TONY MADLOCK

HEAD COACH

SECOND SEASON AT ALABAMA ST

Tony Madlock enters his second season as the head men's basketball coach at Alabama State University after arriving on campus for the 2022-23 season.

In his first season at the helm of the Hornets, Madlock led the team to an 8-23 record including a non-conference victory over Eastern Illinois, while also leading the team to six Southwestern Athletic Conference (SWAC) victories in his first season. He also coached his son, T.J., to the SWAC Newcomer of the Year award after averaging 11.2 points per game.

Madlock came to Alabama State after a year at South Carolina State in which his team finished 15-16 overall and 7-7 in the MEAC, falling to Morgan State in the conference tournament. The Bulldogs recorded non-conference victories over South Florida, High Point, Tennessee State, The Citadel, and Charleston Southern. They averaged 71.8 points per game last season while shooting 39.3 percent from the floor, while also leading the nation in offensive rebounds per game (15.23). They also finished third in the country in total rebounds per game at 41.81, trailing only Buffalo and Gonzaga.

He was named as a finalist for the Joe B. Hall Award, given to college basketball's top first-year coach after leading South Carolina State to its highest win total since 2015-16. The 15 wins by South Carolina State is the highest total in five seasons, with he and his son - TJ - leading the Bulldogs to one of the top turnarounds in the NCAA with 14 more wins than the program had all of 2020-21.

Prior to being named the head coach of the Bulldogs, he spent three years as an assistant coach under former NBA All-Star Penny Hardaway at Memphis. Madlock, who has 25-plus years of experience as a college assistant, also spent 2017-18 as the interim head coach at Ole Miss. During his time at Memphis, he reunited with Hardaway - a teammate during the 1991-92 season in which they reached the 1992 Elite Eight. As an assistant coach on the Tiger staff, he helped guide Memphis into a national powerhouse beginning in 2018 with the No. 1 recruiting class in 2019.

While at Ole Miss (2015-17), Madlock helped guide the Rebels to back-to-back 20-win seasons, including a trip to the NIT Quarterfinals. He coached the Rebels' Sebastian Saiz to all-league honors and to a record-breaking senior season, as well as Stefan Moody, who earned first team All-SEC honors for two straight years.

Prior to Ole Miss, Madlock spent four seasons as an assistant coach on Tony Barbee's staff at Auburn and four seasons as an assistant at UTEP. He was an assistant at Arkansas State for nine seasons, where he spent six of his nine years as the assistant head coach prior to leaving for UTEP. He helped Arkansas State to the 1998 Sun Belt Conference regular season championship and the 1999 Sun Belt Conference tournament title, during a stint in which recruited six JUCO All-Americans and the only junior college player in Arkansas State history to score 1,000 points in two seasons. He is also credited with developing four all-conference players and the Sun Belt Conference Newcomer of the Year.

An honorable mention All-American and first team All-State point guard, Madlock began his coaching career as an assistant coach and teacher at his alma mater, Melrose High School in Memphis. The Golden Wildcats posted a 67-29 mark over the three seasons with Madlock on the staff, and Melrose was the 1997 state tournament runner-up with a 32-7 record.

Madlock earned a bachelor's degree in marketing from then-Memphis State in 1991 in 3.5 years. A four-year letterman and three-year starter for Memphis from 1988-92, Madlock was a member of four postseason tournament teams for the Tigers, reaching the NCAA Tournament and NIT two times each.

He still ranks among the school's all-time leaders for games played (128), and averaged double figures as a junior and senior. Madlock played one year of professional basketball in South America before starting his coaching career.

Madlock is married to the former Stacie Bryant of Memphis. They have two children - a daughter, Kyndal, and a son, T.J.

TRAVIS JAROME

DIRECTOR, STRATEGIC COMMUNICATIONS

Travis Jarome enters his seventh year overall and in his second stint with Alabama State University at the Director of Strategic Communications.

Travis Jarome returns to Alabama State University after serving as the Associate Athletic Director for Strategic Communications in 2022-23 at the University of South Alabama in Mobile.

Previously, Jarome spent six seasons at Alabama State University, where he served as the Director for Strategic Communications. While with the Hornets, Jarome primarily worked as the media contact for football, men's basketball, baseball, men's tennis, women's tennis, along with oversight of other members in the office. He joined the staff at ASU as the Assistant Director in the office in January 2017, before being promoted to Director in November. Jarome also served as the host of Live In The Hive, Unplugged and the Hornet Nation Unfiltered podcast, while also serving as the voice of the Hornets on the air of live athletic events. Jarome was named the Southwestern Athletic Conference SID of the Year for 2020-21 and 2021-22 after serving as the chairman of the conference Sports Information Committee. He was also one of four SIDs that season to be named SIDs of the Year by Black College Nines. In addition, he has served as a valued member of the official statistics crew at league-sponsored events over his final three seasons at Alabama State. Other notable accolades under Jarome's tenure included a full-scale redesign of the BamaStateSports.com website.

