Another Step Forward

What Next for 3-time Defending National Champs?

In the young sport of collegiate equestrian, one program stands above all others.

Georgia's five national team championships in just eight years makes the distinction an obvious one. None of its rival schools can come close to the Bulldogs' list of accomplishments.

Not that the others aren't trying. To the contrary, the gap between Georgia and its challengers appears to have narrowed. Last spring, in fact, it needed the first "ride-off" in championship history to emerge with another trophy.

One can only wonder what the Bulldog riders will do to maintain such a torrid pace. With the sport growing ever more competitive, and its rivals approaching, how can Georgia keep its place atop the heap?

"We're very excited about this team and the coming season," Georgia coach Meghan Boenig. "We have a number of talented seniors returning, a great freshman class and I'm expecting great leadership from our captains. The potential is certainly there for us to continue our success.

"We strive every day to uphold the tradition of success that we've established here at Georgia," Boenig said. "I am very confident that this team is capable and ready to successfully defend our national championship.

Boenig added that there is great responsibility that comes with such a high level of sustained success.

"I also realize that, as three-time defending champions, we will have targets on our backs wherever we go. So, it will take a total, all-out effort from everyone on this team, and our captains -- Katie Brown, Hannah Dyer and Kacy Jenkins -- will play a big part of our success this year."

Boenig also acknowledged that the world of varsity equestrian has become vastly more competitive since the early years. No longer can a program dominate any aspect of the sport, from recruiting all the way into the competition ring.

"The bar keeps getting higher, for sure," she said. "At Georgia, we have always believed that every single performance is important. We also pride ourselves in being very prepared for each ride. We want to be so prepared as to be unflappable. That's an approach that has worked very well for us."

As the 2011 season dawns, here is a best-guess projection of Georgia's personnel for each riding discipline.

Hunt Seat Preview

The challenge for the Georgia Hunt Seat corps is clear: to carry the torch that their most recent predecessors have held so high and proud.

Since 2008, Bulldog hunters have compiled an impressive mark of 42-7-1 in dual matches and have won the national championship in their discipline each year. In fact, it's fair to say that Georgia's English riders, with their five all-time national titles, have served as the program's bellwether of sorts.

Sufficient firepower from last year

Kacy Jenkins will again play a key role for the Bulldogs in her senior season.

is back to give the Bulldogs great expectations heading into the 2011 season.

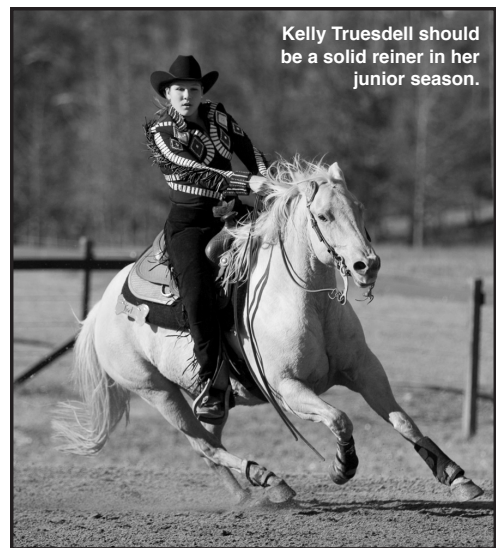

"We feel very confident in the people that we have coming back," Hunt Seat assistant Logan Fiorentino said. "We have depth, quality and experience in both events, and I'm also very excited by the newest additions we have to our team."

Any group that is led by Georgia senior Kacy Jenkins must feel confident about its chances. The native Virginian is perhaps the most experienced rider on the entire squad, in terms of collegiate competition. Last season, in which she went 14-4-1 over Fences -- including a critical point in the national championship ride-off against Texas A&M -- was just the latest example.

Last year's Hunt Seat MVP, junior Michelle Morris should once again be a pace-setter for this group. Few of her peers around the country can approach her level of accomplishment. She went a combined 32-7-1 in dual-meet competition last year, culminated by her 30-point victory in the Flat portion of the ride-off against A&M, as well as an individual title on the Flat.

Two additional key riders from last year's VENC meet return for 2011. Carly Anthony, a native of Redmond, Wash., immediately earned an important role with some outstanding rides as a freshman. She went 14-2 in Fences competitions, with three MVP honors and a spotless record at Nationals. On the Flat, she was just as impressive, going 13-3 overall, gathering two more MVP awards and winning two of three points at Nationals. Fittingly, Anthony was named Hunt Seat Rookie of the Year at the team's post-season banquet.

