Over A Century of Tradition

Few collegiate football programs have the storied history of Cornell University. With more than 120 seasons of football in the books, the Big Red has collected five national titles, won more than 600 games and has had legendary players and coaches perform on historic Schoellkopf Field. Names such as Glenn "Pop" Warner and Heisman Trophy finalist and NCAA record-breaker Ed Marinaro have suited up for Cornell, while seven College Football Hall of Famers (including Warner, Gil Dobie and Carl Snavely) and multiple-time Super Bowl winner George Seifert have set the strategy as head coaches. Now, with David Archer '05 leading the program, there's little doubt that history will continue to be made.

Cornell's first football team, 1887.

Glenn (Pop) Warner, 1894, was a football pioneer.

Cornell Football Timeline

1869
The first football game, an intramural contest featuring 40 players per side, occurs on campus.

1874
Cornell president Andrew D. White refuses to let Cornellians travel for a football game against Michigan in Cleveland because "I refuse to let 40 of our boys travel 400 miles merely to agitate a bag of wind."

1887
Cornell relents, and the first intercollegiate game under modern rules is played against Union College on No. 12, 1887. Union wins the game 24-10 in the contest played where Day and Stimson halls stand today.

1888
Cornell picks up its first win in program history, topping Palmyra 26-0 in the season opener on Oct. 20 en route to a 4-2 record.

1892
Glenn (Pop) Warner '94 saw his first football game at Cornell, thinking it was "just a schoolboy scramble with a few bloody noses," gave it a try, and went on to become the best known of the sport's pioneering coaches. He caused more rule changes than all other coaches combined.

1897
Warner begins the first of his two coaching stints at Cornell, going 5-3-1 with wins over Syracuse and Penn State. He ended his Cornell career with a 36-13-3 record.

1901
Cornell wins a record 11 games, going 11-1 under first-year coach Ray Starbuck. Cornell outscores foes 324-38, dropping an 8-6 decision to Princeton in the eighth game of the year. It was the first points the Big Red had allowed all year.

1915
Cornell picks a great year to open play at Schoellkopf Field. Charley Barrett '16 scores a first-quarter TD to lead Cornell to a 10-0 victory over Harvard in a game of unbeatens. The Big Red handed the Crimson its first loss in four years and was declared national champion, the first of five national titles for Cornell.

1919
The Big Red plays its first of six games in seven years at the Polo Grounds against Dartmouth and Columbia, going 3-3.

The Playing Fields

Schoellkopf Field has been an indelible mark of Cornell football since it opened in 1915 and this year will be the 92nd season at the home field. A gift from Willard Straight '01 and the family of Henry (Heinie) Schoellkopf '02 made the construction possible for the current stadium. The Big Red's first year on the field was one of its best, going 9-0 and winning the national championship. In 1915, General Electric Company completed work on a flood searchlight system for the field, and in 1924 a construction project was completed to bring capacity from 9,000 to 21,500 by adding the famed Crescent. In 1947 that was increased to its current capacity of 25,597 and a press box was added. In 1971 a gift was made to put artificial turf on the field, and it has since been resurfaced three times, the latest in 1999. The 2008 season saw installation of FieldTurf synthetic grass to replace the artificial turf. A new press box was built in 1986. Schoellkopf Memorial Hall, which houses the Big Red football offices, locker rooms and a tradition room, finished a renovation in 2006. Schoellkopf Field is the fourth-oldest FCS stadium, opening in 1915. Only Penn's Franklin Field (1895), Harvard Stadium (1903) and the Yale Bowl (1914) are older. Its capacity of 25,597 ranks as the eighth-largest stadium in the FCS. Tennessee State's Coliseum seats 67,500 to lead all stadiums. The record crowd, when there were bleachers in the end zones and beneath the Crescent and west stands, was 35,300 for Michigan, Nov. 10, 1951. The playing area before World War I was Percy Field, alongside Fall Creek, the present site of Ithaca HS.

In 1951, the Big Red defeated Michigan 20-7 in front of the largest crowd in Schoellkopf history (35,300).

Cornell's all-time winningest coach Gil Dobie leads the Big Red to a 6-2 mark. Dobie's next three squads would win national championships.

1921
The Big Red goes 8-0, claims the mythical national title and begins its school record 26-game win streak. Cornell outscores its foes 392-21.

1922
Cornell wins its second-straight crown, going 8-0 and outscoring opponents 339-27.

1923
National title No. 4 and the third in a row, the Big Red goes 8-0 and blisters foes by a 320-23 margin.

1938
Cornell begins its second-longest win streak (18) with a win over Penn State. The streak ends with the Fifth Down game two years later.

1939
The 1939 team goes 8-0 and claims the program's fifth national crown and is the Lambert Trophy winner, with Cornell defeating Syracuse, Princeton, Penn State, Big Ten champion Ohio State, Columbia, Colgate, Dartmouth and Penn. Cornell overcame a 14-0 deficit in the first quarter to beat the powerful Buckeyes 23-14 in Columbus. The rumor of an invite to the Rose Bowl was quickly quelled by the Big Red administration, which did not want to further strain the players' academic situations.

