JAMES M. DANKO

Butler University President

James M. Danko

Since becoming the 21st President of Butler University in 2011, James Danko has devoted himself to the development and realization of the University's new strategic plan, Butler 2020. This ambitious plan guides Butler toward national recognition as a thought-leader in transformative, student-centered higher education by 2020.

An innovator at heart and in experience, President Danko was a successful entrepreneur in his hometown of Cleveland, Ohio, for nearly two decades before beginning his academic career. He leads with a mindset of stewardship, collaboration, creativity, and believes that a liberal-arts foundation, coupled with strong professional education and experiential learning, fosters student success after graduation. In 2012, he established the Butler Innovation Fund, an unprecedented source of seed money that allows the University to invest in visionary approaches to teaching, research, and service created by faculty, staff, and students.

Butler 2020 was designed to support and strengthen the University's academic mission and rich tradition of engaged education. To that end, President Danko has championed upgrades to the University's learning and living facilities. Over the past three years, Butler has undertaken major renovations to Clowes Memorial Hall and Hinkle Fieldhouse; completed the new Howard L. Schrott Center for the Arts; received a $10 million grant from the Fairbanks Foundation to support the renovation and construction of science facilities at the University; and partnered with the City of Indianapolis to transform its main thoroughfare, Sunset Avenue, with landscaped medians, bicycle lanes, new street lighting, and green infrastructure. In 2015, construction will begin on two projects that will change the face of Butler: a world-class, 600-bed student-housing facility and a 1,038-space, multi-use parking structure. In addition, President Danko has signed American College and University Presidents' Climate Commitment, which pledges Butler to achieve net climate neutrality.

Further advancing Butler's goals, President Danko collaborated with the President of Christian Theological Seminary to launch the Desmond Tutu Center in 2013. The Center, opened with the personal participation of Archbishop Tutu, focuses on leadership development in social justice and reconciliation and reflects Butler's commitment to global citizenship.

President Danko also oversaw Butler's move to the new BIG EAST Conference in 2013. This partnership, which matches Butler with other high-quality academic institutions, provides unprecedented opportunities for Butler's student-athletes and raises the University's national profile. President Danko also serves on the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division I Presidential Advisory Group.

President Danko is deeply committed to Butler's service as an "anchor institution" within the city of Indianapolis and the state of Indiana, viewing this role as fundamental to Butler's founding mission and academic objectives. As such an anchor, Butler acts as a premier resource not only for its own students, but for current and future generations of Hoosiers.

Before coming to Butler, President Danko served as Dean of the Villanova School of Business and as Associate Dean at the Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth College. President Danko also taught entrepreneurship and served in leadership roles at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Babson College, and the University of Michigan.

President Danko received his bachelor's degree in religious studies from John Carroll University and his master of business administration from the University of Michigan. He is married to Bethanie Danko and has two daughters, Melanie and Meredith. President and Mrs. Danko live on the Butler campus in the historic Carter House.

BARRY COLLIER

Butler
University
Vice President
Director of Athletics
Barry Collier

Vice President and Director of Athletics Barry Collier has been at the helm of the Butler University athletic department since 2006. Collier has focused the department's efforts on the provision of exceptional student-athlete experiences, competitive excellence, serving as a source of pride and unity and fiscal sustainability.

Collier oversees the school's 20 NCAA Division I sports. He and his staff support 365+ student-athletes in their quest for achievement in the classroom, in athletic competition and in community service. Athletics provides unique educational opportunities to absorb the values of hard work, sacrifice, fair play, self respect, respect for others, teamwork and the quest for excellence.

Butler's student-athletes have excelled academically. Since Collier arrived in 2006, the Bulldogs have been recognized with 18 CoSIDA Academic All-Americans, 165 academic all-conference members and 1,104 conference academic honor roll members. Additionally, Butler University ranked as one of the top schools in the nation when the NCAA released its list of Public Recognition Awards on Thursday, June 14, 2012. A total of 11 Butler teams were honored for achieving a multi-year Academic Progress Rate (APR) in the top 10 percent of their Division I peers.

Under Collier's leadership, the athletics teams at Butler have earned 27 regular season and tournament championships from 2007 through 2012. BU's women's cross country, men's cross country, volleyball, men's soccer, men's indoor and outdoor track and field, women's indoor and outdoor track and field, men's basketball, men's tennis and women's golf teams or individuals have participated in NCAA championship play.

Perhaps the most notable accomplishments by Butler athletics during Collier's tenure came during the men's basketball team's runs to the NCAA Final Four in 2010 and 2011. The school's NCAA Tournament success was transformative for Butler men's basketball, Butler athletics and Butler University. Elevating to a whole new level, the men's basketball team brought in more than $1.1 billion of media value to Butler, over the months surrounding the 2010 and 2011 Final Fours. During the 2010 Final Four in Indianapolis, one of the most rewarding media stories was the simple fact that Butler's men's basketball student-athletes attended classes on the day of the championship game. Butler wouldn't have it any other way.

