PRESIDENT BARBARA R. SNYDER

Barbara R. Snyder became president of Case Western Reserve University on July 1, 2007. A legal scholar who began her academic career on this campus, she returned with a promise to work collaboratively with all constituencies to help the university realize more of its enormous potential.

In Snyder's first two years in office, Case Western Reserve eliminated a multi-million-dollar deficit three years ahead of schedule, set new fundraising records, and completed its first strategic plan in more than a decade. That plan, Forward Thinking, calls on the university to build on existing strengths through interdisciplinary partnerships. It also urges development of a community culture that nurtures the inherent possibility of all of its members—one that is welcoming, inclusive, and committed to transparency and integrity.

As part of initiatives related to the strategic plan, President Snyder in 2008 appointed the university's inaugural Vice President for Inclusion, Diversity and Equal Opportunity, Marilyn S. Mobley, Ph.D. She also led the overhaul of the university's Conflict of Interest policy, along with the revision and web publication of its business policies.

Snyder assumed the Case Western Reserve presidency after serving as Executive Vice President and Provost of The Ohio State University. Over a four-year period (the first year as interim provost), Snyder took steps to raise OSU's academic stature and improve the quality of life for members of its community. Her initiatives included the Targeted Investments in Education program, which devoted $50 million to support 10 innovative proposals in high-impact areas. Awards ranged from less than $500,000 to more than $11 million, and touched on programs involving Climate, Water and Carbon, Mathematical Biosciences and Music, Media and Enterprise. She championed improved benefits for graduate students, and paid parental leave for faculty, staff and graduate students.

Prior to becoming provost, Snyder served as Vice Provost for Academic Policy and Human Resources and spent seven months as the university's Interim Vice President for University Relations. Her service at Ohio State included serving on the University Promotion and Tenure Committee, chairing the university Athletic Council, and twice serving on the NCAA Certification Committee.

As a professor at OSU's Moritz College of Law, she also served as Associate Dean for Academic Affairs and as Director of the Center for Socio-Legal Studies. In 1997, the school's third-year students voted to give Snyder the College of Law Outstanding Professor Award. She held the Joanne W. Murphy / Classes of 1965 and 1973 Professorship.

Snyder joined OSU's Moritz College of Law in 1988, after spending five years as a professor at Case Western Reserve's School of Law. She joined CWRU after serving as an associate at the Sidley & Austin law firm in Chicago. She graduated from the University of Chicago Law School, where she served as executive editor of its law review, and earned her bachelor's degree from Ohio State.

Her husband is Michael J. Snyder, who earned his Master's in Business Administration from the Weatherhead School of Management. They have three adult children.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR DAVID DILES

David L. Diles, Ph.D., assumed the post of director of athletics and chair for the Department of Physical Education and Athletics at Case Western Reserve University on May 9, 2005. He was previously director of intercollegiate athletics at Eastern Michigan University (1999-05) and former vice president and director of athletics at St. Bonaventure University (1994-99).

The Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, native's career in intercollegiate athletic administration spans more than 20 years. He began as an assistant athletic director at Central Michigan University from 1989-91. He moved on to serve in the same capacity at Auburn University from 1991-94 before joining St. Bonaventure and then Eastern Michigan.

Diles served as an assistant director of public relations for the National Football League's New York Jets and was a ticket and marketing intern for the NFL's New England Patriots in 1984. He also worked as the director of athletics at Dexter Community Schools (1987-89) and was an administrative assistant at the University of Michigan (1985-87).

He earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Ohio University, graduating cum laude in journalism in 1983 and summa cum laude in sports administration in 1984. He completed his doctorate in education at the University of Michigan in 1988.