1940
The Fifth-Down Game. No. 1 Cornell improved to 6-0 with a 7-3 victory over Dartmouth in Hanover, scoring on the last play of the game. After reviewing game film on Monday, Coach Carl Snavely and acting athletic director Robert J. Kane wire Dartmouth officials to tell them Cornell scored on a fifth down. The Big Green accepts the forfeit, winning the contest 3-0. Cornell also becomes the only Ivy League school to reach No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, hitting the top spot for three weeks.

1943
In the heart of World War II, travel restrictions limit options for a venue to play a contest against Dartmouth. They were unable to travel to each other as no rail line ran between Ithaca and Hanover. Instead, the two teams met in Boston and played at Fenway Park in the shadow of the "Green Monster." The Big Green won 20-0.

1948
Bob Dean '49 scores from 1-foot out and kicks the PAT with 2:40 left, giving the Big Red a 27-26 come-from-behind victory over Dartmouth in front of 30,000 fans at Schoellkopf Field. The Big Red takes the mythical Ivy League championship with a perfect record behind the feats of Hillary Chollet '50 and Pete Dorset '50.

1951
Cornell defeats defending Big Ten Conference and Rose Bowl champion Michigan, 20-7, in front of the largest crowd in Schoellkopf history (35,300).

1963
Pete Gogolak kicks a then-NCAA record 50-yard field goal against Lehigh. He also sets a major college record with 44 consecutive PAT kicks.

1969
Sophomore Ed Marinaro bursts onto the collegiate scene with a 162-yard effort against Colgate in the season opener. He ran for 100 yards in seven of the team's nine games, posting a school record 1,409 yards on the ground and 14 touchdowns. Included is a then-school record 281 yard performance against Harvard.

1970
Not to be outdone, Marinaro breaks his own school record with 1,425 yards and shares the Asa S. Bushnell Cup for Ivy Player of the Year with Dartmouth's Jim Chasey.

1971
Marinaro caps off his fine career with a then-NCAA record 1,881 yards and 24 touchdowns en route to earning first-team All-America honors. He claims all of the major national player of the year awards except the coveted Heisman Trophy, which he finishes second

Jerome "Brud" Holland '39

The college football Hall of Famer is known for much more than being the first black football player at Cornell. A two-time first-team All-American at end, Holland scored 10 career touchdowns, and later watched as his son, Joe Holland '78, became one of the school's all-time leading rushers. But it was his greatness as a statesman that earned him international fame.

Do You Know Bo?

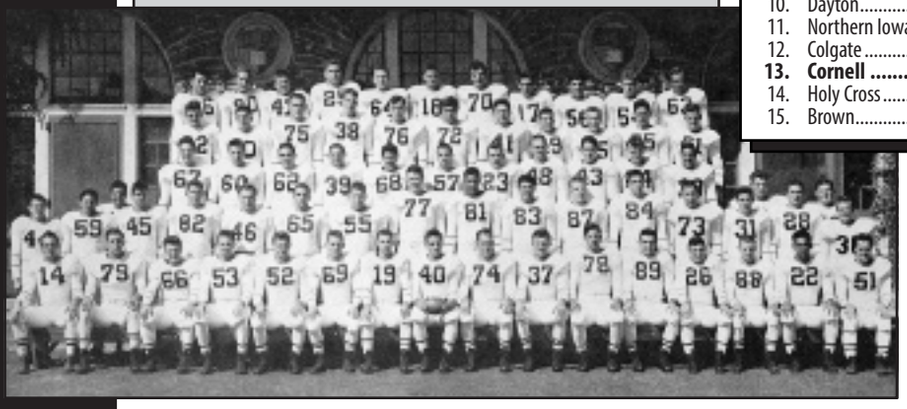

You should ... a sensational three-sport star at Cornell (football, track and field and basketball), Irvin "Bo" Roberson '58 still holds the Cornell record for longest kickoff return (100 yards). The late Dick Schaap '55, a legendary Cornellian himself, said Roberson was the greatest natural athlete ever in the Ivy League.

The Trustees' Cup

Since 1995, the winner of the Cornell-Penn football game has been awarded the Trustees' Cup. Alumni from Penn and Cornell gathered at the New York Penn Club on Sept. 6, 1995 for the dedication of the Trustees' Cup, which thereafter has been presented to the winner of the annual football game. The idea evolved from a series of discussions between officials and alumni of both universities, focusing on what would be the best way to honor one of college football's most celebrated rivalries. The decision was made to establish an award to be presented at an annual luncheon, with the winning team taking the prize home and displaying it for a year.

to Auburn's Pat Sullivan in one of the award's closest votes. The Big Red shares its first-ever Ivy crown on Marinaro's shoulders, matching Dartmouth's 6-1 record in Ancient Eight action.

Derrick Harmon becomes the first Cornell player to earn Ivy League Sophomore of the Year (now Rookie of the Year).

1982

Cornell moves to the Division I-AA classification.

1986

The Big Red made an unlikely run for the league title, finishing the year with just one loss in Ivy play a year after going 3-7 overall. Cornell drops a 31-21 decision to Penn in the season finale as the Quakers claimed the crown.

