FIRST TOUCH

The No. 15-ranked Cornell men's soccer team plays its penultimate regular-season match of the 2022 season this afternoon when the Big Red travels to New Haven, Conn., to face Yale at Reese Stadium.

DARTMOUTH RECAP

Junior HENRY HYLBERT and fifth-year EMEKA ENELI scored for the Big Red, as Cornell defeated Dartmouth, 2-1, preventing a comeback attempt by Dartmouth last Saturday at Berman Field.

Hylbert (37th minute) and Eneli (56th minute) scored the first two goals of the match before Dartmouth's Oskar Magnusson cut into the Big Red lead with his 69th-minute goal.

Cornell's back line thwarted any Big Green chances, yielding just one shot attempt over the final 20-plus minutes of the match.

Freshman goalkeeper RYAN FRIEDBERG continued to improve on his single-season freshman wins record, logging his 12th victory of the season in goal. He stopped two shots in the victory.

WHAT'S AT STAKE

Cornell is seeking its second four-game win streak of the season this afternoon. The Big Red had a six-game win streak, spanning from Sept. 17 – Oct. 8, before it was snapped against Colgate, 1-0, on Oct. 11.

With a win this afternoon, Cornell will register its 13th win of the season, becoming just the fourth team in the 113 years of competition in which men's soccer logged 13-plus wins in a season. They would join the 1995 and 2012 teams who had 15-win seasons and the 1972 squad who finished with a 13-4-0 mark.

Following last weekend's win over Dartmouth, this year's team became the seventh team in program history to win 12 games in a season.

OCTOBER'S NOT SO SCARY...

Cornell concluded October with a 6-2-0 record, marking the second consecutive month with at least six wins. It is the first time in program history that a Cornell team has posted six-plus victories in consecutive months.

The 6-2-0 record in October was the Big Red's best mark in the month of October (min. 5 games played) since going 4-1-0 in Oct. 2012.

CRUNCHING NUMBERS

The United Soccer Coaches released its updated rankings on Tuesday afternoon, featuring Cornell jumping 10 spots in the rankings from No. 25 to No. 15.

Cornell's No. 15 ranking is the highest it has been during the Big Red's five-week span of being in the United Soccer Coaches poll. It is also the highest ranking Cornell has had since being ranked No. 11 on Nov. 13, 2012.

Last Friday evening, during halftime of the Duke - Virginia Tech game on the ACC Network, the NCAA Men's Soccer Tournament committee revealed its top 16 rankings, through games completed on Oct. 27, which featured Cornell at No. 13.

Should Cornell retain its top 16 ranking from the committee, the Big Red would receive a first-round bye in the NCAA Tournament and host a second-round match at Berman Field.

POINTS GALORE!

Senior midfielder BRANDON MORALES is second in the Ivy League with his 21 points (seven goals, seven assists). Morales is one of three Ivy League players with 20-plus points, joining Penn's Stas Korzeniowski (22 points) and Ben Stitz (20 points).

Morales has an Ivy League-leading five multi-point games, logging a pair of multi-goal games and a trio of multi-assist games. Korzeniowski and Stitz are behind with four multi-point games.

Senior CONNOR DROUGHT and junior KISA KIINGI, along with fifth-year Emeka Eneli, also rank in the top 10 in the Ivy League in total points. Kiingi and Drought are tied for eighth with 14 points and Eneli is tied for 10th with 13 points.

Morales' average of 1.40 points per contest ranks third in the Ivy League, trailing Korzeniowski (1.57) and Stitz (1.43).

HELPING THE TEAM OUT

With his assist on HENRY HYLBERT's goal in last Saturday's win over Dartmouth, senior Connor Drought increased his assist total on the year to eight, which is tied for 12th nationally and is second in the Ivy League only behind Harvard's Willem Ebbsing (nine assists).

Drought's eight assists are tied with ADAMO NOTARANTONIO (1995), ADAM SKUMAWITZ (2000), and NICO NISL (2012) for the fourth-most by a Cornell player in a season.

With Drought's next assist, he will assume sole possession of fourth place and would only trail CHRIS AGOLIATI (11 in 1972), ROB ELLIOTT (10 in 1995), and RICHARD STIMPSON (10 in 1998) on the all-time single-season list.

Right behind Drought is senior BRANDON MORALES who has the eighth-most assists by a Cornell player in a season. Morales is currently tied with Stimpson (2000), IAN PILARSKI (2001), DANIEL HABER (2012), TYLER BAGLEY and EMEKA ENELI (2021), who all had seven assists in their respective seasons.

