CFP RANKING CONSISTENCY

Georgia debuted at No. 9 in the initial 2020 College Football Playoff (CFP) rankings, went as high as No. 8 and finished at No. 9. The Bulldogs have been ranked in the top 10 of each CFP ranking release dating back to the initial 2017 CFP ranking when Georgia debuted at No. 1. Georgia has been in the CFP's top 10 for 22 straight polls.

In 2017, Georgia made the CFP as the No. 3 team, won the Rose Bowl Game over Oklahoma in double overtime and fell in overtime to Alabama in the CFP National Championship. In 2018 and 2019, Georgia ended up No. 5 and then went 1-1 at the Sugar Bowl.

Bulldogs Extend The Nation's Longest Active Bowl Streak to 24 Games

Ninth-ranked Georgia will face eighth-ranked Cincinnati in the 2021 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl on Jan. 1, 2021 at Mercedes-Benz Stadium in Atlanta at 12:00 p.m. ET on ESPN. The Bulldogs went 7-2 in SEC action while the Bearcats (9-0, 6-0 AAC) hail from the American Athletic Conference. The Bearcats won the AAC title, beating No. 23 Tulsa 27-24 in the league championship game.

The Bulldogs have the longest active bowl game streak in the nation now at 24. Virginia Tech (5-6) had gone to 27 straight before opting out of this bowl season. Overall, the Bulldogs rank among the nation's top post-season teams as they will be making their 57th all-time appearance. Georgia owns a 32-21-3 record in post-season games. Last season, Georgia advanced to the Sugar Bowl for the second year in a row and downed No. 7 Baylor 26-14 in New Orleans. UC has won its last two bowl games – 2018 Military Bowl (35-31 over Va. Tech) and 2019 Birmingham Bowl (38-6 over Boston College).

Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl History For The Bulldogs

This will mark the sixth trip to the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl for the Bulldogs and first since 2006. Georgia owns a 3-2 record, including victories its last two matchups. In 2006, unranked Georgia topped No. 14 Virginia Tech 31-24. On the final day of 1998, the No. 19 Bulldogs beat No. 14 Virginia 35-33.

Georgia-Cincinnati Series History

The Bulldogs lead the all-time series with Cincinnati 2-0, winning one on the road in 1942 (35-13) and one at home in 1976 (31-17). During the 1942 national championship season under Wallace Butts, the Bulldogs traveled to Cincinnati on Oct. 24. At the time, the Bulldogs were 5-0 and ranked No. 2 nationally. Georgia beat the Bearcats 35-13 at Nippert Stadium. Georgia's only loss that year was during the regular season to Auburn in Columbus, Ga. Frank Sinkwich, who served as the team captain, claimed the Heisman Trophy that year. Georgia finished 11-1 after shutting out No. 13 UCLA 9-0 in the Rose Bowl. In 1976, Georgia was 6-1 and ranked No. 7 when it played host to Cincinnati on Homecoming. The Bulldogs, under the direction of Vince Dooley and quarterback/team captain Ray Goff, posted a 31-17 victory. Georgia finished 10-2 after top-ranked Pittsburgh beat the fifth-ranked Bulldogs in the Sugar Bowl.

Did You Know?

Cincinnati will be the first undefeated foe for the Bulldogs in a bowl game since the 2007 season. No. 4 Georgia (10-2) faced off versus No. 10 Hawaii (12-0) in the 2008 Sugar Bowl. The Bulldogs downed the Warriors 41-10 and finished the season ranked No. 2.

Georgia head coach Kirby Smart played for the Bulldogs in the 1995 and 1998 Peach Bowls. He will be the first head coach to have coached and played in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl, in addition to the Kickoff Classic.

Salute To The Seniors

The 2020 Bulldog seniors will be playing their final game in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. They enter the matchup with a 43-9 record, three SEC Eastern Division crowns and one SEC title (2017). The seniors have the opportunity to tie the most wins by any senior class in school history. The most wins by a class belongs to the 2005 and 2019 groups that each had 44 wins and claimed a combined three SEC titles (2002, 2005, 2017).

Georgia's most decorated senior class came in 1983 as they went 43-4-1, winning the 1980 National Championship and three SEC titles (1980-82). Last year's senior class concluded their career with a 44-12 record. The 2019 Bulldogs highlighted their season by winning the 2020 Sugar Bowl versus No. 7 Baylor.

Shortened Season In 2020

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the SEC opted to play a 10-game conference only schedule in 2020. Georgia had its game against Vanderbilt declared a no contest after the Commodores were unable to play on two different occasions. As a result, Georgia (7-2) played its first nine-game regular season since 1932, when it finished 2-5-2 under coach Harry Mehre. With a bowl game remaining, the Bulldogs will play a total of just 10 games for the first time since 1970, when their season ended 5-5 under coach Vince Dooley.

Kirby Smart — Head Football Coach

Three SEC Eastern Division championships, 51 wins, one SEC title, three bowl victories, and an appearance in one national championship game are more than respectable rewards over a five-year period. That's what Georgia got when it hired former Bulldog player and assistant coach Kirby Smart to head the program in December, 2015.

The 2020 Bulldogs became Smart's fourth straight team to earn a New Year's Six bowl game. With a Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory, this year's Bulldog senior class could tie the record for the most wins by a senior class in school history (44), set by the 2005 and 2019 teams. This is also Smart's fourth straight team to finish the regular season ranked in the top ten of the College Football Playoff rankings.

Smart's 2019 Bulldogs became the first team in school history to win 11 or more games for a third straight season. The senior class posted a four-year record of 44-12, matching the school record of 44 wins for a senior class. Georgia defeated three Top 15 teams in the final CFP ranking — Notre Dame, Florida, and Auburn — and finished as the fourth-ranked team in the final polls. The season was capped by a dominant win over Baylor in the Allstate Sugar Bowl.

When Georgia looked for a head coach after the 2015 season, the arrows pointed to Kirby Smart, longtime Alabama defensive coordinator and former UGA player and assistant. The 2017 Associated Press SEC Coach of the Year has not disappointed.

In his first year leading the Bulldogs, Georgia extended its school record to 20 consecutive bowl appearances and had wins over No. 8 Auburn and No. 22 UNC.

In 2017, Smart directed UGA to a 13-2 record, an SEC title, a win at The Rose Bowl Game during the CFP semifinal and a spot in the National Championship. He was named the Maxwell Football Club's George Munger National Coach of the Year. Before 2017, the Bulldogs last SEC title was 2005.

The 2018 and 2019 Bulldogs advanced to the SEC title game, secured an invite to the Sugar Bowl and combined for a 23-5 record.

He has also made an immediate impact in recruiting, posting the nation's No. 1 class in 2018, the second-ranked class in 2019 and the third-ranked class in 2017 and 2020.