Fellow freshman Grace Rogers went 11-4 in Flat rides last year, with two MVPs and two vital points at Nationals. She, too, served double duty on occasion and will likely be called upon for more in her sopho-ee in this event. The native Saskatchewanian compiled a 10-4-3 mark in reining last season, on the heels of an 11-2-1 mark in 2009. She was also selected by Georgia coaches for the reining ride-off against A&M for the national championship.

Fellow senior Hannah Dyer has been elected as a tri-captain this season, and she figures to play a prominent role on the team. Other key spots in the lineup will no doubt be held by junior Kelly Truesdell ('09 Western team Rookie of the Year) and promising sophomore Becca Haaland (11-7 record, '10 Western R-O-Y).

Despite the vast experience among Georgia's reiners, freshmen will figure prominently during the season. Talented rookies McKenzie Lantz, Morgan Collins, and Jacklyn Hoyt have already earned places in the competing lineup.

Georgia's Horsemanship riders also have plenty of experience returning for 2011. Senior Dana Wilson and junior Sarah Gravely competed for the Bulldogs at Nationals last season and will continue to play key roles. Wilson won six consecutive rides late in the season and Gravely won several key points throughout the season, including at South Carolina and a second-round win over TCU at the VENC meet.

Other key contributors include junior Ali Eidson, sophomore Maria Salazar, as well as junior Michelle Fulcher and sophomore Hayley Haskins. Key freshmen in this event include Jacklyn Beckley and Anna Sasser.

The Bulldogs' horsemanship group also received a strong off-season boost with the return of seniors Laura Upton and Katelyn Van Allen after respective years off from collegiate competition. In 2008, Upton was one of the nation's top varsity competitors, earning the individual reserve title at Nationals that year and going 8-4-1 overall. Van Allen rode extensively for Georgia in both the 2008-09 seasons, competing and winning points at Nationals both years. Both riders, in fact, were key members of Georgia's 2008 Western squad that brought home the reserve team championship.

"We're excited that these two young ladies chose to resume their careers and finish school," Boenig said. "They both bring valuable assets to the program. They bring experience, accolades, lots of success, and we look forward to having them back with us."

Georgia's schedule for 2010-11 will once again feature the home-and-home series with SEC rivals South Carolina and Auburn. And once again, the Bulldogs have scheduled with a strategy in mind by filling the month of March with a series of tests on the road. "We think it is very good preparation for Nationals," said Georgia coach Meghan Boenig. "It helps our girls adapt to different surroundings, unfamiliar horses, all the things we will encounter at the National Championships."

more season.

Junior Katie Hagerty and sophomore Melanie Carraway have a chance to crack the lineup, as do several other veterans, led by tri-captain Katie Brown.

A handful of talented freshman also figure to create valuable roles for themselves this season. Already, Isabel Jolicoeur and Abby O'Mara have shown top-flight ability in the Fences event. Both have impressive resumes as junior riders. O'Mara, as well as Caitlyn Francis and Olivia Dorey, are expected to contribute in the Flat and Fences events as freshmen.

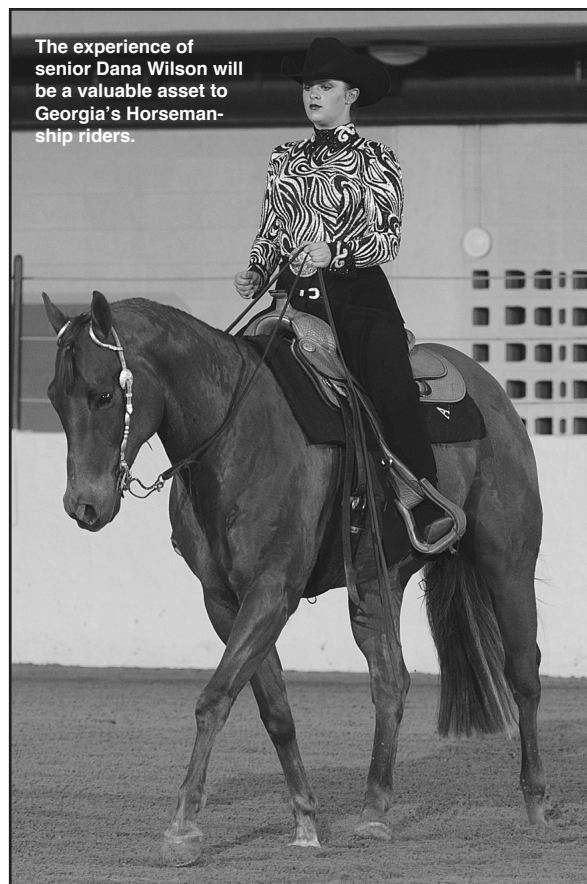

Western Preview

Georgia's Western corps welcomes back a number skilled and proven riders. They will join several impressive rookies, along with the unexpected return of two talented riders, to make the Western side should plenty strong in 2011.

