"This is remarkable. First of all, what a pass. Right on the money. And to have the presence of mind – your position on the court to be able to turn and get this (the ball) up to the basket. That's well defended. And you can't foul if you are Armaan Franklin ... what excellent execution. And what fight. They (Florida State) would not go away. Florida State would not go away in this game."

Florida State, which is 5-0 at home against Notre Dame, plays host to the Fighting Irish on Wednesday, March 2, 2022 at 7:00 at the Donald L. Tucker Center in Tallahassee. The Seminoles won their most recent game of the season – 64-63 at Virginia -- on February 26 as ACC Freshman of the Week Matthew Cleveland made a game-winning, buzzer-beating 3-point shot with no time remaining in the game to give the Seminoles the victory. Florida State has now won six one-point games this season with five (Miami, Duke, Miami, Clemson and Virginia) coming in ACC play and one coming against Boston University. Following Wednesday's game against Notre Dame, the only meeting between the two teams during the regular season, the Seminoles play host to NC State on Saturday March 5 at 2:00 p.m. in the final regular season game of the 2021-22 season on Senior Day.

CLEVELAND NAMED ACC FRESHMAN OF THE WEEK FOR SECOND TIME

Freshman Matthew Cleveland, who made the shot heard around the college basketball world against Virginia on Saturday, was named the ACC Freshman of the Week on February 28. SEMINOLES TO HONOR NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE AGAINST NOTRE DAME

The Florida State men's basketball team will continue its tradition and wear its special turquoise Nike N7 uniforms in Wednesday's game against Notre Dame to raise awareness for bringing sport to Native American and Aboriginal youth. It marks the 20th time (and third time this season) the Seminoles will wear the special uniforms. The Seminoles also wore the special uniforms in their 65-64 win over Miami in Tallahassee on January 11, 2022. This season (2021-22) marks the ninth consecutive season the Seminoles will wear the turquoise uniforms. Florida State makes a distinct departure from its traditional school colors to don turquoise Nike N7 uniforms to stand for the importance of bringing sport and physical activity to Native American and Aboriginal youth. "The Seminole Tribe of Florida approached us about this program, and we are honored and excited to wear these unique uniforms," said head coach Leonard Hamilton. The Seminoles first wore the turquoise uniforms in their 89-61 win over UT-Martin in Tallahassee on November 17, 2013. The Seminoles are 16-4 when wearing the special N7 turquoise uniforms.

FLORIDA STATE AND COACHING FOR LITERACY

Florida State Head Coach Leonard Hamilton and Associate Head Coach Stan Jones are on the forefront of one of college basketball's great initiatives as the Seminoles have partnered with Coaching for Literacy (CFL) to host their seventh annual Fight for Literacy Game against Notre Dame on March 2. Coaching for Literacy's Fight for Literacy Games empower coaches, teams, and fans to make a more literate America by participating in awareness efforts, volunteer work and fundraising activities. According to the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), 59 percent of fourth-graders in Florida are not proficient in reading. The Seminoles are doing their part to change that unfortunate statistic. To promote the Fight for Literacy, members of the Seminole coaching staff will wear Coaching for Literacy's green pins to show their support in the Fight for Literacy.

SEMINOLES NOW WITH SIX ONE-POINT VICTORIES

Underdog Unleashed: Freshman Matthew Cleveland Makes Mark For FSU Hoops

By Ira Schoffel

Warchant

January 20, 2022

Ralph Cleveland was living the life of millions of other youth sports dads.

His son Matthew loved basketball and showed legitimate potential. He was dedicated to improving. And with any luck, he was going to have the same growth spurt his father experienced around the time he hit high school.

So Ralph did what parents do.

He worked with Matthew on his game. He and his wife, Sandra, drove all around metro Atlanta, taking him to rec-league practices and AAU tournaments. He enlisted the help of skills trainers.

All with the hope that Matthew one day might have the opportunity -- if he continued working really hard -- to play college basketball somewhere. Anywhere.

It wasn't until a scout approached him at an AAU event before Matthew's freshman year of high school that his father realized what the future might really hold.

