All five games played in the series have been played in Tallahassee at the Tucker Center. North Florida head coach Matt Driscoll has coached the Ospreys in each of the first four games of the series and knows the Seminoles and Hamilton well. The Seminoles enter their game against the Ospreys with a 4-0 record against Driscoll as the Head Coach at North Florida. Bobby Kennen, the associate head coach at North Florida, served on Seminole Florida State Hall of Famer Hugh Durham's coaching staff at Jacksonville for five years (2000-05). Bruce Evans, also an assistant coach on the UNF staff, was the Director of Player Development at Georgia Tech (2012-16) when the Seminoles earned a 3-1 mark against the Yellow Jackets. Evans coached at North Florida from 2010-12 including in the first two games (both Florida State wins) and last game (a Seminole win during the 2018-19 season and this season) most recent game of the series. Assistant Coach Stephen Perkins will coach in his third game against the Seminoles (2014, 2018, 2019) in Tallahassee tonight. Ian Gibson, the Director of Operations for the Ospreys, was a graduate assistant at VCU in 2011 when the Rams defeated the Seminoles to advance to the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament.

Exhibition 1 -- Florida State 95, Barry 66

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Florida State's exhibition opener provided a glimpse of what lies ahead for the Seminoles -- both in the upcoming season and beyond. It also showed coach Leonard Hamilton a few things he'd like for his team to tighten up between now and the Seminoles' season opener on November 6. So, in that sense, it was a near-perfect evening for FSU, which got 19 points and five assists from senior Trent Forrest in a 95-66 victory over Barry University at the Donald L. Tucker Center. Forrest, the central figure for an FSU team that lost its top two scorers from a year ago, was one of six Seminoles to finish in double-figures. Anthony Polite added 18 -- including 16 in the second half -- while RaiQuan Gray (10 points) and newcomers Patrick Williams (12, nine rebounds), Nathanael Jack (10), Dominik Olejniczak (10 points, seven rebounds) and Malik Osborne (seven points, seven boards) all enjoyed productive outings.

Game 2 -- Florida State 63, Florida 51

GAINESVILLE, Fla. -- Devin Vassell scored 13 points, M.J. Walker added 12 and Florida State upset No. 6 Florida 63-51 on Sunday, extending its series winning streak to six. The Seminoles (1-1) avoided their first 0-2 start since 2000 thanks to suffocating defense that forced the rival Gators (1-1) into 16 turnovers and a woeful shooting performance. Florida was 14 of 50 from the field, including 4 of 22 from 3-point range. A sellout crowd witnessed FSU take over late in the first half and really seize control after the break. The Gators went 10 minutes with just one field goal -- a dunk on an inbound play -- as Florida State pulled ahead 38-25 in the opening minutes of the second half. The 'Noles went up by 14 on Anthony Polite's 3-pointer with 9:31 to play. The Seminoles made 11 of their first 20 shots in the second half. They also finished with five blocked shots and eight steals.

Game 5 -- Florida State 80, Saint Francis 65

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Wyatt Wilkes scored a career-high 14 points while Trent Forrest added 13 points and five rebounds as Florida State defeated Saint Francis (Pa.) 80-65. A redshirt sophomore, Wilkes had scored just five points in four games this season before turning in an unexpected five of seven performance from the floor against the Red Flash. Wilkes also knocked down 3-of-5 3-pointers. Myles Thompson scored a career-high 23 points, knocking down 9 of 12 shots for Saint Francis. Thompson came into the game averaging eight points. Forrest was 7 of 7 at the free-throw line as the Seminoles continued to impress by going 15 of 17 at the charity stripe. Florida State came into the game as the only ACC team shooting better than 75 percent from the free-throw line. Freshman center Balsa Koprivica has had back-to-back double-digit scoring games, finishing with 11 points on 5 of 6 shooting versus the Red Flash. Florida State won its 35th straight non-conference home game, a streak that dates nearly five years.

