PROGRAM HISTORY

Men's soccer was one of the first varsity sports to be offered when the then-George Mason College began its athletic program in the late 1960s. Since then, it has become one of the most successful programs among the 22 NCAA Division I sports currently offered at Mason.

In the 47-year history of George Mason soccer, the program has a record of 462-324-102 for a winning percentage of .520. The Patriots have posted at least 10 victories in 27 of those seasons, including 14 in a row from 1980-93, and they have finished a season nationally ranked 10 times (1981, '82, '84, '85, '87, '88, '90, '92, '96 and 2008) in the last 26 years. At George Mason Stadium, the team's 5,000-seat home field which opened for the 1982 season, the Patriots have a sparkling record of 190-83-35 (.674 winning percentage).

The program's most successful period began in 1979, its first at the NCAA Division I level. Coach Richard Broad led the Patriots to a 9-9 mark that season and improved to the tune of a 10-4-3 record and a berth in the ECAC-South championship game in 1980.

After another impressive record of 12-2-4 in 1981, a season in which Mason was nationally ranked for the first time, the program kicked into high gear in 1982. The Patriots won their first 18 games and were ranked as high as sixth in the nation (the program's highest national ranking ever) before losing to Virginia, 3-2, before 4,500 fans at the new stadium. Mason came back to avenge that loss in its first-ever NCAA Tournament game with a 1-0 victory over the Cavaliers at Scott Stadium in Charlottesville before falling to eventual national runner-up Duke in the quarterfinals, 2-0. Mason's final record of 19-2 set a school record for victories in a season.

Broad, who finished his nine-year tenure with an overall mark of 88-53-17, saw the Patriots post a 15-4-3 record in his final season of 1984. Mason made its second appearance in the NCAA Tournament, the second of seven postseason appearances by the Patriots in a span of nine years.

Gordon Bradley joined the program as head coach in 1985. He immediately led the Patriots to a record of 18-4 and a NCAA first-round victory over Virginia, 1-0, before falling to eventual national runner-up American in the second round. Mason set a school record with 80 goals that season. In 1986, the Patriots again won an NCAA first-round game with a 2-1 victory over Maryland in overtime, but lost to Loyola in the second round.

Bradley, who retired after the 2000 season with a 16-year mark of 183-113-35, guided the Patriots to other NCAA appearances in 1987, '88 and '90. A six-year drought ended in 1996 with Mason defeating Virginia, 1-0, in the first round before falling to eventual national champion St. John's. Mason's most recent NCAA Tournament appearance was in 2008, when current head coach Greg Andrusis guided the Patriots to a win over Penn in the first round, 1-0, before falling to eventual national champion Maryland in the second round. Mason also appeared in the national tournament in 2006, taking a 1-0 loss to Bucknell in the first round. The Patriots have an all-time record of 5-10 in 10 NCAA Tournament appearances.

Since the inception of the Colonial Athletic Association in 1984 (it was known as the ECAC-South for the 1983 and '84 seasons only), Mason has been one of the most dominant programs in the conference with a league record of 117-74-26 (.599 winning percentage) and five shared or outright titles in 26 years. The Patriots also have tied for the regular season crown twice and advanced to the CAA Tournament finals five times.

In addition, a total of 74 players have been selected to the All-CAA first or second teams, which includes athletes who have received the honor more than once. John O'Hara, Martin Dunphy, Mark Pulisic, Ian Carter and Eduardo Lima earned All-CAA First Team honors three times and Mike Reynolds, Fred Thompson, Sam Sumo, Joseph Addo, Greg Franzke, Tamir Linhart, Rich Kotschau and Scott Thelen each were named to the squad twice. In addition, Anthony Noreiga garnered a first team nod in 2005, a feat repeated by Kwame Adjeman-Pamboe during the Patriots' 2008 CAA Championship season. Goalkeeper Sean Kelley capped his outstanding career with a first-team selection last season. Linhart received CAA Player of the Year honors in 1992, as did John Ferrandino in 1995. Noreiga was named CAA Defender of the Year in 2005. Also, O'Hara (2001), Damian O'Rourke (2002) and Sean Kelley (2006) earned Rookie of the Year laurels.

Mason also can boast of eight NSCAA All-Americans -- Henry Castaneda, Colin Kerr, Reynolds, Steffen Kraus, Sumo, Addo and Linhart. Castaneda, a record-setting goalkeeper in the early days of the program, earned NAIA first-team honors in 1974, while Kerr became the first Division I All-American as a third-team selection in 1982. Castaneda, Reynolds (1985), Sumo (1985) and Addo (1992) were each named to the first team.

