NYLA MILLESON

Head Coach • Seventh Season

Kansas State, 1985 • 376-223 (19 years)

Nyla Milleson begins her seventh season at the helm of the George Mason women's basketball program entering the 2019-20 season. She became the eighth head coach in program history on April 16, 2013.

The Patriots have gradually improved, especially in Atlantic 10 Conference play, under Milleson's watch. In 2017-18, the Patriots had one of the best seasons in program history and tied for the 10th-best one-season turnaround in the nation with a nine-game turnaround (which factors in total wins and losses). Their plus-11 wins from just 13 the year before was also one of the best in the country.

In 2018-19, Mason captured 16 regular season wins, including eight Atlantic 10 victories. It marked the second consecutive winning season - a feat the Patriots hadn't achieved in 15 years. The 40 wins over the last two seasons are also a program record for most wins over a two-year span in program history. Mason earned the No. 7 seed in the Atlantic 10 Tournament and hosted a game for the second-consecutive season. The Green & Gold also fielded the A-10 Player of the Year for the second-straight campaign in Nicole Cardano-Hillary. Cardano-Hillary, the 2018 A-10 Rookie of the Year, led the league in scoring (20.4 ppg) and steals (65) and also was named to the A-10 All-Conference First Team. Cardano-Hillary is the first player in A-10 history to win A-10 Rookie of the Year and A-10 Player of the Year honors in back-to-back years. She is just one of eight to win both awards during her career.

In 2017-18, Mason set a school record for wins (24), made the postseason for just the third time in program history - and first in 14 years - and won a postseason game for the first time in program history as they reached the second round of the WNIT. The 24-10 record marked Mason's first winning season in 14 years. They also finished fourth in the Atlantic 10 with 11 conference wins for their highest conference finish and most conference wins since 2003-04. Mason also set program records for longest home winning streak (13 games) and most home wins (17) during the 2017-18 season. The Patriots' 11 non-conference victories were their most in 30 years.

Milleson guided a team that featured both the Atlantic 10 Player of the Year (Natalie Butler) and Rookie of the Year (Nicole Cardano-Hillary), marking the first time since 1997 one team had both in the same year. Butler led the nation in rebounding (16.6 rpg) and double-doubles (33) and tied the Division I records for most double-doubles and most consecutive double-doubles (33) in one season. She also was named Honorable Mention All-America by the Associated Press to be come the first All-American in program history and was the first player to be taken in the WNBA Draft in school history when she was selected 30th overall in the third round by the Dallas Wings. Butler also led the A-10 in scoring (19.2 ppg) and Cardano-Hillary (17.8 ppg) ranked third while also leading the league in steals (84).

After winning just one A-10 contest in 2013-14 - the Patriots' inaugural season in the league - the Patriots improved to five wins in 2014-15. The next two seasons, Mason finished with identical 6-10 records in league action for its most conference wins since 2011-12. The Patriots advanced to the quarterfinals of the A-10 Tournament for the first time. Milleson mentored three-time Atlantic 10 All-Conference selection Taylor Brown (2013-16). The point guard ended her three years at Mason with 1,693 points - the second-most in program history. She was also the first player in program history with at least 1,500 points, 400 rebounds and 300 assists - all under Milleson's watch. Two players under her watch, Bridget O'Donnell (Czech Republic) and Kristi Mokube (Greece), are currently playing professionally overseas.

In just her second season, Milleson led the Patriots to a marked improvements finishing with a 13-17 overall record, going 5-11 in conference play increasing the overall win percentage from 25.8 percent in 2013-14 to 43 percent overall. Mason's 8-6 non-conference record marked the best non-conference record for the Patriots since 2008. Atlantic 10 Conference Second Team All-Conference guard Taylor Brown continued to grow under Milleson's instruction, leading the conference in scoring from end to end with 21.4 points per game, setting a new George Mason women's basketball single-season scoring record with 643 points on the season.

Milleson spent six years as the head coach at Missouri State where she led the Lady Bears to three WNIT appearances. Under the tutelage of Milleson, the Lady Bears went 105-87 (.547) and were the 2012 Missouri Valley Conference regular-season champions. In six seasons, Milleson mentored 21 All-MVC selections, 13 All-MVC academic honorees, two MVC Newcomer of the Year winners, two MVC Freshman of the Year recipients and one MVC Player of the Year. Prior to Missouri State, she started the women's basketball program at Drury University (1999-2007). She made five straight NCAA Division II Tournament appearances, including a 2004 NCAA Division II national championship runner-up finish. Milleson led the Panthers to three Elite Eight appearances and six conference titles in seven seasons, while being named the Heartland Conference Coach of the Year four times. She was inducted into Drury's Athletics Hall of Fame last fall.