"He's probably going to be an inch or two taller than you, and with the way he's playing, he's high-major material," the scout told Ralph, who stands 6-foot-4.

At the time, Matthew was still a middle-schooler. Having fun. Playing a game.

He was nowhere close to 6-5 or 6-6. And the idea of making it to high-major college basketball -- in a conference like the ACC, SEC or Big Ten -- seemed like something out of a dream.

"That was the first time someone said it to me," Ralph Cleveland remembered. "Honestly, my jaw dropped. That was probably the earliest indication that this was going to be a little bit different ride."

'It just took off'

Matthew Cleveland was not a basketball phenom from an early age.

He wasn't bigger or stronger than all the other kids. And because he split time between basketball and baseball, he wasn't quite as polished as the boys who hooped all year-round.

When Cleveland did finally decide to focus full-time on basketball and tried out for a summer AAU program around the age of 12, he wasn't quite good enough to make the outfit's top team. He was relegated to one of the lesser squads.

It was what he considered a common theme.

"Pretty much my whole career playing basketball, I've always been the underdog," the FSU freshman told Warchant this past summer. "So I've always had that chip on my shoulder."

Underdog is a relative term these days.

By the time he enrolled at Florida State, Cleveland was a five-star prospect and the No. 17 recruit in the country. He chose the Seminoles over national powers like Michigan, Kansas and Stanford. Countless other elite programs didn't make the cut.

But beneath all the recent success, Cleveland and his family distinctly remember his humble beginnings.

When he was still learning how to transition from rec ball to the competitive AAU circuit. When he wasn't as adept at ball-handling and passing, but his father encouraged him to play in the backcourt anyway. When he made his high school team as a freshman but couldn't grab a starting role.

To be certain, Matthew Cleveland tasted plenty of failure in his youth. But even in those toughest times, his family says he never doubted that he could one day play at the college level, and possibly in the NBA.

Even if others were not quite so sure.

"We were a long ways from there when we started," Ralph Cleveland said with a laugh. "We'll just put it that way." The progress started to come quickly, though, once the younger Cleveland hung up his baseball bat and glove. One year after getting left off that AAU program's top roster, Cleveland worked on his deficiencies and earned an invitation the next time around.

"Slowly but surely, he worked his way up," his father said. "To being a starter and to being a big contributor on that team."

Then came the growth spurt.

As a freshman in high school, Cleveland was listed at 6-foot-2. One year later, he shot up to 6-6. Then 6-7 the year after that.

Ralph Cleveland always expected his son would grow into a small forward's body. Not only was he himself tall, but his wife's family had some height as well.

But instead of banking on that size and having Matthew focus on playing around the basket, Ralph wanted him to work on being a guard. He even placed him on multiple AAU teams at a time so that Matthew could play on the wing with some squads and actually handle point guard duties on others.

"I knew that was going to be important for his growth and development, that he could take on the ball-handling responsibilities for a team and gain some comfort level with that," the father said. "Let's make sure that you can really handle the ball and that you can play on the perimeter."

By the time Matthew was a sophomore in high school, everything came together.

Not only had he grown four or five inches, but his body started filling out thanks to steady work in the weight room. His skills were also continuing to improve.

Soon, he would leave the Hype Hawks, an independent AAU team that had been his offseason basketball home, for the prestigious Adidas-sponsored Atlanta Celtics.

"You could just see the progression really take off," Ralph Cleveland said. "He didn't play on a shoe circuit team all the way up until 17U. And because the coaches were so supportive and just instilled a tremendous amount of confidence in him to go out and perform ... man, it just took off.

"Once he started playing above the rim, it was kind of done," Ralph continued with a laugh. "His confidence went through the roof at that point."

A perfect match

Choosing a college destination ultimately would be Matthew Cleveland's decision, but he certainly had guidance from the family.

Both of his parents graduated from Georgia Tech -- Ralph majored in engineering while Sandra majored in management with a concentration in accounting -- so academics were definitely going to be a major consideration. With that in mind, they encouraged their talented son to choose a school that not only would prepare him for life after basketball, but that could help him achieve his "highest potential."