In addition to coaching, Smart oversees the Kirby Smart Family Foundation, which is focused on being champions in the community by supporting and giving back to needy children and families. In September of 2020, Smart and his wife Mary Beth pledged $1 million to support social justice and student-athletes impacted by COVID-19.

Bulldog Graduates

Georgia had a pair of player on this year's roster who started the year with their undergraduate degrees. The graduates who sported SEC Graduated patches on their uniforms included: DB Prather Hudson (Georgia - Finance) and TE Tre' McKitty (FSU - Criminology).

* Nine more Bulldogs graduated in Dec. 2020: Trey Blount (Sport Management), Patrick Burke (Risk Management & Insurance), Daniel Gothard (Mechanical Engineering), Trey Hill (Sport Management), Hudson (Master's - Sport Management), former player Marshall Long (Communication Studies), Julian Rochester (Communication Studies), Bill Rubright (Finance), Kolby Wyatt (Sociology).

Smart Family Commits $1 Million

Head football coach Kirby Smart and his wife, Mary Beth, have donated $1 million to their alma mater to support the UGA Athletic Association's new social justice program, create scholarships for senior student-athletes whose final seasons were impacted by COVID-19, and contribute to the expansion of the UGA football program.

The Smarts joined Detroit Lions quarterback and former UGA standout Matthew Stafford and his wife, Kelly, to endow UGA Athletics' new social justice program.

'Dawgs For Pups' Begins

The Georgia football team kicked off its initiative called "Dawgs For Pups" in early September by pledging to raise money for WiFi hotspots for Clarke County students.

After the idea arose from a team meeting, the Bulldogs participated in a number of "Dawgs For Pups" activities in the Athens area and beyond to help students and others affected by the recent COVID-19 pandemic. The first activity was to supply families who have kindergarten to eighth grade students with WiFi hotspots. This access to an internet connection has helped students stay connected with their virtual classroom. The Bulldogs and donors gave $100,000 to the project.

Successful Food2Kids Snack Drive

The Bulldogs' second project of the "Dawgs For Pups" initiative was called the Food2Kids Snack Drive.

The Food2Kids Snack Drive came at a pivotal time for the area community. The temporary COVID-19 unemployment benefits have ended and many parents are unable to go to work with their children receiving a virtual education and not attending school. The Food Bank of Northeast Georgia has reported an 80 percent increase in demand over its 2019 numbers and with September being Hunger Action Month, food bank representatives are stressing that the need for any help in this arena remains high.

The Bulldog football team, as well as other UGA teams, and donors gave nearly 27,000 pounds of food to the Food Bank.

Third 'Dawgs For Pups' Initiative

The Georgia football team had its third project of the "Dawgs For Pups" initiative in the form of a coat drive for area children. A total of 437 coats were donated to the drive.

The latest initiative was a coat drive for children in the Athens-Clarke County area. With winter and colder temperatures arriving, the Bulldog football team and the rest of the UGA Athletic Association worked with the local Boys & Girls Club to generate donations of new or gently used coats for children in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Bulldogs Versus Top 10 Teams In the Smart Era

Georgia is 9-6 against top 10 teams in the Kirby Smart era. Three of the games so far have been on the road and nine have come at neutral sites, including two victories in Jacksonville over the last three years.

Daniels Helps Ignite Dogs Offense

*Since becoming the starter, redshirt sophomore transfer QB JT Daniels has helped the Bulldogs go 3-0, average 41.7 points a game and 498.3 yards of total offense in this stretch. The wins have been over Miss. State and at South Carolina and No. 25 Missouri.

* Daniels registered 401 yards passing with four touchdowns (both career highs) in the victory over the SEC West Bulldogs. This was the first 400-yard game for a Georgia QB since Aaron Murray in 2013.

* Daniels, a native of Irvine, Calif., was named the Maxwell Award Player of the Week, SEC Co-Offensive Player of the Week, Manning Award "Star of the Week" and Davey O'Brien "Great 8" honors following the Bulldogs' win versus MSU.

* Thus far with the Bulldogs, Daniels is 16-for-19 for 270 yards and six touchdowns on third down.

* Daniels graduated high school early, won the starting QB job at USC in 2018 and started all 11 games that season. Daniels began 2019 as the Trojans starter but was lost for the year following a knee injury in the season opener. He transferred to Georgia during the summer of 2020 and continued to rehab his knee. Daniels joined the QB competition, which featured junior Stetson Bennett, redshirt freshman D'Wan Mathis and freshman Carson Beck.

* Daniels, who was medically cleared prior to the Auburn game on Oct. 3, continued to compete for the job and volunteered to quarterback the scout team. Following the Florida game, Georgia's contest at Missouri was postponed because of COVID-19 concerns. Over the next two weeks, Daniels continued to battle for the starting spot. He made his debut as the starter against MSU and that marks the first time since 2006 that Georgia has started three different QBs in the same season (Joe Tereshinski, Matthew Stafford, Joe Cox).

*Bennett went 3-2 as a starter, including two wins versus Top-15 teams and came off the bench to lead a comeback at Arkansas.

A Look At The Offensive Line

* Georgia's starting line mostly features juniors Jamaree Salyer (LT), Justin Shaffer (LG) and Trey Hill (C) with senior Ben Cleveland (RG) and redshirt freshman Warren McClendon (RT). Against Missouri, Warren Ericson filled in for Hill at center for only his second career start.

* Redshirt sophomore Owen Condon (RT) got his first start at Arkansas while McClendon has gotten the nod the rest of the way. Also of note, McClendon has made four tackles this season following Bulldog turnovers.

*Cleveland was named the SEC OL of the Week for the second and third times in his career following the wins over #7 Auburn and USC.

*Georgia's most effective games running the ball have come against #7 Auburn and at Kentucky and South Carolina. Georgia gained 749 yards and eight touchdowns on 134 attempts (5.6 avg.) during those three victories. Most recently at No. 25 Missouri, the Bulldogs churned out 316 more yards on 45 attempts. Four difference Dogs scored rushing touchdowns versus the Tigers.

*Against #2 Alabama, Georgia had 145 rushing yards on 30 carries (4.8 avg.), including a 10-yard touchdown by Zamir White. Also, White went for 126 yards on just 12 carries at Missouri.

Running Game Part Of Balanced Attack

Zamir White leads the running game with 133 carries for 740 yards (both team highs) and 10 TDs. He posted his second straight 100-yard rushing game after going for 107 yards on seven carries versus #8 Florida, highlighted by a 75-yard TD run on the first play of the game. Versus the Wildcats, White had a career-high 26 carries for 136 yards and a score. Also, he is a key member of the special teams unit, including collecting his first career blocked punt. This led to a touchdown, which gave the Bulldogs a 20-10 edge at Arkansas. White became the first Bulldog running back since 2005 to block a punt (Tyson Browning vs. Vanderbilt).

