission to improve sportsmanship in collegiate athletics.

Additionally, the OVC annually presents the Steve Hamilton Sportsmanship Award, in honor of the former Morehead State student-athlete, coach and athletics director, to a junior or senior student-athlete with significant athletic contributions who best exemplifies the characteristics of sportsmanship and citizenship. Most recently, the Conference has also implemented the OVC Institutional and Team Sportsmanship Awards, which are presented to one institution and 18 sport-specific teams voted by their peers to have best exhibited the standards of sportsmanship and ethical conduct as outlined by the OVC and NCAA.

The vision of leadership demonstrated by the Founding Fathers in 1948 remains alive today as the Ohio Valley Conference prepares for the future. One example is in regard to the current trend in collegiate athletics administration for increased involvement of university presidents in setting policies and making rules. The presidents of OVC institutions, however, have always governed the Conference, long before presidential governance became a national theme.

The Ohio Valley Conference sponsors the following sports: baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, tennis and track and field for men, and basketball, cross country, golf, soccer, softball, tennis, track and volleyball for women. In addition, the OVC also sponsors the combined men's and women's sport of rifle.

Now in its seventh decade of competition, the Ohio Valley Conference has grown significantly from its humble beginnings while increasing the number of athletics opportunities it provides for students. Current league representatives include charter members Eastern Kentucky University, Morehead State University and Murray State University, along with Austin Peay State University, Belmont University, Eastern Illinois University, Jacksonville State University, Southeast Missouri State University, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, Tennessee State University, Tennessee Technological University and the University of Tennessee at Martin. In addition Columbus State University serves as an affiliate member for the sport of rifle.

OVC MEMBERS

OHIO VALLEY CONFERENCE BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The Ohio Valley Conference Baseball Championship returns to Jackson, Tennessee for the sixth consecutive season, the five-day event returning to The Ballpark at Jackson. In August 2013, the OVC announced a three-year renewal to guarantee the championships will be held there through the 2016 season.

The 6,000-seat Ballpark at Jackson opened in 1998 and is the full-time home of the Jackson Generals, the Double-A affiliate of the Seattle Mariners. Built by the City of Jackson, the stadium is located east of downtown Jackson and is visible to fans and travelers from Interstate 40.

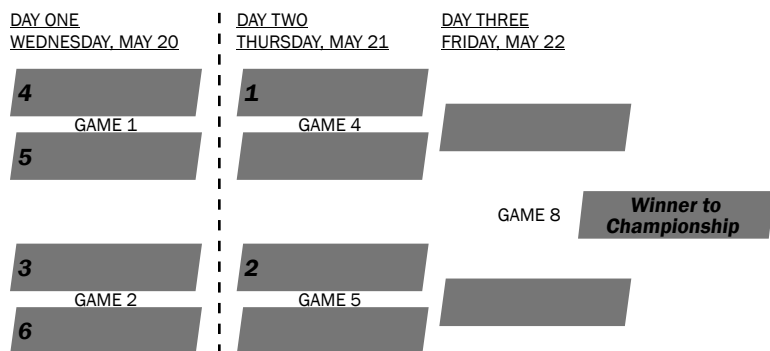

In addition to hosting Southern League baseball games, The Ballpark at Jackson was awarded the 1999 and 2011 Southern League All-Star Games. High school and college baseball games are also played there in the spring before the Jackson Generals season begins.

The 2015 season – the 66th OVC baseball campaign – will end with the 36th edition of the baseball championship tournament. The baseball championship has been decided by a postseason tournament since 1979 and moved to a neutral field in 2001, first in Paducah, Kentucky, before finding a home in Jackson.