They urged him to seek the same from a basketball perspective. To find a program that would develop him to become the best player he could be.

And the third criteria was character within the coaching staff.

"Are these people that you can trust?" Ralph asked his son. "Are these people that when they say they're going to do something, are they going to do what they promised? And are these mentors of men? What's their track record on that?"

It didn't take long for Leonard Hamilton's Florida State Seminoles program to emerge as the frontrunner.

"They are A-plus on all three of those scales," Ralph said.

Cleveland didn't announce his commitment to FSU until the summer before his senior season -- after schools like North Carolina and Kentucky had tried to make a late push -- but looking back, he says he knew he would be a Seminole following his first visit as a high school sophomore.

"No other visit was like that. No other coaching staff was like that," said Cleveland, who was recruited primarily by FSU assistant coach Charlton Young. "And I knew no other school was going to be able to top that. So it was really just a waiting game after that."

Cleveland would end up taking three trips to FSU during the recruiting process, and each only served to solidify his decision.

In January of 2020, a few months before he made his commitment, he attended an FSU home game against Notre Dame. It was a Saturday night. Prime time with a sold-out crowd. And the game was a thriller that the Seminoles won 85-84.

Cleveland loved watching the way FSU loaded its lineup with tall, versatile wings like himself. He appreciated how hard they played defense and how quickly they got out in transition on offense.

"Florida State was a great fit from that standpoint," Ralph said. "You look at the fit from a basketball standpoint, and it's really undeniable, right? Coach Ham, Coach Young and all of the coaches do a terrific job of developing players with his size and skill set and versatility."

The academic piece pushed the Seminoles over the top.

Florida State's status as a Top 20 public university would be impressive enough. But because Cleveland has long dreamed of pursuing a career in the FBI, he was thrilled to learn that FSU's criminology department is routinely ranked in the top 10 nationally.

And Hamilton's incredible record of graduating players speaks for itself.

"It's top-notch," Ralph said. "And then a really good law school as well? With a clear articulation plan from undergraduate into a law degree? That was just hard to beat. It was really hard to beat."

'You don't have to rush it'

It hasn't taken Matthew Cleveland long to make an impact on the college level.

At just past the midway point of his freshman season, he ranks third on the team in scoring at 10.5 points per game and third in rebounding at 4.3, despite coming off the bench in every contest.

He was named ACC Freshman of the Week in early January after recording a double-double -- 13 points and 10 rebounds -- in a win at N.C. State. He hit a game-winning shot with 2.1 seconds remaining to lift FSU past Boston University. And just last week, he led the team with 15 points in a one-point win over Miami.

While the scoring is noteworthy, Hamilton said recently that Cleveland's "defense, his rebounding, his aggressiveness and his tenacity" have been perhaps his greatest contributions to the Seminoles, who are now 11-5 overall and 5-2 in the ACC after knocking off No. 6 Duke late Tuesday.

Those descriptions wouldn't come as much of a surprise to Ralph Cleveland.

He knows better than anyone how much time and effort his son has poured into becoming the best all-around player he can be.

"He's really a Swiss Army Knife on the floor," Ralph said. "There's so many different things he can do. And he makes it look so easy sometimes. But by the time you've seen Matthew do it in a game, he has really worked at it." In Cleveland's early years, that work might have been devoted to basics like ball-handling, passing and shooting. In the months before he enrolled at Florida State, it was finishing at the rim with both hands -- with finesse and with power. Skills we have seen on display already this season.

"He's worked hard on that. Really hard," Ralph said. "When he decides, 'This is a skill that I want to develop,' he works on it."

It's a mindset Cleveland has possessed for as long as anyone can remember.

It served him well when he was young and not even the strongest player in some of his youth leagues. And also last season, when he was widely regarded as one of the premier high school players in the country.

The self-described "underdog," who vividly remembers being doubted as a youth, maintained that same dogged determination when opposing prep teams focused on taking down the hot-shot Florida State signee.

"It didn't really matter if they were coming at me, because I was coming right back at them," he said.