*Georgia tallied a season-high 332 rushing yards and four rushing TDs in the win at South Carolina. It was the most yards on the ground since piling up 426 against UMass in 2018. Junior James Cook led the attack at USC with a career-high 102 yards and two TDs.

*Cook (45 att., 303 yds., 3 TDs) is also a target out of the backfield with 15 catches for 225 yards and two TDs. He had an 82-yard scoring catch at #2 Alabama and finished with 102 yards. His score is the longest TD reception by a Bulldog since 2013. In the victory over No. 25 Missouri, Cook had a rushing TD and a receiving TD, the first Bulldog to do that since D'Andre Swift in 2018 against Alabama.

*Georgia tallied 316 yards at No. 25 Missouri with freshman Daijun Edwards going for 103 yards on 11 carries with his first TD.

Explosive Effort By Receivers

* Redshirt sophomore Kearis Jackson (33 rec., 467 yds., 3 TDs) has emerged as a top target. After posting career highs in catches and yards against Arkansas, he set new career highs in the win over #7 Auburn. Jackson collected nine catches for 147 yards. Against Mississippi State, he hauled in the game-winning touchdown, a 40 yarder, from JT Daniels on a 3rd-and-20 situation.

* Also, Jackson is valuable on special teams as he is the only conference player to rank in the top three in both kickoff and punt returns.

* Sophomore George Pickens ranks second on the squad with 29 catches for 378 yards and five TDs. After missing the Kentucky and Florida games with an injury, Pickens returned to grab eight catches for 87 yards, including a four-yard score on 3rd-and-goal in the win over MSU. Pickens enjoyed a big game at No. 25 Missouri, hauling in five for 126 yards and two TDs.

* True freshman Jermaine Burton (26-398-3) was a popular target for Stetson Bennett against #2 Alabama and also JT Daniels in the win over MSU. He had four catches for 58 yards and his first career touchdown against the Tide. His scoring reception was a 5-yard grab on 3rd-and-goal to give Georgia a 24-17 edge in the second quarter. Versus MSU, Burton made the best out of Daniels debut with eight receptions for 197 yards and two scores. His 197 yards ranked fourth best in school history.

* With Pickens out, freshman Marcus Rosemy-Jacksaint got the call against #8 UF and hauled in his first career TD (a 32 yarder on 3rd-and-7) to put Georgia up 14-0. However, he sustained a right ankle injury as he crossed the goal line. Rosemy-Jacksaint will be sidelined for the remainder of 2020.

* Georgia utilizes the tight ends as well with redshirt sophomore John FitzPatrick, graduate transfer Tre' McKitty (FSU) and freshman Darnell Washington combining for 16 catches for 282 yards and two scores. Washington grabbed two receptions for 61 yards in the road win over the No. 25 Tigers.

Next Man Up Mentality

* When healthy, the Bulldogs have one of the nation's top defenses. After playing three games without its starting safety in senior Richard LeCounte, starting nose in junior Jordan Davis and starting defensive tackle in senior Julian Rochester, Davis returned against No. 25 Missouri. He helped limit the Tigers to just 200 yards of total offense including only 22 rushing yards. They were shutout in the second half.

* The Bulldogs lead the nation in Rushing Defense (69.3 ypg), are No. 2 in the SEC in Scoring Defense (19.9 ppg) and Total Defense (322.8). Georgia also ranks fourth in the league with 24 sacks.

* In the Bulldogs' seven wins this year, they have allowed a total of 94 points. Against the nation's top-scoring offense in #2 Alabama, the Crimson Tide posted a 41-24 win in Tuscaloosa. Then, #8 Florida, who was 10th nationally in Scoring Offense at 42.2, posted a 44-28 win as Georgia was missing three starters due to injury. Still, the Bulldogs held the Gators to a pair of field goals in the second half.

* The Bulldogs have allowed just two 100-yd. rushers this year (UA's Najee Harris, 152; UK's Chris Rodriguez, 108). The aforementioned pair gained a combined 260 while the rest of the Dogs' opponents have combined to rush for 364 yards. In the road win over No. 25 Missouri, the SEC's second leading rusher, Larry Roundtree, was held to just 16 yards on 14 attempts.

* Georgia limited Auburn to just 39 yards on 22 tries. Thanks in part to five sacks, #14 Tennessee finished with minus-1 rushing yards on 27 attempts. The Bulldogs gave up only 22 yards on 14 carries in the win over Mississippi State.

* Juniors Eric Stokes and Tyson Campbell and sophomores Lewis Cine and Tyrique Stevenson round out the starters in the secondary. Cine had a career-high 12 solo stops in the road win over South Carolina. Christopher Smith replaced LeCounte in the lineup the last four games. Smith had a career-high five tackles at USC.

* Senior STAR Mark Webb posted a career-high nine tackles against MSU as did Stevenson with seven stops.

* Campbell collected his first interception and returned it 40 yards to set up a touchdown against South Carolina and added four tackles.

* LeCounte, a Preseason All-American, is out due to a motorcycle accident after the Kentucky game. He missed his first start in Georgia's last 24 games versus #8 Florida. LeCounte has three picks this year and eight in his career. Against the Wildcats, he had a career-high 14 stops and a forced fumble and was named SEC Defensive Player of the Week for the first time in his career as well as the Jim Thorpe Award Player of the Week.

Linebacker Monty Rice Leads The Defense

* Georgia is deep at LB with Butkus Award finalist Monty Rice leading the way. He has been a game captain a team-high four times and ranks second with 49 stops this year. Rice was named the Bednarik Award Player of the Week following his performance in the win over #14 Tennessee. He had strip-sack, recovered the fumble and ran it in 20 yards for his first career touchdown against the Vols.

* Redshirt sophomore Azeez Ojulari has a team high 9.5 TFLs, including 5.5 sacks, and has a pair of forced fumbles.

* Against the Vols, Ojulari earned SEC Defensive Lineman of the Week honors. He registered four tackles, including a sack for a loss of six yards, a forced fumble and one fumble recovery.

* Sophomore Nakobe Dean leads the team with 64 tackles. He posted a career-high 15 tackles versus #8 Florida.

* Sophomore Nolan Smith, junior Quay Walker, senior Jermaine Johnson and sophomore and 2019 Freshman All-SEC selection Travon Walker have given this position additional depth.

Herring, Carter Making An Impact Up Front

* Georgia started the season with preseason All-SEC selection Jordan Davis and a trio of seniors in Devonte Wyatt, Malik Herring and Julian Rochester up front. However, Davis and Rochester were injured in the win at Kentucky. Davis returned four games later against No. 25 Missouri while Rochester remains out.

*Freshman Jalen Carter garnered his first start against the Gators and then again against South Carolina. He blocked a PAT and had three tackles, including a TFL, in the win over the Gamecocks.

* Carter lined up in the backfield versus #14 Tennessee and caught a 1-yard touchdown reception from QB Stetson Bennett.