Mason ushered in a new era of soccer in 2013 when the school joined the Atlantic 10 Conference. The Patriots took the A-10 by storm in its inaugural season, posting a 12-3-6 record en route to earning the 2013 Atlantic 10 Conference Championship title, the first A-10 team championship in school history. The Patriots proceeded to advance to the second round of the NCAA Tournament, defeating former conference foe William & Mary with a 4-2 advantage in penalty kicks before falling to seventh-seeded New Mexico in the second round, 1-0. Freshman goalkeeper Steffen Kraus became the first Patriot to earn Atlantic 10 Rookie of the Year honors, along with becoming the seventh to be named an NSCAA All-American.

In 2016, defender Taylor Washington became the fourth Patriot to be drafted when he was chosen 23rd overall by the Philadelphia Union in the first round of the MLS SuperDraft. He joined Taylor Morgan (2012, Toronto), Kwame Adjeman-Pamboe (2009, Colorado) and Ritchie Kotschall (1998, Chicago) as former Patriots drafted.

Greg Andrulis

Head Coach

12th Season • 104-73-33 at Mason

Greg Andrulis, hired in 2005, enters his 12th year at the helm at George Mason entering the 2016-17 season. Under Andrulis, the Patriots have qualified for the NCAA Division I Men's Soccer Championship three times and captured two conference tournament titles.

Andrulis ranks second all-time in program history with 104 wins. He picked up his 100th career at George Mason on Spet. 19, 2015 with a 1-0 double overtime victory over High Point.

In January 2016, Taylor Washington became the third George Mason player under his watch to be drafted. Defender Taylor Washington was selected 23rd overall by the Philadelphia Union in the first round of the MLS SuperDraft. He joined Taylor Morgan (2012, Toronto FC) and Kwame Adjeman-Pambope (2009, Colorado Rapids) as former Patriots to be drafted during Andrulis' tenure.

Andrulis led Mason into the Atlantic 10 Conference in 2013. His team posted a 12-3-6 overall record, 5-0-3 in conference and went on to defeat Saint Joseph's, VCU and Saint Louis to win the A-10 Tournament in the team's inaugural season in the conference. The Patriots qualified for the national tournament for the first time since 2008, defeating William & Mary in the first round before falling to New Mexico, which advanced to the College Cup. Freshman goalkeeper Steffen Kraus (Third Team) was named the 7th NSCAA All-American in program history along with earning Atlantic 10 Rookie of the Year, All-Atlantic 10 Third Team and A-10 Rookie Team honors among others. Taylor Washington (First), Zak Haapaoja (Second) and Alex Herrera (Second) also earned All-Conference honors while Zak Herstek joined Kraus on the All-Rookie Team.

Mason advanced to the CAA Tournament in 2012 after posting an 11-6-2 overall record and a 4-5-1 mark in conference action. For their efforts throughout the season, five Patriots took home All-CAA honors, including Taylor Morgan (First), Timi Mulgrew (Second), Alex Herrera and Hugh Roberts (Third), and Ghiles Harmouche (Rookie).

The 2011 campaign saw the Patriots go 7-8-3 overall and 4-6-1 in the CAA. Five players collected All-CAA honors, including Eric Zuehsow, Leo Stolz, Taylor Morgan, Ryan Gracia and Verner Valimaa. Additionally, Gracia earned NSCAA Men's Soccer Scholar All-East Region accolades.

In 2010, for the fourth time in his six seasons at Mason, Andrulis led the team to winning campaign as the Patriots were 8-7-2 on the year. Four Patriots earned All-CAA honors as Ernesto Marquez was named first-team All-CAA, Eric Zuehsow was named second-team All-CAA and Eber Martinez was named third-team All-CAA. Additionally, Alex Herrera was named to the CAA All-Rookie Team.

In 2009, Andrulis led Mason to its second consecutive season with double-digit victories as the Patriots posted a 10-7-1 overall record. Included among those 10 wins was a 2-0 shutout of second-ranked Maryland on Sept. 29 at George Mason Stadium. Richard Edgar, Victor Freeman, Sean Kelley and Ernesto Marquez were named to the All-CAA Team at the conclusion of the season, while Ryan Reichmann was named to the CAA All-Rookie Team.

In 2008, Andrulis led Mason to the fifth Colonial Athletic Association title in the history of the program and the first since the conference adopted the tournament format beginning with the 1990 season. After earning the conference's automatic berth to the NCAA Tournament, the Patriots earned the program's first win in the tournament since the 1996 season with a 1-0 victory over Penn in the opening round at George Mason Stadium before falling to eventual national champion Maryland in the second round in College Park, Md. Mason won 14 matches for the first time since 1996.