Being on the cutting edge of media field practices was a trademark for Jarome during his tenure at Alabama State. He and his staff conducted the first virtual press conference for a SWAC member institution with the hiring of men's basketball head coach Mo Williams, which saw over 100 media members globally participate in the event along with one-on-one interview sessions. Jarome came to ASU after a stint at Tuskegee University as the Director of Athletic Communications, where he oversaw changes in the website as it became more user-friendly and continued to grow in information. The social media aspect in the athletic department also grew and saw a substantial increase in followers on both Facebook and Twitter. The department also began using several social media platforms, such as Snapchat and Instagram to get its message across to its fans.

In his first season with the Tigers, Jarome developed the Tuskegee Sports Network that allowed alumni and fans from all over the country a chance to see and hear the Golden Tigers football team play. He also oversaw the first nationally produced television broadcast at Cleve L. Abbott Memorial Alumni Stadium when ESPN3 visited the facility against Winston-Salem State. Jarome was instrumental in getting five football games broadcasts on HSRN (Sirius XM Radio) and one basketball game on the station during 2015-16 season. He was able to take that model and develop the Tuskegee Digital Network, allowing fans and alumni across the world to watch multiple sports via the web, and was instrumental in getting HSRN back on board for the football season.

Prior to his stint at Tuskegee, Jarome served as the athletic director at Montgomery Catholic Preparatory School for three years. During his time, the school won a state championship and had several individual state champions. Several student-athletes were also honored for their work as all-metro, all-state and All-American selections during the three-year period. Montgomery Catholic received the AHSAA Sportsmanship Award - the first for the school - that is given annually to schools who are compliant with all the rules and regulations of the AHSAA and remain fine-free for the entire athletic year. Jarome, responsible for 34 sports during his time at Montgomery Catholic, presented at the 2013 NIAAA National Convention on Social Media in schools and athletics. At Troy University, he served as the primary contact for all women's sports in the Trojans' athletic department. He also served as the primary contact for men's track and field, as well as cross country and tennis, while serving as a secondary contact for the football program. During his four-plus years at Troy, Jarome was responsible for the daily management of 10 sports with media guides and games notes. He was also responsible for all publications and a redesign of the school's athletic website. While at Troy, he was able to promote many student-athletes who went on to the professional ranks after their graduation, and was also able to cover O'Darien Bassett and Tawanna Meadows in their pursuit of a spot on the Team USA Track and Field squad. He also served on the media relations staff that was honored as one of the FWAA Media Relations Staff of the Year winners.

Prior to Troy, Jarome spent a year with North Georgia of the Peach Belt Conference as they made the transition from NAIA to NCAA Division II. During that time, he had the privilege of covering three different coaches who hit milestones in victories - Buffie Burson (women's basketball), Tom Cantrell (baseball) and Mike Davenport (softball). While at North Georgia, Jarome was responsible for the day-to-day operations for each sport as the Sports Information Director while providing coverage for 10 intercollegiate sports. Before his stint at North Georgia, Jarome served in various roles at Auburn University Montgomery from a student assistant to interim director to Sports Information Director. During that stint, he covered four national championship tennis teams, two national runner-up soccer teams and a Final Four women's basketball team. He also promoted several coaches who reached milestone victories, a Wimbledon doubles' champion, two NBA players, a WNBA player and four professional baseball players. He was also instrumental in helping create the AUM Athletic Hall and Fame, and started the AUM sports television show, which aired weekly on ABC in Montgomery.

He is an active member of the College Sports Communicators (CSC), where he serves on the publications committee and the Diversity and Inclusion committee (serving as the Vice Chair), and has also been a contributing writer for CoSIDA360 Magazine while being highlighted the initial "Thank Your SID Week" and in a feature story in the publication in Storytelling During a Pandemic by Rob Knox. Jarome is also a member of the Sports Video Group (SVG), while also serving as the Social Media Chair for the Black College Sports Information Directors of America (BC-SIDA). Jarome received his bachelor's degree from Auburn University Montgomery in education. He is married to the former Courtney Hatfield, and the couple has one daughter - Riley.