* Herring had four stops, including a sack, at #2 Alabama. Wyatt matched his career high with seven stops in the win at Kentucky.

* Redshirt freshman Zion Logue and sophomore Travon Walker have also earned more playing time of late, recently contributing with five tackles and a TFL and three stops, respectively, versus SC.

From Rod To Pod

* Redshirt sophomore Jack Podlesny is 10-for-13 on field goals and 37-for-37 on PATs this year. He made his debut in the 2020 season opener. Podlesny made a pair of 38-yard field goals, went 3-for-3 on PATs and five of his six kickoffs resulted in touchbacks in the win over Arkansas. In the road win over No. 25 Missouri, he went 7-for-7 in PATs.

* In the victory over #14 Tennessee, Podlesny had a solid game going 3-for-3 on field goals, including a career-long 51 yarder that gave the Bulldogs the lead for good at 23-21 in the third quarter.

* At #2 Alabama, Podlesny hit his second FG from 50 or more yards and added three PATs.

* Georgia extended the NCAA record this season for consecutive PATs made. The streak stands at 329 dating back to 2014. The streak involves six kickers (Marshall Morgan, Patrick Beless, William Ham, David Marvin, Rodrigo Blankenship and Podlesny).

* For the first time since 2015, Georgia needed to replace its placekicker as the All-American/2019 Lou Groza Award winner Blankenship graduated. He now serves as the Indianapolis Colts PK.

* Georgia's snappers this year include redshirt sophomore Payne Walker and redshirt freshman William Mote. Walker, who was one of the snappers last year as well, snaps on field goals and PATs while Mote handles the snaps for punts.

One Of The Country's Top Punting Units

* Junior punter and 2020 Ray Guy Award finalist Jake Camarda's 47.9 average would rank second in the country, but he is just short of the NCAA minimum. The minimum requires 3.6 punts a game, which would be 32.4 for Camarda at this point. He currently has 31.

*The Bulldogs 42.7 average in Net Punting ranks seventh nationally. Camarda has punted 31 times and placed 17 inside the 20 and has had 15 that have traveled 50+. Opponents have three punt returns for 19 yards with 17 coming on a blocked punt versus No. 25 Missouri. Camarda is also kicking off (31 of 35 touchbacks) and Georgia is third in the SEC in coverage.

* Camarda has been included on the Ray Guy Award Watch List. He has been named the SEC Special Teams Player of the Week twice this year (ARK, UK). He has been on the "Ray's 4" list as one of the week's top punters nationally twice.

* Against #7 Auburn, Camarda only punted twice in the first half and averaged 51.5 yards. During the win over #14 Tennessee, he had a pair of punts for an average of 56.5, including a 64 yarder.

* Now in his third season, Camarda is averaging 45.7 yards/punt, which is on pace for a school record. Drew Butler, the 2009 Ray Guy Award winner, owns the Bulldog record with a 45.4.

Back Deep For The Dogs

* In the KOR game, redshirt sophomore Kearis Jackson has a 29.8 avg. on nine returns, which ranks third in the SEC and would rank 10th nationally if he met the minium of 1.2 ret./game. He had a team-long 56 yarder against #8 Florida. The team is fourth nationally at 31.3.

* With WR/PR Dominick Blaylock out for the year with a knee injury, Jackson has been handling the punt returns too. Jackson is averaging 6.6 yards on 13 punt returns this year (third in the SEC), including a career-long 52 yarder at South Carolina.

* Sophomore Kenny McIntosh had six returns for 218 yards (SEC-best 36.3 average) but got injured against #2 Alabama. He missed the Kentucky and Florida games and has not come back in the return game. McIntosh's longest of the year was a 48 yarder at Arkansas.

Explosive Plays In 2020

Bulldog offensive coordinator Todd Monken defines an explosive play as at least a 12-yard rush or a 16-yard completion.

Game	Georgia	Opponent	Final Score

Stokes Entering Rare Territory

* Junior DB Eric Stokes, who is the reigning SEC Defensive Player of the Week, leads the team in interceptions with four. Stokes, who did not have a pick before this season, has returned two for touchdowns (vs. #8 Florida, @ Arkansas) and is one of only four players in the FBS who have accomplished that feat this year. Stokes also scored a touchdown after blocking a punt and returning it versus Missouri in 2018.

* Stokes is the third Bulldog to return two picks for scores in the same season. In fact, both Jake Scott (W, 35-14 @ Kentucky, 1968) and Darryl Gamble (W, 52-38 @ LSU, 2008) had their pair in the same game.

* No Bulldog has ever had three picks returned for touchdowns in a season. Cal's Deltha O'Neal owns the NCAA record with four interceptions returned for touchdowns in one season in 1999.

Georgia In The AP Top 25

*The Bulldogs have maintained their spot in the AP Top 25 now for 65 consecutive weeks, which ranks fourth nationally, dating back to the start of the 2017 season. Following Georgia's second loss of the season, the Bulldogs fell out of the Top 10 on Nov. 8 for the first time since Sept. 25, 2017. This was a streak of 54 consecutive weeks in the Top 10 and that trailed only Alabama and Clemson, who each stand at 91 apiece.

Alternate Uniform Combos

* The Bulldogs wore black jerseys during their latest victory over Mississippi State. Georgia has worn black jerseys six times (five games and one G-Day scrimmage) in the modern era with the traditional silver britches.

* In the 2020 season opening victory at Arkansas, Georgia wore wear red pants as a tribute to the 1980 Bulldogs, who wore them once that season in the opening win at Tennessee. In both instances, Georgia paired the pants with white jerseys.

* This year is the 40th anniversary of that undefeated national championship season. A circular commemorative national championship patch is also displayed on the chest of the jersey. Additionally, a square patch with the phrase "Together Equality" is on the jersey.

A Look At Bennett

* In his first career start at Georgia, junior QB Stetson Bennett helped lead the Bulldogs to a 27-6 win over #7 Auburn in Athens. In the first half on third down, Bennett was 5-for-7 for 81 yards and a touchdown. The score was a 21-yard strike to sophomore George Pickens when it was 3rd-and-9. The play gave the Dogs a 17-0 lead.

* Bennett came in to help spark the Bulldogs to a 37-10 road win over Arkansas in the opener after Mathis got the start. In addition to his passing performance, Bennett also ran for a two-point conversion.

No. 4 Georgia 37, Arkansas 10

Sept. 26, 2020 • Razorback Stadium • Fayetteville, Ark.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. - The fourth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs opened the 2020 season with a 37-10 victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks Saturday afternoon before 16,500 spectators at Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium and an SEC Network audience.

On its second drive, Arkansas struck first with a 49-yard touchdown pass from Feleipe Franks to Treylon Burks. Georgia's offense labored in the early going, but the Bulldogs' defense picked up from where it left off last season as Richard LeCounte picked off Franks and returned it 38 yards.

