FLORIDA STATE ADVANCES TO ELITE EIGHT OF NCAA TOURNAMENT WITH VICTORIES OVER HIGHER SEEDS MISSOURI, XAVIER AND GONZAGA SEMINOLES RANKED IN FINAL POLL FOR SECOND CONSECUTIVE SEASON COFER, MANN NAMED TO NCAA TOURNAMENT WEST REGION ALL TOURNAMENT TEAM

"We just could never generate any real, consistent, offensive rhythm, and that's because of their (Florida State's) length and their athleticism, and their aggressiveness and their switching. They do a really, really nice job with that. If you make a mistake or make a turnover, they jump on it, and sting you in transition, and that inevitably kind of was our downfall."

Quoting Florida State Basketball

"Trent Forrest is extremely intelligent. He's got a high basketball IQ. Extremely Competitive. Trent scored 3,000 points in high school, so he very capable. He's a pass-first guy. He's extremely unselfish. He does the best job of getting inside and finding his teammates. He's not concerned with the fact that he's not scoring a lot of points."

Leonard Hamilton
Florida State Basketball

"Phil Cofer has made a lot [of steps to become a better player]. Obviously his ability to step out and make threes, but then his added mid-range pull ups. He's a big guy, he's really six foot nine at least, it looks like, and big shoulders and he's got good mobility and he's just a talented basketball player. He really puts a lot of stress on your team."

Brad Brownell
Clemson Basketball

"FSU's Christ Koumadje, all 7-foot-four of him, dropped a career-high 23 points on the Orange. I'm surprised the rims at the Donald L. Tucker Civic Center survived the day on Saturday given Koumadje's dunk assault."

Brent Axe
Syracuse Post Standard

"During long stretches, Florida State was able to push the pace, succeeding where the vast majority of (Virginia's) opponents have failed. The quick tenor of the game allowed the Seminoles to get clean looks before Virginia was able to set its defense, and Florida State capitalized, especially from beyond the arc."

Gene Wang
Washington Post

"Terance Mann is playing at an All-ACC level for Florida State. Mann has been dynamic, especially at the basket. He has nearly doubled his scoring average — up to 15.5 points from 8.4 last season. His assist rate has also spiked. Mann has done all of this while simultaneously improving his efficiency, too."

Brian Geisinger
ACCsports.

"Braian Angola is another perfect example of why junior college players are much more successful in their second year of Division One versus their first. A year ago, the 6-6 guard averaged 4.6 points in just 11.8 minutes. Now with a year of experience under his belt, Angola is a major piece for Florida State and is averaging 13.1 points, 4.4 rebounds, and 3.2 assists. He's also averaging 21.5 points in two ACC games against Duke and North Carolina."

Jon Rothstein
CBS Sports

"Florida State is back to their culture. Their culture, when you think about Florida State basketball, you think about an elite defensive team and that's who they are. They've got a lock-down defender in Terance Mann. Phil Cofer is shooting the ball from the 3-point line. This is a typical Leonard Hamilton team. He's playing 10 guys double figure minutes. They are long, they are athletic, and they can protect the rim."

Special Surprise For Angola
Punctuates Senior Day Win
By Tim Linafelt
Seminole.com
March 3, 2018

Ofelia Rodas Orozco began her Friday in Villanueva, Casanare, a small town in Colombia that sits about eight hours from the nearest airport in Bogotá.

She made the long drive there, boarded a plane to Miami and then later flew from Miami to Tallahassee to be at Florida State in time for her son Braian Angola's Senior Day celebration.

It was an elaborate plan, hatched by Angola's friends and family, to ensure that mother and son could enjoy a rare day together.

Angola, however, didn't know anything about it.

When he talked to his mother on the phone Friday, she told him to play hard, have fun and give her a call after the game.

Then when Angola walked on to the court, arm in arm with his girlfriend and a trusted FSU academic advisor, he was treated to a prerecorded video from his sisters, congratulating him on his achievements at Florida State.

Angola thought that would be the end of it. But there was one more surprise in store.

"When I saw her, I just couldn't hold it in," Angola said after scoring 21 points in FSU's 85-76 win over Boston College. "I just started crying."

It marked just the second time that Rodas Orozco could watch her son play in a Florida State uniform.

With hopes of using basketball to provide for himself and his family, Angola left Colombia in 2012 with barely a grasp of the English language.

His resolve was tested a year later, when word came that Angola's father had suddenly died. Given the news, Angola figured that his basketball dreams were over, and that he'd be needed back home to help take care of his mother and sisters.

But after talking it over with Ofelia, Angola stayed the course.

"Ever since my dad passed away, I've been kind of like the head of the house," Angola said. "Being far away in another country, it's kind of tough. My family is what drives me to wake up every morning and work hard. And seeing my mom here was a very special moment."

Six years later, Angola is set to graduate with his degree from Florida State while playing a key role on an FSU team poised for a second straight NCAA tournament run.

"He represents all those things that are good about college athletics," FSU coach Leonard Hamilton said.

Quoting Ike Ogiabu on Braian Angola's Senior Day Ceremony

"I was literally crying. When I saw him break down in tears, I could not hold it back. I know what it feels like to go away from your family. I haven't seen my family in like six years. That was a beautiful thing to see."

It was a shot that boosted the Seminoles past the No. 1 seeded Musketeers and into the Sweet 16 for the first time since the 2011 season. There have been many important 3-point shots made in school history but none had a bigger impact than his long range shot made against Xavier in the 2018 NCAA Tournament. Savoy's 3-point shot helped Florida State beat Xavier, marking the first time in school history the Seminoles had defeated a No 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament.

Exhibition 1 -- Florida State 116, Central Missouri 68

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Behind a hot night from beyond arc, Florida State rolled to a 116-68 win over Central Missouri in its first exhibition of the season. Terance Mann scored 12 points and added six rebounds, but the story of the night was the Seminoles' ability from deep, knocking down 13 shots from behind the 3-point line. Junior PJ Savoy, the team's top marksman from a year ago made four on the night, on the way 19 points in the contest. Seven different Seminoles hit a three on the night, a stark contrast from a season ago when the team ranked near the bottom of the ACC in three-point shooting and percentage. The depth on the roster, especially of those with shooting capabilities provides FSU with more versatility on the offensive end than it had last year. The game also provided a first glimpse of some new faces for the Seminoles, including the debut of highly recruited M.J.Walker. The true freshman dropped 17 points in his first game dawning the Garnet and Gold. Flashes of the athleticism that made him a five-star recruit appeared against the Mules, while the Jonesboro, Ga., native also showed some ability from the 3-point line.

Game 4 -- Florida State 98, Kennesaw State 79

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Phil Cofer matched a career high with 21 points and fell just one rebound short of a double-double as Florida State raced past Kennesaw State, 98-79, in a Wednesday matinee. Cofer scored the game's first six points on the way to a 9-of-11 shooting effort, and his 28 minutes were the most since he logged 29 at NC State on Jan. 17, 2015. And he did it from all over the floor -- Cofer threw down a dunk and a handful of layups, was 2 for 2 from the free-throw line and even drained his only 3-point attempt. Braian Angola (17 points, seven rebounds), Terance Mann (13 points), C.J. Walker (12) and M.J. Walker all joined Cofer in double-figures, and the Seminoles shot a season-best 42.3 percent from 3-point range. That includes a 2-of-3 mark from Angola and 3-of-5 effort from M.J. Walker, the freshman who has scored at least 11 points in three of his first four games. The Seminoles needed less than five minutes to claim their first double-digit lead, and that advantage ballooned to 25 points when Angola finished off a three-point play early in the second half. Senior guard James Scott led Kennesaw State with 17 points, 15 of which came in the second half.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Mfiondu Kabengele scored 16 points and added 12 rebounds in just 14 minutes of action to lead Florida State to a 113-78 win over The Citadel to improve to 5-0. Florida State 70

SUNRISE, Fla. -- Mitchell Solomon scored on a tip-in with 6 seconds left and Oklahoma State knocked No. 19 Florida State from the unbeaten ranks in the Orange Bowl Classic. Florida State went ahead on Terance Mann's follow with 10 seconds remaining, but Oklahoma State needed only four seconds to go the length of the court to score for the 14th and final lead change. Following a timeout, the Seminoles' CJ Walker drove into the lane but collided with Solomon and was called for the foul, sealing the Cowboys' win. Florida State (9-1) missed a chance to match the best start to a season in school history. Oklahoma State (8-2) ended a streak of seven consecutive losses against ranked teams since February. The Seminoles' loss left only four unbeaten teams in Division I: Villanova, Arizona State, Miami and TCU.

Game 21 -- Florida State 103, Miami 94 (OT)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Florida State defeated Miami 103-94 in overtime despite the Hurricanes making a school-record 17 3-pointers. Florida State was able to withstand the onslaught by shooting a season-high 60 percent from the field and having six players score 13 points or more. Phil Cofer led the way with 21 points while Braian Angola added 18 and CJ Walker 17. They also had a 38-30 edge in points in the paint and dominated at the line making 26 more trips and outscoring the Hurricanes 28-9. Florida State led for most of regulation and was up by as many as 10 points midway through the first half. Miami was finally able to tie it at 83 on a Dewan Huell dunk with 1:03 remaining in regulation. The Seminoles regained control by scoring the first seven points in overtime. The Hurricanes missed their first three shots and had a turnover while Florida State had a Koumadje dunk, Walker layup and Terance Mann 3-point play.