Perhaps most important, Georgia welcomes the addition of Mary Meneely as its Western coach. The native of Washington state has lived in Georgia for much of the past 20 years, and she brings a wealth of teaching and mentoring experience to the program.

"This is definitely a strong group of riders," Meneely said. "The young riders have a lot of potential and have shown they're willing to work hard to improve. The older riders have shown great dedication, they've ridden really well and have been outstanding leaders on this team so far."

Bulldog reiners figure to be just as strong in 2010. Senior Diandra St. Hilaire is perhaps the Bulldogs' top return-fourth such honors in Georgia history.

In just eight seasons Boenig has made great strides in developing Georgia's equestrian program from Square One. The number of riders has tripled from 24 to near 70, while the number of horses has more than quadrupled going from 12 to over 50. In addition, the staff has grown from Boenig, on her own, to four full-time members.

She galloped through her first seasons at Georgia with trailblazing success, winning national titles in both of the program's first two years on the varsity level. In 2002-03, she coached the University's first varsity team to the national crown at the VENC in College Station, Texas. The next year she steered her team to a dramatic comeback at the VENC, held at the Georgia International Horse Park in Conyers, Ga.

Boenig first began to work her magic on Georgia's club team. When she arrived in Athens in the fall of 2001, her mandate was to bring the club team through the transitional 2001-02 season and elevate the equestrian program to a varsity level. She accomplished the task with flair, leading the Bulldogs to the first of three straight English discipline titles at the precursor to the inaugural VENC held in 2002 in Gainesville, Fla.

During the transitional year Boenig hired a coaching staff, selected the first team, and began selling the sport to the Bulldog Nation. In succeeding years, much of her administrative focus turned to facilities and development.

Her attention to the latter concern led to Georgia's palatial home in nearby Bishop, Ga., in 2009. The 109-acre layout gives her team the finest training and competition facility of its kind in America. It also fulfilled a twofold dream of Boenig's that began back in the early days: to give her team a place to call "home" and to ease the burden upon the University's Animal Science department, which owned the property where the Bulldogs had begun their program.

Beyond Athens, Boenig is heavily involved in shaping the development of varsity equestrian, which is classified as an "emerging" sport by the NCAA. She serves on the Varsity Steering Committee that governs the sport through biannual coaches' meetings and has been its Chairperson for two seasons. She was also a leading advocate for the bracketed tournament format that will begin its sixth year of implementation in 2010-11.

Boenig initiated varsity equestrian's departure from the meet format associated with the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA), under whose auspices Georgia competed in 2003. She helped introduce the dual-meet format that SEC schools now use, competing by proposed NCAA rules designed to make the sport more competitive and fan-friendly.

Boenig is a 1999 graduate of Berry College where she earned her bachelor's degree in Biology. Prior to her arrival at Georgia in October of 2001, she spent two years as an assistant coach at Texas A&M during which time she also earned a master's degree in Animal Science.

Her two seasons at Texas A&M were deciding factors in her hiring as the Bulldogs' inaugural head coach. Georgia sought a coach with the knowledge of working hand-in-hand with a university's Animal Science community in forging a new equestrian team, something the Aggies had enjoyed during her tenure there.

A native of Powder Springs, Ga., the former Meghan Nolan is married to Markus Boenig. The couple are proud parents of a son, Josef Peter, who was born Aug. 23, 2009.

Boenig, Josef Peter and their boxer, Sheba

The bar never lowers in the world of collegiate equestrian. It only gets higher, and yet somehow, some way, Georgia never seems to blink.

From its infancy eight years ago, the sport has gotten incrementally more competitive, more difficult and more challenging as the number of competitors has grown.

Georgia has remained the most constant presence in this ever-growing world. Much of the credit for building the Georgia program -- and for maintaining such a high level of performance -- should go to head coach Meghan Boenig.

Since the fall of 2002, when the Bulldog riders began competing as varsity student-athletes, Georgia has emerged as the nation's preeminent group of collegians. None of its peer programs come near to the Bulldogs' list of significant conquests: five national titles, one reserve national crown, six Southern EQ championships, a 37-1 dual-meet record at home.

The 2010 campaign was just the latest testament to their greatness, but it was also evidence of the growing state of competitiveness within their sport.

