OPENING SERVES

IVY LEAGUE PLAY HEATING UP

The conference slate is in full swing as the Big Green play on their home court for a second consecutive weekend, hosting Brown and Yale. We'll learn a lot about where these teams stand in the Ivy League following this weekend. Brown went 13-1 in the Ancient Eight last season to earn the conference title, but Yale looks to now have the upper hand on its travel partner. The Bulldogs defeated the Bears in five sets to open conference play two weeks ago.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION

Last time out, Dartmouth defeated Penn 3-1 on national television. The Big Green were dominant aside from their slip-up that allowed the Quakers to storm back in the third set.

LAST SEASON

Dartmouth wasn't able to win a set between two matchups against Brown last year, but a win over Yale was one of the season's brightest highlights. It was the first since 2015.

PLAYERS TO WATCH

16 • AMELIA GIBBS

The junior had one of the best single-season hitting percentages in program history last year and has been even more efficient this season. Most recently hitting .400 or better in both matches last weekend, her .384 mark leads the Ivy League.

9 • TAITE RYAN

Ryan does a little bit of everything for the Big Green. Though she's an outside hitter by trade, the senior racks up the digs as well. Ryan ranks second on the team in digs per set with 2.88 and she posted 10 kills in three sets against a powerful Princeton offense that leads the nation in kills per set.

BIG GREEN QUICK HITS

LAST TIME OUT

Dartmouth struggled to find a rhythm in a three-set loss against Princeton, but bounced back after a day off to defeat Penn, 3-1. In what will certainly go down as a memorable day for the Big Green, the program hosted its first-ever nationally televised match at Leede Arena and aside from the Quakers' set-securing run in the third, Dartmouth looked excellent on the big screen. Ellie Blain racked up 13 kills with a .435 hitting percentage and Amelia Gibbs followed with 10 kills at a .412 clip. With three aces, Blain was also the catalyst behind Dartmouth's season-high-tying 11 aces.

SATURDAY'S SERVES

Look for plenty of aces as Dartmouth and Yale battle it out on Saturday. The Big Green rank fourth in the nation in aces per set with 2.2, while their Ivy League brethren average 2.02 and rank ninth in the country. Yale's Cara Shultz ranks second nationally in aces per set (0.82), but tallies just as many errors with her aggressive approach. Ava Roberts leads a balanced Dartmouth squad with 0.49 aces per set, but has only eight total service errors on the season compared to her 18 aces.

BOMI'S BLOCKS

She may not have the height you'd expect from a team's leading blocker, but Bomi Ogunlari is on pace for one of the best seasons in program history in that regard. The junior currently averages 1.17 blocks per set and the single-season program record stands at 1.18, set by Tola Akinwumi in 2018. After notching five (3S, 2A) against Penn, Ogunlari needs one more for 50 blocks on the season.

LAST TIME VERSUS BROWN

Dartmouth, like most Ivies, went winless against the Bears in 2021. The Big Green suffered a season-ending three-set loss on senior day at the hands of Brown, but did show some progress. Dartmouth hit just .059 on the road against that squad, but upped that percentage to .127 in November's matchup at Leede Arena. Brown went on to lose to Washington in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

LAST TIME VERSUS YALE

Dartmouth was slow out of the gates in Ivy League play last year, but proved to be a tough out later in the season with a five-match win streak. Part of that stretch was a five-set win over Yale at Leede Arena - the first time the Big Green had defeated the Bulldogs since 2015. Amelia Gibbs had a career day with 15 kills (.448) in that win, which avenged the four-set loss Yale handed Dartmouth in New Haven a month prior. Dartmouth hasn't beaten Yale in consecutive meetings since 1999.

WATCH OUT FOR SHEIRE

Brown's junior right-side hitter Kate Sheire was named Ivy League Player of the Week after finishing last weekend with 21 kills on just 32 attacks with no errors - good for a whopping .656 percentage.

WHAT'S AHEAD

The Big Green are on the road next weekend for the Columbia/Cornell trip. They'll return to Leede Arena Friday, Oct. 21 to host Harvard for a 7 p.m. first serve.

THE COACHING STAFF

HEAD COACH GILAD DORON

Gilad Doron is entering his seventh year at the helm of the program in 2022 after being named head coach in April of 2016. He is the third head coach in program history.

