#TRENDINGUPWARD

Georgia has three 20-win seasons and three postseason bids in Mark Fox's six years in Athens.

Georgia and Kentucky are the only two SEC schools to earn top-4 seeds (and “double-byes”) in each of the past two SEC Tournaments.

All 16 Bulldog seniors during Mark Fox's tenure have graduated from UGA.

Charles Mann scored his 1000th Georgia point at Auburn last season in the regular-season finale. That victory was Georgia's 23rd SEC win over the past two seasons and 32nd during the past three campaigns. Those tallies represent the winningest SEC stretches in the history of Georgia Basketball.

GEORGIA ATTEMPTS TO "RAISE THE FLAG"

You may have noticed the "Raise The Flag" logo on the covers and divider pages of this media guide. For the past two seasons, raising the flag has become synonymous with Bulldog victories. After home wins, the team receives the flag near their entrance to the Stegeman Coliseum playing floor. While many fans began to notice the tradition, few knew the story behind it.

"I wanted to reestablish the pride and passion for our team, and that had to start from the inside," Mark Fox said. "So (two years ago) I split the team into two groups, and I gave one group a picture of the Marines planting the flag at Iwo Jima and I gave the other group a picture of the firemen raising the flag on 9/11. I told them to come back and tell me the story."

The team reconvened days later to discuss the images Fox had presented.

"At the end of it, I gave our team a flag and said you just saw two examples, one in celebration and one on a sad day," Fox said. "That showed the passion that people have for our country and our flag. I told them we're going to raise our flag when we win and show people we have pride and really care about what we do."

The tradition quickly caught on with the Bulldogs.

"It gave us something to look forward to after a win, not just walk to the locker room and celebrating within ourselves," Kenny Gaines said. "It gave us something hold on to and celebrate with the crowd also."

"I think it has given us a sense of pride, not just here Athens or Atlanta but the entire state of Georgia," Juwan Parker said. "We want kids to look up to us and say 'I want to be like him and go to the University of Georgia.'"

"Once we started raising the flag, it just gave us that one common tradition and to gather behind – that kind of unity that we could feel bonded with our university," Marcus Thornton said.

"After every game this year, we want to raise the flag, not for us for winning but for Georgia," Kenny Paul Geno said. "That kind of sticks with me. We didn't come here to play for ourselves. We came here to play for Georgia and what's on our chests."

Throughout the season, the flag hangs in the Bulldogs' practice gym, as a constant reminder of what's needed daily to further the tradition.

WHY GEORGIA

The University of Georgia and Bulldog Basketball provide a well-rounded opportunity for success that is difficult to match. Three factors – Athens, the University and UGA Athletics – complement each other and merge seamlessly to create the ultimate student-athlete experience. Athens is universally known as one of the nation's premier college towns. Chartered in 1785, the University of Georgia was the birthplace of public higher education in the United States and continues to rank among the top-25 institutions in America. The recent upswing in the success of Georgia Basketball under Mark Fox has the program trending upward both on and off the court.

LOCATING ATHENS

- Athens is 70 miles northeast of Atlanta, a distance far enough away to provide the city with its own unique identity but also close enough that "the ATL" and all it has to offer is just a short drive away.
- Athens is five hours or less from popular beach destinations such as Hilton Head, Tybee Island and St. Simons Island.
- The mountains of Northeast Georgia are less than a two-hour drive from Athens.

Former Bulldog and Atlanta Hawk Dominique Wilkins was immortalized with a statue outside Philips Arena in 2015.

Atlanta's Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport, which is less than 90 minutes from Athens, has been ranked as the world's busiest airport every year since 1998. With flights to more than 150 U.S. destinations, 80 percent of the U.S. population is within a two-hour flight of Hartsfield-Jackson Airport.

Kenny Gaines, Senior
Atlanta, Georgia

"I love playing for my state school. It's a perfect opportunity for my family to come see me play, and also allows for me to proudly represent my family in the state that I grew up in."

Athens is the perfect marriage of campus and community. Broad Street is all that separates the University of Georgia's historic North Campus and a vibrant downtown community filled with restaurants and shopping. Athens has carved its own identity by mixing the best of on-campus academic and athletic opportunities with the individualistic pursuits of a music scene that has turned local artists into worldwide superstars.

THE ATHENIAN OATH

We will never bring disgrace on this our City by an act of dishonesty or cowardice.
We will fight for the ideals and Sacred Things of the City both alone and with many.
We will revere and obey the City's laws, and will do our best to inspire a like reverence and respect in those above us who are prone to annul them or set them at naught.
We will strive incessantly to quicken the public's sense of civic duty.
Thus in all these ways we will transmit this City, not only not less, but greater and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

This oath was taken by the youth of ancient Athens when they reached the age of adolescence.

E'Torrion Wilridge

"I think Athens is a great college town. It's not too small, but it's not too big. Everywhere we go around town people notice us. It's just a great city to live in. Of course, it's a college town, but it seems like a great town to come and start a family."

In 2013, Jason Aldean hosted the first concert ever at UGA's Sanford Stadium, drawing more than 65,000 fans...and Ludacris for a cameo.

The University of Georgia combines 18th century history with the most modern of amenities to create one of the premier college campus communities in the world. The University's centuries-old roots are located in historic North Campus adjacent to downtown. The constantly expanding East campus has developed a thriving identity of its own, with apartment-style dorms, a massive dining hall that is annually ranked among the nation's best and the Ramsey Student Center, which was judged by Sports Illustrated to be the finest such facility in America.

Kenny Paul Geno, Junior
Booneville, Mississippi

"The dining halls provide me unlimited meals each day with a variety of food for each different meal. They allow me to maintain healthy eating habits while also keeping my weight up to where I need to compete at this level. The location is perfect, being right next to our apartments and close to the practice facility."

Brandon Young, Sophomore
Atlanta, Georgia

"The athletic housing at Georgia is great because it gives you the privacy of your own room while still providing the opportunity to hang out with teammates in an open living room."

There are UGA guys all over the PGA Tour, throughout the NFL and with KCP in the NBA. It's cool to be watching and seeing Georgia people on all the time."

Throughout its 110 seasons of competition, Georgia Basketball has provided the Bulldog Nation with plenty of heroes and historic moments, champions and championships. But the present has given fans perhaps the program's most consistently successful stint. Under Mark Fox, Georgia has secured back-to-back 20-win seasons for just the third time ever. The Bulldogs also are in the midst of their winningest two- and three-year runs in SEC play ever. Those efforts made Georgia one of only two SEC programs to secure a top-4 seed for each of the past two SEC Tournaments.

STEGEMAN COLISEUM

The Bulldogs play in Stegeman Coliseum, home court since the 1964 season. Through a rigorous program of updates and renovations, it remains one of the finest venues for college basketball in the nation.

Most recently, Stegeman underwent a major, $13 million facelift that was completed in time for the 2011 season. Every facet of this project – from the expanded lobbies to the dramatic artwork that adorns either side – was intended to heighten the fan experience at Bulldog home games.

In addition to basketball and gymnastics events, Stegeman has played host to a variety of events over the years. For two weeks of 1996, it welcomed the world as the competition venue for two sports at the Summer Olympic Games.

J.J. Frazier, Junior
Glennville, Georgia

"The atmosphere at Stegeman Coliseum during basketball games is amazing. The fans bring so much excitement and it helps us tremendously. It is, without doubt, one of the reasons I chose to come to Georgia."

HISTORIC HOME OF THE BULLDOGS

Houston Kessler, Junior
Newnan, Georgia

"I've been a Dawg fan from birth so I feel blessed to be able to play basketball for this great program. The athletic tradition is exceptional at the University of Georgia. The feeling of running out of the tunnel to "Glory, Glory" is unparalleled."

PRACTICE FACILITY

"Coach Fox has been a good friend to me. He has been willing to do anything the Hawks need, and using the facility here has been great. I can't imagine having camp anywhere else than at the University of Georgia and here in Athens. The facilities work out really well for us. We are able to use both gyms. It's really been a great thing for us over the past three years."

Mike Budenholzer
Head Coach, Atlanta Hawks

Opened in August of 2007, the Coliseum Training Facility provides the Bulldogs with the finest practice and workout facilities in the nation. Also the practice home to the women's basketball and gymnastics programs, the Training Facility features a practice gym, locker room and office space for each sport. The spacious weight-training facility is stocked with state-of-the-art equipment and provides a great training venue on a daily basis for the student-athletes.

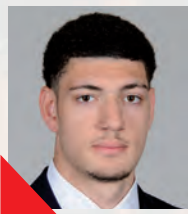

OFF THE COURT

The University of Georgia is committed to providing its student-athletes with all the necessary resources to maximize their potential. Georgia Basketball's athletic training, strength & conditioning and nutrition staffs are recognized as leaders within intercollegiate athletics. In October 2015, UGA became one of the first schools in the nation to install Cryotherapy equipment which simulates traditional "ice baths" and reduces the time needed for its benefits from 20 minutes to three.

Mike Edwards
Westland, Mich.

"Everything that we need to succeed – areas like the training room, weight room, nutrition – is here and really convenient. We have everything close by. I think the weight room has already helped me improve my strength and my game tremendously. The nutritionists are really helpful because they're able to help us learn what to eat and what's good to eat. Since then, I've been feeling healthier and better."

ACADEMIC SUCCESS

Juwan Parker, Junior
Tulsa, Oklahoma

"The business school here at UGA is really preparing me for the real world. There are great teachers as well as great resources that will prepare me for the world of business."

Georgia's student-athletes enjoy the strongest academic support in the nation. The Rankin Smith Academic Center, just a stone's throw from Stegeman Coliseum, includes a wealth of resources and individual tutorial rooms. Built at a cost of $7 million, this 31,000-square-foot center has over 60 computer work stations, a 230-seat study hall and a 55-seat "smart" classroom with high-speed Internet access at every seat.

JARVIS HAYES (2002-03)

Two-time All-SEC forward Jarvis Hayes is the latest of several UGA alums to return to complete their degrees after prosperous NBA careers. Hayes, who played seven seasons in the NBA and continues to play overseas, graduated in the Summer of 2014 with a degree in Child & Family Development.

ALEC KESSLER

The shining light for academic success at Georgia is Alec Kessler, who won equal acclaim on the court and in the classroom. Kessler was an All-America forward for the Bulldogs in 1990. That year, he was also named Academic All-American of the Year, an honor bestowed upon the top student among all collegiate athletes.

Rankin Smith Academic Center Features:

- » 31,000 square feet
- » 230-seat study hall
- » 55-seat "smart" classroom
- » 60 desktop computer stations
- » 20 group and individual tutorial rooms

PROS & USA BASKETBALL

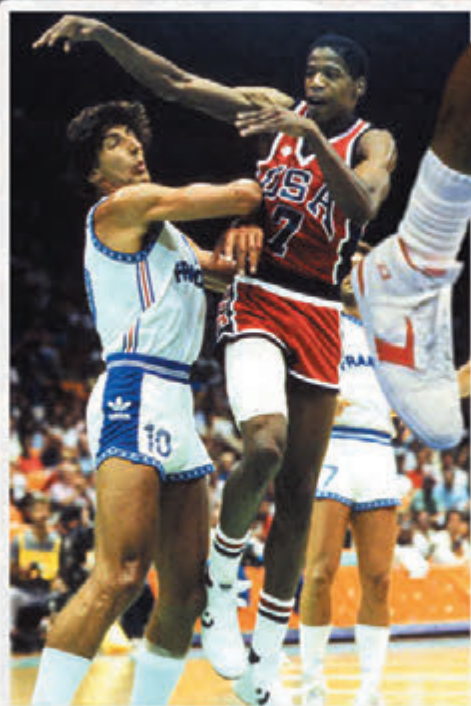

Dominique Wilkins,
Atlanta Hawks, 2006
Naismith Hall of Fame
Inductee

A slew of Bulldog alumni have ultimately gained fame and fortune on the professional and international stages. Thirty-five Georgia basketball players have been selected in the annual NBA Draft, seven in the first round.

