Gordon Austin '84 Inducted 2001

One of the finest basketball players to ever don the AU Red and Blue, Gordon Austin set a standard of excellence during his four years on the hardwood. Making his mark on the school record book, Austin is the all-time leader in assists for a career (691) and a season (247). He also ranks second in career steals (235) and steals in a season (91), though he held both records upon graduation. As a senior, he finished fourth in assists per game in NCAA Division I and was named Honorable Mention All-America by the Sporting News. Yet, it was not Austin's statistical achievements that he is best known for. A winner in every sense of the word, he helped lead the Eagles to an impressive 78-39 record during his four years, a run that is unmatched by any other four-year span in school history. Included in that total were back-to-back National Invitational Tournament appearances and one of the biggest wins ever for the program when an Austin-led Eagle squad defeated fifth-ranked Georgetown, 62-61, in the Capital Centre on Dec. 16, 1982.

He also holds the third (458 rebounds) and ninth-best (390) single-season rebounding years in AU history. Arthur graduated from American with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Interior Design. Drafted in the third round by two U.S. professional teams - the ABA's New York Nets and the NBA's Phoenix Suns - in 1968, Arthur accepted an offer from the Belgium pro club, Racing Mechelen, which included free tuition at Antwerp Academy of Fine Arts. While playing three games a week in Belgium, he also studied his passion for the arts. Arthur said, "I made my choice to become an artist instead of a ballplayer, and I've never regretted it."

In 1938, he wrote articles on why there should be a team and had several students sign a petition. Also in 1938, George received the Most Valuable Player Award for the football team at American. He was a great athlete, a good scholar and a friend to everyone.

David L. Carrasco Inducted 1998

Hall of FAME

"He wasn't always about winning," says his son David. During a three-year run starting with the 1957-58 season the Eagles made three straight NCAA College Division National Tournaments under Carrasco. Also, under Carrasco's command the team won three Mason Dixon Conference titles and earned two NCAA tournament appearances (small college division).

Carrasco is one of only four coaches in American's history to have four straight winning seasons. A leader in the area of racial integration at the college men's basketball level, Carrasco was recruited by the State Department to teach sports abroad after coaching. David Carrasco passed away in 1990, but his memory lives on in the lives of his players and in the ideals he sought to impart.

One project that did not get finished before Cassell passed away was a new field house for the athletic program.
