2016 MEDIA GUIDE

CAMPBELL UNIVERSITY

On Jan. 5, 1887, James Archibald Campbell, a 26-year-old Baptist minister, welcomed 16 students to a small church in Buies Creek, North Carolina, for the first day of classes for the school he founded: Buies Creek Academy. By the end of the first term, there were 92 students.

Since then, Buies Creek Academy has evolved to become Campbell Junior College (1926), Campbell College (1961), and Campbell University (1979). Throughout these transformations, the university has remained true to its founding principles to address the most pressing needs of North Carolina and to educate men and women for Christian service around the world.

A testimony to how these founding principles still guide Campbell University today is the establishment of three new schools in the last two years. Campbell launched the School of Osteopathic Medicine — North Carolina's first new medical school in over 35 years — in 2013. In 2016, it will open the doors to its eighth and ninth schools, nursing and engineering.

They join Campbell's other established schools — College of Arts & Sciences, the Norman Adrian Wiggins School of Law (1976), the Lundy-Fetterman School of Business (1983), the School of Education (1985), the College of Pharmacy & Health Sciences (1985) and the Divinity School (1996). In addition to its main campus in Buies Creek, Campbell University has extended campuses in the Research Triangle Park, Camp Lejeune, Fort Bragg/Pope Air Force Base, and Raleigh, where the law school relocated to in 2009.

Today, Campbell University enrolls nearly 6,500 students, including more than 4,500 undergraduate and graduate students on its main campus. They're studying across nearly 100 disciplines in the liberal arts, health sciences and professions — and continuing the university's tradition of excellence in faith, learning, and service.

2016 Campbell Fighting Camels Season Outlook

The commitment to prepare takes hard work, determination and focus. When a team is committed to the preparation of an upcoming season, the confidence to perform will follow. The Campbell men's soccer team has adopted that philosophy throughout the 2016 preseason, and now the regular season is here.

Preparation starts with working hard on the training field. That work ethic translates to film sessions, workouts in the weight room and ultimately in the classroom. If the preparation is there, the results will follow.

"The reason we strive to be committed to prepare is to be confident to perform," said Campbell's second-year head coach Dustin Fonder. "I want the guys to put in the work so on gameday they are ready for the challenge. That is our motto. If we do those things, we can have success."

The Camels took a big step in returning to a winning culture last year in Fonder's first season in the Creek. CU experienced a five-win turnaround from the previous campaign and finished over .500 for the first time since 2012. Campbell played in its first Big South Championship semifinal since re-joining the league in 2011 after a thrilling 3-2 victory over Longwood in the quarterfinal match on its home turf.

The league took notice as well. The conference's head coaches voted the Camels fourth in the 2016 preseason poll, the same spot they finished in 2015. However, this is a new squad from the one that took the field last season. CU returns 13 of 23 lettermen and welcomes 13 newcomers to the roster. Coach Fonder was pleased in the way that last year turned out, but still has an eye towards the future.

"I feel we probably overachieved by most people's estimation last year," said Fonder. "That group should be proud of their accomplishments, so now we just have to make sure we keep building and have continued success season-after-season. Once you establish a culture of winning and start playing for results, those things will live on from the season before. The pillars are in place, we just have to continue to build them."

The weight of the pillars falls on the shoulders of a young team. 22 of the 29 players on the roster are underclassmen, and nine of those players started the Camels' preseason exhibition against Elon. Two members of the sophomore class landed on the Big South all-freshman and all-conference squads last season. The freshmen class features European club standouts with international playing experience and seven former United States Olympic Development Program members.

Trying to find the group's identity has been a trying task throughout the preseason. Blending together so many different playing styles from around the world can be challenging, and that is a challenge facing the Camels' coaching staff.

"As coaches, we have to learn our personnel and find what playing style fits that personnel," Fonder stated. "We have looked for that throughout the preseason and we are getting closer to knowing what we are going to do for the Wilmington game. It's an extremely young group, but we definitely see a lot of positives in our newcomers."

