Chris Chamides
Head Coach

After leading the Golden Eagles to their second NCAA Division II West Region Championship in the past four years with a record-setting performance in 2014, Chris Chamides returns for his 13th season as the head coach of the men's soccer program at Cal State L.A.

Chamides crafted a defense that led the NCAA Division II in goals against average and save percentage and helped the Golden Eagles finish the season with a national ranking of 6, which was the best for the program since 1992.

Chamides has turned around a program that had seven straight losing seasons before he arrived in 2003 and transformed it into one of the top programs in the nation. He has led the Golden Eagles to a 144-68-35 overall record in his first 12 years and became the program's all-time wins leader in 2011. In the past nine years, Cal State L.A. is 119-42-30 with eight trips to the CCAA Championship Tournament and seven appearances in the NCAA playoffs in the past nine years. He has guided the Golden Eagles into the NCAA West Region championship match five times during that span, including championships in 2011 and 2014. Chamides also led the team to No. 1 national rankings during the 2009 and 2010 seasons.

Chamides, who has vast experience in both Major League Soccer (MLS) and NCAA soccer, has earned six Coach of the Year awards in his 12 years at Cal State L.A. and directed Cal State L.A. into a national top-10 ranking in each of the past eight seasons.

Cal State L.A. has collected 54 All-CCAA, 33 All-West Region and 11 All-America awards during Chamides' tenure. That total includes three CCAA Player of the Year awards, two CCAA Freshman of the Year awards and two CCAA Newcomer of the Year awards. Cal State L.A. has also earned the first four CoSIDA Academic All-America awards in the program's history in the past four years, including two last year.

Over the past four seasons, the Golden Eagles are 55-12-18 overall and an incredible 39-6-13 in conference play with four CCAA Championship Tournament and NCAA Division II playoff appearances.

Chamides came to Cal State L.A. after achieving great success with a pair of Major League Soccer organizations. He served as the Senior Director of Soccer for the San Jose Earthquakes from 2000-02. While in the role, Chamides was directly involved in all soccer-related facets, including roster development. He helped build a San Jose squad that won the 2001 MLS Cup one year after having the league's worst record. The roster included high-profile players such as Landon Donovan, Jeff Agoos, Dwayne DeRosario and Jimmy Conrad.

Chamides also served as an assistant coach for Chivas USA for four seasons. In 2006, he worked under MLS Coach of the Year and former U.S. National Team Head Coach Bob Bradley and he also worked for three years with former Chivas USA Head Coach Preki. In his time with Chivas USA, the roster included Claudio Suarez, Ramon Ramirez, Paco Palencia, Jonathan Bornstein, Sacha Kljestan, Jesse Marsch, Ante Razov and Brad Guzan. Chivas USA reached the MLS playoffs in each of the four seasons, their only playoff appearances in team history.

At Cal State L.A., Chamides directed a championship team in 2014 that advanced past UC San Diego, Azusa Pacific and Seattle Pacific in the NCAA playoffs to win the West Region title and finished the season ranked No. 6 in the country. A dramatic 1-0 win in overtime at top-seed Seattle Pacific gave the Golden Eagles their most recent NCAA West Region Championship and a spot in the NCAA Quarterfinals.

Cal State L.A. finished the 2014 season with a 15-4-2 overall record and set new program records for goals against average (0.415), fewest goals allowed in a season (9) and most shutouts (13).

The 2013 season included the sixth conference title in the program's history and the second in a three-year span. The Golden Eagles put together a 15-match unbeaten streak that began after their lone regular-season defeat and continued with CCAA Championship Tournament victories over Sonoma State and UC San Diego.

Cal State L.A. earned the No. 1 seed in the NCAA Division II West Region and hosted the first two rounds of the NCAA playoffs. The Golden Eagles were 14-2-5 overall and 10-1-5 in conference play. The Golden Eagles had the best regular-season record in the 12-team CCAA for the fourth time in five years and finished the year with a national ranking of 13.

Chamides led the Golden Eagles to an 11-4-5 overall record in 2012 that included another riveting NCAA playoff run. After guiding Cal State L.A. to a conference-best 10-2-3 record and a second straight CCAA South Division title, the Golden Eagles earned the No. 6 seed in the West Region and played a pair of hard-fought playoff contests that were both ultimately determined by penalty kicks.

Chamides was named the CCAA Men's Soccer Coach of the Year for a third time in 2011 after guiding the Golden Eagles to one of the best seasons in the program's history. Cal State L.A. compiled a 15-2-6 overall record and finished the season ranked No. 8 in the nation by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. Chamides guided the Golden Eagles to their first national top-10 finish in 30 years.

