Responding to the needs of Rhode Island, the Dominican Order of Preachers made a special commitment to the state in 1917 and founded Providence College — the only institution of higher learning in North America that is conducted by the Dominican Order. In 105 years, Providence College has steadily moved to a position of national prominence, while maintaining a personal, community-like atmosphere that fosters growth and development among its student population.

Providence College's rich heritage dates back to 1216, or the origins of the Dominican Order in Spain. Through the ages, the Dominican Friars became known as the "champions of the faith," spreading the gospel message through the centuries into every corner of the globe. Today, Dominican Friars continue to spread the gospel in a wide range of remote areas of the world, including Kenya, Nigeria and the Solomon Islands, as well as, to teach at every level within the United States educational system.

With the Dominican tradition as its foundation, Providence College focuses on developing the entire person through its values-oriented education. The college seeks to complement a student's knowledge with knowledge of his own values — values that will remain the foundation for sound judgement throughout a lifetime.

To that end, Providence College aims to relate its curriculum to the problems of contemporary society, offering diverse programs of study that remain grounded in the liberal arts. Providence College students may choose from some sixty concentrations ranging from computer science to labor relations to theatre arts. In addition, qualified students who wish to structure a program not specifically provided under the regular concentrations may develop their own program with the approval of the dean of the college.

As part of the core curriculum, all students take a two-year, team-taught course, Development of Western Civilization (DWC) which integrates the study of literature, philosophy, history and religious studies through the ages into a cohesive interdisciplinary unit.

Situated just on the fringe of downtown Providence, the College's location enables students to have easy access to the many social, cultural, educational and recreational amenities of urban life - the Providence Public Library; entertainment at the Providence Performing Arts Center; sporting events, entertainment and trade shows at the Dunkin' Donuts Center and the Providence Convention Center and dozens of fine restaurants. With several other major educational institutions located in Providence, the city has become a hub of collegiate activity.

Helping those who are less fortunate has always been a mainstay of life at Providence College. The college now has approximately 100 different service programs, ranging from academic to mentoring to pastoral services and involves more that 1,000 PC students. Students may choose to volunteer their time for such service organizations as Big Brothers/Big Sisters, the Pastoral Council, the Council for Exceptional Children or the nearby Smith Hill Center, a community service organization that has a formal alliance with Providence College.

The Mission of the College

Undergraduate Degree Requirements:

Providence College is a Catholic, Dominican, liberal arts institution of higher education and a community committed to academic excellence in pursuit of the truth, growth in virtue, and service of God and neighbor.

To be eligible for a bachelor's degree students must earn a minimum of 120 earned credit hours and complete at least 36 courses with a minimum value of three credits each. For students of all class years, 2.00 (4.00 scale) minimum cumulative and major grade point averages are required. Included in the total credit hours for students are Core Curriculum courses in the areas of Development of Western Civilization (4 courses), Philosophy (2), Theology (2), Natural Science (1), Quantitative Reasoning (1), Social Science (1), and Fine Arts (1). In addition, a Core Focus sequence (2 courses) outside of one's major requirements and learning proficiencies in the areas of Intensive Writing (2), Oral Communication (1), Civic Engagement (1), and Diversity (1) must be successfully completed.

Undergraduate students must spend at least eight semesters in full-time attendance, unless the period is reduced by advanced standing credit from another institution as reviewed and approved by the dean of undergraduate and graduate studies. The College reserves the right to allow graduation at the completion of seven semesters following the successful petition by students to the Committee on Academic Status with the subsequent approval of the provost and senior vice president for academic affairs.

Official and complete academic information is published in Providence College's academic catalogs, available at http://catalog.providence.edu/.

Athletic Academic Services:

The Office of Academic Support Services provides specialized support to student-athletes in light of the unique time demands, responsibilities, and rules governing participation in intercollegiate athletics. Holistic services are provided in a safe, personal environment where academic growth is a priority, personal development and independence are enhanced, and long-term success is nurtured by a staff which models these same commitments.

Student-athletes who have distinguished themselves in the classroom, as well as on the field or court, may be nominated for the BIG EAST Academic All-Star Team, the HOCKEY EAST Academic Honor Roll, NFHCA Division I Academic Team or the Academic All-America Program presented by CoSIDA. The Providence College Athletic Department also honors student-athletes each semester who have achieved a 3.00 grade point average or higher.