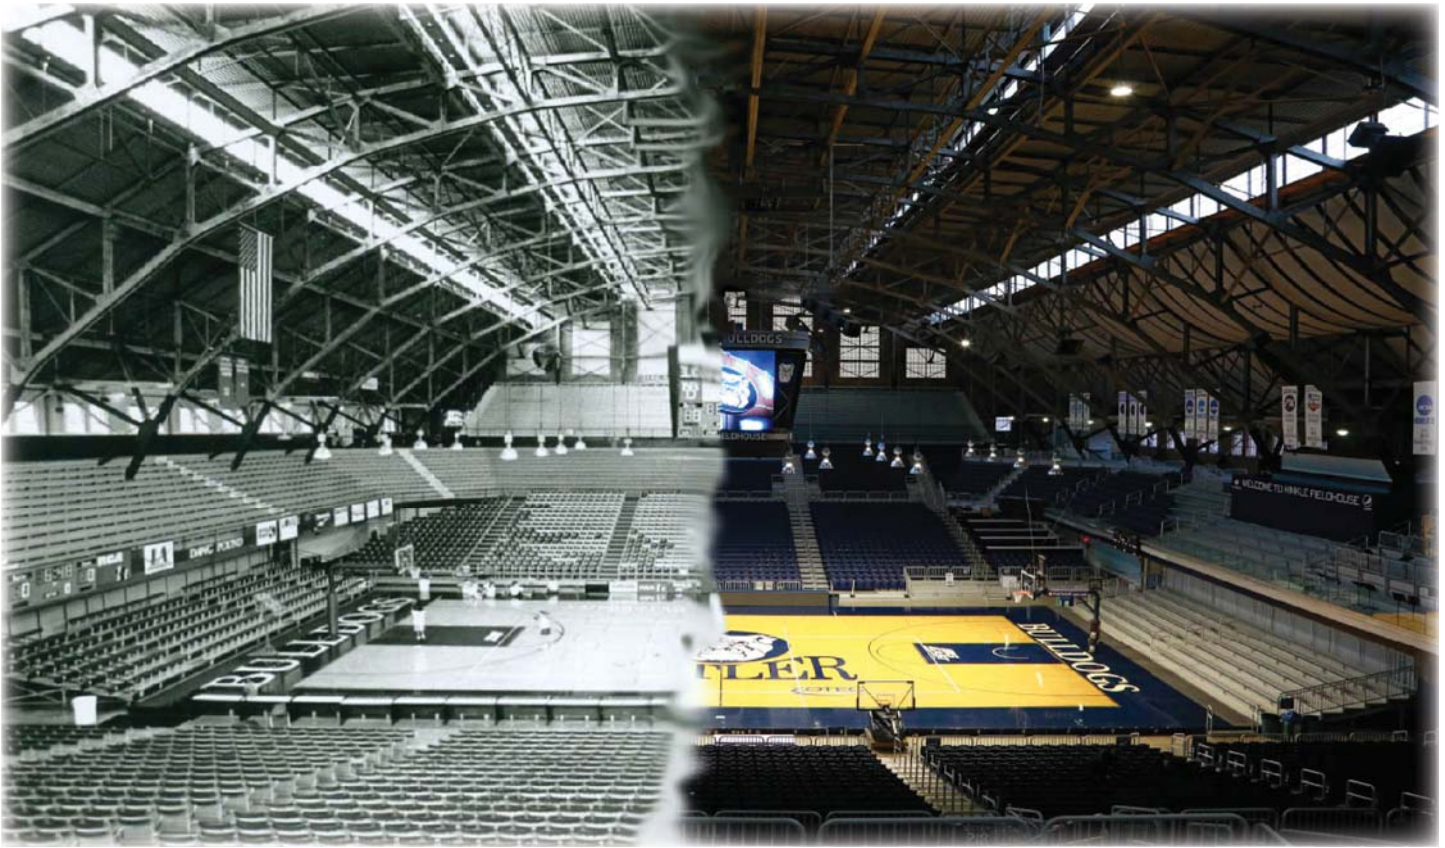

Collier's vision for an exceptional student-athlete experience is evident when one looks at the improvement in Butler's athletic facilities during recent years. Upgrades and/or expansion to the Davey Outdoor Track and Field, Butler Bowl, Bulldog Park (baseball), Butler Softball Field, Butler Tennis Courts, Butler Indoor Hitting Facility and Hinkle Fieldhouse have given BU's student-athletes improved spaces in which to build their teams, train, practice and compete.

Collier's loyalty to and belief in Butler began as a student, grew as an alum, increased as a coach and now has enlarged in his current role. Serving on the President's Cabinet, Collier supports the University's mission by assisting in the development and execution of its strategic direction. Teaming with multiple colleges and divisions of Butler, Athletics has collaborated on various initiatives to advance the university. From teaching an honors class on the history of Butler athletics, to collaborating with College of Education and College of Business projects, to working closely with the division of Advancement, Collier has worked to fully integrate Butler Athletics into the University.

Collier attended Miami Palmetto High School in Miami, Fla., and later received an Associate of Arts degree from Miami-Dade Community College. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Butler in 1976 and a Master of Science degree from Indiana State University in 1977. He has been a member of the National Association of Basketball Coaches for 36 years, and he was named to the NABC Board of Directors in 2002 and served through 2006. He and his wife, Annette, are the parents of Casey (married to McKenzie), a 2006 Nebraska graduate and a 2009 Nebraska Medical School graduate, Brady, a 2008 Nebraska graduate, and Clay, a 2011 Butler graduate.

HINKLE FIELDHOUSE - A TRUE COLLEGE SPORTS CATHEDRAL

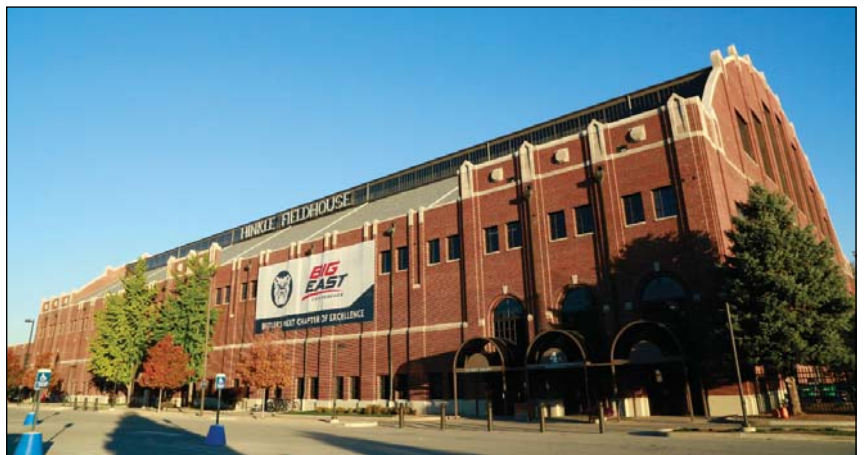

Hinkle Fieldhouse has reigned as one of the nation's great sports arenas for more than eight decades. The classic facility was constructed in 1928 and it has stood up to the test of time, maintaining the splendor, character and atmosphere that made it one of the nation's most famous basketball arenas more than half a century ago.