Game 22 -- Wake Forest 76, Florida State 72

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. -- Brandon Childress hit the go-ahead free throws with 44.1 seconds left and Wake Forest did just enough down the stretch to hold off Florida State 76-72 snapping a seven-game skid. And they sealed this one only when Doral Moore -- who came into the game shooting 45 percent from the line -- hit a free throw with 2.3 seconds left to make it a two-possession game. The Seminoles trailed by six midway through the second half before twice pushing ahead late, first when Braian Angola knocked down jumper despite being 0 for 7 from the field at the 1:49 mark. Then, after two free throws from Bryant Crawford (19 points), Phil Cofer scored inside at the 1:06 mark for a 72-71 lead. But FSU couldn't hang on, with Cofer missing two free throws with 29.5 seconds left after Childress' go-ahead shots and M.J. Walker missing a tying 3-pointer in the final seconds. Cofer scored 23 points to lead FSU.

Game 25 -- Notre Dame 84, Florida State 69

NOTRE DAME, Ind. -- Matt Farrell scored a career-high 28 points to lead Notre Dame's potent three-guard attack in an 84-69 victory over Florida State. Rex Pfluger added a career-high 19 points and T.J. Gibbs matched him with 19 after a poor-shooting first half (2 of 12) as Mike Brey's Irish won their second straight. C.J. Walker had 16 points, Phil Cofer, 12 and PJ Savoy, 11 — all in the first half — for the Seminoles. Both teams struggled shooting early — Florida State went 5 1/2 minutes between field goals and Notre Dame nearly 5 minutes — before the Irish found their stroke from 3-point range hitting six of its first 12 on way to its biggest lead of the half, 32-22, with 3:42 before the half. The Irish then answered a 6-0 Seminole run and took a 40-34 halftime lead on the fourth 3-pointer by Farrell, who had 14 points. Florida State's height began to wear down the Irish on the boards in the second half. The Seminoles had a 16-9 edge and eventually caught the Irish 52-52 with 10:29 left on Walker's 3-pointer. But Gibbs made three free throws to give the Irish a 61-56 lead with 7:49 left. His driving bucket, combined with FSU's 3 1/2-minute scoring, gave the Irish a 70-58 lead with 3:57 remaining.

Game 26 -- Florida State 81, Clemson 79 (OT)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- Leonard Hamilton's 500th win as a college head coach will be one he is going to remember for a long time. Hamilton's Florida State team trailed 11th-ranked Clemson by 18 early in the second half but rallied to send it into overtime before winning 81-79. Florida State tied the game twice in the second half but didn't take its first lead until 1:05 remaining in overtime when Trent Forrest made a layup to put them up 75-74. The 6-foot-5 sophomore guard, who came into the game averaging 6.0 points, scored a career-high 16 with eight coming in the final 5:08 of the game. After Clemson was called for a 5-second violation on the inbound, Forrest came up big with another driving layup to put Florida State up by three. Clemson scored four of the next six points to get within 79-78 but Forrest made both free throws with 5.3 seconds remaining to extend the margin to three. Reed was fouled with 3 seconds remaining. He made the first and missed the second. Clemson was unable to get off a last-second shot though to send it to another overtime. Phil Cofer, who scored all 17 of his points after halftime, said the key to the rally was being more aggressive driving into the paint along with turning up the defensive pressure. An Aamir Simms 3-pointer gave the Tigers a 49-31 lead with 18:06 remaining before Florida State was able to start battling back as it went on a 17-2 run. Clemson would score four straight to go up 55-48 but the Seminoles eventually fought back to tie it at 59 on Cofer's jumper with 6:59 remaining. The Tigers scored seven straight points and appeared to regain control. They were up 70-64 with 2:24 remaining, but missed their final four shots in regulation. Florida State made its last three shots to send it into overtime, including a driving off-balance layup by Forrest with eight seconds remaining. Marquise Reed scored 23 points while Gabe DeVoe had 11 and David Skara had nine for Clemson.

Game 32 -- Florida State 67,

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- No 9 seeded Florida State beat No. 8 Missouri 67-54 in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. A total of 10 different Seminoles scored at least two points -- by halftime -- as they wore out a Missouri team with only eight players available for the game. Forward Michael Porter, the highly touted freshman considered by many to be an NBA lottery pick, came off the bench for his third game, and likely last, for Missouri. He finished with 16 points, scoring 13 in the second half as the Tigers tried to rally. But they got within 50-44 only to see the Seminoles reel off 15 straight points. PJ Savoy had 12 points and Phil Cofer scored 11 to pace Florida State. Cassius Robertson had 19 points for Missouri. The Tigers pulled within 52-44 on a pair of free throws by Porter as Missouri opened the second half by outscoring Florida State 24-8. Cofer hit two of three free throws to start a 15-0 spurt that pushed the lead back to double digits. By the time Missouri scored again, Jontay Porter's jumper with 5:08 left only pulled the Tigers within 65-46.

Game 35 -- Michigan 58, Florida State 54

LOS ANGELES, Calif. -- Charles Matthews scored 17 points and Michigan earned its first Final Four berth since 2013 with a 58-54 victory over Florida State at the Staples Center. Phil Cofer scored 16 points for the ninth-seeded Seminoles who missed advancing to the second Final Four in school history by mere seconds. The Wolverines held off a late charge from the Seminoles, who had already knocked off three higher-seeded opponents on their school's longest NCAA Tournament run since 1993. Seminole junior PJ Savoy trimmed the Wolverines' lead to 55-52 on a 3-pointer with 1:17 to play. With Michigan fans holding their breath, Savoy then missed a potential game-tying 3-pointer under pressure with 12 seconds left.

FSU Forward Terance Mann Credits Mother For Turning Him Into Strong Leader, Floor Coach

By Safid Deen

Orlando Sentinel

Nov. 11, 2017

When Florida State forward Terance Mann roamed his mother's college basketball practices, he had one simple job he took to be extreme.

Mann's duty growing up was to just be a ball boy and give basketballs to the players when requested, but he took his work to another level.

"He would protect that ball rack like it was his life, and the girls literally had to come up to him and ask me nicely for a basketball before he would give it to them," said Daynia La-Force, Mann's mother who has who has spent 22 years as a Division I women's basketball coach.

"He felt like those were his prized possessions and he would not give them up. He thought the ball boy was supposed to protect the basketballs."

Mann added with a smile, "Yeah, I guarded that ball rack with everything. I remember those days. They were fun."

As coach Leonard Hamilton and the Florida State men's basketball team prepares for Tuesday's season opener at home against George Washington University, the Seminoles will rely heavily Mann to lead by example and from experience this season.

Behind Magic rookie forward Jonathan Isaac, Hornets rookie guard Dwayne Bacon, Knicks G-League guard Xavier Rathan-Mayes, fifth-year center Michael Ojo and Mann last season, the Seminoles (26-9) went undefeated at home, finished second in the ACC and were a win short of tying the school record for victories in a season.

While their first trip back to the NCAA Tournament in five years was spoiled by a second-round exit to Xavier at Amway Center, the Seminoles hope Mann can be a pillar on a team that will be without a clear-cut NBA prospect and depending on a cast of developing players to compete in the vaunted ACC.

FSU will need Mann to shoot more from the outside, but his gritty multi-faceted play combined with his firsthand knowledge from his mother's practices make him an ideal candidate to lead the Seminoles.

"He was pretty much born on a court, and raised on a court," La-Force said. "He's learned everything from being on a basketball court, everything about life."

After playing at Georgetown, La-Force climbed up the women's coaching ranks up and down the East Coast at Long Island University, St. John's, New Haven and Northeastern. She is now entering her fourth season at the University of Rhode Island. Mann, 21, and his younger brother Martin, 19, have been fixtures on the practice courts, learning along the way.

During quiet moments together, La-Force would ask Mann which players were wearing certain jerseys so he could learn his numbers.

As practice was underway, Mann and his brother were on the sidelines imitating the players' actions. When La-Force blew her whistle to coach up a player, Mann listened to the yelling intently until it was time for him to also resume practicing.

When it was time to head back home after road games, Mann and his brother would ask if they could go sit in the back of the bus with the girls on the team.

As they got older, they would travel with La-Force on her recruiting trips to scout for new players — something Mann surprisingly loved. More than the traveling to new places and going out to dinner, Mann enjoyed sitting in basketball gyms for high school and AAU games like a coach himself.

“Believe it or not, I like going recruiting with her,” Mann said. “Since I was younger, I would give my mom little tidbits of players I would see.”

If La-Force’s team suffered a loss on a certain day, Terance and his brother knew to keep their distance. Mann said he would often check in with his mother after the games, hear her “coaching spiel” about the unfortunate outcome and then head back to his room to play video games to let her finish stewing.

“If I lost a game, he may not have had dinner or help with his homework,” La-Force said with a laugh. “They knew to give me at least an hour after a loss to cool off.”

As Mann has gone through prep school and is now entering his third season at FSU, he and La-Force have to stay connected from afar.

Before every FSU game, La-Force loves to send Mann a special text letting him know it is game day. While they might speak briefly before tipoff, they like to save their 20-minute debriefing for after the games.

“He always listens, wants to talk, sometimes giving me his side of the story. Then I have to say, ‘No, no, no, this is what I saw,’” La-Force said.

Mann admits there may be times when he’s not ready for his mother’s honesty. But it’s more than appreciated.

“I wouldn’t say it’s like a coach and player relationship. I feel like she’s my mentor,” Mann said of his mother. “She’s my mom of course. But I feel like she’s always trying to give me life lessons like a mentor.

“Whatever happens, I’ll go to her and ask her for advice and she’ll have the right answer. Sometimes it’s not the answer that I want, but it’s always right.”

Luckily for Mann and his mother, La-Force’s schedule lined up perfectly, allowing her to visit FSU for the team’s two exhibitions. She will also be in the stands for the season opener after her first two games of the season, but she won’t be able to see Mann in person again until the ACC or NCAA tournaments later in the year.

