Michael Averett Lowell

FIU Infielder

6-3 ▶ 215 ▶ R/R ▶ 1993-1995

San Juan, Puerto Rico

New York Yankees ▶ Florida Marlins ▶ Boston Red Sox

Mike Lowell (1993-95) hit .355 with 218 hits, including 38 doubles and 119 RBI over his three-year FIU baseball career. He was a Collegiate Baseball Freshman All-American in 1993, a three-time All-Trans Atlantic Athletic Conference selection and the league's Student-Athlete of the Year and an Academic All-American in 1995.

Following his collegiate playing days, he went on to become one of the top third basemen in Major League Baseball with a lifetime .279 average, 1,619 hits, 223 home runs, 952 RBI and 394 doubles. The 13-year MLB veteran made his Major League debut with the New York Yankees on September 13, 1998. He was traded to the Florida Marlins prior to the 2000 season and went on to win the 2003 World Series against the New York Yankees. After the 2005 season, he was traded to the Boston Red Sox and added 2007 World Series MVP to his resume after the Red Sox defeated the Colorado Rockies in the Fall Classic.

Lowell retired from baseball after the 2010 season. In his 13-year career he was a four-time MLB All-Star, four-time MLB Player of the Week, 2007 MLB.com Defensive Player of the Year while winning the Silver Slugger Award in 2003 and a Gold Glove in 2005. Lowell also won three World Series with the Yankees, Marlins and Red Sox.

Danny Price

FIU Player (1973-74)

FIU Head Coach (1980-2007)

Former player and head coach Danny Price compiled a 1,032-595* career record in 28 years at the helm of FIU baseball. He was the MVP of FIU's first intercollegiate squad in 1973, leading the team with 79 base hits, a school record that stood for the next six years. Graduating with his bachelor's degree in 1974, he joined the staff at Miami Central High School, becoming an assistant coach in baseball and football. He attended night school after practices and worked toward a master's degree in health education, which he completed in 1976. Two years later, he was given the volunteer job of batting instructor and recruiter under then-head coach Tom H. Wonderling. With his help, the then-FIU Sunblazers went on to break or tie 36 offensive records that spring and boast a team average of .318. After Wonderling left the university, Price was offered the head coach position in 1980, which he readily accepted.

The team went 40-15 in Price's first year at the helm, earning an NCAA Division II World Series berth. The Florida Diamond Club named him its Coach of the Year and the City of Miami Commission honored him with a Proclamation of Excellence. In 1982, he set a new single-season school record with 51 wins and earned the No. 5 national ranking in the Collegiate Baseball Division II Coaches' Poll. In 1983, the program made the jump to the Division I level, where Price and the team continued their winning ways.

After winning at least 39 games each year from 1987 to 1990, the Panthers headed to the Trans America Athletic Conference in 1991, where they finished their inaugural season with a 43-23 record, won the league tournament, advanced to the NCAA Division I Tournament for the first time in school history and turned Price into the 1991 TAAC Coach of the Year.

Four years later, FIU garnered 49 regular-season victories with a school record 21-game win streak en route to capturing the TAAC championship, attaining a No. 9 national ranking and finishing fourth at the NCAA Atlantic II Regional Tournament. Following that season, the TAAC named Price its Coach of the Year for the second time and the South Florida Entertainment Weekly New Times picked Price as its Collegiate Coach of the Year. He won the honor again in 1998.

In the late 1990s, Price oversaw the planning and construction of the team's FIU stadium while helping to raise more than $150,000 in cash and gifts for the completion of all-weather batting cages within the stadium complex. He was honored in 1999 as the University Employee of the Year award from the Alumni Association and was a co-recipient of FIU's A&P Employee of the Year Award.

* Record reflects vacated records.

Actual record on the field was 1,099-595

Miami, Fla.

Seattle Mariners Minor League System

---

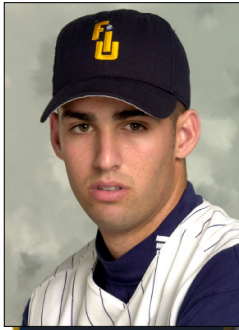

Oriol Perez has the distinction of being the first FIU baseball player to have his number retired. Though he only played in the 1982 and '83 seasons, Perez set career and season marks that have stood for more than 25 years. Perez owns two of the top three highest batting averages in FIU history, hitting a school-record .429 in 1982, and .425 in 1983, which is third best in FIU history. He also holds the second best single-season mark for slugging percentage (.801) in 1983. His career batting average of .427 and .742 career slugging percentage still stand as FIU records today.

Ramiro "Toti" Mendez

FIU

Nov. 3, 1979 - April 2, 2000

FIU Pitcher (1999-2000)

Ramiro "Toti" Mendez was well on his way to becoming one of FIU's best pitchers before he succumbed to a viral infection on April 2, 2000, at age 20. He went 4-1 with a 3.63 ERA in 19 appearances as a freshman in 1999. He was a high school All-American at Miami's Westminster Christian Academy and Miami-Dade County's Class 4A-1A Player of the Year as a senior in 1998 after going 13-2 with 165 strikeouts in 97 innings.

But it was Toti's vibrant personality and qualities as a young man that made him so special. In his memory, the athletic department established the Toti Mendez "23" Endowed Scholarship awarded to any baseball player in need of financial assistance because of hardship or injury.

Toti's No. 23 was retired by former head coach Danny Price. A memorial to Toti stands in the FIU bullpen, keeping his memory alive