1988

Cornell brought the Ivy League trophy back to the East Hill in 1988 when the team earned six victories against its Ancient foes. Five individuals earned first-team All-Ivy honors, including Cornell Hall of Famers Scott Malaga (RB) and Mitch Lee (LB). The team outscored its opponents by nearly 100 points while averaging 345.0 yards per game.

1989

Cornell makes a Thanksgiving Day appearance on ESPN, playing a 10 a.m. contest against Penn. The Big Red wins 20-6 and is 3-0 all-time on ESPN.

1990

Cornell posts a 6-1 Ivy mark and a share of the Ancient Eight title under the direction of first-year head coach and former gridiron great Jim Hofher '79. The Big Red leads the league in rushing (242.9 ypg.) and total offense (375.0 ypg.) while outscoring its opponents 180-95. Three of the team's offensive linemen — Jay Bloedorn, Greg Finnegan and Chris Field — earned first-team All-Ivy honors, leading the Big Red's 14 overall selections. Scott Oliaro runs for a school-record 288 yards against Yale.

1991

The Big Red travelled to Division I Stanford to celebrate the Centennial Anniversary of its sister school from the West. The Cardinal win 56-6.

1995

Cornell wins five straight Ivy games midway through the season and finishes tied for second in the Ancient Eight standings.

1996

The Big Red plays its first overtime game, defeating Princeton 33-27 at home in the season and home opener. Chad Levitt '97 falls 58 yards shy of the school's career rushing record after being hurt in his final collegiate game, ending his four-year run with 4,657 yards. He is named second-team All-America and the Ivy League Player of the Year.

2000

Big Red fans are provided with plenty of excitement, as Cornell's all-time leading passer, Ricky Rahne '02, led the team through some amazing fourth-quarter comebacks. The squad battled to win three games by one point each to challenge for the Ivy title, finishing the season in second place.

2001

The season opener at Bucknell is cancelled after the attacks of Sept. 11. When the season begins, Ricky Rahne '02 builds on his passing totals and graduates as the school's career leader in passing (7,710 yards) and touchdown passes (54).

2002

Keith Ferguson '03 graduates as the school's all-time leader in receiving yards (2,569) and becomes the first Cornell player to record 200 career catches (202).

2004

Despite being picked to finish last in the preseason poll by the league's coaches after an 0-7 campaign the previous year, first-year head coach Jim Knowles '87 breathes new life into the program. Cornell goes 4-3 in Ivy play, becoming the second Ancient Eight team to go from a winless league record to a winning mark in the span of one year.

2005

The Big Red went 4-1 at Schoellkopf Field and finished the season with a 6-4 overall mark. Three-time first-team All-Ivy

Ed Marinaro looks for a hole in the 1971 game against Columbia.

The Fifth Down Game

"In view of the conclusions reached by the officials that the Cornell touchdown was scored on a fifth down, Cornell relinquishes claim to the victory and extends congratulations to Dartmouth." -Statement from Cornell Athletic Director James Lynah to Dartmouth College-

"I accept the final conclusion of the officials and without reservation concede the victory to Dartmouth ... with hearty congratulations to you and the gallant Dartmouth team." -Statement from Cornell head coach Carl Snavely to Dartmouth College-

"Thank you for your wire. Dartmouth accepts the victory and your congratulations and salutes the Cornell team, the honored and honorable opponent of her longest unbroken football rivalry." -Statement from Dartmouth Athletic Director William McCarter to Cornell University-

Arguably the greatest example of sportsmanship in the history of athletic competition, the Nov. 16, 1940 Cornell-Dartmouth game has become known as the "Fifth Down Game."

The Big Red, ranked No. 1 in the nation and riding an 18-game win streak, seemingly escaped Hanover, N.H., with a 7-3 victory against the underdog Big Green, scoring on a 6-yard touchdown pass by Walter Scholl on the game's final play. After reviewing game film on Monday, Coach Carl Snavely and acting athletic director Robert J. Kane wired Dartmouth officials to tell them Cornell scored on an inadvertent fifth down, as referee Red Friesell had lost track of the downs.

After Snavely called a team meeting later that day, he let the players make the decision on how to handle the situation. Led by captain Walt Matuszak, Cornell voted to forfeit the contest. Though there were no rules compelling the outcome to be changed, in an unprecedented act of sportsmanship, the Big Red relinquished claims to the win. The Big Green accepted the forfeit and the 3-0 victory. It remains the only time a collegiate sporting contest has been decided off the field after the completion of a game.

Some of Cornell's Greatest Games ...

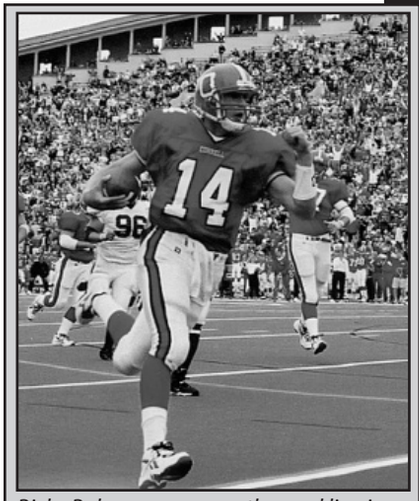

Union 24, Cornell 10 (Nov. 12, 1887 at Ithaca, N.Y.)
Cornell's first official varsity game. The Big Red jumped out to a 10-2 lead before a more experienced Union squad used its greater understanding of the rules of the day to score 22 straight points.