The original construction of Butler Fieldhouse was part of a massive project designed to give Butler one of the finest athletic plants in the nation. The project was financed by a corporation of 41 prominent and farsighted Indianapolis businessmen. Completion of the Fieldhouse was guaranteed when Butler signed a lease agreement with the Indiana High School Athletic Association allowing the high school state tournament to be played in the massive new facility. Butler's association with the IHSAA continued from 1928 to 1971, with a brief interruption during the war years, 1943-45.

Butler played its first basketball game in the Fieldhouse on March 7, 1928, defeating Notre Dame 21-13, in overtime. Since the Fieldhouse was not entirely completed at that time, the building dedication was held off until December 21, 1928. The name of the facility was changed in 1966 from Butler Fieldhouse to Hinkle Fieldhouse in honor of Butler's legendary coach and athletic director Paul D. "Tony" Hinkle, who built the University's athletic tradition over nearly half a century. In addition to being the home of Butler basketball, the Fieldhouse has served as host to six U.S. presidents (Herbert Hoover, Dwight Eisenhower, Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford, George H.W. Bush and Bill Clinton), the Billy Graham Crusade, the Sonja Henie Ice Show, four professional basketball teams, the U.S. Olympic basketball trials, the first USSR-USA basketball game, all-star basketball games for the NBA and ABA and the East-West College All-Stars, the nationally-prominent Butler Relays in track, tennis matches of both Bill Tilden and Jack Kramer, the 1982 World Goal Ball Championships, a three-ring circus, several equestrian events, the Roller Derby, a six-day bicycle race, and the popular movie "Hoosiers." The building also housed the U. S. military as a barracks during World War II.

"Go to a Saturday afternoon basketball game at Hinkle Fieldhouse, when the sunlight filters through the south windows. For that matter go to any game, any time, at Hinkle."

- Bill Benner, Indianapolis Star and News, Aug. 4, 1998

Constructed in 1928, Hinkle Fieldhouse is on the National Register of Historic Buildings. It's been the site of countless memorable basketball games and many basketball legends, including John Wooden, Oscar Robertson, George McGinnis and Larry Bird, have played on the Hinkle hardwood.

During the summer of 1987, Hinkle Fieldhouse again received national and international attention as the site for the volleyball competition at the 10th Pan American Games. The largest crowd ever to see a volleyball match in the United States (14,500) gathered in the Fieldhouse to see the USA defeat Cuba in the men's gold medal match.

When the Fieldhouse was originally constructed, it was the largest basketball arena in the United States and it retained that distinction for more than 20 years. Renovation in the early 1990's reduced the seating capacity from 15,000 to around 10,000, but the aura and atmosphere that made Hinkle Fieldhouse the nation's first great basketball arena remains.

When Hinkle Fieldhouse opened in 1928, the basketball floor ran east and west, which put more than half the seats at the ends of the court. The court was turned to its current configuration in the early 1930's.

Hinkle Fieldhouse was the site of the Indiana High School state championship from 1928 to 1971, except during World War II. Legendary games in the Fieldhouse gave birth to "Hoosier Hysteria."

SITE OF THE CLIMACTIC FINAL GAME IN "HOOSIERS"

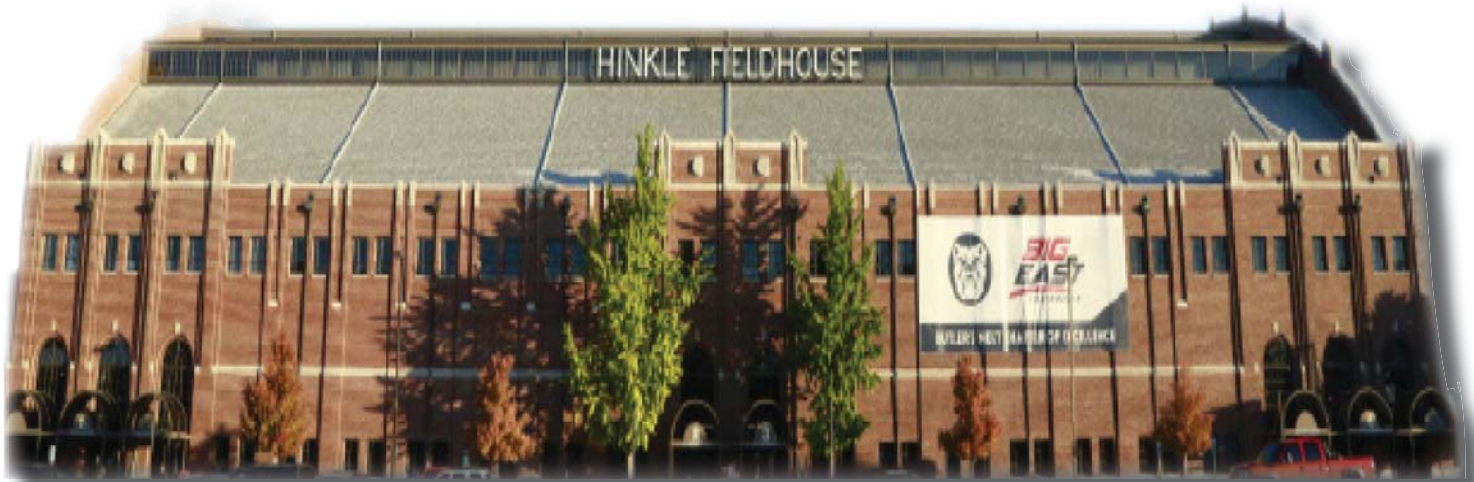

In December of 1985, Hinkle Fieldhouse was turned into a Hollywood stage for the filming of the popular movie Hoosiers, which has been recognized as one of the "Top 10" sports movies ever.