DAVID WILSON PLAY-BY-PLAY

David Wilson returns for his fourth season as the radio play-by-play broadcaster for Case Western Reserve football. Wilson joined the Spartans broadcast team in 2007 and called every play of the Spartans' spectacular, undefeated regular season and NCAA Division III playoff contests. Wilson is a familiar voice on the local sports scene. In addition to Spartan football broadcasts, he also handles football and basketball play-by-play for Time Warner Cable's High School Game of the Week. He has broadcast Cleveland State University women's basketball for the last five seasons, and was behind the microphone for the Vikings' NCAA tournament game against Stanford in 2008.

Wilson also works a number of high school basketball games each year on WELW-AM 1330 in Lake County. An experienced baseball announcer, the Pendleton, Indiana, native has logged over 14 years calling the play-by-play for several minor league baseball teams around the country, including a four-year tenure with the Lake County Captains in Eastlake, and three years with the Triple-A Louisville Redbirds in Louisville, Kentucky. Known for an easy-going style and meticulous preparation, Wilson describes his association with Case Football as "one of the most professional and enjoyable assignments I've ever had." Wilson, a Chagrin Falls resident, has also covered local sports in print, having been a regular contributor to the sports page of the News-Herald from 2002-06. Wilson embarked on his broadcasting career after graduating from Indiana State University in 1989.

ED DAUGHERTY ANALYST

Ed Daugherty enters his sixth season as a member of the Case Western Reserve football broadcast team, serving as the team's color analyst. In addition to his duties as the color analyst for the football broadcasts, Daugherty also serves as the color analyst on the Spartans' basketball broadcasts, and as the pre-game, halftime and post-game host. He has been a play-by-play, color analyst and sideline reporter for high school football broadcasts in the Cleveland area for over seven years, serving as the lead play-by-play voice for the St. Ignatius football broadcasting network. The North Olmsted native is a graduate of Xavier University and has previously handled the pre-game, halftime and post-game show hosting duties for the Cleveland Force of the Major Indoor Soccer League and the MISL Radio Network. Daugherty began his broadcasting career at WVXU-FM in Cincinnati and served as a weekend anchor at WEOL-AM between 1996 and 1998. He currently lives in Olmsted Township with his wife Patti, and three children, Kate, Meg and Matt.

CASE FIELD HOME OF THE SPARTANS

The 2010 season will mark the sixth year that the Case Western Reserve University football team has called Case Field home.

The 2,400-seat, state-of-the-art stadium and surrounding residence hall complex opened in August of 2005. The stadium boasts many distinguishing features, such as its spacious locker rooms, updated press row, field surface and surrounding track. The entire complex was built at a total cost of $126 million.

“As a coach and recruiter, you want to be able to show prospects a facility that they would be proud to call home during their collegiate career,” said head football coach Greg Debeljak. “The players and parents who visit our complex walk away with that feeling and more.”

After playing over 35 years of football at Finnigan Field, the Spartans played their last game at the multi-sport complex on November 8, 2003. Finnigan Field had played host to many great teams, including the 1984 Case Western Reserve football team, which was the first team in university football history to finish the season undefeated. The field also was used as a practice facility for the Cleveland Browns from 1965 to 1972.

During the 2004 season, the Spartans played their home games at Brush High School’s Korb Field while construction on their new home was completed. Play opened at the new facility for the Case Western Reserve football squad on September 10, 2005, against Denison University in front of 2,300 fans. The Spartans did not disappoint on that day, defeating the Big Red, 20-6.

The setting in which Case Field was built is arguably one of the best in all of NCAA Division III football. The gridiron is surrounded by seven residence halls known as the Village at 115. These student dormitories, built in a horseshoe shape around the field, house around 800 undergraduate students, giving it a unique and intimate feel.

“Our attendance has more than doubled since the facility was erected,” explained Debeljak, who was an assistant at Case

Western Reserve for three seasons (2001-2003) and has been the head coach since 2004. "A very spirited atmosphere has created a home field advantage that I have never witnessed while at Case."

The stadium also boasts a modern and spacious press box. The area contains boxes especially designated for both home and away radio as well as a large area for members of the print media and school representatives. The coaches' areas within the box are very spacious and seat six coaches comfortably. There also is a large president's box that can be used to host distinguished guests and sponsors or to hold meetings. The press box has wireless high-speed internet access and cable television throughout.