Georgia's brightest star in the NBA galaxy is Dominique Wilkins. The two-time UGA All-American played 14 seasons in the NBA, was a nine-time All-Star and is the 12th-leading scorer in league history with 26,668 points.

A handful of Bulldogs have also made their mark with USA Basketball. Most notably, Vern Fleming and Willie Anderson represented their country as members of the U.S. Olympic teams. In recent seasons, Howard "Trey" Thompkins won a gold medal at the 2009 World U19 Championship and Damien Wilkins earned a bronze medal during the 2015 Pan Am Games.

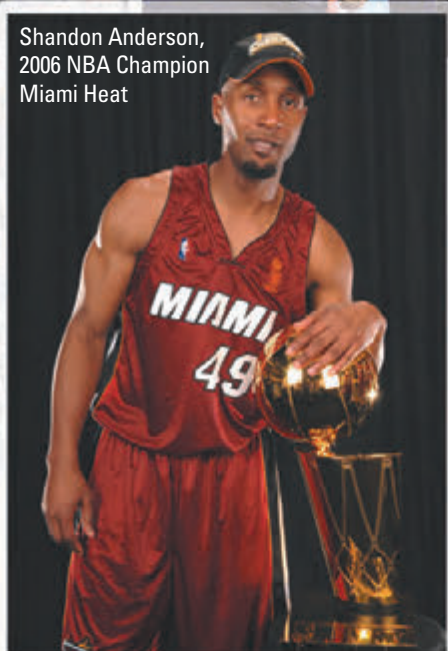

Vern Fleming,
1984 U.S. Olympic Team

Kentavious Caldwell-Pope became the second-highest draftee in UGA history when he was taken eighth overall by the Detroit Pistons in the 2013 NBA Draft. Last season, he was one of only 11 NBA players to start every regular-season game.

Shandon Anderson,
2006 NBA Champion
Miami Heat

Damien Wilkins,
2015 Pan Am Games.

Trey Thompkins,
2009 World U19
Championship

Travis Leslie,

Osahen Iduwe, Sophomore

"A major reason why I came to the University of Georgia is because of Coach Fox's great record with past players and his ability to develop them and get them to the NBA."

The Southeastern Conference has long been a leader in every aspect of intercollegiate athletics. In basketball, consistent winning is a common theme throughout the league. All 14 SEC schools have earned an NCAA Tournament bid over the past 11 years. The SEC has supplied at least one "Sweet 16" team in 25 of the past 26 years and 13 league members have advanced to the "Sweet 16" since 1996.

In 2014, the SEC launched the SEC Network. The network has been widely successful and provides the league with an unprecedented platform to promote its student-athletes and basketball programs. Virtually every SEC regular-season basketball game airs on the network and original programming such as SEC Now and SEC Nation have become fan favorites as well. The SEC Network is available in nearly 90 million homes. In addition, all programming is available online in HD quality via SEC Network +.

Georgia receives the added media bonus of receiving daily media coverage from Atlanta, a top-10 national media market just an hour away from Athens.

William "Turtle" Jackson II
Athens, Ga.

"The new SEC Network is awesome. Playing on the SEC Network and ESPN is going to be a great experience and exposure to have. I'm from Athens but really don't have much family here. Most of my family stays in Buffalo, New York and South Carolina. It's cool that they'll be able to watch all of our games."

CREDENTIALS

Credentials for University of Georgia home basketball games are issued for working media only and should be requested as early as possible. All requests should be made on official letterhead and sent to Mike Mobley at the above addresses.

Passes will be mailed when time allows. Other single-game credentials will be left at the Media Will Call window, which is located at the Box Office in the West end of Stegeman Coliseum off Sanford Drive. Credentials are issued on a priority basis.

A limited number of parking passes will also be issued. Media parking for the 2015-16 season will be in the Coverdell lot, located off Smith Street below the Coliseum Training Facility.

INTERVIEWS

Interviews with coaches and players will be conducted before practice on pre-determined dates. Most of these opportunities will take place adjacent to the men's basketball offices on the second floor of the Coliseum Training Facility attached to Stegeman Coliseum. Unless the calendar necessitates a change, these availabilities will take place the day before each game. As much advance notice as possible will be given for these dates and times.

Special exceptions to this arrangement can be made with at least one day's notice. Please contact Mike Mobley in the Sports Communications office for assistance.

PRACTICES

Georgia practice sessions are generally CLOSED to the media. Upon request, videographers and photographers may be allowed to shoot a pre-determined portion at the beginning of some practices. During this time, all photographers are asked to remain in the baseline areas normally reserved for shooting in a game.

GAME DAY MEDIA SERVICES

Stegeman Coliseum's press facilities are outlined in the diagram to the right.

The press room is located through Portal 3. A pre-game meal is served approximately 90 minutes prior to tip-off in the "Media Hospitality Room." This room is located across the hallway approximately 20 yards to the right after exiting the press room. The press room is equipped with wireless high-speed internet availability, hard-wired ethernet internet access and telephone lines available on a first-come first-served basis. A room with similar internet and phone lines is available for photographers adjacent to the press room.

Press seating is located above Portal 2 in section K of the lower bowl. Radio broadcast positions are at the scorer's table, while TV announce locations are at center court opposite the scorer's table.

Complete first-half and final box scores, first- and second-half play-by-plays, first- and second-half shot charts and post-game notes and quotes will be provided to all working media.

INTERNET ACCESS

Media wishing to obtain high-speed Internet access may log on to the University's LAN, either through wireless or hard-wired method. Both are available in the working Press Rooms. Please see a member of the UGA Sports Communications office to obtain information on how to access the University network.

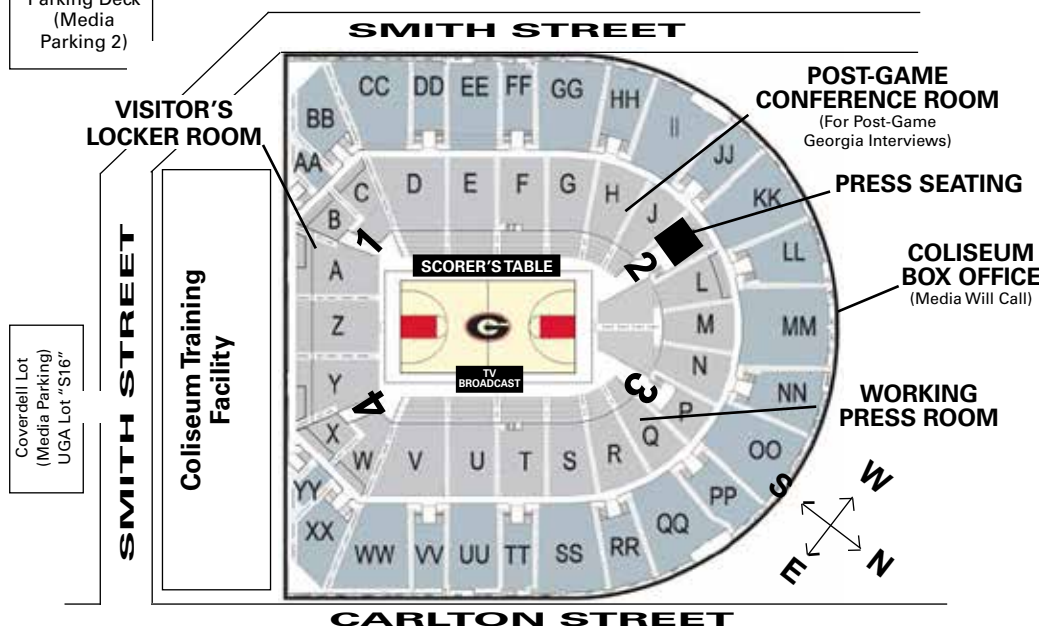

IN-GAME STATISTICS

Media covering Georgia home games can view a running statistical account on a web browser by logging onto: uga.statbroadcast.com

PHOTOGRAPHERS

Only those accredited photographers working on assignment will be issued sideline credentials. Flashes and strobe units are prohibited unless permission has been granted. Photographers should shoot from the designated endzone locations. No photographers are permitted in the bench area of either team.

THE GEORGIA BULLDOG RADIO NETWORK

The best and broadest exposure possible for UGA basketball comes from the Georgia Bulldog Radio Network by IMG Sports. Not only with its vast number of affiliates, but also from its powerful flagship station, the network gives coverage to Bulldog hoops that is unmatched by any program nationwide.

IMG Sports provides radio network production for more than 30 major college athletic programs in the SEC and other prominent conferences across the United States. The network flagship is News/Talk 750 WSB — Atlanta's 50,000-watt, clear-channel station — which provides coverage with a signal that reaches more than 35 states and Canada. Scott Howard and Chuck Dowdle will again handle the play-by-play and color analyst duties, respectively.

Coach Mark Fox can also be heard each Monday night during the season on the Bulldog Hotline, heard over most of the network stations.

SCOTT HOWARD

The voice of Scott Howard has become synonymous with Georgia sports and in particular, with Bulldog football and basketball. Howard returns for his 21st season behind the microphone at Georgia basketball games. First a color analyst with legendary voice Larry Munson, Howard will be working his 18th season as the Bulldogs' primary play-by-play announcer.

Howard was the sports director at Athens radio stations WNGC-WGAU for 13 years before joining IMG Sports in 2009.

A 1984 Georgia graduate, Howard began his association with Bulldog football as a color analyst alongside Munson in 1994. In 2007, he broadcasted play-by-play action in all of Georgia's road football games, and the next season he became the program's primary radio voice by the third game. Howard was also play-by-play announcer for Georgia baseball from 1990-96.

CHUCK DOWDLE

Native Atlantan Chuck Dowdle, one of the most prominent figures in the Atlanta sports scene, will return to the Georgia Bulldog Radio Network for the his third season as color analyst.

Dowdle retired from WSB-TV in 2009 after 24 years as weeknight sports anchor with the top-rated station. Dowdle also worked for WPLG in Miami from 1973-85. During that time, he hosted the Don ShulaTV Show and also announced football for the Miami Dolphins and the Miami Hurricanes, as well as the NASL's Ft. Lauderdale Strikers.

Scott Howard (right) and Chuck Dowdle will work their third season together in 2015-16.

During his time at WSB, Dowdle was involved with almost every aspect of Atlanta sports, from announcing Falcons' preseason games to hosting UGA football and basketball coaches' shows. He was also the host of "High-Q," a game show pitting some of the Atlanta region's brightest high-school students against one another in academic competition.

Dowdle attended UGA in his freshman year, where he played for the basketball team. He then transferred to Georgia State, where he was a pitcher for the baseball team in his junior and senior years, before graduating in 1972.

TONY SCHIAVONE

Tony Schiavone, the sports director at WSB Radio in Atlanta, is also producer/engineer for the Georgia Bulldogs Basketball Network. Schiavone hosts of pre- and post-game shows on the Georgia football games and the Mark Richt Report, heard daily on the Georgia Bulldogs Sports Network from IMG. He also is the play-by-play announcer for the Gwinnett Braves, Atlanta Braves' AAA minor league baseball affiliate.