The 2006 squad showcased Andrulis' first recruiting class, which included four athletes with national team playing experience, as well as two individuals who were named to the 'Top 100 Freshman to Keep an Eye on in 2006' by College Soccer News. The newcomers lived up to those high expectations, helping the Patriots improve to 12-6-3 in Andrulis' second year with the program, including a 7-3-1 mark in the CAA. The team was nationally ranked during the season and won nine consecutive matches. Mason reached the finals of the CAA Championships, falling to Hofstra in a penalty kick shootout, before moving on to the NCAA Tournament as an at-large selection, the first time the Patriots reached the tournament in 10 years.

A number of Patriots received individual accolades for their performance during the 2006 campaign. Goalkeeper Sean Kelley was named the CAA Rookie of the Year and was a Second-Team All-CAA selection, as well as a member of the CAA All-Rookie Team and All-Tournament Team. College Soccer News named the first-year performer to its All-Freshman First Team and Kelley was also named Third-Team All-South Atlantic Region. Senior defender Fabien Lewis joined Kelley on the All-South Atlantic Region Third Team and was also named Second-Team All-CAA, while Edgar was named to the CAA All-Rookie Team.

In his first year with the Patriots, the team garnered a 7-7-4 overall record, which included a 3-4-4 mark in the Colonial Athletic Association. Mason garnered five shutouts on the year, including a 1-0 overtime victory against Penn State at Mason Stadium on Sept. 24. Andrulis coached Anthony Noreiga in his final year with the Patriots. Noreiga ended up being named the 2005 CAA Defender of the Year and also earned All-CAA First Team honors. In addition, seniors Teba McKnight and Karim Manneh were named to the all-conference second team.

Andrulis came to Mason with a combined 24 years of collegiate and professional coaching experience. In 2004, Andrulis was named Major League Soccer Coach of the Year and the team was 49-43-32 in his four plus seasons with the Columbus Crew. In addition, the Crew had a 2-4-3 mark in the playoffs.

Andrulis joined the Crew in MLS's inaugural season, 1996, as an assistant to Tom Fitzgerald and was named interim coach midway through the 2001 season, after Fitzgerald was fired. He was given the job full-time following that season after guiding the Crew to a 12-4-4 record in the remaining games in 2001. Andrulis earned his first-ever MLS Coach of the Year award in 2004. He guided the Crew to the top of the Eastern Conference standings and garnered the Crew their first ever Supporters Shield in 2004, which is awarded annually to the team with the most points in either conference. The Crew's 49 points is also the highest regular-season point total in team history. The team started the year poorly, but Andrulis took the Crew on a league-record 18-game unbeaten streak, and a 12-win season against only five losses. The loss total was the lowest number in the league and team history and the 12 wins also marked the second-highest total in the MLS that year behind Kansas City's 14.

In 2003, the Crew advanced to the quarterfinals of the CONCACAF Champions Cup and was the talk of MLS in bolting to a 3-0-1 start in league play. But with key injuries to four of the teams' top performers, the team missed the playoffs for just the second time in club history, finishing with a 10-12-8 record. The Crew went 7-4-5 with those key starters, but was 3-8-3 with players sidelined.

In 2002, Andrulis led the club to its first title, the US Open Cup on Oct. 24. The Crew defeated the newly crowned MLS Cup-champion L.A. Galaxy, 1-0, in the U.S. Open Cup final at Crew Stadium, to claim the prestigious piece of hardware. The U.S. Open Cup is the oldest soccer tournament in America.

Prior to joining Columbus, he was the head coach of Wright State University from 1985 to 1996. He posted a 12-year record of 134-72-28. His best season came in 1988 when he led the Raiders to a 16-4-2 mark.

Starting Mid-Continent league play in 1991, he went 24-18-5 against conference foes. During his tenure, he coached two All-Americans, 21 All-Mideast selections, 28 All-Ohio players and two recipients of the Carl Dale Memorial Award given to the top Ohio players at their positions. All-Americans Hylton Dayes and Rob Campbell have both been inducted into the WSU Hall of Fame; Dayes in 1991 and Campbell in 1999. Andrulis was inducted into the WSU Athletics Hall of Fame on May 28, 2002, becoming the Hall's 37th member. Recently, Andrulis was inducted into the Litchfield High School Hall of Fame and the Eastern Connecticut Hall of Fame.

