Jeff McMartin

Head football coach

Jeff McMartin, 36, is in his first season as head football coach at Central College.

A former Dutch player and student coach, McMartin graduated from Central in 1990 with a bachelor's of arts degree in physical education. He earned his master's degree in liberal studies from Wake Forest University (N.C.) in 1992 and has coaching and teaching experience at five NCAA Div. III colleges and universities. In his 14 years of coaching at the collegiate level, he has coached nearly every position.

Prior to returning to Central, McMartin was the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at DePauw University (Ind.). During his four years there, DePauw broke several school offensive records.

From 1995-2000, he served as offensive line coach at Beloit College (Wis.) where he also worked with special teams. From 1994-95 he was the defensive line coach at the University of Rochester (N.Y.) and was defensive line coach at Illinois Wesleyan University from 1992-94. He was a graduate assistant at Wake Forest from 1990-92,

While at Central, McMartin served as a student coach under legendary coach Ron Schipper for two seasons after a career-ending injury. He was also a student coach at Oskaloosa High School in 1987.

McMartin is also a veteran track and field coach. He was head men's and women's coach at Beloit from 1995-2000 and interim head coach at Illinois Wesleyan in 1994. McMartin was also an assistant at De Pauw from 2000-03, at Rochester from 1994-95 and at Illinois Wesleyan in 1994.

McMartin is married to Laurie, also a 1990 graduate of Central, and they have a daughter, Caroline.

"Jeff McMartin strikes me as exactly what our football program needs now and possibly for the next 40 or so years," said David Roe, Central College president. "Not only does he bring a passion for winning football and in-depth knowledge and experience with all aspects of the game, but he is dedicated to helping students build dreams and become successful in life. He models the values, character and qualities that foster accomplishment. In short he is a very worthy successor to the mantle passed on by coaches Ron Schipper and Rich Kacmarynski."

Assistants

Jeff Bollard – S backs

Jeff Bollard is in his 19th season as an assistant football coach at Central and is in his first year working with the S backs (fullback/wingback). A native of Pocahontas and a 1989 Central graduate, Bollard also helps with the team's computer video and game analysis. Bollard is the founder of ICE Technologies in Pella and now serves the firm as a programmer.

Dick Bowzer – Receivers

The dean of Iowa Conference coaches, Dick Bowzer is in his 38th year on the Central staff. Bowzer was a long-time offensive coordinator for the Dutchmen and is now the receivers coach. He is a 1966 graduate of Central where he played end and earned 11 letters in football, basketball and tennis. A Jackson, Mich. native, Bowzer completed his master's degree at Michigan State University. Bowzer serves as chair of the exercise science department and is an associate professor of exercise science. He also served as assistant men's basketball coach for 10 years.

Darrell Brand – Running backs

In his eighth season as an assistant coach, Darrell Brand works with the running backs.

Brand, a 1959 Central graduate, is a veteran high school coach. He was head football coach at Montezuma High School from 1969-95 and served as the school's principal and athletic director from 1973-96. He previously taught and coached at Harmony High School in Farmington and at Prairie City High School. Brand has also coached boys' and girls' basketball, boys' and girls' track, baseball and softball and has served as an umpire, teacher and guidance counselor.

Brand was inducted into the Iowa High School Football Coaches' Association Hall of Fame in 1995 and in 2001 his name was added to the Drake Relays Wall of Honor for his service as an official there.

Don De Waard – Defensive coordinator/linebackers

Don De Waard is in his 22nd year as linebackers coach and is also the defensive coordinator. De Waard was named the NCAA Div. III assistant coach of the year in 2001 by the American Football Coaches Association. He is a 1982 Central graduate and former Dutch player. A native of Kanawha, he is a certified public accountant and serves as president of the Molengracht, a $15-million downtown development project in Pella.

Reid Evans – Offensive line

Reid Evans is in his fourth season as an assistant coach and his first year as a full-time member of the Central staff, working with the offensive line. A 2001 Central graduate, Evans was a four-time varsity letterwinner and a two-time first-team all-Iowa Conference center for the Dutch. The Newton, Iowa native was a third-team pick for the 2000 Hewlett-Packard all-America team and participated with a team of Div. III all-stars in the 2000 Aztec Bowl in Mexico.

Evans was also a four-time track and field letterwinner, winning conference titles in the shot put and discus and qualifying for the NCAA Div. III national meet in those events.

Following graduation, Evans played and coached football for the Franken Timberwolves in Nuremburg, Germany in 2001. A former co-owner and vice-president of DSI Data Services, Evans also serves in Central's college relations office as marketing Web site coordinator.