“It just worked out that way — it’s God giving me an opportunity to watch him grow, watch him play,” La-Force said.

She said her proudest moments as Mann’s mother are when she hears how respected and valued he is as a leader in FSU’s program.

Mann hopes to make her even more proud this season, with high hopes for the Seminoles and himself this season. “I have to step it up this year, definitely, on both sides of the ball,” Mann said. “I’m trying to not only get defensive player of the year, but I’m definitely trying to get on the ACC All-Defensive Team. That’s one of my big goals.

“I definitely have to step it up.”

Even Before FSU's Big Win, It Was A Magical Moment For Angola

By Corey Clark

Warchant.com

March 3, 2018

The Florida State men's basketball team has lost just two home games in the last two years.

There have been a litany of special moments during that run. But maybe none more special than what happened before the game on Saturday afternoon, when senior Braian Angola was surprised by his mother during Senior Day festivities.

During the game, Angola scored 19 of his 21 points in the second half to help lead FSU to a critical 85-76 win. But it was the scene before the game that will stay with him -- and pretty much anyone who was in the building to see it - for a long, long time.

Once the Colombia native realized his mother was actually in the building, he couldn't contain his emotions, breaking down in tears as she walked to center court to meet him.

"It was an unbelievable moment to see my mom here," Angola said. "I don't know how to explain it. She's only watched me play one (other) time. To have her here for Senior Night, I'm pretty sure she's pretty proud of me."

The only other time Angola's mom had seen him play in person was at Duke earlier this season. He said he moved away from his hometown at the age of 14 to pursue his basketball dream -- one that led him to Nevada for his final year of high school, to Idaho for junior college and then Tallahassee for his Division-I opportunity at Florida State.

Angola has made the most of his final season with the Seminoles. He was the third-leading scorer on the team coming into Saturday and then capped off his final regular-season game with a 21-point outburst when his team absolutely needed it.

And every time he scored, every time he knifed into the paint to score another basket, he would look up at his mom in the stands.

She had flown all the way from Colombia. He wanted to make sure he put on a show for her.

"It was motivation for myself," Angola said. "I was looking at her the whole time. I was focused on the game, but I was just looking at my mom. I didn't see nobody else in the crowd. Just my mom."

On Saturday afternoon, after Angola's 21 points helped his team reach the 20-win plateau, Hamilton was asked what it was like for him to see Angola's mom walking to midcourt to greet her son.

"Braian had a very emotional couple of days," Hamilton said. "Because his two [junior college] coaches flew in from Idaho and surprised him. He was very happy to see them. His girlfriend flew in from Denmark. She's a professional basketball player. She's very close with him and his mom. So I think that his girlfriend arranged for his mom to surprise him."

That was when Hamilton started to get choked up.

"It was obviously very emotional for him to have all the people who have meant a lot to him being here," Hamilton said. "Obviously, to top it off, his mother was here. So he was very happy."

FSU's head coach wasn't the only one shedding tears when he saw Angola's reaction. His teammates were, too. They gave Angola an enthusiastic embrace after he posed for pictures with his mom.

"I was literally crying," said freshman center Ike Obiagu. "When I saw him break down in tears, I could not hold it back. I know what it feels like to go away from your family. I haven't seen my family in like six years.

"That was a beautiful thing to see."

It was special to the American-born players as well.

Chipley, Fla., native Trent Forrest sees his family after virtually every game. But even he could appreciate what that moment meant.

"It is very emotional," Forrest said. "I was telling the guys, anytime I see a brother -- my blood brother or my teammate brother -- I get emotional any time I see them cry. So I understand where he was coming from. And her coming so far, it's very touching."

Braian Angola-Rodas – A Family Man

Families are important. They're a support system of people who love each other and look out for one another. For Braian Angola-Rodas, family means everything.

Born in Villanueva, Colombia, Angola-Rodas is the heart and soul of the Florida State basketball team.

"He cares for everybody on our team," said sophomore Trent Forrest. "He makes sure at all times that all of the guys on our team are doing well."

This sense of caring is something Angola-Rodas picked up very early when he was in Colombia. Back home, he has his mother, Ofelia Rodas, and two younger sisters, Karol and Michel, who have supported him and his decision to play basketball since he left his home when he was 14 years old.

"She didn't want me to leave, but whose mom wants to leave a 14-year-old in a big city," said Angola-Rodas. "My mom used to come visit me every weekend or I'd go see her. Our relationship is very strong."

Entering his senior year at Florida State, Angola-Rodas will have been away from home for nine years, but he still talks with his family every day.

Angola-Rodas averaged 4.6 points and 2.8 rebounds while shooting a team-high .420 from the 3-point line in his first season as a Seminole. He earned two awards at the Seminoles' 2017 Basketball Honors Banquet – he was named the Seminoles' top 3-point shooter and earned the Sixth Man of the Year Award along with the members of Florida State's "Boom Squad" group of reserves.

"He's always on the phone late at night talking to his mom and his sisters," said junior Christ Koumadje. "One time, he went home and surprised them. That was a really great moment for his family."

Being away from his home and family has made him mature at a faster rate. Angola-Rodas says that the distance and time difference between Colombia and Tallahassee has helped him grow as a person.

"He wants to help everybody he comes in contact with in every way possible," said assistant coach Charlton Young. "He cares so much about his teammates and they all love him because of this compassion for people."

In just one year at Florida State, Angola-Rodas has created strong relationships with his teammates that will last a lifetime. His favorite memory with the team came within the first weeks of school in the fall of 2016 when Tallahassee was hit by Hurricane Hermine and lost power for a few days.

"We all decided to go sleep in the locker room," said Angola-Rodas. "Imagine 12 guys sleeping in the locker room for three days straight; that was the best. I feel like that helped us get closer and closer."

It's the humorous, spontaneous things that Angola-Rodas does that make him so loveable amongst his peers.

"Braian is one of the most fun and exciting players I have ever played with," said sophomore CJ Walker. "You never know what he is going to do next and he is a good person to spend time with."

Although he is far away from home and his biological family, Angola-Rodas has made a new family here at Florida State.

“He’s a very emotional guy with his family,” said Koumadje. “The amazing thing is he treats us, his teammates, just the same way he treats his family.”

Last season, his mom came to Tallahassee to watch Angola-Rodas and the Seminoles play in their final home game of the season. It was the first time she had seen him play at Florida State.

Angola-Rodas is hoping to have his mom and his two sisters come to watch him play this season.

“My Mom told me that they watched as many games as they could on ESPN,” said Angola-Rodas. “She said my sisters get very emotional every time they are asked about me. They say they are proud of their brother, how he is playing basketball in the United State and how he looks out for them.

“That makes me keep going and work harder and harder every day.”

Feeling Healthy Again, Phil Cofer A Big Contributor To Florida State's Early Season Success

By Joe Reedy

Associated Press

December 15, 2017

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Phil Cofer is finally making an impact for 19th-ranked Florida State.

The 6-foot-8 senior forward is healthy for the first time in a while and has been one of the main contributors behind the Seminoles' 9-0 start. He has been in the starting lineup for every game this season, averaging 12.3 points and 5.8 rebounds.

Cofer was limited the past two seasons due to ankle and back injuries, but he said this past summer was the first time he has felt completely healthy since his freshman season.

"Injuries are always going to take a mental toll, but the coaches have told me to play my game and not dwell on the past," Cofer said.

Cofer came to Florida State as a physical power forward who could also play some at center. As a freshman he started 24 games and was second on the team in rebounding (4.5 per game) while averaging 6.9 points.

But injuries would diminish his production the next two seasons. He started only five games while averaging 3.2 points and 2.0 rebounds.

Despite seeing limited minutes, Cofer continued to work on ball handling and improving his perimeter shooting. That work has paid off this season as he is making 55 percent of his shots from the field, including 6 of 15 3-pointers.

"Where some guys are always looking for reasons why they aren't being as successful and use excuses that is not the case with him," coach Leonard Hamilton said. "Even when he was hurt he was working on his game and studying our system. He has confidence in his shooting now that when he has the open look he can knock it down."

Going into Saturday's game against Oklahoma State, which is part of the Orange Bowl Classic in Sunrise, Cofer is averaging 13.8 points and 6.7 rebounds during the past six games along with hitting 56.9 percent from the field. His best game during that stretch came in the Dec. 4 win at then-No. 5 Florida when Cofer had his second career double-double with 10 points and 12 rebounds.

Cofer, who had scored in double figures only seven times in 76 games the first three years of his career, has six this season.

The Seminoles switch in offensive philosophy has also meant Cofer has had to change his game. Florida State has evolved from a motion offense that relies on strong inside play to a team that is more up-tempo with versatile perimeter players, Cofer has refined his game to where he can play both small and power forward.

"This summer I was on the treadmill a lot more because of the way we play," he said. "I've been getting the ball more but also have been getting a lot of open shots. With an unselfish team like we have and this offense, it has been great so far."

Cofer and the Seminoles have also bought into Hamilton's philosophy of having to win by committee. Florida State returned only one starter from a team that went 26-9 last season and reached the NCAA Tournament for the first time in five years, but it can tie its best start in school history with a win on Saturday.

The Seminoles will host Charleston Southern on Monday and Southern Mississippi on Thursday before opening Atlantic Coast Conference play at Duke on Dec. 30.

Even though Florida State has been the conference's surprise team so far, Hamilton is trying to keep expectations in check.

"Our attitude and effort is good but still have some technique errors," he said. "We still have a ways to go. We need to attack defenses better and move the ball better."

Health, Hard Work, Right Mentality Help Cofer Make 'Unreal' Jump

By Bob Ferrante

Noles247

December 29, 2017

TALLAHASSEE -- Phil Cofer became accustomed to watching everyone around him find success. The Florida State forward was a vocal cheerleader from the bench who quietly waited for his chance – when he would be healthy again and ready to show what he could offer.