Game 8 -- Florida State 63, Purdue 60 (OT)

NICEVILLE, Fla. – Trent Forrest scored 17 points to lead Florida State to a 63-60 overtime victory over Purdue in the Emerald Coast Classic championship game. The Seminoles outscored the Boilermakers 5-2 in the extra period by getting their points at the free-throw line including the final two with only one second left to play. Purdue, trailing by only a point, took several potentially winning shots in the last minute but was unable to score against a stifling Florida State defense. Devin Vassell was the only other Seminole scoring in double figures with 13 points. That included the final two free throws in overtime after getting fouled when he grabbed a missed Purdue shot. Matt Haarms led the Boilermakers with 16 points followed by Jahaad Proctor with 12 and Eric Hunter Jr. with 10. It was a back-and-forth game with 10 lead changes and 11 ties. Florida State never led by more than four points while the Boilermakers briefly went ahead by seven early in the second half after trailing 27-24 at the intermission.

Game 8 -- Indiana 80, Florida State 64

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. – Devonte Green senior scored a career-high 30 points, knocked down five 3-pointers and helped fuel a late spurt with two big shots to lead undefeated Indiana past No. 17 Florida State 80-64 in the ACC/Big Ten Challenge. Green went 10 of 15 from the field, 5 of 7 on 3s and 5 for 7 at the free throw line. He also grabbed six rebounds and finished with three assists and two steals -- not bad for someone who missed Indiana's first three games with an injured hamstring. With Green back, the Hoosiers are off to their best start since 2012-13. They earned their third straight win over a ranked team dating to last season and head into Big Ten play with a boost of confidence. It wasn't just Green, either. Freshman forward Trayce Jackson-Davis had 15 points and eight rebounds, while junior Justin Smith chipped in with 14 points and five boards. Trent Forrest scored 13 to lead the Seminoles, who had their seven-game winning streak snapped. M.J. Walker and Devin Vassell added 10 points apiece.

Early Graduate Trent Forrest Achieving On And Off The Court For Florida State

By Curt Weiler

Tallahassee Democrat

December 12, 2019

Trent Forrest has achieved a lot on the court in his Florida State basketball career.

The senior point guard has played a crucial role in the rejuvenation of the FSU basketball program. He's come up big in FSU's deep runs in the NCAA Tournament runs in each of the last two seasons while catapulting his way into the Top 10 in the program record books in career steals (181, eighth) and assists (371, 10th).

If Forrest plays in 34 games this season, he'll surpass former teammate Terance Mann for the most games played in program history.

While accomplishing great feats on the court, Forrest has also been ahead of schedule in the classroom. He's set to graduate Friday with his bachelor's degree in sports management. He'll do so with a 3.46 GPA and in less than four years considering he arrived at FSU in the summer of 2016.

It's a plan that has been in the works dating back to his high school career in Chipley.

"In high school earlier, in ninth or tenth grade, I didn't really think I would be in college classes in high school," Forrest said.

"I had good grades so my teachers and advisors, they went ahead and just put me in those AP classes and I kind of did good in them. It just kind of went from there. My junior year, I had a couple AP classes and then senior year, I had another AP class and I dual-enrolled that year so that put me ahead. When I got here, I was already ahead and now I'm graduating in (three and a half) years so it paid off for sure."

The benefit of being from Chipley, only about 90 minutes west of Tallahassee? Forrest is expecting a big crowd of supporters in attendance for Friday's ceremony.

"I have 20 graduation tickets right now and I may need more, hopefully by Friday," Forrest said.

"It'll probably be a good bit of family and friends there."

None of them may be prouder than his mother, Barbara Lee. Due to her displeasure for traveling, she didn't complain about the fact that her son fell in love with the nearby Seminoles during his recruitment.

"It was indeed such a blessing," Lee told the Democrat.

