HAAS PAVILION

On the same site where beloved Harmon Gym stood for more than 60 years, the Walter A. Haas Jr. Pavilion has risen as a state-of-the-art sports facility that retains the old building's famous spirit.

The current arena opened in the fall of 1999 and has 11,877 seats - almost twice the capacity of its predecessor. And although the structure is 37 feet taller and 28 feet wider than Harmon, it continues to keep fans close to the action.

Haas Pavilion is very much an assertion of Cal's commitment to athletics - from the administration and faculty, down through the alumni who made the entire project possible.

When the construction of Haas was first proposed, alumni and fans wanted to ensure that the intimidating homecourt advantage Harmon provided could be maintained in a building twice its size. Haas was created specifically with this in mind.

Consequently, sound-baffling devices were omitted intentionally, and student seating has doubled from 1,300 seats in Harmon to 2,600 seats in Haas, with about 900 courtside. In an attempt to keep Haas as intimate as Harmon, designers built the arena with the last row of seats just 88 feet from the floor. Nearly 2,000 club seats with chair backs have been installed in the arena. Fans also enjoy wider corridors and a quadrupling of the number of restrooms and concession areas. The arena features two high-resolution video boards, more than 50 television monitors throughout the building and a team store. The elegant Haas Club Room, which overlooks Evans Baseball Diamond, provides a spacious banquet area.

The idea of a new building to replace the aging Harmon Gym, which was built in 1933, first surfaced in the mid-1970s under then-Athletic Director Dave Maggard. During the next 20 years, a number of studies were done to determine the feasibility of a multitude of options.

Construction on Haas Pavilion began just after the final game at Harmon in March 1997 and finished in time for the start of the 1999-2000 basketball season.

SAM CROSSON

HEAD COACH

Sam Crosson enters his third year at the helm of the Cal program after leading the Golden Bears to a 20-10 record in 2019, followed by a 1-21 mark during the COVID impacted, conference-only spring schedule in 2020-21. 2019 marked the first 20-win campaign since the 2013 season for Cal, falling just short of an NCAA Tournament bid. Crosson coached Mima Mirkovic to AVCA Pacific North All-Region honors in 2019, and four players earned All-Conference honors (Mirkovic, Preslie Anderson, Lauren Forte, Maddie Haynes).

Cal spent eight weeks of the 2019 season ranked in the Top-25 of the AVCA Coaches Poll.

Crosson, a two-time Big West Coach of the Year, returned to Berkeley to lead the program after seven seasons at Cal Poly, where he successfully rebuilt a Mustangs program into a national contender with back-to-back postseason runs in 2017 and '18.

He was an assistant at Cal from 2010-12 under longtime head coach Rich Feller, when the Bears made consecutive NCAA tournament appearances, including the program's lone appearance in the title game in 2010. The Bears also claimed the Pac-10 trophy that season.

In his 20 years of collegiate coaching experience, Crosson has become a pillar of Bay Area collegiate volleyball with stops at Santa Clara and Saint Mary's, where he assisted both women's programs. He began his coaching career as a men's volleyball assistant at nearby Pacific, his alma mater. As a head coach Crosson owns an overall record of 116-83, all with the Mustangs.

Touted as a technician, Crosson was named the AVCA Pacific North and Big West Coach of the Year in 2017 after leading the Mustangs to their most successful season in program history with a 27-3 record. Cal Poly also picked up a Big West title after going undefeated in league play, seven all-conference members, three AVCA All-Americans, and made an appearance in the second round of the NCAA tournament. Additionally, the Mustangs' Taylor Nelson, who was one of 12 players selected to the U.S. Women's Collegiate National Team Thailand Tour earlier in the spring, was named Big West Player of the Year.

That same year, Crosson also led Cal Poly to its first sweep of perennial powerhouse Hawai'i since 1985 in front of the team's first sellout crowd since 2006 at Mott Athletics Center.

Crosson doubled-down on 2017's success this past season when the Mustangs earned their highest national ranking (11th) since 2008 and were just two wins shy of 2017's record (25-3). Again, Cal Poly clinched the conference title, added six players to the All-Big West team and made it to the post season, while Crosson picked up his second consecutive conference coach of the year honor. The Mustangs closed the season ranked 22nd, which was also highlighted by a pair of AVCA All-America nods for Adlee Van Winden and Torrey Van Winden, who was named the Big West Player of the Year. It was the second such honor for both sisters and the first back-to-back All-Americans for the program since 2010.

The Mustangs' also finished 2018 ranked sixth nationally in match win-loss percentage (.893) and seventh in hitting percentage (.290).

The past two seasons at Cal Poly were a far cry from where the program started during Crosson's first year at the helm, when the team went 4-26. However, the Crosson effect had been established and improvement was noticed immediately following a difficult start.

The next season in 2013, the Mustangs posted their first of six consecutive double-digit win seasons. They also picked up a pair of all-conference honors in senior Chelsea Hardin (first team) and freshman Taylor Gruenewald (honorable mention and freshman team), who became a first team honoree her junior and senior seasons.

Cal Poly's 2015 squad went 19-8 overall, a 10-match turnaround from 2014, earned the team a third-place conference finish, which was the best since 2010. Cal Poly landed four players on the All-Big West First Team, including Gruenewald, Nelson and Raeann Greisen and outside hitter Adlee Van Winden. Van Winden also won the Big West Conference Freshman of the Year.

During the 2016 season, Cal Poly finished with a record of 19-9 and third in the conference standings for a second straight season. Some of the season highlights included a six-match winning streak and a win over No. 19 Western Kentucky. Three players were named All-Conference First Team, including middle blocker Gruenewald, Nelson, and Greisen. Nelson also earned AVCA All-Region honors, the first Mustang to receive the honor since 2011.

Regarded for his recruiting, Crosson has coached 21 all-conference honorees and entering the 2014 campaign, Cal Poly's recruiting class was ranked 23rd nationally by PrepVolleyball.com.

Crosson graduated from Pacific in 1997 with a bachelor's degree in sports sciences. He then earned his master's in sports sciences from Pacific in 2005.

One of the top attackers in program history during his playing career at Pacific (1994-97), Crosson still ranks third all-time in aces (86), fifth in digs (689), sixth in hitting attempts (2,117), seventh in kills (948), 15th in total blocks (218), 17th in kills per set (2.88) and 22nd in total assists (119). Also ranked 14th in Pacific history with 329 sets played, Crosson was voted team Most Valuable Player for the 1997 season.

As a professional, Crosson played one season for Herentals Volleyball Club in Belgium. A native of Santa Cruz, Crosson and his wife, Courtney, have two daughters, Makenna and Logan.