Services Available:

Academic Monitoring

Progress report slips (i.e., requesting information regarding class attendance and performance) are sent to each instructor for all student-athletes at least once per semester. The staff tracks individual progress, schedules meetings with student-athletes as appropriate and personally contacts instructors as necessary.

Counseling/Mentoring

The staff meets with student-athletes, individually and in-groups, regarding academic, athletic, career, and/or personal issues. Life Skills Program/Special Projects Programs and workshops on select life skills (i.e., NCAA/CHAMPS Life Skills Program) are presented, covering the following five component areas: academics, personal development, community service, athletics and career development. The OAS has collaborative relationships with many units on campus to help provide these services.

Study Hall

Quiet, monitored study time is available, during daytime and evening hours. Student-athletes are required and/or recommended to attend, on a sport-by-sport basis, by their respective head coach.

Travel Notifications

At the beginning of each semester, student-athletes are provided with letters for their instructors, notifying them of travel/competitive schedules.

Tutorial Services and The Writing Center

The Tutorial Center, which is nationally certified by the College Reading & Learning Association, provides peer tutoring in most all subject areas. The Tutorial Center is open until 9:00 pm weeknights. The Writing Center provides more intensive and specialized writing support and also maintains evening hours for student-athletes' convenience.

The Cognomen

It is reported by Vincent Cyril Dore, O.P., who played in the earliest of Providence College athletics contests, that PC men were called "Cardinals," but there is no official record or reference in newspaper clippings. There are references, however, to the nickname "Dominicans" as a sobriquet for PC athletes after the use of "Cardinals." "Black and White" and "White and Black" were generally accepted epithets as well. "Friars" first appeared in an April 9, 1929 Providence Journal sports story prior to the start of the 1929 baseball season and a game against Northeastern University.

The earlier nicknames, along with other informal references (Smith Hillers, North End boys, etc.), continued to be used until the Fall of 1932 when "Friars" became more officially accepted and recognized as the one true cognomen for Providence College.

Friars, of course, was the word describing the members of the mendicant orders founded in the 13th century. Most of the members were priests engaged in a direct apostolate to the faithful. The Friars possessed greater mobility than other orders in that they were not confined to a single monastery or abbey.

It is surmised that the cognomen and reference to PC athletes as "Friars" came from an on-campus service club, formed by John E. Farrell '26, called the Friars Club. Farrell was the Graduate Manager of Athletics at the College, who travelled with the baseball team to Dartmouth and learned of a service organization called the Green Key Society, which met and assisted visiting athletic teams. With the help of College president Reverend Lorenzo McCarthy, O.P. a similar club was formed at Providence College. Farrell reasoned that since the College was under the jurisdiction of the Order of Friar Preachers, the nickname was a natural.

School Colors

Black and White are the official colors of Providence College. The colors come from the habit worn by the Dominican Order. On solemn and formal occasions, the white habit is covered by a long black cloak and hood which is called the cappa. It is the black cappa, which in ancient times was worn in the street, that caused the Dominicans in English-speaking countries to be called "Blackfriars."

The colors symbolize the ideals of the order. White typifies the Divine Truth preached by the Order and is indicative of the purity of life that must be characteristic of every Dominican. The black cappa is a constant reminder of the sacrifices that must be made in defense of the truth and the penance which is the means of preserving purity of life.

School Seal

The seal of Providence College consists of a torch superimposed on a triangle. In symbolism, the triangle represents the Trinity. Thus it signified an education which considers human existence in relation to eternity, which goes beyond the natural order and teaches the student to live according to the higher principles of supernatural grace.

The torch, always indicative of learning, is particularly emblematic of a Dominican institution since it is part of the device of one of the oldest shields of the Order. At the outset it referred to Saint Dominic himself who so magnificently conquered error by the Light of Truth, and who personally and through his followers was responsible, in no small measure, for the full flowering of the medieval universities. The Friar Preachers carried this tradition of learning to every part of the world.

The flame of the torch signifies the soul of man; the light of the flame indicates his mind. The torch is always borne aloft. The flame, therefore, towers over the surrounding symbols and typifies leadership among men.

