AUBURN MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING AIMS FOR EIGHTH NATIONAL TITLE

TIGER BITES

The Tigers have reached the championship portion of the 2008-09 slate with a squad re-turning 17 letterwinners, 12 all-americans, seven SEC and two NCAA champions ... Fresh off the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, the Auburn swimming & diving team boasts olympic participants Matt Targett (Australia), Jakob Andkjaer (Denmark), and Gideon Louw (South Africa).

2009 SWIMMING & DIVING CHAMPIONSHIPS
DIVISION I • COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS

NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP QUICK HITS

- Auburn looks to win its eighth NCAA Championship and sixth in seven years.
- Head Auburn Diving Coach Jeff Shaffer has guided his divers to win five of the last six NCAA Platform Championships. Juniors Dan Mazzaferro and Kelly Marx look to continue Auburn success in the event.
- Leading the Auburn charge in the lanes will be 2008 Olympian Matt Targett. The 2009 SEC Swimmer of the Year is coming off a flawless outing in the 2009 SEC Championships, putting his name on an SEC record every time he jumped in the pool.
- Auburn's most successful event of all-time is the 50 free as the tigers have won the event eight times - beginning with Rowdy Gaines in 1979 and continuing in 2008 with Cesar Cielo.
- The Auburn coaching staff has combined for a total of 16 NCAA Championships. Co-head coach Brett Hawke has nine (50 free, 200 FR (2), 400 FR (2), 200 MR (3), 400 MR) while assistant Aaron Ciarla with seven (50 free, 200 FR (3), 400 FR, 200 MR (2)).

LIVE STATS

Live stats and timing will be available throughout each session of the NCAA Championships by logging on to www.AuburnTigers.com and accessing the Swimming & Diving schedule page.

TIGERS EARN 16 SPOTS ON PSYCHE SHEET

Auburn has 16 swimmers listed on the official psyche sheet for the NCAA Championships. The Tigers had the third most entries to the event behind Stanford and Texas, each with 18. California also has 16 swimmers in competition.

SEC RECOGNITION

After a dominating performance at the 2009 SEC Championships, the Tigers presented several honors recognizing season-long accomplishments. Head Coach Richard Quick and co-head coach Brett Hawke received SEC Men's Coach of the Year Honors, Jeff Shaffer was named SEC Diving Coach of the Year, Matt Targett was named SEC Swimmer of the Year and Dan Mazzaferro shared Diver of the Year honors with Alabama's Aaron Fleshner. Targett was also presented with the Commisiner's Trophy, an award presented to the high scorer of the SEC Championship.

AUBURN AT THE NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Tigers are looking to claim their eighth NCAA title overall and sixth of the past seven years. In Auburn's eight NCAA championships, the team's largest margin of victory was 256.5 points in 2004 in East Meadow, N.Y., as the Tigers scored 634 points, finishing ahead of Stanford (377.5). The closest margin of victory came in 2006 in Atlanta as the Tigers scored 480.5 points to finish 40 points ahead of Arizona (440.5).

Auburn's first-ever NCAA Championship came in 1997 in Minneapolis, Minn. (also the home of Auburn's 2007 title), when the Tigers scored 496.5 points to finish ahead of Stanford (340), Georgia (297), Texas (286) and Tennessee (235.5). Current co-head coach Brett Hawke was the star for the Tigers as he won four NCAA titles, coming home as the 50 free champion while swimming on three winning relays (200 FR, 400 FR, 400 MR). The win capped off an amazing turn-around for the team as just seven years prior, in 1990, the Tigers did not even qualify for the NCAA Championships. Auburn returned to the meet in 1991, finishing 20th, and crept its way into the top five, finishing second in 1996 before winning the whole thing in 1997.

The most individual titles won by the Tigers at the NCAA Championships is seven. Auburn reached that mark in both 1999 and 2007. Altogether, AU has won 48 individual NCAA titles.

Auburn ranks sixth all-time in NCAA Championships won with seven and would tie Stanford in fifth by winning its eighth this season. Michigan and Ohio State are tied for the lead in NCAA titles won with 11 each, followed by Southern California and Texas with nine each. Yale is the nearest university behind Auburn with four NCAA titles.

NCAA TITLE HOLDERS

Two current Tigers have won NCAA titles as Matt Targett has three under his belt. The 2008 Olympian earned the honors for his role in two 200 free relay and a 400 free relay championship for the Tigers. Jakob Andkjær also has a 400 free relay title.

Current assistant coach Brett Hawke held the record for individual NCAA titles won as he captured nine in his career as a Tiger. Auburn legend Rowdy Gaines trails Hawke with eight titles. Olympic Gold Medalist Cesar Cielo surpassed both Auburn icons for the honor following a lights-out performance at the 2008 Championships.

NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP TIDBITS

For the third time ever, Texas A&M will host the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships at the university's Student Rec Center Natatorium. Texas A&M previously hosted the men's championship in 2001 and the women's in 2004.

The NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships started in 1924 with Navy hosting the first meet. Team points were not awarded until 1937 when Michigan won the first official NCAA team title. The Wolverines went on to win the first five NCAA titles.

Auburn made its for NCAA Championships appearance in 1974 with the Tigers finishing 17th. AU moved into the top 10 in 1975, finishing eighth overall. Since then, Auburn has finished outside of the top 10 only eight times.

