Kim Mulkey

Head Coach

Ninth Season at Baylor

Louisiana Tech, '84

When Women's Basketball Hall of Famer Kim Mulkey accepted the head coaching job at Baylor University, few could have predicted the dramatic and prestigious turn the program was about to take. In just eight years at Baylor, the former All-American and Olympic Gold medalist has guided the Lady Bear basketball program to the pinnacle of women's basketball, the 2005 NCAA national championship, seven NCAA Tournament appearances and eight 20-win seasons.

Mulkey recently received another impressive honor when she was inducted into the Baylor Athletic Hall of Fame, as part of the 2007 class.

The 2005 national title was Baylor's first for a women's team sport and was the Big 12 Conference's first basketball national title.

In winning the 2005 title, Mulkey became the first person, man or woman, to win a basketball national championship as a player, assistant coach and head coach. Additionally, she is the only women's basketball coach, and one of only three in men's and women's basketball (joining Bob Knight and Dean Smith), who has won a national championship as both a player and coach.

En route to the NCAA championship, the Lady Bears won their first Big 12 Conference championship and were the league's tournament champion as well. In addition, Mulkey-coached players have earned first-team All-Big 12 honors 12 times and she has produced four All-Americans.

Mulkey has generated amazing results since taking over the reins of the program on April 4, 2000, averaging 26.1 wins a season.

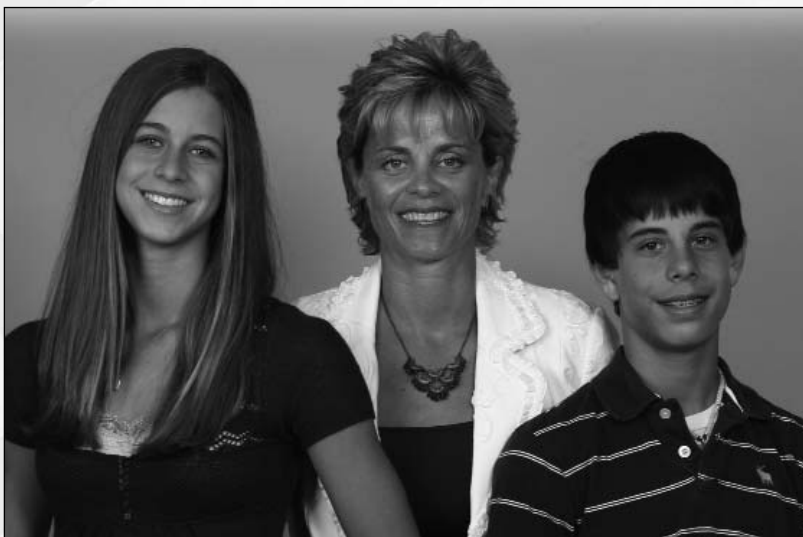

In her eight years at the program's helm, she has posted an impressive 208-60 (.776) record which ranks her No. 8 nationally in winning percentage. In addition, since her arrival eight years ago, the Lady Bear program ranks No. 7 among the NCAA Division I's winningest teams over that span.

Since taking over a squad that was just 7-20 the season prior to her arrival, Mulkey has guided the Lady Bears to eight postseason appearances, including seven NCAA Tournaments and a trip to the 2003 WNIT finals. In 2004, the Lady Bears made their first trip to the NCAA Sweet 16 and have played in three Sweet 16s. In 2001 Sheila Lambert was a Kodak All-American and was awarded the Frances Pomeroy Naismith Award, which recognized the nation's best player 5-7 or under. Mulkey won the inaugural award in 1984.

Under Mulkey's tutelage, Sophia Young became the program's first two-time Kodak All-American and also the school's first AP All-American. In addition, Baylor landed its first-ever players in the WNBA when Sheila Lambert and Danielle Crockrom were each drafted in the first round after the 2001 season and Steffanie Blackmon was drafted in 2005. Young became Baylor's highest draft pick when she was selected No. 4 by the San Antonio Silver Stars in 2006. Young, who completed her second season with the franchise in 2007, was the team's leading scorer and rebounder as a rookie and has twice been selected to play in the WNBA All-Star game. In 2007, Bernice Mosby became Mulkey's fourth first-round WNBA draft pick when the Washington Mystics made her the fourth player selected overall and in 2008 Angela Tisdale was drafted by the Chicago Sky.