The motto of the College is Veritas. It means Truth, which is the proper object of all intellectual activity.

Alma Mater

From "Finlandia" by Jan Sibelius

Mother of Truth, we proudly pledge to thee
Undying love and steadfast loyalty.
From thee we learned the wondrous work of God,
His goodness, grace, and holy power;
Clear has thou shown that pathways must be trod;
All fearless now we brave life's hour!
Though failure frown, though kindly fortune smile,
Firm our advance, naught can us e'er beguile.
To honor bound, to love and virtue sworn,
Lift we our voices in full acclaim
Our lives shall thee with noble deeds adorn;
Hail Providence! We praise thy name!

Steve Napolillo - Athletics Director

On January, 26, 2022, Providence College President Rev. Kenneth R. Sicard O.P., '78, '82G named Steven Napolillo '98, as the College's next vice president and director of athletics. Napolillo, who began his new position on July 1, 2022, also serves as a member of the President's Cabinet. He replaced long-time Friar Athletics Director Bob Driscoll, who announced his retirement in January 2022 after serving the College for 21 years.

"Steve has demonstrated that he possesses the key qualities that drive success," said Father Sicard. "I have witnessed firsthand Steve's evolution as a leader over the past 18 years, and I am confident that he will continue to build and expand upon the legacy Bob Driscoll created and nurtured at Providence College during the past two decades. Before being elected president in 2020, I was blessed to have served as executive vice president to PC President Father Brian J. Shanley from 2005-2020. I learned a great deal from him, and when I assumed my new role, was able to continue and build upon the legacy he left behind. I recognize the similarity that exists between Bob and Steve's relationship. Such continuity of leadership allows for a seamless transition that ensures the ongoing success we have enjoyed under Bob's leadership and encourages new opportunities. I am completely confident that Steve will oversee the PC athletic program with integrity, commitment and genuine passion for excellence."

Napolillo began his career at PC in 2004 as an assistant athletic director, where he rose through the ranks to director of athletic development, then to associate athletic director for external relations, and finally senior associate athletic director/assistant vice president for external relations, a position he held from 2014-22. He also has held the position of men's basketball administrator for three seasons.

His leadership efforts in revenue generation, which includes ticket sales and operations, licensing/branding/gear sales, have been monumental for the Friar Athletic Department. In 2023-24, Napolillo led the Friars to new heights as the athletic department had a record year, raising an impressive $10.7 million in donations and bringing in $8.5 million in ticket sales. The men's basketball program has sold out its season ticket allotment each of the last three seasons and currently has a waiting list of more than 1,400 accounts.

He has been able to accomplish this with the integration of the athletic departmental business intelligence efforts, that has included budget analysis, and streamlining departmental workflows. In addition to the record-setting numbers in fundraising and ticket sales, the merchandising and licensing for the athletic department had a 300 percent increase in licensing revenue in 2023-24.

Another area that Napolillo has embraced is name, image and likeness. He has ensured that Friar Athletics has been at the forefront of NIL since its inception. He oversaw the athletic department partnering with Opendorse – an industry leader in solutions to help athletes and their supporters understand, build, protect, and monetize their brand value. All of which is supported by the Friar Family Collective that was founded to create an avenue for Providence College student- athletes in assisting them to make positive contributions to businesses and our local communities, while receiving compensation and growing their respective brands.

Napolillo is highly respected amongst his peers nationally and within the BIG EAST. In the Spring of 2024, he was named the chair of the BIG EAST Athletic Directors for 2024-25.

Continuing to raise the bar for Friar Athletics, Napolillo announced in August of 2024 that the College would be adding men's and women's golf teams, which will begin play in September 2025. The Department will now sponsor 21 varsity teams.

During his tenure at PC, Napolillo has overseen many facets of athletics. He played an integral role in coaching searches resulting in the hiring of Head Women's Soccer Coach Sam Lopes and Head Men's Ice Hockey Coach Nate Leaman. In his first two years as athletic director he was tasked with hiring Men's Basketball Head Coach Kim English, Women's Basketball Head Coach Erin Batth, Lacrosse Head Coach Bobby Benson and Softball Head Coach Kelsey Christensen.