Hoosiers was based on the 1954 Indiana High School state championship game at Butler Fieldhouse when tiny Milan defeated Muncie Central, 32-30, on a last second shot by Bobby Plump.

HINKLE RENOVATIONS

The revitalization of the iconic, 120,000 square foot Butler University Hinkle Fieldhouse included updated scoreboards and digital advertising, enhanced seating, an academic center, training areas, and renovations to the concourses, restrooms, individual sports offices, locker facilities, pre-function areas, concessions and kitchen.

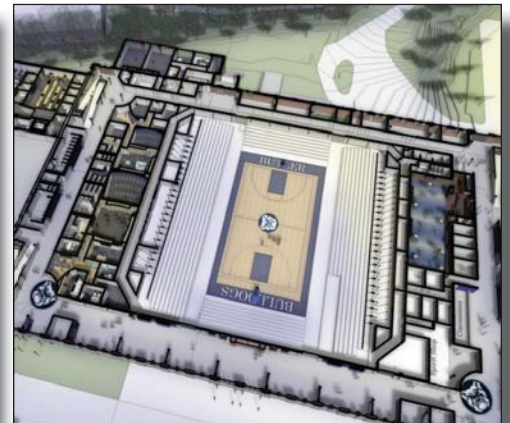

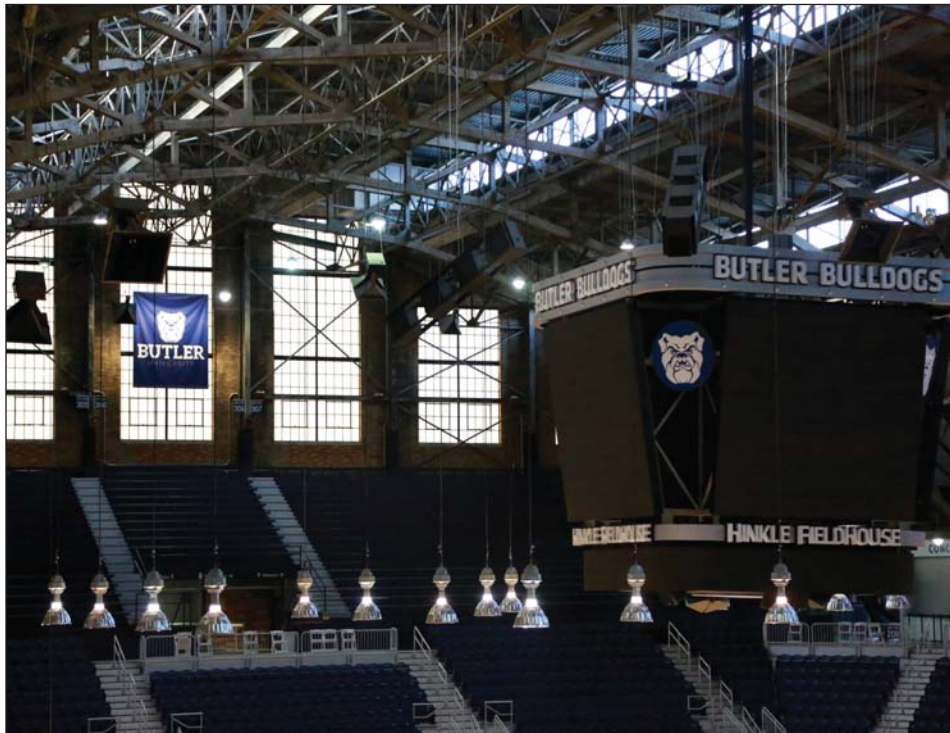

The project also included extensive mechanical, electrical and plumbing upgrades. The renovations have brought this historic fieldhouse to modern standards for the fan and student-athlete experience, as well as life safety and building efficiency. Extreme care was exercised to maintain the integrity of this National Historic Landmark.

