Men's Tennis Sets Sights on Lone Star State

TUCSON, Ariz. – No. 47 Sun Devil men's tennis continues conference play looking to secure a crucial Territorial Cup Series Point this Saturday in Tucson. The No. 25 Wildcats and Sun Devils are set to face off at 1 p.m. MST down south.

"It's been a great week of training and the guys are excited for this match and look forward to it," coach Matt Hill said. "While we like to treat all matches the same, it's difficult to do this for this match. They get so excited to play these guys, so it's going to be a really fun one."

The Sun Devils enter the weekend after three hard-fought matches last time out, two against top-10 opponents. ASU opened the three-match weekend with a quick win over Incarnate World Friday morning in Waco, securing the 4-0 victory in a little over an hour.

ASU went up against No. 6 Baylor later that evening, taking the first point from the Bears in part by No. 18 Dominik Kellovsky/Nathan Ponwith's big upset win over No. 1 Sven Lah/Jimmy Bendeck. The overall match went to a 2-1 Sun Devil lead late, but Baylor took three-straight singles matches to clinch the win.

"Nathan and Dominik have been really clutch for us because it's not easy to play No. 1 doubles against our schedule by any means," Hill said. "Not only are they doing it, but they're doing it very well. They had a great win the other night over the No. 1 pair in the country and went unfinished up 5-2 in the tiebreak against the No. 6 team on Sunday."

Back out on Sunday against No. 10 TCU, ASU again took the doubles point. The clinch was their 11th of the season through 17 matches so far, a feat they did not achieve until their final regular season match in 2018. ASU has eight more regular season matches scheduled this season.

Justin Roberts shined in singles play over the weekend, going 3-0 to extend his win streak to a season-long five matches. Roberts secured a quick singles win in game one on Friday in a little under an hour and came back later that evening to glide past No. 82 Will Little in straight sets for his third win over a ranked opponent this season. The Bahamian finished up the weekend with a comeback 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 victory against No. 10 TCU.

"Justin is an incredible player, but he also is a player who needs reps, rhythm and time," Hill said. "It took some time to get his feet under him, but now that he does, he can beat anyone in the country for sure."

Building on strong doubles play, all three active doubles pairs are on win streaks with No. 56 Andrea Bolla/Tim Ruehl winning two straight while No. 18 Ponwith/Kellovsky and Makey Rakotomalala/Roberts both won last time out.

The Sun Devils and Wildcats both faced off last season with ASU working to a quick 4-0 sweep of Arizona. Arizona boasts a stronger squad this time around, sitting at the No. 25 spot in the Oracle/ITA rankings versus going unranked in last season's matchup.

"Arizona returned a lot of their guys and brought in a really good recruit who's playing at the top of their lineup," Hill said. "They're young and doing a good job, and they're taking care of a lot of their matches."

First serve with Arizona is set for Sat., March 30 at 1 p.m. MST in Tucson. Fans can keep up with the action all season-long by following @SunDevilMTennis on Twitter.

Team Notes

Rankings Are Here, Rankings Are Here!

The latest rankings for doubles are out and No. 56 Andrea Bolla and Tim Ruehl are on the list for the 11th-straight week. The tandem started the 2019 season ranked No. 22 and maintained their names on the list in every poll since.

The duo of Nathan Ponwith and Dominik Kellovsky also maintained their spot on the list, jumping up 31 spots right into the top-20 at No. 18. The tandem played a crucial role in securing the doubles point against No. 1 Wake Forest, as the first point came down to their match. They secured the victory, were left unfinished against No. 20 Oklahoma State but returned against Pepperdine to notch another win.

Ponwith was also recognized as No. 55 by the ITA as a singles player, up 19 spots from the last poll. Ponwith put up impressive wins in his last weekend in action, taking down No. 37 Mattias Siimar to clinch the Sun Devils' comeback 4-2 win over No. 13 Michigan. The Scottsdale-native finished the weekend with an impressive win against Cal to tie the overall match up at 3-3, setting the table for Tim Ruehl's match-clinching win.

Double the Trouble

The Sun Devils have shown major improvement in doubles play in just one season's time, securing the first point in 11 of the first 17 matches so far. The squad did not notch 11 doubles points until 17 matches into last season, a feat they did not achieve until their final regular season match in 2018. ASU has eight more regular season matches scheduled this season.

Transfers Justin Roberts and Dominik Kellovsky have played large roles in upping the Sun Devils' game, as Roberts and his doubles partner, Makey Rakotomalala lead ASU in wins with eight, while the pair of Kellovsky and Nathan Ponwith are 7-4 so far this season on court one with three wins over ranked opponents including the No. 1-ranked pair.