As a fundraiser, he played a decisive part in securing more than $75 million in gifts while supporting strategic decision making for additional capital projects on campus including the renovation of Schneider Arena and Alumni Hall, Anderson Stadium's new soccer and lacrosse complex, the Ray Treacy Track and Field Complex and much more. He also worked closely with major gift donors as lead solicitor to secure a $10 million gift for the $30 million renovation of the Ruane Friar Development Center. The Friars Forever Athletic Fund, which was established to support 19 teams, was developed and led by Napolillo. He has overseen the PC Athletic marketing, ticketing, and development office for the last decade during which time sales doubled to reach over $5.3 million dollars in ticket sale revenue.

During the pandemic, Napolillo worked with senior staff and college teammates to help navigate PC Athletics through the COVID-19 pandemic.

Prior to joining Providence College Athletics, Napolillo was director of merchandising and corporate sales for the Pawtucket Red Sox. He was a member of longtime Pawtucket Red Sox General Manager, the late Lou Schwechheimer's, personal advisory board for his mission to bring baseball back to Cuba and AAA baseball to Wichita.

Napolillo credits Schwechheimer as being his first mentor. Commenting on Napolillo's appointment, Lou's widow Jane said, "Lou encouraged people to find their passion. Given Steve's commitment and love of Providence College and sports, Lou would be overjoyed but not surprised that Steve has been given this great opportunity. I have no doubt that Lou is beaming knowing Steve will continue to be an asset and a leader to the Friar community for years to come."

Napolillo earned his bachelor's degree in political science in 1998 from Providence College and he completed a master's degree program in sports management at Georgetown University in 2023. A 1994 graduate of Bishop Hendricken High School, he has been a member of A Wish Come True in Rhode Island for the past 21 years and a board member for the last four. Napolillo and his wife Bethany reside in North Kingstown, R.I. with their son, Drew, and daughter, Avery.

HOCKEY EAST

About Women's Hockey East

The Hockey East women's league celebrates its 23rd season of play in 2024-25. Over the first 22 years, the league has emerged as one of the top women's ice hockey conferences in the nation, having sent 13 teams to the Frozen Four and 29 teams to the NCAA Tournament. In 2011 and 2013, both Boston College and Boston University advanced to the women's Frozen Four, and the Terriers moved on to the NCAA championship game on both occasions.

As women's ice hockey steadily expanded from its original status as an emerging sport to its current position as an established NCAA championship sport, it became apparent that Hockey East, until then only a men's league, needed to consider sponsoring a separate league to accommodate its five member schools that initially had varsity programs for women: Boston College, Maine, New Hampshire, Northeastern and Providence. Discussions about this proposed league continued until a split in the Eastern College Athletic Conference grouped the five aforementioned programs into a separate league alongside three other unaffiliated programs. This newly formed eight-team division was dubbed the ECAC Women's Eastern League. Seeking league solidarity, administrators from the five Hockey East institutions acted almost immediately to create a new conference.

In September of 2001, the long-incubated idea became a reality when the athletic directors voted to found the new women's league under the existing Hockey East banner, with play scheduled to begin no later than the 2004-05 season. The five schools with varsity programs entered as charter members with the stipulation that any other men's Hockey East school that added a varsity women's program in the future would be freely admitted to the league. In 2015-16, Hockey East welcomed Merrimack to the women's ranks under that clause, before adding Holy Cross as its 10th member in 2018-19.

Expediting the process in the interest of the participating teams, the league, and the sport itself, then-Commissioner Joe Bertagna worked with a selected task force to successfully prepare the Hockey East women's league for launch in the 2002-03 season, two years ahead of schedule. An important part of that process was the acceptance of an invitation extended to the University of Connecticut to join the newly formed league as its sixth active member.

The triumphant effort immediately afforded the participating administrators a stronger voice in the advancement of their women's ice hockey programs and alleviated the ECAC of continuing the maintenance of the ECAC Women's Eastern League. Players, fans, coaches and administrators alike anticipated the intensified competition created by a new circle of teams that had already been such familiar rivals.

In 2005, the Hockey East women's league welcomed the addition of two additional teams to its growing family: Boston University and the University of Vermont. For BU, it marked the inaugural season for women's hockey as a varsity sport. The league athletic directors voted in June of 2012 to expand the playoff format, allowing all eight teams within the conference to qualify for the playoffs beginning after the 2012-13 regular season. The significant jump was contrasted with six teams and four teams in previous seasons.