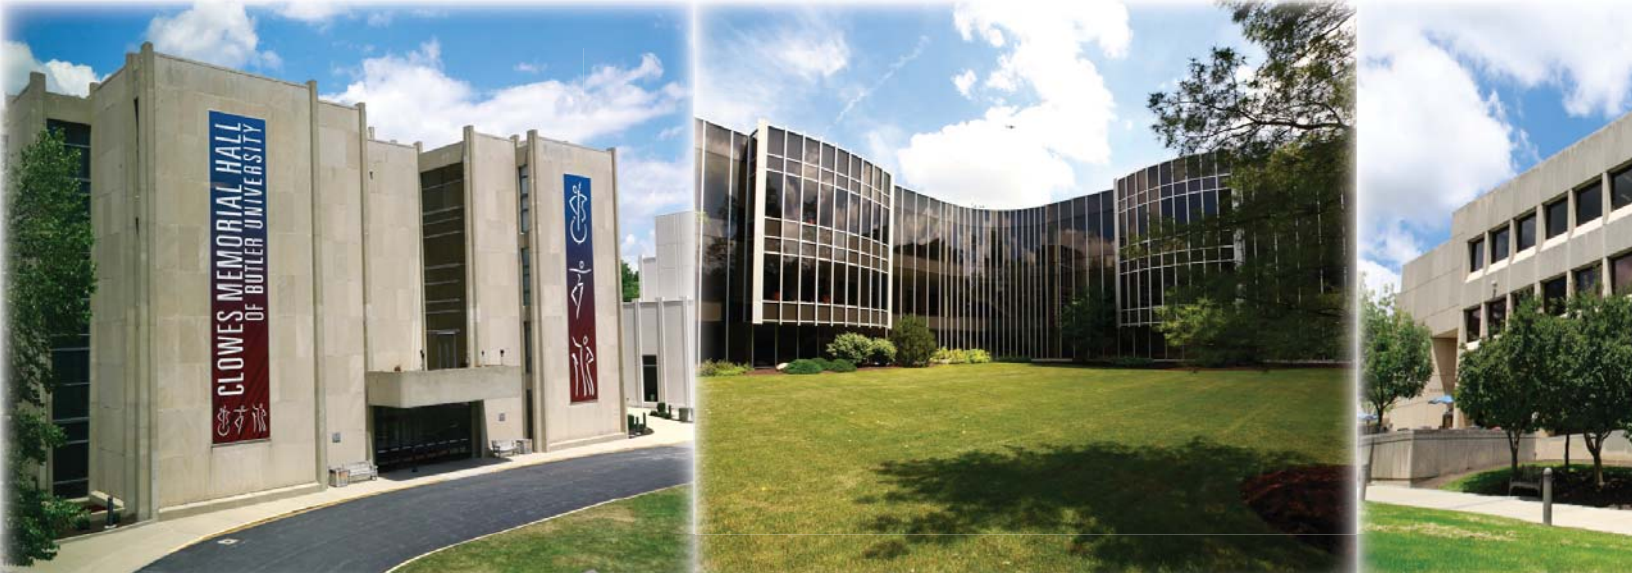

- Turner... AECOM, RATIO Architects

"The new space includes a state-of-the-art video room and a new locker room featuring custom lockers and individual changing stations."

INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis is the Nation's 13th largest city and is home to the Indiana Pacers, Indianapolis Colts, Indiana Fever, Indianapolis Indians, Indianapolis Motor Speedway and the BUTLER BULLDOGS!

THE CIRCLE CITY

Long recognized as the “Amateur Sports Capitol of the World”, Indianapolis plays host to the Indiana Pacers, the Final Four, the Indianapolis Colts, spectacular Victory Field, the Butler Bulldogs, the NCAA, and Bankers Life Fieldhouse.

Sports have played a key role in the development of the Hoosier state capital. Indianapolis gained an international reputation as host of the largest single-day sporting event in the world - the Indianapolis 500. In fact, the city hosts the two largest single-day sporting events in the world - the Indy 500 and the All-State 400 at the Brickyard. Indianapolis hosted the Pan American Games in 1987, the NCAA Men's Final Four in 1980, 1991, 1997, 2000, 2006, 2010, and 2015, the NCAA Women's Final Four in 2005, the World Gymnastics Championship in 1991, the World Basketball Championship in 2002, the World Swimming Championship in 2004, has hosted Olympic trials in swimming, diving, and synchronized swimming, national championships in gymnastics, boxing, track and field, rowing, canoe/kayak, swimming, diving, synchronized swimming, archery and ice skating, and numerous NCAA championships.

Indianapolis also boasts the Indiana Fever of the WNBA and the Triple-A Indianapolis Indians, a team that plays in one of the finest minor league baseball parks in the nation - Victory Field. The Hoosier capital houses the headquarters for numerous national amateur sports governing bodies, including the United States Gymnastics Federation, USA Track and Field, U. S. Diving, U. S. Synchronized Swimming and the United States Rowing Association. The Horizon League headquarters is located in Indianapolis and the NCAA national office moved to Indianapolis in 2001.

Indianapolis features a wide array of world-class sports facilities. Lucas Oil Stadium, the home of the Indianapolis Colts, hosted the 2010 NCAA Men's Basketball Final Four. The Indiana Pacers play in the 18,500-seat Bankers Life Fieldhouse. The city is home to the Indiana University Natatorium, featuring one of the fastest swimming pools in the world, the state-of-the-art National Institute for Fitness and Sport, the Indianapolis Tennis Center which houses 24 tennis courts and an 8,000-seat stadium, the 12,500-seat IU Track and Field Stadium, the Major Taylor Velodrome, historic Hinkle Fieldhouse and Victory Field.

EFFORT AND EXECUTION

Butler's 2016-17 roster features six returning letterwinners and six newcomers. Both Brittany Ward and Sydney Buck return as the only two players to start in all 31 games for the Bulldogs last season, while Tori Schickel, Michelle Weaver, Alexa Bailey and Taylor Buford all bring starting lineup experience from a year ago. Four of the six newcomers on this year's roster are true freshman with the exception of Whitney Jennings and Kaela Hodges, who come to Butler as transfers from Iowa and Wabash Valley, respectively.

"We want to be the team that gives the most effort, the team that executes at the highest level and the team that makes the fewest mistakes," Head Coach Kurt Godlevske said. "We think our newcomers will bring in a skill set that will allow us to do some more things both offensively and defensively. It is going to be exciting as a coach to be able to choose different types of lineups."

Despite returning six letterwinners, the Bulldogs don't have a single senior on this year's roster after the graduation of Blaire Langlois and Belle Obert. The coaching staff believes Buck, Schickel and Bailey will step in to fill that senior leadership void. To open the season, this young Butler team plays seven of their first 11 games at home, something coach Godlevske believes will serve the team well.

"We wanted to create an opportunity that allowed our young roster to play at home early in the season," Godlevske said. "The hope is that they get comfortable playing at Hinkle in an attempt to get some wins and boost the team's confidence before we start BIG EAST play."

Butler's most experienced player, Sydney Buck, will look to ignite the Butler offense with her ability to knock down the outside shot. As a sophomore, Buck eclipsed the 20-point mark four times and led the team in 3-point FG percentage (.354). Her 8.8 points per game ranked fourth on the team, but with the loss of sharpshooter Blaire Langlois, Buck will move into a larger role within the Bulldogs' offense.

"I think Sydney is the type of player that forces opponents to guard her," Godlevske said. "She creates a lot of opportunities for her teammates with her shooting ability and because she's experienced. Being a member of the BIG EAST All-Freshman team during her first season, she knows what it takes to be successful in the BIG EAST and that experience can be very valuable for this team."

The other player to start every game for Butler last season was Brittany Ward, a 6-1 forward that averaged 9.8 points per game to go along with 7.5 rebounds. Her ability to handle and shoot the ball coupled with her size make her a tough matchup for any opponent.

"I love Brittany's mindset coming into this season," Godlevske stated. "She has a sense of determination about her and she's out to prove what she is capable of doing."

