GAMEDAY FACTS

- The 2022-23 regular season is officially underway on Monday morning as Florida State Women's Basketball hosts Bethune-Cookman in an Education Game beginning at 11 a.m. at the Donald L. Tucker Center. The Seminoles will welcome several area school kids to the arena in what will be an opportunity to take a field trip and watch some basketball. FSU-BCU is one of nine 11 a.m. matchups across the country that tips off the season on Monday.
- Brooke Wyckoff makes her official debut as the head coach of Florida State Women's Basketball on Monday. The proud FSU Alumna went 10-9 on an interim basis in the 2020-21 season, leading the Seminoles to an NCAA Tournament berth. She was named the ninth women's basketball head coach at FSU on March 29, 2022, succeeding mentor and coaching legend Sue Semrau.
- Freshman guard Ta'Niya Latson makes her official debut for Florida State on Monday morning. The Miami native dropped 36 points in FSU's most recent exhibition over Flagler on Thursday, shooting 13-of-18 with seven rebounds and six assists.
- Florida State was picked to finish ninth in the Blue Ribbon Panel ACC Predicted Order of Finish. Latson was one of two freshmen in the conference named to the Blue Ribbon Panel Newcomer Watch List, joining Clemson's Ruby Whitehorn.
- Although they were exhibitions, Florida State's point totals of 119 last game vs. Flagler and 115 vs. West Georgia would be program records.
- Florida State is 1-0 vs. Bethune-Cookman all-time, winning the first meeting, 103-34, in what was also an Education Game on Nov. 18, 2014.
- The Seminoles are 120-32 (.789) vs. non-conference opponents over the last 10 seasons.