Patriots in the Pros

Throughout George Mason women's basketball history, many athletes have left Mason only to continue their playing career professionally, whether it is with the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) or overseas in international play.

Jen Derevjanik is one of the most recent players to extend her basketball career as she just ended her fourth season in the WNBA and her second with the Phoenix Mercury. Keri Chaconas was the other Patriot who played in the WNBA as she was a member of the Washington Mystics squad during the 1998 season under former Mason head coach, Jim Lewis. Whether or not you are drafted, the players go through a long process before their team's final roster is revealed.

About a month after her career had ended with Patriot basketball in 2004, Derevjanik was invited to participate at the WNBA free agent camp at Connecticut College in New London, Conn. The Staten Island native was then chosen as one of the top three, out of 39, to be invited to participate in the Sun's training camp. Originally there were 18 players on the roster, but after two cut-dates, the Sun had a complete final roster with 11 players and two injured reserves.

Derevjanik's first year with the Sun was in 2004 and she went from her collegiate team participating in the conference championship game to her professional team playing in the WNBA Finals in the same year.

After her first season ended, Derevjanik played overseas with the Lithuanian National Team, which advanced to its first-ever EuroLeague Final Four. When Derevjanik came back to the states, she once again made the Sun's roster to make history as the first Patriot to play more than one season with the WNBA. In 2006, Derevjanik was released from the Sun, but was picked up by the Mercury where she played in 31 games and started eight of those contests. Derevjanik, in her second season in Phoenix, helped lead the Mercury to the WNBA Finals and ultimately, the league championship.

In Derevjanik's two years with Connecticut, the Sun advanced to the WNBA Finals both seasons, but the Sun fell short both times. Derevjanik saw action in all eight playoff games in 2005 and became the first Patriot in school history to start in a WNBA Finals contest. Derevjanik closed out the playoff run third among teammates with 14 assists and fourth in steals with five through the eight games. Derevjanik started a school record 116 consecutive games for Mason and is among the top-10 all-time in Mason's history books in four categories, including fourth in steals (227), sixth in 3-point field goals (132), as well as third in both assists (470) and points (1,637).

Derevjanik was also named to the 2004 Academic All-America Women's Basketball District III University Division First Team and went on to earn conference All-Academic accolades for her efforts in the classroom. Derevjanik earned CAA Rookie of the Year honors (2001), was a two-time All-CAA Second Team award winner and garnered All-CAA First Team honors her senior season. In addition, Derevjanik was named to the 2005 CAA All-Tournament Team.

In 2016, two former Patriots landed spots on professional teams. Forward Kristi Mokube (2014-16) signed a deal with the Saarlouis Royals in Germany. Guard Taylor Brown (2014-16) signed a one-year contract with Snaefell in Iceland.

After one year in Germany, Mokube signed a deal with Proteas Voulas in Athens, Greece in July of 2017. Mokube averaged 10 points and 6.1 rebounds in two seasons with the Patriots after transferring from Florida State. As a senior in 2015-16, she was second on the team with a career-high 11.4 points a game in addition to a team-best 6.2 rebounds a game.

Brown, in just three years at Mason, ranked second on the all-time scoring list with 1,693 points. She also is the only player in program history with at least 1,500 points, 400 rebounds and 300 assists in her career.

This past July, former Mason center Bridget O'Donnell signed a deal with SBS Ostrava in the Czech Republic. O'Donnell, a 6-foot-6 center and niece of Hall of Famer and Olympic gold medalist Anne Donovan, played in 60 games and made 21 starts for the Patriots from 2015-17.

EagleBank Arena History

EagleBank Arena, one of the finest on-campus arenas in the East, is home to the George Mason women's basketball team.

Since 1985, the Patriots have compiled a record of 197-157 at EagleBank Arena for a .556 winning percentage.

This season Mason will host at least 15 home games at EagleBank Arena. In addition to non-conference games against American, Illinois State, University of Maryland Eastern Shore, LIU Brooklyn, Eastern Kentucky, UMBC and Longwood, the Patriots welcome Atlantic 10 Conference foes Davidson (on New Year's Eve), Fordham, George Washington, La Salle, Massachusetts, Richmond, Saint Louis and St. Bonaventure.

Since Nyla Milleson took over as head coach before the 2013-14 season, the Patriots have posted a 25-24 record at EagleBank Arena, including a 6-6 home record in 2016-17.