Tori Schickel will move into a leadership role this year along with Buck. The Evansville native finished second on the team in scoring (11.8) a year ago while leading BU in rebounds (8.8). A constant double-double threat, Schickel broke out in her Butler debut last year by posting 29 points and 22 rebounds in the season opener against Valparaiso. The 6-1 forward was extremely efficient shooting 51.6% from the floor.

"I think that even though Tori is only a sophomore, she is one of the best players in the league," Godlevske added. "She can defend with her length, she runs the floor well and she's a scoring threat. Overall I see her as a rock for this program."

Two point guards will return to the Bulldogs for the upcoming season. Both Michelle Weaver and Alexa Bailey got experience running the point during their freshman campaigns. Weaver began the season as the starter, but a lower leg injury limited her to just 14 starts. Bailey took over for Weaver midway through the season to start the final 15 games. The two Indiana natives contrast each other with their styles of play. Weaver is more of a scoring threat whereas Bailey is a prototypical pass-first point guard.

"Bringing back two point guards that know our system is huge for this team," Godlevske said. "Both Michelle and Alexa know what we want to accomplish and are very important to our success."

Yet another returner for Butler is Taylor Buford, an athletic guard who has the ability to guard multiple positions. The sophomore appeared in 22 contests a year ago, averaging more than 15 minutes per game. Buford enters the season as one of the Bulldogs' better defenders, but hopes to improve her offensive production this year.

"Taylor is someone that can make things happen," Godlevske stated. "She is a player that can get out into passing lanes and create offense through her defense. Over the summer, Taylor worked hard on her offensive game. You can tell that she's more confident with her shot."

Complementing the returning experience for Butler are four true freshman and two transfers. Kaela Hodges comes to Butler after spending the past two seasons at Wabash Valley College where she was a two-year starter. Hodges led the team in scoring last year (13 ppg) while nearly averaging a double-double (9 rpg).

"Kaela is somebody we needed because she gives us depth," Godlevske said. "I wouldn't count Kaela out for competing for some serious playing time this year because she is athletic and very explosive off the dribble. I'll be excited to see where she falls into place because she's one of those kids that we can use in different lineups."

The other transfer is 2014 Indiana Miss Basketball recipient Whitney Jennings. The Logansport native returns to Indiana after starting in 62 games for the Iowa Hawkeyes over the past two seasons. As a sophomore, Jennings averaged 9.6 points, 3.1 rebounds and 3.0 assists per game while knocking down 40 three-pointers. Jennings will have to sit out this season due to the NCAA transfer rule, but can practice with the team.

"Whitney has played at a high level so she knows what good teams have to do to prepare," Godlevske said. "She knows how important practices are and she is going to give our guards someone to compete against so that when they get into game situations they will be ready. We are excited about the next two years when she gets to play, but still think that she will be an asset for our young kids this year."

Two freshman expected to make an immediate impact for BU this season are Kristen Spolyar and Sydney Shelton. Spolyar comes to Butler after an impressive senior year at Lebanon H.S. where she averaged 35.6 pts, 9.2 rebs, 5.3 steals and 4.2 assists per game. While at Lebanon, Spolyar set 17 school records and set the Indiana single-season scoring record with 1,031 points.

"The biggest thing that Kristen gives this team is her ability to score," Godlevske said. "She's scary for opponents when she gets on the floor because of how explosive she is with the ball. She's a big, strong guard that's very aggressive when attacking the rim."

Sydney Shelton is another talented guard expected to play valuable minutes for the Bulldogs. The 2016 Indiana All-Star was recognized as a First-Team All-State selection after a successful senior campaign where she averaged 23.5 pts per game to go along with 4.5 rebs.

"Sydney is constantly communicating to her teammates," Godlevske said. "She has deep range and as she grows within the program she is going to be someone that naturally falls under that leadership role because of the type of player that she is."

Shae Brey and Sarah Humphrey round out the newcomers. Coach Godlevske thinks each versatile player can give Butler an edge by being able to play multiple positions.

"Shae can help this team with her length," Godlevske said. "Her ability to defend and her overall knack to be around the ball will be big for us."

"Sarah can post up small guards or take big forwards out to the perimeter and beat them off the dribble," Godlevske stated. "She's got some things to figure out in terms of how to get better and compete every day, but she's a very smart intuitive kid. Once she figures that out, she will have a chance to be very special in the BIG EAST."

This year's team is a young and versatile bunch that Coach Godlevske believes can have success due to their size and diverse skill sets.

"I like how diverse this team is," Godlevske added. "We can score in a variety of ways and I think because of our length that we will be able to do more defensively. We will have the ability to play four shooters at the same time with a post player in the mix, or we also have the luxury to go big this year. Either way we will be able to accomplish things on each side of the ball with our versatility."

Kurt Godlevske will enter his third season as the head coach of the Butler women's basketball program in 2016-17. After his first two years at the helm, Godlevske has guided the Bulldogs to a 24-37 overall record.

The 2015-16 season was highlighted by the program's first-ever BIG EAST Tournament win as the Bulldogs defeated Xavier in the first round of action. Playing as the No. 9 seed, Butler held off the No. 8 seed Musketeers to post a one-point win 48-47.

The Bulldogs had a young roster in 2015-16 (six freshmen) that lacked depth with only 10 active student-athletes. The team played a tough non-conference schedule to prepare for the BIG EAST Conference season and fared well by picking up wins against teams from the ACC, American Athletic Conference, Big 12, and the SEC.

In his first season at Butler, Godlevske guided the Bulldogs to a 14-16 overall record that included a 10-8 conference record in the BIG EAST. 14 total wins during the 2014-15 season was significant for the coaching staff as it set a new school record for most wins recorded by a first-year head coach in Butler women's basketball history. Godlevske was able to motivate his inexperienced group of student-athletes that featured seven newcomers and not a single returning starter.

The 2014-15 team joined elite company by posting a perfect 8-0 record during the month of January. The Bulldogs had not gone undefeated during a full month of the regular season in the past 17 years. Victories during the winning-streak came against Providence (2x), Creighton, St. John's Marquette, Villanova, Georgetown, and Xavier.