Cornell 10, Harvard 0 (Oct. 23, 1915 at Cambridge, Mass.)
Cornell's first national championship season was highlighted by a stunning 10-0 victory over Harvard, snapping a 10-game Crimson win streak to begin the all-time series.

Cornell 23, Ohio State 14 (Oct. 28, 1939 at Columbus, Ohio)
The powerful Big Ten champs jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the second quarter with 86- and 72-yard touchdown drives, but Cornell rallied, scoring the game's final 23 points to claim the upset. Walter 'Pop' Scholl '41 ran for a 79-yard touchdown, passed for a 26-yard score to knot the game, then watched as Hal McCullough gave the Big Red the lead for good. All-America tackle Nick Drahos '41 kicked a field goal to give Cornell the win.

Dartmouth 3, Cornell 0 (Nov. 16, 1940 at Hanover, N.H.)
The famous "Fifth Down Game." See above.

Cornell 20, Michigan 7 (Nov. 10, 1951 at Ithaca, N.Y.)
In front of a Schoellkopf Field record crowd of 35,300, the Big Red blitzed defending Rose Bowl champion and four-time defending Big Ten champion Michigan 20-7. The Big Red limited the Wolverines to 39 yards rushing, just 16 in the second half, to stifle the visitors. Cornell rallied from a 7-0 halftime deficit for the crowd-pleasing victory.

Ricky Rahne runs across the goal line in a 24-23 victory over Yale in 2000.

Cornell 19, Penn 6 (Nov. 19, 1988 at Ithaca, N.Y.)
The Big Red claimed a share of the Ivy League title by topping previously unbeaten Penn 20-6 in the season finale. Cornell scored 16 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to erase a 6-3 deficit. Included was a goal-line stand with less than four minutes remaining in the third quarter keyed by a fourth-down stop by Brent Felitto at the 1-yard line on fourth-and-2. The Cornell offense then took the ball and marched 99 yards for the go-ahead score, a 15-yard run by Steve Lutz.

Cornell 33, Princeton 27 (Sept. 21, 1996 at Ithaca, N.Y.)
The Big Red wins the first overtime game in school history as Cornell and Princeton battled to two extra sessions to determine a winner. Cornell scored 13 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to tie the game on a 45-yard John Rodin field goal. After both teams scored in the first overtime, Brian Opre ran in from 1-yard out to collect the win.

Cornell 29, Harvard 28 (Oct. 7, 2000 at Cambridge, Mass.)
Joe Splendorio '01 blocked a 27-yard game-winning field goal try in the final seconds as Cornell stormed back from a 28-0 halftime deficit for a 29-28 win. It was the second straight year Splendorio blocked a field goal in the waning seconds to protect a one-point Big Red win over the Crimson.

Cornell 32, Columbia 26 (Nov. 13, 2004 at New York, N.Y.)
First-year head coach Jim Knowles '87 preached all year to his players that they must believe in themselves. He saw the result of that belief in one of the most improbable comebacks in Cornell football history. The Big Red rallied from a 26-7 deficit with 9:33 to play for a 32-26 victory over Columbia. D.J. Busch '05 threw a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns, including the game-winner to Brian Romney '06 with 37 seconds to play. During the rally, Sean Nassoiy '05 intercepted two fourth-quarter passes.

pick Kevin Boothe was chosen in the sixth round of the NFL Draft by the Oakland Raiders and earned first-team All-America honors.

Cornell posts five consecutive home victories to finish the season 5-5 overall, including triumphs over No. 23 Albany and No. 15 Princeton. The win over the Tigers handed the Ivy champion their only defeat of the year, and it also proved to be the highest ranked team Cornell had ever defeated since moving to Division I-AA.

2008
A last-second touchdown pass from Nathan Ford to Jesse Baker gives the Big Red a 25-24 win at Lehigh and caps a school-record 472 passing yards for the Big Red. Ford also sets Cornell single-game records for total offense (447 yards) and pass completions (39).

2010
Kent Austin takes over the Big Red program, and under his tutelage Jeff Mathews '14 becomes the third Cornellian to earn Ivy League Rookie of the Year honors. He sets freshman passing records and becames the first Big Red rookie to start a game at quarterback.

2011
Behind a record-setting offense, Cornell improves its win total from two to five overall and in Ivy League play from one to three, including winning at reigning Ivy champion Penn in its final game. Over the final two weekends of the season, the Big Red scores 110 points in its final two contests, including a modern day record 62 points in a win over Columbia. The offense was directed by sophomore quarterback Jeff Mathews, who was named the Bushnell Cup Winner as Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year. He was joined by All-America receiver Shane Savage, Brad Greenway (PK) and Rashad Campbell (returner) as members of the first-team All-Ivy League squads.