One of the main strengths of this year's Camels squad is athleticism, but the back line appears to be as strong as any Campbell team of the past. Sophomore Daniel Mukuna, a 2015 All-Big South selection, headlines the unit and Travis Gonzalez returns after appearing in 15 contests last season.

That duo appears poised to occupy the two central defender positions while two new faces look to appear on the outside spots. Freshmen Edward Fulwood (Manchester, England) and Sam Orisatoki (Thamesmead, England) have stood out in preseason camp and will see significant time on the wings.

2016 Campbell Fighting Camels Season Outlook

CU also returns senior Matt Martinez, who started all 19 matches last season.

"I believe the back four will be a unit that the rest of the team can rely on," said Fonder. "In tough times they can be our anchor. We are really excited to see Daniel lead this backline. He has a chance to be one of the top center backs in this league, not just on our team, but the Big South as a whole. He's strong, athletic and has really improved as a soccer player since he's been here at Campbell. Travis complements him well, both of them have good size and can be the anchors in the center of the defense.

"We feel that we really have upgraded on the outsides and that excites us. On the right we have Edward Fullwood, who we think can be the best right back in the whole league. He has that type of talent. Then we have Sam Orisatoki who is another freshman and a true attacking left back. So when you have two good anchors back in the center you can really release those guys in the attack more often."

Backing up the defense is junior goalkeeper Matt Mozynski. He has 31 career starts with 147 saves and a 2.58 goals against average. He made 101 saves as a sophomore, which tied for ninth in CU history. Also returning is sophomore Jeff Kennedy, who made five starts in 2015 and finished with a 4-1 record, all in Big South play. He compiled a 1.55 goals against average and a .742 save percentage.

"We are fortunate in goal," said Fonder. "Matt has emerged as the starter and done well in his opportunities so far. We also have Jeff, who has played in real matches and is a very competent backup that won some big matches for us last year. Any direction we go in we'll be okay because we have guys that know how to come in and manage a match."

In the midfield, the Camels return 2015 All-Big South selection Josh Signey and will feature freshman Gideon Betz (Schlüchtern, Germany) in the center positions. Campbell has many different options in the other midfield positions. Sophomore Sam Butts returns after playing in all 19 contests last season and junior Pepe Rangel brings experience as well. Sophomore Gabe Parrish and freshman Clayton Wirth (Crestwood, Ky.) will also add depth in the position.

"Right now Gideon and Josh are two guys that we are looking at as holding midfielders," said Fonder. "They both have good range of passing and both are honest, hard working, and tough to tackle. We can count on them centrally and then out wide we have a lot of different options. We have some flank players that can provide some different things and that's the group that really has some athleticism."

In the forward positions, sophomore Seth Jones is the team's leading returning scorer. Freshman Helgi Thor Jónsson (Granour, Iceland) will add depth up top after leading his junior club in scoring last season and earning 2015 MVP honors. Parrish and Wirth could also see time up top, giving the Camels options in the attack.

"We will look to Seth and Helgi in the forward positions, but our forwards and wingers are interchangeable in the system we play now," said Fonder. "We want to hit people with numbers and fresh legs. So I think our versatility could be a major asset."

The 2016 schedule is a 20 match slate featuring four contests against 2015 NCAA Tournament participants. It includes 10 regular season matches at the Eakes Athletic Complex, the most since 2003. Campbell kicks things off against a familiar foe UNCW Friday. The Camels have faced the Seahawks more than any other opponent in their 53-year history with the first match dating back to 1966. Friday's contest will mark their 51st meeting with CU holding a narrow 26-22-2 edge in the all-time series.

"We are really excited about the challenging schedule that we have put together for the boys," said Fonder. "We were able to secure 10 home matches and now must get our team prepared to defend home turf. We also need to see all of the Campbell community come out and be our 12th man."