The first Tiger to win an individual NCAA swimming title was Scott Spann in 1977, winning the 200 IM. Jose Rocha won the first NCAA diving title for Auburn in 1987, winning the 1-meter springboard.

Auburn has qualified for all but one NCAA Championship since 1974, failing to qualify anyone in 1990. AU has won an individual NCAA title every year since 2003 and 11 of the last 13 years.

The Tigers have won individual titles in 14 of the 21 events on the NCAA Championships program. The only events Auburn has not won a championship in are the 500 free, 1650 free, 100 back, 200 back, 100 fly, 200 fly and 400 IM.

FOR THE RECORD

The Tiger men hold, to date, NCAA records in two individual swimming events and three relay events. At last year's NCAA Championships, Cesar Cielo set new NCAA records in the 50 and 100 free, timing in at 18.47 and 40.92, respectively.

Auburn's three other records are in the relay events. The team of Goodrich, Mars, Puniski and Cielo set the record in the 200 medley relay with a time of 1:23.24 at last year's NAAs. Cielo, Targett, Goodrich and Lundquist hold the current record in the 200 FR after timing in at 1:14.71 in the 2007 Championships. In February's SEC Championships, the team of Andkjær, Norys, Louw and Targett set a new NCAA record in the 400 free relay, touching in at 2:46.03.

TIGERS DOMINATE EVENTS

While Auburn has seen success in most of the events on the championship program, a few events stand out recently as being Auburn specialties.

Recently, Auburn has gained a reputation as being among the best in the sprint events and it definitely shows in the NCAA title count. The Tigers have won the 50 free eight times, dating back to Rowdy Gaines in 1979. Only once since 2003 has Auburn not won the 50 free as Fred Bousquet won three from 2003-05 and Cesar Cielo won in 2007 and 2008. Auburn has also turned on the sprinting in the 200 free relay, winning the event seven times since 1997.

In the diving events, Auburn has taken firm control of the platform diving, winning five of the past six titles.

In all, Auburn's most successful event is the 50 free with eight titles. Coming in behind it are the 200 free relay (7), 400 free relay (6) and 200 medley relay (6). The Tigers hold five titles in platform diving.

LAST TIME AT NAAS

For three-consecutive days, Cesar Cielo stepped out of the competition pool at the 2008 NCAA Men's Swimming and Diving Championships after setting new Auburn, NCAA and U.S. Open records.

On Friday night, Cielo set a new records in the 50 freestyle, clocking an 18.47, shattering his old record of 18.69 by more than two tenths of a second. On Saturday night, Cielo swam the freestyle leg on the Auburn 200 medley relay team that broke its own Auburn, NCAA and U.S. Open records with a time of 1:23.24.

Saturday night would be no different as Cielo stepped up to the blocks and set a new Auburn, NCAA and U.S. Open record in the 100 freestyle, becoming the first man to ever swim the event in less than 41 seconds as he touched in at 40.92.

The 100 free title is Cielo's 10th NCAA title of his career, setting a new Auburn record. Auburn sprints coach Brett Hawke formerly held the record with nine NCAA titles in his career from 1997-99.

The 100 free title was also the second of Cielo's career in the event as he defended his win from last season. The only other Auburn swimmer to ever win two 100 free titles was Rowdy Gaines in 1980 and 1981.

While the win was the fourth for Auburn in the meet, it did not add up to a sixth-straight NCAA team title as Arizona won the meet with 500.5 points. Auburn finished fifth in the meet with 316 points, its lowest finish since the team came in seventh in 2001.

Texas followed Arizona in second place with 406 points with Stanford trailing in third with 344 points. California, coached by former Auburn assistant coach Dave Durden, placed fourth with 332.5 points.

OWNING THE CONFERENCE

The Auburn men's swimming and diving team has been the most dominant team in the SEC since the mid-1990s. Besides winning the last 13 SEC Championships (15 of the last 16), the Tigers have also won 33 of their last 34 dual meets inside the conference. Auburn's last SEC defeat was in 2007 loss at Tennessee, breaking a 28-meet win streak.

TARGETT PICKS UP THIRD SEC HONOR

Following his performance in last weekend's 166-132 win over sixth-ranked Florida, Auburn senior Matt Targett was named the Southeastern Conference's Swimmer of the Week for the third time this season, the league announced Tuesday.

Targett started the day with a victory in the 200 free with a time of 1:37.03. The race was his first in the 200 free this season.

Next, his time of 19.65 in the 50 free set a new top-time and fell under the NCAA "B" cut. Targett entered the Florida du56al meet having already fell under the "B" cut time after recording a 19.73 against Georgia on Nov. 14.

Minutes later in the 100 free, Targett completed the hat trick, touching in at 43.22. While under the "B" cut time, Targett already holds an NCAA automatic qualifying time with his 41.93 at the US National Short Course Championships Dec. 6.

TARGETT NAMED SEC SWIMMER OF THE WEEK

Targett picked up four wins in the season-opening dual meet against the Georgia Bulldogs. Along with the wins, Targett also set or helped set three NCAA provisional-qualifying times.

He started off with a victory in the 50 free with a time of 19.73. Targett followed that up with a time of 47.92 in the 100 butterfly to pick up his second individual win.