Not only has Baylor's progress registered on the national level, local fans have taken notice, too. The Lady Bears continue to break all-time attendance records and annually rank among the nation's top 25 in NCAA women's basketball attendance. In 2006-07 Baylor finished the year ranked 11th in the country in home attendance and topped the 100,000 fan mark for the second time in school history, with 119,603 fans passing through the turnstiles. Baylor was one of only 13 schools nationally in 2006-07 to reach the 100,000 fan milestone. That season the Lady Bears broke the all-time Ferrell Center total attendance record (men's or women's) of 109,494 and in 2007-08, 112,953 fans passed through the turnstiles. Baylor has ranked in the top 25 in attendance every season since Mulkey became the program's head coach.

In her first season as a head coach, Mulkey moved the Lady Bear program to the next level. She took a team that was 7-20 in 1999-2000 and molded it into a cohesive, confident unit that went from 12th place in the Big 12 in 2000 to the school's first-ever NCAA Tournament berth a year later. Baylor, along with four other schools, posted the biggest turnaround in NCAA Division I with a 14-game swing, going from 7-20 to 21-9. The Lady Bears, under Mulkey's guidance, moved from a 12th place Big 12 finish (2-12) to sixth place (9-7). In addition, the Baylor squad was ranked in the AP top 25 poll for six weeks, climbing as high as No. 20. The Lady Bears finished the season ranked No. 23.

Mulkey continued to add to her impressive list of achievements. Numerous honors were bestowed upon her after her inaugural season. She was named one of the top 50 Female High School Athletes of the 20th Century, National Coach of the Year by Real Sport magazine and Big 12 Coach of the Year by both the Dallas Morning News and Waco Tribune-Herald.

Baylor's second season under Mulkey produced even better results. The team finished the year at 27-6 and was ranked No. 7 in the Associated Press' final rankings. Baylor played its way into the championship game of the Big 12 Tournament, which marked the deepest it had ever advanced in the event. For the first time in the program's history the Lady Bears were selected to host NCAA Tournament games. Baylor hosted first and second round games and set a Lady Bear attendance record when 10,074 fans packed the Ferrell Center for Baylor's second-round game against Drake. In fact, the Waco first and second rounds ranked second in attendance compared to other sites across the nation.

Her third season proved to be her most challenging. Working with a team in 2002-03 that returned only one starter and listed only three upperclassmen on its roster, Mulkey guided her young squad to a 24-11 record and after being snubbed by the NCAA selection committee, the Lady Bears advanced to the WNIT finals. In the championship game, SEC rival Auburn narrowly defeated the Lady Bears, 64-63.

Year four yielded even more success for Baylor women's basketball. Mulkey guided the Lady Bears to the program's first-ever NCAA Sweet 16, where they lost to tradition-rich Tennessee (71-69) on a controversial last-second call. Baylor finished the season at 26-9, was ranked No. 15 in the AP's final poll and achieved its highest finish in the coaches poll at No. 11.

The 2004-05 season proved to be the breakthrough year for Mulkey. The squad posted a 33-3 record and claimed the Big 12 Conference title with a 14-2 mark. En route to the NCAA championship, the Lady Bears defeated three No. 1 seeds. Steffanie

Blackmon and Young were both named All-Americans with Young becoming Baylor's third WBCA All-American.

Blackmon became BU's third WNBA draftee when the Seattle Storm took her. In addition to earning Big 12 Coach of the Year honors, Mulkey received the New York Athletic Club's prestigious Winged Foot Award.

