#YELLCORNELL

► Cornell has played one of the top mid-major schedules in the country, with its six non-conference losses coming against teams that posted a 147-64 record (.697) last year, with each winning at least 21 contests. This year its 10 losses have come to teams that have combined to go 144-72 (.667).

► The Big Red has ranked in the top eight nationally in Division I in fastest pace in four consecutive seasons entering 2025-26.

► That Cornell finished the 2024-25 campaign ranked second in Division I in assists (19.3 per game) is little surprise, as the Big Red has slotted in the top 10 in each of the past four seasons (second in 2025, sixth in 2023 and 2024, seventh in 2022). Ironically, the first assist credited in an NBA game was by a Cornellian, Nat Militzok, for the New York Knicks against the Toronto Huskies in Canada on Nov. 1, 1946.

► The Big Red also has a direct connection to one of its biggest weapons — the 3-point shot. Cornell has finished in the top 20 in Division I in 3-pointers made and attempted in each of the past four seasons, and Big Red alum Ed Steitz '43, a member of the Basketball and FIBA Basketball Halls of Fame, was the original founder and president of Amateur Basketball Association of the United States of America (ABAUSA). He was instrumental in the reinstatement of the dunk in 1976 and was an advocate of the 45-second shot clock and 3-point shot.

► Cornell's 2024-25 squad led the nation in two-point field goal percentage (.620) and effective field goal percentage (.592), was second in assists per game (19.1), third in overall field goal percentage (.501) and fourth in both scoring offense (85.1) and 3-pointers per game (11.2).

► Senior Cooper Noard ranks among the nation's leading scorers at 19.8 ppg. and has chipped in 3.5 rebounds on an impressive 52-40-90 shooting split while playing just 27.2 minutes per contest.

► Noard is one of three double-figure scorers and among 12 players averaging at least 3.8 points per contest, all playing at least 9.1 minutes per game.

► Cornell returns two starters and seven letter winners from last season's 18-11 squad that reached the Ivy League Tournament finals and was the regular season runner-up in the conference.

► Picked third in the Ivy League Preseason media poll, Cornell will be in search of its fifth consecutive appearance in the four-team conference tournament.

► Jaques was previously an assistant and associate head coach at his alma mater and was a captain and starter on the Big Red's 2010 Sweet 16 team.

► Jaques became the first men's head coach to lead a team into Ivy Madness in their first year directing a program when he did so in 2024-25, and was also the winningest first-year head coach in the history of Cornell basketball (18 wins) while being named a finalist for the Joe B. Hall National Coach of the Year for first year DI head coaches.

A WIN OVER COLUMBIA WOULD ...

- push Cornell's record to 11-10 overall and 4-4 in Ivy play.
- give the Big Red a season split with the Lions.
- give Cornell four wins in its past five contests.
- up the Big Red's record to 3-1 on the road in Ancient Eight play this season.
- narrow the Lions' lead in the all-time series to 132-112.
- improve the team's Ivy record to 25-12 over its past 37 league contests (.676).
- up Cornell's all-time record in Ivy League play to 420-539 (.437).

LAST TIME OUT

Penn 91,
Cornell 81
Jan. 31, 2026
Ithaca, N.Y.

• Penn shot better than 55 percent from the field and held off a furious second-half Cornell comeback to halt the Big Red's three-game winning streak with a 91-81 victory at Newman Arena.

• Classmate Jake Fiegen added 23 points and four rebounds, while senior Adam Hinton scored 13 points and junior Jacob Beccles finished with 12 points, four assists and four steals.

• Cornell shot 50 percent from the field in the second half and finished 14-of-33 from 3-point range, but Penn's efficiency and ability to get to the free-throw line proved decisive.

• The Quakers held a 36-26 rebounding edge and out-scored Cornell 22-11 at the foul line.

• The Quakers scored 49 points in the opening 20 minutes and led by as many as 23 points, but the Big Red clawed back to within 49-35 at the break and 69-67 with seven minutes to play.

• Michael Zaroni led the Quakers with 19 points on 6-of-9 shooting, while Ethan Roberts added 17 points and five assists.

Columbia 104,
Cornell 99
Jan. 5, 2026
Ithaca, N.Y.

• A 30-12 second-half run turned the tide and lifted Columbia to a 104-99 victory in the Ivy League opener at Newman Arena.

• The Big Red offense saw six players reach double figures, with senior Cooper Noard pacing the team with 23 points and added five rebounds and three assists.

• Senior Jake Fiegen added 17 points, classmate Josh Baldwin had 15 points to go along with six rebounds and four assists and junior Ian Imegwu had 15 points in just five minutes of action, knocking down five of the team's 15 3-pointers on the night.

• Senior Adam Hinton and junior Jacob Beccles rounded out the double figure scorers with 10 apiece.

• Blair Thompson led Columbia with 26 points, going a perfect 12-for-12 from the foul line, while Kenny Noland added 23 points, five assists and three steals.