Before joining WSB, Schiavone began his broadcasting career in minor league baseball in Charlotte, N.C. and followed with a successful run as a TV host in professional wrestling for Turner Sports and other entities for nearly 20 years.

GEORGIA, SEC SPORTS ON SIRIUS XM RADIO

For the eighth straight season, Georgia basketball games can be heard across the nation on Sirius XM Satellite Radio.

The Southeastern Conference and Sirius XM Radio, the leader in college sports on the radio, are partners in a broadcast and marketing agreement, under which Sirius XM is the official satellite radio provider of the SEC. The vast majority of basketball games and selected other sports, are available to subscribers nationwide.

Christened in 1964 as the Georgia Coliseum, the venue was officially renamed and dedicated to the memory of Herman James Stegeman on Saturday, March 2, 1996. Stegeman made many contributions to Georgia's athletic program during his 20-year tenure (1919-39). He was a pioneer in the development of college basketball in the south, originating the region's first big basketball tournament when he organized the Southern Conference Tournament in Atlanta from 1921-32. Stegeman Hall on the UGA campus was named for Coach Stegeman in 1946 and for years it was home of the University's athletic and physical education departments. The athletic department moved its offices to the new coliseum in 1964, and Stegeman Hall was demolished in 1995 following completion of the Ramsey Student Center for Physical Activities.

The Coliseum is actually two separate structures, the roof and the building beneath it. The only connection is an aluminum bellows which seals the joints and permits the rise and fall of the roof with temperature change.

Stegeman has undergone thorough renovations in the last few years, most recently receiving a 21st Century face lift prior to the 2010-11 campaign. The $12 million project was highlighted by the installation of glass facades from the venue's distinctive overhang roof, creating an additional 10,000 square feet of concourse space.

In addition, Stegeman Coliseum was utilized for rhythmic gymnastics and preliminary volleyball competition during the Centennial Olympic Games in 1996.

DEEPER BULLDOGS PURSUE CONTINUED UPWARD TREND

The same day Georgia's 2014-15 campaign became complete, inquiries concerning the Bulldogs' aspirations for the 2015-16 season began. The questions started during the Bulldogs' press conference following their NCAA Tournament setback to Michigan State last March. And they've continued throughout the summer and the fall.

"What do you think about the chances for a third-consecutive 20-win season?"

"Does the NCAA Tournament become a baseline measuring stick for your program at this point?"

"Does next year's team have the potential to go further than you did in 2015-16?"

Head coach Mark Fox understands them. He appreciates them. He's just not ready to answer them.

"Right now, the mentality is we're trying to become a good team," Fox said when practices began in October. "We're at square one. We have some good pieces, but it's a new team and we're in new roles. We think we can have a good basketball team, but we're trying to become that. So the focus right now is just on showing up every day, bringing your hard hat, going to work and trying to get better."

That said, Fox added: "No one rises to low expectations so I want them to expect themselves to be successful."

Successful is exactly what Georgia Basketball has been of late.

The Bulldogs have compiled back-to-back 20-win seasons for just the third time in 110 seasons of competition. In addition, Georgia's 23 SEC victories over the past two seasons and 32 league wins during the past three seasons represent the winningest stretches in the program's history. The Bulldogs are one of only two teams to earn a top-4 seed for each of the past two SECTournaments.

Off the floor, all 16 seniors to play for Fox in Athens have received degrees from the University of Georgia, and the program is one of two in the SEC to receive NCAA public recognition for having an Academic Progress Rate (APR) in the top-10 percent nationally two of the last three years.

"I think our program is healthy and still growing," Fox said. "When you evaluate any program, there are certain boxes you want to be able to check. Are our guys graduating? Yes. You look at the win-loss record and how we've performed in the SEC. We've been solid there. Then there's obviously player development – Are guys getting better? We've had three NBA draft picks. All those things are important. We're checking those boxes."

Now that there's some stability established in Athens, the Georgia Basketball staff and players can fix their sights on consistency.

"The roller-coaster history, we have to one day get away from that," Fox said. "If we can find success again this year, put together the third-straight 20-win season, that only helps. But it's gonna take time to establish the consistency and this year is just another opportunity to do that."

While not ready to discuss specifics about the team's goals and aspirations, Fox will summarize the general attributes of the latest edition of the Bulldogs.

"We feel like we're deeper and probably overall a more athletic team than we were last year," Fox said. "We're bigger and more physical up front than last year even though we're not as experienced."

THE BACKCOURT

Georgia returns "three" starters at guard from last season.

Seniors Kenny Gaines and Charles Mann have been staples in the Bulldogs' rotation since arriving in Athens. Mann became Georgia's 45th 1000-point career scorer at last year's regular-season finale at Auburn, and Gaines begins this season 110 points shy of joining his classmate at that milestone.

While the duo's continued statistical contributions are vital, they also will be looked upon to replace the stellar leadership provided by departed seniors Nemi Djuricic and Marcus Thornton last winter.

Georgia's backcourt stalwarts include senior Kenny Gaines and J.J. Frazier, who accounted for 106 of the Bulldogs' 184 3-pointers a year ago.

WHAT'S RETURNING

STATISTIC	BACK FROM '14-15	PCT.
Points	1346 of 2250	59.8
Rebounds	657 of 1156	56.8
Assists	304 of 411	74.0
Blocks	93 of 151	61.6
Steals	124 of 183	67.8
Starts	100 of 165	60.0
Minutes	4288 of 6750	63.5

*Rebounds are "individual" – "team" rebounds subtracted from total.

"Charles and Kenny will play the same positions and they played major minutes last year, but they'll have major leadership responsibilities because Marcus and Nemi are not here," Fox said. "Their role is going to be a little bit different and the chemistry is going to be different. They are the older guys now and they have to show these young guys the way."

The Bulldogs other returning "starter" is actually a mix of two juniors. Juwan Parker was on the floor for the tip of Georgia's first 14 games of last season before a chronic Achilles injury forced him out of action. J.J. Frazier then joined the starting five for the next 10 contests before a fractured orbital bone, concussion and a hairline fracture in his left (shooting) hand slowed his ability to contribute.

Georgia also expects a boost from freshman William "Turtle" Jackson II, whose name is familiar in the Athens area. Jackson was a four-time All-State performer at Athens Christian School.

Junior Brandon Young, who received the team's Most Inspirational Award last season, also provides perimeter depth.

THE FRONT COURT

While Fox expects Gaines and Mann to replace the leadership of Djurisc and Thornton, sophomore Yante Maten will be looked up heavily to replenish the Bulldogs' frontcourt statistically. All indications are that Maten is eager to assume that role.

"I think Yante had a terrific offseason," Fox said. "He recognizes this year there are more minutes, there are more rebounds, there are more shots if he'll be aggressive. And I think he's had an aggressive approach all offseason, with the idea he could play a bigger role. We would like to see him emerge and be more and more consistent and productive. His work ethic over the summer has shown he wants the same thing."

Juniors Kenny Paul Geno and Houston Kessler and sophomore Osahen Iduwe return for the Bulldogs as well.

Geno and Kessler both logged starts last season, Geno for six late-season outings after Frazier's setbacks. Kessler got the nod at No. 1 Kentucky while Thornton was out of action due to a concussion.

Iduwe has one of the most interesting and intriguing backgrounds of any Division I player in the nation. A native of Benin City, Nigeria, Iduwe did not begin playing basketball until he was 15, about the same time Fox was named Georgia's head coach six years ago.

Add to that mix a quartet of freshmen – Mike Edwards, Derek Ogbeide, E'Torrior Wilridge and walk-on Connor O'Neill – and the Bulldogs have as much post depth as they've had in quite some time. Edwards, Ogbeide and Wilridge earned All-State honors in Michigan, Georgia and Texas, respectively, as seniors.

Fox is eager for the different lineup options Georgia's additional depth could provide. A year ago, the Bulldogs played much of their schedule sifting through a series of injuries and illnesses that forced seven players to acquire a combined 35 DNPs, 21 of those to regular starters.

"Last year, because of the injuries, we got so restricted on how we could play," Fox said. "We only had one option left. We feel like we should be able to play a little bit quicker. We have some flexibility within the roster to do some of that."

"We'll start out fairly traditional until guys get comfortable," Fox said. "If we can stay healthy and get confident in roles, maybe we can look at some four-guard lineups and small ball. We're bigger and more physical up front than last year even though we're not as experienced."

All offseason indicators point to Yante Maten enjoying a much more productive campaign for Georgia during his sophomore year.

CHASING HISTORY

The Bulldogs enter the 2015-16 season in pursuit of their third-consecutive 20-win season. Only once before in 110 seasons of play has Georgia put together a trio of consecutive 20-win seasons – in 1995-96, 1996-97 and 1997-98.

The first two of those squads were coached by Tubby Smith, while Ron Jirsa completed the trifecta. Mark Fox could become the first coach in Georgia Basketball history to record three straight 20-win efforts.

Fox already has led the Bulldogs to three 20-win finishes in his first six seasons in Athens, doing so in 2010-11, 2013-14 and 2014-15. With a fourth, he would tie Hugh Durham for the most 20-win campaigns by a Georgia coach. Durham's teams reached 20 wins four times during his 17 seasons in Athens from 1979-80 through 1994-95.

GRADUATES ON THE WAY

All 16 seniors during Mark Fox's time at Georgia have received their degrees from UGA. Four more Bulldogs – two seniors and two juniors – are set to increase that number in the next several months.

Junior Juwan Parker is slated to graduate with his degree in Management from UGA's Terry College of Business in December, two and a half years after his arrival in Athens. Parker will then begin pursuing a master's degree in Sport Management in January.

Seniors Kenny Gaines and Charles Mann are on track to earn degrees in Housing at the end of the Spring Semester. Redshirt junior Houston Kessler also will graduate in May with his bachelor's in Economics.

FRESHMAN CLASS IMPRESSES

Mark Fox has been pleased with the efforts of Georgia's five freshmen since their arrival on campus, calling it potentially the Bulldogs' best class since he arrived in Athens in 2009.

"They are probably as good of a group as we've had," Fox said. "But as I tell them, a real recruiting class is judged at the end of their career, not at the beginning. We're excited with the potential that they bring to the table and hopefully they'll continue to grow and improve and become very effective players."

"They're all off to really good starts," Fox added. "They're all different and unique and have strengths that will help our team. They also have deficiencies that we'll need to address and a lot to learn. But they all come in with the anticipation that they can compete and have an opportunity to help our team."

RULE CHANGES ON TAP

There are more than 25 rule changes that will be implemented for the 2015-16 season. The most discussed is the reduction of the shot clock to 30 seconds.

Mark Fox supported that measure but doesn't believe it will have a significant impact on his team.

"We felt like this team was going to be able to play faster anyway," Fox said. "So the change in the shot clock is something we supported, but I don't think it will have a huge impact on how we try to play."

"I think preliminarily everyone thought if we shortened the shot clock that scoring would go up," Fox added. "I think the greatest impact will be how we officiate the game. Is the game going to be called as closely as it was two years ago? Or is it going to be called as physically as it was last year? That will have the greatest impact on the scoring."

AN EYE ON THE RECORD BOOK

The career leaders ledgers of this publication could undergo significant editing after the season.

Most notably, Charles Mann is on pace to become UGA's most prolific free throw shooter ever. Mann already ranks No. 3 in both takes and makes from the line.