Early in the second quarter, the defense once again showed its might as Mark Webb snuffed out an Arkansas double-reverse and forced the ball out of the end zone for a safety. Kenny McIntosh's 48-yard kickoff return set up the Bulldogs in Razorback territory, but a mishandled snap necessitated another punt. Stetson Bennett relieved starter D'Wan Mathis on the following possession, and later in the quarter, the Bulldogs embarked on their most successful drive of the half as they swiftly moved down the field, resulting in Jack Podlesny's 38-yard field goal at the end of the half.

On the opening drive of the second half, the offensive malaise appeared to carry over as junior tailback James Cook fumbled a third-down completion at the Arkansas 42-yard line, leading to a 25-yard field goal by A.J. Reed, but that would prove to be the final Arkansas score of the contest.

McIntosh again set up Georgia in excellent field position with a 43-yard return, leading to Bennett finding George Pickens for a 19-yard catch-and-run touchdown, giving Georgia its first lead. The special teams success continued on the following drive as White blocked Arkansas' punt, leading to a 7-yard touchdown toss from Bennett to John FitzPatrick.

Two plays later, Eric Stokes notched his second career touchdown with a 30-yard pick six off Franks. The secondary continued its phenomenal performance as LeCounte made a leaping interception of Treylon Burks' trick play pass at the Georgia 19-yard line. Zamir White closed the Bulldogs' fourth-consecutive scoring drive with a 6-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter, with Podlesny later adding on a 38-yard field goal.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"We've got a long way to go to get where we need to go. But I want to be positive about the second half and what the guys were able to do. We gave them a little energy, a little juice. I thought we were very stagnant with undisciplined penalties and every time we had something going we'd shoot ourselves in the foot. It was either 15 yard penalty, 10 yard penalty or a turnover. You can't win football games doing those things. I am proud of the way they were resilient in the second half. Special teams played really well. I give a lot of credit to Arkansas' defense, they gave us a lot of problems but we've got to improve and get better."

Richard LeCounte pulled down two interceptions against the Razorbacks, the second multi-pick game of his career.

Worth Noting…

• Junior Eric Stokes had a 30-yard interception return for a touchdown to make it 27-10. It was the first by a Bulldog since current staffer Juwan Taylor had a 1-yard INT return for a score in 2018 at South Carolina. It was the first career INT for Stokes. Senior Richard LeCounte had a pair of interceptions to give him eight for his career. LeCounte collected a pair of picks in the 2020 Sugar Bowl win over Baylor.

• Georgia seniors Richard LeCounte, Malik Herring and junior Jamaree Salyer served as captains. LeCounte walked out for the coin toss as teams are limited to one captain for the toss this season as part of COVID-19 rule change to limit the amount of personnel.

• Georgia wore red pants and white jerseys as part of the 40th anniversary of the 1980 national champions. This was their uniform combination in the season opening road win over Tennessee.

No. 4 Georgia 27, No. 7 Auburn 6

Oct. 3, 2020 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium • Athens

ATHENS, Ga. - The fourth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs defeated the seventh-ranked Auburn Tigers, 27-6, under the lights of Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium Saturday night in front of 20,524 spectators and an ESPN primetime audience.

Following a three-and-out by each team, the Bulldogs strung together a 10-play, 43-yard drive punctuated by a 5-yard rushing touchdown from Zamir White, his second of the young season, with 9:31 left in the opening quarter. A 21-yard field goal attempt by redshirt-sophomore Jack Podlesny was good to extend the Bulldogs' lead to 10-0 later in the period.

Stetson Bennett, making his first career start, connected with sophomore George Pickens on a 21-yard touchdown with 11:08 to play in the second quarter, widening the lead to 17-0. On the ensuing drive, a 49-yard completion from Bennett to Jackson put the Bulldogs on the Auburn 12-yard line. Following a 7-yard McIntosh rush and a pair of 2-yard gains by White to the 1-yard line, White punched it in for his second score of the game.

The Georgia defense was able to stop Auburn on the Bulldogs' 3-yard line, forcing the Tigers to attempt a 20-yard field goal. The kick was good, and Auburn picked up its first score of the contest, 24-3, with that margin holding at halftime.

Starting on its own 18-yard line to begin the second half, Auburn marched downfield but was stopped at the Georgia 28-yard line. A 45-yard field goal attempt was good by Anders Carlson to narrow the Bulldogs' lead to 24-6. Georgia responded with a 10-play, 67-yard drive ending with a 25-yard field goal by Podlesny.

The third quarter ended when senior cornerback Mark Webb intercepted Bo Nix to give Georgia the ball heading into the fourth quarter. The interception ended Nix's streak of 251 pass attempts without an interception, which was the second-longest active streak in the country. Neither team scored in the final quarter as the 27-6 advantage for Georgia would hold en route to Georgia's home-opening win over the Tigers.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"I thought we showed improvement. We left a lot of plays out there. I thought we played really hard defensively but sloppy on thirdown. I thought offensively, when we play clean, meaning we don't have a busted assignment, a penalty, or somebody doesn't know what they're doing, we do well; but we can go backwards as quickly as we can forwards offensively, and we probably left more out there... I was really proud of Stetson [Bennett] and the way he handled things, very composed. He probably had some balls he wishes he could have back, but he'll only get better from here, and he gives us some continuity and we'll continue to develop the other guys as well."

With 88 yards and two TDs, Zamir White led a Bulldog rushing attack that racked up 202 yards on the ground against the Tigers.

Worth Noting…

- The 27-6 result marked the fifth time in the last six meetings in the Kirby Smart era that Auburn was held to 14 points or less. It was Auburn's lowest point tally since Georgia blanked the Tigers 38-0 in 2012 in Auburn and its lowest in Athens since 1967 when Georgia won 17-0. Georgia is now 9-4 against top 10 teams in the Smart era.
- Redshirt-sophomore Kearis Jackson (9-for-147 yards) established career-highs in catches and yards, including a career-long 49-yarder in the first half. It was the best night for a Bulldog receiver since George Pickens earned MVP honors for his 2020 Sugar Bowl performance in the win over Baylor with 12 receptions for 175 yards and 1 TD.
- With the win, Georgia leads the Deep South's Oldest Rivalry 61-56-8. It is the second most played active series in the NCAA FBS. Georgia now has won nine of the past 11 meetings, including four straight dating back to the 2017 SEC Championship Game. ESPN College GameDay was in town for the sixth time in school history and Georgia has won the game now on its last two visits, the previous one over No. 7 Notre Dame last year.
- The game crowd was a sellout but was limited to just 20,524 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. This is Georgia's smallest crowd since Sept. 28, 1963 when the Bulldogs beat Vanderbilt 20-0 in a driving rain before an estimated crowd of 17,000.

