THIS IS PROVIDENCE COLLEGE

Responding to the needs of Rhode Island, the Dominican Order of Preachers made a special commitment to the state in 1917 and founded Providence College – the only institution of higher learning in North America that is conducted by the Order. In 89 years, Providence College has steadily moved to a position of national prominence, while maintaining a personal, community-like atmosphere that fosters growth and development among its student population.

Providence College's rich heritage dates back to 1216, or the origins of the Dominican Order in Spain. Through the ages, the Dominican Friars became known as the "champions of the faith," spreading the gospel message through the centuries into every corner of the globe. Today, Dominican Friars continue to spread the gospel in a wide range of remote areas of the world, including Kenya, Nigeria and the Solomon Islands, as well as, to teach at every level of the United States educational system.

With the Dominican tradition as its foundation, Providence College focuses on developing the entire person through its values-oriented education. The college seeks to complement a student's knowledge with knowledge of his own values that will remain the foundation for sound judgement throughout a lifetime.

To that end, Providence College aims to relate its curriculum to the problems of contemporary society, offering diverse programs of study that remain grounded in the liberal arts. Providence College students may choose from some sixty concentrations ranging from computer science to labor relations to theatre arts. In addition, qualified students who wish to structure a program not specifically provided under the regular concentrations may develop their own program with the approval of the dean of the college.

As part of the core curriculum, all students take a two-year, team-taught course, Development of Western Civilization (DWC) which integrates the study of literature, philosophy, history and religious studies through the ages into a cohesive interdisciplinary unit.

Situated just on the fringe of downtown Providence, the College's location enables students to have easy access to the many social, cultural, educational and recreational amenities of urban life - the Providence Public Library; entertainment at the Providence Performing Arts Center; sporting events, entertainment and trade shows at the Dunkin' Donuts Center, the Providence Convention Center, and the Providence Place Mall and dozens of fine restaurants. With several other major educational institutions located in Providence, the city has become a hub of collegiate activity.

Helping those who are less fortunate has always been a mainstay of life at Providence College. The college now has approximately 100 different service programs, ranging from academic to mentoring to pastoral services and involves more than 1,000 PC students. Students may choose to volunteer their time for such service organizations as Big Brothers/Big Sisters, the Pastoral Council, the Council for Exceptional Children or the nearby Smith Hill Center, a community service organization that has a formal alliance with Providence College.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE ATHLETIC MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Providence College Intercollegiate Athletics program is to foster the personal development and education of young men and women through their participation in NCAA Division I athletics.

Athletic contests provide an opportunity for the campus and the community at large to demonstrate their support of the College, its athletics program, and the student-athletes.

The Athletic Department strives to fulfill student-athlete needs and goals in an environment steeped in the Dominican tradition in which honesty, integrity, mutual respect, effort and constant improvement are cherished and cultivated.

SCHOOL COLORS

Black and White are the official colors of Providence College. The colors come from the habit worn by the Dominican Order. On solemn and formal occasions, the white habit is covered by a long black cloak and hood which is called the cappa. It is the black cappa, which in ancient times was worn in the street, that caused the Dominicans in English-speaking countries to be called "Blackfriars."

The colors symbolize the ideals of the order. White typifies the Divine Truth preached by the Order and is indicative of the purity of life that must be characteristic of every Dominican. The black cappa is a constant reminder of the sacrifices that must be made in defense of the truth and the penance which is the means of preserving purity of life.

ALMA MATER

From "Finlandia" by Jan Sibelius

*Mother of Truth, we proudly pledge to thee
Undying love and steadfast loyalty.
From thee we learned the wondrous work of God,
His goodness, grace, and holy power;
Clear has thou shown that pathways must be trod;
All fearless now we brave life's hour!
Though failure frown, though kindly fortune smile,
Firm our advance, naught can us e'er beguile.
To honor bound, to love and virtue sworn,
Lift we our voices in full acclaim
Our lives shall thee with noble deeds adorn;
Hail Providence! We praise thy name!*

UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Providence College is primarily a coeducational four-year undergraduate college of liberal arts and sciences. Its main objective is the intellectual development of its students through the disciplines of the sciences and the humanities, equipping them to become productive and responsible citizens of a democratic society.

To be eligible for a degree, a student must accumulate 116 credit hours over an eight semester period with an overall quality point average of 2.0 on a 4.0 scale. In addition, a student must complete a minimum of 24 upper-division credits in the field of their major with an overall 2.0 cumulative average unless stipulated. Included in the total credit hours are the following prerequisites for any degree: Development of Western Civilization (20); Social Sciences (6); Natural Science (6); Philosophy (6); Theology (6); Mathematics (3) and Fine Arts (3). The remaining credit hours are elective with at least nine coming from areas outside one's major. In addition, all students establish English (writing) Proficiency by coursework or standards designated by the English Department.