Matt Paulsen – Defensive backs

Matt Paulsen is in his seventh season as an assistant coach, working with the defensive secondary. A 1997 Central graduate, Paulsen was an all-American defensive back for the Dutch and a four-time letterwinner. He was a three-time all-Iowa Conference selection, the 1997 team MVP, and holds the school career interceptions record (18).

Paulsen spent the summer of 1999 playing for a club team in Germany. A Waverly-Shell Rock High School graduate, Paulsen was a two-time selection to the All-American Farm Team named by Successful Farming magazine. He is employed by Heritage Lace, Inc.

Dr. David Roe – Kickers/punters

David Roe, Central College president, is in his seventh season as an assistant coach, working with Central's kickers and punters.

A retired Air Force brigadier general and a former financial services company executive, Roe became Central's president in 1998.

Roe is a lifelong athlete, lettering in football, swimming and track in high school. He is a graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy where he earned two letters in soccer and was team MVP as a junior and team captain as a senior.

Following graduation he attended Oxford College in England as a Rhodes Scholar and competed in rugby, soccer, rowing and cricket. In the Air Force he played for unit softball, basketball, soccer and volleyball teams. Roe served as an officer-representative for the Air Force Academy's varsity soccer team, and played and coached amateur league soccer most of his adult life. He has coached youth soccer and served as a football kicking coach for his son while stationed in Europe, helping him win "all-Europe" honors in a European amateur league. Roe also completed the Dallas Marathon at the age of 50 in 1990.

While studying at Oxford, Roe successfully completed the Bachelor of Medicine examination. He received his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in physiology from the University of Illinois and is the author of numerous published articles on human physiology and national military strategy.

Jeff Sanger – Stingers

Jeff Sanger is in his second season as an assistant coach at Central, working with the stinger position (defensive end/outside linebacker/strong safety) on defense.

Sanger, a 2001 Central graduate, was a two-time all-America selection, a two-time Schilder team MVP award winner and a three-time all-Iowa Conference pick as a linebacker. He also was chosen as a Central team co-captain for two seasons.

The Britt, Iowa native set the school freshman-season tackles record in 1997 with 111 and racked up 375 stops in his career.

Sanger also serves as an admission office representative at Central.

Kevin Sanger – Defensive line

Kevin Sanger is in his 11th season as assistant coach, working with the defensive line. He also serves as head coach of Central's highly successful men's and women's track and field programs, and was named league men's track and field coach of the year in 1997, 1998, 2000, 2003 and 2004. Sanger was tabbed the NCAA Div. III indoor regional coach of the year in 1999 and won outdoor honors in 2004. A four-year letterwinner in both track and football at Central, Sanger graduated in 1993. He received a master's degree from Iowa State University.

In 2001, Sanger received a Central Presidential Service Standards Award for his work at the college.

Jerry Southmayd – Tight ends

High school hall of famer Jerry Southmayd is in his third season as assistant coach at Central, working with the tight ends after two years as quarterbacks coach.

Southmayd served as head football coach at Wapsie Valley High School in Fairbank from 1969-2001, posting a 214-83 record. He was also a math instructor there and was the school's athletic director for two years.

During Southmayd's tenure, Wapsie Valley qualified for the state high school playoffs 18 times, winning state championships in 1986, 1987 and 1997. He was enshrined in the Iowa Football Coaches Association's hall of fame in 1990 and served as a Shrine Bowl all-star game coach in 1992. Southmayd was named the Des Moines Register's state coach of the year in 1987 and was the IFCA Class 1A coach of the year in 1997. He served on the IFCA's board of directors for six years and chaired the group's ethics committee for six years.

A graduate of Yankton College (S.D.), Southmayd received a master's degree in physical education from the University of South Dakota and a secondary administration endorsement from the University of Northern Iowa. At Wapsie Valley he also served as head golf coach for 10 years, and was also an assistant basketball and wrestling coach.

A high school baseball umpire, Southmayd has been a counselor and activities director for the American Legion's Boys' State program for 27 years.

Travis Sterling – player development

Travis Sterling is in his seventh season with the Central coaching staff and his first year as the player development assistant, coordinating the team's leadership program. He served six seasons as the team's strength and conditioning coordinator. Sterling, a 1993 Central graduate, was a first-team all-Iowa Conference offensive guard and was a two-time Verizon academic all-district selection. The Pekin, Iowa native spent a year in graduate school at Iowa State University studying biomechanics before completing requirements for a master's degree in physical therapy at the University of Iowa.

A certified strength and conditioning specialist, Sterling also heads the orthopaedic and sports physical therapy program at Pella Health and Fitness. He previously supervised the clinical sports medicine program in the physical therapy department at the Pella Regional Medical Center.