GAME 3 No. 3 Georgia 44, No. 14 Tennessee 21

Oct. 10, 2020 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium • Athens

ATHENS, Ga. - The third-ranked Georgia Bulldogs defeated the 14th-ranked Tennessee Volunteers 44-21 Saturday afternoon on Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium in front of a crowd of 20,524 and a national audience on CBS.

On Georgia's second offensive play of the game, the snap went over the head of Stetson Bennett, rolled to the endzone, and was recovered by Tennessee's Kivon Bennett for a Volunteer touchdown. After forcing a three-and-out on Tennessee's first offensive drive, Bennett went to Kenny McIntosh for a 29-yard catch-and-run to the 1-yard line. Zamir White then punched it in for Georgia to tie the game at 7. A 95-yard drive later culminated in Bennett's first rushing touchdown of the season after he dove and caught a piece of the pylon.

Tennessee took just one play to knot the game as Jarrett Guarantano found Josh Palmer for a 36-yard touchdown pass. After Jack Podlesny nailed a 37-yard field goal, the Volunteers responded once more with a 27-yard Palmer touchdown catch. With an ensuing goal line stand, Tennessee entered the half with a 21-17 lead.

In the second half, Azeez Ojulari sacked Guarantano and forced a fumble recovery at the 15-yard line, leading to another Georgia field goal from 34 yards. Eric Stokes' second interception of the season came on Tennessee's next drive, giving the Bulldogs possession on the Volunteer 36-yard line. Georgia could not convert a first down as Podlesny stepped in for a 51-yard field goal attempt. The redshirt-sophomore split the uprights for a new career-long and put the Bulldogs back in the lead with 10:11 to play in the third, 23-21.

An eight-play, 62-yard scoring drive resulted in Kearis Jackson's first career receiving touchdown, a 21-yard pass from Bennett, widening Georgia's lead to 30-21 near the end of the third quarter. A 1-yard touchdown pass from Bennett to freshman defensive lineman Jalen Carter lengthened the Bulldog lead to 37-21 with about 10 and a half minutes to play. The lead was bolstered on a Monty Rice scoop-and-score on Tennessee's very next drive. Rice sacked Guarantano, forcing Tennessee's third fumble of the game before picking up the ball and returning it 20 yards for the touchdown to create the final score of 44-21.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"I certainly didn't expect it to go that way. We didn't start the way we needed to. We've got to show a lot of improvement in a lot of areas and just disappointed in our start to the game. Anytime you spot somebody seven [points], that's not good. We gave up some explosive plays on defense. But the positives were we didn't blink, we've got a very emotional team and I thought in the locker room, there were a lot of emotions shown. Tennessee's got a good football team; I've got a lot of respect for Jeremy [Pruitt] and his staff, how hard his kids play, how physical they play. They play a really good brand of football, as we do too."

Monty Rice provided this game's defensive highlight with his QB sack, fumble recovery and 20-yard return for a touchdown midway through the fourth quarter.

Worth Noting…

• Georgia got 13 points on three turnovers while UT got seven points off two fumbles, including one recovered in the end zone by Kivon Bennett after a high snap resulted in a team rush for minus 30 yards. It gave UT a 7-0 lead with 14:17 left. It was the first fumble recovery for a TD against Georgia since 2018 (Josh Jacobs, Alabama). UT came in as one of five teams in the FBS (and the only SEC team) not to have a turnover this year. Georgia's Monty Rice had a 17-yard fumble return for a scoop and score to make it 44-21 advantage with 9:56 left.

• With the 44-21 victory, Georgia now leads the all-time series 25-23-2 as it dates back to 1899. Georgia has won four straight in the series. The Bulldogs are now 7-1 against ranked teams at home in the Kirby Smart era and 17-9 overall. This game was the first top 15 showdown with UT since 2006.

• Graduate transfer TE Tré McKitty made his first career start as a Bulldog as Georgia opened up with a two tight end set. It was his Bulldog debut as he missed the first two games this year due to a knee injury. He had made 19 starts at Florida State. On defense, sophomore SLB Nolan Smith made his first career start. The longest active starting streak on offense belongs to center Trey Hill now with 21 while Richard LeCounte leads the defense with 21 straight.

No. 2 Alabama 41, No. 3 Georgia 24

Oct. 17, 2020 • Bryant-Denny Stadium • Tuscaloosa, Ala.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. - The third-ranked Georgia Bulldogs suffered their first loss of the 2020 season to the second-ranked Alabama Crimson Tide, 41-24, in front of 19,424 spectators at Bryant-Denny Stadium and a CBS primetime national audience.

Both teams' defenses asserted themselves early with Stetson Bennett and Mac Jones each throwing interceptions on their opening drives. Alabama capitalized on its pick as Jones found John Metchie III for a 40-yard touchdown early in the first quarter. Georgia responded with a 10-yard touchdown run from Zamir White, following a 25-yard run by Kendall Milton. On the first play of the second quarter, Bennett connected with James Cook on an 82-yard touchdown catch, giving Georgia a 14-7 lead.

Following field goals from each teams, Alabama tied the game with a 17-yard touchdown to DeVonta Smith with three minutes left in the half. On the ensuing drive, Bennett led the Bulldogs down the field on a 12-play, 66-yard drive, culminating with a 5-yard touchdown to Jermaine Burton. Despite only 23 seconds remaining before halftime, the Crimson Tide picked up points on a career-long 50-yard field goal by Will Reichard.

The third quarter was marked by stout defense from both teams, but the impasse eventually broke when Jones unloaded a 90-yard touchdown pass to Jaylen Waddle, putting Alabama ahead for the rest of the contest. Looking to respond, Bennett's pass was tipped into the air and intercepted by Malachi Moore at the Alabama 25-yard line. The Crimson Tide moved to seal the game, leading to Najee Harris' 2-yard touchdown run with 51 seconds remaining in the third.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Bennett was intercepted for a third time near midfield, followed by Alabama running a five-minute drive that ended with a Reichard field goal. Trailing by 17, the Bulldogs made one last attempt to score, reaching the red zone via a pair of long completions to Kearis Jackson and Marcus Rosemy-Jacksaint. However, the drive would come up empty as Jack Podlesny missed from 35 yards out, allowing Alabama to run out the clock.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"Give Alabama a lot of credit. They have great skill players, and I thought we contained them early. The second half we couldn't do it. Give their coaches credit. They outcoached us. Frustrated we couldn't get anything going in the second half. We played a really great football team, and we had some costly turnovers. Give them credit, and we have to go back to the drawing board. We still control our own destiny... They made a couple big throws. They beat us on some bubble plays and a double move with Waddle. They made a lot of big plays on 50/50 balls. Smith and Waddle had some big catches."

James Cook scored on an 82-yard catch and run in the second quarter, the longest TD play of his career.