After losing two starters off the NCAA championship squad, Mulkey guided the 2005-06 Lady Bears to a 26-7 record and a 12-4 Big 12 mark, good for a second place league finish and a final AP ranking of No. 10. Although they didn't repeat as national champions, the Lady Bears took consolation in the fact that, after making their third consecutive Sweet 16 appearance, they were eliminated from the title run by the eventual national champions, third-ranked Maryland. Year six under Mulkey produced the program's first two-time WBCA All-American and Big 12 Player of the Year in Young. Young, as a first round WNBA pick of the San Antonio Silver Stars, ended her career as the Big 12's leading scorer (2,480) and rebounder (1,316).

Fielding a team in 2006-07 that featured eight underclassmen on the 11-member squad, the team's 26-7 record was an impressive achievement. Led by Mosby, the Lady Bears were again selected to the NCAA Tournament and finished third in the perennially tough Big 12 Conference with an 11-5 mark. Freshman Danielle Wilson ranked among the nation's elite in blocked shots and broke a 27-year-old Baylor record for blocked shots in a season with 86. As a team the Lady Bears led the nation in blocked shots with 7.2 a contest. Baylor finished the year ranked No. 19 in the AP poll and No. 20 in the coaches poll.

Facing the 2007-08 season with, for the first time, no dominant scorer and rebounder returning, Mulkey guided the squad to an impressive 25-7 mark, a second place Big 12 Conference finish and another NCAA Tournament berth. The team featured a balanced offense with five players averaging double-digit scoring. The Lady Bears were led by All-American and All-Big 12 performers Angela Tisdale and Rachel Allison.

Mulkey, a 2000 inductee into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame, came to Baylor University from Louisiana Tech where she spent 19 years as either a player or coach in the legendary Lady Techster program. During her tenure in Ruston, Mulkey was associated with 11 Final Four squads and three national championship teams. She has either played or coached in the national championship game on eight occasions.

During her 15-year stint as an assistant and associate head coach at her alma mater, Louisiana Tech posted a 430-68 record and advanced to seven Final Fours. Mulkey held the title of associate head coach for four seasons. Her responsibilities at Tech included coordinating recruiting, tutoring Lady Techster guards, overseeing the players' academic progress and running the summer camps. Because of her diligence, while Mulkey was overseeing the academic program, no Lady Techster was ever declared academically ineligible.

As recruiting coordinator, Mulkey had the opportunity to recruit and coach several Lady Techsters who would go on to play in the WNBA.

In 1999, Women's Basketball Journal ranked Mulkey as one of the nation's top three assistants. Those ratings were compiled during Women's Basketball Journal's annual coaches' survey, which asks the nation's top head coaches to send in votes on various topics.

As a player, Mulkey led the Lady Techsters to a 130-6 record, two national titles and four Final Fours from 1980-84. During that time the 5-foot-4 playmaker, known for her spectacular passes and French braids, also led Louisiana Tech to its first two national championships (1981 and 1982) and was a part of the USA's Gold medal-winning team at both the 1984 Olympics and the 1983 Pan American Games.

Mulkey averaged 6.38 assists and 1.56 steals per game and currently ranks second on Tech's all-time list in assists and 12th in steals.

In addition, the summa cum laude scholar was a two-time Academic All-American as a business major. In recognition of her success in the classroom and on the basketball court, Mulkey was inducted into the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-America Hall of Fame in June 2003.

"Being inducted into the CoSIDA Academic All-America Hall of Fame is one of the more special honors of my career," Mulkey said. "It combines recognition for what I did as an athlete as well as what I achieved in the classroom. A good education will far outlast the fleeting moments on the court or playing field."

Her athletic career began at an early age. Mulkey, a native of Hammond, La., played Dixie Youth baseball as a 12 year old as well as two years of Pony League baseball and made the all-star team two of the three years. At Hammond High School, she led the basketball team to four-straight state championships, posted a 136-5 record and finished her career with the national record for most points scored (4,075). She earned all-district, all-state and all-America honors each of her four years at Hammond High. She also graduated as her class' valedictorian with a perfect 4.0 grade point average. Mulkey has a street named after her in her hometown of Tickfaw, La.