In 2004 Sterling became one of just 30 board-certified orthopaedic clinical specialists in Iowa.

Outlook

Change is in the air for Central College football, but under new head coach Jeff McMartin, much is familiar about one of the nation's winningest programs.

The influence of McMartin's mentor, Central's college football hall of famer Ron Schipper, is clear. He may not wear out the Kuyper Field sideline grass quite as quickly as Schipper did with his frantic pacing during 36 years worth of fall Saturdays, but the trademark drive and fierce determination to succeed are present in equal measure inside the young coach, just as they were in Schipper's worthy successor, Rich Kacmarynski. Kac posted a glossy 62-15 mark in a seven-year run that just concluded. McMartin's hiring marked only Central's third head coaching change since 1939.

In returning to his alma mater for what he terms his dream job, McMartin sees much he likes.

Certainly, last year's 5-5 record was a jolt to red-clad Dutch Nation, but Central still hasn't had a losing season since the Eisenhower Administration. McMartin vows that won't change.

The 25 Iowa Conference championships, the NCAA record 16 playoff appearances, and the 278-47-2 record since 1961? Definitely something to build on.

And as McMartin describes his approach to the game, one hears echoes of the Schipper gospel.

"The thing I stress is that whatever style we play, we're going to take care of the ball," McMartin said. "We want to play really sound, smart football, and avoid penalties and turnovers. That's a big thing with me. And we want to be great on special teams."

Yet McMartin shows no hesitancy in quickly putting his own stamp on the program.

"I want to be an attacking, hard-hitting team," he said. "I want our offense to be a reflection of our defense. I want to find ways to be aggressive."

Central's trademark running game won't be abandoned, but McMartin will seize every opportunity to put pressure on the opponent, by air or land. Call it the Midwest Coast offense.

"Coach Schipper used to say that players win football games, not plays," McMartin said. "I agree with that. We just want to make it difficult for people to play us."

"My goal is to compete at all times, that we play hard, that we play up to our capabilities and that we have fun. If we do those things, we're going to be successful."

Fueling McMartin's optimism is the return of 13 starters, including plenty of talent at the skill positions and an all-American in waiting at linebacker in senior Mark Sanger. The transition to a new system has also been eased by the team's trip to Germany following graduation last spring, which allowed for some practice work.

Quarterback

Mark Isaacson is looking for big things in his senior year as the returning starting signal caller. The 2003 campaign wasn't always a smooth ride, but the 6-6, 210-pounder had a productive season, completing 104 of 240 passes for 1,278 yards with six interceptions and eight touchdowns.

"That's our guy," McMartin said. "He's played and had a chance to show what he can do. We hope he can take on a new offensive system and run with it. He worked really hard in the off season. His conditioning is right where it needs to be."

The top backup could be a tight end--6-1, 210-pound senior Derek Livingston. He moved to tight end a year ago because he was deemed too valuable to be spending time on the bench. That's still true, but he's also the most experienced option at quarterback should Isaccson go down. However, McMartin thinks the Dutch have some promising prospects in the freshman class who will be brought up to speed quickly.

Running back

In Central's new scheme, the Dutch won't always be aligned in the familiar I-formation. The fullback has transitioned into an S-back who could line up in the backfield or at the line of scrimmage.

"It needs to be a pretty versatile athlete," McMartin said. "You have to be able to block, catch and occasionally run with it."

Last year's starting fullback, 6-5, 235-pound senior Durk Pearston, appears well-suited for the task. He was Central's third-leading rusher last year with 209 yards on 59 carries with four scores and caught three passes for nine yards.

Other candidates include converted linebackers Brent Schumacher, a 6-1, 190-pound junior, and Kyle Whisner, a 6-foot, 200-pound senior, along with D.J. Henle, a 5-11, 215-pound sophomore.

"Without a doubt, Durk (Pearston) has a leg up," McMartin said. "We expect big things. But they all played the position in Germany and picked it up pretty well."

The Dutch are loaded at tailback. Last year's top two rushers are back--the talented tandem of senior Tyler Baethke (6-0, 175) and sophomore sibling Dustyn Baethke (6-1, 195). Tyler rushed for 757 yards on 179 carries with four scores, averaging 4.2 yards an attempt. Dustyn was sidelined by injury initially, but gained 341 yards on 64 carries in the final six games, averaging 5.3 yards a carry and three touchdowns. In a win at Upper Iowa, Dustyn had 135 yards on 19 carries and Tyler had 100 yards on 17 attempts.

Joining the crowd is sophomore transfer Vance Schuring (5-11, 200), a former Pella all-stater who should make a quick impression.