With Boenig on maternity leave, Georgia spent the first months of the season finding its way. The Bulldogs closed their season by winning yet another national crown. This time they needed the first "ride-off" in the sport's history to edge Texas A&M in the overall standings. In addition, two Georgia hunt seaters, Michelle Morris and Emma Lipman, claimed individual championships, the third and

Logan Fiorentino

Assistant Coach
(Hunt Seat)

Recent University of Georgia Equestrian standout Logan Fiorentino returned to her alma mater in July of 2008 as an Assistant Coach for the Bulldogs. She concentrates her coaching efforts at Georgia on the Bulldogs' Fences riders.

As a Hunt Seat rider for the Bulldogs, Fiorentino certainly ranks among the best ever in the brief history of the program. She twice won the team's English MVP award, in 2006-07, and in 2005 she won her classification in Equitation Over Fences at the Varsity National Equestrian Championships. In her final season of 2007, she picked up 14 dual-meet wins and two meet MVPs over Fences.

Fiorentino has carried over that success into her young coaching career. In each of her first two seasons, the Bulldog Hunt Seaters captured the national championship, leading Georgia to the overall team title. Two riders under her tutelage, Haylie Jayne in 2009 and Emma Lipman in 2010, also took home the national individual Fences crown.

Last season proved to be especially fulfilling for the Bulldogs' assistant. With head coach Meghan Boenig on maternity leave for much of the fall, Fiorentino kept the team on its course toward another championship campaign. Her leadership was not lost on her mentor.

"There's no question that we couldn't have enjoyed the success of last season without Coach Fiorentino," Boenig said. "She has the unique perspective of having been a student-athlete at Georgia. It's a real comfort knowing that someone with Logan's knowledge of and experience with our program is already on our staff."

A native of Lloyd Harbor, N.Y., Fiorentino earned a bachelor's degree in Sport Studies and a Master's degree in Sports Management during her three years at UGA (2005-07). In 2006, she earned the Scholar-Athlete Award for the highest GPA among all Equestrian student-athletes. She transferred to UGA after two years at Adelphi University in Garden City, N.Y.

Mary Meneely

Assistant Coach
(Western)

Mary Meneely, who has a breadth of experience that covers all aspects of the equine industry, is in her first full season as Assistant Coach for Georgia's Western riding corps.

Meneely joined the UGA program as a volunteer assistant in April of 2010. She played an integral role in steering Georgia's Western riders to a fourth-place finish at the Varsity National championships, an effort that included a second-round upset victory over TCU.

Not long after Nationals, Meneely was named to the coaching staff on a full-time basis.

"We are very, very excited to have Mary joining our program on a full-time basis," Boenig said. "She jumped in with both feet back in April and displayed tremendous dedication and passion toward helping our young ladies. She is well-respected with 25 years in the industry, and I'm very confident she will continue her outstanding work with our program in the future."

Since 1992, Meneely has co-owned and operated Meneely Show Horses, Ltd., of Conyers, Ga., along with her husband Rob. They have produced over 450 World and National Championships in both Western and Hunt Seat. During that time Meneely has handled all aspects of the business, including recruitment and training of show riders, selection and training of horses, sales and marketing of the business, farm management, and custom design of show clothes.

Meneely already has experience as an instructor on the collegiate level. For three years (1996-99) she developed and taught Equestrian courses at Georgia Perimeter College in Conyers. Yet her latest venture will take her career in a much different direction.

A native of Seattle, Meneely started her own equine coaching and training business while attending the University of Washington. She completed her undergraduate studies with Belford University in 2009.

Amber Bradley Farm Manager

Amber Bradley joined the Georgia program in 2006 as Farm Manager. In her position she oversees not only the care of Georgia's 40-plus horses, but also the facilities used by the Equestrian team.

A native of Pauline, S.C., Bradley has enjoyed a lifelong association with horses. She grew up on a 124-acre horse farm and first began showing hunters & jumpers at the age of five. By age 15 she was managing her family's farm.

In 2002, Bradley moved to Georgia, managed a 300-acre horse farm, supervised three community living facilities and attended college at Athens Tech. She was also a member of the Cowboy Mounted Shooting Association, from which she won several division titles, two state crowns and the Southeast regional championship.

Bradley and her husband Andrew -- who won the team's "Mane Dawg" award in 2008 for extraordinary service to the program -- are the parents of 3-year-old James Audie Bradley.

Rachel Garrison Barn Manager

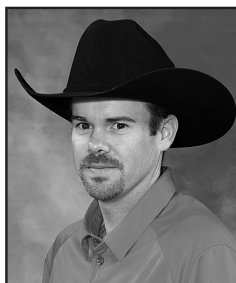

Rachel Garrison is into her fourth year as the Barn Manager for the Georgia Equestrian program.

