* Moore played eight games at Anderson Junior College in Anderson, S.C., before transferring to Francis Marion College during the 1975 Christmas break. At Anderson, she averaged 22 points per game (177 total). Under AIAW rules at the time, she was eligible to play immediately after arriving at Francis Marion. The 177 points she scored at Anderson gives her a career total of 4,061. Up until March 1990, this point total stood as the all-time collegiate record for men's and women's basketball (breaking the old record of 4,045 points set by Travis Grant of Kentucky State University). Philip Hutcheson of David Lipscomb University (TN) passed her in 1990 with 4,106 career points and John Pierce, also of David Lipscomb, passed her in 1994 with 4,230 career points, but she still holds the all-time women's mark. The points she scored at Anderson should be included in her career total because at that time in women's basketball, 4-year schools regularly played junior colleges with the results counting as though two 4-year institutions had played.