The addition of Schuring led some Dutch faithful to wonder if one of the backs should be moved to beef up the receiving corps. Fans need not worry.

"We want to get the best guys on the field," McMartin said. "We may run two of them as split backs, we may line one up as a receiver or we may shift them. It's great to have depth at that position because we ask a lot of them. All three are very capable."

"The nice thing about all of them is that all three are smart guys. They all catch the ball and they're all dangerous in the open field. The big thing is to get them the ball in open space. I'm concerned about touches, not whether it's a pass or a run."

Receivers

Trent Cooper, a 6-3, 185-pound senior, is the top returnee with 26 catches for 378 yards and two scores last season.

McMartin calls Cooper the leader, but also likes what's he's seen from Brad Ryals, a 6-4, 200-pound sophomore.

"Brad Ryals could really be a force for us," McMartin said. "He made some great catches in the spring."

McMartin calls sophomore Billy Fox (5-10, 165) a "gritty" player.

"He was on the scout team last year, but I like his tenacity," he said.

He also can call on junior Kyle Seufferer (6-1, 185), who had a good spring as well, and junior Stephen Barnes (6-1, 185). Barnes is a likely candidate for punt return duties and could also be utilized at quarterback.

Tight end

Livingston learned the tight end position quickly enough to catch 17 balls for 276 yards and a touchdown, averaging a team-high 16.2 yards a reception.

"He's a playmaker," McMartin said. "Derek could have a big year. We're going to get him the ball."

The Dutch will run some double-tight end formations and senior Aaron Bonnema (6-3, 210) can fill the second spot. McMartin said one of the S-backs could be utilized there as well.

Offensive line

One of the keys to the season will be the rebuilt offensive line. Providing a good foundation is senior center Ike Hammerly (6-1, 290), a three-year letterwinner and co-captain.

"Ike's lost some weight but added strength," McMartin said. "He runs and moves really well. We'll build our offensive line around him and our team as well."

Also back is Ryan Johnson, a 6-3, 270-pound junior tackle.

"Ryan may be our most gifted lineman," McMartin said. "He looked good in the spring."

Battling back from injury and adding strength is Nick Reed, a 5-10, 230-pound sophomore. Classmate Jon Robeson (6-1, 280) and seniors Derek Haugen (6-1, 230) and Curt Van Zee (6-3, 250) are top guard candidates while seniors Steve Odendahl (6-4, 240) and Jimmy Oltmann (6-6, 298) are top contenders at tackle.

"We lost some good people but this group did a good job in the spring," McMartin said. "It will take a while for them to come together and gel. But it seems like a very athletic group and I also think they're pretty aggressive. We have to take advantage of that."

Defensive line

Rodney Sundine (6-1, 245) returns at nose guard but the other two starters in the line were lost to graduation. He made 52 tackles, including 19 solos, and was second on the team in sacks with five for 31 yards.

"He's the guy we'll build our line around," McMartin said. "He's probably one of our strongest athletes."

Top contenders for the other spots include juniors Quentin Huisman (6-3, 240), who made 13 tackles last year with two sacks and three tackles for loss, Matt Cook (5-11, 280), Dallas Wessels (6-1, 225) and Collin Willhite (6-3, 205); and sophomores Ricky De Hamer (6-3, 235) and Taylor Vanden Wynboom (6-foot, 225). Huisman is the only player in the group that has seen much varsity action, however.

Linebacker

The Dutch have more veterans at linebacker, none more experienced than linebacker Mark Sanger (6-foot, 215), entering his fourth year as a starter. A Football Gazette pre-season all-America selection and a two-time first-team all-conference pick, Sanger led the Dutch with 106 tackles last season, including 46 solos, five tackles for loss and five sacks, along with two interceptions, four pass breakups and two forced fumbles.

"Mark's got a great motor and is a very hard worker," McMartin said. "He's everything you want in a football player. He's got a tremendous attitude and is the complete package."

This is the 15th time in the past 16 years that the Dutch have had a Sanger on the roster. Mark is the youngest of four brothers to play at Central. Kevin, a 1993 graduate, was an all-conference defensive end. Rick, a 1996 grad, and Jeff, a 2001 alum, were both all-America picks at linebacker. Kevin is in his 10th season as a Central assistant, coaching the defensive line, while Jeff is in his second year, working with the stinger position.

Another veteran, senior Kevin Bonstetter (6-1, 200), is back at left-side linebacker. He tied for third on the tackle charts with 65, including 22 solos with five tackles for loss and two sacks, along with two pass breakups.