Cofer went into his senior year focused on improving his weaknesses, refined his ball-handling and jump shot.

“All the hard work in the offseason,” Cofer said. “I went straight into the gym. I pretty much have been grinding and grinding.”

Cofer began an intense offseason in the days after FSU was eliminated from the NCAA Tournament in March. He was in the gym working on jumpers and post moves, 3-pointers and dribbling.

The texts to assistant coaches Charlton Young and Stan Jones were frequent, with Cofer wanting to know when either would be available for a late-night session in the gym.

“Everything he’s got going right now, he earned it,” Young said. “He has a pro’s type of mentality to the game. The jump he has made is unreal.”

The months of hard work have paid off. After battling through injuries as a sophomore and then averaging just 2.9 points a game as a junior, Cofer has become a go-to player for FSU (11-1), scoring in double figures in eight of FSU’s 12 games.

The senior forward is averaging 13.4 points per game and 5.5 rebounds per game through the non-conference schedule and has made contributions on the offensive and defensive end of the court for the Seminoles, who begin the ACC schedule on Saturday at No. 3 Duke (12-1) at 2 p.m.

“His commitment to becoming a better perimeter player has been huge for us,” Young said. “Now he’s another guy, a big at 6-8, that can dribble, pass and shoot and make a decision. Now he’s turned himself into a stretch 4.”

While Cofer was a starter as a freshman in 2014-15, his career detoured due to foot injuries the following year.

And Cofer was often viewed as a reserve that could provide defense and energy in quality minutes off the bench during his junior season.

But Cofer has been one of the most pleasant surprises of the 2017-18 season for FSU. He has made 13 three-pointers – already one more than he had in his first three seasons combined. He has also scored in double-figures in eight games this season after doing that just seven times in his prior 76 games.

“We have all known all along that he had the potential to be a high contributor,” FSU coach Leonard Hamilton said. “He’s been slowed by some injuries. He has tremendous character. He has good genes. You’re just seeing the maturity level of a guy growing, improving. Not only has he performed at a high level, he has given tremendous leadership.”

Cofer has led with his intensity on both ends of the floor. While he’s had nights where he didn’t score as many points, Cofer has made his mark as a rebounder, defender and leader.

And Cofer's accuracy from the floor (55 percent) and the free-throw line (75 percent) is also 10 points higher than his averages coming into the year. Coaches who have seen Cofer play a few times now are taken by surprise at the improvement in his game.

"He's a terrific long defender on film and in person," Charleston Southern coach Barclay Radebaugh said. "He's expanded his game so that he's efficient from the perimeter, both ways. I've seen his game grow in person. Because we've played Florida State play so many times, I've seen his game grow."

Cofer says his success this season hasn't surprised him. He's credited his teammates with supporting him along the way, encouraging him during the down times.

It's clear that Cofer doesn't like to discuss the injuries much. After one game in November, he said he "came a long way" and on Thursday he said that his focus is to "keep moving forward."

While he is playing to prove doubters wrong, his positive mind-set has helped him achieve a stunning start in what has been a career season. And the Seminoles have taken notice of the results from his hard work.

"Phil worked very hard over the summer and in the preseason, getting himself healthy, working on his game," guard Trent Forrest said. "Now it's just manifested for him."

Phil Cofer Brings A Blue-Collar Mentality, Leadership To Florida State Basketball

By Garry Smits

Florida Times Union

December 1, 2017

Phil Cofer is finally healthy and it shows.

Florida State's 6-foot-8 senior forward has recovered physically from ankle surgery that prematurely ended his sophomore season and mentally with the confidence to believe he can take the pounding of an entire college basketball season.

And on a team of young slashers and shooters, Cofer is the blue-collar glue as the Seminoles have raced out to a 6-0 record.

Entering Monday's game against No. 6 Florida, Cofer is second to Terance Mann in scoring with 14.2 points per game and shooting percentage at .642, is third in rebounding with 4.7 per game and is second among starters with the fewest turnovers (seven).

In his last three games, Cofer is shooting 23 of 31 (.742) and averaging 18.0 points. He's also developed more of an outside game and in the Seminoles' 78-73 victory over Rutgers last Tuesday he connected on 4 of 6 3-point attempts.

Prior to that, Cofer was 2 of 7 from the 3-point arc this season. He attempted only 32 3-points in three seasons before this year, making 12.

"My teammates are getting me the ball in those situations," he said. "We do a lot of drive-and-kick and it's what has been opening up the shots. I've worked on my shooting, a lot of repetition, and it's helped a lot."

But what has helped mainly is that Cofer can run and jump for a full game and not worry about his ankle — or his back and foot, other areas where he has had injury problems during his college career.

After a promising freshman season in which he averaged 6.9 points and 4.5 rebounds, and started the last 24 games of the season, Cofer required surgery in January of 2016 to remove a cyst in his ankle after playing only 11 games as a sophomore.

Cofer played in 32 games last season but averaged only 2.9 points and 1.9 rebounds. FSU assistant coach C.Y. Young, who recruited Cofer, said it was understandable that Cofer was tentative most of the season.

"The entire season, you could see him limping and favoring it," Young said. "He always said it didn't hurt but you could see when he ran he was obviously favoring onside more than the other. It was like he didn't want to put his foot on the ground."

Late in the season, Cofer began to get more confident about the ankle. And Young said the day after the Seminoles were eliminated in the NCAA Tournament in Orlando by Xavier, Cofer was in the gym.

"The next season started for him the day after our last game," Young said. "He was in the gym around the clock. I don't think he took any time off. That's the one thing about Phil, is that you never have to coach effort."

This season, Cofer is pain-free and looking forward to the rest of his senior season.

"Injuries take a toll on anybody," he said. "What's helping me is not dwelling on it. I'm leaving it in the past." Cofer, who played high school basketball at Whitewater High School in Fayetteville, Ga., said he received strong guidance from his parents, former Detroit Lions Pro Bowl defensive end Michael Cofer, and former University of Tennessee basketball player Reba Cofer. Working hard and playing to win were stressed while being raised by the two elite athletes.

“Being competitive runs in my family,” he said. “Even in little things, like playing games, it’s competitive. My Dad and Mom gave me tremendous support. It kept me going.”

Cofer said some of the most heated games he’s played in were two-on-two basketball in his back yard: he and his brother vs. Dad and Mom.

“Mom still has her jump shot,” Cofer said. “They whipped us a few times before we finally got a little older and bigger.”

Given his parents’ background at Tennessee (his father played for Johnny Majors), Cofer intended to continue that family tradition. But when Cuonzo Martin was fired as the Volunteers coach in 2014, Cofer backed off his verbal commitment and signed with FSU coach Leonard Hamilton.

“Coach Martin and I had a great relationship,” Cofer said. “When he left I decided I had other options. I couldn’t have made a better choice; Coach Hamilton is like another father to me. He thinks of you as a person, not a basketball player. Everything happens for a reason.”

Cofer’s teammates say his leadership will be the glue in whatever success the Seminoles have this season.

“He brings the energy every day,” Mann said. “We all hurt for him when he was injured but he’s playing great now. It’s not just scoring, but all the little things that are important, like defense and rebounding. If he’s not scoring he’s always doing something else to help the team.”

Young offered an example. He said Cofer is a master at help-side defense (covering a man who has beaten his nearest teammate), forcing the offensive player to stop cutting or pick up his dribble, then moving back quickly to guard his man.

“That doesn’t show up in the stat sheet,” Young said. “He does a bunch of little things that don’t, but help us win. He brings an energy, physicality and toughness to this team.”

Young also said Cofer has been a leader from day one.

“He’s gotten that from his parents,” Young said. “Even as a freshman he didn’t hesitate to tell upperclassmen, ‘hey, listen to the coaches ... do your job.’”

It took four years, but Cofer has gone from role player to one of the team’s stars. Young said it’s rewarding to watch.

“Whatever success he has this season, he’s earned it,” Young said. “But for Phil, it will be all about the team success. It’s all he’s ever cared about.”

Phil Cofer Remains Vital Piece Towards Seminoles' Success

By Dustin Lewis

FSView

November 28, 2017

Florida State is 5-0 for the first time since the Seminoles won the ACC Championship in 2012. It has certainly been an impressive start for a team that boasts eight scholarship underclassmen. The `Noles have only two seniors: Phil Cofer and Braian Angola. Cofer is the longest tenured player on this roster, while Angola transferred to Tallahassee after starting his career at North Idaho College.

Cofer has traveled a tumultuous road to arrive to where he is in his career. He signed with FSU in 2014 alongside Robbie Berwick, Dayshawn Watkins, and Norbetas Giga. The Fayetteville native is the only member of his recruiting class who did not wind up elsewhere.

The senior forward was a key piece of the rotation as a freshman and was expected to make an even bigger leap as a sophomore. Instead, he suffered an ankle injury and only played in 11 games before having season-ending surgery that hampered him through his junior season. Cofer, almost two years removed from the surgery, is ecstatic to finally be feeling healthy.

"It feels great to be back out there," Cofer said on returning to the court. "I came a long way from the injuries on both feet. But it is what it is and you've got to live in the present."

Head coach Leonard Hamilton's squad has flourished with Cofer on the floor. The Seminoles are averaging 91.0 points per game while shooting 52.9 percent from the field. On the other end, FSU has limited its opponents to just 68.0 points per game and 36.8 percent on field goals.

"This year I'm trying to be more of a leader," Cofer said. "One of the key things for me is definitely bringing that junkyard defense back."