The commitment to preparation is a tough task. The confidence to perform is the ultimate reward but isn't an easy task to achieve. The team must be up for the challenge and become fully committed to living up to last year's success. A winning culture is hard to achieve but easy to abandon. The pillars truly have been built, it's now up to the team to strengthen the foundation.

"We are going to have a good product on the field," Fonder stated. "It will be a hard-working product, we can guarantee that, one of the hardest working products in the league. Overall, we are really just excited about all the positives going on here at Campbell athletics. We are pleased with our new bench area and our new offices and locker room are all positives. We have already seen a big offseason return for our recruiting.

"We are building towards something much bigger. That is year in and year out championship consistency, where every season we are picked in the top two and make it to the finals. That's the goal of the program, that's what we all want."

Head Coach Dustin Fonder

Dustin Fonder is in his second season at Campbell after being named the head coach on June 9, 2015.

Fonder made an immediate impact in his first season at the helm in 2015. Coming off a five-win campaign in 2014, the Camels doubled their win total with a 10-9 overall record and claimed the program's first winning season since 2012.

CU won its first postseason contest since re-joining the Big South Conference in 2011, knocking off Longwood 3-2 in dramatic fashion in the championship's quarterfinal matchup at the Eakes Athletic Complex. The Camels advanced to their first appearance in a conference semifinal matchup since the 2009 season.

Fonder mentored sophomore Bradley Farias, who earned Big South Attacking Player of the Year honors and became the eighth Campbell player to earn a conference's top award and the first since 2009. Farias' 15 goals ranked third in NCAA Division I. In addition, Josh Signey and Daniel Mukuna were named to the All-Big South second team and All-Freshman squad.

Fonder took over the Fighting Camel program after guiding High Point University to school records for Big South and overall wins over eight seasons.

Twice named Big South Conference Coach of the Year, Fonder led the Panthers to a 39-19-10 (.647) record in league play and a 78-63-18 overall (.547) in eight seasons. His team won the 2010 Big South regular season title with an 8-0-0 record and has earned the school's first men's soccer Division I national ranking.

Under Fonder's guidance, High Point earned national rankings, produced three Major League Soccer draft picks and its recruiting classes were consistently rated among the nation's best.

After taking over the High Point program in 2007, Fonder's teams did not suffer a losing campaign since that first year. His 2009 squad finished second in the Big South standings before claiming the regular season title and a tourney players have been recognized on the Big South all-conference teams.

Fonder recruited and coached three Panthers who earned Big South freshman of the year honors -- Shawn Sloan (2009), Adam Sewell (2010), Kody Palmer (2012) -- plus the 2010 Big South player of the year Karo Okiomah.

Under Fonder's guidance, three High Point players were chosen in the MLS draft -- Scott Rojo (2011), Okiomah (2012) and Sloan (2013). Okiomah also became the first player to earn NSCAA All-American honors in HPU's Division I history.

Furthermore, High Point earned five-consecutive NSCAA Team Academic Awards through 2014. Sloan was a two-time Academic All-America selection by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA).

His 2010 squad ranked fourth in the nation in scoring and eighth in won-lost percentage (16-4-1), spurring a run of three-straight seasons in which High Point led the Big South in total attendance. High Point's 2011, 2012 and 2013 recruiting classes were ranked among the nation's best.

From 2003-2006, Fonder served as assistant coach at Elon University where he helped the program improve from an RPI of 164 in 2004 to the school's first men's soccer national ranking in 2006.

Before accepting the position at Elon, Fonder was an assistant men's and women's soccer coach at his alma mater, Roanoke College, from 1998-2002. While at Roanoke, Fonder helped lead the Maroons to three Old Dominion Athletic Conference titles and NCAA Division III tournament berths. He recruited and coached 30 All-ODAC performers, three ODAC rookies of the year and two ODAC players of the year.