Mann also could join the Bulldogs' top-10 leaders in assists. After distributing 306 baskets-to-be in his first three seasons at UGA, Mann needs 47 more assists to match the current No. 10 tally established by Donald Hartry.

Kenny Gaines is No. 13 and No. 15 in 3-pointer made and attempted, respectively. Gaines could easily ascend into the top-10 of both lists.

Mann and Gaines also are almost certain to alter Georgia's scoring leaders.

Mann became the 45th Bulldog to score 1,000 career points last season and begins the year at No. 36 all-time at UGA with 1,042 points. Mann needs 409 points to reach the No. 10 D.A. Layne.

Gaines opens his senior season 110 points shy of becoming Georgia's 46th 1,000-point scorer.

HEAD COACH MARK FOX

106-89 IN 6 SEASONS AT GEORGIA

• 229-132 IN 11 SEASONS OVERALL

Like many coaches at introductory press conferences, Mark Fox had a message for recruits when he was hired as the Georgia Bulldogs' 21st head basketball coach in 2009. When asked about the keys to attracting players who could make the Bulldogs a consistent winner, Fox had a succinct and thorough description of what he thought was most vital.

"They have to see that their dreams can come true – that they can win and play in the postseason, that they can play at the next level, that they can earn a degree," Fox stated. "We're gonna have to earn that respect, and it'll take time."

Six seasons into Fox's tenure, it would be hard to argue that he has proven those opportunities have been firmly established in Athens.

Winning and playing in the postseason...check.

Georgia has produced three 20-win campaigns under Fox, including back-to-back efforts over the past two seasons. That marks just the third time in 110 seasons that the Bulldogs have won 20 or more games in consecutive years. Fox's three 20-win teams ranks second only to Hugh Durham's tally of four such squads in his 17 seasons at Georgia.

The Bulldogs have reached postseason competition three times, including a pair of NCAA Tournament bids in 2011 and 2015.

Playing at the next level...check.

Georgia has produced three NBA Draft picks under Fox, including Kentavious Caldwell-Pope, the No. 8 overall pick in 2013 by the Detroit Pistons. Travis Leslie and Trey Thompkins both were second-round selections in 2011. In addition, 10 more Bulldogs have gone on to play professionally overseas. Most recently, 2015 seniors Marcus Thornton and Nemanja Djuricic signed contracts to play in Italy and Poland, respectively.

Earning a degree...check.

Under Fox, all 16 Bulldog seniors have graduated from the University of Georgia. In addition, five more former letterwinners – including NBA players Jarvis Hayes and Damien Wilkins – have returned to campus to secure their diplomas as well. Those efforts have led to Georgia being one of only two SEC men's basketball programs to earn public recognition from the NCAA for being among the nation's top-10 percent in Academic Progress Rate (APR) twice in the past three years.

Now that the foundation Fox addressed back on April 3, 2009, has been established, he and his staff are setting their sights on even greater heights.

"We've done a lot of things that we thought we could do," Fox said. "And we've had a lot of help to get here. Our fan base has been terrific. These kids have committed to a certain way of functioning. We felt like we could graduate players. We felt like we could win. We felt like we could do those things consistently. We think we've made progress, but we think there's more that we can do. It's going to take everyone's effort to get there."

Summarizing the first six seasons in Athens

Fox hit the ground running upon arrival in Athens and produced immediate signs that the Bulldogs were headed in the right direction. In his first season, amid low expectations, the Bulldogs in 2010 toppled three top-25 opponents and nearly knocked off several more. They led the SEC in key benchmarks such as free throw percentage, field goal percentage and assists.

The following winter, Fox guided the Georgia program to its first 20-win season in nine years. The Bulldogs also earned their way into the NCAA Tournament, the program's first at-large bid in nine seasons. The 2011 Bulldogs were so successful that they caused one of the roller-coaster moments of Georgia Basketball that Fox is eager to eliminate. Both Leslie and Thompkins departed early for the NBA Draft, a blow that Fox readily admits the program was not ready to endure.

The next two winters both produced 15-17 records; however, the latter also provided a key indicator that the Bulldogs' were progressing when Georgia compiled a 9-9 record in SEC play.

The 2013-14 Bulldogs made history when they tied for second place in the final league standings, a milestone accomplished by just three other Georgia teams in 82 years of SEC play.

Fox's most recent team proved that the Bulldogs upward trend was on track as Georgia compiled its second consecutive 20-win season for just the third time in over a century-plus of competition. The Bulldogs earned a second-straight top-4 seed to the SECTournament. Georgia also secured an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament before losing to Michigan State, 70-63, in the opening-round matchup. That contest looked like a regular 7-seed versus 10-seed game until the Spartans used three more single-digit victories to advance to the Final Four.

A long history of winning basketball

Fox producing such success on the hardwood in Athens should come as no surprise. Over the past two decades, teams Fox has coached have earned 13 postseason bids – seven NCAA Tournament, three NIT and two CBI – produced four 25-win seasons and 10 20-win results.

Fox began his coaching career as a graduate assistant coach and then as a full-time assistant under Lynn Nance at Washington (1991-93). Perhaps the most significant happenstance during his time in Seattle took place off the court. He became fast friends with fellow assistant Trent Johnson, who later introduced Fox to a co-worker in the Huskies' promotions department named Cindy Holt. The two were married four years later.

After his two-year stint at Washington, Fox completed another important step in his coaching career. He spent the 1993-94 season finishing his master's degree at Kansas. During his spare time he was a close and constant observer of then-KU coach Roy Williams and the Jayhawks.

Fox then spent six seasons (1994-2000) as an assistant coach under Tom Asbury at Kansas State. While at KSU, the Wildcats earned an NCAA Tournament invitation in 1996 and two appearances in the National Invitation Tournament (1998 and 1999).

Fox left Manhattan to join Johnson, his friend from UW days, for what yielded a successful nine-season stint at Nevada. Fox's first four came as the Wolf Pack's associate head coach, including a run to the 2004 NCAA "Sweet 16" for the first time in school history.

OVERALL

- ◊ Eight 20-win seasons in 11 years as a head coach.
- ◊ Average of 22.2 wins.
- ◊ Eight post-season appearances.
- ◊ Three-time WAC Don Haskins Coach of the Year (2005, '06 & '07).
- ◊ Five conference Players of the Year – four WAC and one SEC.
- ◊ Twelve players who have gone on to play in the NBA, including first-round draft picks Kirk Snyder in 2004, JaVale McGee in 2008, Luke Babbitt in 2010 and Kentavious Caldwell-Pope in 2013.

When Johnson left Nevada for Stanford, Fox assumed the lead chair, and the program kept its torrid pace. Fox enjoyed one of the most successful starts to a coaching career in Division I men's basketball history, headlined by establishing what was then a record for best winning percentage in a coach's first three seasons (81-18=.818). Nevada won at least 21 games and reached postseason play in each of Fox's five seasons as head coach, won or shared four straight Western Athletic Conference titles and played in three consecutive NCAA Tournaments.

Finding talent and maximizing it

Throughout his coaching career, Fox developed a reputation as a strong recruiter who then helped those players reach their fullest potential.

Fox signed and coached numerous players who earned all-conference honors in the Big 12, Pac-10, WAC and SEC. Foremost among his Nevada signees was three-time WAC Player of the Year and All-American Nick Fazekas. Fox also played key roles in bringing NBA first-round draft pick Kirk Snyder to the program, as well as prep All-American Luke Babbitt. In Athens, Fox added Kentavious Caldwell-Pope, UGA's first McDonald's All-American in almost 20 years, who was 2013 SEC Player of the Year and the No. 8 overall pick of the NBA Draft that spring.

In February of 2012, the website RealGM.com ranked Fox first nationally among all college coaches in player development, adding that he "has truly been fantastic at getting the most out of his players." A prime example is former Nevada guard Ramon Sessions, lightly recruited out of high school but who has quietly put together a solid career in the NBA.

All-in for the Bulldog Nation

Fox ingrained himself within the Bulldog Nation. Most notably, he has shown he's "all-in" in several very public settings.

In 2013, Fox donned body paint and other accessories (pictured right) to join the "Spike Squad" for the football showdown between No. 9 Georgia and No. 6 LSU. Fox obliged students' call for his return this fall when the No. 8 Bulldogs hosted No. 13 Alabama.

This fall, Fox received a call from Mark Richt one afternoon when gray skies covered Athens. Fox believed Richt was going to inquire about utilizing the Bulldogs' practice gym for a walkthrough. Instead, Richt was en route to pick up Fox as a celebrity guest at Georgia Football's annual trek to UGA's Ramsey Student Center for a "pool day." Unbeknown to him, Fox was being courted to jump from the 10-meter high dive as Richt and players traditionally do. Fox was more leery of the leap than the body paint but once again proved his commitment to the "G."

A lifelong calling

Coaching has been Fox's aspiration for as long as he can recall. All along his career path in this chosen sport, he has drawn inspiration from countless places and people. Ironically, some of his most valuable nuggets of wisdom have come from coaches outside of basketball. He includes noted collegiate volleyball coach Jim McLaughlin (USC, Washington, Kansas State and Notre Dame) as well as football coaches Don James (Washington) and Bill Snyder (Kansas State) among his professional role models.

Fox played college basketball at Garden City (Kan.) Community College (1987-89) under former Nevada head coach Jim Carey and then lettered two seasons at Eastern New Mexico (1989-91) in Portales, N.M. He was a first-team Academic All-Lone Star Conference selection in 1991.

He graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor of science degree in Physical Education from Eastern New Mexico in 1991 and obtained a master's of science degree in Athletic Administration and Sports Psychology from Kansas in 1996.

Fox and his wife, Cindy, have two children: a son, Parker (15), and a daughter, Olivia (13).

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH PHILIP PEARSON

19TH SEASON AS A COLLEGIATE COACH

• 7TH SEASON AT GEORGIA

• ALABAMA '93

Philip Pearson, who sports more than two decades of Southeastern Conference basketball experience as a player and coach, was promoted to Georgia's Associate Head Coach following the 2014-15 season. Pearson is now in his seventh campaign with the Bulldogs after joining the staff as an assistant coach in April of 2009.

Pearson is entering his 23rd season of SEC basketball – five as a player at Alabama, 11 as a coach with the Crimson Tide and seven at Georgia. Throughout that span, winning has been constant and consistent. Pearson's teams have advanced to postseason competition 19 times – 15 NCAA Tournaments and four NIT bids – and won three SEC titles.

Pearson also has more than two decades of professional experience working with Division I programs at Arkansas-Little Rock, Murray State, Alabama and Georgia. Over the past 19 seasons, teams Pearson coached have made nine NCAA Tournaments and five NIT appearances.

Pearson got his start in the coaching business in 1994 as a graduate assistant at Arkansas-Little Rock under Wimp Sanderson, his coach at Alabama during his first three seasons playing for the Crimson Tide. Among Pearson's first pupils at UALR was current New York Knicks head coach Derek Fisher.

The next year, Pearson joined the staff at Murray State, first as an administrative assistant in 1995-96, then as director of basketball operations for the 1996-97 season and as a full-time assistant coach for 1997-98. Murray State won three Ohio Valley Conference titles and two OVC Tournaments with Pearson on the staff.

After the Racers played in their second straight NCAA Tournament in 1998, Pearson returned to his alma mater, where he remained until 2009. During that time, Alabama won more than 200 games, captured the 2002 SEC Championship, played in five NCAA Tournaments, reached the NCAA "Elite Eight" in 2004 and earned the program's first-ever No. 1 ranking in 2002.