"He's always talking, always giving us instruction, and that's probably the area where he's contributed the most," added Hamilton. "He's constantly communicating with our young, inexperienced players and giving them instructions. Sometimes you keep talking through it, they make less mistakes."

Cofer has made vast improvements in his offensive game since the beginning of his college career. Now, that hard work is finally paying off. Averaging a career-high 13.2 points and 4.8 rebounds in 22.8 minutes per game, Cofer is one of three Seminoles shooting over 60 percent from the field.

"I was working on ball handling, shooting, film work, all the little stuff," Cofer said. "Everything on offense. There's not really one thing I worked on specifically."

The senior showed off those improvements last week in the `Noles 98-79 victory over Kennesaw State. Cofer finished the game by tying a career-high with 21 points, nine rebounds and a block. He was also extremely efficient, making nine of his 11 shots from the field and knocking down the only three-pointer he attempted. Cofer followed up that performance by putting up 15 points and 3 rebounds in 22 minutes during the blowout victory against the Citadel on Friday.

"There's really no limit to what Phil can do," sophomore guard Trent Forrest said. "He can score, he can rebound, it's great what he can do. It gives us a lot because he's energetic, he causes mismatches on offense and defense. He can guard one through five, it's just great having that versatility."

“We are trying to challenge him to be who he is,” Hamilton added on Cofer’s development. “He is an athlete who needs to get more rebounds. He was a back to the basket guy in high school and our system requires him to be away from the bucket a lot and out on the perimeter.”

After being an energy guy for much of his first three seasons in garnet and gold, Hamilton credited Cofer’s improving jump-shot as part of the reason for the leap in his offensive game.

“I think he kind of got his confidence up and made a couple of shots,” Hamilton said on Cofer’s growing offensive game. “He’s really improved his perimeter shot. He played within his abilities and I was very proud of him.”

Christ Koumadje – From Chad To Tallahassee

Christ Koumadje has a name that's not easily pronounced nor easily forgotten. At a daunting 7-foot-4, Koumadje is the tallest athlete in Florida State's history, and that's probably the least interesting fact about the sophomore basketball breakout.

Koumadje grew up in N'djamena, the capital of Chad, Africa. With a mom at 6-2 and an uncle at 7-3, Koumadje revealed that his extraordinary height does, in fact, run in the family.

"N'djamena is just a normal African city. A lot going on, neighborhoods, kids playing soccer," Koumadje said. "I still get to keep in touch with my friends and family through Facebook and WhatsApp."

When he was just 16 years old, Koumadje left N'djamena to attend school in Senegal. Little did he know that this decision would change his life.

Upon his arrival in Senegal, Koumadje was encouraged to take up basketball.

At that point, Koumadje had very little basketball experience. He instead played a great deal of soccer growing up.

Within just one year, Koumadje had moved from Chad, to Senegal, and from Senegal to the United States.

"The biggest challenge at first was the language and my accent," said Koumadje. "I feel like sometimes I think I'm saying a word right, but to this day people will still ask me what I mean."

Soon after his basketball career in the United States began at Montverde Academy in Orlando, Koumadje was noticed for his burgeoning basketball skills. Seemingly in the blink of an eye, he had scholarship offers from Florida State, Connecticut, Louisville, Tennessee, UCLA.

The offer that caught his eye came from Florida State and head coach Leonard Hamilton.

"I liked Coach 'Ham' a lot, and also the tradition of their 7-footers," said Koumadje. "With the success of Boris Bojanovsky and Michael Ojo, I can't think of any other school that had that many successful 7-footers playing."

Koumadje couldn't have made a better decision for his basketball career, because although only a sophomore, he has improved his game immensely. In addition, he gained 30 pounds in his first two years in Tallahassee.

Koumadje says it's his teammates and the Seminole coaching staff that push him to become a better player.

"Playing at Florida State always has me going against really good players," said Koumadje. "It also helps to practice with other 7-footers, like Ojo, and he teaches me how to use my height."

Koumadje says he couldn't have asked for a better experience than his time spent at Florida State so far. His admiration and appreciation for his teammates and coaches is mutual.

Koumadje enjoyed a standout sophomore season as he helped lead the Seminoles to 26 wins, a second-place finish in the ACC and an appearance in the NCAA Tournament. He played in all 35 games, averaged a career-high 10.1 minutes played, averaged 4.4 points and blocked 40 shots as a sophomore.

“I’m excited for the next few years with Christ,” said guard CJ Walker. “His energy and passion for the game is something that gives all of our teammates energy. Along with Christ and all of the returning players, I am looking forward to the future for our team.”

“The potential for Christ to keep improving is without limits,” said Ojo. “He is going to keep working with Coach Ham and the assistant coaches to keep improving. I know that’s his personality. He wants to keep working to improve. He works hard to continuously improve because that’s what he has made up his mind to do.”

Koumadje was presented with two awards as the Seminoles’ honors banquet at the end of the season by the Florida State coaching staff. He earned the award as the Seminoles’ top field-goal percentage shooter and was presented with the Sixth Man Award along with the members of the “Boom Squad” group of rotation players.

“‘Big Christ’ is one of the nicest, but most highly competitive young men I have ever coached,” said associate head coach Stan Jones. “In fact, he has a bit of a mean streak when things get tough in the heat of a game. But you would never know that if you just see him on campus and spend time with him off the court. He has a tremendous sense of humor and is a great teammate. Christ really and truly wants to develop into an elite big man and as he gains more confidence through playing experiences, I think his future is unlimited as a basketball player.”

Koumadje is even more excited for what lies ahead.

“The future for our team is very bright,” said Koumadje. “The players joining our team are all going to contribute and keep our talent level among the best in college basketball. For me, I just want to work with my teammates to get better and help our team win games. We are all working to get better every day and our coaches are pushing us to be the best we can be. Next season has already started for me and my teammates.”

Koumadje, Noles Hope Breakout Performance Carries Into Jamaica Classic

By Tim Linafelt

Seminoles.com

Nov. 16 2017

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica – To Terance Mann, it was like letting the world in on a secret.

Christ Koumadje, Florida State's 7-foot-4 center, was a force during the Seminoles' 87-67 win over George Washington on Nov. 14. The junior blocked five shots, grabbed seven rebounds and, most impressively, added 14 points on 7-of-11 shooting from the field.

Koumadje's performance was a most pleasant surprise for the Seminoles, who are off to Jamaica for a pair of games against Fordham and Colorado State in the Jamaica Classic.

But maybe it wasn't.

"No," Mann said. "No surprise.

"I know Christ has that. Y'all will see down the stretch – that's how Christ is. He's aggressive on both ends of the floor. Blocking shots, post hooks, dunks. That's what he does."

If Koumadje does that on a consistent basis, it could redefine the Seminoles' season.

Not only did the FSU enter the year looking to replace top scorers Dwayne Bacon, Jonathan Isaac and Xavier Rathan-Mayes, but it also needed to find consistent frontcourt production after the departures of senior forwards Michael Ojo and Jarquez Smith.

Koumadje, who at 7-4 is the tallest player in school history, seemed an obvious choice.

The N'Djamena, Chad, native averaged 3.4 points and 1.9 rebounds per game a year ago, but also showed plenty of room for growth.

In particular, coaches and teammates wanted to see Koumadje play in a way that took advantage of his overwhelming size, which didn't always come easily.

Despite his height, Koumadje only started playing competitive basketball as a junior at Montverde Academy in Orlando and, as a result, his inexperience showed at times during FSU's 2016-17 campaign.

There were moments when Koumadje looked uncomfortable or unsure of what to do, and, with such a large frame, that often manifested itself in foul trouble – he averaged 1.7 fouls in only 10.1 minutes per game.

But what a difference a year apparently makes.

His name appears 10 times in the first six minutes of the game's box score, beside blocks, dunks and rebounds and, most notably, made jump shots.

While players his size aren't exactly expected to be shooters, Koumadje has developed a useful hook shot that proved effective against the Colonials.

"He's probably 80 percent from there," guard Braian Angola said. "We tell him all the time – 'Just hook it, baby.'"

Just as impressive, though, are the things that didn't end up in the stat sheet: The way that Koumadje altered shots from the overmatched Colonials, how he went up and over players in better position to grab a rebound, or how he was quick and decisive with the ball once it ended up in his hands.

"I think you see that Christ Koumadje has made tremendous improvement," Hamilton said.

Koumadje said working with Ojo helped him evolve, as did another year spent in the gym learning the ins and outs of Hamilton's system.

With experience, he said, comes confidence. And, at least on Tuesday, the results of that confidence spoke from themselves.

"He's made unbelievable progress," Angola said. "His confidence is getting out of the roof.

"He's running the floor very well, he's playing defense, he's following what the coaches want him to do from rim to rim."

Savoy's Return Gives FSU A Lift Off The Bench

By Bob Ferrante

February 14, 2018

TALLAHASSEE – The pain in PJ Savoy's knee was unlike any he had felt before. But while the Florida State guard would miss time due to the knee sprain, he also didn't need surgery.

Missing seven games and watching from the bench was difficult for Savoy, who spent most of the last month rehabilitating and icing the knee while also doing strength training.

"It was definitely tough," Savoy said. "Sitting on the bench, knowing that you could go out there and make a difference, it is hard. You have to keep your mind focused on the ultimate goal. And that's to win."

After missing nearly four weeks, Savoy returned in Saturday's loss at Notre Dame and knocked down a 3-pointer just 14 seconds after he came off the bench. He scored 11 points, shooting 4 of 9 from the floor and making three first-half 3-pointers, in FSU's 84-69 loss to the Fighting Irish.