The football locker room facility offers a large open space with a 33' x 84' locker for each player. Currently, the locker room is located adjacent to the field in the lower level of house seven of the dormitory complex along with a modern training room facility, named after Dr. Tom McLaughlin in 2007, which includes both full size warm and cold whirlpools. Eventually the university hopes to construct a field house along side Case Field, and the home locker rooms will be relocated to that site where they will contain even more amenities, including a weight room.

The field itself is a multifunctional field with a FieldTurf surface surrounded by the eight-lane Coach Bill Sudeck Track, named after the legendary cross country, track and basketball coach in 2008. The field was built in a European box style, which allows it to be large enough for the Spartan soccer teams to play in the stadium as well. Along with hosting varsity football, soccer, and track events, the field is used for intramural activities, special events, and for the general recreation of the campus community.

Fresh off of a third consecutive University Athletic Association championship, the Case Western Reserve University football team enters the 2010 season with a 31-game regular season winning streak and is once again favored to win the UAA title.

Despite graduating the largest and most successful senior class of his tenure, seventh-year head coach Greg Debeljak is confident that he returns a group that can continue in the program's success.

"To recognize that we lost our largest class should be followed closely by the recognition that we also have quite a bit of leadership coming back," said Debeljak, who enters the 2010 campaign with an outstanding 44-20 (.688) overall record.

"Another plus is that we have had the depth over the past three years to rotate people. At certain positions, we have guys back who have just as much if not more experience as the players we lost."

Debeljak, a 2009 Division III National Coach of the Year finalist, led the Spartans to their highest national ranking in program history (No. 7 by the American Football Coaches Association) following a perfect 10-0 regular season. Case ranked fifth in the nation in scoring offense (42.36 points per game) and seventh in total offense (470.87 yards per game). The Spartans also made their third straight trip to the NCAA DIII Playoffs before falling to Trine University (IN) in the opening round. The program also produced an AFCA All-American in quarterback Dan Whalen.

OFFENSIVE LINE

The Spartan O-Line is perhaps the most experienced unit on the team. Several of the returning linemen have assumed starting positions during the past few seasons, including a three-time first-team All-UAA selection in senior Marcus Kluczynski. Case also returns juniors Mike Allen and Tony Opperman, a 2010 D3football.com preseason All-American selection.

"Many of the guys on the offensive line have played quite a bit and know our system very well," said Debeljak. "We also have our best depth and our best talent coming up at the position. It will be very important for the line to step up and dominate for us early in the season to help develop some of the guys at the skilled positions."

Other key returners on the offensive line include seniors William Qaqish, Matt Yanosko and Joshua Gershlak; juniors Gene Gross and Brandon Rolle; and sophomores Cullen Dolan, Michael Koopman, Tyler Hugus, Andrew Berkebile and Chris Yanosko.

QUARTERBACK

It is never an easy transition for a team when it loses a quarterback with the level of experience and caliber of talent as All-American and three-time UAA Offensive Player of the Year Dan Whalen. The Spartan offense will look to senior signal caller Joey Baum, who takes over the reigns with a career 70% completion rate. In 2009, Baum played in seven games and completed 14-of-20 passes for 149 yards and rushed for one touchdown.

BILLY DEITMAN
SENIOR • RB

“Joey does things mentally well – making good decisions, knowing where to go with the ball, throwing the ball on time,” said Debeljak. “That’s how he makes his plays, and as a coach you really appreciate the efficiency that he goes about in playing the quarterback position. If he continues to make very smart, high-percentage plays, we’ll be a very efficient offense with Joey leading us.”

Also returning at the QB spot is sophomore Kyle Snyder, who makes the switch from the defensive secondary.