• Hampton Sanders came off the bench to score 17 points on 5-for-5 shooting, all in the first half.

CORNELL'S COVID RENAISSANCE

▶ As Cornell and the Ivy League sat out the 2020-21 season due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Big Red head coach Brian Earl and his staff, including then-Associate Head Coach Jon Jaques, spent the winter practicing. Needing to keep distance between players due to COVID restrictions, the Big Red played plenty of games that involved running up and down the floor and shooting.

▶ Seeing the fast-paced practices, Earl and his staff researched teams that played with pace. He decided to go all-in, taking Princeton's offense and speeding it up, watching old Loyola Marymount and Arkansas tape for inspiration.

▶ In 2019-20, Cornell ranked 325th in offensive pace. In 2022, its first year back from the COVID pause, it jumped all the way to third nationally. It was also third in 2022-23, fifth in 2023-24 and eighth last season.

▶ Success has followed. Since 2021, the Big Red is 82-51 overall (37-26 Ivy) with four consecutive appearances in the Ivy League Tournament and the program's first-ever bid to the NIT in 2024.

CORNELL IN THE NBA

▶ Former Big Red standout Chris Mañon '24 took another historic step on Oct. 26, making his NBA debut for the Los Angeles Lakers in a 127-120 victory over the Sacramento Kings at the Golden 1 Center.

▶ The 6-foot-6 swingman checked in during the midway point of the third quarter, grabbing a rebound and recording a blocked shot in two minutes of action.

▶ He has seen action in four games, recording three rebounds, two blocked shots and a steal in 14 minutes (as of 2/2).

▶ Mañon, who signed a two-way contract with Los Angeles earlier in the summer, became the fifth former Cornell player to appear in an NBA game - and the first in more than a decade.

▶ Mañon joined Nat Militzok, Gene Berce, Ed Peterson and Jeff Foote '10 as former Big Red players to play in the NBA.

▶ Mañon's debut marked Cornell's first NBA appearance since Foote suited up for the New Orleans Hornets in 2012.

▶ In the NBA G League for the South Bay Lakers, Mañon is averaging 14.8 points, 6.8 rebounds, 2.9 assists, 2.6 steals and 1.5 blocks in 31.1 minutes per contest (as of 2/2).

▶ Mañon averaged 11.0 points, 5.2 rebounds, 2.0 assists, 1.6 blocks and 1.8 steals in five games at the NBA 2K26 Summer League for the Golden State Warriors, catching the eye of the Lakers and several other organizations.

▶ A first-team all-league and all-region selection as a senior at Cornell, Mañon was a two-time all-tournament selection at Ivy Madness.

THE BIG RED IN ITALY

▶ Cornell men's basketball team experienced Italy's iconic art, history and cuisine during a 10-day overseas tour from August 1-11.

▶ Beginning with a five-day training camp in Ithaca on July 26 prior to departure, the team visited Rome, Florence, Venice and Milan.

▶ The Big Red's first foreign trip since 2016 (Spain) served as a unique preseason opportunity for second-year head coach Jon Jaques '10, his new staff and a roster of veterans and newcomers.

▶ The program had previously competed in Australia, Belgium, Cuba, Denmark, France, Germany, Puerto Rico, Spain and Sweden and suited up against the Canadian champions and national teams from countries spanning from Great Britain and Egypt to Luxembourg.

▶ The Big Red took care of business on the court, going 3-0 and averaging 94.0 points per game with the entire roster seeing action — Cornell knocked off Stella Azzurra (95-41) in the opener, before topping ProCamp Azzurra (102-55) and the Italian Select Club (85-64).

▶ NCAA rules allow teams one foreign tour every four years, offering rare additional practices and invaluable bonding time.

▶ The trip was supported by an existing endowment as well as program gifts and continued the program's tradition of representing Cornell on the global stage.

CORNELL TO HOST IVY MADNESS

▶ The Big Red will host Ivy Madness from March 13-15, 2026 at Newman Arena in Bartells Hall.

▶ Cornell is seventh school to host as part of the Ivy League's rotation of hosting the men's and women's basketball tournaments on different campuses each year.

▶ The champions of the 2026 tournaments will earn an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournaments.

▶ Ticket information went on sale on Jan. 2 at CornellBigRed.com.

JAQUES' PLAYING JOURNEY

• Named one of three captains of the Cornell men's basketball team prior to the 2009-10 season.

• In his first 93 games on the roster, he played in just 37 for a total of 112 minutes, scoring 33 points with 22 rebounds and five assists (1.0 ppg., 0.6 rpg., 0.1 apg.) as Cornell went 63-30.

• Was better known at the time for his work as a blogger with the New York Times.

• Due to injury and foul trouble, Jaques played 15 minutes in the finale of the Legends Classic (a 61-54 victory at Drexel on Nov. 29, 2009) — he had a rebound, two steals and two gigantic free throws to seal the game with 21 seconds left.