Swimming on both of Auburn's relays, Targett helped the Tigers to wins and B cut times. He swam anchor on the 400 free relay, clocking a 42.00 split to help the team to a time of 2:56.77. His split time was the fastest in the event by more than two seconds.

Targett also swam the butterfly leg on Auburn's winning 200 medley relay team, clocking a 20.39 split to help the team to a time of 1:28.03.

TARGETT NAMED SEC SWIMMER OF THE WEEK

Targett became the first swimmer in the country this season to break the 20-second barrier as he clocked a 19.73 to win the 50 free. The time also gave him his first NCAA "B" cut time of the season. He followed that up with another NCAA provisional time he became the first swimmer this season to break the 43-second barrier in the 100 free, touching in with a time of 42.79.

Targett also picked up a win in the 500 free, one of his off-events, clocking a 4:43.14 to hit the wall first in the mid-distance event. He rounded out the weekend with a 2:04.47 performance in the 200 butterfly.

Six current and former Auburn swimmers have been named to the USA Swimming 2008-09 National Team, the organization announced Thursday. The team is an honorary national team, commending American swimmers for their accomplishments in national-team events over the year.

SIX TIGERS ON 2008-09 USA SWIMMING NATIONAL TEAM

Current Tigers Tyler McGill and Ava Ohlgren made the team for their efforts this past summer. McGill was selected to the team in the 100 butterfly after he finished fourth at Olympic Trials with a time of 52.20. Ohlgren made the team in the 200 individual medley after her time of 2:11.96 in the semifinals of the Olympic Trials.

"It feels good to be recognized in that kind of way, especially with all the talent the United States has," said McGill. "It is an honor and I am actually leaving next week to go to a national team retreat and I am really excited about that, getting to meet new people, experience new things and get in the right direction as far as getting faster and getting better."

Ohlgren was also honored to get a spot on the team, but more excited at reaching a long-time goal.

"I think it is awesome, it has been one of my goals for a while and I kept barely missing it, so it is great to finally make it," said Ohlgren. "It is great being a part of the national team and you get some awesome opportunities with it."

Also making their way onto the team are former Tigers Mark Gangloff (100 breast), Eric Shanteau (100 breast, 200 breast, 200 IM), Kara Denby (50 free) and Margaret Hoelzer (100 back, 200 back).

Gangloff, who represented the U.S. at the 2008 Olympics, earns his way on the team with his 100 breast time of 1:00.10 that finished second at Olympic Trials. Shanteau, also an Olympian, led the Auburn contingent by making the team in three events. His time of 1:00.63 in the 100 breast finished third at Olympic Trials while his 2:10.10 at the Olympics placed him 10th in the 200 breast semifinals. He also earned his way on in the 200 IM with a third-place time of 1:58.15 at Olympic Trials.

Denby makes the team after finishing fifth at Olympic Trials in the 50 free with a time of 25.12. Hoelzer, an Olympian for the United States, rounds out the former Tigers after her performance at Olympic Trials. She made the team in the 100 back with a second-place time of 59.21 while her winning time of 2:06.09 in the 200 back at the time was a world record.

To be named to the USA Swimming National Team, a swimmer must have one of the top six times in Olympic events swum in finals from the previous year's Olympic Games, Olympic Trials and U.S. Open. Relay leadoffs and time trials are not included in the final listing.

AUBURN ANNOUNCES STAFF CHANGES

Former Auburn swimmer Richard Long and long-time staff member Tom Healey will assume new roles with the Auburn swimming and diving team.

Long enters his third season on the Auburn staff after spending last season as the team videographer and the previous year as a volunteer assistant coach. He now moves to the assistant coach position left vacant by Brian Barnes after he left to take the women's head coach position at Notre Dame.

As the team's videographer, Long focused on gathering underwater and above-water video of meets and practices for the coaching staff to use in stroke analysis and evaluation.

Also stepping into a new position is Healey, who has worked in a variety of positions with the Auburn swimming and diving teams since 1985. He will take of the director of swimming operations position left vacant by Dennis Pursley after he took the national team head coach position with Great Britain Swimming.

Healey joined the Auburn staff in 1985 as an assistant coach and has since held various positions with the team, most recently taking in the role of alumni coordinator. He has also been very involved with the Auburn Aquatics club team, working as a meet director, assistant coach and head coach.

AUBURN EARNS CSCAA ALL-ACADEMIC HONORS

Twenty-one Auburn swimmers and divers were named Academic All-Americans by the College Swimming Coaches Association of America while the Tiger women's team earned All-Academic Team honors.

Auburn led the nation with student-athletes with perfect 4.0 grade-point averages with nine Tigers making the list. Kara Denby, Chelsea Haser, Kristen Hastrup, Melissa Marik, Julianne McLane, Erica Meissner, Jordan Anderson, Dan Mazzaferro and Pascal Wollach all registered 4.0 GPAs last year.

"The term 'student-athlete' is something that we take seriously here at the Auburn and on the swimming and diving team," said head coach Richard Quick. "I am especially proud of the accomplishments of our women's team, as well as the individual efforts of several of our student-athletes."

Also earning CSCAA Academic All-America honors on the women's team were Josefin Wede (3.79), Emile Ewing (3.72), Ava Ohlgren (3.67), Maggie Bird (3.64), Abby MacGregor (3.55) and Alana Dillette (3.5) while Julie Golden (3.7) earned honorable mention honors.