"I did not try to interfere. I pretty much just left it up to him because I didn't want him, down the road, to say he missed out on anything or my intervention and helping him make a decision may lead to regret. I just said you decide where you want to go, we'll pray about that and see if we come up with the same thing and whatever you want to do then I'm supporting you with whatever your decision is.

"When we went over for his official visit. I was really pleased with all of the things that they had to help them as far as academics, personal life...It just seemed to be the total package."

At their busiest, Forrest's school days -- jam-packed with class, studying, projects, workouts, practice and film study -- can exceed 16 hours of constant work.

His mother credits his intrinsic work ethic that has allowed him to perform so admirably on the court and in the classroom.

"With Trent, it just came real natural. To this day, I'm amazed at his discipline academically as well as his work ethic with sports and all," Lee said.

"He still studied, you know, he put the time in studying and preparing for tests and different things, but it really did come naturally for him."

Forrest also credits the ideals instilled into him from childhood about the importance of education. He believes this has played a role in him being an ACC Academic Basketball Team honoree in each of his first three seasons with the Seminoles.

"Sometimes (my family is) more proud of that than anything I do on the court because they stressed to me that's one thing no one will be able to take from you is your education," Forrest said.

"My family, they're very proud of me graduating and all the academic awards I have received."
Lee is equally proud of the things she hears about Forrest from FSU fans each time she visits Tallahassee.

"It never fails when I'm at FSU that someone comes up to me and asks if I'm his mom and just compliments him on how humble he is and how respectful he is," Lee said.

"That makes parents really proud because I knew what he was here, but sometimes kids, they tend to change when they leave home and that has stayed with him."

Forrest's head start and early graduation will allow him to get a jump start on a Master's degree even though he didn't redshirt and will spend just four years at FSU.

Forrest was admitted to FSU's highly-regarded Master's in Sports Management program -- rated the best in the country by College Choice -- and will complete one semester of graduate classes in the spring before pursuing his professional career.

"It's definitely hard to get into," Forrest said of the program.

"You have to have the right GPA and then have the right references for people to help you get in. It's definitely a hard group to get in, but our advisors and even having (FSU basketball coach Leonard Hamilton) on my side kind of helped me with that."

He won't finish his Master's before leaving, but he plans to complete it gradually over his professional career through online classes.

That will give Forrest a boost on his post-playing-career plans. He wants to stay around basketball and follow in the footsteps of a few FSU graduates like Jeff Peterson, assistant general manager for the Brooklyn Nets, and Luke Loucks, player development coach for the Golden State Warriors.

"Either GM or coach, just something to keep me around basketball definitely would be the plan."

'I Got To Wear My Kicks': RaiQuan Gray And The Seminoles Size Up Their Shoe Collections

By Tashan Reed

The Athletic

December 4, 2019

Florida State redshirt sophomore forward RaiQuan Gray believes he's the biggest sneakerhead on the team. The 6-foot-8, 260-pounder carries himself with the same confidence while stating that's a fact as he does when he's pushing the ball up the court or launching a 3-pointer.

That's no small claim for a basketball roster that includes 17 players. Most of them have plenty of basketball and casual shoes at their disposal between their time with the team and their own personal accumulation of kicks over the years.

In Gray's mind, junior forward M.J. Walker is a close second. He's versatile. He has classics like Nike's Air Force 1s and Retro Air Jordans, but also has more modern brands and models.

Freshman forward Patrick Williams is a rising newcomer. Like Walker, he boasts a strong collection of Jordans, but he doesn't have enough experience yet.

Redshirt sophomore guard Anthony Polite, who's from Lugano, Switzerland, is more into European designer shoes. His favorite designer is Giuseppe Zanotti, who's Italian. He agreed that Gray has a strong sneaker game, but disagreed with the ranking.

"He might be one of the top guys... With me," Polite said while standing near the door in the press conference room at the Civic Center after his team's 79-74 win over Western Carolina. "I'd put me at No. 1; him at No. 2."