• As a token of his importance to the team, head coach Steve Donahue selected Jaques to the all-tournament team to represent the Big Red. Donahue made the selection thinking it might be the one time for Jaques to shine in his career. He said he was "emotional about it because I thought that might be it."

• He played six minutes in a 104-98 win at Bucknell a few days later, then earned his first career start on Dec. 6 vs. Saint Joseph's scoring 15 points.

• Two weeks later he scored 20 points with three rebounds and three steals along with 5-of-6 shooting from 3-point range — including the dagger trey with 33 seconds left — at Madison Square Garden to claim the historic Holiday Festival in the finals against St. John's.

• In all, Jaques started 23 of the final 26 cotests (23-3) and averaged 7.8 points, 3.1 rebounds, 1.1 steals while hitting 1.6 3-pointers per game on .461 shooting beyond the arc and .518 shooting from the floor overall.

• Cornell won its third straight Ivy title and became the first Ivy League team since 1979 (Penn) to reach the NCAA Sweet 16.

• "The best story in college basketball, in my mind," said Yale coach James Jones about Jaques during the NCAA run.

• "It's everything that's right with persistence. It's what every parent should want their children to do," said former Big Red assistant and Army West Point head coach, now Drexel head coach Zach Spiker.

BIG RED BASKETBALL HISTORY

With more than 125 years of basketball to call upon, the Big Red has an incredibly storied history on the college hardwood. Cornellians have been successful in the NBA (both on the hardwood and in the board room) and have often challenged the best teams in the country.

From Cornell Hall of Famers Howard Ortner and Sam MacNeil to Albert Sharpe, Royner Greene, Steve Donahue, Brian Earl and now Jon Jaques '10, Big Red coaches have routinely put their teams in positions to compete for championships, claiming eight EIBL or Ivy League titles. Most recently, three consecutive Ancient Eight crowns (2008-09-10), including an NCAA Sweet 16 appearance in 2009-10, an appearance in the 2019 CIT and the 2024 NIT, show that the Big Red continues to rewrite history.

Five NCAA Tournament bids. Five Ivy League Tournament appearances. More than 1,300 wins. NBA players and dozens of professional basketball players around the globe. From being a charter member of the first basketball conference in the college game (Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League), to now being a part of the oldest and most stable athletic grouping (Ivy League), Big Red basketball has played an important role in the history of college basketball.

Basketball first appeared at Cornell in 1892, and a club was formed in 1898 after with J.S. Hills as elected manager and R.F. Ludwig named captain. For the first three years it was not officially recognized by the Athletic Council, and consequently could not use the name Cornell. In 1901, however, the team was granted the rights to use the Cornell name. It's name has been stitched on the front of jerseys ever since, and Cornellians have been instrumental in the growth of the college, professional and international games.

Ed Steitz '43, a member of the Basketball and FIBA Basketball Halls of Fame, was the original founder and president of Amateur Basketball Association of the United States of America (ABAUSA), now USA Basketball. He served for more than 25 years as secretary, editor and national interpreter of the NCAA Men's Basketball Rules Committee, authoring more than 90 books and 300 articles on basketball and its rules. He was instrumental in the reinstatement of the dunk in 1976 and was an advocate of the 45-second shot clock and 3-point shot. Steitz also helped establish the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. while serving as head basketball coach and athletic director at Springfield College.

Nat Militzok was the first Cornellian to play in the NBA, and may have been the first player from any school to step on an NBA court. He had the honor of playing in what is considered the first game in league history for the New York Knicks against the Toronto Huskies in Canada on Nov. 1, 1946 and was credited with the first assist in league history.

Cornell has played games in 47 states (only Alaska, North Dakota and Mississippi are holdouts), as well as in Australia, Belgium, Cuba, Denmark, France, Germany, Puerto Rico, Spain and Sweden. The Big Red has suited up against the Canadian national champions and national teams from countries spanning from Great Britain to Egypt to Luxembourg, all the while representing one of the world's most fabled Universities.

Characters abound in Big Red lore, from diminutive 5-6 All-American Chuck Rolles to 7-0 local star Jeff Foote. Matt Morgan, Ryan Wittman and John Bajusz, the top three scorers in school history, are well-regarded as among the finest shooters to ever grace the Ivy League courts. Standouts like Lee Morton, Ken Bantum and Louis Dale have been honored as the top player in the conference, and nine have garnered a total of 10 All-America honors. Twelve have been drafted into the NBA and five have earned coveted spots on the Academic All-America team, showing the balance of athletics and academics the Ivy League prides itself in. Chris Mañon '24 is the fifth, and most recent Big Red alum to play in the NBA, currently in his rookie year with the Los Angeles Lakers.

Away from the court, Cornellians have been surgeons and architects, engineers and professors. They've tackled Wall Street, coached future generations of basketball players and served their communities in every way possible - just like tens of thousands of their classmates and fellow alumni.
