SETTING THE TABLE

In its home opener for the 2022 season, Texas State will host FIU on Saturday, Sept. 10 at Bobcat Stadium for a 6 p.m. kickoff.

The Bobcats are coming off a season-opening 38-14 loss at Nevada. They trailed 14-7 at halftime, but 3 turnovers over the span of 4 minutes in the third quarter resulted in 21 points for Nevada as the Wolf Pack pulled away with a 24-point third quarter. Texas State still outgained Nevada, 277-274, in the game.

FIU enters San Marcos with a 1-0 record after coming back to beat Bryant in overtime, 38-37, at home last week.

This is the second year in a row Texas State and FIU will face off as the Bobcats came back to beat the Panthers, 23-17, in overtime in Miami in 2021. After allowing 10 points in the third quarter, Texas State answered with a Brock Sturges touchdown run with 10:09 left in the fourth quarter to tie the game. In overtime, Sturges rushed for an 11-yard touchdown to help capture the victory.

FIU outgained Texas State, 400-336, in last year's game but 171 rushing yards, including 72 on 14 carries by Calvin Hill, helped spur the Bobcat offense.

The Bobcats are looking to snap a three-game losing streak in home openers.

- It was the first time the Bobcats held an FBS opponent to less than 275 yards of total offense since Nov. 17, 2018 at Troy (220 yards). That was also the last time Texas State held an opponent to that threshold in a road game.
- Texas State is 36th in the country in total defense entering the FIU matchup.
- Texas State has held its opponents to 275 total yards or less 12 times in its FBS history and 4 times on the road.
- The Bobcats are 6-6 in games in which they have held opponents to 275 total yards or less since 2012 and 1-4 in the last 5 instances.

JAKE SPAVITAL

HEAD COACH
FOURTH SEASON

Jake Spavital is in his fourth year as the head coach at Texas State and will once again call the offensive plays in 2022 for the third straight season.

Hired on Nov. 30, 2018 as the 20th head coach in program history, Spavital, 37, came to Texas State having overseen some of the nation’s most prolific offenses and worked with multiple national award candidates.

In his first three years, the Bobcats have earned the program’s first FBS All-American honor, 19 All-Sun Belt accolades, three NFF Hampshire Honor Society awards, and 31 Sun Belt Commissioner’s List academic selections.

The team has steadily improved in his tenure, including a 2021 campaign that saw the Bobcats finish second in the Sun Belt’s West Division and play in seven one-score games. Texas State was also able to end the season with a win in its last game for the first time in seven years.

In 2020, the Bobcats dramatically improved their rushing game (131.2 yards/ game), which helped them average 369.7 total yards and 27.7 points. Those totals were their most since 2015 and 2014, respectively.

Texas State also produced the program’s first FBS All-American during the 2020 season as Jeremiah Haydel was named a return specialist on the ESPN All-America First Team and punt returner on the Football Writers Association of America (FWAA) and Phil Steele All-America Second Teams. He ranked third nationally in combined kick return yardage and was one of only two FBS players to return a kickoff and punt for touchdowns.

A native of Tulsa, Okla. and son of a former high school football coach, Spavital was an offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach before taking the helm at Texas State. Across eight seasons, Spavital piloted the offenses at West Virginia, Cal and Texas A&M working under head coaches Dana Holgorsen, Sonny Dykes and Kevin Sumlin. He also worked with college star quarterbacks Will Grier (West Virginia), Davis Webb (Cal), Johnny Manziel (Texas A&M), and Geno Smith (West Virginia).

As offensive coordinator, Spavital piloted offenses on teams that finished top-20 in the country in total offense six times, reached seven bowl games, and earned a spot in the national rankings in seven different seasons.

While Spavital stems from the Holgorsen coaching tree – having worked with him in six different seasons starting in 2009 at Houston as a graduate assistant – the former college quarterback spent three seasons at Texas A&M from 2013 to 2015 under Sumlin. He began his time with the Aggies as the co-offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach in 2013 before assume sole play-calling responsibilities in 2014 and 2015 as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

Working with quarterbacks Johnny Manziel, Kenny Hill, Kyle Allen, and Kyler Murray at Texas A&M, Spavital helped the Aggies finish the 2013 season ranked No. 18 in the final polls, reach three straight bowl games, and post a pair of 8-win campaigns in both of his two seasons as the lone play-caller in 2014 and 2015.

Spavital was a two-year letterman as a quarterback and punter for Missouri State from 2004 to 2007. He earned his bachelor’s degree in business administration in 2008.