For the men's team, it was Andrew Mitchell (3.85), Will Dove (3.81) and Adam Klein (3.72) joining Anderson, Mazzaferro and Wollach on the All-America team. Scott Morgan (3.69) and Caleb Dunnichay (3.53) earned honorable mention honors.

The Auburn women's team also earned All-Academic honors as the Tigers tallied a 3.283 team GPA.

COACH QUICK

Auburn men's and women's head swimming and diving coach Richard Quick has been diagnosed with an inoperable cancerous brain tumor. One of the most recognizable names in the swimming and diving community, Quick is a six-time United States Olympic coach who has directed 12 teams to NCAA titles.

"We're currently in the process of looking for the best care possible to fight this," Quick said. "I want to thank the countless individuals that have passed along their well wishes, thoughts and prayers."

Quick, who served as Auburn's head coach from 1978-82, took over the Tiger program for a second time in 2007. He is in his second season and sixth overall at Auburn.

While the head coach of both the men's and women's programs at Auburn from 1978-82, Quick built the foundation for where the program is today, leading both programs to a combined four top-10 finishes on the national level.

Quick captured seven NCAA titles at Stanford and five at Texas, which is tied for the most in the history of Division I coaching. Internationally, Quick was the head coach of the United States team at the 1988, 1996, and 2000 Olympic Games and also served as an assistant at the 1984, '92, and 2004 Olympics.

AUBURN NAMED HUB FOR "SWIM QUICK" EVENT

On Feb. 14, Swim Across America will host a national, open invitation fundraising event, "Swim Quick", as a tribute to Auburn swimming and diving head coach Richard Quick, who has been diagnosed with an inoperable, cancerous brain tumor, and in an effort to raise money to find a cure.

Swim Across America, Inc., which is an organization dedicated to raising money and awareness for cancer research, prevention and treatment through swimming-related events, is asking those interested to participate by swimming in any pool in Quick's honor or donating to the Richard Quick Endowment.

For more information on the event, to register to swim or to make a donation to the cause, visit www.swimacrossamerica.org/swimquick.

FALL REPORT CARD

Thirty-four student-athletes from the Auburn swimming & diving teams scored grade point averages of 3.0 or higher through the fall semester, including 11 perfect 4.0s.

Chelsea Haser, Stephanie Horner, Melissa Marik, Julianne McLane, Erica Meissner, Jennifer Vonjouanne and Josefin Wede all came in with 4.0s for the women. Jordan Anderson, Will Dove, Andrew Mitchell and Pascal Wollach scored perfect marks on the men's side.

"The entire staff is extremely proud of the efforts our student-athletes have shown in the class and the pool," said co-men's head coach Brett Hawke. "Eleven 4.0s is very impressive."

RICHARD QUICK

SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY
(1965)

Richard Quick, a six-time United States Olympic coach who directed 12 teams to NCAA titles, returns to the Plains after serving as Auburn's head coach from 1978-82.

Quick returned to the Plains prior to the 2007-08 season, replacing 17-year head coach David Marsh, one of Quick's former swimmers.

One of the most respected names in the swimming and diving community, Quick has guided teams to 12 NCAA titles - seven at Stanford and five at Texas - the most in the history of Division I coaching, until Marsh tied the mark with his 11th and 12th in 2007. Internationally, Quick was the head coach of the United States team at the 1988, 1996, and 2000 Olympic Games and also served as an assistant at the 1984, '92, and 2004 Olympics.

"Richard has experienced tremendous success at every level of coaching and is very familiar with Auburn, the Auburn community and the swimming and diving program," said Auburn athletic director Jay Jacobs. "He was the architect of the Auburn program in its early stages and helped lay the foundation for what the program is today.

"Richard has built a reputation as one of the top swimming coaches in the world. We are excited for what he brings to Auburn, not only for his experience on the collegiate level and internationally, but for his ability to develop student-athletes both competitively and as individuals."

Quick, 65, served as the head women's swimming and diving coach at Stanford for 17 seasons from 1988-2005.

While at Stanford, Quick led the Cardinal to seven NCAA Championships, including five consecutive from 1992-96. He also led the program to titles in 1989 and 1998. Stanford won 14 Pacific-10 Conference crowns under Quick's direction including 11 consecutive from 1989-99. While at Stanford, Quick coached 96 All-Americans to 757 All-America honors and helped develop 41 NCAA cham-

Quick Facts:

- Five-time NCAA Coach of the Year
- Three-time United States Olympic Team Head Coach
- Served on six Olympic staffs from 1984 to 2004
- Coached teams to 12 NCAA Championships
- Is tied with former coach David Marsh for most NCAA Championships won
- Is in his second trip to Auburn after coaching the Tigers from 1978-82
- Enters the 2008-09 season with a 222-42 record in dual pions who have captured a combined 63 NCAA individual and 29 NCAA relay titles. He has picked up five NCAA Coach of the Year honors and four Pacific-10 Coach of the Year awards.

Prior to his arrival at Stanford, Quick led the Texas women to a then-unprecedented five straight NCAA titles (1984-88), a string he extended to six in a row in his first season at Stanford. He was inducted into the Texas Women's Athletics Hall of Fame in November of 2004 for his coaching accomplishments with the Longhorns.