TIGHT END

The Spartans lost another physically dominant player at the tight end position in All-UAA performer DJ Suitca, but have developed quality players that will be given opportunities to succeed in the Spartan offense. Junior Bryce Coleman served as the back-up tight end for the past two years and will compete for playing time with classmate Rob Lajeunesse.

“Our tight end position can develop into one of strength, maybe even to the point where we decide to play more than one at a time,” said Debeljak.

WIDE RECEIVER

The receiver position has been traditionally strong for Case of late and the 2010 season should be no different. The Spartans return two of their top receivers in seniors Zach Homyk and Shaun Nicely. Homyk led the UAA in receptions (69), receiving yards (1,032) and total touchdowns (12), in addition to tying several school-records last season. Nicely tallied 45 receptions for 459 yards and seven touchdowns. Both players enter the 2010 season with more than 100 career receptions and have combined for over 30 touchdowns in their first three seasons. Senior Brian Webster and junior Bryan Metlesitz also return with significant playing time during their careers.

“We have a good deal of experience at the position, but with a new quarterback it is going to be a different kind of passing attack than we’ve had in the past,” said Debeljak. “I think the guys that we have fit Joey Baum’s strengths, but it will take a little while for it to develop.”

Other key players at the wideout position are juniors Eric Street and Colin Repko and sophomore Zachary Scott.

RUNNING BACK

For the last three years, the Spartans rotated between four running backs. Two of the four were lost to graduation, but two return with seniors Derek Bush and Billy Deitmen ready to carry the load. Over the last two seasons, Bush has averaged nearly six yards per carry and Deitmen has averaged five yards per carry. Now as Case’s primary backs, the duo will have the opportunity to make a significant impact in 2010.

Replacing Corey Checkan as the short yardage back may prove to be Debeljak’s most difficult task offensively. “We might have to change our philosophy on short yardage and our running schemes until we figure out who we're going to give the ball to," said the head coach.

Also in the mix at running back is junior Christian Anderson, who makes the transition from the defensive side of the ball, and transfer sophomore Trevor LaBarge.

DEFENSIVE LINE

The defensive line is expected to be one of the team's strongest units and is led by junior Dale English, who finished the 2009 campaign with a team-best 15 tackles for loss and six sacks.

The depth of the Spartan defensive line will be prominent and the returning crew should create strong competition for the starting positions. "We've always wanted to play quite a few kids on the D-line, but we just haven't really had the depth of talent to do that," said Debeljak. "This year we have more options; we can rotate guys and that will make our starters more productive."

Other key returning linemen include junior Richard Doolin; and sophomores Tripper Duchscherer, Michael Sirosky, Adam Watson, Lucas Voigt, Michael Harris, Philip Kalal, Lucas Johnson, and Collin Desens.

LINEBACKER

Case lost two key linebackers to graduation in UAA Defensive Player of the Year Jeff Brown and two-time ESPN The Magazine Academic All-American Lee

Sasala. Lee's brother, Lucas Sasala, returns for his senior year with the most experience at the position, and is joined by several players who will look to make an impact in 2010.

"What we are dealing with at the linebacker position is more of a lack of experience than a lack of talent," said Debeljak. "Jeff Brown and Lee Sasala were very smart players with a lot of experience so a lot of things they did were like second nature. The guys we have coming up are capable of being successful, they are just going to have to get to the point where they don't think and they just react."

Other key returners include senior Tim Lotz; junior Jacob Adams; and sophomores Wade Self, Kevin Nosssem, Ryan Ferguson and Michael Fioramonti.

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Two players that will be missed for both their talent and leadership in the secondary are AFCA All-American Bobby Bott and Academic All-American Mike Pelyak. Replacing that kind of talent can't be done overnight, but the Spartans have a few young players who were forced into action last season as a result of injuries to upperclassmen. The move of sophomore Cary Deiter from safety to corner also should help Case to regain strength in the defensive backfield. Also expected to make an impact is senior Zach Hass.