Fonder holds the USSF "A" license, has extensive involvement in coaching at the club level. He served as director of coaching for the Burlington Soccer Club from 2003-06 before assuming responsibilities as technical director of the Piedmont Triad Football Club in 2007. He has also served as a head coach of the North Carolina Olympic Development Program.

He graduated from Roanoke College in 1994 with a Bachelor of Science degree in health and physical education. Fonder was named the 1993 NCAA Division III player of the year before going on to a professional career in the USISL and NPSL from 1995-99.

A 2006 Roanoke College Hall of Fame inductee, Fonder also played for the men's basketball team and still holds the school career record for assists.

Fonder and his wife, Kim, are parents of daughter Dakota and son Deklan.

Assistant Coach Tom Pool

Tom Pool is in his first season as an assistant coach for the Camels. Pool serves as the coordinator of international recruiting, film analysis and all other day-to-day aspects of the program.

Pool came to Buies Creek after spending last season as an assistant coach at Wright State University. He helped lead the Raiders to a 12-8-1 overall record and a trip to the Horizon League championship match.

During his tenure, Wright State ranked as high as No. 20 in the country according to Top Draw Soccer, which was the highest ranking in school history. Pool served as the Raiders' international recruiting coordinator in addition to day-to-day coaching responsibilities.

Pool, a native of Bedfordshire, England, spent the 2013-14 seasons as an assistant at the University of the District of Columbia. He helped turn the Firebirds into an East Coast Conference contender as they rose to No. 21 in the 2014 NSCAA Division II national rankings.

Pool began his coaching career at his alma mater, Slippery Rock University, during the 2011 and 2012 seasons. He helped the Rock maintain its top 20 national ranking during his coaching stint and assisted with all areas of the team. Pool was a two-time all-American, all-region and all-conference selection as a player at Slippery Rock and was a key member of its 2009 conference championship team.

Assistant Coach Jeremy Wisdo

Jeremy Wisdo is in his first season as an assistant coach at Campbell. Wisdo serves as the coordinator of domestic recruiting, opponent scouting, alumni relations and all other day-to-day aspects of the program.

Wisdo returned to the sidelines after previously serving as a head coach at Eckerd College. During his tenure, he helped guide Eckerd to its first national ranking in 11 years and its highest conference regular season finish since 1992.

Wisdo's Tritons claimed back-to-back 11-win seasons for the first time since 1975 and its highest single-season win total since 1978. He mentored multiple All-Sunshine State Conference selections and NSCAA all-region honorees during his tenure.

Wisdo began his coaching career with a five-year stint as an assistant at UNC Wilmington from 2001-2006. While at UNCW, he helped the program improve from a three-win season in 2001 into a nationally ranked program by 2004. The Seahawks were once again nationally ranked in 2005 and advanced to the semifinals of the Colonial Athletic Association Championship for the first time in school history.

Wisdo graduated with a bachelor's degree from UNC Asheville in 2001. He played two seasons with the Bulldogs and was a two-time All-Big South selection. Wisdo is married to his wife Jennifer and they have two children, Claire (7) and Ethan (5).

Assistant Coach Matt Brewster

Matt Brewster is in his first season as an assistant coach for the Campbell men's soccer team. Brewster is serving as the team's goalkeeping coach in addition to all other day-to-day aspects of the program.

Brewster, a native of Portsmouth, United Kingdom, has spent the past four years in the United States serving in various capacities surrounding youth club soccer. He was the Youth Soccer Academy Director for Premier UK Soccer for Mebane and East Wake County North Carolina. Brewster selected and trained top players in the academy's nine elite teams and helped coach the 2013 U15 boys US national champions.

Brewster served as head coach for U11, U13, U14, U15 boys and U14 girls classic teams while working with goalkeepers on all PUK squads. He also developed player assessments, scouting reports and evaluations while managing assistant coaches and club presidents throughout the academy.

Brewster has worked for the West Ham United International Academy as a scout and national camp coach since 2012. He identified and recruited players throughout the United States by visiting local clubs for coaching engagements. He also developed and ran outfield and goalkeeper sessions at national camp in Georgia, where standout players were selected to train at West Ham United Academy in London.