And more often than not, he came out on top.

Cleveland led Pace Academy to Georgia state championships as a junior and senior. He averaged 22.8 points, 10.6 rebounds, 2.6 assists and 2.0 steals during his final season, and he followed that up by participating in the prestigious Allen Iverson Roundball Classic, a postseason All-America game in Philadelphia.

Then once he got back home to Atlanta, it was back in the weight room three days a week with a strength trainer, and in the gym two or three days a week with his skills trainer.

The work never stopped.

When asked in the early summer what he was spending time on specifically, Cleveland offered a lengthy list: "Shooting. Shooting off the dribble. Change of direction in the half-court game. Finishing. And defense."

As a player who patterns his game after NBA stars like Kevin Durant, Jayson Tatum and Bradley Beal, there's a chance Cleveland could be the next Florida State standout to make a splash as a professional.

He doesn't have quite the same size of Scottie Barnes and Patrick Williams -- both of whom were one-and-done players at FSU and No. 4 picks in the 2021 and 2020 drafts, respectively -- but he isn't far off. And his statistics are actually slightly more impressive.

Whether the time comes for Cleveland to test the NBA waters sooner or later, Ralph insisted his son is in no hurry. He said Matthew didn't come to Tallahassee with preconceived notions of how long that process would take, and he's not going to leave until he's certain that he's ready.

"I think he views himself as clearly having the ability to play at the next level," Ralph said. "He just recognizes that he's got to put in the work. Just keep developing. Keep getting better. When the time is right, you're gonna know it. You don't have to rush it. It will be there for you.

"But the main focus for us has always been -- and will always be -- continued growth and development. That is one thing that I think has really served Matthew well. He is really bought in to that. He is really bought in to, 'What do I have to do to get better?' And then he goes and does it."

Game 6 -- Florida State 81, Boston University 80 (OT)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Freshman Matthew Cleveland scored 17 points and his put-back basket with 2.1 seconds left in overtime helped Florida State fight off Boston University's upset bid with an 81-80. Cleveland scored 14 in the second half and grabbed seven rebounds off the bench. Caleb Mills also scored 17 for the Seminoles. Terriers sophomore Anthony Morales made the first two foul shots of his career to bring Boston U within 71-68 with seconds left in regulation. After Florida State's Anthony Polite missed badly on the front end of a one-and-one, Morales took the rebound, dribbled the length of the floor and buried a 3-pointer at the buzzer to force overtime. Javante McCoy and Sukhmail Mathon each made two foul shots and Boston U led 75-71. With an 80-79 lead, in successive possessions, McCoy turned it over and Morales missed a 3 with 15 seconds left to setting up the Seminoles. Mills drove right and put up a shot attempt that went over the rim which Cleveland collected. After a timeout and having to go the length of the floor, the Terriers' inbounds pass was intercepted at half court.

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. -- Jaden Ivey scored 18 points and matched his career high with four 3-pointers, Brandon Newman added 13 points, and Purdue defeated Florida State 93-65 in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge. Losing starting guard RayQuan Evans and starting center Tanor Ngom didn't help Florida State. Ngom sat out with a right knee injury and Evans was in Montana to attend the funeral for his brother, Tye Oidelk Lafranier, who died Nov. 20 from a rare and aggressive form of leukemia. Florida State was led by Caleb Mills with 22 points and John Butler with 10 as its four-game winning streak ended. The Seminoles lost for the first time in the five-game series and in their first trip to Mackey Arena.

Game 8 -- Syracuse 63, Florida State 60

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Cole Swider had 16 points, 10 rebounds and two big free throws in the final minute as Syracuse defeated Florida State 63-60 in the ACC opener for both teams. The loss snapped FSU's 25-game home-court winning streak in ACC play. The conference record is 26, set by Duke from 1997 to 2000. Syracuse led 55-44 with 5:43 left before FSU, which had shot 20% for most of the second half, got hot. The Seminoles made five straight shots, the last a 3-pointer by Malik Osborne, to make it 61-60 with 42 seconds left. After both teams committed turnovers Syracuse had the ball with 12 seconds left. Florida State had to foul twice to force the one-and-one, sending Swider to the line. He made both attempts for a 63-60 lead, then Caleb Mills and Osborne missed 3-pointers in the final 10 seconds. Joe Girard scored 16 points, Jimmy Boenheim 13 and Jesse Edwards 11 for Syracuse (5-3). Buddy Boenheim, the Orange's leading scorer at 21 points per game, scored six. The starters scored all but one point for Syracuse. Mills led Florida State (5-3) with 16 points and Osborne added 10 points and eight rebounds. The Seminoles made 4 of 30 3-point attempts.