"The good news for us in the secondary is that we have a lot of choices," said Debeljak. "We just have to see who develops and takes over the position. I think it's

DALE ENGLISH
JUNIOR • DL

ZACH HASS

going to be a situation where whoever wins the position, they're going to have to grow into it, and early on in the season we are going to have to play a little more conservative until we all feel comfortable."

Other key returners include seniors James Wodicka and Eric Williams; junior Matt Davis; and sophomores Dan Calabrese, Steven Roby and Brandon Flick.

SPECIAL TEAMS

The special teams effort will continue to be led by standout senior kicker Sam Coffey, who was named UAA Special Teams Player of the Week five times last season. He led the league in total points with 84 and earned first-team UAA honors. Coffey also holds the school-records for most career extra points (159) and most career field goals (30).

"At Division III, it's rare that you get a really good kicker, it just doesn't happen at our level," said Debeljak. "Sam has been a great kicker, not only with his field goals and extra points, but in kickoffs as well. He is excellent with his placement, and the depth of his kickoffs gives us a huge advantage as far as field position. He's one of the best I've ever seen, and I'm hoping this year will be his best."

The punter position is open for competition with junior Daniel Vasil as the front-runner for the job.

THE SCHEDULE

Case will open the 2010 season by re-igniting a cross-town rivalry with John Carroll University on Saturday, September 4 at 7:00 p.m. at Case Field. The last time the two teams met was in 1988 when Case fell to John Carroll, 27-10. The game holds personal ties for both sides, as Debeljak and a good portion of his coaching staff came to Case following coaching stints at JCU. Blue Streak head coach Regis Scafe is a 1971 graduate of Case and coached the Spartans from 1994-98.

"John Carroll is a quality, non-league opponent that we're 15 minutes away from and our guys know very well," said Debeljak. "We go into each game planning to win, and this game is probably bigger than any opener we've ever had, because we're playing an OAC (Ohio Athletic Conference) team and they play such a high level of Division III football. We will be tested right away and it will be a good gauge as to where we stand."

Other key games on the schedule, outside of UAA play, include the return of Allegheny College (PA) to University Circle for an October 2 Homecoming matchup at 1 p.m. The Spartans also welcome the College of Wooster on Oct. 23 at 1 p.m. in the annual Baird Brothers Trophy Game.

Seventh Season • John Carroll '88 • Record: 44-20 (.688)

Greg Debeljak enters his seventh season as the head football coach at Case Western Reserve. After serving for 15 years as an assistant coach in the local college ranks, Debeljak was named the Spartans' head coach on March 24, 2004.

Debeljak has led the Spartans to three consecutive undefeated (10-0) regular seasons, NCAA postseason appearances and University Athletic Association titles. Since 2007, Case Western Reserve has posted an outstanding overall record of 31-3, earning Debeljak and his staff the UAA Coaching Staff of the Year award for three straight seasons. Four times in the past six years, the Spartan staff has received that honor.

Additionally, Case Western Reserve has finished each of the past three seasons with a top 25 ranking, including their highest mark of seventh during the final regular season American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) poll in 2009.

Debeljak also was selected as one of five finalists in Division III for the Liberty Mutual Coach of the Year Award in each of the past three years and was named the 2008 Lee Tressel Ohio College Coach of the Year by the Ohio chapter of the National Football Foundation.

A graduate of nearby Mentor High School, Debeljak served as the Spartans' associate head coach/offensive coordinator for three seasons before being named head coach.

Highlighting his three years as the offensive coordinator, Case Western Reserve ranked first nationally in passing offense and second in total offense in 2002.

Prior to coming to Case Western Reserve, Debeljak spent 12 years as an assistant (1988-00) at his alma mater, John Carroll University. At JCU he was a graduate assistant his first two seasons, before working eight years as the quarterbacks and receivers coach. Before his final season at John Carroll, he was promoted to the offensive coordinator position.