Brewster has been the goalkeeping coach for the North Carolina Olympic Development Program (ODP) since 2012. He has ran Elite Goalkeeper sessions for the goalkeepers of North Carolina while selecting premier players and placing them on N.C. teams to compete against other states.

While in Portsmouth, Brewster worked with the Portsmouth Football Club Respect Programme (PFCRP) as a coach for four seasons. PFCRP provides at-risk teenagers and young adults an opportunity to obtain high-quality soccer coaching in a supportive, structured environment.

Brewster developed community-based matches to increase local involvement, where youth teams played police and fire services. His 2010 U14 team qualified for the Southern England Kickz Cup, took third place and qualified for national finals where they finished second at Manchester United's stadium, Old Trafford.

Brewster graduated from Southampton Solent University in Southampton, UK with a Bachelor of Arts honours degree in football studies. Campbell Soccer Facilities

In the near quarter century since the Campbell University Soccer Stadium opened, spectators have witnessed some of the highest moments in Fighting Camel soccer history and observed the skills of many of the top stars in college play at the facility.

Located on the north border of the Buies Creek campus within the Marion and Mary Eakes Athletics Complex, the Stadium was dedicated in 1986. Since then, many improvements have been made within the complex, most notably the construction of the McLeod Athletic Training Facility during the summer of 2004 in the east end zone.

Named in honor of long-time university benefactors, Bernard and Virginia McLeod of Fuquay-Varina, the McLeod Athletic Training Facility serves as home for Campbell's nationally-accredited sports medicine program, as well as providing locker room space for the varsity men's and women's soccer and softball teams.

Opened in August 2004, the facility includes a 2,000 square-foot athletic training room, the primary space for Campbell's Athletic Training curriculum. It also contains four locker rooms, plus offices for the athletic training staff, plus the men's and women's soccer staff.

In the summer of 2016, locker room and office renovations were completed at the McLeod Facility. In addition, a brand new conference room was built available to be used by all three Camel programs. Separate spaces inside the building, as well as separate entrances, were designed for each program with additional office space added for assistant coaches.

Situated in the east end of the Marion and Mary Eakes Athletics Complex, the McLeod Facility frames one end of the Campbell Soccer Stadium. Public rest room facilities for home soccer and softball games are also located on the north side of the red brick structure.

Lights were added at the Stadium prior to the 1994 season to allow for play after dark. A new scoreboard was erected at the southwest end of the field prior to the 2002 campaign. A new Campbell Soccer windscreen, complete with logos and graphics, was added in 2008, while a brick and wrought iron fence was erected in 2009.

The most noticeable addition to the soccer field at the Eakes Complex is the new permanent bench area and press box, also added in the summer of 2016. The brick facade houses permanent benches for each team as well as a multi-use storage closet.

The new pressbox houses two rows of seating for game operations, statistics, music, media and broadcasting. The upper level features the best view of the Eakes Athletic Complex ever seen in the facilities' 30-years of operation. Also housed on that level is a video platform used for television and internet broadcasting as well as team video use.

The final additions made to the Eakes Complex in 2016 was a brand new sound system and lighting system.

In addition to the Soccer Stadium, two soccer practice fields, the Campbell Softball Field and the James Nisbet Tennis Center are located at the Eakes Complex.

In 1993, the men's team established its best-ever record at the facility, winning all nine of its matches at home. The Camels matched that perfect home regular season with an 8-0-0 mark in 2008 and finished 9-1-0 at the stadium for the year. In 27 seasons at the Stadium, Campbell's men own a 153-84-9 home field record (.640).

Campbell's men knocked off two nationally-ranked teams in 1988 when the Fighting Camels posted an 8-0 regular season record at the Stadium. Third-ranked North Carolina and 10th-ranked Duke fell victim that year to the Fighting Camels in Buies Creek.