The most popular concentrations for the Class of 2006 were Marketing, Management, Political Science, Elementary/Secondary Education and Psychology.

Although this may seem overwhelming on paper, our staff goes to great lengths to monitor each student's academic progress. The Athletic Department's Academic Advisor counsels all of the school's student athletes and assists them in any areas in which they are experiencing difficulties. It's a system that Providence is quite proud of and one which we've worked long and hard to establish.

Any student-athlete who feels the need for tutorial assistance can utilize the college's tutorial center, as well as the athletic department's advisors who can supply them with individuals capable of assisting them in their particular course of study.

THE COGNOMEN

It is reported by Vincent Cyril Dore, O.P., who played in the earliest of Providence College athletics contests, that PC men were called "Cardinals," but there is no official record or reference in newspaper clippings. There are references, however, to the nickname "Dominicans" as a sobriquet for PC athletes after the use of "Cardinals." "Black and White" and "White and Black" were generally accepted epithets as well. "Friars" first appeared in an April 9, 1929 Providence Journal sports story prior to the start of the 1929 baseball season and a game against Northeastern University.

The earlier nicknames, along with other informal references (Smith Hillers, North End boys, etc.), continued to be used until the Fall of 1932 when "Friars" became more officially accepted and recognized as the one true cognomen for Providence College.

Friars, of course, was the word describing the members of the mendicant orders founded in the 13th century. Most of the members were priests engaged in a direct apostolate to the faithful. The Friars possessed greater mobility than other orders in that they were not confined to a single monastery or abbey.

It is surmised that the cognomen and reference to PC athletes as "Friars" came from an on-campus service club formed by John E. Farrell '26 called the Friars Club. Farrell was the Graduate Manager of Athletics at the College, who travelled with the baseball team to Dartmouth and learned of a service organization called the Green Key Society, which met and assisted visiting athletic teams. With the help of College president Reverend Lorenzo McCarthy, O.P. a similar club was formed at Providence College. Farrell reasoned that since the College was under the jurisdiction of the Order of Friar Preachers, the nickname was a natural.

SCHOOL SEAL

The seal of Providence College consists of a torch superimposed on a triangle. In symbolism, the triangle represents the Trinity. Thus is signified an education which considers human existence in relation to eternity, which goes beyond the natural order and teaches the student to live according to the higher principles of supernatural grace.

The torch, always indicative of learning, is particularly emblematic of a Dominican institution since it is part of the device of one of the oldest shields of the Order. At the outset it referred to Saint Dominic himself who so magnificently conquered error by the Light of Truth, and who personally and through his followers was responsible, in no small measure, for the full flowering of the medieval universities. This tradition for learning the Friars Preachers carried to every part of the world.

The flame of the torch signifies the soul of man; the light of the flame indicates his mind. The torch is always borne aloft. The flame, therefore, towers over the surrounding symbols and typifies leadership among men.

The motto of the College is Veritas. It means Truth, which is the proper object of all intellectual activity.

RHODE ISLAND

Rhode Island

Make no mistake, as soon as you land at the airport or cross the state line, you are in FRIAR TOWN. The state of Rhode Island is comprised of hard-working, family-oriented people who are Friar Fanatics.

And make no mistake, you are in the most unique state in the union. Rhode Island has the country's best beaches, a beautiful New England coastline, country charm, big-boy advantages in Providence, the mansions in Newport, American history in every town, and, of course, the Providence College Friars.

Roger Williams came to colonial Rhode Island to escape religious persecution in Massachusetts. It would become a bastion of religious freedom and independence. In 1638, the first Baptist Church in America was founded. In 1699, the country's oldest Quaker Meeting House was founded in Newport. The oldest Jewish temple in the United States, Touro Synagogue, was established in Newport in 1763. And the first Roman Catholic mass celebrated in the new country was held in Rhode Island.

Being "first" is a Rhode Island tradition. Rhode Island was the first state to declare independence from the British throne (May 4, 1776). In 1790, Samuel Slater built the first textile mill in Pawtucket. He is recognized as the father of America's Industrial Revolution. The country's first woman doctor, Sarah Sands, practiced here in the late 1600's. And, the first town in America discovered by a woman is here - Portsmouth, founded by Anne Hutchinson.

THE COLLEGE

Rhode Island's native sons have distinguished themselves in countless endeavors. General Nathaniel Green was second-in-command to General George Washington. Lieutenant Stephen Olney led the charge of Cornwall's troops in the battle that ended the Revolutionary War. Colonial artist Gilbert Stuart, who painted the most recognized portrait of George Washington, was born in Rhode Island.