In February 2007, the league debuted its inaugural "Skating Strides Against Breast Cancer". The one-day event was hosted by Hockey East schools to establish a greater fan base, to raise needed funds for cancer reasearch, and to work with the specific charities to raise awareness for both the league and the specific cause. In the initial year, close to $20,000 was donated back to local breast cancer charities Friends of Mel's Foundation and the American Cancer Society, vastly exceeding expectations. In the 2018-19 season, the league raised over $30,000 to bring the 10-year total to nearly $400,000. "Skating Strides" has won two national awards at NACMA in the "Single Day Attendance Promotion" category in 2007 and 2009. In 2016 former Associate Commissioner Kathy Wynters was honored at the one hundred, a fundraising and awareness initiative that honors those that have displayed a commitment to fighting cancer. Wynters continues to operate Skating Strides as an independent initiative to this day, benefiting Friends of Mel.

In 2024, the UConn Huskies dethroned six-time defending champion Northeastern to earn their first Bertagna Trophy as Hockey East Tournament champions and the first-ever bid into the NCAA Tournament. The thrilling 1-0 overtime victory was broadcast nationally on ESPNU from UConn's Toscano Family Ice Forum and played in front of a record crowd for a Hockey East women's title game.

A record 198 student-athletes have been named to the league's 2023-24 Women's All-Academic Team, tying the record number set just last season. Each student-athlete achieved a grade point average of 3.0 or better in each academic period during which they were actively competing in Hockey East.

Additionally, 17 players, including three goaltenders, six defensemen, and eight forwards, earned the prestigious honor of being named Hockey East's Top Scholar-Athlete, compiling a perfect 4.0 GPA for the season.

Further, 24 players reached Distinguished Scholar status in 2023-24 having qualified for the All-Academic team in each of four seasons of varsity play, while 11 others are honored for the fifth time and 30 claimed the title for the third straight year.

While the Hockey East women's league continues to grow, adding Holy Cross as its 10th member in 2018-19, its member programs have storied histories that include several championships and individual awards at the highest levels of play. The first 13 ECAC championships were shared among New Hampshire, Northeastern and Providence, all charter members of the Women's Hockey East Association. Northeastern forward Brooke Whitney was named the recipient of the 2002 Patty Kazmaier Award as the nation's top female collegiate player, an honor first won by New Hampshire's Brandy Fisher in 1998. Had the award been in existence beforehand, it surely would have been won at some point by Cammi Granato, a three-time ECAC Player of the Year who led Providence to back-to-back championships in 1992 and 1993. Five years later, in 1998, alongside nine other alums of what are now Hockey East women's league programs, Granato captained Team USA to the Olympic gold medal during the first Olympic tournament that featured women's ice hockey as a medal sport. Granato was inducted into the U.S. Hockey Hall of Fame in October of 2010 for her contributions to the sport. Beginning in 2009, the Hockey East athletic directors voted to honor the league Player of the Year with the Cammi Granato Award.

Perhaps the proudest legacy that the Hockey East women's league has established is the Hockey Humanitarian Award. The most prestigious off-ice honor, and arguably the highest overall honor in the sport, the Hockey Humanitarian Award recognizes college hockey's finest citizen each year and encompasses both male and female athletes in all divisions. Its winners have demonstrated outstanding contributions to society through leadership in charity work and volunteerism. Northeastern senior forward Missy Elumba was the 2009 recipient, as the fifth Hockey East student-athlete to receive the prestigious honor. Elumba was the 14th all-time recipient and joined former Husky goaltender Chanda Gunn, who received the award in 2004, as the second athlete in Northeastern women's hockey history. BC's Sarah Carlson received the award in 2005, making Women's Hockey East the first league to boast back-to-back winners.

THE FRIARS HAVE SEEN FIVE PLAYERS EARN ALL-AMERICA
HONORS ON SEVEN DIFFERENT OCCASIONS.

The Beginnings

Providence College was founded by Bishop Matthew Harkins during the 700th anniversary of the Dominican Order. The doors were to open on September 22, 1918, but with World War I raging in Europe, it was decided to postpone the opening until the following fall. On September 17, 1919, 71 undergraduates registered.