Dartmouth finished the 2021 season with a 15-8 record, which marked the Big Green's best since 2011. Doron guided the team to a 6-0 start and a pair of tournament titles, including the Dartmouth Invitational, which the Big Green won for the first time since 2015. In Ivy League play, Dartmouth enjoyed a five-match winning streak, capped by a five-set thriller against Yale - the first victory over the Bulldogs in six years. Freshmen Ellie Blain and Emma Engstrom received Second Team All-Ivy honors following the season.

Prior to the cancellation of the 2020 season, Doron's Big Green went 10-15 in back-to-back seasons 2018 and 2019. The 2017 team posted a 10-13 record after a 9-16 mark in Doron's first season in Hanover.

Doron came to Dartmouth from the University of San Francisco, where he spent nine years as the Dons' head coach and three as the co-head coach of the beach volleyball team. Compiling the winningest record in USF history, he boasted an overall record of 131-130 and a program-best 60 victories against West Coast Conference foes during his stint in the Golden Gate City. In 2008, he led the team to its best ever WCC finish (2nd) and an NCAA Tournament appearance. The Dons were also No. 22 in the country, their best national ranking.

Prior to his appointment at USF in March of 2007, Doron served as head coach at Villanova for three seasons (2004-06) and as an assistant coach at Temple (1996-99), where he helped lead the lead to three consecutive Atlantic 10 championship titles and NCAA appearances (1997-99). He also founded the Philadelphia Volleyball Academy, a nationally ranked club comprised of five teams of players between the ages of 14-18.

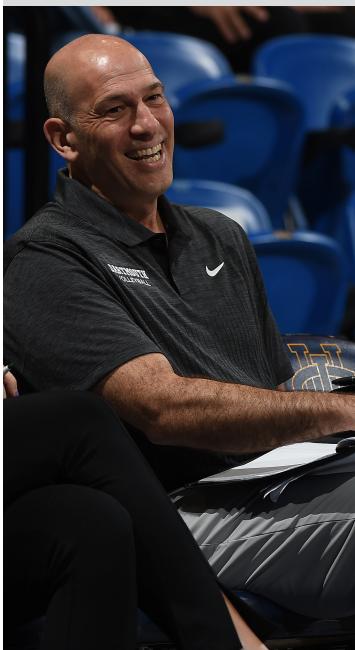

Doron began his coaching career in his native Israel as the head men's volleyball coach for the Mate Asher Professional Club, where he mentored national team players from Israel, the Czech Republic, Romania and Croatia. He led his teams to the 1994 Israeli Championship and the finals of the 1995 Israel Cup.

An accomplished player himself, Doron competed for the Israeli national team for 10 years and was part of the squad that placed fourth in the World University Games in Japan in 1995. He played 12 seasons with aforementioned Mate Asher, helping lead the club to four Israeli League titles and a pair of Israeli Cup championships.

Doron graduated from Temple in 2000 with a degree in business administration.

ASSISTANTS

ALESHA WILSON
NC STATE '14

Alesha Wilson was hired as an assistant volleyball coach in May of 2021.

Wilson completed her graduate assistant position at the University of Dallas in 2021. During her time there, the Crusaders went 40-46 overall with two fourth place finishes in the conference, making it to the post-season each year.

She also coached for one season as an undergraduate assistant at her alma mater, North Carolina State in 2015, helping the Wolfpack go 16-16 that fall.

Wilson graduated from North Carolina State in 2014 and was a four-year member of the Wolfpack volleyball team. As a sophomore, she was second on the team in total blocks and fourth in total attacks, helping the team make its first NCAA Tournament appearance since 1987.

Wilson went on to earn her Bachelor of Science in chemical and biomolecular engineering with a Spanish minor in 2016 and her Master of Leadership in 2021.

REGAN SCOTT
LSU '06

Regan Scott, a 15-year professional player and former national team member, was hired as an assistant volleyball coach in June of 2022.

Scott's lengthy professional career took her across the globe with stints in Spain, Azerbaijan, The Netherlands, Romania, Turkey, Puerto Rico, Poland, Italy, Germany, Greece and Romania.

Scott also found time to compete with the U.S. National Team from 2011-14, helping the squad finish third at the Pan American Games in Guadalajara in 2011. There was also a fifth-place finish in the World Grand Prix, and she captained the team to a second-place showing in Mexico City in the Pan America Cup in June of 2014.

A 2006 graduate of LSU, Scott was a four-year letterwinner for the Tigers and served as a captain in her junior and senior seasons. She was a Second Team All-SEC selection in 2003 and ranks sixth all-time in kills per set (3.31).