BALANCED SCORING ATTACK

Cornell enters this afternoon's match with 102 points as a team, tied for the 22nd-most by a Division I team through games played on Nov. 1. The 102 points are the second-most by an Ivy League team, trailing Harvard who has 110 points.

Senior midfielder BRANDON MORALES, junior defender KISA KIINGI, senior defender CONNOR DROUGHT, fifth-year forward EMEKA ENELI, and sophomore forward ALIOUNE KA all have at least 10 points this season, marking the first time in Cornell history there has been five players with 10-plus points in a season.

DOUBLE-DIGIT WINS

Freshman goalkeeper RYAN FRIEDBERG has been the Big Red's go-to keeper this year, having started all 15 games this season. Friedberg has logged all but 11:25 of the Big Red's minutes this season, while posting a 12-3-0 record with a 1.01 goals-against average and a .681 save percentage.

Friedberg is just the third Cornell goalkeeper since 1979, when goalkeeper wins were recorded, to register 12-plus wins in a season. Only RICK PFLASTERER (15 in 2012) and QUINN O'SULLIVAN (14 wins in 1995) have more wins in a season.

Following the win over Dartmouth, Friedberg broke a four-way tie for the third-most wins in a season, surpassing HEMANT SHARMA (1996), RYAN SELLOW (2018), and BRADY McSWAIN (2021), to assume third place.

ROAD WARRIORS

Following its victory over Princeton on Oct. 22, Cornell improved to 26-10-1 on the road since the beginning of the 2018 season, good for a .716 win percentage.

Cornell is one of six Division I schools to post a road win percentage north of .700 since 2018. Missouri State (.828) and Washington (.738) have higher percentages than the Big Red, while Georgetown (.712), Saint Mary's (.708), and New Hampshire (.703) are the remaining programs.

Additionally, Cornell's 26 wins since the beginning of the 2018 season are tied for the second-most by a Division I program with High Point. Top-ranked Washington has the most road wins in the span (28).

Following matches completed on Nov. 2, the Big Red is 8-1-0 on the road this season. Cornell's eight road victories are the most by any Division I program this season. Denver (7-1-3) and Western Michigan (7-1-1) are the lone two programs with seven road victories in 2022.

LEADERSHIP TEAM ANNOUNCED

Fifth-year forward EMEKA ENELI, senior defender CONNOR DROUGHT and sophomore defender WILSON EISNER were named the tri-captains for the 2022 season.

Eneli is serving as captain for a third consecutive season, while Drought and Eisner are wearing the armband for the first time in their careers.

HAVING AN EYE FOR THE GOAL

The Big Red has scored 34 goals so far this year, marking the program's eighth time that Cornell has logged at least 34 goals in a season.

It is the second consecutive year and the fifth time over the last 27 seasons Cornell has potted at least 34 goals.

Dating back to 2019, Cornell has scored in 45 of its last 48 matches and in 80 of the 99 games (80.8 percent) played during JOHN SMITH's tenure as head coach at Cornell. The 80.8 percent figure ranks as the fourth-highest total by a Cornell head coach. It is the highest since DAN WOOD (1971-75), the coach in which Smith's position is currently endowed for.

FRIEDBERG'S STRONG START

Freshman goalkeeper RYAN FRIEDBERG has shined for the Big Red between the pipes this season, as he established the freshman record for wins in a season in the Big Red's upset win at then-No. 7 Syracuse on Oct. 4.

Friedberg bested the previous freshman record, which was previously set by STEPHEN BOTT in 1983 and QUINN O'SULLIVAN in 1992.

Through games completed on Oct. 30, Friedberg's 1.01 goals-against average ranks third in the Ivy League, trailing Penn's Nick Christoffersen (0.86) and Brown's Henrik Weiper (0.92).

With Friedberg's clean sheet on Sept. 24 against Marist, it marked the fourth time the Westfield, N.J., native has been a part of a Cornell clean sheet in 2022. Friedberg has the third-most shutouts by a Cornell freshman keeper, trailing Bott (7 in 1983) and O'Sullivan (4.5 in 1992).

ONE FOR THE RECORD BOOKS

The eight goals scored by Cornell against Canisius on Sept. 20 were the second-most by a Big Red squad in a single game, dating back to 1946. It was the most goals scored since the program record was set on Sept. 24, 1965, when Cornell won its season-opener over Syracuse, 12-0.

It was the 14th time in program history, since 1946, in which Cornell scored at least six goals in a match. It was the Big Red's first time netting six-plus goals in a contest since Oct. 12, 2019, in a 6-0 victory over Harvard.