Women's hockey became a varsity sport at Providence College during the 1974-75 season. It started as an intramural sport during the previous year at the College and was well received, so Helen Bert, who was in charge of women's athletics at Providence, moved to have it become a varsity program. The Friars did not win a game that first season but saw much improvement over the next four seasons. By the 1979-80 season the Friars finished with one of the best records in college hockey at 20-2-0. It was the first of fifteen, 20-win seasons for the program. Unfortunately, statistics were not diligently kept for several of the early seasons and only the team's win-loss records are available.

The first record of a Friars' victory is during the 1976-77 season at Boston University. Providence defeated the Terriers, 9-1, as it registered the first winning season in the program's history with a 9-4-0 record.

The Championships

Over the years, Providence College has been one of the top programs in college hockey. The Friars have won 10 tournament championships during their 40 seasons. Providence won back-to-back titles in 1983-84 and 1984-85, four in a row from the 1991-92 season through the 1994-95 season and four in a row from 2001-02 to 2004-05. Four squads that earned unique distinction at Providence were the 1984, 1992, 2003 and 2005 teams. The 1983-84 squad was the first women's ice hockey team to win the ECAC Championship title. Entering the tournament as the No. 1 seed, the Friars defeated New Hampshire, 1-0, in overtime to finish the season with a 21-2-0 record. The 1991-92 Friars defeated three-time defending champion New Hampshire, 2-1, at Schneider Arena to capture the ECAC title. The 1991-92 squad finished the year with an impressive 22-2-1 record. The 2002-03 squad captured the inaugural Hockey East regular season and tournament titles. PC won the regular season with a 13-1-1 record and defeated New Hampshire, 1-0, to win the inaugural Women's Hockey East Tournament title. They also won a school-record 24 games, posting a 24-6-6 mark overall for the season. By claiming the inaugural Hockey East title, Providence now can lay claim to having not only played a key role in founding both the men's and women's Hockey East leagues, but being its first champions. The Friars won four-straight championships beginning with the 2002 ECAC title before claiming their first three Hockey East Championships. The 2005 team also was the first PC team to reach the NCAA Tournament. The winning tradition continued in 2009-2010, with the program's third Hockey East regular season crown. The 2018-2019 squad tied the school-record of 24 wins in a season. The team ended the season with an overall record of 24-11-2. During the 2020-2021 season, the Friars competed in the Hockey East Championship where they were edged by the No. 1 ranked Northeastern. The same year, the Friars made it to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2005. Providence lost in the quarterfinals to the No. 2 Wisconsin Badgers and finished with a 12-8-1 overall record. The Friars returned to the Hockey East Championship during the 2022-23 season where the No. 1 seeded Northeastern ultimately took the win. Providence finished the season 22-11-4 overall.

The Coaches

A total of six people have held the honor of coaching the Providence College Friars. The inaugural 1974-75 season was rough for the Friars and the team's head coach, Tom Palamara. The squad started the year before as an intramural team. Palamara, a sophomore at the College, coached the team for the first six years of its existence. After finishing 0-8-0 in its inaugural season, the team turned things around. By its third season, it posted its first of 21-straight winning seasons. After the 1979-80 season, the program's first 20-win campaign, Palamara stepped aside and John Marchetti became the Friars' second head coach.

John Marchetti led Providence during its most successful era of hockey to date. From 1980-94, the Friars won five titles and posted an impressive record of 262-69-15. The team won the inaugural ECAC tournament in 1983-84 and only failed to reach the finals twice in the next 10 years. From 1991-92 through 1993-94, Providence won three-straight ECAC titles and went 62-15-8 overall.

Jackie Barto, a 1984 graduate of the College, took over the reins of the program for the 1994-95 season. Barto, a former three-sport star while at Providence, led the squad to its fourth-straight and sixth title overall in her first season and was named the New England Hockey Writers Coach of the Year. Coach Barto, like the student-athlete Barto, was a three-sport coach for field hockey and softball as well as hockey. The Friars made a fifth straight appearance in the ECAC title game during the 1995-96 season but fell to New Hampshire in five overtimes, 3-2. Barto left after the 1997-98 season to become the head coach at Ohio State and was replaced by Tom Sheehan. Sheehan coached the Friars for one season and posted a 13-10-1 record.