Tim Ruehl and Andrea Bolla have also dominated the doubles game dating back to the fall season, going 8-3 overall while also battled to the quarterfinals of the ITA Fall National Championship in Surprise, Ariz. The pair are 2-0 this season against ranked opponents, taking wins over the No. 15 and 24 ranked doubles pairs in the country.

#StayTrueToASU

Scottsdale native Nathan Ponwith turned heads in his his weekend competing as a Sun Devil, taking down two ranked opponents en route to an undefeated weekend at the Tempe Collegiate Classic. He started the weekend with a win in straight sets over #69 Eduardo Roldan, and finished with a back-and-forth victory over #67 Niclas Braun.

Ponwith came up big for the Sun Devils last time out at the Oracle Collegiate Challenge, as his 6-7 (1), 6-1, 6-4 win over No. 37 Mattias Siimar clinched a victory for ASU to open the tournament. The clinch was Ponwith's first for his hometown team. Ponwith came back out on Sunday to register another win, this time a 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 victory over Cal to continue the Sun Devils' valliant comeback effort against the Bears.

Roberts on a Roll

Justin Roberts has been on a roll as of late, riding a five-match winning streak into this weekend. Three of those matches were in straight-sets including his 6-0, 6-1 victory over Paco Bendana of Incarnate Word that took less than an hour. Roberts came back out later that night against No. 82 Will Little of Baylor, defeating the Bear 7-5, 6-1 for his third win over a ranked opponent this season. The graduate student finished his 3-0 weekend last time out with a 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 win over Reese Stalder of TCU.

Pac-12 Player of the Week

Tim Ruehl was recognized for his performance in the Sun Devils' matchups against Duke and No. 1 Wake Forest, a weekend in which he went a perfect 2-0 in singles play and 1-1 in doubles play.

Ruehl takes the first such accolade of the season, marking the first on the year for the Sun Devils and the seventh in program history.

SUN DEVIL MEN'S TENNIS

Combined with Michaël Geerts' two Player of the Week honors last year, ASU has three PotW awards since reinstatement in 2017, nearly doubling their four they totaled before being discontinued as a sport in 2008.

The German notched his first career win over a ranked opponent, defeated No. 80 Rrezart Cungu of Wake Forest 2-6, 6-2, 6-2 on Saturday. His win in tandem with Andrea Bolla – together they are ranked the No. 22 doubles pair in the nation – was against Duke to the tune of a 6-1 victory.

Bring It On

ASU continues the new year with one of the toughest non-conference schedules in the nation in their second season, and that is something second-year mentor Matt Hill plans on making a tradition.

The Sun Devils open the year against some of the top competition in college tennis, as three ranked opponents came to compete in the Tempe Collegiate Classic with matchups including No. 14 TCU, No. 16 Illinois and No. 3 Mississippi State. As the season continues ASU faces four of the current top five opponents, including eight-time Big Ten champion No. 2 Ohio State for the second year in a row. Following matchups line up with powerhouses like No. 9 Texas A&M and No. 11 Baylor, as non-conference action wraps up when the Devils head to Fort Worth to face No. 14 TCU.

Mr. Worldwide(s)

With just one Devil from the United States, the men's tennis team is one of the most diverse teams within ASU Athletics. Every single Devil represents a different nation, as the nine men hail from nine different countries across the world: Italy, Czech Republic, Denmark, Bahamas, the Dominican Republic, France, Germany, the U.S. and Great Britain.

Up Hill Battle

Coach Matt Hill is no stranger to adversity. Upon taking the helm at South Florida in 2012, the Bulls hadn't been to the NCAA Division I Championship since 2009. Hill's team finished 8-14 in his first season, but the tide quickly changed under his mentorship, as they compiled a 12-10 record the following year and then found themselves in the Championship for the first time in five years the next season. The team made it to the second round and were eliminated by Florida, but Hill's team made the tournament the next two years as well, finishing as high as the Sweet 16 in 2015.

USF were back-to-back-to-back AAC Champions in Hill's final three years in Tampa, compiling a 82-47 record. He was a three-time American Conference Coach of the Year and mentored a three-time American Athletic Conference Player of the Year in Roberto Cid.

New Kids on the Block

Entering the 2019 season, Sun Devil men's tennis welcomes three highly sought after transfers to the new season, as they look to add veteran leadership and depth to the roster. Scottsdale native Nathan Ponwith returns back home after a two-year stint at the University of Georgia. During his time with the Dawgs, Ponwith earned 2017 SEC Freshman of the Year and First-Team All-SEC honors as Georgia's court one. In addition, Ponwith amassed an SEC record for most Freshman of the week honors in a single season with five to round out his sensational freshman campaign.