2012
Jeff Mathews becomes the school's career passing leader and is the runner-up for the Bushnell Cup. Senior wide receiver Luke Tasker earns All-America accolades after breaking the school's single-season yards mark, while offensive lineman JC Tretter joins Tasker as a unanimous first-team All-Ivy pick. Tretter is also named an All-American and is invited to the Senior Bowl All-Star Game. After the season, David Archer '05 becomes the nation's youngest Division I football coach when Kent Austin leaves for the CFL.

Cornell Football Legends

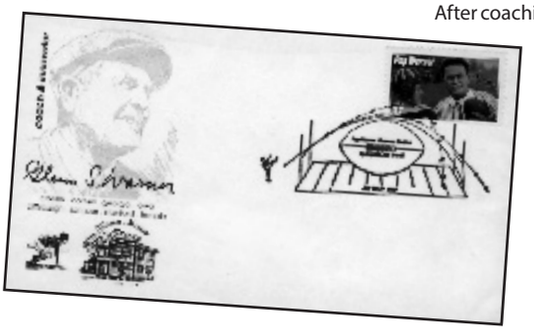

Glenn Scobey (Pop) Warner • Gridiron's Greatest Strategist

Glenn Scobey (Pop) Warner was a colorful individual during his playing days at Cornell and then during an illustrious, uninterrupted 45-year coaching career.

Warner was born in Springville, N.Y., on April 5, 1871, only two days after the first college football game between Princeton and Rutgers. Not only was he one of Cornell's outstanding football players, but he also excelled in track and field, and was its heavyweight boxing champion in 1893.

Upon graduation from Cornell Law School in 1895, Warner began his coaching career at Georgia. He returned to his alma mater for the 1897-98 seasons, then went to Carlisle from 1899-1903. "Pop" came back to Ithaca for a second stint coaching the Big Red from 1904-06, before heading back to Carlisle, where he coached legendary Jim Thorpe.

After leaving Carlisle in 1914, Warner later coached at Pittsburgh (1915-23), Stanford (1924-32) and Temple (1933-38). At the age of 67, he returned to his permanent residence of Palo Alto, Calif., and served as an advisory coach at San Jose State from 1939-40.

After coaching 44 All-Americans and introducing so many of the football practices that we still use today, Warner returned to his oil and water paints, and to his work bench. His imaginative mind produced the screen pass, the rolling block, the naked reverse, series plays and the unbalanced line. He also introduced the numbering of players, huddle, wearing of headgear, spiral punt and the blocking dummy. Warner was the only coach ever to actually invent a system of offense. "Pop" died on Sept. 7, 1954, at age 83, 25 years after founding the Pop Warner Youth Football League, which is still a mainstay for nearly all young football players.

Thirty-nine years after his death, Warner passed the late Amos Alonzo Stagg and became the second winningest coach in major college football. In 1993, Warner was credited by the NCAA with six more victories, increasing his total to 319, with Stagg having 314. His overall 44-year coaching record was 319-106-29. On July 25, 1997, the U.S. Postal Service issued four stamps commemorating Warner, Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers, George Halas of the Chicago Bears and Paul "Bear" Bryant of the University of Alabama.

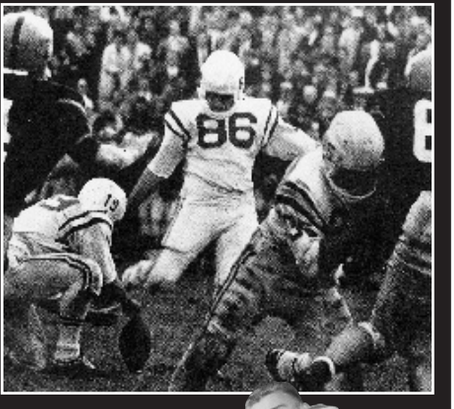

Pete Gogolak • Just For Kicks

A football innovator, Pete Gogolak introduced soccer-style kicking to American football. He was the first player to kick soccer-style in the college and professional ranks.

While at Cornell, Gogolak set a major college record by connecting on 44 consecutive kick conversions from 1961 to 1963 and still holds the Cornell record for consecutive conversions and career conversion percentage (.982, 54-of-55). His 50-yard field goal vs. Lehigh in 1963 was the nation's longest in a major college game. He booted nine career field goals, including eight of 40 yards or more.

After Cornell, Gogolak signed with the Buffalo Bills after being drafted in the 12th round of the AFL Draft. He played two seasons with the Bills, including kicking for the 1965 AFL champion team. He was named kicker of the AFL all-pro team and in 1984, was named to the Silver Anniversary all-time team. After playing out his option with Buffalo, Gogolak signed with the New York Giants and played 10 seasons, becoming the franchise's all-time leading scorer and kicking the longest field goal in team history (54 yards). As of 2006, he is still the leading scorer in Giants history.

Gogolak's family came to the United States from Hungary in 1956. His brother, Charlie, is the all-time top place-kicker in the history of Princeton football. The family's story was featured in Life Magazine in 1963.