While the head coach of both the men's and women's programs at Auburn from 1978-82, Quick built the foundation for where the program is today. He led both programs to a combined four top-10 finishes on the national level, while coaching 30 athletes who earned 152 All-American honors.

On the Plains, Quick coached five NCAA individual and two relay national champions, including Rowdy Gaines, Dave McCagg, Rick Morley and Bill Forrester. Gaines, one of the most decorated swimmers in Auburn history, went on to win three gold medals at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles, where Quick served as an assistant coach.

Quick also served as the men's head coach at Iowa State during the 1977-78 season and the women's head coach at Southern Methodist in 1976-77.

In his first season back at Auburn, in 2007-08, Quick guided both squads to a sweep of the SEC Championships. The men's title was his first conference title coaching a men's team and he was named SEC Men's Coach of the Year for his efforts. Quick also coached the teams to top-five finishes at the NCAA Championships.

In 2007-08, Auburn swimmers and divers earned 85 All-America honors while winning five NCAA titles and 19 SEC titles.

Quick is also one of the most recognizable American figures on the international level.

In his first Olympic head coaching assignment at the 1988 Games in Seoul, the American men and women brought home 17 medals. At the 1996 Games in Atlanta, the women garnered seven gold, five silver and two bronze medals, while the men's and women's swimming squads combined for a total of 26 medals, the most by any team at the 1996 Olympic Games. His 2000 club brought home 16 medals, including seven gold.

As an assistant at Athens in 2004, Quick's Team USA easily won the swimming medal count as the men's and women's team combined for 28 medals. At the 1992 Barcelona Olympics, the United States captured 27 medals.

A list of other international coaching assignments for Quick include four consecutive World Championships as the head coach in 1986, 1990 and 1994, and an assistant in 1982. He has also coached at the 1990 Goodwill Games, three Pan Pacific Games (1983, '85, '87), the 1985 World University Games and the 1979 Pan American Games.

Quick became a Distinguished Alumnus at his alma mater, Southern Methodist in 2002, where he earned a Bachelor's degree in Physical Education (1965) and a Master's degree in Physiology of Exercise (1977). He began his coaching career at Houston's Memorial High School (1965-71), guiding his team to six state championships before returning to SMU, where he served as an assistant coach on the men's side for four years (1971-75) before starting the SMU women's program in 1976.

Quick and his wife, June, reside in Auburn. He is the step-father to June's two children, Tiffany (27) and Benjamin (25). His daughter, Mrs. Kathy Brown (42), lives in Austin, Texas, with her husband, Tosh, and their two children, Blake (16) and Emily (14). Quick's son, Michael (38), who is a 1994 graduate of Auburn, resides in Los Angeles.

JEFF SHAFFER

HEAD DIVING COACH
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN
(1980)

Shaffer Quick Facts:

- Has coached five of the last six NCAA men's platform champions
- Has coached the past eight SEC platform champions
- Shaffer's divers accounted for 50 points at the 2008 NCAA Championships
- Two-time NCAA Diving Coach of the Year
- Five-time SEC Diving Coach of the Year
- Coached on eight U.S. National Team staffs
- His divers have won nine NCAA titles

Jeff Shaffer came to Auburn 10 years ago as one of the most respected coaches in the diving community. Now, 51, Shaffer has improved the Auburn diving program in Olympic-size proportions.

In nine short years, Shaffer, who was named the SEC Men's Diving Coach of the Year in 2008, has made the Auburn diving program into a complete complement to the Auburn swimming program, no small task when you consider that the swimming and diving squad has amassed 12 national titles.

Last season, under the direction of Shaffer, Auburn's Kelly Marx and Dan Mazzaferro made the finals on all three boards at the NCAA Championships, accounting for 50 of Auburn's points at the meet while earning six All-America honors. His divers also won two of the three boards at the SEC Championships with Marx taking top honors on the 1-meter and Mazzaferro earning first on the platform.

During the 2007-08 season, Steven Segerlin captured his first NCAA springboard title on the 3-meter while picking up his second platform title in a row, extending the AU streak to five, and with this victories secured the Tigers seventh overall NCAA team crown. For his efforts, Segerlin was named NCAA Male Diver of the Year. Segerlin also swept the titles on all three boards at the SEC Championships, becoming just the third diver in SEC history to pull off the feat.

Another impressive feat from the 2007 NCAA Championships was the 99 points contributed to Auburn's total of 566 by the divers. The mark breaks the previous high total of 93 points at the 2004 Championships. The three Tiger divers, Segerlin, Kelly Marx and Dan Mazzaferro, also accounted for seven All-America honors.

Just one week prior to Segerlin's performance, Shaffer coached sophomore Corey Gerlach and senior Lynnsey Segraves to All-America honors. Gerlach finished 10th on the 3-meter and 15th on the 1-meter as Segraves was sixth on the 3-meter and ninth on the platform. The points earned by their finishes proved to be vital in the women's fifth NCAA team crown.

In the last six years alone, Shaffer's charges have claimed seven SEC and five NCAA titles - and in 2004, it was a 1-2-3 Auburn sweep on the platform at the conference championships.