There are numerous attractions in Rhode Island, including Hammersmith Farm in Newport where John F. Kennedy and Jacqueline Bouvier vacationed. The International Tennis Hall of Fame is also in Newport as are the mansions which served as America's first vacationland to the rich. The oldest tavern building in the United States is in Rhode Island as is the first enclosed shopping mall. T.F. Green airport is the first state-owned airport in the country.

The state along with the city of Providence has enjoyed a renaissance of sorts in recent years. The state capital, Providence, is the home or the workplace of over one-quarter of the state's one million residents. The downtown area has become alive again with various new buildings, including the Providence Place Mall, the convention center and hotel next to the Dunkin' Donuts Center, Waterplace Park and the new downtown skating rink. Along with the new stand the historic landmarks like the Biltmore Hotel, the Trinity Square Repertory Theater and the Providence Performing Arts Center.

The state capitol building features a Georgian marble dome which is the second largest unsupported dome in the world.

The Dunkin' Donuts Center, "the home of the basketball Friars" hosted the 2000 Frozen Four, the NCAA Hockey Championships. The building has also hosted the U.S. Figure Skating Championships, the 1995 NCAA Hockey Championship, the first and second rounds of the 1996 NCAA Basketball Tournament and the 2003 NCAA Hockey East Regionals in recent years.

"The Ocean State" features 400 miles of coastline and is the home of the Pawtucket Red Sox, the AAA farm team of the Boston Red Sox. There are 12 colleges in Rhode Island and one can reach any location in the state in less than 50 minutes. It is a state of eight cities, 30 towns and 250 villages and hamlets. Make no mistake about it, Rhode Island has something for everyone.

Reverend Brian J. Shanley, O.P.

PRESIDENT

On February 1, 2005, Providence College announced the election of Reverend Brian J. Shanley, O.P., to serve as the 12th president of the College. Father Shanley assumed his duties at the College on July 1, 2005, and succeeded Reverend Philip A. Smith, O.P., who served as the College's president from 1994-2005. Prior to his arrival at Providence, Father Shanley served as an associate professor in the School of Philosophy at The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

Father Shanley is a native of Warwick, Rhode Island. A parishioner at St. Gregory the Great Church, he attended local public schools, graduating from Toll Gate High School in 1976.

In 1980, Father Shanley earned his undergraduate degree in history at Providence College. He holds a doctorate degree in philosophy from the University of Toronto, where he completed the Collaborative Providence in Philosophy and Medieval Studies. He also holds a master of divinity degree (theology) and the Licentiate in Sacred Theology (S.T.L.), both from the Dominican House of Studies in Washington, D.C. (Pontifical Faculty of the Immaculate Conception).

Ordained to the priesthood in 1987, Father Shanley has devoted his entire career to teaching and administration in Catholic higher education. Following teaching assignments at Providence College and the University of Toronto, he began his tenure at The Catholic University of America in 1994, achieving the rank of associate professor in 2001. Father Shanley's first teaching assignment was at Providence College from 1988-91. He was an instructor of philosophy, and taught in the Development of Western Civilization Program.

Father Shanley spent the fall 2002 semester as a visiting professor at the Candler School of Theology at Emory University. He previously engaged in a post-doctoral fellowship at the University of Notre Dame's Center for Philosophy of Religion in 1998-99.

As the Regent of Studies for the Dominican Province of St. Joseph, Father Shanley holds a seat on the Provincial Council, a body of 12

Dominican Friars serving as cabinet-level advisors to the Prior Provincial. He advises the Prior Provincial on all matters pertaining to the intellectual and academic life of the Province and oversees the academic endeavors of members of the Province, including those in preparation for the priesthood and those engaged in graduate studies.

Father Shanley has been widely published in philosophy-focused academic journals and has been a guest lecturer at a wide range of scholarly conferences.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Robert G. Driscoll, Jr.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS/
VICE PRESIDENT

Robert G. Driscoll, Jr. has led Providence College through a renaissance during his five years as the Associate Vice President for Athletics. He came to Providence College with drive, ambition and most importantly, a vision. Since his hiring on November 2, 2001, Driscoll has been focused on one overriding goal - to make the Providence College Athletics one of the most respected programs in the nation, where each student-athlete graduates and has the opportunity to compete for championships.

He is succeeding, and the College community is reaping the benefits. During the 2005-06 fiscal year, Driscoll and his staff members were responsible for raising more than $1.7 million, which is the highest total ever raised in one year by the athletic department. In June, Driscoll announced that a $340,000 anonymous donation was given to the College, which marks the largest single donation ever given to the department. The $340,000 is being used toward renovations for Schneider Arena, which is the home of the men's and women's ice hockey programs. Earlier in the year, the College received a generous donation from the family of the late Helen Bert to construct a student-athlete lounge in Alumni Hall. The "Helen Bert Student-Athlete Lounge" is equipped with six computer stations and serves as a study area for all of the student-athletes on campus. Driscoll and his staff have been responsible for a number of highly successful fund-raisers to benefit the athletic department, including the annual Friar Golf Classic, which raised a record $86,000.