In 1999, Providence hired Bob Deraney, who had been the top assistant coach at UMass-Amherst for the previous five seasons. Deraney's squads posted 20-win seasons in six of his 19 campaigns and won titles four of those years. In 2001-02, their last year in the ECAC, the Friars defeated Northeastern, 1-0, at Storrs, Conn. to win the Eastern League title. After becoming a founding member of the new Women's Hockey East, Providence earned three regular season and three tournament championships. By winning the inaugural Women's Hockey East Tournament, Providence College has the distinct honor of having been the inaugural champions for both men's and women's Hockey East tournaments. Deraney became Providence's all-time wins leader during his 15th season with the Friars. During his 18th season, he captured his 300th win and became the winningest Women's Hockey East coach in history.

Matt Kelly was hired in the summer of 2018 and became the sixth coach of the Friars. He led the team to an impressive 24-11-2 record during his first season. During the 2019-20 season, Kelly led the Friars to the Hockey East Quarterfinal Round. Kelly coached the Friars to the NCAA Quarterfinals in the 2020-21 season. It was the first time the Friars appeared in an NCAA Tournament game since 2005. In the 2021-22 season he coached the Friars to another quarterfinal appearance in the Hockey East Tournament. Kelly led the 2022-23 team to a Hockey East Tournament Championship appearance. The team finished the season with a 22-11-4 overall record.

The Players

Most importantly, the players have shaped the history of Friar hockey. Providence College has produced its share of incredible hockey players. However, there are some names that have become synonymous with Friar hockey. Granato, DeCosta, Baker, Bailey, Blahoski, Thatcher, Brown-Miller, Movsessian-Lamoriello, Curley, Riordan, Barto, O'Sullivan, Tabb, Bugden, Duffy and Lacasse have all placed their names at the top of the Friar record books.

In the program's history, there have been seven All-Americans, 33 ECAC All-Stars, six ECAC Players of the Year, one Hockey East Player of the Year, 26 Hockey East All-Stars, three Hockey East Rookie of the Year winners, 14 Hockey East All-Rookie selections, 32 New England All-Stars, three New England Players of the Year, six Patty Kazmaier nominees, 10 Olympians and four USA Hockey Players of the Year. Currently, Providence hockey alumnae can be found throughout the hockey world in both the coaching and playing ranks. Several former players play professionally in Canada, Europe and for USA Hockey. The 1998 U.S. Olympic Team was inducted into the Olympic Hall of Fame. PC holds the honor of sending seven players, the most of any college, to Nagano, Japan to help earn gold in the first ever women's hockey event in the Olympics. Former Friar Cammi Granato '93 was inducted into the Hockey Hall of fame on November 8, 2010. Granato, one of the most notable names in women's ice hockey, was joined by Angela James as the first ever women to be inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame.

On November 8, 2010, former Friar Cammi Granato '93 joined Angela James as the first women ever to be inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame. At PC, Granato was one of the greatest collegiate players in history. She led the Friars to two ECAC Championships and is still the program's all-time leading scorer with 256 points and 139 goals. She then represented the U.S. from 1990 to 2005, playing in nine World Championships. She served as captain of Team USA in both the 1998 and 2002 Winter Olympics, earning gold and then silver.

Schneider Arena - Home of Friar Hockey

Opened in 1973, Schneider Arena recently underwent a massive renovation project that culminated in a Grand Reopening on Sept 27, 2013. The eight-month renovation project has turned Schneider into one of finest on-campus facilities in the country. The Grand Reopening celebration included a ribbon cutting ceremony and a blessing of the building, featuring President Rev. Brian J. Shanley, O.P. '80, Athletics Director Bob Driscoll and distinguished guests.

The renovation project was completed in just under eight months and included a 30,000 square-foot addition. Highlights of the addition include a new atrium, ticket office, concession stands, coaches offices, shooting room, locker rooms, meeting rooms, athletic training room, press box, five luxury suites, dasher boards, glass, videoboard, video ribbon boards, scoreboards, a renovated Friends of Friar Room and a strength and conditioning facility.