The success of the 2003-04 season was evident as the Tigers set new records and received more honors in nearly every event during the course of the season, including the most diving points scored by a group of Auburn divers at a SEC or NCAA Championship. At the conclusion of the year, he was given USA Diving's Coach of Excellence Award after guiding the Tigers to the 2004 USA Diving Men's Team Championship.

Shaffer's biggest accomplishment to this point may have been the signing of Caesar Garcia in his first recruiting class seven years ago. Garcia went from an All-American as a freshman, who had also finished dead-last at the 2000 USA Olympic Team Trials, to a two-time NCAA platform champion the SEC and NCAA Male Diver of the Year in 2004 and a XXVIII Olympian by the time his stay on the Plains had ended. This earned Shaffer a coaching spot on the 2004 USA Olympic Coaching roster.

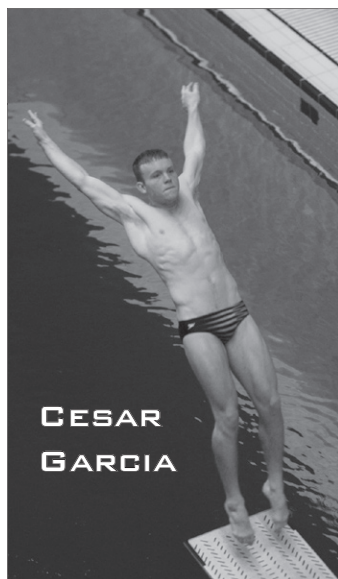

He also drastically helped Ashley Rubenstein, one of his other first-class signees, transform into a fourth-place finisher on the 1-meter as a senior, as well as a 2004 USA Olympic Team Trials finalist, a National Team Member and most recently the 2006 U.S. National title on 1-meter.

In 2003, Shaffer guided the Auburn diving program to its most successful season up to that point. Garcia became just the second NCAA champion that the Auburn diving program has ever had when he tied Jason Coban of Michigan for the platform title at the men's championships in Austin, Texas. Garcia also picked up the squad's second straight SEC platform title after teammate Matt Bricker captured it in 2002. On the women's side, Rubenstein earned a silver medal at the SEC Championships on the 1-meter, becoming the first AU woman to medal at the conference championship more than once since Marina Smith picked up three medals from 1989-93, while freshman Kelsey Patterson placed third on the platform.

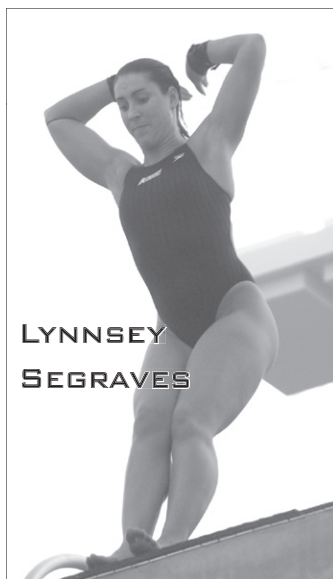

Shaffer's influence has also catapulted Bricker and Garcia to national and international prominence. The pair spent most of the 2003 summer season competing in international events, including the World Championship Team Trials (the pair placed second in the synchronized 3-meter competition), the Speedo-FINA USA

Diving Grand Prix, the FINA Italian Grand Prix (Bricker won the platform), the Speedo National Championships (the pair won the synchronized platform) and the World University Games, to which Shaffer served as a coach for the USA team. The icing on the cake came when Auburn captured the men's team title at the USA Diving Championships.

A three-time Pacific-10 Diving Coach of the Year while at Southern California, Shaffer helped guide USC's women's team to a national title in 1997 and was also named the United States Olympic Committee's National Diving Coach of the Year in both 1997 and 1998.

In 15 years of coaching Division I, Shaffer has coached five national champions, three silver medalists and seven bronze medalists - most recently Segerlin, who won the platform and 3-meter titles in 2007 - as well as 17 individuals to 68 All-America honors.

Bricker and Garcia each earned All-America honors during the 2002 meet as Garcia finished eighth on the 3-meter, which made the duo the first in school history to earn All-America honors in the same season, a feat they repeated in 2003 and 2004, bringing freshman Steven Segerlin along with them.

In 2001, Shaffer coached Garcia to the team's first All-America honor since Koffi Kla in 1996. Garcia placed eighth on the platform at the NCAA Championships to become an All-American.

Shaffer also guided Andrew Sivulka to the NCAA Championships in 2001, which had marked the first time two divers from Auburn had qualified for the men's NCAA Championships in the same year.

On the women's side, Rubenstein captured a silver medal in the 1-meter event at the 2001 SEC Championships, which was the first medal for an Auburn woman diver since Marina Smith in 1993.

"Jeff Shaffer is one of, if not the very best, NCAA coaches in diving," said head coach Richard Quick. "He has really improved athletes when they come into the program and improved them to a level that diving here has played a role in several of the national championships that we have."

Prior to USC, he coached at LSU for two years. At LSU, Shaffer coached four All-Americans, including a 1-2 finish in the 1994 NCAA platform competition (Susie Ryan and Kathy Carboy), and earned the SEC Women's Diving Coach of the Year honor. At the 1995 NAAs, he guided his divers to four top-six finishes.

His 20-year coaching career at the club level has proven even more successful. During that span, he has coached divers of all ages and ability levels and demonstrated the ability to develop divers to world renowned status. Shaffer's ability was recognized by the United States Olympic Committee in 1996 when they honored him as the inaugural recipient of the USOC National Developmental Coach of the Year for all Olympic Sports.

