Craig Roberts

HEAD COACH

Alma Mater: Park University

Graduating Year: 1997

Experience: 7th Year

“Roberts has coached against some of the world’s best players, including Abby Wambach, Carli Lloyd, Alex Morgan and Hope Solo.”

Craig Roberts, who completed his sixth season as the Ball State soccer head coach in 2015, has overseen consistent growth in the program since coming to Muncie in 2010.

He has returned the Cardinals to prominence in the Mid-American Conference, highlighted by a league regular season championship in 2015.

Roberts also serves as an assistant coach with the Haiti Women’s National Team, having been appointed to that position in the spring of 2014. In that role, he has coached against national teams from countries such as the United States, Mexico and Canada. He has coached against some of the world’s best players, including Abby Wambach, Carli Lloyd, Alex Morgan and Hope Solo.

As part of his work with the Haiti program, Roberts serves as head coach of the U-17 women’s national team.

The 2015 season was the best yet for Ball State under Roberts’ direction. The Cardinals finished one shy of the school record for wins at 14-3-3 and claimed their first MAC regular season title since 2007 with a 10-1 league mark. The 10 conference wins were the most ever for a Ball State team.

The Cardinals reached as high as No. 68 in the RPI and finished the year at No. 75. They set school records with an eight-game winning streak and a nine-game unbeaten streak.

For all their success, they were rewarded with a record-tying five players on the All-MAC First Team, including the program’s first ever MAC Defensive Player of the Year (Lorina White) and Freshman of the Year (Abbie Boswell). Boswell set the Ball State freshman scoring record with 10 goals. She and White were joined on the first team by teammates Chelsy Swackhamer, Leah Mattingly and Alyssa Heintschel.

The Cardinals are a combined 36-17-9 over the past three seasons, including a pair of 11-win campaigns in 2013 and 2014. Both of those teams reached at least the semifinals of the MAC Tournament, with the 2013 squad becoming the first Ball State team to reach the championship game. The Cardinals came up just short against a Western Michigan team that went on to defeat Marquette in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

The 2014 squad led the MAC in scoring with 32 goals and finished second in the league’s West Division, marking Ball State’s best finish since the league implemented divisions for soccer in 2010. The 2015 team topped that by bringing home both the West Division and overall conference titles.

Roberts owns an overall record of 60-43-19 in his six years at Ball State. The Cardinals were 4-13-1 in the year prior to his arrival but have demonstrated steady improvement ever since. For his nine-year head coaching career, including the first four at UT Martin, Roberts is 94-70-31.

Strong defense has been a hallmark of the Ball State program under Roberts. The Cardinals have recorded 42 shutouts during his tenure, including nine in each of the past three seasons (the school record is 10). The 2015 team ranked 21st in the country with a .623 goals against average.

Twice in Roberts’ six years, the Cardinals have spoiled an opponent’s perfect MAC record in the final game of the regular season. The 2010 team defeated a Toledo squad that was previously unbeaten and untied in league play, and the 2012 team played Miami University to a draw to end its perfect MAC season.

A native of Kidderminster, England, Roberts has also coached 11 All-MAC selections at Ball State, including two-time selections Leah Mattingly (2014, 2015) and Madison Oyer (2013, 2014). A total of six players have been named to the MAC All-Freshman Team under his watch.

THE UNIVERSITY

Ball State began as a private normal school in 1899. Eventually the campus and buildings were purchased by the Ball brothers, a group of Muncie industrialists, and given to the state of Indiana in 1918.

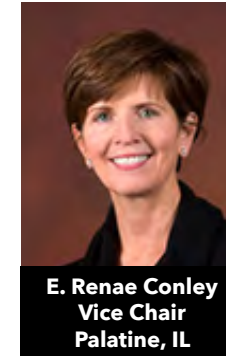

The institution was named Ball Teachers College in 1922 and Ball State Teachers College in 1929. The school became a university in 1965 and its 660-acre residential campus now includes more than 60 buildings and 300 additional acres of research property.

Ball State has seven academic colleges and a graduate school with over 150 majors offered, including business, education, sport administration, telecommunications, exercise science, criminal justice, communication studies, journalism, political science and construction management.