Godlevske originally joined Butler as an assistant coach in the spring of 2013. After one full season as an assistant, Godlevske was tagged as the interim head coach, but that title would change on May 6 when A.D. Barry Collier named Godlevske the permanent head coach of the Bulldogs.

Prior to coaching at Butler, Godlevske spent seven years as girls' head coach at Bedford North Lawrence High School. He guided the Lady Stars to a 120-41 record, including a perfect 28-0 mark and the IHSAA Class 4A Girls' Basketball State Championship in 2013.

An all-state high school player in L'Anse, Mich., Godlevske played basketball at Northern Michigan University, and started his collegiate coaching career at NCAA Division II Lake Superior State University. He returned to the sideline as head coach of his alma mater in L'Anse, leading the school to a 40-9 record in two seasons before taking over at Bedford North Lawrence.

Godlevske earned his degree in physical education and health from Northern Michigan University in 1994. He earned a master's degree from University of Indianapolis in 2004 and a principal's license from Oakland City in 2008.

Kurt and his wife Beth are the proud parents of three children, Corrin, Noah and Katie.

Damon Bailey joined the Butler women's basketball program as an assistant coach in 2014. Bailey joined the program after guiding the Bedford North Lawrence women's basketball team to an IHSAA Class 4A State Title during the 2013-14 season. Head Coach Kurt Godlevske and Bailey worked together at Bedford North Lawrence for four seasons as the duo helped the Stars win a 2012-13 state title with Godlevske at the helm. Once Godlevske left BNL to become an assistant coach at Butler, Bailey took over the reins and guided the team to another state title.

Bailey began his coaching career at Bedford North Lawrence by coaching the men's program during the 2005-06 season. He resigned in March of 2007 after just two seasons, finishing with a 23-19 overall record. Bailey later returned to his alma mater, this time to join the women's coaching staff where he worked alongside Godlevske.

Bailey's background as a player is well documented as the former Indiana Mr. Basketball recipient would go on to be a four-year starter under Head Coach Bob Knight at Indiana University and eventually be selected with the 44th overall pick in the 1994 NBA Draft by the Indiana Pacers.

A household name in the state of Indiana and at Bedford North Lawrence High School, Bailey finished his high school career at BNL having appeared in three state Final Fours which featured a 1990 State Championship and a scoring record of 3,134 points.

Along with Indiana Mr. Basketball recognition, Bailey was also tabbed as a McDonald's All-American, the 1990 consensus National Player of the Year and later would be named to the AP Indiana All-Century high school basketball team.

After graduating from Bedford North Lawrence, Bailey went on to a stellar four-year career at Indiana University where he was named Big Ten Freshman of the Year in 1991 and AP All-American in 1994.

Bailey's immediate impact at IU helped the Hoosiers win 87 games during his first three seasons, a total that marked the most wins by any Big Ten team in a three-year span. Bailey finished sixth on Indiana's all-time scoring list with 1,741 points. He averaged 13.2 points, 3.5 rebounds and 3.6 assists per game for his career.

Julie Shelton returned to her alma mater in 2014 to become an assistant coach for the women's basketball program. Butler alums may be more familiar with Coach Shelton's maiden name, VonDielingen, as in the Julie VonDielingen that holds multiple scoring records in the women's basketball record book.

A 2006 Butler Athletic Hall of Fame inductee, Shelton is regarded as one of the top women's basketball players to ever wear a Butler uniform. She finished her career as Butler's all-time leading scorer and as the second all-time leading scorer in the Horizon League.

She's the only player in Butler women's basketball history to score over 2,000 career points, finishing with an all-time record 2,018 points.

She was a four-time, first team all-league performer, and she was named Midwestern Collegiate Conference Player of the Year in 1992-93.

The talented center was named District 4 Freshman of the Year by the U.S. Basketball Writers in 1989-90 and was picked to the All-America team by Basketball Times in 1992-93. She currently owns 11 Butler single game, single season and career basketball records.

Shelton's coaching career is equally as impressive as the former Butler standout spent 16 years at the post of the Mt. Vernon women's basketball high school team leading the Marauders to a 260-107 record during her tenure.

Recent success includes winning a 3A State Championship in 2013, reaching semi-state in 2012 and five sectional titles ranging from 2003, 2005, 2011, 2012, and 2013.

Numerous coaching awards have been handed to Shelton throughout her outstanding career some of which include being named NFHS State Coach of the Year in 2011-12, ICGSA State Coach of the Year in 2011-12, ICGSA District 4 Coach of the Year in 2010-11, and being a two-time IBCA District Coach of the Year in 2000 and again in 2012.

An exceptional player at Seymour H.S., Shelton was inducted into the Indiana High School Hall of Fame as a member of the Silver Anniversary Team in 2014. She left Seymour to continue her career at Butler and has only had one coaching job since as the head coach at Mt. Vernon.

Shelton earned her Bachelor of Science degree at Butler in elementary education in May of 1993. She went back to school to earn her Master's degree in special education at IUPUI in May of 2003.

Natalie Morse was hired as an assistant coach at Butler in June of 2016. Head Coach Kurt Godlevske promoted Morse who originally joined the women's basketball staff in 2014 as the Director of Basketball Operations.

Morse played basketball at Hanover College and continued her career while playing professionally for the Durham Wildcats in the University League. Her two-year stint as the Butler Director of Basketball Operations launched her young coaching career.

Morse attended Mitchell H.S. where she played shooting guard for the Bluejackets while competing against top rival Bedford North Lawrence where Godlevske then served as head coach. Upon high school graduation, Morse attended Hanover College from 2009-13. She helped guide her team to two NCAA DIII National Tournament Appearances. The shooting guard was a HCAC All-Tournament Team selection in 2011 and represented the team as a captain during her senior campaign.

The 2013 Hanover graduate was able to further her basketball career by signing a contract to play overseas for the Durham Wildcats women's basketball team. During her one season in England her team was on the verge of a championship as they were named University League National Champion Runner-Ups.

