The Game

The Delaware State Lady Hornets look to continue their recent winning ways with a contest against unbeaten Binghamton of the Div. I America East Conference. Delaware State (3-1) brings a three-game win streak into the contest. The Lady Hornets are coming off a 69-48 victory over Georgian Court in their most recent outing last Saturday (Nov. 16). Lanayjha Ashe and Melissa Sam led DSU with 16 points each. Ashe's performance was highlighted by three three-point field goals, while Sam came off the bench to knock down six-of-eight shots from the floor, while leading the Lady Hornets with eight rebounds. Sharajah Collins contributed 14 points for DSU vs. Georgian Court. After opening the season with a loss to Lehigh, the Lady Hornets posted victories over Post (N.Y.) and Delaware before taking on Georgian Court. Collins, the reigning MEAC Co-Player Of the Week, leads the team in scoring at 14.0 points per game. She also has team-highs of six three-pointers and nine assists in DSU's four game this season. Ashe is second on the Lady Hornets in scoring at 10.8 points per game. DSU is dealing with a couple of injury issues. Guard Janasia Law (jr.) left the Georgian Court contest in the second half with an apparent knee injury, while center Tierra Floyd (gr.) has missed two games due to a foot injury.

The Lady Hornets are seeking their first four-game win streak since taking five in a row during the 2012-13 season.

Binghamton is off to a 4-0 start. The Bearcats posted a 74-55 victory over Niagara in their last outing. Kai Moon led three double-figure scorers with 25 points, while Kaylee Wasco added 17 points and Denai Bowman chipped in 13. Moon brings a 27.8 point per-game average into the Delaware State contest. Carly Boland is second on the team in scoring at 12.8 points per game. The Bearcats also have wins over Sienna (89-62), Lafayette (74-64) and Bloomsburg (70-45) this season.

The Series

The Hornets and Bearcats are meeting for the second time. Binghamton won the first contest 90-84 on Nov. 15, 2014 at a tournament in Akron, OH.

DELAWARE STATE HEAD COACH DAVID CAPUTO

Delaware State Director of Athletics Dr. Scott Gines announced the appointment of David Caputo as the University's women's basketball head coach on Aug. 10, 2018.

Caputo's first season at Delaware State was highlighted by a 7-5 overall record at home, including a 5-3 mark versus Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference opponents.

Also during the 2018-19 season, Delaware State's NaJai Pollard was the first Lady Hornet to earn Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference Player-of-the-Year honors since the 2002-03 season.

Caputo's head coaching career is highlighted by six conference championships in seven seasons as a head coach, a 136-59 overall record, including 95-16 against conference opponents, two NCAA Tournament appearances and four nationally-ranked teams.

He most recently served as a women's basketball assistant at the University of North Carolina-Wilmington of the NCAA Div. I Colonial Athletic Association during the 2017-18 season.

His career also includes Div. I assistant coach positions at Louisiana Tech and Florida Atlantic.

Prior to his stint at UNCW, Caputo enjoyed a highly successful four-year run as head coach at NCAA Division II Bloomfield College in New Jersey. In his first season, he led the Bears to the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference championship and the NCAA Tournament for the first time in team history.

Caputo compiled an overall record of 82-36 (.729 win pct.) at Bloomfield, including a 65-11 mark in conference games (.855). His teams claimed three CACC regular season titles and two NCAA Tournament berths.

Under Caputo's guidance, the Bears won 20-or-more games three times. He was selected as the CACC Coach-of-the-Year in 2015-16 after leading Bloomfield to school records for total victories (24), conference wins (18) and the program's first at-large berth in the NCAA Tournament. The following season (2016-17), Bloomfield posted a 21-8 overall record and 17-2 conference mark. His two-year conference record of 35-3 was third best among all Div. 2 coaches during the span.

Also during his tenure, Bloomfield produced one CACC Player-of-the-Year, two conference defensive players-of-the-year, an All-America honoree and 10 all-conference players.

From 2011-to-2013, Caputo was an assistant coach at Louisiana Tech of the Western Athletic Conference. As the team's recruiting coordinator, his 2012 class of newcomers was ranked No. 1 in the WAC and 55th among all NCAA Div. 1 teams (350 schools). The list included the second-ranked junior college player at her position.

During his first season at Louisiana Tech, the Lady Techsters reached the WAC Tournament championship game.

As an assistant at Florida Atlantic, Caputo helped produce the nation's 54th best recruiting class during the 2007-08 season, while the 2017-18 UNC-Wilmington newcomers ranked 75th in the country during his year with the Seahawks.

"David Caputo is a proven teacher, leader and winner," said Gines. "He has an infectious spirit and his career displays passion, perseverance and the fruits of making programs bigger, faster, stronger and more competitive at the conference and national levels."

Gines added, "David is an adaptive and relentless recruiter with a keen ability to build team cohesion and elevate performance in all areas. I strongly believe he will resonate with our current players, campus, alumni and community."

Caputo's career also includes a three-year stint as head coach at Florida's Indian River Community College, leading the team to three regular season conference championships and three National Junior College Div. I regional Elite 8 appearances from 2008-to-2011.

His 30-5 conference record at Indian River was tops among all Florida junior college coaches during his three years at the school.

The 2008-09 Southern Conference Coach-of-the-Year, Caputo was twice nominated for national top-coach honors while at Indian River. A total of 12 players signed with NCAA Div. I programs while nine more on to other four-year colleges during his tenure at the school.

Caputo previously served as an assistant coach at Bloomfield College and Santa Fe Community College.

Caputo earned a bachelor's degree in Psychology from Montclair State (N.J.) in 2005.

He and wife Denise have two sons. His oldest son Dana Raysor was a member of the Delaware State men's basketball team from 2015-to-2017.