Game 11 -- Florida State 83,
NC State 81

RALEIGH, N.C. -- Malik Osborne scored 12 of his 19 points in the second half and Cam'Ron Fletcher and Matthew Cleveland made big plays in the final seconds to help Florida State edge NC State. Fletcher scored 14 points and Cleveland and Caleb Mills 13 each as the Seminoles survived a 32-point performance by Dereon Seabron. After Terquavion Smith hit a 3-pointer off a Seabron assist to cut FSU's lead to 79-78, Cleveland was fouled after an offensive rebound and made 1 of 2 free throws. NC State called timeout with 8.4 seconds remaining but Fletcher stole the inbounds pass meant for Seabron and was fouled. He made the first free throw and missed the second but NC State's Jericole Hellems was called for a foul going for the rebound and Cleveland sank two more free throws. Smith hit his seventh 3-pointer as the game ended. Seabron was 12-of-14 shooting. His only 2-point miss came with NC State up by a point with a minute to go and led to a held-ball and an FSU possession that began the Seminoles' 9-6 game-ending run. Neither team led by more than seven points and there were 14 lead changes.

Duke 78 (OT)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – RayQuan Evans made two free throws with 12 seconds remaining and John Butler blocked a jump shot by Wendell More, Jr., with two seconds remaining, and Florida State won its NCAA record 13th consecutive overtime decision with a 79-78 win over No. 5 Duke at the Donald L. Tucker Center. Caleb Mills led the Seminoles with 18 points, while Butler added a career-high 14. The Seminoles outscored the Blue Devils by a 12-11 margin in the overtime period to win their 13th consecutive overtime game. The Seminoles' overtime winning streak dates back to a 101-90 double overtime win over Syracuse on January 13, 2018. Florida State has defeated 11 different teams during the overtime streak with its win over Duke marking its first over the Blue Devils during the streak. The win was Florida State head coach Leonard Hamilton's eighth all-time win over Duke. The win was also the Seminoles' first over a top-5 ranked team since a 69-69 win over Virginia on March 15, 2019 in the semifinals of the ACC Tournament. Florida State gained its first win over a nationally ranked opponent this season and snapped a five-game losing streak to the Blue Devils. The Seminoles started the second half in a 38-33 hole at half but turned it around at the under 16-minute media timeout to lead by a 44-34 margin. Sophomore Naheem McLeod started for the second time in his season and finished with a near a double-double with a career-high nine points and 10 rebounds.

CORAL GABLES, Fla. — Caleb Mills scored 16 points, Anthony Polite scored 15 and Florida State withstood a furious second-half Miami rally to beat the Hurricanes 61-60 to take control atop the Atlantic Coast Conference. Miami's Isaiah Wong missed a contested fadeaway jumper at the buzzer. Miami used an 8-0 run in the last 2:20 to have a chance at the end. In a near mirror-image contest, Florida State led 43-19 at halftime before the Hurricanes turned it around and outscored the Seminoles 41-18 in the second half. The Seminoles went to halftime with a 43-19 lead after shooting 56.3% (18 for 32) with 15-made shots inside the 3-point arc. Polite made all five of his shot attempts and scored 13 points. Five Florida State reserves contributed 15 points. Miami did just the opposite, shooting 26.1% (6 for 23) and missed 11 of 12 from beyond the arc. The Hurricanes had one point off the bench before the break. Wong finished with 22 points and now has scored in double figures in 18 straight games. It was Florida State's ninth-straight win over Miami.