Pearson earned high praise for his performance as the Crimson Tide's interim head coach during the final 13 games of the 2008-09 campaign. Alabama won six of those contests, including a first-round matchup with Vanderbilt in the SEC Tournament.

Pearson was a five-year playing member of the Alabama program, the first three under Sanderson and the latter two under David Hobbs. During his playing days, the Crimson Tide advanced to the 1990, 1991, 1992 and 1994 NCAA Tournaments and won the 1990 and 1991 SEC Tournaments. Pearson was named the team's recipient of the Paul Bryant Student-Athlete of the Year Award and earned a spot on the President's list academic honor roll.

All told, Pearson spent 16 years representing the Alabama program as a player or coach. He played with or coached 15 members of Crimson Tide rosters who went on to play in the NBA. During Pearson's playing career he was teammates with future NBA players Robert Horry (seven-time NBA champion), Antonio McDyess, Latrell Sprewell, Keith Askins, Jason Caffey, David Benoit, James Robinson, Eric Washington, Marcus Webb and Roy Rogers. While a coach in Tuscaloosa, Gerald Wallace, Rod Grizzard, Mo Williams, Jermareo Davidson and Richard Hendrix all reached the NBA.

A native of Montgomery, Ala., Pearson lettered in basketball and baseball at Jeff Davis High School, where he earned all-city honors in basketball. He received his bachelor's degree in Human Performance from Alabama in 1993 and his master's in Health, Physical Education & Recreation from Murray State in 1997.

Pearson and his wife, Ashley, have three children: Mary Collins (15), William (13) and Catherine (11).

Jonas Hayes, 2004 Georgia graduate, is in his third season as an assistant coach with the Bulldogs, his fourth campaign on Mark Fox's staff and his eighth year as a member of the UGA Basketball program.

Hayes was a three-year letterwinner for Georgia from 2002-04 and returned to campus as the Bulldogs' operations coordinator in May 2012. Following one season in that role, he was promoted to assistant coach in June 2013.

"Jonas did a terrific job for us and he earned the opportunity to move up," Fox said. "His love of Georgia, connections in this region and magnetic personality are great assets in recruiting for our program."

As operations coordinator, Hayes directed a number of tasks, including the players' day-to-day schedules and their academic performance, as well as assisting with the program's on-campus recruiting efforts, summer camps and community outreach.

Prior to joining the Bulldogs' staff, Hayes spent five seasons as an assistant coach at Belmont Abbey in Belmont, N.C. From 2004-07, he had also served brief stints as an assistant coach at South Carolina State, Morehouse and Douglass High School, his alma mater, in Atlanta.

Hayes earned three letters as a prominent player on three successful Georgia teams between 2001-04. Two of the three teams on which Hayes played reached postseason competition, with appearances in the 2002 NCAA Tournament and 2004 NIT.

Hayes started 41 of 88 games played for the Bulldogs, scoring 759 points (8.6 ppg) and pulling down 435 rebounds (4.9 rpg). His career scoring high of 25 points came at a most opportune time, when the Bulldogs upended No. 3-ranked Georgia Tech 83-80 in double overtime on Jan. 3, 2004 during his senior season. That performance led to SEC Player of the Week honors.

Among Hayes' other career highlights included his first collegiate 3-pointer, a 30-foot bank shot at the buzzer that won a game for the Bulldogs at Colorado on Dec. 3, 2002.

Hayes and his twin brother Jarvis starred at Douglass High in Atlanta. As seniors, the Hayes twins led the Astros to the semifinals of the 1999 Class 5A State Tournament. Jarvis averaged 28 points and 11 rebounds and Jonas averaged 25 points and 14 rebounds that season.

The Hayes brothers played at Western Carolina as college freshmen before transferring to Georgia in 2000 and sitting out the 2000-01 season per NCAA requirements. Jonas averaged 8.0 points and 4.9 rebounds per game while connecting on 63.0 percent of his shots from the floor in his one season with the Catamounts.

Jonas was a spot starter during his first two seasons in Athens, averaging 8.4 points and 5.1 rebounds as a sophomore and 6.7 points and 4.4 boards as a junior. He then started 29 of 30 games played as a senior – the first time he ever played without Jarvis. Jonas then opened his senior season by matching his collegiate career high with 20 points in two of the first three games of the year before besting that tally against the Yellow Jackets in early January.

Jarvis earned first-team All-SEC honors in each of his two years at Georgia before he entered the NBA Draft in 2003 and was selected by the Washington Wizards with the 10th overall pick in the first round. Jarvis played seven seasons in the NBA with Washington, Detroit and New Jersey, including Playoff appearances with the Wizards in 2007 and the Pistons in 2008. Jarvis played in Italy and Romania through last season before retiring from the game. He is slated to serve as a color analyst for SEC Network + productions of Georgia Basketball games during the 2015-16 season and co-hosted the Bulldogs' live preseason practice on georgiadogs.com.

ASSISTANT COACH YASIR ROSEMOND

11TH SEASON AS A COLLEGIATE COACH

• 2ND SEASON AT GEORGIA

• OREGON '03

Atlanta native Yasir Rosemond, who has a dozen years of collegiate coaching experience, joined the Georgia Basketball staff as an assistant coach in May of 2014 and is beginning his second season with the Bulldogs.

"I am excited to add Yasir to our staff," Fox said. "He came very highly recommended by his former employers, high school coaches and the summer programs he worked with."

"Being from Georgia myself, this is a place that's always been on my mind as somewhere I'd like to be," Rosemond said.

Rosemond has built a reputation for success in recruiting and player development at each stop of his career thus far.

Most recently, he came to Georgia after two seasons at Samford, where he recruited and coached players that won the Southern Conference Freshman of the Year award for the 2013 and 2014 seasons.

Rosemond arrived at Samford in April of 2012 after spending the 2010-11 and 2011-12 seasons as an assistant coach at Seattle University under another native Atlantan and Douglass High alum, Cameron Dollar. With Rosemond on their staff, the Redhawks earned victories over Oregon State, Virginia, Pepperdine and Utah State during those two seasons.

Previously, Rosemond served five seasons at Oregon, his alma mater, under Ernie Kent. The first two of those years he was Director of Basketball Operations, the latter three as Assistant Coach. While on the Ducks' coaching staff, Rosemond helped assemble a top-25 recruiting class in 2008 and also coached Aaron Brooks, who earned All-America honors in 2007. Brooks is beginning his eighth season in the NBA, with stints on the rosters of Houston, Phoenix, Toronto, Sacramento, Denver and Chicago.

Before joining the staff at Oregon, Rosemond coached as an assistant for two seasons at Redlands Community College in El Reno, Okla., in 2003-04 and 2004-05. He helped the Cougars advance to the NJCAA championship game during 2004. In his two seasons at Redlands, Rosemond coached three junior college All-America performers – Taj Gray, Brandon Polk and Sylvester Mayes.

As a player, Rosemond was a standout guard at Douglass High in Atlanta, the same alma mater as Jonas Hayes, his current counterpart on the Georgia staff. Highlights of his prep career include earning All-State honors as a senior and helping the Astros to the semifinals of the 1993 Class 4A state tournament.

Rosemond then played at No. 1-ranked Okaloosa-Walton Junior College in Florida for one season during 1996-97 and also attended Butler (Kan.) Community College, where he redshirted during the 1997-98 campaign.

Rosemond moved on to Oregon for two seasons. In 58 career games for the Ducks, Rosemond, averaged 4.3 points per contest and connected on 60-of-162 three-point attempts (37.0 percent). Rosemond was honored as the recipient of the team's John Warren Award in 1999, which is given to the most inspirational player on the Oregon basketball team. The award is named after the former Ducks' football, basketball and track head coach and is selected by a vote of team members.

Rosemond then transferred to Division II Seattle Pacific, where he competed for coach Ken Bone in his senior year.

Rosemond enjoyed on a four-year pro career in Brazil, playing for teams in Sao Paulo, Mogi das Cruzes and Hebraica. During that time, he continued to work towards his degree.

After retiring from basketball, Rosemond returned to Oregon in 2003 to complete the final class (calculus) required to receive his bachelor's in Sociology.

How old were you when you realized you were good at basketball?

I never realized that. I realized I had a more serious work ethic than other kids. I noticed I worked hard and sacrificed and knew that could make me better than other kids.

Other sports growing up:

I played tennis for a week, football for a game and ran track two times. I wasn't a quitter. I just found them boring. I also figured out pretty quick that I wasn't going to be the male version of Serena Williams.

When did you start playing organized basketball?

My mom put me in a rec league when I was around 7 or so.

How old were you when you realized you were good at basketball? Growing up, I was very clumsy. I was trying to catch up with my height. My coordination wasn't quite there. It was probably my sophomore year, but I did notice I was getting better than most of my friends around the eighth grade.

I don't eat ice cream...just not a big fan.

Favorite Non-Basketball Athlete: Reggie Bush.

How old were you when you realized you were good at basketball? At a young age, I was pretty good at basketball and football. I just didn't know which one I wanted to do. About the ninth grade, I started thinking that basketball could be my life...that I could make it to the next level and if I continued to work hard I might be able to make a living off playing.

Who would you most like to meet? Michael Jordan. Being the greatest player ever, I'd like to just listen to his words of wisdom.

Favorite Candy: Skittles.

Favorite Non-Basketball

Athlete: Andre Agassi. My dad used to make me watch tennis when I was younger. I ended up studying a couple of players and ended up playing some tennis when I was younger. I just liked his vibe and his swag.

Other sports growing up: I played basketball, football, soccer, baseball and better at football than basketball. I just happened to like basketball more so I stuck with it. I played shortstop and third base till I was 12. I played wide receiver and tight end up to ninth grade.

Favorite Movie: Bad Boys II

Favorite Candy: Snicker's

Favorite Basketball Player:
Kobe Bryant

What was the highlight of your basketball career before UGA? Winning a state championship my senior year.

Favorite non-MBB UGA athlete: I'm going to go with Shacobia Barbee on the women's basketball team.

Favorite basketball memory: It's not a memory. It's more like a nightmare. My sister, Kadeshia, used to beat me in 1-on-1 until I was 14.

How did you Commit to the G? I always wanted to come here. Coach Fox offered during my junior year, and I committed three or four days later. I've been in love with Georgia since I was a little kid. That decision was easy for me.