Gary Wood • The No. 1 Option

In a game where quarterbacks beat teams with both their arms and legs, Gary Wood was a pioneer. Wood remains one of the great all-around players in Ivy League history more than 40 years after he last dressed for the Big Red.

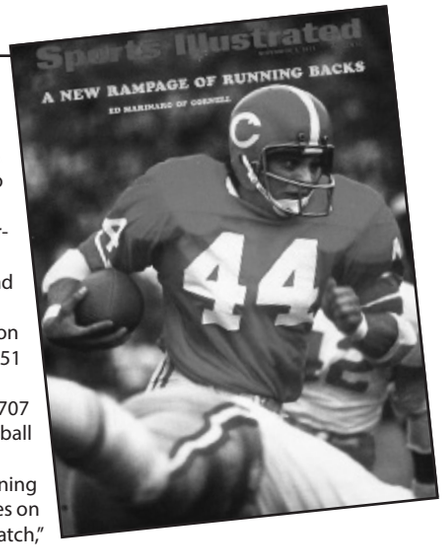

A three-time AP All-Ivy first-team and two-time Coaches All-Ivy first-team pick, Wood was named to the AP's All-East squad as a senior. He set Ivy League records for career total offense (3,457 yards) and rushing (2,156 yards) as well as single-season total offense (1,612 yards in 1962) and rushing (813 yards in '62). He also held the record for total offense in a game (387 yards vs. Penn, 1962). An explosive player, Wood scored on plays of 40 yards or more six times in his three seasons, including an 89-yard kickoff return and an 80-yard run in 1963. He was named one of four "Most Spectacular Players" of the 1962 season and was named national "Back of the Week" by the AP and Sports Illustrated for his 1962 performance in a win over Princeton. He remains the only player in Ivy League history to rush for 2,000 yards and pass for 1,000 more. That doesn't even take into account his 1,326 yards on 50 returns (26.5 yard average).

After graduating from Cornell, Wood joined the New York Giants. Standing just 5-11 and weighing 185 pounds, many said he was too small to play quarterback in the NFL. Wood proved his naysayers wrong, playing five years with the Giants and another with the New Orleans Saints. He later played with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League.

Ed Marinaro • An Era to Remember

In his three seasons as Cornell's tailback (1969-70-71), Ed Marinaro set rushing and scoring records wholesale and won every major honor with the exception of the Heisman Trophy, for which he placed a close second to quarterback Pat Sullivan of Auburn University.

In the 24th game of his 27-game career, against Columbia at Ithaca, he broke Steve Owens' all-time NCAA career rushing record of 3,867 yards, set in 1969, by gaining 272 yards for a total of 4,132—the first player to go over the 4,000 mark in three seasons. He finished up with 4,715.

During his three years at Cornell, he set an NCAA season record of 1,881 yards and a season per-game average of 209.0. His career average of 174.6 is also an NCAA record.

Overall he established eight NCAA career records and tied another, six NCAA single-season records and three other NCAA records.

Marinaro won the national triple-crown in 1971—rushing, all-purpose running and scoring, each based on game-average. All-purpose running includes pass receiving and kick returns. He averaged 214.7 yards with 51 on pass receptions.

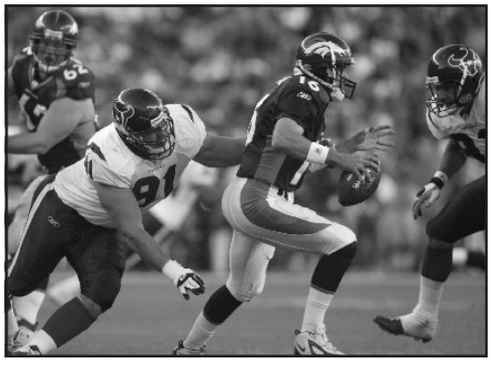

He still holds 11 Ivy League records, including career and season rushing yardage (3,391 and 1,375), carries (707 and 275), touchdowns (36 and 16) and points scored (224 and 100). He was inducted into the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame in 1991.

Marinaro played professionally for the Minnesota Vikings, New York Jets and Seattle Seahawks before beginning an acting career that saw him, most notably, play Officer Joe Coffey on "Hill Street Blues" and Sonny St. Jacques on "Laverne & Shirley." He has also been seen on "Dynasty," "The Twilight Zone," "Touched By An Angel," "Third Watch," "Eight Simple Rules For Dating My Teenage Daughter," and "Monk" among others.

Seth Payne • Development Leads to NFL Success

From scrawny freshman to three-time All-Ivy selection, defensive end Seth Payne '96 remains the school's career leader in sacks with 19 and has gone on to make a name for himself with the NFL's Houston Texans.

As a member of the Big Red, Payne was named first-team All-Ivy as a senior after leading the team with a career-best nine sacks and ranking among the top five on the team in tackles with 84. During his career he earned the defense's Big Play Award, Most Improved Player, the Sid Roth Award twice (designated for the team's most valuable down lineman), and the Red Helmet Award for the outstanding varsity player on defense. The four-year letter winner capped off his career by being selected by the Jacksonville Jaguars in the fourth round of the 1997 NFL Draft.