Worth Noting…

- Bennett connected on an 82-yard TD to James Cook, career-highs for both, and it marked the longest TD pass by the Bulldogs since a school record 98-yarder in 2013 from Aaron Murray to Reggie Davis versus North Texas.
- Redshirt sophomore PK Jack Podlesny hit a 50-yard field goal for a 17-10 lead with 5:42 left in the first half, missed a 35-yarder in the 4th quarter, and he was 3-for-3 on PATs. Georgia now has made an NCAA record 306 consecutive PATs with the streak including six kickers dating back to 2014. Auburn did hold the mark of 304 that ended last year.
- Senior DT Julian Rochester made his 20th career start but his first since 2018. The longest active starting streak on offense belongs to center Trey Hillnow with 22 while Richard LeCounte leads the defense with 22 straight.
- With the 41-27 victory, No. 2 Alabama now leads the all-time series 41-25-4 including an 8-2 edge in Tuscaloosa. The game marked No. 3 Georgia's third straight game facing a top 15 foe after posting wins over No. 7 Auburn and No. 14 Tennessee. Overall, Georgia is 9-5 in Top-10 showdowns in the Smart era.

No. 5 Georgia 14, Kentucky 3

Oct. 31, 2020 • Kroger Field • Lexington, Ky.

LEXINGTON, Ky. - Despite only producing two scoring drives, the fifth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs rode their outstanding defense to a 14-3 victory over the Kentucky Wildcats in front of 12,000 spectators at Kroger Field and an SEC Network television audience.

After forcing a Kentucky punt on its first possession, Georgia quickly established itself on the ground, rushing on every play on the way to a 2-yard touchdown run from Stetson Bennett. Following a pair of punts from each team, Kentucky embarked on a marathon drive of its own that drained much of the second quarter clock. The Wildcats grabbed their lone points of the game with a 34-yard field goal from Matt Ruffolo, finishing off the 19-play, 77-yard sequence that lasted over 10 minutes.

The Georgia offense finally returned to the field in impressive fashion as Bennett found James Cook for a 46-yard completion that was then bolstered by consecutive strong rushes from Zamir White, moving the ball to the Kentucky 10-yard line. However, the drive was cut short as Bennett's pass was tipped for an interception by Kentucky's Phil Hoskins. While the Wildcats were unable to convert on the turnover, the Bulldogs also came up empty as Jack Podlesny's 53-yard field goal attempt was blocked at the end of the half.

On the opening possession of the second half, Georgia came out firing as Bennett connected with Darnell Washington on a 33-yard reception into Kentucky territory. Facing 4th-and-1 at the Wildcats' 22-yard line, White broke through the line for a season-long 22-yard touchdown run, concluding a 7-play, 75-yard scoring drive. Kentucky crossed into Georgia territory on the ensuing drive, but Monty Rice forced a Joey Gatewood fumble that was recovered by Richard LeCounte at the 36-yard line. The Bulldogs reached midfield on the following drive, but the momentum was cut once again as Bennett was intercepted by Kelvin Joseph on a deep throw to the Kentucky 18.

In the fourth quarter, the Wildcats looked to cut the deficit with another long march into Bulldog territory, but an incompletion on 4th-and-6 gave the ball back to Georgia and ended any chance of a comeback win.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"We came in with the mind set that we wanted to score every single possession we got the ball and do it by any means necessary. Whether that was run the ball, throw the ball, you take what they give you. And that's what we were doing...We executed well at times. We ran the ball against a really good, physical Kentucky defense. I was pleased with that. It's hard to make yourself throw when you're running successfully...(Kentucky) did a great job of shortening the game. They know that they were probably over-matched, and they shrunk the game. They ran the quarterback and they didn't take many chances, but they stayed on schedule."

Zamir White, Tré McKitty and Stetson Bennett celebrate the latter's first-quarter touchdown run against the Wildcats.

• With the win, Georgia owns a 60-12-2 edge in the series that dates back to 1939. Georgia now has won 11 straight, which marks its longest stretch of success in the series. The teams have played annually since 1956.

• Fifth-ranked Georgia blanked UK in the second half in helping post a 14-3 victory and improve to 4-1. UK finished with 229 yards of total offense on 64 plays. In the first half, the Wildcats ran 33 plays and tallied 121 yards of total offense. Coming into the game, Georgia ranked 2nd in the SEC in Scoring Defense at 19.5 points per game while UK was averaging 24.4 points a game. Last year, Georgia blanked the Wildcats 21-0 in the rain.

• Junior punter Jake Camarda finished the first half with one punt for 54 yards and placed it at the UK 7 with no return. In the second half, he punted once, a 41-yarder with no return that he placed at the UK 10. Coming into the game, Camarda ranked No. 2 nationally in punting (50.7 avg.) and is third in Net Punting (47.9).

No. 8 Florida 44, No. 5 Georgia 28

Nov. 7, 2020 • TIAA Bank Field • Jacksonville, Fla.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. - On a soggy neutral turf, the fifth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs (4-2, 4-2 SEC) fell, 44-28, to the eighth-ranked Florida Gators (4-1, 4-1 SEC) in front of 19,210 fans at TIAA Bank Field and a CBS television audience.

On the first play from scrimmage, Zamir White immediately put Georgia on the board with a 75-yard rushing touchdown. Following a three-and-out for the Gators, the Bulldogs quickly moved into Florida territory before Stetson Bennett found Marcus Rosemy-Jacksaint for a 32-yard touchdown, building an early 14-0 lead. Facing a two-score deficit, Florida's offense broke into Georgia territory with a 39-yard completion from Kyle Trask to Keon Zipperer, leading to a 14-yard touchdown catch by Justin Shorter with 8:20 remaining in the first quarter. On their ensuing possession, the Gators again worked down the field, culminating in a 2-yard touchdown run from Dameon Pierce to tie the game.

Early in the second quarter, Georgia retook the lead as Eric Stokes picked off Trask and returned it 37 yards for his second touchdown of the season, giving the Bulldogs a 21-14 advantage with 12:17 to play in the half. Despite the turnover, Florida soon rebounded with a two-play scoring drive, featuring a 50-yard completion followed by a 25-yard scoring completion to Kyle Pitts. Following a Georgia punt, Florida broke the tie with a 24-yard touchdown catch by Kemore Gamble before later adding a 50-yard field goal from Evan McPherson. The Gators then took advantage of a short punt with a 14-yard touchdown from Trask to Trevon Grimes.