Debeljak was a member of the staff that produced current Washington Redskins line-backer London Fletcher and he was the position coach for Denver Broncos head coach

Josh McDaniels, Indianapolis Colts personnel director Tom Telesco and former pros Tom Arth (Colts, Packers, Toronto [CFL]) and Larry Wanke (Giants).

Debeljak earned both his bachelor's (1988) and master's (1995) degrees from John Carroll. He played both basketball and football for the Blue Streaks. On the gridiron, he lettered four times, once as a defensive back (earning second-team all-league honors), twice as a quarterback and once as a receiver. As a basketball player, he helped lead the Blue Streaks to a pair of President's Athletic Conference titles and held the school-record for assists in a single game with 13.

THE "COACH DEBS" PHILOSOPHY

Debeljak has a three-part philosophy on how to win both on and off the playing field and when it all comes together – the Spartan leader feels it positions his team for ultimate success. "You are going to have various levels of success with wins and losses, but I think it's important to experience other things," he explained. "When we have recruiting weekends and we meet as a group, this is one of the first things I bring up."

- The first goal is to become a family through team-building activities.

"We want our kids to come together as a team and a family but it's difficult," Debeljak explained. "Each year brings different players with different personalities – that's why it is our number one goal. We can't accomplish anything else until we merge together as a family. The relationships an incoming freshman had with his high school teammates most likely began in elementary school – they grew up with each other. The biggest hurdle is to get (freshmen) to believe in their new family in a shortened period of time."

- The second is the commitment to excellence in both athletics and academics without sacrificing one for the other.

"In regards to academics and athletics, we feel that even though we are one of the better academic institutions in the country, we still want to be competitive on a national level athletically. Simply said, they should both fit together." The Spartans had both their best season on and off the field in 2007. While posting an 11-1 record and reaching the NCAA Division III playoffs, the team posted its highest GPA during Debeljak's tenure and had 10 players, eight of whom were freshmen, post a perfect 4.0 GPA.

- Third, student-athletes give something back through community involvement and service.

One of his first initiatives in this area was making the players a household name with incoming freshmen by helping them move into their dorm rooms, a recurring event every August. And last year, the Spartan gridironers taught football skills to hundreds of inner city elementary students during a university-wide volunteer effort. "I think it is important to get out there and make your name known to the Case Community and to classmates," Debeljak said. "The Case For Community Day Sports Clinic event was a lot of fun, our kids learned as much from the campers as they did from them."

FOOTBALL HALL OF FAMERS

This past April, four Case Western Reserve football alums were inducted into the University's Case Reserve Athletic Club (CRAC) Athletic Hall of Fame. These former Rough Riders, Red Cats and Spartans joined five other new inductees as part of the class of 2010. A complete list of Hall of Fame inductees can be found online at <http://www.case.edu/athletics/varsity/CRAC/index.htm>.

Thomas W. Cooper played both football and basketball for the Western Reserve University Red Cats in the 1950s. He earned three varsity letters on the gridiron (1948-50) and two on the hardwood (1948-49 and 1949-50). During his career, Red Cat football opponents included the likes of West Virginia University, Brown University (RI) and the University of Pittsburgh (PA). Reserve's basketball opponents included teams like the University of Iowa, Purdue University (IN), Michigan State University and the University of Nebraska. The 1949 Rough Cat football team played 5-of-10 games at one of Cleveland's historic landmarks, League Park, home of the 1920 World Series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Cleveland Indians. Cooper was named to the Cleveland News' All-Big Four Team at defensive end in 1950. He retired from General Motors with 33 years of service in accounting. Cooper passed away in July of 2006.

Andrew Katz was the Case Western Reserve University football team captain from 1978-79 and a four-year letterman for the Spartans under Hall of Fame coach Bob Del Rosa. He also earned letters in track & field in 1976 and 1977. Katz earned the football team's first All-American honor in 25 seasons during his senior year. He led the team in tackles twice, and as a sophomore, he led the University to its most wins in 16 seasons. The two-time All-Presidents' Athletic Conference honoree was named the conference's Most Valuable Player in 1979. Katz majored in political science at Case Western Reserve. After graduation, he spent 10 years in the U.S. Marine Corps as an infantry and intelligence officer and served in a variety of overseas assignments.