The College also has taken on several high-profile projects on campus under Driscoll's guidance. In August of 2005, Providence celebrated the opening of the Friar Field Hockey & Lacrosse Complex, which is a six-million dollar artificial turf facility. The complex serves as home to PC's field hockey and lacrosse programs, as well as many of the College's intramural sports programs. In May of 2006, PC broke ground to construct a state-of-the-art $13-million fitness center. The fitness center will house the Friars' varsity weightroom, and is being built adjacent to the Friar Field Hockey & Lacrosse Complex as an addition to the Peterson Recreation Center and Alumni Hall. The addition of the multi-level fitness center also will house many of the offices used by the athletic department. The construction project also will provide the department with a state-of-the-art athletic training room and a new ticket office.

The construction continues beyond the friendly confines of the College. Driscoll has spent countless hours working with lead officials in the City of Providence and the State of Rhode Island to help spearhead a $62-million renovation of the Dunkin' Donuts Center, which is home to the Friar men's basketball team. Renovations began in the spring of 2006 and are scheduled to be completed in 2008. Once complete, the Dunkin' Donuts Center also will be a state-of-the-art facility that will seat more than 13,000 fans. Renovations will enhance nearly every aspect of the arena and will include luxury boxes, new seats, a new video scoreboard, a new sound system, concession stands, lockerrooms and new weight training and fitness areas. The planned renovations already have reaped benefits for the College, the City of Providence and the State of Rhode Island as Providence was awarded the first and second rounds of the 2010 NCAA Men's Basketball Championship.

Driscoll is in the midst of his third year as a member of the NCAA I Management Council. He was appointed to the council in May of 2004, and is one of 49 athletic administrators, faculty athletics representatives and institutional administrators to whom athletics departments report or who have other significant duties regarding athletics. The Division I Management Council, which reports to the NCAA Division I Board of Directors, is empowered to make recommendations to the Board and handle responsibilities delegated to it. Driscoll also represents the BIG EAST's Athletic Directors on the Student-Athlete Advisory Council, and serves on the HOCKEY EAST Television Negotiations Committee.

Driscoll joined the Providence community after 14 years in athletic administration at the University of California, Berkeley. Before arriving at Cal, Driscoll served six years (1981-87) as the athletic director and chair of the Department of Physical Education, Recreation and Intramural Sports at Mills College in Oakland, Calif. Prior to arriving at Mills, Driscoll was assistant athletic director and head baseball and hockey coach at Union College in Schenectady, N.Y. from 1977-81. At Union, he was responsible for 22 men's and women's intercollegiate sports teams, including nationally ranked football and hockey teams. Driscoll was a stand-out hockey and baseball player at Ithaca College (N.Y.), where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in physical education in 1974. He earned his Master's of Science in physical education/psychology of sports from Ithaca in 1975.

A native of Concord, Mass., Driscoll was inducted into inaugural class of Concord Carlisle High School's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1993. He is the proud father of three children, Tara, Kelly and Sean and resides in North Kingstown with his wife, Cathy. Sean is currently a member of the sophomore class at Providence College.

FRIAR FANS

There isn't a state in the union which supports its team the way Rhode Island supports the Friars. Indeed, over 5 million fans have watched Friar home games in the 34 year history of the Dunkin' Donuts Center. In fact, the Friars ranked among the top 55 nationally in attendance last year and sixth in the BIG EAST. There have been 194 games of 10,000 or more in the Dunkin' Donuts Center.

LATE NIGHT MADNESS

Providence College was not the first school to tip off its college basketball season with a midnight practice, but it is recognized as one of the leaders of Late Night Madness celebrations.

Started in 1985 by then coach Rick Pitino to a crowd of over 300, Late Night Madness has grown into a banquet and sold out Alumni Hall each and every year. In 1999-00, the 15th Anniversary of Late Night Madness at PC, Pitino returned to help the Friars move into the new season.

In 1988, the Friars staged one of the biggest Late Night Madness extravaganzas as over 700 attended a banquet honoring the team with the guest speaker being none other than ABC and ESPN basketball color analyst Dick Vitale.

The roster of guest speakers since then has been a Who's Who of College basketball as Al McGuire, Bill Raftery, the late Jim Valvano, Billy Packer, Rick Pitino and Lenny Wilkens have served as speakers.

The Friars' 1996 Late Night Madness appeared live nationally on ESPN2 as then coach Pete Gillen led his team through its paces along with a little dancing to the Macarena and one fan had the chance to shoot from halfcourt to win tuition for the year.

Late Night Madness has long been a Providence College tradition that is one of the highlights of the college year and the basketball season!