The return of Savoy could provide an added spark during the stretch run for the Seminoles (17-8, 6-7 ACC), who play host to No. 11 Clemson (20-4, 9-3) on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Savoy came off the bench to play 15 minutes, and he feels that he is still getting his conditioning back. When he's not running in practice, Savoy has also been on the treadmill or bicycle, trying anything to "exhaust myself and get that game-like feeling."

"It's fast-paced," Savoy said. "You have to be ready to go at all times. The conditioning level is completely different. It's hard to get back in shape when you get out of shape. But I'm doing good getting back into shape, running on my own time."

Savoy is averaging 5.2 points per game this season but his ability to knock down 3-pointers makes him a valuable piece off the Seminoles' bench. The junior has made 34.2 percent of his 3-pointers but is capable of making shots from beyond the arc in bunches.

"He's an extremely confident guy," FSU coach Leonard Hamilton said. "I'm expecting him to be really, really energetic here down the stretch. He worked very hard to get back to the point of where he is. I'm excited about having him back and I'm sure he's going to make an impact."

Savoy is hoping he will be able to do just that. With five regular-season games remaining, the Seminoles need to make a late push to secure a spot in the NCAA Tournament.

"I definitely feel like these last five games we could still impress people," Savoy said. "But within this team that's not what we're shooting for. We're shooting to make the NCAA tournament and even make a big run."

Sophomores Stepping Up For Florida State During Stretch Run

By Joe Reedy

Associated Press

February 17, 2018

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Florida State's 2016 basketball recruiting class is showing that it shouldn't be defined by just one person.

Jonathan Isaac garnered most of the attention last season before deciding to leave college after one year for the NBA, where he was the sixth overall selection by Orlando. With Isaac's departure, sophomore guards CJ Walker and Trent Forrest along with redshirt freshman Mfiondu Kabengele are making solid contributions for the 18-8 Seminoles.

Florida State heads into Sunday's game against Pittsburgh with a 7-7 record in Atlantic Coast Conference play.

"I can see the growth," coach Leonard Hamilton said. "They are more invested; they talk more and are more confident."

The class was rated fourth nationally by 247 Sports, but Isaac garnered the lion's share of attention as he was considered one of the top recruits in program history. He averaged 12.0 points and 7.8 rebounds while Walker and Forrest, who were rated as four-star recruits, had limited roles off the bench.

Walker, who can play either guard spot, has started every game this season after coming off the bench last year. The 6-foot-1 Indianapolis native is averaging 9.4 points per game but has scored in double figures in three of the last six games. He is also shooting 68 per cent from the field (15 of 22) over the past four games.

Walker has seen his minutes more than double to 25.7 per game this year. With the Seminoles preparing to enter the stretch drive of the regular season, Walker said the important thing at this stage is trying to make sure he is better prepared mentally.

"Coming in as a freshman you want to do everything but when it gets to the last quarter of the season you need to watch more film and be more focused instead of relying on being just physical," he said.

Forrest, who grew up nearby in Chipley, Florida, has come off the bench and run the floor as the point guard. He has been content to create opportunities for teammates for most of the season but scored a career-high 16 points in Wednesday's overtime win over No. 11 Clemson. The 6-5 Forrest scored eight of the Seminoles' last 13 points, including the game-winning basket.

"I feel real good where my game is. I've been playing off my teammates," said Forrest, who is averaging 6.4 points. "I have to continue to be aggressive."

Kabengele was a guard until the end of his junior year in high school, when he grew three inches to 6-7. After redshirting last season, the Burlington, Ontario, native — who is the nephew of former NBA standout Dikembe Mutombo — is acclimating to the college game, averaging 8.2 points.

"I feel like I'm king of getting the pace of the game," Kabengele said. "The way the referees are going to officiate and what I can do and what I can't do. I'm just waiting for my spots to be aggressive by being more observant on the court."

Isaac, who has had an injury-plagued rookie season for the Magic, is on campus this weekend as most of the NBA is off for the All-Star Game. Isaac, who is averaging 5.3 points and 3.7 rebounds, still keeps in regular contact with his former teammates and has been pleased with seeing them take the next step.

"It's amazing to see them progress and come into their own," Isaac said. "To watch them playing great is fun to see."

Seminoles A Different Team With Forrest On The Floor

By Shotgun Spratling

Seminoles.com

March 22, 2018

LOS ANGELES – Trent Forrest is a game changer. Just ask his Sweet 16 opponents, the Gonzaga Bulldogs.

“I definitely think they are a different team when Forrest is out there,” Gonzaga lead guard Josh Perkins said Wednesday. “He’s taller. He’s more athletic. He can get to the cup a little bit better.”

Guard Zach Norvell Jr. said Florida State looks different when Forrest is on the court. But added that’s been the case for Forrest’s teams ever since Norvell watched him while growing up on the AAU circuit.

When Forrest checks in off the Florida State bench, the energy level generally ticks up a notch. That’s his first priority. Bring energy. Be disruptive. Try to create turnovers to get the offense out into transition. The Seminoles are at their best when they are running, using their athleticism to attack defenses in the open court.

“His defense really creates his offense,” freshman guard M.J. Walker said. “He’s real active on ‘D,’ so when he gets on offense, it’s kind of like transition, a great transition, where his defense gives him energy, gets him back on offense.”

Forrest knows when to push the pace and when to settle things down. His teammates describe him as a floor general. When he enters, Forrest seizes command of the game, controlling the tempo. His teammates younger and older expect that from him. Forrest said he’s able to do that, even though he’s only a sophomore, because of the positive relationships he’s built with each of his teammates.

“If you can just do that,” he said, “they trust you and you trust them. Then I feel like then things will work out.”

And the Seminoles trust Forrest to get them open looks because of his ability to drive into the lane and has an uncanny knack for knowing exactly where his teammates are on the floor.

“He does a great job getting us involved,” M.J. Walker said. “He sees the floor. His IQ for the game is so high, he just knows where everybody is at. We definitely love playing with Trent.”

Multiple Seminoles describing playing with Forrest as “exciting.” They all enjoy being on the floor with him knowing he is looking to find them open looks.

“[He creates] a lot of opportunities by the way he drives, the way he kicks out,” redshirt freshman forward Mfiondu Kabengele said. “He sees the floor on ball screens. My goal when I’m playing with him is to get good position to make his job easier to find me or to find other guys.”

Forrest rounding into top form over the final month of the season has propelled Florida State into tonight’s Sweet 16 matchup with Gonzaga at Staples Center in Los Angeles. Head coach Leonard Hamilton had called Forrest his best player in the preseason, but Forrest got tripped up and suffered a knee injury in training camp that forced him to get a slow start to the season.

Through the first 25 games, Forrest scored in double-digits just four times with a high of 12 points and he was averaging 3.6 assists. But starting with an overtime win over then-No. 11 Clemson, Forrest has ratcheted his game up a level. The Seminoles were coming off a stretch of losing three of four games when he scored 16 points on 7 of 11 shooting against Clemson. Forrest has carried that performance forward.

"It's been the reverse of our season," Savoy said. "We went on a two- or three-game losing streak and Trent's picked his energy up and we started winning."

In the last eight games, he is averaging 13.8 points and five assists per game. He has scored in double figures in all but one game and is shooting 59.7 percent from the floor. He is scoring more, distributing more and making more plays on defense.

In the NCAA tournament, Forrest has been Florida State's x-factor. He filled up the stat sheet against Missouri, scoring eight points with eight assists, six rebounds, three steals and two blocks. The more impressive stat was how the Seminoles fared when Forrest was in the game versus sitting on the bench. With Forrest on the court, they were plus-29, outscoring Missouri 65-36, but when he took a seat is when the Tigers made their runs, outscoring the Noles by 16.

Against Xavier, Forrest helped lead his team back from a double-digit deficit. He scored nine points and grabbed four steals in the second half, including the one that led to PJ Savoy's go-ahead three-pointer. Savoy knocked a ball free, Forrest corralled it and started a fast break, attacking the middle to draw the defense before kicking to Savoy for his Forrest's second assist of the second half.

"I feel like I'm hitting my stride at the right time and playing pretty good basketball," Forrest said. "I feel like we still have a lot of time to see ahead of time that my best basketball is yet to come, but at this time, I'm playing pretty good."

Trent Forrest: An Emerging Leader For the Seminole Basketball Team

Great leaders do not always lead by the words they speak. They lead by example.

Florida State sophomore guard Trent Forrest is an example of one of these leaders, a player whose actions speak louder than his words.

Forrest grew up in Chipley, a small town in the panhandle of Florida, which has a population of roughly 3,580 people. Moving to an area like Tallahassee and attending Florida State with a student population ten times the size of Forrest's hometown of was eye-opening.

"Where I am from, there are three or four traffic lights in the whole city, versus coming to Tallahassee that has one on every street," Forrest said.

"The town is only about an hour and a half away from Tallahassee, so the move itself wasn't that difficult.

But with a large campus and massive student body, it can be harder to build strong, lasting relationships. That's the one thing Forrest said he misses about his hometown.

However, he accomplished a lot during his first year at Florida State – on the court and in the classroom. Forrest earned the Seminoles' First Year Academic Achievement Award, was named to the 2017 ACC Academic Honor Roll and the 2017 All-ACC Academic Basketball team.

"You have to find the time to study and get what you need for class so that you can succeed on and off the court," said Forrest. "Hard work goes hand in hand, really, with anything you want to do in life. If you want to be good at anything, work hard at it."

Forrest learned the attribute of leadership back home by watching his mother, Barbara Lee, lead a local church as the community pastor.

His father, Lester Forrest, would also coach him and his friends in youth baseball when they were growing up.

"Trent comes from a wonderful family," FSU assistant Stan Jones said. "Hard-working people, a minister's home, so he's been kind of demanded from a young age to carry himself well, to act beyond his age and that's all beneficial to him."