Mulkey is a member of the National High School Hall of Fame, the Louisiana High School Hall of Fame, Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame and Louisiana Tech Athletics Hall of Fame. In 1999 she was the lone female named among the Louisiana Sports Writers top 25 athletes of the 20th century and was listed by Sports Illustrated as one of the top 50 sports figures of Louisiana for the 20th century. In June of 2000 she was inducted into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame located in Knoxville, Tenn. In June 2003 she was inducted into the CoSIDA Academic All-America Hall of Fame.

In her highly successful rookie season as a head coach, Mulkey was named National Coach of the Year by Real Sport magazine and honored by the Dallas Morning News and Waco Tribune-Herald as Big 12 Coach of the Year. She added Big 12 Coach of the Year honors and the prestigious Winged Foot Award to her resume in 2005. In addition, Mulkey was recently named to the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

She is a highly sought after motivational speaker and speaks on a broad range of topics in addition to Lady Bear basketball and is frequently requested both locally and nationally. She is extremely active in and around the Waco community, donating her time and money to many organizations.

Mulkey, born May 17, 1962, in Santa Ana, Calif., has two children, daughter Makenzie (17) and son Kramer (14).

Makenzie and Kramer are both extremely active in sports. Makenzie, a high school junior, plays basketball and softball and has participated in volleyball and track. As a sophomore she joined Midway High School's state championship volleyball team during the playoffs. Makenzie was a starter on Midway's basketball team which lost in the regional finals to eventual state champion, Dallas' Lincoln High School, while the school's softball squad advanced to the state tournament's final four. Makenzie was a member of Midway's Little League Softball 2003 and 2004 World Series Championship team, which won its crowns in Beaverton, Oregon. During summers she plays both select softball and select basketball, most recently with the DFW Elite hoops squad.

Kramer, an eighth grader, plays football, basketball, baseball and also competes in track and field. Kramer spends his summers playing select baseball. He was recently chosen to play for USA Baseball's Team Texas (14 and under) which competed against other squads from other states.

Mulkey's autobiography, "Won't Back Down" with Peter May, a recently retired senior sportswriter at the Boston Globe, appeared in bookstores on Nov. 5, 2007, and the paperback edition became available on Sept. 8, 2008.

In her 27 years of involvement in NCAA Division I basketball, Mulkey's team's have won 20 or more games 26 times and have posted 30 or more victories 15 times.

Kim Mulkey is the only women's basketball coach, and one of only three in men's and women's basketball (joining Bob Knight and Dean Smith), who have won a national championship as both a player and coach. She is the ONLY basketball coach to win a national championship as a head coach, assistant coach and player.

In her eight seasons as head coach, Mulkey has led the Lady Bears to eight 20-win seasons and seven NCAA appearances including the 2005 national title.

Mulkey ranks No. 8 among winningest active NCAA Division I coaches with a 208-60 (.776) record.

Richard Barron

*Associate Head Coach
Second Season at Baylor
Kenyon, '91*

basketball coach. The Tennessee native joined the staff on May 7, 2007.

As one of his duties with the program, Barron is the team's recruiting coordinator. Through his and the staff's diligent efforts, Baylor is poised to sign the best recruiting class in school history.

"For Richard, as a former head coach, to step back and become an associate head coach speaks volumes about his commitment to Baylor University, to me and our program. Not many people would do that. He is a tremendous asset to our program and I truly respect what he accomplished during his tenure as a head coach," said Mulkey. "He's a genuinely good person, a great family man, a perfect fit for our program."

"There are a lot of things that attracted me to the position at Baylor. I think professionally speaking it is a chance for me to coach in the Big 12 with a Hall of Fame head coach and now that Coach Barmore is on board, it's an even bigger opportunity to learn. Since I became a head coach at 26, I did not have a lot of mentoring in terms of working under people. I kind of learned the hard way about things so this will be a good experience for me. I can see different ways to do things after several years. Just take a step back, observing another way of getting things done," said Barron.

"It's a great situation for me, Waco's a great family town, and Baylor's a great university. In addition, just the way the schedule's work out, it's going to be a better situation for me as a father and a husband. Life was hectic as dual head coaches at Princeton where my wife was the head softball coach, our schedules became difficult. It was more than just demanding, the schedules were almost impossible to manage," continued Barron.