Garrison brings 15 years of horse experience to the Georgia program, having successfully competed in local and regional hunters, dressage and combined training, as well as participating as a working student for several national and international equine professionals.

Garrison joined the Georgia program after one year working in Athens as a Recruiter for the American Red Cross Biomedical Services. In her former position, she solicited blood donations from both individuals and many groups and organizations throughout North Georgia.

A 2004 graduate of Wesleyan College, Garrison is an alumni of the Wesleyan Equestrian Team and holds a degree in Advertising and Marketing Communications. After college, Garrison worked as the Barn Manager and Trail Riding Director for the Lodge on Little St. Simons Island, Georgia where she maintained the island's stable of seven horses, and also led horseback tours of the 10,000-acre, privately-owned barrier island in southeast Georgia.

About Equestrian

About Collegiate Varsity Equestrian

Dual-Meet Format

The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) classifies Equestrian as an “emerging” sport. Until 2003, all collegiate equestrian shows were conducted under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA). Georgia riders departed from that format for the 2003-04 season. Since then, they have competed in the dual-meet format governed by proposed NCAA rules set forth in the biannual equestrian coaches meetings hosted by the United States of America Equestrian Federation.

Teams compete in four events at each dual meet: English Equitation over Fences, English Equitation, Western Horsemanship and Western Reining. In each event a minimum of four athletes from each team ride head-to-head on the same set of horses, which are provided by the host school. Riders are assigned to the horse in a random draw and face the challenge of riding an unfamiliar horse after a brief timed warm-up period. A point is earned when a rider’s score is higher than their opponent riding the same horse.

General Scoring

Huntseat riders are scored on a scale of 1-100. There are nine maneuvers each worth 10 points, plus an overall score worth 10 points, to total 100 possible points per ride. Maneuvers are scored on this scale: 10=Excellent; 9=Very Good; 8=Good; 7=Fairly Good; 6=Satisfactory; 5=Sufficient; 4=Insufficient; 3=Fairly Bad; 2=Bad; 1=Very Bad; 0=Not Executed. Scores usually range from 70-80, depending on the judge. Western riders are scored on a 70-point scale. There are a minimum of eight maneuvers which are scored on the following scale: +1.5=Excellent, +1=Very Good, +.5=Good, 0=Correct, -.5=Poor, -1=Very Poor, -1.5=Extremely Poor. Scores range from 68 to 72. Horsemanship and English Equitation riders are judged on their ability to control and show the horse while maintaining the correct riding position. Riders in Equitation over Fences are judged on their ability to position the horse correctly and not interfere with its balance while maintaining the correct riding position for a smooth, polished performance. Reiners are judged for precision and application of natural aids as they execute intricate maneuvers at varying speeds.

HISTORY

English Equitation Over Fences

Each rider jumps the same predetermined course, usually consisting of eight to 10 jumps that are approximately 3-ft. high. The judge is looking at the rider’s position, consistency of pace and accuracy of leads, turns and distances executed to produce a smooth, polished performance.

English Equitation On the Flat

A pattern consisting of nine maneuvers is performed within a rectangular-shaped arena marked by letters. Maneuvers are called for at specific letters and can be circles, transitions and serpentine among others. The judge is looking at the rider’s position and effectiveness at guiding her horse through the individual maneuvers.

Western Horsemanship

A predetermined pattern consisting of nine maneuvers is performed by each rider. Consideration for scoring is based on quality of maneuvers, including 45 and 360 degree pivots, stops, backs and circles, and consistency of pace at the jog, extended jog and the lope. The rider’s overall effectiveness and her position in the saddle are also factors.

Western Reining

In this event each rider rides the same preassigned pattern from memory, performing such maneuvers as spins, sliding stops, rollbacks and circles. The circles can be either large and fast or small and slow. The judge is looking for accuracy and correctness of maneuvers, correct speed for the maneuver being performed and overall quality of the Reining pattern.

HISTORY

Key Terms in Equestrian

Crop

A short whip used in riding, used only as an aid to reinforce the rider's leg.

Diagonals

The correct posting, up/down motion, of the rider in sequence with diagonal movement of the horse's legs at the trot.

Equitation / Horsemanship

In competitions, these indicate that riders are being judged on their ability to control and show the horse while maintaining the correct riding position. Intercollegiate riders have the added challenge of riding an unfamiliar horse, one that they draw for in a lottery system just before their event.