Senior guard Trent Forrest has been in Tallahassee longer than anyone else on the squad. Unsurprisingly, he has a ton of shoes, but Gray said he doesn't really wear them very often. Forrest rejected that point and clarified that while he mostly wears comfortable shoes because he's often just chilling when he's not playing basketball, he has some heat in his closet. Not only that, but he emphatically declined to put Gray at No. 1.

"No chance, not even close," Forrest said. "I would put myself, definitely."

Forrest said his closet has "flavors," which is code for versatile. If he's feeling casual, he'll just throw on some Vans. If he's walking around campus, you might catch him in some Jordan 11s (his favorite is a tie between the "Cool Grey" and "Concord" colorways). If he's going out, he might put on some an Off-White collaboration.

When Forrest stepped off the team bus to play in the home opener against Western Carolina on Nov. 15, he was wearing some Adidas Yeezys. To Forrest, that diversity is what sets him apart.

"He got a lot of variety, too, though," Forrest says of Gray. "He got a lot of (Jordan) 1s and different ones, too. I'm first, but he's definitely second, though, for sure."

The reason why Gray thinks his collection takes first place is that it has the best mix of quality, versatility and exclusivity. He's not just some hoarder who collects the shoes to post pictures on social media and brag about them to his friends but never actually wears them, either. He's emphatic in that he's all in on the culture.

"Nah, I wear mine," Gray says while sitting courtside following a public Florida State scrimmage in October. "I wear my kicks. I can't do that. I got to wear my kicks."

"I got to."

Gray was relatively late to the sneaker game. He didn't really start getting into shoes until his senior year of high school. Before then, he mostly wore running and training shoes or whatever kicks came with the time he spent playing on the Under Armour basketball circuit.

Sure, he got some Jordan Melos that he liked back in middle school, but his collection was admittedly pretty weak. When his sister bought him a few more pairs of J's while he was a senior in high school approaching graduation, however, he got hooked.

Gray estimates that he owns 20-25 pairs of Jordans alone. On top of that, he has several shoes from several other brands and around 25 pairs of basketball shoes.

"I got like 22 at home for sure... Nah, like 23-24 at home for sure," Gray says. "Then basketball, I would say here (at the Civic Center) I got like five and then in our practice facility probably like 15-16."

Without a doubt, Jordan is Gray's favorite brand. He enjoys the Jordan 1s, 4s and 11s. His favorite colorway is either the Jordan 11 "Bred" or Jordan 11 "Concord," but the 1s are his top silhouette.

"Any 1," Gray says. "Any Jordan 1, I'll wear. If the color looks good to me, I'll wear it. I like 1s. I can have a whole closet of 1s and I'll be fine. So, the 1s, any color."

Gray will often opt for something more comfortable when going to class or if he's just relaxing. Besides his Jordans, he goes to the Nike Air Monarchs the most.

"It depends," Gray says. "If it's a chill day, I'll probably throw on some trainers. I got the Air Monarchs, I like those. Those feel good. Then any 'J,' I'll just throw 'em on. I just put 'em on and go to class. That's about it."

The most treasured basketball shoe that Gray owns is the LeBron 16 "I'm King." The feel is ideal for someone of his size, which isn't surprising given they're designed for the 6-foot-8, 250-pound LeBron James, and he likes the black and gold colorway. His favorite casual shoe is the Jordan 1 "Turbo Green."

Gray stores his shoes at home along the bottom of his closet. The shoes that he only pulls out for special occasions are kept in their boxes and stacked on top of each other in two rows. The day-to-day shoes are kept in a large bin. His stockpiles at the Civic Center and Basketball Training Center weren't nearly as organized, so Florida State assistant Stan Jones made him give some of the shoes away.

"I just gave like seven pairs away," Gray says. "Coach Jones made me give 'em away. I had too many shoes in my locker at the top and he was like, 'I cleaned it out.'"

Gray couldn't rely on his sister to buy his shoes forever. The first pair of shoes that he bought with his own money were the Jordan 1 "Top 3" during his senior year of high school.