Barron spent six seasons at Princeton prior to joining the Lady Bear basketball program. In his tenure at Princeton, Barron posted a 74-91 record after inheriting a team that went 2-25 in the season prior to his arrival. The Tigers posted an 11-16 record his first season and under his guidance, went on to claim the 2005-06 Ivy League title. Prior to taking the reins of the Princeton program, he spent five seasons at the University of the South. His last season there, Barron led the team to the first conference championship in school history and a national ranking of No. 8 in Division III. He posted a 77-48 record with the Tigers and owns an 11-year career record of 152-139.

During his tenure at Princeton, Barron coached five players to All-Ivy honors on either the first team, second team or honorable mention. In 2006, Princeton had two players, Becky Brown and Meagan Cowher, honored on the first-team All-Ivy. It was the first time since 1981 that two of the five first-team positions went to Princeton players. Cowher repeated first-team honors in 2007.

During the summer of 2006, Barron traveled to Treviso, Italy, with the Phoenix Suns to observe and learn under Suns head coach Mike D'Antoni. In 1998, he was one of three college coaches selected to serve as a floor coach for the American Basketball League (ABL) combine. Barron has also served as the basketball camp director for Pete Gillen, Jeff Jones and Terry Holland at the University of Virginia and has lectured at numerous high school and summer basketball camps around the country about basketball fundamentals. For three seasons (2003-06), he was the Ivy League Representative for the Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA).

Barron, who grew up in Florida and Tennessee, is a 1991 graduate of Kenyon where he majored in biology. He graduated cum laude after making the dean's list every semester. Barron played both basketball and baseball in college while singing in an all-male a capella group.

Barron and his wife, Maureen, a former Princeton softball coach, are the proud parents of four-year-old twin daughters, Lane and Rae, and a son, Billy, born in August 2006.

Leon Barmore

*Assistant Coach
First Season at Baylor
Louisiana Tech, '67*

Plain and simple, Leon Barmore missed basketball and the game missed him. Thus, former Barmore assistant and current Baylor head coach sons. Barmore, the fastest coach in women's basketball history to reach 500 wins, retired Aug. 22, 2002, after 20 years as Louisiana Tech's head coach, posting an amazing career record of 576-87. In fact, his .869 winning percentage still ranks as the best in women's college basketball history.

Kim Mulkey shocked the basketball world when she was able to coax the legendary coach out of retirement. The hiring makes Baylor just one of three women's basketball programs to currently have two or more Hall of Fame coaches on one staff.

In his 20 seasons at the program's helm, the Lady Techsters made 20 trips to the NCAA Tournament, which included a national championship in 1988, four NCAA runner-up finishes and nine NCAA Final Four appearances. During his tenure, the Lady Techsters were ranked among The Associated Press Top 25 for 179 straight weeks and fashioned a 54-game win streak.

Mulkey and Barmore, both members of the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame, joins forces to again form one of women's basketball's most successful coaching tandems. Prior to Mulkey's arrival as Baylor's head coach, the duo coached together for 15 seasons at Louisiana Tech.

In addition, Barmore coached 12 WBCA All-Americans, four Olympians and 37 first-team all-conference selections.

"Words can't express how excited I am that coach Barmore has decided to join the Lady Bear staff," Mulkey said. "This has to rank as one of my best recruiting jobs, albeit in a different way. I'm confident that coach Barmore will have an immediate impact with our players and staff as we continue to build upon the success we've enjoyed the past eight years."

Prior to joining the Baylor staff, Barmore spent his entire career at Louisiana Tech as a player, assistant coach and head coach.

A 2003 Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame and Women's Basketball Hall of Fame inductee, Barmore orchestrated one of the most dominant programs in women's basketball history, guiding the Louisiana Tech Lady Techsters to 13, 30-win seasons and 19, 20-plus win seasons.