Equitation Over Fences

An individual performance where each rider shows a horse over 8-10 jumps approximately three feet high. Riders are judged on their ability to position the horse correctly at the jumps and avoid interfering with the horse's balance, while maintaining the correct riding position and producing a smooth, polished performance.

Figure Eight

Two circles connected by a change of direction, most often seen in Reining patterns.

Gait

Three ways — canter/lope, trot/jog, or walk — by which a horse can move by lifting the feet in different order or rhythm.

Horsemanship

Refers to the Flat tests of the Western discipline.

Hunt Seat

The category of Equitation English riders compete in, whose foundation lies in jumping and riding across country, such as foxhunting.

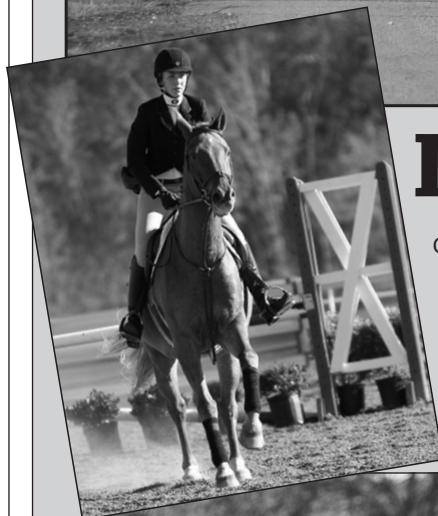

Leads

They are determined at the canter/lope by which front foot is leading. Correct leads have the inside foreleg reaching furthest.

Natural Aids

Body signals from the seat, legs, hands and voice to communicate commands to the horse, all the while appearing comfortable, relaxed and balanced. These signals should be subtle or imperceptible to the judge and spectators and exaggerated shifting of the rider's weight is not desirable. The resulting performance shown by the horse is not to be considered more important than the methods used by the rider in obtaining them.

UGA Equestrian Complex

In January of 2009, Georgia riders moved into their spacious new home, the UGA Equestrian Complex, located just outside Bishop, Ga. The 109-acre farm offers Georgia the finest in equine accommodations. Formerly known as High Point Farm, the facility served the Athens-area equine community with boarding and training facilities since 1993. In 1996, High Point was selected as the training site for the U.S. Dressage Team, which competed in the Summer Olympic Games at the International Horse Park in Conyers, Ga.

Reining

In these classes, the most advanced Western riders perform an individual, pre-assigned pattern from memory, demonstrating a variety of stops, turns and figures at various speeds. The emphasis on this class is on precision, technical application of natural aids and the rider's ability to show unfamiliar horses.

Rollback in English

A turn performed in Equitation Over Fences class to show control of the horse and rider's ability to maintain a position throughout a turn. A tight turn performed between two Fences. In Western Reining, a rollback is a 180 degree pivot with speed after a halt.

Warm-Ups

Practice time before the classes, normally 4-5 minutes. The horses will be schooled, or prepared for competition using stretching and suppling exercises at various gaits, or practice jumps if necessary by riders who will not compete the day of the show.

Sliding Stop

A smooth stop from the lope, in which the horse is supposed to balance on its back feet while the front feet continue to move.

Stock Seat

Is the designation for the Horsemanship Equitation division, where the ultimate goal of the rider is to maneuver her horse through a herd of livestock she wishes to rope, move or otherwise control.

Bulldogs Take Third Straight Title

Collegiate equestrian on the varsity level has only been around for eight years. During that span, Georgia has taken its rule over this young sport to a dynastic level.

The 2010 Bulldog squad needed two kinds of tie-breakers to settle the issue, but they prevailed over Texas A&M to capture the overall crown at the Varsity National Championships in Waco, Texas on April 17.

The most recent crown is Georgia's fifth in eight years and third straight at the Heart 'O Texas Fairground Complex in Waco.

"This was just an incredible day and, I believe, the most special, most meaningful championship we've won so far," Georgia coach Meghan Boenig said. "It was harder this year because the competition was so fierce. We had to fight for everything we got."

First-Ever 'Rideoff' for Championship

When both Hunt Seat and Western team competitions had played out, both Georgia and Texas A&M had won titles, Georgia the former and A&M the latter. That put them in a first-place tie in the overall standings with 51 points, necessitating the first rideoff in the history of this event.

The rideoff consisted of four head-to-head dual matches, one per event. Georgia essentially sealed its victory in the opening event, when sophomore Michelle Morris won a 174-144 decision over A&M's Elizabeth Solch in Equitation on the Flat. The Bulldogs also got a winning ride from Kacy Jenkins in Fences while Texas A&M won both Western events.

It took the first ride-off in the sport's history, but Georgia captured its third consecutive overall team championship at the Varsity National meet in April.