Cal State L.A. captured its first conference tournament title and secured the fifth CCAA championship in the program's history. Chamides then directed the Golden Eagles past Chico State in the opening round of the NCAA playoffs before an exciting 3-2 win over host Seattle Pacific in the West Region Championship match. That win sent the Golden Eagles to their first NCAA Quarterfinal appearance since 1981.

Chamides led the Golden Eagles to a 9-7-1 overall record in 2010. Cal State L.A. was ranked No. 1 in the nation for two weeks early in the season before a rash of injuries slowed the team down.

It was a solid follow-up to a historic season in 2009 when Chamides led the Golden Eagles to an 18-4-1 overall record and to the CCAA South Division championship. Cal State L.A. earned its first-ever No. 1 national ranking during the season and earned the No. 1 seed in the NCAA Division II West Region. The Golden Eagles were ranked No. 7 in the nation in the last regular-season poll and the 18 wins were the second-most in the program's history. Chamides earned his second CCAA Coach of the Year in men's soccer in the process. Cal State L.A. hosted the NCAA Division II West Regional and beat Cal State San Bernardino in the first round to advance to the NCAA West Region championship match.

The Golden Eagles recorded a 13-5-4 overall record in 2008 and were ranked 14th in the nation in the final NSCAA poll. Cal State L.A. was ranked as high as No. 4 in the nation during the regular season. The Golden Eagles ousted Sonoma State on penalty kicks in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament to advance to the West Region championship match.

In 2007, Cal State L.A. posted an 11-6-4 record and recorded a second straight winning season for the first time since 1993-94.

Chamides was named the 2006 NSCAA West Region Coach of the Year after guiding the Golden Eagles to 13-8-2 overall record and their first winning season since 1996. He led Cal State L.A. to its first NCAA playoff berth since 1994 and its first NCAA postseason victory since 1992, a 2-1 win over No. 2 seed Seattle Pacific.

In 2005, he guided the Golden Eagles to a 9-9 overall record and Cal State L.A. had both the CCAA Player of the Year and CCAA Freshman of the Year. In 2004, Chamides earned CCAA Coach of the Year honors for the first time when he led the Golden Eagles to a 9-9-1 overall record and the program's first .500 record since 1996.

Chamides took over the program in 2003 and guided the team to a 7-8-4 record, which marked a significant improvement from 2002 when the Golden Eagles were 5-13.

Chamides was also the head coach of Cal State L.A.'s women's soccer program from 2003-12 and, as with the men, is the program's all-time leader in wins with a 103-69-25 mark in 10 seasons. He turned around a program that had not produced a winning record before his arrival and built the Golden Eagles into one of the top programs in the nation. The Golden Eagles were a sensational 52-17-12 over his last four years and finished the season ranked in the national top-15 three times. He led the Golden Eagles to winning records in eight of his last nine seasons with a 99-55-25 mark over that stretch.

Cal State L.A.'s women's program collected 43 All-CCAA, 21 All-West Region, four All-America, three CCAA Player of the Year and one West Region Player of the Year awards during his tenure. The Golden Eagles also had two players earn CoSIDA Academic All-District honors since his arrival.

Prior to his years in Major League Soccer, Chamides was the head men's and women's soccer coach at Flagler College in St. Augustine, Fla. from 1997-99. The Flagler women's team improved from 2-15 before his arrival to 12-7 in 1998. The men's squad was ranked as high as 17th in the country and four Flagler players earned All-America honors during his tenure. During that time span, Chamides was also a coach in the Florida Olympic Development Program and was hired as the head coach of the USL's expansion Jacksonville Jade in 1999.

In 1995, Chamides got his first collegiate coaching job when he was hired as an assistant for the University of Massachusetts' women's soccer program. During his two years in Amherst, Massachusetts was ranked as high as No. 6 in the country, won two Atlantic-10 Conference titles, made two consecutive "Sweet 16" appearances in the NCAA Division I Tournament and compiled a 30-9-3 record.

His first head coaching job came in 1993 when he worked with both the junior varsity and varsity boys soccer teams at his alma mater, Xaverian High School in Brooklyn, N.Y. That same year, he was also tabbed by then-Virginia head coach, former USA National Team coach and current Los Angeles Galaxy head coach Bruce Arena to serve as a staff coach at the University of Virginia's summer soccer camps. In 1994, he also coached the S.C. Gjoa U-16 boys club team in Brooklyn, leading the squad to the State Cup.

Chamides played in college for NCAA Division I Lafayette College from 1988-92. He was a team captain as a senior. Lafayette posted a winning record in each of his four seasons and had an overall mark of 43-32-5.

He owns an "A" license from the U.S. Soccer Federation and has an Advanced National Diploma from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. Chamides earned a Masters of Science degree in Sports Management from the University of Massachusetts.

Chamides and his wife, Nancy, were married during the summer of 2005 and have celebrated the birth of two sons, Ryan and Andrew.