"Kevin's a tough kid and a good football player," McMartin said. "We've got to have a great year on Kevin."

Battling for time at the other linebacker position are sophomore Colby Myers (6-2, 200) and juniors Tom O'Donnell (5-10, 205), Scott Mathes (6-1, 190) and Jeremy Greiner (6-0, 225).

Stinger

Both starters return at the stinger position. Seniors Matt Matthes (6-4, 200) and Kyle Paris (6-0, 190) are coming off productive seasons. Matthes had 55 tackles with 20 unassisted stops, five tackles for loss, two sacks and two pass breakups. Paris had 47 tackles with 20 solos, four tackles for loss and three sacks with an interception and five pass breakups.

Matthes made a quick impression on McMartin.

"He was probably one of the best defensive players on the field in spring practice," he said.

Another contender is senior Reggie Osborn (6-0, 205), who had 10 tackles last season, including seven solos.

Defensive backs

Senior free safety Nick Cross (6-1, 200) had a strong stretch run last year and has emerged as the leader in the secondary. He was Central's second-leading tackler with 85, including 40 solos with a tackle for loss, three interceptions and a team-high eight pass breakups.

"Nick's a really good free safety," McMartin said. "He's a hard-nosed football player and a guy we have a lot of confidence will make plays."

Other promising free safety hopefuls include sophomore Ben Bollard (6-1, 175) and junior David Calease (6-0, 180).

"Ben (Bollard) is coming off a good track season," McMartin said. "He's got good speed and is really smart."

Returning starting cornerback Jeff T. Jones (5-10, 185), a senior, made 36 stops last year, including 23 solos with six pass breakups and two fumble recoveries.

"Jeff's very team-oriented," McMartin said. "He's got the potential to have a very good season."

Seeking to claim the other cornerback spot are junior Nate Rasmussen (6-0, 175) and sophomore transfer Brett Doud

(5-10, 180) of Oskaloosa.

Rasmussen will get the first look, provided he can avoid the injury bug that's hounded him. Doud transferred following a redshirt year at Iowa State and shows tremendous promise, McMartin said.

Special teams

Senior Keith Wasoba (6-1, 180) is a two-time letterwinner as the team punter. He averaged 37.2 yards on 67 boots last year, with 16 landing inside the 20-yard line.

"He looks great," McMartin said. "He's got a great leg. I was impressed with him."

Shoring up the placekicking game is a McMartin priority. The jobs are "wide open," he said. Sophomore Brandon O'Neal (5-9, 160) will battle senior Josh J. Anderson (5-10, 180) and possibly Wasoba. But McMartin thinks he may have some contenders in the freshman class as well.

"The nice thing is, it's a decision that's not too subjective," McMartin said. "If you can kick it in the end zone every time, you're our guy."

The Iowa Conference

Defending champion Wartburg sustained some significant graduation losses but the Knights are loaded with depth and remain the Iowa Conference favorites. McMartin views Simpson as "very dangerous," with Buena Vista, Loras and Coe also making noise.

McMartin said he can't spend much time worrying about the competition, however.

"I'm concerning myself with us becoming the best team we can be," he said. "You don't necessarily have to have the best individuals to have the best team. You can look throughout the history of sports and see great individuals who played together but didn't necessarily make great teams.

"If you have guys that want to work hard and be unselfish, that's when you can become a great team."

The transition

The early-season schedule is brutal, with NCAA Div. III playoff hopefuls Augustana (Ill.) and Bethel (Minn.) in non-conference play, followed by league games with Simpson, Loras and Coe, all of whom defeated the Dutch last year. Gearing up for that barrage of contenders while installing a new offensive system will be tough to pull off.

"That was one advantage of the practices before our trip to Germany last spring," said McMartin, who will serve as the team's offensive coordinator for his first year. "That helped us get a lot of stuff done. But it is a concern. We need to hit the ground running. My hope is to keep things simple enough so that we execute well, and if we're having trouble, we'll back off even more.

"We have a tough schedule, but that's just the way it is," he said. "Great teams play great schedules. There are not a lot of championship teams that play easy schedules. They're usually challenged and we're going to be challenged all year."

McMartin has a wealth of coaching experience, but this is the first time he's put on the head coach's whistle.

"The nice thing is we have a lot of coaches with experience," McMartin said. "They've been really helpful."

Four Central assistants have been with the Dutch for 10 years or longer, headed by receivers coach Dick Bowzer, who is in his 38th season, the second-longest tenure of any Division III assistant. Two other assistants were high school head coaches for more than 25 years before joining the Central staff.

"We're here to play championship football year-in and year-out, and we're going to do everything in our power to put our players in position to succeed," McMartin said.