2014-15 SEASON HIGHLIGHTS:

- ◊ Played in 32 of 33 games, missing Feb. 17 date with South Carolina in Athens after suffering a concussion and fracture of the orbital bone late in the Feb. 14 Auburn game.
- ◊ Moved into a starting role at Vanderbilt on Jan. 14 (following Juwan Parker's Achilles injury) and got the nod for 13 of the final 19 contests. Started 10 straight games but only three of the final nine contests after his own injury.
- ◊ Ranked among the nation's top-100 players in both free throw percentage (No. 83 at .827) and assist-to-turnover ratio (No. 85 at 2.12).
- ◊ Among SEC players, ranked No. 5 in both FT percentage and Assists-to-TOs.
- ◊ Sank 5-of-6 free throws in the final 28 seconds of a three-point win at Vandy.
- ◊ Exploded for 37 points at Mississippi State on Jan. 24, the highest single-game output by an SEC player during the 2014-15 campaign.
- ◊ His 37 points at Mississippi State tied the No. 9 single-game output in Georgia history (along with Zippy Morocco vs. Alabama on Jan. 20, 1953, and Dominique Wilkins vs. Florida on Jan. 7, 1981) and were the most by a UGA player in 23 years (since Litterial Green's 38 points vs. UCLA on Jan 4, 1992).
- ◊ Named SEC Player of the Week on Jan. 26 after leading Georgia to a pair of wins over Ole Miss and Mississippi State.
- ◊ Made 10 straight 3-point attempts in a 3-game span of the SEC schedule (Ole Miss, Mississippi State & Vanderbilt). Also made 24-straight foul shots in a nine-game pre-conference span (Stony Brook to Mercer).
- ◊ Also suffered a hairline fracture of his left (shooting) hand in a hard fall during Georgia's win at Texas A&M on Feb. 11.
- ◊ Emerged from obscurity to play 17 valuable minutes in a Jan. 18 win over Arkansas. Played the final 5:13 of regulation while starter Charles Mann was sidelined with foul trouble.
- ◊ Played season-high 21 minutes three times, most recently in consecutive games: regular-season finale at LSU and SEC Tournament win over Ole Miss.
- ◊ Closed his freshman season with a then career- and team-high 15 points in NIT second-round matchup vs. Louisiana Tech.

PREP HIGHLIGHTS:

- ◊ Coached by Matt Sellars at Faith Baptist.

BULLDOGS FIGHT THROUGH INJURIES TO EARN NCAA BID

Georgia's 2014-15 season continued its run to prominence on the conference and national scales. The Bulldogs went 21-12 overall and 11-7 in Southeastern Conference play to finish third in the league.

Those efforts earned Georgia an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament, where the Bulldogs' campaign ended with a 70-63 loss to a Michigan State squad that eventually advanced to the Final Four.

There were numerous noteworthy qualifiers associated with the Bulldogs' season, including:

- For just the 13th time in 110 seasons of basketball at UGA, the Bulldogs posted a 20-victory season.
- Georgia posted consecutive 20-win campaigns for just the third time in program history.
- The Bulldogs earned an NCAA Tournament berth for the 12th time in school history.
- Georgia posted a second straight top-four finish in the SEC.
- The Bulldogs won more road games than any Georgia team of the past 25 seasons, including a school-record six in SEC play.

All of the aforementioned is even more impressive considering the constant barrage of setbacks Georgia battled due to injuries and illnesses from the beginning of preseason practices through its appearance in "March Madness."

Getting a healthy roster was a season-long challenge for Georgia, acutely so during the 18-game SEC schedule. The Bulldogs last achieved 100 percent operating capacity during the first 12 minutes of the SEC opener vs. Arkansas on Jan. 6, before Kenny Paul Geno broke his left wrist in a first-half tumble.

For the rest of the season, the Bulldogs dealt with at least one player significantly limited or out of action altogether. All told, Georgia accumulated 35 injury- or illness-caused missed games, 21 of them by regular starters:

- 16 DNPs Juwan Parker (Achilles);
- 11 DNPs Kenny Paul Geno (wrist);
- 2 DNPs Marcus Thornton (concussion);
- 2 DNPs Kenny Gaines (foot sprain);
- 2 DNPs Cameron Forte (flu);
- 1 DNP Yante Maten (concussion);
- 1 DNP J.J. Frazier (concussion and orbital fractures).

All of this discussion excludes any mention of Gaines' additional health issues. An illnesses caused Gaines to miss all but four preseason practices and a shoulder sprain, suffered on Dec. 7 against Colorado, forced him out of 10 consecutive days of practice.

1,000-POINT CLUB GROWS BY TWO

During the 2014-15 season, senior Nemi Djurisc and junior Charles Mann became the 44th and 45th Bulldogs to score 1,000 career points.

In the Tennessee game on Feb. 7, Djurisc became the 44th player in UGA basketball history to reach that milestone and the first since Kentavious Caldwell-Pope in 2013.

Additionally, and perhaps more significant, Djurisc became just the 19th player in the program's history to amass 1,000 points and 500 rebounds in his career. Djurisc eventually completed his career with 1,123 points, which tied him with Jerry Epling at the No. 27 position among Georgia's career scoring leaders. His 581 career boards placed Djurisc at No. 19 on UGA's all-time ledger for rebounds.

In the Bulldogs' regular-season finale at Auburn on March 7, Mann also scored his 1,000th career point. He wrapped up the season with 1,042 points and in the No. 36 position among the Bulldogs' career scoring leaders.

The 2015 season marked the first time since 2011 (Trey Thompkins, Travis Leslie) that two Bulldogs scored their 1,000th career point in the same season.

FOX STAMPING IMPRINT ON UGA

When Georgia defeated Tennessee on Feb. 7, Mark Fox joined a short list of Bulldog head coaches that have won 100 games at UGA.

The first to do it was Herman J. Stegeman, namesake of the Bulldogs' home court, who went 170-78 over 12 seasons (1920-31). Next was Harbin "Red" Lawson – who split his time teaching Phys Ed and coaching the Bulldogs – needing 12 of his 14 seasons (1952-65) to reach 100 wins. Lastly, Hugh Durham – considered the father of modern-era basketball at UGA – went 298-216 in 17 seasons (1979-95).

Fox completed the regular season having reached another important marker. He evened his SEC record over six seasons at UGA to 51-51.

Marcus Thornton played in a school-record 133 games during his five seasons with the Bulldogs, capping his career against Michigan State in the NCAA Tournament.

The significance of this ledger comes with the fact that no Georgia coach with at least five seasons of tenure has ever finished with an SEC record over .500. Durham, UGA's winningest coach, finished with a 148-150 record in SEC play.

SENIORS LEAVE THEIR MARK AT UGA

Seniors Nemi Djurisc and Marcus Thornton each completed their careers ranked among Georgia's all-time leaders in multiple statistical categories.

Most notably, Thornton played in a school-record 133 games during his five seasons in Athens. At tipoff of Georgia's regular-season finale at Auburn, Thornton slipped past G.G. Smith and Michael Chadwick, who played in 129 games during their corresponding careers from the 1995-96 season through the 1998-99 campaign.

Thornton did benefit from playing in nine games during 2012-13 before missing the rest of the season and receiving a medical redshirt from the NCAA.

In addition, Thornton completed his collegiate playing days ranked among UGA's leaders in four stats – No. 13 in career rebounds (664), No. 7 in career blocks (12) and No. 19 in career field goal attempts (786), as well as No. 15 in single-season blocks (45 in 2013-14).

As previously mentioned, Djurisc ranks No. 19 and No. 27 in career rebounds and points, respectively. He also is No. 12 in career 3-point percentage (.363) and No. 17 in both career 3-pointers made (106) and taken (292).

Both Djurisc and Thornton moved on from Georgia to play professionally in Europe. Thornton signed with Serie-A's Giorgio Tesi Group in Pistoia, Italy, outside Florence. Djurisc is playing for Stelmet in Zielona Gora, Poland.

GETTING TO THE LINE A UGA STAPLE

Georgia continued one of its trademarks from last season: getting to the line.

The Bulldogs ranked third in the SEC and 18th in the NCAA in total free throw attempts, with 826 visits to the charity stripe. Georgia converted on 551 free throws, which ranked fourth in the SEC and 24th nationally.

Charles Mann was a regular visitor to the free throw line, including going 6-of-9 against Michigan State in the Bulldogs' NCAA Tournament first-round matchup.

For much of the season, the Bulldogs led the nation in average free throw attempts per game, a stat not kept by the NCAA, and also ranked among the nation's top-5 teams in average free throws made per game, which also is not kept by the NCAA.

Charles Mann was the most-fouled Bulldog. Mann was 147-of-220 from the line during the 2014-15 season. He ranked second in the SEC and 25th nationally in free throw attempts and fourth in the league and 52nd in the NCAA in free throws made.

FRAZIER EARNS SEC HONOR

J.J. Frazier earned SEC Player of the Week honors in mid-January, largely on the strength of his 37-point day Jan. 24 at Mississippi State.

In Starkville, it was 9:38 into the second half before a Georgia player besides Frazier scored a field goal. His performance was also the first time since the 2013 finale that one Bulldog scored over half the team's point total (Kentavious Caldwell-Pope scored 32 in a 68-63 loss to LSU).

Frazier claimed never to have been perfect from the 3-point stripe – at any level – until then (7-of-7). His scoring outburst was the seventh-highest in Georgia history and the most by a Bulldog since UGA career scoring leader Litterial Green poured in 38 points in a loss at UCLA on Jan. 4, 1992.

SEASON ODDS AND ENDS

- Two Bulldogs, Charles Mann and J.J. Frazier, had over 100 assists for the season. The last time Georgia had two 100-assist men was in 2011 when Gerald Robinson and Dustin Ware did so, perhaps not coincidentally the last time UGA played in the NCAAs.
- Georgia's Dec. 2 win at Chattanooga represented the program's largest victory margin on the road since Hugh Durham's final UGA squad won 83-52 at UCF on Dec. 8, 1994.
- Georgia's 3OT win over Mercer on Dec. 27 was the longest game in Stegeman Coliseum history since the arena opened in 1964 and the Bulldogs' first 3OT game since Dec. 1990.
- In 110 years of basketball, Georgia played more than one multiple-OT game in a season just twice before 2014-15 – in 1978-79 (a 3OT and 4OT game) and 2011 (two 2OT games).

2008 SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONS

Terrance Woodbury (above left) and MVP Sundiata Gaines (above right) led Georgia to the 2008 SEC Tournament championship with an unforgettable run that included two games in one day. A category F2 tornado struck downtown Atlanta on the night of March 14. It forced postponement of the Bulldogs' second-round game, and the tournament's remainder was played at Alexander Memorial Coliseum (top), home court of arch-rival Georgia Tech.

ACADEMIC ALL-AMERICAN ALEC KESSLER

An All-SEC Player on the Court,
Kessler is College Basketball's Premier Student-Athlete

The late Alec Kessler, an All-America forward at Georgia in 1989-90, arguably rates among the top scholar-athletes in collegiate history. Kessler, a 3.91 student in Microbiology, was twice named the U.S. Basketball Writers Scholar-Athlete of the Year. For being so honored, Kessler was awarded a pair of $20,000 post-graduate scholarships. Kessler, who played four seasons for the NBA's Miami Heat, in 1991 donated all $40,000 from these scholarships to UGA's general scholarship fund.

NAISMITH MEMORIAL BASKETBALL HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE

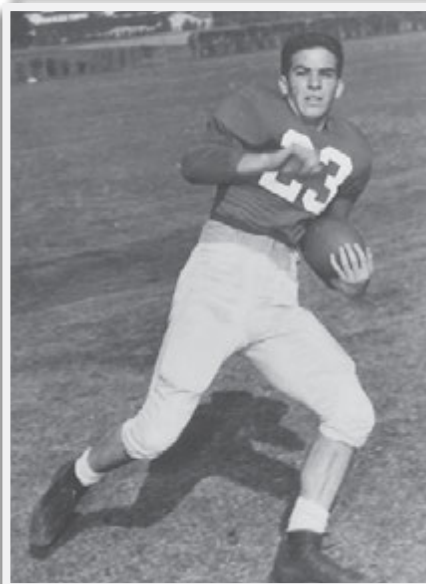

Dominique Wilkins, who helped put Georgia Basketball on the map in the early 1980s, became the first-ever inductee from UGA into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame on Sept. 8, 2006.