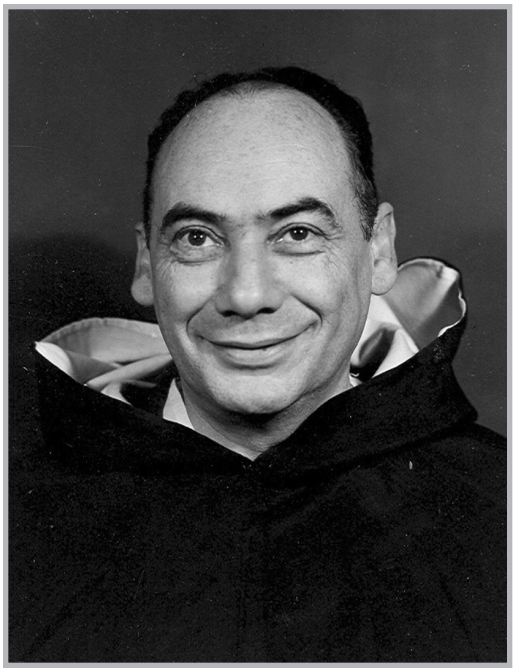

Built at a cost of $1.8 million dollars in 1973, the Schneider Arena ice skating facility has been recognized by many for its well-planned and smartly designed structure. Schneider Arena has been the home of 391 Friar victories and a .663 winning percentage.

Schneider Arena is one of Providence College's buildings that is in constant use. When not serving the needs of the men's and women's hockey programs, the Providence College club hockey team or intramurals, the building serves as the home of many of Rhode Island's youth and high school hockey teams as well as the Junior Friars hockey program.

The following is an excerpt taken from the eulogy given at Father Schneider's funeral in December, 1963:

"...Father Herman Damian Schneider was born into this life on August 16, 1909, at Ozone Park, Long Island and departed this life on Saturday last, after an illness of about two years. Aspiring from his earliest years to that perfection of Christian life (which is the observance of evangelical counsels) he entered the Order of Preachers and studied the natural and divine sciences at Dominican institutions in Columbus and Springfield, Ohio, Providence, Rhode Island, River Forest, Illinois and Washington, D.C. where he was ordained in 1935. Thirty-four of his fifty-four years were spent as a friar preacher, solemnly vowed to poverty, chastity and obedience, honoring the observances of the common life, and enjoying that peace which the world cannot give, the one hundred fold promised by the Master.

After receiving Holy Orders, his apostolate was varied and fruitful. In imitation of the Good Shepherd, he labored in the parish of St. Pius, preaching, praying, visiting the sick, burying the dead and breaking the bread of Christ to hungry and thirsty souls.

During the Second World War, when the nation issued a call to arms, he served as chaplain in the marine corps and like a watchdog of Christ, remained steadfastly at his post of duty with honor, encouraging and counselling the fainthearted, comforting the wounded, administering the sacraments at all hours of the day and night "becoming all things to all men, that he might save all, for the sake of the gospel." He believed patriotism to be a virtue necessary for the commonwealth and was convinced that the chief strength of evil men lies in the cowardice and weakness of good men; that the social and political order of nations, disintegrates and perishes, when the moral order is uprooted from God.

Father Schneider graduated from Providence College in the class of 1930, and his alma mater, (in the designs of God) was to be his last dwelling place on earth. As a professor, he was sympathetic, enthusiastic and dedicated to the progress of his pupils. Having won a master's degree in modern languages at Columbia University, he functioned as an effective language teacher in the German Department, these last fifteen years. Even after his first and second heart attack, his thoughts would revert nostalgically to his classroom and teaching. The aim of a complete college education in his opinion was not merely the pursuit of intellectual perfection but also maturing to the fullness of the age of Christ during the formative period. He moulded the character of his pupils by balancing his inspiration with their application. Furthermore, in addition to his professorial duties, he cooperated in the program of the diocese by celebrating masses regularly in many local parishes and contributing his talent as a speaker and retreat master.

Blest with a natural aptitude for attracting and stimulating college students, he was appointed moderator of such campus groups as the Mal Brown Club, the Friars Club, the Cranston Club, and the German Society. Being also an ardent sports fan, he was made assistant director of athletics and sponsored the foundation of a hockey team which besides being his personal pride and joy, was a credit to the Athletic Department of the College..."