Jean Revelt was a member of the Case Institute of Technology gridiron team from 1946–50. Revelt, who was a physics major at Case Tech, earned three varsity letters in football. He was an All-Big Four selection for two consecutive seasons and was awarded the Les Bale Award, which was given every year to the most outstanding and valuable member of the football team. Revelt played for legendary coach Ray Ride, who called him “one of the greatest football players in the history of Case Tech”. The team had single-game captains back then, and Revelt served as one. Revelt was in Who’s Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, President of his senior class and carried a high average in academics. He went on to work at Lincoln Electric for 46 and a half years and was totally dedicated to the company and Case Tech.

After a lengthy illness, Revelt passed away on April 7, 2009.

Charlie ‘Chuck’ Williams earned varsity letters for all four years in track & field and for three years in football at Case Western Reserve University. The Dean’s List graduate with a Systems Engineering major earned an academic scholarship to graduate school and continues on to have a successful professional career with multiple start-up companies in California.

ACADEMIC BOWL

Each fall, student-athletes from Case Western Reserve University and Carnegie Mellon University meet on the gridiron with the victor claiming the Academic Bowl. This annual football game between two of the nation's top academic institutions began in the fall of 1986 and continues to be one of the more anticipated games for both teams each year. The two schools are among the nation's elite research and scholastic institutions, therefore a rivalry already exists in the academic aspect of the universities. So as competition in the classroom continues, the winner of the coveted Academic Bowl trophy can claim bragging rights on the athletic field for at least one year.

The Academic Bowl is more than a trophy as it emphasizes a "Commitment to Academic and Athletic Excellence". The academic part comes hand in hand being a student-athlete in the University Athletic Association whose members include, along with Case Western Reserve and Carnegie Mellon, some of the top institutions in the country including Brandeis University, the University of Chicago, Emory University, New York University, Rochester University, and Washington University. The athletic excellence side of the Academic Bowl involves the storied football traditions between these two schools.

The Spartans won the first Academic Bowl Trophy in 1986, defeating Carnegie Mellon 21-14. In the all-time Academic Bowl series, the Spartans hold a 15-9 advantage over Case Western Reserve.

BAIRD BROTHERS TROPHY

Fishing and football don't ordinarily go together, but don't tell that to Case Western Reserve University and the College of Wooster. When the Spartans and the Scots meet on the gridiron, the winner claims one of the most unique trophy traditions in college sports, the Baird Brothers Trophy. This trophy, noted in a 1995 issue of Sports Illustrated magazine as one of the most unique trophies in college football, consists of a golden fishing stringer with carved brass fish representing each meeting.

The trophy's beginnings date back to 1984 when Bob Baird, an economics professor at Case Western Reserve, and his brother Bill Baird, an economics professor at Wooster, came up with the idea. The winner of the game gets to keep the stringer for the year and add a new fish for that year's contest. Each added fish is representative of how the game was played, with the score and winner engraved on the side.

The original fish is a four-inch blue gill symbolizing the narrow, last-second Case Western Reserve victory, 21-14. A big northern pike denotes the Spartans 37-0 victory over the Scots in 1985. Other fish included on the trophy are a flounder, a carp, a walleye, a catfish, a rainbow trout, a sturgeon, a sucker, a crappie, a muskie, a sheephead, a gar, a largemouth bass and a smallmouth bass.

The Baird brothers originated the trophy in 1984 when Wooster and Case Western Reserve first met as members of the North Coast Athletic Conference. The brothers, economic professors at the rival schools, were taught by their father to fish at an early age and thought the fish theme would be a fitting reward to the victors. Bob Baird passed away a few years ago, but his brother Bill still carries on the tradition of presenting the trophy to the winning team at the conclusion of the game.