"I am really looking forward to working with coach Barmore again. I have always thought that he got out of the game too early. He has a wealth of experience and a tremendous basketball mind that will greatly benefit our program. It is exciting that he thinks enough of me and this program that he would come out of retirement; we have high respect for each other. He's a Hall of Fame coach that has many more contributions to make to women's basketball. I welcome him to our program and look forward to him becoming a part of our Baylor family," said Mulkey.

"There are only two schools that could have gotten me out of retirement, Louisiana Tech and Baylor. At this time in my life I have no desire to be a head coach but I missed the game and still wanted to coach. After several talks with Kim, I decided Baylor was a perfect fit for me. I get to work for someone I know and respect, someone that has the same 'doing it right' attitude that I have and someone I know will take care of me. What Kim has done at Baylor is one of the most amazing success stories of all times and for a few moments, I'll get to be a part of that. I appreciate Kim and Baylor for giving me this opportunity," said Barmore.

In addition to Barmore being enshrined in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame and the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame, he was recently inducted into the Ark-La-Tex Sports Museum of Champions. He is also a member of the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame and the Louisiana Tech Hall of Fame.

Coach Barmore and his wife, Rachel, have one daughter, Shannon. Shannon and her husband Karl are proud parents of twin daughters, Sophie and Ellie.

Damion McKinney

*Assistant Coach
Third Season at Baylor
Midwestern State, '99*

Waco native Damion McKinney became a member of the Lady Bear staff on August 16, 2006, and now has two years of collegiate coaching under his belt.

McKinney, a 1992 graduate of La Vega (Texas) High School, came to the Lady Bear program from the Dallas-based DFW Basketball organization where he was the program's elite recruiting director. In addition, he has coached at the high school level, most recently as an assistant boys coach at Dallas' Sunset High School where he taught ninth grade history.

The 34-year-old earned his bachelor of science degree from Midwestern State University (MSU) in Wichita Falls, Texas, where he was a two-time first-team All-Lone Star Conference basketball selection. McKinney still holds the MSU record for three-pointers in a game with nine. Prior to transferring to MSU, McKinney played at Waco's McLennan Community College.

"Damion is a young man that brings a lot of energy to our program. He grew up in Waco which is an added bonus since people in Waco know him. He has proven he's eager to learn and is willing to work hard," said head coach Kim Mulkey. "He has a strong background in AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) basketball and his experience and contacts in that arena bring an added dimension to our recruiting," she added.

During his prep career at La Vega, McKinney was a standout performer in football, basketball and track. Among his honors were first-team Super Centex and all-district honors in basketball and first-team all-district football kudos as a quarterback and defensive back.

"I am eager to learn and develop at the collegiate level. I have gained invaluable experience working for Coach Mulkey and will continue to work hard and dedicate the time and attention needed to make a contribution to this program," said McKinney. "This is a dream job for me. I am excited to have the opportunity to work with such a prestigious program."

Johnny Derrick

Director of Basketball Operations

Ninth Season at Baylor

The 2008-09 season marks Johnny Derrick's ninth on the Lady Bear basketball staff. He joined the staff when current head coach Kim Mulkey took the reins of the Baylor program in 2000. Derrick served as an assistant coach for the first six seasons, which included both the 2005 Big 12 and NCAA National Championships and he now begins his third season as Director of Basketball Operations.

"The expansion of our coaching staff allowed me to re-evaluate responsibilities. Coach Derrick is our 'go to' person. He anticipates what needs to be done and has it accomplished before we even think to ask for it. Johnny has been involved in every aspect of the program, from day-to-day business to the long-term in game scheduling and recruiting. I greatly value Johnny's contributions and his loyalty to this program, he is my right hand," said head coach Kim Mulkey.

"I believe having known Kim for so long and working with her at Baylor from the first year gives me a great prospective of what she expects every day. I understand and believe in her philosophy of working hard and doing the right things both on and off the court," said Derrick. "Just as she challenges our athletes to be their best, I appreciate that she also challenges me to be the best I can be."

Derrick handles all of the business responsibilities for the program a portion of which includes management of the budget, opponent scheduling and team travel.