Early in his Georgia career, the Washington, N.C., native was dubbed "The Human Highlight Film" for his high-flying acrobatics on the hardwood. In three seasons at Georgia — not even that long, when you consider that an injury shortened his freshman year to 16 games — Wilkins scored 1,688 points, fourth-best in school history. In 15 NBA seasons, he totaled a staggering 26,668 points, currently the 11th-highest figure in league history.

In a ceremony on Feb. 8, 1991, Wilkins also became the only UGA letterman to have his jersey number (21) retired.

GEORGIA SPORTS HALL OF FAME INDUCTEES

ZIPPY MOROCCO – 1986

Anthony "Zippy" Morocco came to Athens from Youngstown, Ohio. He became Georgia's first All-American in basketball (1953) and became one of the Bulldogs' most accomplished two-sport performers ever. He led the SEC in scoring in 1953 with a 23.6 points per game average on 590 points, breaking the existing SEC mark of 540 points by Kentucky's Cliff Hagan. He led the Bulldog football team in kickoff returns three consecutive years and in punt returns two years. He also led the Georgia receivers in 1950 and averaged over 10 yards every time he touched the ball.

HUGH DURHAM – 2010

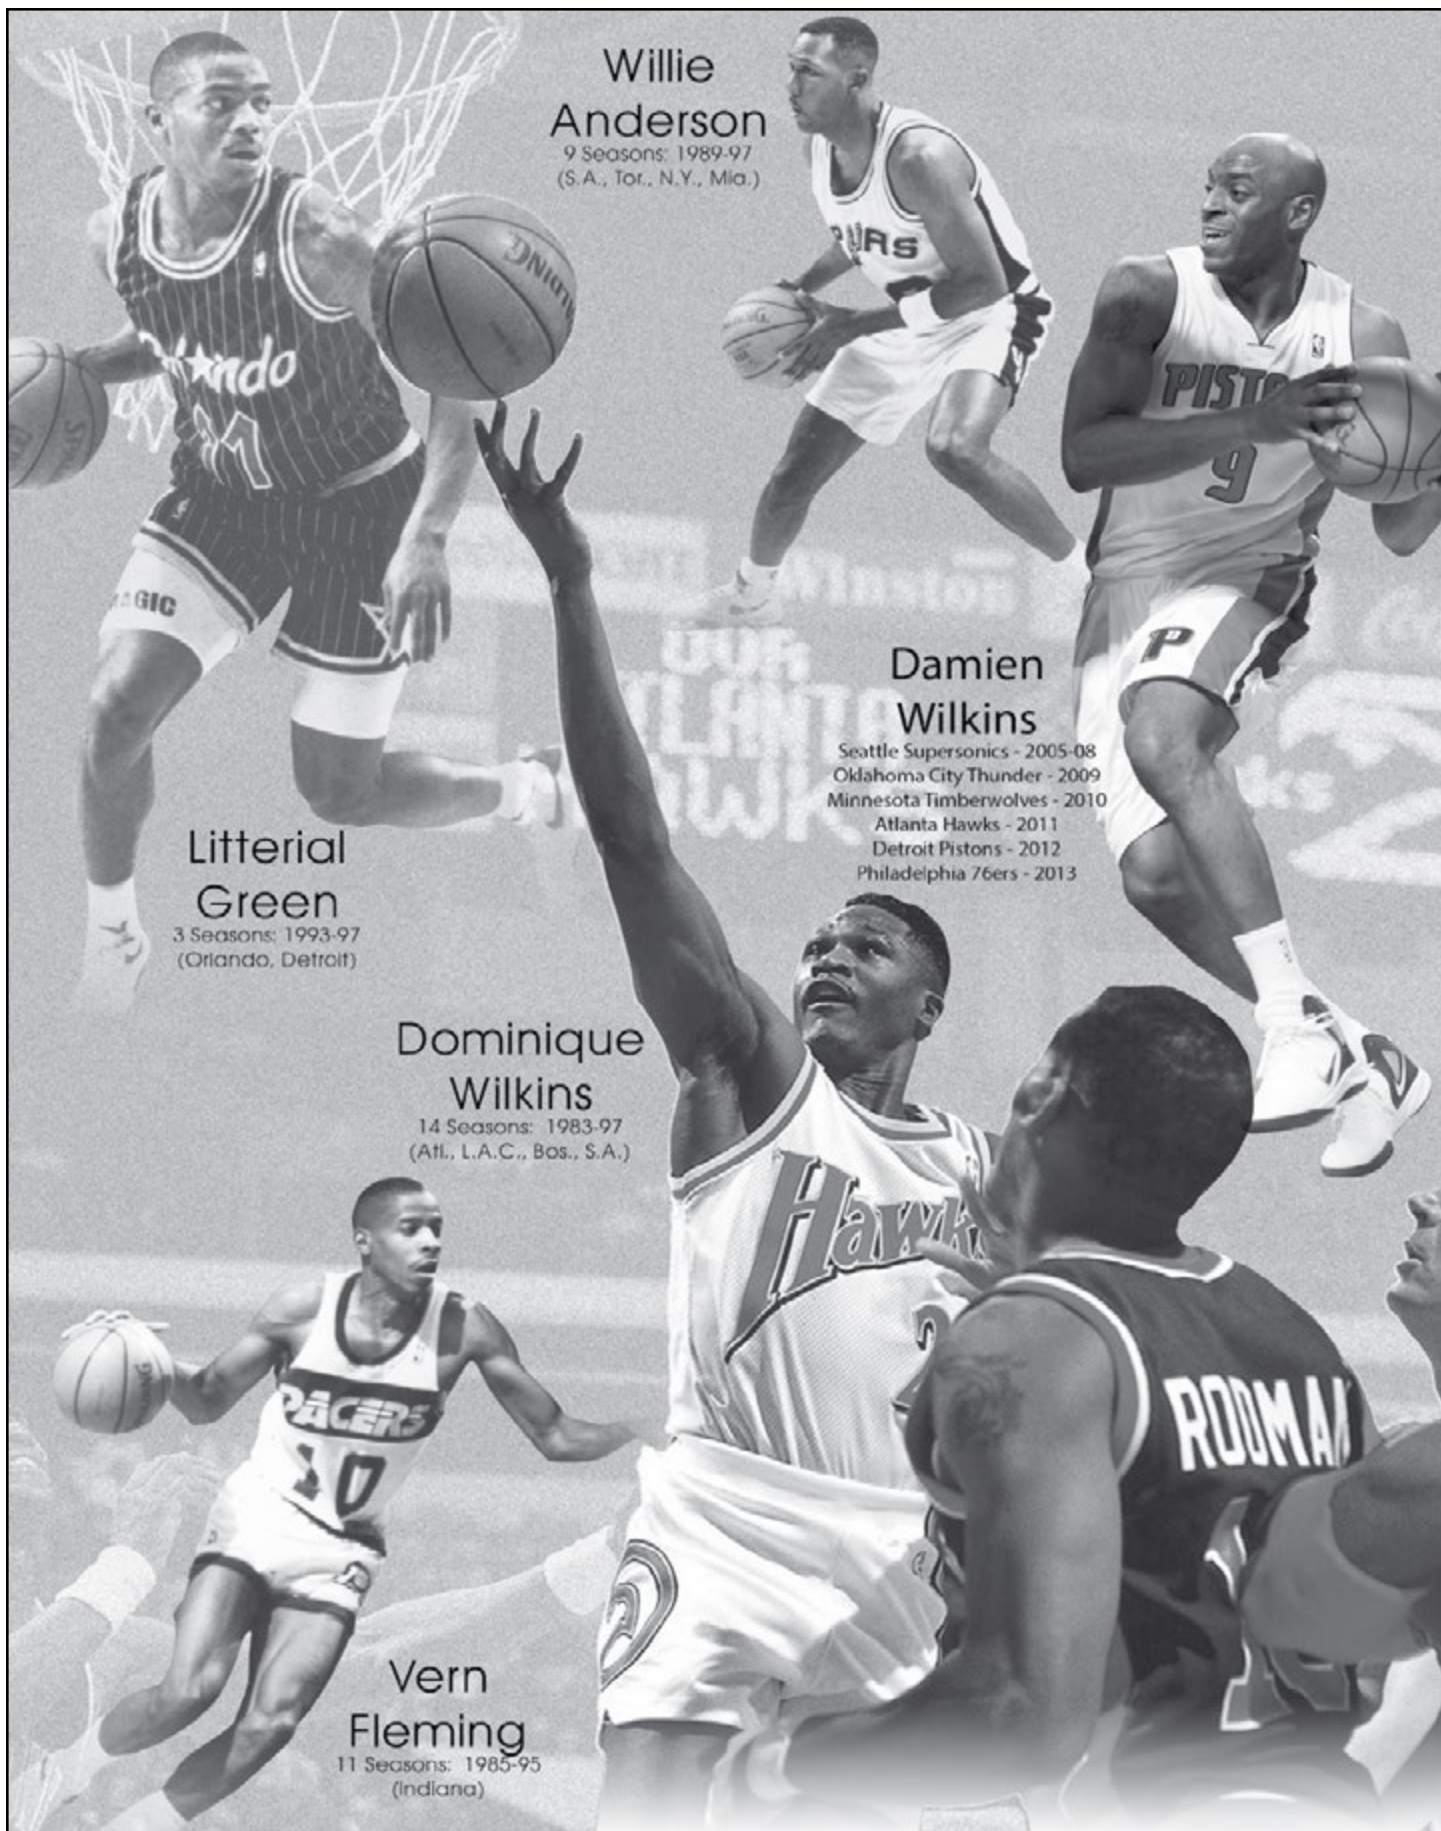

Before Hugh Durham arrived in Athens in 1979, Georgia had never been to either the NCAA or NIT Tournaments and had never won an SEC Championship and nor an SEC Tournament. Durham led Georgia to five NCAA Tournaments, four NITs, the 1983 NCAA Final Four, the 1982 NIT Final Four, the 1983 SEC Tournament Championship and the 1990 SEC Championship. When he retired from coaching in 2005, Durham was the eighth most successful coach among active Division I coaches with 633 victories, including 297 during his 17 seasons at UGA.

DOMINIQUE WILKINS – 2004

Dominique Wilkins was inducted into the State of Georgia Sports Hall of Fame in 2004. Wilkins is perhaps the state's most loved basketball player ever. He starred at Georgia in 1981 and 1982 before departing for the NBA Draft. Wilkins was chosen by Utah but then traded to the Atlanta Hawks, where he played 12 years and was a perennial NBA All-Star.

UGA alum Sundiata Gaines, just days after his call-up from the NBA's Developmental League, defeated Cleveland with an improbable, buzzer-beating 3-point-er for the Utah Jazz in 2010.

Kentavious Caldwell-Pope was one of just 11 players in the NBA – and one of only three in the Eastern Conference – to start all 82 regular-season games during the 2014-15 season.

SHANDON ANDERSON – 2006

VERN FLEMING*1984 OLYMPIAN
LOS ANGELES GAMES

Vern Fleming, one of the finest Bulldog performers in history, made his mark at every level of competitive basketball. In 1984, he earned a spot on the U.S. Olympic Team and played a large role in its Gold Medal-winning effort. Fleming averaged 7.7 points during the Los Angeles Olympics, connecting on 51.1 percent of his shots. He also tallied 19 rebounds, 19 assists and nine steals.

Many consider the 1984 Americans as the finest amateur assemblage in the sport's history. The squad featured future Naismith Hall of Fame inductees Michael Jordan, Chris Mullin and Patrick Ewing.