Shaffer's divers include 10 World Junior Champions, 39 National Junior Champions, eight Senior National Champions, three Junior National Team titles and three Senior National Team titles. Shaffer has been honored twice by United States Diving as the Age Group Diving Coach of the Year and was also awarded the Coach of Excellence award in 1996 by United States Diving.

Shaffer has served as a National Team coach for United States Diving in international competitions throughout the world including the 1994 and 1998 Goodwill Games, the 1997 FINA World Cup Championships and 1998 FINA World Aquatic Championships, the National Team coach in the summer of 2002 and the 2003 World University Games in Dageu, Korea. At the 2004 Olympic Games, Shaffer was an assistant coach and most recently served as the co-head coach of the U.S. team at the 2005 World University Games in Izmir, Turkey, where he coached current AU junior Segerlin and former All-American Ashley Rubenstein, among others.

Because of his involvement in the United States Diving program, Shaffer was honored with ringing the bell at the New York Stock Exchange in January of 2001.

A 1980 graduate of Wisconsin, he earned a bachelor's degree in physical education.

Shaffer and his wife, Jenny, have two daughters, Amy (20), a junior at Auburn this year, and Kelly (19) and a son, J.J. (Jeffrey Jr.) (14). Amy is a mid-distance runner on the Auburn track team while Kelly is a sophomore on the Samford University soccer team.

ASSISTANT COACH
AUBURN
THIRD SEASON

Hawke Quick Facts:

- In his third season on staff at Auburn
- Assistant Coach for the Brazilian National Team at the 2008 Olympics
- A 17-time All-American at Auburn University from 1997-99
- Winner of nine NCAA Individual Titles and seven SEC Individual Titles
- Member of Auburn's first NCAA Championship-winning team

Brett Hawke returned to The Plains in the summer of 2006 as an assistant coach for the National Champion Tigers swimming & diving program and now enters his third season on staff. Hawke, a native of Sydney, Australia, was a 17-time All-American swimmer for Auburn from 1997 to 1999.

"Brett Hawke is a young coaching genius, particularly in the area of sprinting," said head coach Richard Quick. "He has a great feel for working with the elite level sprinters as well as the developing sprinters that end up making it a core of the success of the Auburn swimming and diving program."

As a member of the coaching staff, Hawke works directly with the Auburn sprinters. Under his direction, Cesar Cielo provided one of the top highlights from the 2008 NCAA Championships as he became the fastest swimmer in the world with his 18.47 in the 50 free. What made the mark even more impressive was not that he did it once, but he reached the mark three times. He won the 50 free with a time of 18.52 after qualifying with an 18.79 in the preliminary. His time of 18.47 came as the 200 free relay leadoff.

In all, Auburn sprinters won six All-America honors with Cielo sweeping the 50 and 100 freestyle titles. He also became the first swimmer to break the 41-second barrier in the 100 free with a 40.92. For his efforts, Cielo was named the NCAA Swimmer of the Year for the second year in a row.

Hawke also had the opportunity to coach Cielo at the 2008 Olympic Games. Serving as an assistant coach with the Brazilian national team, Hawke mentored the South American star as he won a bronze in the 100m free and a gold in the 50m free with an Olympic record time of 21.30. Other Auburn sprinters trained by Hawke at the 2008 Olympics included Matt Targett, George Bovell, Fred Bousquet, Jakob Andkjær and Alexei Puninski. Targett and Bousquet both brought home medals after their performance on relay teams.

Auburn sprinters overall were very impressive at the 2007 NCAAAs with 13 swimmers advancing to finals. In the men's 50 free, Auburn took the top two spots with Cielo taking the title and Targett right behind him. Scott Goodrich and Bryan Lundquist also made the championship final. In the women's 50 free, it was Kara Denby leading the team in eighth.

In the 100 free, Cielo picked up another NCAA Championship with a time of 41.17. Targett followed in sixth place as three other Tigers trailed in the B final. In the women's 100 free, it was Denby again leading the team in fourth place, followed by Emily Kukors in fifth.

During his time in Auburn, Hawke captured nine NCAA titles to go along with seven SEC crowns. In 1997, Hawke became part of Auburn history as he was a member of the first NCAA Championship team.

At the 1997 NCAA meet, Hawke won four titles, including one as part of the 200 medley relay team that set a new U.S. Open and NCAA record. Hawke split an 18.62 on the freestyle leg, which was then the fastest split ever recorded.

At the same meet, Hawke claimed Auburn's second ever 50m free title. He duplicated the relay performance the following year with the medley relay team that took the crown in a NCAA meet, NCAA and U.S. Open record time.

In 1999, Hawke helped lead the Tigers to their second NCAA team title en route to capturing four titles of his own at the meet. During his three years as a student-athlete, Hawke was also part of three SEC team championships.

A two-time Olympian, Hawke finished sixth in the 50m free in Athens. Hawke has three Commonwealth Games medals in his collection, including silver in the 50m free from 2002. Adding to his long list of international experience, in 2001 and 2003, Hawke was a World Championship finalist in the 50m free and at the 2002 Pan Pacific Championships, Hawke won bronze in the 50m free.