In 2005, the Camels defeated 23rd-ranked Davidson at the Eakes Athletics Complex, marking the program's first win over a nationally-ranked team in 17 years. CU also clinched the Atlantic Sun Conference regular season championship with a 3-2 win over Florida Atlantic, improving its home field record against A-Sun foes in the year to 4-0-0.

Campbell's men notched an 8-1-0 record at home in 2006, when the Camels again led the Atlantic Sun with an average attendance of 639. CU twice set Eakes Complex attendance records in a 1-0 victory over third-ranked North Carolina (1481) and a 4-0 triumph over Lipscomb on Homecoming (1857). CU led the A-Sun in men's soccer home attendance during '05 and 2006.

In 2007, the Camels finished second among A-Sun schools in home attendance, averaging 420 spectators per outing, with a high of 1056 for a homecoming win over USC Upstate. Campbell was also one of only three A-Sun schools to average more than 300 spectators at its home women's soccer contests in 2007.

The Camels again led the A-Sun in home attendance (479) in 2008, including a yearly-high 1187 spectators, who witnessed CU's third straight victory over (7th-ranked) North Carolina. Campbell hosted the 2008 and 2009 A-Sun Championship tournaments after winning the regular season title each year.

In 2011, Campbell drew with nationally-ranked Furman in the season opener at the Eakes Complex and knocked off ACC member NC State 1-0 in extra time on Oct. 4. In 2012, the Camels finished 7-1-1 at the site with the only loss coming to 12th-ranked Coastal Carolina. Along the way, the Camels defeated No.-25 High Point and ACC member Virginia Tech in Buies Creek.

The 2015 Camels experienced a three-win turnaround at the Eakes Complex after finishing with a 5-3 home record. That year also saw the return of postseason action to Eakes with the Camels earning a dramatic 3-2 victory over Longwood in the quarterfinals of the Big South Championship. It was the first postseason victory since returning to the league in 2011.

Since the women's program began in the 1992 season, the Lady Camels have fashioned a 95-71-16 record (.565) at the facility, including an 8-0-2 mark in 2004 when CU won the Atlantic Sun Conference regular season and tournament championships. CU's women finished the 2011 season with a 7-1-0 record at home.

In addition to the 2008 and '09 A-Sun men's championship, CU also hosted the 2000 Atlantic Sun Conference men's soccer tournament at the facility. The 1995, 2002 and 2004 A-Sun Women's Soccer tournaments were also held at the site. In 2004, Campbell set an Atlantic Sun Women's Soccer Championship attendance record for the semifinal and final rounds at the site en route to its first A-Sun title.

In addition, Campbell hosted two Big South Conference men's tournaments (1986, 1988) at the Stadium.

Six Camels have earned All-America honors while competing at the stadium, two-thirds of which is surrounded by a wooded area. David Doyle, a 1986 All-American who led the nation in scoring, twice tallied five goals in one match at the facility. Another Camel All-American, Juha Miettinen (1988) finished fourth nationally in scoring both as a sophomore and senior (1990). Toni Siikala twice gained NSCAA All-America honors (1993, 1995). Willy Guadarrama earned All-America notice in 2005 after leading the country in goals and points scored per game. Richard Jata (2008) was the sixth CU All-American to perform at the facility. Siikala was third nationally in scoring as a sophomore and second in his senior year. Pasi Kinturi earned All-America recognition following the 1996 season.

Some of the nation's most talented college players have competed at CU Soccer Stadium, including U.S. National Team performers Tab Ramos (North Carolina State), Dante Washington (Radford) and Thori Staples (North Carolina State).

Seating for 1,000 spectators is situated on an 18-foot earthen ridge across the Bermuda grass pitch from the team benches and pressbox. The field measures 75x120 yards.