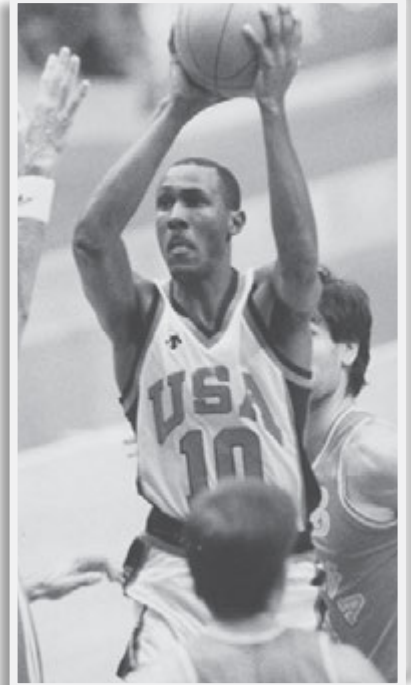

From 1984-95, Fleming was a standout player for the NBA's Indiana Pacers.

WILLIE ANDERSON*1988 OLYMPIAN
SEOUL GAMES

Willie Anderson was star performer of the 1987 and 1988 Bulldogs, leading the '87 squad to an NCAA Tournament berth.

In 1988, Anderson was selected to the U.S. Olympic Team and in the same year was the first-round draft pick of the San Antonio Spurs. The Americans earned a bronze medal at the Seoul Olympics. Anderson averaged 5.0 points per game while pacing the squad by shooting 64.0 percent from the field. He also added 13 rebounds, six assists, six steals and four blocks.

Anderson returned from Seoul and played seven years for the Spurs before doing stints with Toronto, New York and Miami to round out his 10-year career in the league.

JUMAINE JONES*1998
GOODWILL GAMES
NEW YORK, N.Y.

The 6-7 forward put an exclamation mark on his outstanding freshman season at Georgia by making the 12-man U.S. team for the Goodwill Games. Jones later started all five games for the Americans and averaged 7.4 points for the gold medal winners.

TREY THOMPkins*2009
U19 WORLD
CHAMPIONSHIPS
AUCKLAND

Eighteen years had gone by since the American Under 19 team had won its last gold medal at this 2-week tournament. The rising Georgia sophomore played a key role in restoring the Yanks to the winner's circle. Thompkins averaged 10.6 points – second-best on the team – and 5.1 rebounds per game. He also had the Americans' highest single-game scoring effort when he poured in 22 in a 4th-round win over Greece. The U.S. team won all nine of its games by an average margin of over 22 points.

A year later, Thompkins was named to the USA Select squad, a group of collegians that worked as training partners alongside the USA National Team.

DAMIEN WILKINS*2015
PAN AM GAMES
TORONTO

Former Bulldog Damien Wilkins was selected for the United States National Team that participated in the 2015 Pan Am Games in Toronto. Wilkins, 35, played for the Bulldogs in 2002-03 and 2003-04 and served as Georgia's co-captain as a senior when he averaged 12.6 points per game.

"It's kind of surreal; hasn't hit me yet," Wilkins said after being chosen for the 12-player squad. "It's an unbelievable honor. I'm just super thrilled to be here. I feel just like a kid again. You're playing for country."

Wilkins started every contest in the five-game tournament and helped the Americans secure a bronze medal. He averaged 13.2 points while shooting 54.8 percent from the floor, 75.0 percent from 3-point range and 70.8 percent from the line. Wilkins also chipped in 5.0 rebounds in 25.4 minutes per game.

Following the Games, Wilkins signed a free agent contract with the Charlotte Hornets to continue his 10-season NBA career.

GEORGIA WILL PLAY IT'S 53RD FULL SEASON IN STEGEMAN COLISEUM IN 2015-16

The Georgia Bulldogs play their home games at Stegeman Coliseum, their home court since the latter stages of the 1964 season. Through a rigorous program of updates and renovations, it remains one of the finest venues for college basketball in the South.

Originally named the Georgia Coliseum, it was dedicated to the memory of Herman J. Stegeman in a ceremony on March 2, 1996. Stegeman made many contributions to Georgia's athletics program during his 20-year tenure (1919-39). He coached basketball, football, track and baseball, and he also served as Athletic Director and Dean of Male Students. He was a pioneer in the development of college basketball in the South in the 1920s, originating the first big basketball tournament in this region, the old Southern Conference Tournament in Atlanta from 1921-32.

Built at an original cost of $4.2 million, the Coliseum opened its doors on Feb. 22, 1964. A standing-room-only crowd of 13,200 — a figure that will remain its all-time record, thanks to fire-code restrictions implemented since — watched Georgia post a doubleheader sweep of in-state rival Georgia Tech. The Bulldog freshmen of Coach Gene DeTullio opened the building with an 86-75 win over their Jacket counterparts. Georgia's varsity followed by defeating Georgia Tech 81-68.

Mack Crenshaw squares off against Georgia Tech's Jim Caldwell on the inaugural night at what was then called Georgia Coliseum on Feb. 22, 1964. The Bulldogs defeated Tech in front of a record crowd of 13,200 fans. UGA's freshman team actually christened the Coliseum by defeating the GT freshmen.

The Coliseum is actually two structures: the roof and the building beneath it. The only connection is an aluminum bellows which seals the joints and permits the rise and fall of the roof with temperature change.

Stegeman Coliseum has undergone sweeping renovations in the past two decades. Its most significant occurred in time for the 1995 season and, at a cost of $3.6 million, transformed the seating configuration to its current bowl-shaped layout. Still more updates, including a video board and sound system, were installed in time for the 2006 season.

Most recently in 2011, Stegeman's outer concourses underwent a dramatic facelift, one that rendered it hardly recognizable from its previous look. The project, which expanded lobby space on both sides by 10,000 feet and gave a new, dramatic look through stories-high glass facades, cost an estimated $13 million.

In addition, Stegeman was also utilized as a competition venue for the 1996 Centennial Olympic Games. Preliminary-round volleyball matches, as well as all rhythmic gymnastics competitions, were held during the two-week period in July and August of that summer. Many updates to the Coliseum, including a new air-conditioning system and exterior landscaping, were performed in advance of the Olympics.

The first games in Georgia basketball history took place in the old YMCA building, located at the corner of Lumpkin and Clayton streets.

Since the inaugural season of 1905-06, Georgia basketball has called six different buildings home. These facilities have held a wide range of usefulness and pertinence to basketball. There's little doubt, however, that the Bulldogs' current home of Stegeman Coliseum is the best, most accommodating home they've ever had.

During the 1906-12 seasons, Georgia games were played in the old Athens YMCA building located at the corner of Lumpkin and Clayton Streets, currently the site of the Georgia Theater. The seating capacity for spectators was about 200, but it didn't seem to matter in those days. The earliest Bulldogs played their games in relative anonymity. Very rarely did the attendance reach full capacity at the YMCA building.

The building that is now called Memorial Hall on campus was the second gymnasium used by the Bulldog cagers. Construction on this facility began in 1910 and was to be built by the Alumni and the YMCA in a joint effort. The Alumni Association, however, eventually assumed full responsibility for the funds for its construction. Only in a partial state of completion, the team began to use the auditorium of "Alumni Hall," as it was called then, for its home games. Spectators viewed the games from a balcony which ran around the playing court, and the baskets were affixed to this balcony. In fact, the balcony became quite the advantage for Bulldog hoopsters, who had to tailor the arc of their shots to avoid hitting it.

Alumni Hall was used until about 1920, when the team moved to another on-campus location known as "The Octagon." It was located about where the current Main Library parking lot is, between the library and Jackson Street. Built in 1916 for $3,600 and for the purpose of accommodating summer-school functions, the Octagon was made of wood and sat approximately 1,400 people. The main problem for basketball was the lack of a heating system in this 8-sided building. There was also a four-foot opening around the wall up to the roof, with the roof overhanging to prevent rain from blowing in. The Octagon was used sparingly because of the absence of heat and also because of the ever-growing crowds.

Moss Auditorium, formerly the third floor of what became the Gallant-Belk store, was used for most of the games from 1920 until Woodruff Hall was completed. Crowds of up to 1,500 were estimated to have attended some of the home games.

Around this time, however, Coach Herman J. Stegeman was building quite a program. It became necessary for the basketball team to enjoy its own facility to accommodate the large crowds. Just before the completion of Woodruff Hall in 1925, the Bulldogs moved back into Alumni Hall, the construction of which had finally resumed after a fund-raising drive.

Excavation began on November 20, 1924 for the construction of Woodruff Hall, the building that was named for George and Harry Woodruff of Columbus, Ga. This facility was built in a central on-campus location, where the Journalism/Psychology building now stands, and had a seating capacity of 3,500. There was space enough for three basketball courts, with the main court measuring not quite the required length of 94 feet. Built at an estimated cost of $53,000, Woodruff Hall was officially dedicated by Dr. S.V. Sanford on Feb. 21, 1925 in a game where Georgia defeated Georgia Tech 34-24.

Woodruff Hall served as the Bulldogs' home for nearly 40 years. By the end of that stretch, however, many believed it had become the bane of the program.

Harbin "Red" Lawson was Georgia's coach for the last 13 years in Woodruff Hall. Publicly, he joked that it was the only basketball facility where wind direction and velocity affected his strategy. Other coaches, led by Kentucky's Adolph Rupp, despised playing games there. So dimly lit was Woodruff Hall that Auburn coach Joel Eaves turned out half the lights in his own gym, just to prepare for the Georgia game.

Eventually, Eaves became Athletic Director at Georgia. Two years into his tenure, in 1964, the Bulldogs dedicated their current home as the Georgia Coliseum. In 1996, it was given its current name of Stegeman Coliseum in honor of the man that first lifted the Georgia basketball program into prominence.

Over its 50 years, Stegeman Coliseum has hosted its share of memories, and also extracurricular functions. Operated in a co-op agreement with the University's agricultural college, the Bulldogs once shared the building with various rodeos and other livestock shows. And in 1996, the world's sporting attention turned to Athens, where Stegeman played host to volleyball and rhythmic gymnastics competitions at the 1996 Summer Olympic Games.

Zippy Morocco, Georgia's first All-American in 1953, played three years in the spartan conditions of Woodruff Hall, home of the Bulldogs from 1925 until 1964.

ENSURING THE FUTURE OF UGA ATHLETICS

In an effort to permanently fund student-athlete scholarships, the UGA Athletic Association founded the Athletic Scholarship Endowment Program. The Program allows friends of the Athletic Association to invest in the educational opportunities of our deserving student-athletes through endowing a named scholarship for $200,000.

The Athletic Association does not receive University, State or Federal funding to cover the full costs of in-state and out of state student-athlete scholarships. The interest generated from the endowment is critical in offsetting the scholarship costs for our current student-athletes. As the costs of higher education escalate, building a strong endowment is crucial to enhancing the lives of our student-athletes while preparing them for life beyond athletics. Contact The Georgia Bulldog Club at 877-GA-DAWGS today to learn more about endowment opportunities for one of UGA's 21 varsity sports.

All Athletic Scholarship Endowment Donors are invited to an annual reception where they have the opportunity to connect with the recipient of their scholarship.

To date, more than 200 scholarships have been endowed. Currently 11 endowed scholarships are awarded annually to Bulldog basketball players. Funds from the Turner Family Scholarship, which endowed several scholarships in several sports, are now directed toward overall facility improvements for UGA Athletics.