Friends and followers of Forrest noticed his leadership and maturity as far back as high school, where he set and still holds the Chipley High scoring record. He led the Tigers to two state championships, all while maintaining a 4.3 grade-point average.

During his senior year, while he was navigating the recruiting process, Forrest spoke often with a friend he met while playing AAU basketball, current Seminole teammate and backcourt mate CJ Walker.

“When me and Trent were talking, it was just about what we wanted to do in college and how much of a difference we wanted to make,” Walker said. “So we both wanted to travel pretty much the same path, and he was like, “Why not? We can do it together.’

“And Florida State was just the place for us to be.”

The two freshmen quickly bonded with their teammates and created the “Boom Squad” – the group of reserves that helped FSU establish a reputation as one of the deepest teams in the country and collectively won FSU’s Sixth Man of the Year Award.

“We knew what the coaching staff wanted from us,” Walker said. “We talked about what we needed to do. We know when to give each other the ball, and we are both leaders so it just worked out as Coach (Leonard) Hamilton wanted it to be.”

Forrest’s aggressive defense, explosive offense and winning mindset are exactly what the coaching staff was looking for when they recruited him.

“I think he fulfilled all of those as a freshman,” Jones said. “I am looking forward to him making some significant jumps in the second year here in our program. Not being a fresh face freshman, but to come out and let the experiences grow, manifest themselves into more production, a bigger role and more leadership expectations in the locker room and huddles.”

Forrest's Unselfish Spirit Gives Seminoles A Boost

Wayne E McGahee III
Tallahassee Democrat
March 18, 2018

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Florida State took it to Missouri in the first round of the NCAA tournament on Friday night, and it was sophomore guard Trent Forrest leading the way.

The No. 9 seed Seminoles (21-11) routed the No. 8 seed Tigers (20-13) 67-54 to advance to play No. 1 seed Xavier (29-5) for the second straight year in the round of 32.

Forrest had eight points, eight assists, six rebounds, three steals, and two blocks in the win in 33 minutes.

When he was on the court the Seminoles outscored the Tigers 65-36. In the seven minutes he didn't play, Missouri outscored the Seminoles 18-2.

And he did it all coming off the bench.

"There's no question that Trent does a very good job of distributing the ball and making good decisions," FSU coach Leonard Hamilton said.

"Trent does a great job defensively, does a great job seeing the whole floor. He makes a tremendous difference when he's on the floor."

He has started just two games this year — when Terance Mann was injured against Syracuse in January, and when starting point guard C.J. Walker was limited with knee soreness against Clemson in February — but he's arguably been the Seminoles best player over the last month averaging 13.7 points per game, 5.3 assists, and 4.6 rebounds.

Hamilton called Forrest his best player during preseason practice before he suffered a hyper-extension in his right knee forcing him to miss most of preseason practice and the first game of the season.

He has been coming off the bench with sophomore guard C.J. Walker in the starting role since his return from the injury and has flourished.

Forrest is the definition of an unselfish player, doing whatever it takes to help the team win.

He'd rather make an assist than a basket.

He'd rather grab a rebound in between two opponents.

That's just the type of guy he is. "It don't matter," Hamilton said.

"I don't care if I'm the last player off the bench. I just want to play ball and be a basketball player."

His teammates rally around him when he's on the court.

Against Missouri, the Seminoles looked out-of-sync when Forrest wasn't on the court, but were a well-oiled machine that had an excellent offensive rhythm when he was.

“It’s just having a good relationship with all the players,” Forrest said. “Off the court we have good relationships, and on the court, they trust me.”

“We know he’s capable of starting, and we know he can come off the bench and produce like he is now,” junior guard P.J. Savoy said.

“We all believe in him, and it’s just confidence in him to get the job done.”

Mfiondu Kabengele Looking To Turn Heads This Year

By Alfy Flores

FSView

October 29, 2017

Emerging as one of the more recognizable players on the Florida State men's basketball team, redshirt freshman Mfiondu Kabengele was often known by his good-natured attitude, enthusiastically supporting his teammates from the sidelines during every game last year.

This year, however, the former three-star recruit from Ontario, Canada will certainly have the prime opportunity to showcase his abilities—those of which he had improved quite substantially throughout his redshirt year.

“Sitting out a year really helped him understand what he has to do to become a better player. He's lost 20 pounds since we got back from Jamaica,” FSU head coach Leonard Hamilton says. “He seems to be really focused.”

From last year to this year, the 6-foot-9, 235-pound forward has in fact grown an inch and shed 20 pounds, allowing him to become a more versatile player that could take on multiple positions. Enduring a rigorous off-season, Kabengele worked alongside assistant head coach Stan Jones to better his overall game and prepare him for the upcoming season.

Oftentimes the first one in and the last one out of the gym, Kabengele sought to improve on many facets of his game, including his three-point shot and his overall maturity.

“He's improved his ball-handling, passing, and more than anything else, he has improved his understanding of how to play. He is versatile—we can play him at the five, we can play him at the four or the three.”

At the Seminoles' first exhibition game of the season against Central Missouri, Kabengele finally set foot on the hardwood for his very first game at Florida State. With a seven-foot wingspan, the redshirt freshman stunned many.

“He works hard. He worked very hard in the off season,” junior guard Terance Mann says. “He was working on all aspects of his game. He thought that rebounding would keep him on the floor and it is working.”

In his first collegiate appearance, Kabengele collected 11 points, nailing five of his eight shots—one of which came from behind the three-point line. Just a rebound short of a double-double, the Ontario, Canada native also notched three assists and recorded a block.

“We've tried to develop a system of position-less basketball, with the exception of a post player,” Hamilton says. “When he comes into the game, he gives us another perimeter and post guy who is versatile enough to give us a chance to create some problems for our opponents.”

Kabengele's length, swiftness and shooting abilities will certainly create mismatches against opponents this upcoming season. Looking to run a new strategy from last year, coach Hamilton will utilize his guard-heavy squad and have four shooters on the floor alongside a post player. Kabengele's versatility would allow him to play and thrive at any position on the floor, creating opportunities for the team around him as well as himself.

“He's done a lot of swimming, he does a lot of extra running, he is watching what he is eating,” Hamilton says. “He seems to be really focused. He's shown that if you work hard and stay focused, you will get better—he is the perfect example. We are very pleased of the progress he has made.”

Up next for the 'Noles is their final pre-season exhibition matchup against Thomas University. The Night Hawks head to Tallahassee this upcoming season, which will allow the newcomers to become acclimated with the intensity of college basketball prior to the start of the season.

“Any time you have six first-year players, you’re going to have some breakdowns in areas that you have been working on,” Hamilton says. “Our young kids were somewhat nervous—that’s why these games are good. It gives them a chance to get out in front of the public and get those nerves out.”

Mfiondu Kabengele: The Product Of An Unmatched Work Ethic

By Alfy Flores, Sports Editor

January 28, 2018

Results don't show if the work isn't put in. And it's maintaining that sort of mentality that has allowed redshirt freshman Mfiondu Kabengele to thrive through the intensity of college basketball.

But he wasn't always like that.

That drive and hunger to persevere derived from his wanting to become one of the greatest that the game has ever seen. It eventually manifested well within the 6-foot-9 forward and transformed him into one of the toughest Seminoles in the locker room.

"When I was being lazy, I saw where I was; I wasn't that successful," Kabengele said. "When I went to prep school, it was the first time that I went a long period of hard work, like month in and month out. Once I saw the progression of how I grew from hard work, I just applied it when I came here."

Coming out of high school, Kabengele had instilled the thought of pursuing a college basketball career deep within his mind. Though the opportunity hadn't presented itself just yet, the Ontario, Canada native had paved himself a particular path that would ultimately land him on an ACC roster.

Following his graduating from Corpus Christi High School, where he averaged more than 14 points per game and nearly seven rebounds per game, Kabengele moved down to Indiana. The recent high school graduate enrolled in a post-graduate program—Don Bosco Preparatory—where he put himself on the radar of multiple top-tier college programs behind his stellar season averaging a double-double.

With Wisconsin, Georgetown and Boston College all among his top options, Kabengele ultimately elected Florida State as his new home.

"Tallahassee is similar to where I'm from. It's quiet, suburban; not too big, not too small," Kabengele said. "The only change really was the lingo and they type of people because back home, Canadians are just a little different from Americans."

His redshirt season did not see much playing time—any at all, in fact. Kabengele spent his entire first year at Florida State working closely with associate head coach Stan Jones with conditioning. His first year sitting out allowed him to observe and study the art of the game.

"It was great because I knew coach Jones really appreciated my kind of talent and he saw something in me that I didn't see in myself," Kabengele said. "He's always tried to compare me to Al Thornton and how I was in the same situation as him."

Investing hours and hours into improving his mind, body and on-court performance, Kabengele reinforced the reason behind his enduring such strenuous workouts. Coach Stan Jones surely tested Kabengele's limits, which resulted in his demonstrating significant improvements in his maturity and his overall performance.

"His workouts were a mixture of conditioning and ball handling. It was tough, the amounts of reps we got in and the hours we put in. It was tough, especially on the body," Kabengele said. "Every time we did the workout, I always felt like I got a little better."

The Seminoles, last year, enjoyed much success, making their way to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in a few years. Though not able to contribute on the court or on the stats sheet, Kabengele ensured that his presence be felt on the bench and in the locker room. Oftentimes seen on his feet encouraging his teammates from the sidelines, Kabengele displayed a contagious type of energy that resonated well within his teammates as well as the fans in the stands.

"After a game, we watch film, and there's a little clip of me going crazy. Coach would stop it and say 'see Fi's energy?' That's the type of energy that helps ignite the offense or the defense," Kabengele said. "I'm generally that passionate in everything I do, whether it be in the locker room or on campus. I'm like that on and off the floor."