After five productive seasons with the Jaguars, including 51 starts, Payne was selected by the Texans in the league's expansion draft and made an immediate impact. He started all 16 games in 2002, leading the Texans defensive line with 147 tackles to rank third on the team. His only sack of the season was a safety late in the fourth quarter that led Houston to its first win in franchise history, a triumph over the storied Dallas Cowboys.

Payne was voted by teammates as the recipient of NFL Player's Association 2002 Unsung Hero Award, and was selected to USA Today's 11th annual "All-Joe Team" as one of the most underrated players in the NFL who makes a difference with their work ethic and demeanor. He opened earned the team's Ed Block Courage Award in 2004 and is coming off a career-high four sack, 98-tackle season in 2005.

The 6-4, 303-pounder has made a home for himself in Houston, where he is well known for his work with many charitable organizations, including Teach For America and both the Children's and Shriner's hospitals. He retired after the 2006-07 season.

Derrick Harmon

From the Ivies to the Super Bowl

Tailback Derrick Harmon excelled on both the playing field and in the classroom. He was a two-time Academic All-American and made the Associated Press Division I-AA All-America second team as a senior.

In his final season, Derrick won the Asa Bushnell Award as the Ivy League's Player of the Year, after being named the league's Sophomore of the Year in 1981. He became only the fourth person in the history of the league to go over 1,000 yards in one season when he ran for 1,056 markers in seven Ivy games in 1983.

A two-time All-Ivy first-team selection, Harmon rushed for 3,074 yards on 546 carries in three years and ranks third on Cornell's all-time rushing list and in career rushes. He set the school's single season record for yards per carry (5.9 in 1983) and the career record for yards per carry (5.6, 1981-83). During his three years, he had 14 games of over 100 yards rushing. He also ranks third in career all-purpose running with 3,800 yards.

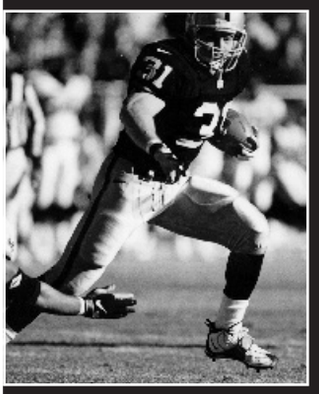

An engineering physics major from New York City, Harmon was the recipient of an NCAA postgraduate scholarship. He was drafted in the ninth round by the San Francisco 49ers and earned a Super Bowl ring in 1985 against the Miami Dolphins.

Chad Levitt
Running With The Best

During his four-year career in a Big Red uniform, tailback Chad Levitt rushed for 4,657 yards, coming just 59 yards shy of breaking the all-time Cornell and Ivy League rushing records. A freak elbow injury in the ninth game of the '96 season kept him from shattering the mark. Levitt led the Ivy League in rushing, scoring and all-purpose running per game for three straight years.

During the 1996 season, he rushed for 1,435 yards on 267 carries for the second-best season ever at Cornell. The three-time All-Ivy first-team back was named ECAC Division I-AA Player of the Year, the Asa S. Bushnell Cup Player of the Year in the Ivy League, and The Football News named him Ivy League Player of the Year for the third consecutive time. He set a school and league career record for most rushing attempts 922), established a school-best mark for 100-yard rushing games in a career (24) and broke the school's all-purpose running standard with 5,036 yards. He ranks second on the all-time scoring list with 292 points.

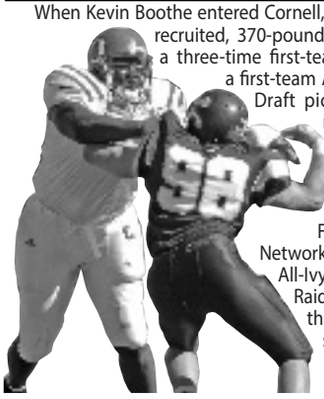

The 6-2, 240-pounder was a two-time ECAC first-team selection and was named to the Associated Press Division I-AA All-America second team following his senior year. He was invited to play in the East-West Shrine and the Blue-Gray all-star games.

A graduate of Cheltenham High School and a Melrose Park, Pa., native, Levitt was a fourth-round draft pick by the Oakland Raiders in the 1997 NFL Draft and started two games as a rookie. He also appeared on rosters for the St. Louis Rams and the Chicago Bears.

Kevin Boothe
Walking The O-Line

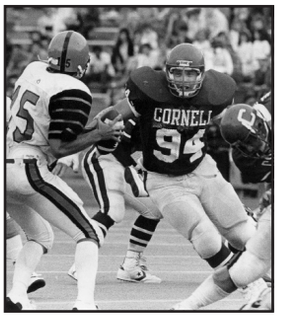

When Kevin Boothe entered Cornell, he came as a lightly recruited, 370-pound lineman. He left as a three-time first-team All-Ivy selection, a first-team All-American, an NFL Draft pick, and is generally regarded as one of the top offensive linemen ever to suit up for an Ancient Eight school.