Another key newcomer that will compete in a major role for the Devils is Dominik Kellovsky from his home country of the Czech Republic. In his time overseas, he completed a large part of his time in the Pro Circuit accumulating a 70-97 record in singles and 110-80 record in doubles.

Graduate Student Justin Roberts returns back under head coach Matt Hill after completing two seasons with him at the University of South Florida. As a junior, Roberts was instrumental in clinching USF's fourth straight conference title when he defeated Danny Kerznerman of UCF. On top of that, Roberts added an American Athletic Conference Player of the Week honors to his resume after an upset win over No. 16 Mississippi State.

Before arriving at ASU, Hill spent the previous four seasons as the head coach of the University of South Florida, leading the Bulls to three consecutive AAC team championships and a No. 17 final ranking among Division I programs this past season. USF advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the third straight season in 2016 after qualifying just twice in 10 previous campaigns prior to Hill's arrival.

Prior to his time at South Florida, Hill had two successful stops at a pair of nationally ranked SEC programs in Mississippi State and Alabama. Hill will be the Sun Devil program's first head coach since Lou Belken led the program from 1983 through 2008.

The 2016 Bulls reached a program-best ranking of No. 13 in the nation before finishing in the Top 20 at No. 17. Hill coached two-time All-American Roberto Cid to a ranking of No. 2 in the nation, the best ranking of any tennis player, men's or women's, in program history. USF also played one of the toughest schedules, notching 16 wins over ranked opponents and playing just four matches against unranked foes.

In 2015, Hill guided the Bulls to their best finish as USF advanced to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA tournament after winning their second-straight conference championship while Oliver Pramming earned Most Outstanding Player honors.

The Bulls won the inaugural American Athletic Conference tournament in 2014 and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. Hill coached Cid to the first-ever All-America honor in USF history as he made an impressive run in the NCAA singles tournament.

An accomplished recruiter, Hill took over the USF program and immediately brought in five players in his first recruiting class that were either ranked among the top 100 juniors in the world or had already earned professional ATP points. His 2013 and 2016 recruiting classes were both ranked in the top 10 in the nation.

Additionally, Hill oversaw the start of a capital fundraising campaign geared toward a $3 million renovation of the tennis facility and personally helped secure over half a million dollars toward that goal.

During Hill's five years as an assistant coach at Mississippi State, he helped the Bulldogs improve from a No. 58 ranking in 2008 and a No. 72 ranking in 2009 to top 20 finishes in his final two seasons, including a No. 11 final ranking in 2012 – the program's best finish since 1998. The Bulldogs posted the program's best record (20-7) since that same 1998 squad went 21-5.

MSU earned a No. 20 final ranking in 2011 after producing a 14-9 record, while winning the SEC Western Division title with an 8-3 mark. Hill was instrumental in helping five Bulldogs to All-SEC honors, while supporting Per Nilsson to SEC Coach of the Year honors. He was recognized for his efforts by being named ITA Southern Region Assistant Coach of the Year and SEC Assistant Coach of the Year.

Hill's recruiting prowess shined with the Bulldogs as he served as the team's recruiting coordinator, bringing in seven players that were either ranked in the top 100 among the world's juniors or became ranked in the top 125 players in the country upon arriving at Mississippi State. His 2009 recruiting class was ranked 13th in the nation.

While at MSU, Hill and the Bulldog staff had one of just three programs with five singles players ranked in the Top-75 nationally while his efforts in promoting the team helped grow the fan base by over 600 percent with the Bulldogs ranked in the top 5 nationally in average attendance during the 2009 and 2011 seasons.

Prior to joining the Bulldogs' staff, Hill served as a volunteer assistant coach at Alabama for two seasons. He helped the Crimson Tide improve from a No. 56 final ranking the season before he joined the staff to a No. 14 ranking in 2007, his second year with the program. Hill helped coach five nationally ranked players and helped Alabama reach two NCAA Tournaments during his stint, including a trip to the round of 16 in 2007.

A native of Holt, Mich., Hill earned a degree in business marketing with a specialization in professional tennis management from Ferris State University in 2005 and a master's degree in human performance from Alabama in 2007. Also a member of the tennis team while at Ferris State, Hill helped lead the Bulldogs to the NCAA Division II quarterfinals for the first time in school history.

Prior to his appointment at Purdue Kokta was at Baylor where he served as volunteer coach at his alma mater for three seasons. During his three seasons, Baylor captured a pair of Big 12 Conference regular season titles and won the Big 12 Championship in 2014. The Bears advanced to the Round of 16 at the NCAA Championships in 2012 and 2013, followed by a quarterfinal appearance in 2014.