Each team's raw scores were tallied once Georgia and Texas A&M split the four events. The margin of Morris' ride, however, provided the necessary cushion for Georgia to outlast the Aggies by the final tally of 603.5 to 579.

Hunters Take 1st; Western 4th

Earlier on championship day, the Bulldog Hunt Seat team won its second straight title with a narrow 5-3 victory over Auburn. Freshmen Carly Anthony and Grace Rogers saved the day, winning three of Georgia's five points. Anthony, in fact, produced points in both events. Other winning points came from Jenkins and Lipman in the Fences competition.

Georgia's Western team finished fourth in its final team standings. The fifth-seeded Bulldogs dropped a narrow decision to South Carolina in a match that required a tie-breaker to settle the outcome. USC prevailed after raw scores were tallied, 976-973.5.

Program History

Georgia a Leader in Varsity Equestrian

In June of 2001, Georgia took a bold step forward in the development of its athletics program when Equestrian was added as the 21st varsity intercollegiate sport. In the eight years since, the Bulldogs' program has become a national leader, both in the performance and in the movement, toward sponsorship by the NCAA.

First Season Closes With a Bang

Georgia's inaugural campaign of Equestrian in 2003 was exciting enough in itself. The final month of the season, however, made it unforgettable.

This amazing streak started when the Bulldogs took first place at the Varsity Equestrian National Championships in College Station, Texas, on the weekend of April 18-19. The field of competing teams was comprised of nearly every school in the country which sponsors equestrian as a varsity sport.

It continued the very next weekend when Georgia took first place at the Southern Equestrian Championship, a show in Athens that equated to competition for the SEC title. Participating were the three SEC schools that already have Equestrian on the varsity level - Georgia, Auburn and South Carolina - as well as three schools (Florida, Miss. State and Vanderbilt) whose programs hope to reach varsity status.

Georgia Wins Second Straight Varsity Equestrian Championship in 2004

The Georgia equestrian team capped its second year of competition in grand style successfully defending its overall title at the sport's national championship meet. Coach Meghan Boenig's team trailed SEC rival Auburn by 14 points after the first day of riding. The Bulldogs, however, took control of the meet on the final day winning four of the seven flights and placing second in two others.

Auburn finished second with 49 points behind Georgia's 60 in the final team standings. Oklahoma State was third at the third annual event which was held this year at the Georgia International Horse Park in Conyers, Ga.

Georgia also took first place in the hunt seat standings easily outpointing Auburn 32-23. The Bulldogs placed second to Oklahoma State in the western standings by a 28-29 count.

Bulldogs Gallop to Undefeated Regular Season

After defeating Fresno State on March 12, 2005, the Bulldogs completed their first undefeated season in their history, going 11-0 overall and 4-0 in the conference.

Georgia faced South Carolina in the Southern EQ Championships where the Bulldogs knocked off the rival Gamecocks 987-971.625.

The Bulldogs first loss of the season came in the Varsity EQ National Championships where they fell to South Carolina 60-51. After only scoring 16 points on day one, Georgia found itself in sixth place. The Bulldogs would later bounce back with three first place finishes.

Bulldogs Nearly Perfect Again In '06

Georgia had yet another memorable season, finishing with just one loss in the regular season. The Bulldogs galloped their way through the fall schedule with wins over Kentucky, South Carolina, Berry and Auburn. In addition, the English squad placed first at the Big Eight Tournament held on October 7 and 8 in Athens.

Georgia's lone loss came in College Station, Texas where the western riders finished third at the Big Eight Western Tournament. The Bulldogs wrapped up the regular season with a win at home versus South Carolina and road victories at Fresno State and Auburn.

The Bulldogs claimed their third straight Southern Championships before finishing fourth at the Varsity National Equestrian meet.

Bulldogs Record Another Successful Season in 2007

The 2006-07 team enjoyed a strong regular season finishing with a 9-2 record including an unblemished mark of 6-0 at home where it remains undefeated over the past five years.

Georgia swept the 2006 Varsity Equestrian National Champion Auburn Tigers and picked up a win against the would-be 2007 Champion South Carolina Gamecocks.

The Bulldogs closed out their fourth consecutive undefeated fall season with the win against Berry College on Nov 19. In addition, Georgia boasts an unblemished record of 23-0 in

BULLDOG RIDERS RETURN TO WINNER'S CIRCLE IN 2008

Georgia won its third national Equestrian team title in just six years of existence when the Bulldogs took first place in the overall standings at the 2008 Varsity National Championships in Waco, Texas.