Support Groups

Athletic Training

CU's Athletic Training staff offers all Fighting Camel student-athletes the best available medical care for athletic injuries. They design and implement programs to prevent, manage and treat athletic injuries. They also supervise injury rehabilitation programs that are designed to return the athlete to athletic activity as quickly and safely as possible.

The athletic training services program is directed by head athletic trainer Jackie Knight and athletic training graduate assistant Daniel Lawrence is responsible for the Campbell men's soccer program.

In addition, the staff also provides hands on experience to a number of students majoring in athletic training. These students are enrolled in a challenging academic major that not only requires that they make the grade in the classroom but also must excel in real-life situations.

The education program is directed by Catherine Simonson. The Athletic Training staff also works closely team physicians, Dr. Bill Hage and Dr. Richard Slusher of Triangle Orthopedics in Raleigh and Dr. Michael Hart and Dr. Kristin Clarey of Cary Family Practice and Sports Medicine to provide quality physician services to student-athletes. They also have a team chiropractor in Dr. David Bradham of Bradham Chiropractic in Erwin. Other allied health care needs available within the athletic training services program include optometry, dentistry, and sports massage.

Student-Athlete Support Program

The Campbell Athletics Department is committed to academic excellence and to promoting student-athlete welfare through the broad-based Student-Athlete Support Program. Under the guidance of Malinda Ashcraft, Associate Athletics Director for Academic Services and Campbell's Senior Women's Administrator, programs are available that provide opportunities for student-athletes to grow academically, socially, spiritually, emotionally and physically. Assistant Director of Student-Athlete Support Coleen Farrell focuses on the men's soccer efforts.

The Student-Athlete Support Program was created to assist student-athletes with a number of issues ranging from the development of personal responsibility and educational goals to addressing personal and social problems that are unique to the Division I student-athlete.

Some of the services offered through the Student-Athlete Support Program are the Individual Study Plan program, tutorial sessions, study halls, one-on-one academic advising, Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, NCAA Life Skills and other academic support services.

The Academic Support Center is the focal point of the program. The center is open seven days a week with flexible hours designed to accommodate the busy schedule of a student-athlete. The center has been designed to serve as an optimal learning environment, while providing the student-athlete with all the tools necessary to achieve academic success.

The center is equipped with several computer work stations, individual study carrels, and areas for monitored group study and tutorial work. Tutorial sessions of different subject areas are provided several times a week for the student-athletes. The center also provides the student-athlete with a convenient place to study, either individually or in a group setting, where his or her progress can be supervised.

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee is comprised of members of the 21 varsity sport programs at Campbell who are nominated by their head coaches. The group was organized to facilitate communication and involvement between student-athletes and administrators and to better integrate athletes into the general student body.

As a branch of the SAAC, the Camels CARE Team is comprised of student-advisory members, whose mission is to develop ways to increase university representation in community service activities. Proposed committee activities include: Special Olympics, "Adopt-a-Grandparent," tutoring services for local grade schools, the Big Brother / Big Sister organization and a speakers' bureau.

To these young adults, athletics becomes more than an end in itself, but rather a means by which they may fully develop their character, and in the process, make a positive impact on the world around them.

Strength and Conditioning

The Campbell University men's soccer strength and conditioning facilities are located at the state-of-the-art sports performance center at the John W. Pope Jr. Convocation Center, opened in 2008.

Although specific strength and conditioning programs are designed for each sport, the basic goal is the same – to help athletes increase their full potential in all areas of fitness: strength, speed, flexibility and stamina.

Workouts are supervised by Andrew Carter, who is in his fourth year as head strength and conditioning coach and assistant director of strength & conditioning. Alex Carnell works directly with the men's soccer team. To assist in the student-athlete's routines, the improved facilities are stocked with a wide array of free weights, stationary plate-loaded machines and a number of aerobic machines.

Members of each of CU's 21 varsity teams meet on a weekly basis, with some teams training and preparing for competition several times a week. Campbell's strength and conditioning program has an ultimate goal of achieving the maximum potential, in order to better prepare student-athletes in competition.