A psychology major at Hanover, Morse also earned her master's degree in development cognitive neuropsychology from Durham University.

Daress McClung returned to the Butler women's basketball program at the start of the 2016-17 season as the Director of Basketball Operations. The former Bulldog standout was a Second Team All-Atlantic 10 selection as well as a Second Team All-BIG EAST player during her two-year BU career.

"I couldn't be more excited to welcome Daress back to Butler to rejoin our women's basketball program," Head Coach Kurt Godlevske said. Having coached Daress during the 2013-14 season, I know she's a bright, hard-working, fantastic person that comes from a great family. Daress will be a valuable asset for our young ladies because she knows what it takes to succeed as a student-athlete at Butler and in the BIG EAST Conference. Welcome home Daress!"

McClung played her first two seasons of collegiate basketball at the University of Cincinnati before transferring to Butler. The versatile forward flourished during her first season as a Bulldog in 2012-13 by being recognized as the team MVP. She ended the year as a Second Team All-Atlantic 10 player while leading the team and ranking second in the league with a 16.4 scoring average. McClung nearly averaged a double-double as she also pulled down 9.0 rebounds per contest, ranking fifth in the A-10.

Year two as a Bulldog also went well with McClung earning Second Team All-BIG EAST honors. She averaged 15.5 points and 6.5 rebounds per game. McClung ended her senior campaign with six double doubles, including a 23-point, 12 rebound performance against UIC.

McClung attempted to continue her basketball career after graduation by signing a pair of professional contracts overseas. She most recently spent time with AI Spar Canaria of Las Palmas, Spain, but her season was cut short due to injury.

After returning to the states in 2015, McClung has been working as an educator proxy and admin assistant for Lawrence North High School. McClung earned her degree in organizational leadership and communications at Butler.

SPORTS MEDICINE

Butler student-athletes have access to a comprehensive sports medicine program that focuses on the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of athletic-related injuries. Under the supervision of Head Athletic Trainer Ryan Galloy, Butler's athletes are served by an extensive team of physicians, health care professionals and certified athletic trainers.

The Bulldogs' training room is located on the west end of Hinkle Fieldhouse, immediately behind the women's basketball office. The training room is divided into four areas - rehabilitation and injury management, athlete preparation, administration and storage - and is fully equipped to provide thorough rehabilitation.

Butler's athletic training staff provides care for Butler student-athletes at practices and games, while also maintaining daily hours for treatment and rehabilitation. The staff also works to educate Butler's student-athletes in the areas of injury prevention, nutrition and various wellness issues.

Butler's sports medicine program utilizes the extensive medical community in Indianapolis, which boasts one of the largest and most knowledgeable groups of sports medicine professionals in the nation. Butler student-athletes have access in Indianapolis to world-renowned medical facilities, as well as many of the leading physicians in the world of sports medicine.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT

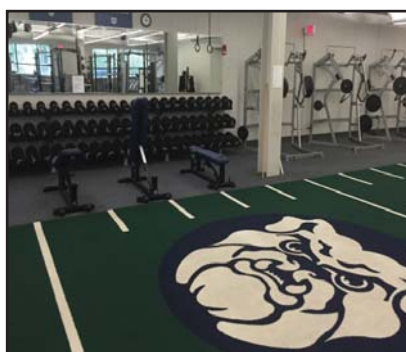

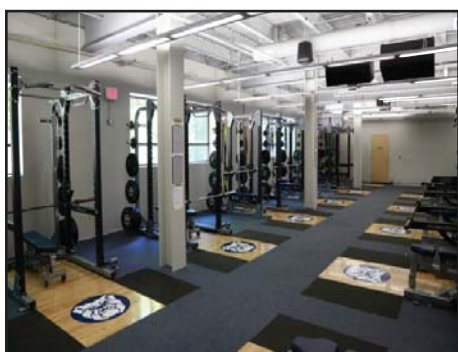

Balancing the demands of NCAA Division I athletics with the responsibilities of a rigorous academic schedule is one of the biggest challenges facing collegiate student-athletes. To help ease that challenge Butler provides a dedicated academic support system. The Athletic Academic Support Offices are located in Hinkle Fieldhouse, where coordinator Sonya Hopkins and staff are available to assist student-athletes in solving academic and non-academic problems.

Butler offers its student-athletes academic and career counseling, guidance in study skills and time management, and academic tutoring. The academic staff monitors each student-athlete's progress toward Butler's degree requirements. Support services for student-athletes are provided on a by-need or by-student/coach request basis. Butler teams and student-athletes have won numerous league and national academic awards.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

The purpose of Butler's strength training program is two-fold. One is to reduce the risk of injury and the second is to increase performance potential. By increasing the strength of each athlete's muscles, bones and connective tissues, the chance of incurring an injury while performing lessens. The increase in functional strength is also an important step toward reaching the athlete's athletic potential. The strength and conditioning program stresses flexibility, agility, jumping skills, speed and reaction time, as well as strength. The program utilizes free weights, strength machinery, manual resistance and additional innovative techniques to help maximize the chance for Butler athletes to succeed.

The center of Butler's strength and conditioning program is the 4,000-square foot weight training room located in Hinkle Fieldhouse. The weight room, which features an entire outside wall of glass, is stocked with free weights, weight machines, stationary bikes, stairmasters, and related apparatus, and allows Butler athletes to train in an open and comfortable environment.

TRAVEL

The bus used by the Butler women's basketball program for road games features all-electric plush recliners for the players as well as a lounge area at the rear. The fleet also comes complete with multiple flat panel TVs, two satellite systems with Direct TV®, twin DVD systems, on-board rest room and a galley area complete with ice chests. Wireless internet access is also available throughout the bus.

Charter flights will also be involved for the women's basketball program during the 2016-17 season. These private planes are provided by Million Air, the world's premier provider of private aviation services. The 30-seat plane comes equipped with wide-screen plasma TVs, work stations, and WIFI.
