John Yocum Challenge Cup History

Alvernia vs. Albright

HISTORY

The John Yocum Challenge Cup is an annual, two-day match play event between Alvernia University and Albright College. The event is named after Berks County golf legend John Yocum, a Hall of Famer at both institutions.

The idea for a Ryder Cup-style event originated between head coaches Jon King (Alvernia) and Ray Mest (Albright). The name to honor in the title was a no-brainer for either coach. The format is three fourball team matches on Day One at one home course then six singles matches on Day Two at the other course. The courses flip-flop every year.

The first Yocum Cup match took place in April of 2006 with fourball matches at Berkshire Country Club and singles matches at Hawk Valley. Alvernia switched its home course to Reading Country Club in the fall of '06 so the Crusaders have hosted there through the fall of 2012 when Alvernia moved to LedgeRock Golf Club.

In 2008 the event was moved from the spring schedule to the fall to take advantage of typically better playing conditions. The Spring & Fall 2020 seasons were canceled by COVID, so the teams played Spring 2021.