SCOUTING THE BULLDOGS

Yale enters today's match with a 6-4-4 overall record and a 1-3-1 mark in Ivy League play. The lone Ivy League victory for the Bulldogs came against Princeton in a 3-1 triumph on Oct. 8.

The Bulldogs are currently on a four-game winless streak (0-3-1), having scored just three goals during the span.

Last weekend, Yale and Columbia played to a scoreless draw at Rocco B. Commisso Stadium in New York. Yale had a 14-10 edge in shot attempts and a 7-3 advantage in shots on goal.

Paolo Carroll has a Yale-leading seven goals and 15 points on the season. Kahveh Zahiroleslam is the only other Bulldog with a double-digit point total (10 points — four goals and two assists).

Elian Haddock has started 13 of Yale's 14 matches so far this season. Haddock is 5-4-4 on the year with a 1.38 goals-against average and a .727 save percentage. With his three-save clean sheet against Columbia last weekend, it was his first shutout since Sept. 11 against Villanova.

SERIES VS. YALE

Yale enters today's match with a 36-23-13 advantage in the all-time series. The Bulldogs have had the upper-hand in the series recently, winning the last five matches and outscoring Cornell 10-2.

Cornell is looking to beat Yale for the first time since a 2-1 overtime victory at Reese Stadium on Oct. 17, 2015.

Today's match marks the first time Cornell and Yale are playing against each other in November since Nov. 6, 1999, when Yale posted a 2-1 victory on Cornell's home field.

JOHN SMITH

Dr. Daniel P. Wood Head Coach of Men's Soccer
Seventh Season as Head Coach

Smith enters his seventh season at the helm of the Cornell men's soccer team in 2022 and can be credited with the resurrection of a program that went 1-14-2 during his first season.

Cornell has already clinched its fourth consecutive season with double-digit victories following a 10-win season in 2019 and a pair of 11-win seasons in 2018 and 2021.

Since arriving on East Hill, Smith has led the Big Red to victories over perennially strong programs such as Akron, Michigan State, and Syracuse. During his six-year tenure, Smith has coached 16 players that went on to earn All-Ivy designations and four that earned United Soccer Coaches All-Region honors. Two Cornell student-athletes have reached the professional ranks of American soccer under Smith's tutelage.

Prior to joining the Big Red in 2016, Smith served on the Stanford University coaching staff for four seasons, helping the Cardinal to its first national title in program history, when Stanford defeated Clemson, 4-0, marking the most goals scored in an NCAA final since 1996 and the largest margin of victory since 1975. In 2015 alone, Smith coached two First-Team All-Americans, a program-record five All-Far West Regional selections, the Hermann Award winner, four Major League Soccer draft picks and two U.S. Men's National Team players. He helped lead the program to an 18-2-3 record in 2015 – the team's most wins since 2002 – and a 7-1-2 mark in Pac-12 play, establishing a then-program record.

Before joining Stanford, Smith made two stops as an assistant coach at CSU Bakersfield beginning in 1999 before leaving to become the head coach at Incarnate Word before the 2006 season. He returned to Bakersfield in 2011. While at Incarnate Word from 2006-10, Smith amassed a 62-26-10 record and won three conference championships.

As a player, Smith was drafted in the second round (13th overall) by the Columbus Crew in the 1997 MLS College Draft. A two-time All-American at Rollins College, Smith was inducted into the Sunshine State Conference Hall of Fame in 2004.

CORNELL COACHING STAFF

Drew Hutchins
Associate Head Coach
7th season
Stanford '14

Hutchins joined the men's soccer coaching staff in April 2016. Over his first seven years helping guide the program, the team has seen incremental improvements each year. In Hutchins' six seasons on East Hill, he has coached 16 players who have earned All-Ivy recognition, including six All-Ivy League First Team honorees: CHARLES TOUCHE (2018), JOHN SCEARCE (2019), RYAN BAYNE (2019), EMEKA ENELI (2021),

TYLER BAGLEY (2021), WILSON EISNER (2021).

Luke Staats
Assistant Coach
1st season

Lees-McRae '13

Staats enters his first season as an assistant coach for the Cornell men's soccer program. He arrives on East Hill after a four-year tenure at Chowan University, where he served as an assistant and associate head coach.

In 2021, Staats' first season as associate head coach, he helped lead the Hawks to a program Division II-record 13 wins (13-4-2), along with a number of firsts: Conference Carolinas Tournament championship, NCAA Tournament bid, NCAA tournament win and NCAA Sweet 16 appearance, as well as its highest final national ranking (No. 14).