A five-time Australian champion, Hawke is the former Australian record holder in the 50m free with a time of 22.07 that he set at the 2004 Olympic Games in the semifinal round.

Hawke is married to the former Trudi James and the couple have four children: Kirra (10), Kobe (6) and newborn twins Yasmin and Lily. James was a member of the Auburn University soccer team from 1994-97. Hawke is currently working towards his bachelor's degree in health and human performance.

Assistant Coach Brett Hawke with his wife, Trudi, their son, Kobe, daughter, Kirra, and twins Yasmin and Lily.

TOM HEALEY

DIRECTOR OF SWIMMING AND DIVING OPERATIONS
AUBURN UNIVERSITY (1995)

Healey Quick Facts:

- Entering his first season as Director of Operations
- Has worked with the Auburn Swimming and Diving Team since 1985
- Worked under three of Auburn's five all-time head coaches
- A native of Scranton, Pa.
- Earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees at Auburn
- Got into coaching at the age of 13

After spending 23 seasons in various positions with the Auburn swimming and diving teams, Tom Healey will assume the duties of Director of Swimming and Diving Operations for the 2008-09 season.

Healey first came to Auburn as an assistant coach to John Asmuth, beginning with the 1985-86 season. During his time as an assistant, he was responsible for recruiting, on-deck coaching and various administrative duties, including team travel.

When David Marsh took over the Tiger teams in 1990, Healey assumed the roles of a student assistant until he finished his degree from Auburn in 1995, graduating summa cum laude with a degree in sport management and recreation. He then worked as a graduate assistant under Marsh until completing his master's degree in higher education administration in 1999.

From 1999 until 2008, Healey worked in various capacities as a volunteer assistant coach under Marsh and Richard Quick, serving as the meet director for home meets in the James E. Martin Aquatics Center. In that time he worked the United States Swimming Junior Nationals as the Co-Meet Director, United States Open swim meet and the NCAA Swimming Championships.

It was in 1995 that Healey took an active role with the Friends of Auburn Swimming Alumni Group, maintaining relationships with a base of more than 600 alumni from the Auburn swimming and diving program. He coordinated annual reunions while also helping to raise funds for the Ralph Crocker Scholarship Fund.

Before coming back to Auburn full-time, Healey worked with the Alabama Sports Festival in Montgomery as a director of operations. He was in charge of recruiting and coordinating volunteers for the sports festival in which more than 8,000 athletes participate in more than 20 different events.

The Scranton, Pa., native got his start in swimming as a teenager, helping his uncle coach summer league teams. He got his first full-time coaching job in 1970 with the Starlit Aquatic Club in Fairfax, Va. He worked as an assistant coach with the team until 2002.

Staying in the northern Virginia area, Healey then took a job with the Solotar Swim Team, working first as an assistant from 1972-80 before taking over as head coach from 1980-85. While with the team, he oversaw the training and development of more than 500 swimmers. The team trained at five different pools and utilized 20 assistant coaches in the program.

Since 2002, Healey has been involved with the Auburn Masters Swim Team. During his time with the nationally-ranked masters team, he has seen numerous national records fall and taken the team to several national championships.

RICHARD LONG

ASSISTANT COACH
AUBURN UNIVERSITY (2005)
THIRD SEASON

Long Quick Facts:

- In his third season on staff at Auburn
- A three-time All-American at Auburn University
- Has served on staff as a volunteer assistant, videographer and assistant coach

Former Auburn All-American Richard Long enters his first season as an assistant coach on the Tiger staff. It will mark his third season overall on the team's staff after previously serving as a volunteer assistant and videographer.

Long moves into the position vacated by Brian Barnes after he left the Auburn staff to take over as the women's head coach at Notre Dame.

The native of Hampton, Va., moves into the coaching role after serving last season as Auburn's first videographer. As the team's videographer, he focused on gathering underwater and above water video of meets and taking footage of the swimmers in practice to pass along to the coaching staff for stroke analysis.

Using the Darkfish program for stroke analysis, Long was able to take stroke and swimmer evaluation at Auburn to a new level. An obvious change that came about through Long's work are the televisions that are now mounted with cameras near the critical areas of the pool. With more cameras on deck, there is more opportunity for the coaching staff to go document and archive the training techniques used in practice.

Prior to coming on as videographer, Long spent one season working as a volunteer assistant coach with the team, helping the Tigers to a sweep of the NCAA Championships in 2007. While working as a volunteer assistant, Long also spent part of his time working as an assistant with the Auburn Aquatics club team.

Long returned to the Plains in 2007 after spending a year as head site coach for the New Wave Swim Team in Raleigh, N.C. While with New Wave, Long took a team that had produced only three sectional qualifiers the year before and improved the team's total to 25 sectional qualifiers before he left.

He also produced a North Carolina state champion while working with the New Wave team.

While living in Raleigh, Long also gained valuable experience by working as head coach of the Raleigh Area Masters club.

Long completed his bachelor of science degree in exercise science from Auburn in 2005. While on the Plains, Long spent two seasons as a member of the SEC-champion Tiger swimming and diving team. A three-time All-American, Long scored in the 200 freestyle relay, 400 freestyle relay and 800 freestyle relay.

Long resides in Auburn and is married to the former Erin Hebert. Erin played field hockey at Radford University.