The Litchfield, Conn., native earned his Bachelor of Science degree in psychology in 1980 from Eastern Connecticut State University. After spending a year as an assistant coach at his alma mater, he moved to Springfield College in Massachusetts where he coached the junior varsity and freshman teams while earning a master's degree in counseling. He then spent three years as an assistant coach at Clemson University where he helped the Tigers win the NCAA Championship in 1985.

Trevor Singer

Assistant Coach

Fifth Season

Singer begins his fifth season with Mason in 2016, arriving on campus after spending three seasons at Temple University.

At Temple, Singer served as an assistant coach and was responsible for working with goalkeepers, scouting and recruiting. The squad made two A-10 tournament appearances and defeated two NSCAA Top 25 ranked teams during his three seasons. Individually, Singer helped develop 11 A-10 All-Conference, five NSCAA Mid-Atlantic All-Region and two NSCAA All-Americans selections. One of his players also participated in the MLS Player Combine and eventually signed with the Philadelphia Union, while two were selected to the MAC Hermann Trophy Watch list and seven were tabbed to the NSCAA Mid-Atlantic All-Region squad.

Singer's squads also found success off of the pitch, as he helped produce three NSCAA Scholar All-Americans, an ESPN the Magazine Soccer Academic All-American and a NSCAA Team Academic award.

Prior to Temple, Singer spent two seasons at the University of Maine, where he mentored a NEISL All-Star and three America East All-Conference selection. Academically, his squads collected 14 America East Honor Roll selections and a NSCAA Team Academic Award. In addition, he coached Canadian U15, U16 and U17 National Team and Serbian U16 National Team captains and produced a player selected for the U20 Canadian National Team World Cup Qualifying.

After graduating from the University of Massachusetts in 2008, Singer served as an assistant coach at his alma mater, working with All-America and Umbro National Player of the Year goalkeeper Zach Simmons.

As a student-athlete, Singer began his career at Rider, where he earned MAAC All-Rookie honors as a freshman, and MAAC All-Academic team honors as a sophomore. Transferring to UMass as a junior, he helped lead his team to a No. 22 ranking his first year. In his final year of eligibility, Singer and the Minutemen earned a No. 4 ranking in the nation and captured the A10 Title, while competing to the final four of the NCAA College Cup.

Outside of the collegiate environment, Singer currently serves as a regional staff coach for the Region One Olympic Development Program in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic where he is responsible for identifying players for the regional pool which eventually helps determine the US Men's National Team. Before moving to Virginia, Singer was also the Youth Academy Coach for the FC Delco United State Soccer Federation in Radnor, Pa., trainer for the West Chester United U23 Amateur Team and head coach of the Maine Olympic Development Program.

Singer graduated from UMass in 2008 with a degree in marketing, and received his masters in sport and recreation management from Temple University in 2011.

Billy Chiles Assistant Coach First Season

Billy Chiles enters the 2016 season in his first year as an assistant coach with the men's soccer program at George Mason.

Chiles, a native of Silver Spring, Md., spent the previous five years as a club coach for the Maryland United FC in Bowie, Md. Prior to that, he served as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Towson, from 2009-13 until the men's soccer program was dissolved.

As a player at Towson, he was a NSCAA Second Team All-American goalkeeper. He was also named First Team All-Colonial Athletic Association and tabbed to the CAA All-Tournament Team. He was drafted by the Columbus Crew in the first round of the 2008 MLS Draft. He played one season professionally with Crystal Baltimore of the USL Second Division.

He graduated from Towson in 2008 with his bachelor's degree in sports management. He received his master's degree in sports administration from Canisius College in 2015.

Nate Kopunek Volunteer Assistant Coach Third Season

Nate Kopunek enters his third season with the Patriots. He begins his second year as a volunteer assistant coach after serving as director of soccer operations in 2014.

Kopunek attended Mason during the 2009-10 school year where he was the team manager for the men's soccer team. Duties included preparing and dismantling practice, filming away games, creating review tapes for players using game film and running clinics.

Kopunek attended Anne Arundel Community College in the fall of 2010 where he played soccer before transferring to Towson University in the spring of 2011. He pursued an undergraduate coaching internship with the Towson men's soccer team until the program was terminated at the end of the 2013 school year.

Coaching experience includes stints as a volunteer assistant coach with Baltimore Bays Chelsea Academy and the Fewster FC U-13 boys team that became 2013 Maryland Boys State Cup champions. Kopunek holds a U.S. Soccer Federation Coaching "E" certification and has helped with D.C. United game day operations since 2007.

Kopunek graduated from Towson in the spring of 2014, earning a degree in business administration with a concentration in legal studies.