"Even though I have many business and operational responsibilities, my focus still remains on the well being and success of our athletes," said Derrick. "Student-athletes face many challenges each day. My goal is to assist them in finding solutions to their problems or answers to their questions. In many cases it is simply just being here to listen and to assure them that we truly care about them. Kim's philosophy from the first day we arrived at Baylor has been that the student-athlete must be our top priority," said Derrick. "We demand the best from them in the classroom and on the court and I feel it is my responsibility to give them my utmost attention and support."

Derrick also serves as the liaison between the Lady Bear staff and the Tip Off Club, the rapidly growing Lady Bear basketball support group. He has worked closely with booster clubs and coaching staffs at the collegiate level for many years and has used his experience to help the Tip Off Club grow in membership and involvement. "I am very proud of our Tip Off Club and the commitment they have made to Lady Bear Basketball. I consider them one of the premier support groups in the country," added Derrick.

Since arriving in 2000, Derrick has played an integral part in the Lady Bears' success. "I will never forget the excitement of winning the NCAA championship. It was a very special feeling that few people have the opportunity to experience. We continue our goal of being one of the elite programs in the country year in and year out, and one day hope to experience another championship moment," Derrick said.

Derrick is a native of Dubach, La., and currently lives in Waco.

Rekha Patterson

*Coordinator of Basketball Operations
First Season at Baylor
North Carolina A&T, '01*

On April 30, 2008, head coach Kim Mulkey announced that Rekha Patterson, a former Lady Bear graduate assistant, had been hired as the program's newly-created coordinator of basketball operations.

Patterson, back for her second stint at Baylor, served as the program's graduate assistant from 2002-04 and was primarily responsible for film exchange, coordinating recruiting correspondence and visits. Her efforts helped pave the way for the Lady Bears' 2005 NCAA championship. In her two seasons, Baylor was the 2003 WNIT runner-up and advanced to the 2004 NCAA Tournament's Sweet 16 for the first time in school history.

She returns to Baylor after coaching stops at Creighton, Ball State and Eastern Illinois where she was actively involved in coaching position players, recruiting, preparing scouting reports and overseeing academics.

Prior to enrolling at Baylor, she spent one year in the NCAA offices as an Education Services intern, where she helped coordinate the Stay in Bounds silent auction and assisted with the CHAMPS / Life Skills and Continuing Education Conference.

Patterson earned her undergraduate degree in public relations from North Carolina A&T in 2001, where she was a four-year letterwinner and two-time team captain in basketball. Upon finishing her degree, she was a recipient of the Black Coaches Association Postgraduate Scholarship and the NCAA Ethnic Minority Postgraduate Scholarship. She earned her master's degree in education with a sports management emphasis from Baylor in 2004.

"I am so pleased to have Rekha back on our staff. She was outstanding in her role here as a graduate assistant and I have kept my eye on her career over the past four years. Rekha has an outstanding basketball mind and has excelled in all facets of the game during her career. She is one of the best and brightest young minds in the industry and I value her contributions. Her infectious enthusiasm and loyalty make her a perfect fit for our program," said Mulkey.

"This is an exciting opportunity for me. I have always admired coach Mulkey and that admiration grew while I worked under her during my graduate assistantship. To be able to return to Baylor and work for what I consider to be one of the greatest minds in basketball, is another dream come true, and will allow me to be a part of a truly wonderful program and university. I am thrilled to return to the Baylor family," said Patterson.

The Red Springs, N.C., native currently lives in Robinson, Texas.

Edsel
HAMILTON IV

Graduate Assistant
Second Season at Baylor

The 2008-09 season marks Edsel Hamilton's second season as a graduate assistant with the Lady Bear basketball program.

Hamilton's primary duties include coordinating the film exchange program, working closely with the coaching staff to prepare for opponents and in recruit correspondence. In addition, he coordinates the Dream Team, the all-male practice squad.