Boothe was named to the All-America first team by the American Football Coaches Association and to the second team by the The Sports Network and the Associated Press as a senior. Boothe was a unanimous first-team All-Ivy pick in each of his final two years. He was then picked by the Oakland Raiders in the sixth round of the 2006 NFL Draft and ended up starting 14 of the team's 16 games as a rookie. Boothe has played for the New York Giants since 2007. He earned a Super Bowl ring as a reserve offensive lineman and special teams player who helped the squad defeat the New England Patriots in Super Bowl XLII.

Tom McHale • Sack Artist

Tom McHale parlayed his love of football into a longtime NFL career. After excelling as one of the finest defensive linemen in Big Red history, he was called upon to play several positions in the pros, even settling in as a starting offensive guard during his seven-year NFL career.

The 6-4, 260-pound defensive end was named to the Kodak Division I-AA All-America team by the American Football Coaches Association in 1986 to join his awards as an Associated Press Division I-AA first-team and All-Ivy first-team selection. He was the runner-up for Ivy League Player of the Year after setting Cornell records for season (12) and career quarterback sacks (14). He was chosen to play for the East team in the East-West Shrine Game.

McHale transferred to Cornell from Maryland, where he was a starting defensive tackle and played on two bowl teams. In 1987 he signed as a free agent with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and moved to the offensive line, eventually playing seven seasons in the NFL at guard for the Bucs, the Philadelphia Eagles and the Miami Dolphins. After retirement, McHale served as president of the Tampa chapter of the NFL Players Association's Retired Players division. He also put his degree in hotel administration to good use, opening several restaurants in the Tampa area. McHale passed away on May 25, 2008.

Ricky Rahne • Passing Fancy

One of the great quarterbacks in the history of the Ivy League, Ricky Rahne holds nearly every career passing record for the Big Red.

Rahne finished his career as a three-year starter and three-time team MVP. He remains the all-time leader in completions (678), yards (7,710), touchdown passes (54) and 200-yard games (25). He took over the top spot in total offense with 7,994 yards (7,710 passing, 284 rushing) and finished his career ranked as the Ivy League's third all-time career passing leader.

Rahne also garnered awards, being named honorable mention All-America by Don Hansen's Football Gazette in 2000 as well as honorable mention All-Ivy as a sophomore and junior. He also had a penchant for unbelievable comebacks, helping the 2000 team to the nickname "The Comeback Kids."

After working as an intern in the National Football League and at Cintas Corporation, Rahne joined the coaching ranks, spending the 2004 season as an assistant at Holy Cross and 2005 at his alma mater. He is currently the running backs coach at Kansas State

Pete Larson • All-Purpose Runner

An excellent halfback from 1964-66, Pete Larson led the team in rushing as a senior and pass receiving as a sophomore. In three years, he rushed for 1,751 yards on 354 carries, caught 34 passes for 430 yards and scored 22 touchdowns. In 1966, Larson ranked among the top 10 nationally in rushing with 979 yards, leading the Ivy League. He also set league records for both rushing and scoring in a season en route to first-team All-Ivy honors. In addition, Larson was named AP honorable mention All-America, to the All-East second team and the ECAC all-star first-team. As a junior he was an AP All-East and All-Ivy honorable mention selection.

After college, Larson played for two seasons for the Washington Redskins, scoring three touchdowns.

Cornell In Overtime

Beginning with the 1996 football seasons, college football began using an overtime procedure to determine the winner. The Big Red played its first overtime game in its very first game of 1996, topping Princeton 33-27 in two overtimes. Cornell is 5-5 all-time in an extra period, including 4-0 in multiple overtime games. The Big Red has never played beyond two overtimes.

A brief summary of the overtime rules:

• A coin toss determines which side shall attempt to score first, and at which end zone the scores shall be attempted.
• Each team in turn will receive one possession, starting with first-and-10 from a fixed point on the opponent's side of the field: In college football, the possession begins at the opponent's 25-yard line.
• The game clock does not run during overtime; the play clock, however, is enforced.
• A team's possession ends when it scores (touchdown or field goal), misses a field goal, or turns over the ball (either on downs or by the defense otherwise gaining possession). As usual, a touchdown by the offense is followed by a try for one or two points. Starting in triple overtime, teams must attempt a two-point conversion after a touchdown.
• The defense may score a touchdown on a play on which it gains possession by turnover; such a play will satisfy the condition of each team having a possession and will therefore end the game.
• Each team receives one charged time-out per overtime procedure.
• If the score remains tied at the end of the overtime procedure, an additional overtime procedure is played. The team with the second possession in one overtime procedure will have the first possession in the next overtime procedure.
• Overtime procedures are continued until a winner is determined.

Academic All-America Hall of Fame • Joe Holland '78

Joe Holland '78, one of the great players in Cornell football history, was inducted into the CoSIDA Academic All-America Hall of Fame in 1991. The two-time academic All-American ran for nearly 1,400 yards as a senior. At that time, only legendary Cornellian Ed Marinaro had rushed for more. The College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) had Holland give the keynote address at the 2003 convention in Cleveland. The son of fellow Cornell Athletic Hall of Famer Jerome "Brud" Holland, Joe Holland was a third team All-American in 1978.