The two schools have met 21 times, with Wooster holding a 13-9 advantage in the all-time series with Case Western Reserve.

THE UAA: WHERE THEORY MEETS PRACTICE

For 24 years, the University Athletic Association has served as a bold statement of what college athletics can and should be - that it is highly desirable and possible for a group of committed institutions to conduct a broad-based program of intercollegiate athletics for men and women; to compete with like academic institutions spread over geographically expansive areas; and to seek excellence in athletics while maintaining a perspective which holds the student-athlete and the academic mission of the institution as the center of focus.

The UAA is a significant expression of the principle that the provision of a high-quality college athletic experience is worth the commitment required of an institution. It is worthwhile not only because it benefits the student-athletes, but also because it benefits the entire campus community and, in turn, the institution itself. Perhaps more importantly, the UAA is a strong statement that the success of intercollegiate athletics is wholly dependent upon institutional integrity and the ability of institutions to complete the full integration of athletics into the academic fabric of higher education.

Members of the UAA share the belief that academic excellence and athletic excellence are not mutually exclusive. Implicit in this belief are several sets of assumptions. The first is that the academic enterprise is the primary element. Student-athletes are just that - students first and athletes second.

The second set of assumptions has to do with athletic excellence. Athletic excellence is not to be confused with a win-at-all-costs attitude. It properly relates to the caliber of experience offered to students who participate in intercollegiate athletics. Athletic teams should have the benefit of qualified coaching - capable individuals chosen for professional competence and commitment to putting the welfare of the student first. They should play and practice in first-rate facilities at reasonable times. Their equipment should be safe, of high quality, and conducive to the best performance possible. A consistent and challenging level of athletic competition should be provided to both women and men.

The final assumptions concern what might be termed a proper athletic emphasis. Athletic programs are extracurricular activities conducted for students and should be given consideration similar to that accorded other such institutionally sponsored activities. They should not only complement the academic experience, but should also reflect the quality of the academic environment within which they exist. Division III is an approach to athletics - not a synonym for third-rate. The University Athletic Association sponsors competition in 22 sports - twelve sports for men and ten sports for women - including football, soccer, cross country, volleyball, basketball, fencing, wrestling, swimming and diving, indoor track and field, baseball, softball, outdoor track and field, tennis, and golf.

Many student-athletes from UAA institutions have been recognized for their achievements as scholars and athletes. During the 2009-10 academic year, 28 student-athletes from UAA institutions were recognized as College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-Americans[®], 153 received All-America honors in team or individual sports, and 19 were individual national champions or national Players of the Year in their respective sports.

In addition, six student-athletes from UAA institutions were among the select group of seniors across the country named NCAA Postgraduate Scholars. Teams throughout the UAA are perennial contenders for post-season play. In 2009-10, UAA teams were selected or qualified to compete in NCAA championship competition in basketball, football, fencing, golf, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, track and field/volleyball, and wrestling, as well as women's championships in basketball, swimming and diving, and volleyball. UAA schools captured national championships in men's basketball and volleyball. Association teams also finished as national runner-up in women's soccer, women's tennis, and placed third in men's swimming and diving. In all, 19 UAA teams posted top 10 finishes in their national championships, and 115 others finished in the top 20.

In Theory . . .

- Academic excellence and athletic excellence are not mutually exclusive.
- Athletic excellence properly relates to the caliber of experience offered to students.
- Athletic programs should reflect the quality of the academic environment within which they exist.
- A consistent and challenging level of athletic competition should be provided for both women and men.

In Practice . . .

- In 2009-10, 28 student-athletes from UAA institutions were recognized as CoSIDA Academic All-Americans and six were named NCAA Postgraduate Scholars.
- 153 UAA student-athletes received All-America honors with 19 garnering individual national championship or Player of the Year accolades.
- In 2009-10 NCAA championship competition, 19 UAA teams finished in the top-10 in their national championships, while another 15 finished in the top-20.