Hamilton came to Baylor after spending three years working with the USC Women of Troy basketball team. Two of those years were spent as a member of the all-male practice squad. His third-year duties included managing the team's statistics software and assisting with practices, team travel and office work. In addition, he worked several collegiate camps including USC's Women's Elite Camp, USC Men's Individual Camp, St. Mary's Men's Individual Camp and Pepperdine's Men's Individual Camp.

A native of Pflugerville, Texas, Hamilton is a 2007 graduate of USC with a degree in economics. While on the Southern California campus, he was a Trustee Scholar, the University's most prestigious and valuable scholarship awarded to only 100 students for each class at USC, and a National Merit Scholar.

Hamilton graduated in 2003 from Hyde Park Baptist School in Austin, Texas, where he lettered in four sports. He was an all-district selection in both basketball and football and a state qualifier in track. He also lettered in tennis. Edsel Poston Hamilton IV was born Feb. 8, 1985, in Austin, Texas.

In addition to his basketball commitments, Hamilton is pursuing a graduate degree in sport management at Baylor.

Alex
OLSON

Athletic Trainer
10th Season at Baylor

Alex Olson enters his 10th season as the Lady Bear basketball athletic trainer. He also oversees the athletic training staff for Baylor's nationally prominent men's and women's tennis teams.

Olson came to Baylor from Mansfield (Texas) High School where he worked as the district's head athletic trainer from 1996-1999. While at Mansfield, Olson was a part of the 1999 undefeated (38-0) girls basketball state championship team.

During the same year, Olson served as the head athletic trainer for the girls 17-18 AAU National Championship Tournament.

After graduating from North Garland High School in 1989, Olson enrolled at Baylor. While a student athletic trainer at Baylor from 1989-1994, Olson worked with the football and baseball teams.

Since returning to Baylor on a full time basis, the teams Olson oversees have won a combined 25 Big 12 regular season and tournament championships, including national championships in 2004 (men's tennis) and 2005 (women's basketball).

Olson remained at Baylor as a graduate assistant earning a master's degree in 1996. Olson's wife, Beth, is a 1994 graduate of Baylor. The Olsons are the proud parents of a daughter, Taylor Elise (4).

Barbara SPITZER

Administrative Assistant
Second Season at Baylor

Shaun McPHERSON

Strength & Conditioning
Ninth Season at Baylor

Associate Director of Strength and Conditioning Shaun McPherson is in his ninth year at Baylor and his sixth season with the Lady Bears.

Prior to taking over the strength and conditioning duties for Lady Bear basketball during the summer of 2003, McPherson spent four seasons working with BU's men's and women's track and field program (2000-03). In addition to working with women's basketball, McPherson has also handled strength and conditioning duties for baseball (2000-07) and football (1999-2007). In 2007 he assumed the duties as strength and conditioning coach for Baylor's highly successful men's and women's tennis teams.

While baseball, women's basketball and women's tennis were under his direction, both squads made an impact on the national scene. Women's basketball won the 2005 NCAA championship, the 2005 baseball squad earned a College World Series berth and women's tennis made it to the 2008 NCAA Championship semifinals. Additionally, during his time at Baylor, McPherson has been a part of six regular season and three Big 12 Championship squads.

While at Baylor, McPherson has trained world class athletes including NCAA and Olympic track gold medalists Jeremy Wariner and Darold Williamson, WNBA All-Star Sophia Young, football's two-time Ray Guy award winner Daniel Sepulveda, current major league baseball starters David Murphy and Kelly Shoppach and current pro tennis player Zuzana Zemenova.

The North Carolina native came to Baylor in 1999 as a graduate assistant and was hired full-time in August 2001. He received his master of science in education from Baylor in 2001.

McPherson received his bachelor of arts in exercise and sport science from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill in 1999. While at Carolina, he served as an undergraduate strength and conditioning coach. He is certified by the National Strength and Conditioning Association and has completed requirements as a Level 1 Club Coach for USA Weightlifting. In addition, McPherson has had two articles published in Stack magazine, one on baseball speed development and another on basketball conditioning.

McPherson is a native of Whiteville, N.C., and is married to the former Rebecca Denham of Albuquerque, N.M.