An entire year of observing, learning and studying the game concluded and Kabengele's opportunity to prove himself approached quickly. High expectations were set upon himself. His confidence in himself allowed him to take his first steps on the hardwood and create an immediate impact on a team that had lost key players to the NBA draft the season prior.

"My greatest asset is my confidence," Kabengele said. "There are some situations where I make terrible mistakes, but I can always go back the next day and forget about it and come into the next game ready to go."

Now in his first year of eligibility, Kabengele certainly has stunned many. Beyond the midway point of conference play, Kabengele and Florida State (16-5 overall, 5-4 ACC) are coming off a monumental victory over the Hurricanes and have set themselves up for an NCAA Tournament bid.

Among the most versatile players on this year's team, Kabengele has shown flashes of talent and potential. Averaging just shy of eight points per game and five rebounds per contest, the redshirt freshman has proven to be a tremendous asset coming off the Seminoles' bench.

When asked about Kabengele's greatest quality, junior forward Terance Mann responded with "his mentality." "He has always been able to shoot, he's always been able to be aggressive and rebound. In his redshirt year, he didn't know what he liked, he didn't know if he could play," Mann said. "But now he can see that he can play with us and with anyone in the country, so he knows he can compete."

With just half a year of playing eligibility in the rear-view, the young 'Nole has plenty to look forward to. With such a young, talented roster at the helm of the program's future, Florida State's winning years are certainly ahead. Hopes of a National Championship gleam in his eyes as he looks ahead into his next few years as a Seminole. A hopeful smile runs across his face as he discusses his future with the group that he calls family.

"My goal is to win a national championship before I leave Florida State because it's never been done in program history, so if I do that, my name is in the books forever," Kabengele said. "Everyone is together in everything we do and every activity so it's only a matter of preparation and work ethic."

M.J. – The SkyWalker

There's the CEO of Chick Fil-A, there's 2 Chainz, and then there's MJ Walker.

It's not easy to find Jonesboro, Georgia on a map. Only 5,000 people live in the town, and many of those born there end up staying. The people that make it out do not take it lightly. MJ Walker knows that.

"It was tough. There were a lot of distractions ... all kinds of trouble. Everybody is trying to get their own and make it," Walker says, re-living much of it in his mind. "I just tried to stay focused. Basketball helped me."

Playing basketball is Walker's earliest memory. A stellar high school career, count it. An invitation to the McDonald's All-American game, check. Five-stars as a recruit coming out of high school, no doubt. So, when did his favorite moment of playing basketball happen?

At nine years old...in a church league.

"There were two minutes left," Walker's eyes suddenly light up. "I got the ball, pounded it, got fouled and scored. I never show emotion in a game. That was the first time I ever screamed after I scored. After that, I knew I had that dog in me."

The ring of an elevator seems to come out of nowhere in a silent hallway of the FSU basketball practice facility. A basketball hits the hardwood in the distance every now and then.

Despite daily dosages of practice, film watching and class, Walker takes pride in arriving punctually. He drops everything in his arms just to shake hands. The walls of the facility are filled with photographs of standout freshman — from Beasley to Bacon to Isaac. Walker notices them every day, envisioning himself popping out of those same picture frames.

"That's one of the reasons why I came here. It was a good opportunity for me to take over what the [freshmen] used to do for the program," Walker says with a look of determination. "With what I can do, I felt like I would fit well in the program."

Shooting 42 percent from the field and 40 percent from beyond the arc is certainly a good start. Already one of FSU's strongest shooters, Walker's ability to create his own shot adds yet another dimension to a Florida State offense that's ranked third in the ACC in scoring.

"MJ is giving us everything he has," head coach Leonard Hamilton says about the true freshman. "He's coachable. He's a great teammate and he's got a good relationship with players and coaches."

With scholarship offers from UCLA, Georgia Tech and Virginia Tech lined up out of high school, the 6-5 guard chose the Garnet & Gold. Tough choice, right?

Not for MJ Walker.

"Family. That's the most important thing," Walker says without hesitation. "The loyalty as well. Florida State's coaches had been recruiting me since ninth grade. They cared about my life."

Caring is the first step in every walk of life, from the biggest cities to the smallest towns. For a small town in Georgia, Jonesboro has notable natives. 2 Chainz, Chick-Fil-A's CEO and several professional athletes are just a few to have made it out of Clayton County. Walker lights up at the thought of being on that list.

"It would mean a lot," Walker takes a breath before looking out onto the court. "A lot of good guys made it out of that area. Those are guys that I looked up to. It gave me hope that I could make it out."

Memories fly out of Walker's mind in a vacuum. Jonesboro is still very much with him, probably resting on a shoulder like the "chip" so often described by those who make it out. Time passes, practice is about to start, and so it's back down the elevator. Drake's "God's Plan" is blaring in a nearby film room on the first floor.

To Walker, landing at Florida State is part of the plan — a plan so vivid that he must see it every time he closes his eyes. Trusting the process is something that he and his father have always lived by, but the first part of the process is remembering where you come from. To Walker, that means never being far removed from what he started as.

Just a kid from Jonesboro.

Milton's Brandon Allen Gets Shot At Big Dance To End FSU Career

March 14, 2018

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. -- In some respects, five years at Florida State has passed like five minutes with Brandon Allen.

All except for the memories. That part is lasting. It will be forever cherished.

"It has definitely not been your ordinary journey, that is for sure," said Allen after Monday's practice in Tallahassee ahead of Friday's NCAA Tournament opener against Missouri in Nashville.

Allen, 26, played three seasons of professional baseball in the minor leagues, then entered FSU in 2014 as a walk-on player and will get the rare opportunity to exit his collegiate basketball career in the most desired way.

The 6-foot-6 reserve forward, who has appeared in 21 games, may or may not see game action, but it's been a rewarding five years.

He's been able to be part of Florida State's basketball program, where his father, Randy Allen, also a Milton grad, was a standout forward in the mid-1980s and played 30 years ago in the NBA with the Sacramento Kings.

Brandon was able to wear his father's number, 40. Randy was able to rejoin the basketball family in a personal way again.

In an emotional senior day March 3 at FSU earlier this month, Brandon and Randy, along with his mom, Kelly, also an FSU grad and principal at Jay Elementary School, were together with family members as part of the mid-court ceremony.

His older brother, Adam, a two-time PNJ player of the year who led Milton to the state Class 4A final four in 2006 then played for the Florida Gators, joined him with his sister, Sydney, 21, and his younger brother Drew, a sophomore on the Milton basketball team.

"That was the first time all of my family had been to a game at once," Brandon Allen said. "Even my grandparents were there.

"And I think some of my own emotions distracted me that day, actually, but it was a good time."

Allen has juggled a demanding major, electrical engineering, with the demands of playing on a major college basketball team. He graduates in May and will have his choice of business career options.

But right now, he is rightfully embracing the chance to experience the NCAA Tournament as a lasting memory. "I've been blessed," he said. "Not many people get the chance to play pro baseball and not many get the chance to play college basketball, but I was lucky enough to do both.

"And I have lot of fun life experiences from that so I am definitely thankful for everything and how it's all turned out."

Milton High boys' basketball first year coach Joey Murdock has known Allen since coaching against him as Tate's head coach. This year, he took the Panthers to Florida State to see him play.

"I saw him as a freshman in high school, then I was at Charleston Southern (as assistant coach) when we played Florida State twice (in past five years)," Murdock said. "What are the odds of that?"

"He is a special guy. He has just stayed with it. He had a tremendous amount of options coming out of high school with baseball and basketball. How many kids get to do both in their careers?"

Allen decided in early 2013 to leave professional baseball, where he was a right-handed pitcher in the San Francisco Giants organization, appearing in 32 minor league games, after being drafted in the 18th round in 2010. He was admitted to FSU and decided to switch gears and become a basketball player, where he was a two-sport player at Milton.

"Tallahassee has become a second home to me," he said. "This university means everything to me. I was a kid when I was playing baseball, but it's almost like (FSU) has turned me into a man in a way."

The college basketball experience at FSU has presented a contrast to his three years in professional baseball. There is an entirely different team aspect that athletes all say is what makes high school and college so much enjoyable in some respects than a pro team.

"At the college level, we have more of a family atmosphere," he said. "It's a business in college basketball, but it is a lot less of a business compared to professional athletics. Playing-wise, you are so invested in it."

"In professional baseball, you go out there every day and you are kind of worried about yourself. It's more about, 'How am I playing.' You are trying to move up, trying to get paid. "At the college level it is more about the team and you are more invested in winning."

Murdock, who now coaches the youngest Allen (Drew) and took Milton to the District 1-7A Tournament championship before an overtime loss against Pensacola High, believes the fun of playing basketball again at a destination school like FSU kept Allen inspired through five years.

"When you love the game, you have to have it until you can't have it anymore," Murdock said. "Brandon Allen loves the game of basketball. The relationships you build in this game can last forever."

There is also the special connection of father-son playing decades apart at the same school. Randy Allen helped elevate FSU under two different coaches during his career.

Brandon Allen experienced ho-hum seasons with two NIT trips his first three years, before back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances.

"I can see that anytime a dad gets to see his son play at the same school, it is always a great experience," Allen said. "As much as he likes seeing me play, I think it makes him feel good just being back and all the Florida State people who still know him."

"He still feels important to the program and I think it has meant a lot to him."

It's the same way Allen feels about FSU coach Leonard Hamilton, who turns 70 in August and is in his 16th season with the Seminoles.

"It is just an honor to be around him," Allen said. "He is such a good role model and for this program. I have lot of respect for him, where he came from and where he is today."

It's something Allen can relate from his own journey.
