FINALS SITE HOST CONFERENCE

Old Dominion Athletic Conference

ABOUT THE OLD DOMINION ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

Celebrating its 47th year of operation, the Old Dominion Athletic Conference is one of the nation's largest Division III conferences. The ODAC's membership features 15 full-time and two associate members.

The league was formed May 18, 1975, as the Virginia College Conference and began operations in September 1976, changing to Old Dominion Athletic Conference on Jan. 1, 1976. From its initial year of operation through the 1981-82 academic year, the ODAC sponsored competition in men's varsity sports. The conference announced the inclusion of women's athletics prior to the 1982-83 academic year. Today, the ODAC has grown to sponsor championships in 25 sports (12 men and 12 women, 1 co-ed) and is composed of 12 full-time co-educational institutions and three full-time single-gender schools.

The 2022-23 season marks the 31st year that the ODAC and the city of Salem, Virginia, will partner to host NCAA Division III championships. Since the Stag Bowl in December 1993, the two entities have co-hosted 77 Division III championship events in nine different sports. This year, they are slated to host the men's and women's soccer championships and women's lacrosse championship in conjunction with Roanoke College.

FINALS SITE HOST ORGANIZATION

City of Salem

ABOUT SALEM

Happy holidays and welcome to Salem – Virginia's Championship City.

Salem and Roanoke College have a proud history of playing host to these prestigious NCAA championships events. Each year new visitors arrive in the area to take in the games and experience the sights and sounds of Virginia's Blue Ridge region.

Our No. 1 goal is to make this a memorable trip for both the teams and the fans. We trust that whether you are cheering from the stands, exploring the natural beauty of the valley, purchasing a special gift or sampling a creation from one of our award-winning breweries or restaurants that you will enjoy an abundance of our famous southern hospitality.

We know you will revel in the excitement of the 2022 Division III Men's and Women's Soccer Championships, and we thank you for taking the time to get acquainted with our city during your visit.