Eventually, Gray sold them, but he wound up buying them for a second time.

"Ohh," Gray says as he leans back in his chair and rests his hands on the top of his head when asked about the most expensive pair of shoes he's ever purchased. "The most money? Probably like $400. I had two pair of Top 3 1s. The ones in high school were $350, but I ended up selling 'em and I wanted 'em back, so I bought 'em for like $400." Were they really worth the extra $50?

"Yeah," Gray says. "I wanted 'em back."

Even Forrest — who's probably the player with the best argument to contend with Gray — hasn't gone past $250. He spent that on a pair of Jordan 12 "Flu Game" shoes off of Flight Club, which is an authenticated store that resells sneakers.

Part of the price gap is shoe size. Forrest wears a 14, while Gray wears a size 16. That sounds subtle, but it makes a huge difference when it comes to finding rare shoes at a reasonable price on the resale market.

"It is (tough on him)," Forrest says. "But, I don't know, somehow he be getting them."

Finding the shoes alone in his size exceedingly difficult. Getting them at a reasonable price is almost impossible. He almost has to get a pair he wants as soon as they come out if he wants to avoid breaking the bank.

"Yeah, yeah, yeah," Gray says, his disappointment with his conundrum apparent. "It's a lot. It's hard to find the exclusive shoes. I'll just hit somebody up and they'll try to hold a pair for me."

Gray typically buys a new pair of shoes every month. At least every other month. Some Jordans can be found for around $100, but the nicer pairs that Gray enjoys often exceed $200, $300 or even $400 in retail price.

"Oh, I'm definitely trying to get the UNDEFEATED x Nike Kobe 4 Protros, the "Black Mamba" ones that just came out," Gray says. "I want to play in those this year. Then Jordans, some "Shattered Backboards" (1s) or, I don't know what they're called, the orange and green (SoleFly Art Basel Sail) 1s. Either one of those."

Gray is superstitious about his shoes when it comes to basketball. If he plays well in a pair of shoes one game, he'll keep wearing it. As soon as he plays bad, though, he'll switch it out for another.

Last season, he said his best shoe was a pair of the Nike Kobe "A.D." He customized them using the Nike I.D. service. They were all gray with gold chrome on the heel and the Nike check on the side. He wore them for the first time in the Seminoles' 80-75 overtime win over Louisville on Feb 9. He played in them for the rest of the season.

To make sure he's prepared if something feels off, Gray brings at least three shoes with him to every game.

"I'll shoot in a pair for home games and then switch before (the game)," Gray says. "Last year, I played in a shoe, then before that in the shootaround, I wore a shoe and then I shot before the game in a shoe. It depends on how I'm feeling in them, really."

The equipment managers always pack shoes whenever FSU goes on the road, but Gray also brings a backpack that has two more pairs of shoes in it.

"Because I don't want to wear the team shoe to the gym and then getting back on the plane, I do that," Gray explains. "Then they bring a shoe bag for our team and I'll steal somebody's spot and just bring like three pair of basketball shoes. It depends on how I'm feeling."

Even during the scrimmage, Gray couldn't be caught lacking when it came to his sneaker game. He wore a pair of the Nike KD 11 "Still KD". They're black and gray with a light blue, translucent outsole. His spot as the biggest sneakerhead on the team is solid — for now — but it's still close enough to spark debates within the team.

"Me and M.J.," Gray says when asked of the primary competitors. "Actually, Pat, too. He tries to count my shoes and stuff like that. I feel like they're trying to say that I got the most shoes on the team, but I don't believe it. I think those two people are definitely up there with me."

For now, no one on the team quite matches Gray. Well, almost. There's a student manager for the team who has so many shoes that he has to split them between his apartment in Tallahassee and his home in Georgia. Gray mentions him in passing, initially, but he realizes that even he can't compete as he describes the collection.

"That's who you should be talking to," Gray jokes as he walks away and heads in the direction of the locker room.

Gray has some catching up to do.