In the 2008-09 season, Mason won three games at home, two in Colonial Athletic Association play including the Feb. 22 victory over Old Dominion. The Patriots' 63-57 victory before a crowd of 1,214 was the first time in program history that Mason had defeated the Lady Monarchs, ending a stretch of 44 straight losses. Two weeks earlier, Mason topped Georgia State, 63-59 in front of 3,073 fans, the second-highest total in Patriot history.

For two straight seasons (2004-06), Mason hosted the CAA Women's Basketball Championship at the EagleBank Arena. In 2005, five of the nine games were decided by five points or less for the first time in league history. Second-seeded Old Dominion earned a 78-74 victory over top-seeded Delaware in the only overtime game ever played in the CAA title contest. In 2006, Old Dominion edged out James Madison, 58-54, for its 15th-straight CAA Championship title.

During the 2004-05 campaign, Mason collected an overall record of 7-6 when playing on its home court, which included a Colonial Athletic Association mark of 5-4. The Patriots opened the year with a loss in Fairfax to Tulane (Nov. 21), but rebounded with a 60-35 win over BIG EAST member school, Miami, on Nov. 30. The Patriots held the Hurricanes to just eight points in the first half, which was tied for second in the NCAA Division I record books for fewest points scored by one team in a single half.

In 2003-04, the Patriots dropped their home opener to Georgetown on Nov. 26, but went on to defeat their opponent in the next three contests on their home turf. One game that highlighted the 2003-04 campaign at the PC was a 92-64 win over Hofstra on Feb. 1 in front of an EagleBank Arena season-high 2,275 fans where Mason set the school record in three-point field goals made with 15. During the 2003-04 campaign, the Patriots posted an overall record of 8-3 at the EagleBank Arena which included a 7-2 CAA mark.

In 2002-03, Mason opened up its home schedule with an 89-52 win over Howard on Dec. 4. The Patriots then went on to win its first two conference games on their home turf against James Madison, 82-57, and William & Mary, 64-48. Old Dominion was the next conference foe to step on Mason's home court, but the Lady Monarchs would squeak by with a 73-69 win.

During the 2001-02 campaign, Mason opened its home schedule with back-to-back come-from-behind victories, defeating Hartford, 79-68, and topping UT-Chattanooga, 91-84. The win over UTC on Nov. 24 featured a historic EagleBank Arena and CAA freshman-record 41-point performance from standout guard and then-freshman Laura Kooij, as Mason tied a school record with 10 three-point baskets in the victory.

Several hundred spectators witnessed the Patriots host their first-ever postseason tournament contest in 2001—a 66-56 loss to Georgetown (Mar. 14)—after totaling 11 home victories, the most home wins ever in season. During the 1999-2000 campaign, the Patriots had almost 9,000 fans (over 600 per game) see Mason win seven contests at home.

On Jan. 23, 2000, a record-breaking 3,152 fans were on hand as the Patriots fell to CAA foe East Carolina, 91-79. This number broke the attendance record of 2,811 that was set in the 1997-98 season when JMU slipped by Mason, 68-67 (Jan. 18).

On Jan. 3, 1999, Trish Halpin became the all-time blocked shots leader in George Mason history as she swatted block number 137 against Old Dominion in the EagleBank Arena.

The EagleBank Arena offers fans excellent sight lines and has 9,523 permanent theater-style seats, yet retains an intimate home court atmosphere. The facility has attracted basketball fans from the entire Washington metropolitan area since it opened on Oct. 4, 1985. The inaugural event was a NBA exhibition game between the New York Knicks and the Washington Bullets, with the sellout contest marking the professional debut of Patrick Ewing. Tim Duncan of the San Antonio Spurs also made his first professional appearance in an exhibition contest at EagleBank Arena (then the Patriot Center) in 1997.

The EagleBank Arena houses the men's and women's basketball offices and the offices of Monumental Sports & Entertainment, which manages the facility.

Recently, the arena underwent significant renovations, including upgrades to the concourse, ticket office, as well as basketball offices and locker rooms.

While basketball remains the primary tenant, the multi-purpose facility also hosts a wide array of family programming, concerts, sports and entertainment events. An October 8, 1994, Phish concert set the overall attendance record of 10,356. Other headline acts which have performed in the EagleBank Arena include Jimmy Buffett, David Copperfield, Prince, Alan Jackson, Neil Diamond and Barenaked Ladies, among others. Family entertainment acts such as Sesame Street Live and Disney on Ice return annually.