The Bulldog riders claimed their first national crown since 2004 without finishing first in either riding discipline. Georgia's Western squad narrowly missed a victory when it dropped a tie-breaker to Texas Christian on Saturday. The two teams had ridden to a 4-4 draw before the Horned Frogs outpointed Georgia in the sum of raw scores, 1027-1026.

Still, Georgia's strong finish in both disciplines allowed the Bulldogs to claim a team title with surprising ease. Their total of 49 points surpassed runner-up Texas A&M, which totaled 38, and third-place Auburn's 36 points.

A new feature of the VENC meet were the competitions for individual titles in the four riding events. Georgia sophomore Sarah Locker claimed the title in Western Reining. Teammates Haylie Jayne in Hunt Seat Equitation on the Flat and Laura Upton in Western Horsemanship won Reserve status as runners-up in their competitions.

BANNER SEASON ENDS WITH ANOTHER TITLE

With a resounding win in the Hunt Seat discipline and a fourth-place finish in Western, Georgia concluded the 2008-09 season by taking home its second straight overall title at the Varsity EQ National Championships in Waco, Texas.

The Bulldogs totaled 51 points in the standings, nine better than runner-up Texas A&M.

Both Haylie Jayne and Kelley Cowperthwait were stalwarts in Georgia's advance to the Hunt Seat championship. They led the Bulldogs to a 7-1 victory over Auburn, each with a winning ride in Equitation over Fences and Jayne also pointing in the Flat competition. Just over 12 hours before, however, the Bulldogs needed clutch points from Emma Lipman and Kacy Jenkins in Fences to stave off elimination by South Carolina in the semifinals.

For the second straight year, Georgia brought home one of the four individual national championships that were introduced to the sport in 2008. This year, junior Haylie Jayne won the Equitation over Fences crown in a match with her teammate and good friend, Kelley Cowperthwait.

HISTORY

The University of Georgia

In January of 1785 — two years after the Revolutionary War — the Georgia legislature adopted the charter that created the University of Georgia. In founding the nation’s first state university, the legislature also gave birth to the American system of public higher education. Over the past 220 years, Georgia and its university have grown together as partners in a burgeoning prosperity that has made the University a fast-track contender for educational pre-eminence. With more than 33,400 students, a work force of more than 9,000 and an annual budget of over $1.4 billion, the University of Georgia is Georgia’s largest, oldest and most comprehensive educational institution. Widely recognized for excellence in instruction, research and public service, the University has moved into the ranks of America’s foremost public universities.

U.S. News & World Report:

- Ranked 20th on its list of 50 top public universities in America for 2006.
- Ranked 7th among public universities and 45th among all universities on its 2006 "Great Schools, Great Prices" list.
- The School of Law is tied for 32nd among 100 of the nation's accredited law schools.
- The Terry College of Business is tied for 29th among all schools and 18th among public institutions.
- The graduate program in public affairs ranked 4th among more than 240 programs in the nation.
- The graduate program in the School of Social Work is tied for 28th in the nation, 3rd in the South.

SCHOLASTIC & RESEARCH STRENGTHS

- UGA students consistently win some of the top scholarships awarded to American undergraduates. UGA has had six Rhodes Scholars in the last 10 years, and students have also received Goldwater, Truman, Gates-Cambridge, Marshall and Mellon scholarships.
- Georgia received a total of $140.1 million in research awards, grants and contracts in fiscal year 2006. Research expenditures in FY2006 exceeded $323 million, keeping UGA among the leaders for research spending among major national universities.

LEADERSHIP FOR GEORGIA

- Thirteen internationally known authorities have joined UGA's faculty as eminent scholars under the Georgia Research Alliance. The GRA — a consortium of state government, private industry and six Georgia universities — provides funding for leading scientists and scholars whose research and development work advance the state's economy.
- The University of Georgia's Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communication is home of the Peabody Awards, one of the nation's premier honors in broadcasting.
- Georgia is both a Land grant and Sea Grant institution, and is home to the State Botanical Garden, the Georgia Museum of Art, and the Museum of Natural History, designated by the Georgia General Assembly as the state's official botanical garden, art museum and natural history museum.

OUTSTANDING FACILITIES

- The $43 million Student Learning Center is one of the largest and most technologically advanced teaching facilities at any American university. The 200,000-square foot building contains 26 computerwired classrooms with a total of 2,240 seats; an electronic library which seats 2,000 and has 500 computer workstations; and a reading room and numerous study and meeting rooms.

- East Campus Village, a complex of four student residence halls and associated amenities located on East Campus near the Ramsey Student Center, provides housing for 1,200 students. A dining hall is also part of the complex.