After Florida notched a 51-yard field goal, Georgia looked to narrow the margin, but Bennett was intercepted at the Florida 35-yard line on 3rd-and-10 near midfield. On the next Bulldog possession, D'Wan Mathis entered the game and engineered the first scoring drive since the opening quarter. Following a conversion on 4th-and-1 at midfield, Mathis found Kearis Jackson for a 25-yard touchdown. Following a missed 44-yard field goal by McPherson, both teams began trading punts in the fourth quarter. The Gators looked to seal the game but the Bulldogs forced an incompletion on 4th-and-4 at the Georgia 28 with five minutes remaining. On the next possession, Mathis was intercepted on a fourth down attempt, allowing Florida to close the scoring with a 34-yard field goal.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"Offensively, they played with a lot of eye-candy and emotions that obviously we didn't handle well. I always say, 'If somebody beat you man-to-man and you got it covered and you can't get the ball out, that's going to happen with the way we play defense.' But, when you let people score with nobody around and nobody there, it's not good...It'll be a game for me that was missed opportunities. I thought that we missed a lot of opportunities. I felt like with the defense and offense. I feel like we dropped a couple picks that could have been big plays. Obviously offensively, I feel like we missed a lot of open shots and that's the toughest thing."

Eric Stokes recorded his second "pick-six" of the season when he intercepted a Florida pass and returned it 37 yards for a score in the second quarter.

- Sophomore Zamir White had a 75-yard TD run to open the game, and Georgia finished with 91 yards on the ground in the first half. White's TD run marked the longest since D'Andre Swift went 83 yards against Kentucky in 2018. It marked the first time since 2017 when Georgia scored a TD on its first offensive play.
- Redshirt sophomore PK Jack Podlesny went 4-for-4 in PATs. Georgia now has made an NCAA record 312 consecutive PATs as the streak includes six kickers dating back to 2014.
- With the defeat, Georgia still holds a 53-44-2 edge in the series including 46-41-1 in Jacksonville. The Bulldogs saw their three-game winning streak in the series end. The game marked the third straight Top 10 matchup in the rivalry. Georgia is 4-4 versus UF in these while the Bulldogs are now 9-6 in top 10 games under Kirby Smart.
- Junior Christopher Smith (Safety), freshman Jalen Carter (DL) and freshman Kendall Milton (RB) made their first career starts.

GAME 7 No. 13 Georgia 31, Mississippi State 24

Nov. 21, 2020 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium • Athens

ATHENS, Ga. - The 13th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs defeated the Mississippi State Bulldogs, 31-24, in front of 20,524 spectators at Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium and a national audience on the SEC Network.

Mississippi State jumped on the board first with an eight-minute opening drive, culminating with a 22-yard field goal from Brandon Ruiz. Following an unsuccessful first possession, Georgia heated up in the second quarter as JT Daniels connected with George Pickens on an 8-yard touchdown pass, the first of Daniels' Bulldog career.

MSU responded with another lengthy drive, using over seven minutes to retake the lead on a 4-yard touchdown rush by Dillon Johnson. On the ensuing possession, Daniels found Jermaine Burton for 49 yards, but MSU's defense was able to halt the momentum, leading to a field goal from Jack Podlesny that tied the game at 10.

MSU soon retook the lead as Jaden Walley posted a 51-yard catch-and-run, but Daniels and Burton connected once again for an 18-yard touchdown catch with just 30 seconds in the half, sending both teams into the locker room tied at 17 apiece.

In the third quarter, Georgia opened with the ball, leading to a 48-yard touchdown pass from Daniels to Burton, giving the Bulldogs their largest lead of the contest.

As they had multiple times before, State methodically moved down field, striking with a 15-yard completion from Rogers to Osirus Mitchell on third down that set up Johnson's 3-yard touchdown rush to tie the game.

As the defenses started to assert themselves, Georgia used its stout passing game to take the lead for good on a nine-play scoring drive, with Daniels finding Kearis Jackson for a 40-yard touchdown on third-and-20. MSU looked to respond again, but each of their final two drives were halted by sacks from Jermaine Johnson and Azeez Ojulari, allowing Georgia to kneel out the clock.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"First off, hats off to Mississippi State and Coach Mike Leach and his team. To come over here and have some guys down and go out and play the way they did; I thought they played with a lot of heart and a lot of fight. What JT did, he said 'coach, I want to come down to the scouts and I want to throw, and I want to be part of the game plan.' And he came down in front of me and went every day against what I think is a pretty good defense and he made plays and moved around the pocket and he started showing us that 'I can do this thing' and he took the bull by the horns and he took advantage of it tonight."

JT Daniels made his Georgia debut a memorable one by throwing for a career-best 401 yards and four TDs.

Worth Noting…

- In his first action for Georgia, redshirt sophomore transfer JT Daniels (28-for-38, 401 yards, 4 TDs) set a career high for passing yards and TD passes. His previous best was 349 yards versus Notre Dame in 2018 and he had three TD passes twice before while at USC. Daniels became the first Bulldog QB to throw for more than 400 yards in a game since Aaron Murray in 2013 against Auburn when he went for 415. Daniels is the seventh Bulldog to throw for at least 400 yards in a game.
- Daniels became the third different Bulldog to start at quarterback this year. The 2006 season marked the last time Georgia started three different QBs in a season: Joe Tereshinski III, Matthew Stafford, and Joe Cox.
- Freshman Jermaine Burton led the receivers with eight catches for a career-high 197 yards and 2 TDs. His 197 yards ranks fourth best in Georgia history for a game and the most since Tavarres King set the record with 205 against Michigan State in 2012 Outback Bowl.
- For the fifth time in a regulation game in the modern era, and the second time under Kirby Smart, Georgia wore black jerseys. The Bulldogs last wore them in a regular season game during a 2016 win over Louisiana. In the 2019 Red-Black Spring game, the black team wore black jerseys.

No. 9 Georgia 45, South Carolina 16

Nov. 28, 2020 • Williams-Brice Stadium • Columbia, S.C.

COLUMBIA, S.C. - The ninth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs rode their stout run game to a decisive 45-16 win over the South Carolina Gamecocks in front of 16,444 fans at Williams-Brice Stadium and an SEC Network television audience.

After receiving the opening kick, Georgia broke into the South Carolina red zone with a 40-yard completion from JT Daniels to Tre' McKitty, leading to McKitty reaching for the pylon on a 6-yard catch-and-run touchdown three plays later. Following a Gamecock punt, the Bulldogs once again used explosive plays to cross midfield as Cook rushed for 44 yards on the second play of the possession and Daniels found George Pickens for a 17-yard catch. Cook then closed out the scoring drive with a 5-yard touchdown rush. On the ensuing Georgia drive, White extended the early lead with a 22-yard touchdown run.

South Carolina finally broke onto the scoreboard with a 1-yard touchdown carry by Kevin Harris, before adding a 39-yard field goal on its next drive. Unfazed by the scoring burst, the Bulldogs remained strong on the ground, culminating in Cook busting straight through the line for a 29-yard touchdown. In need of a score, the Gamecocks methodically moved into Bulldog territory, highlighted by a fourth down conversion at their own 34-yard line, but they were unable to capitalize as Parker White missed from 53 yards out just before halftime.

After South Carolina went three-and-out on its first drive of the second half, Kearis Jackson returned a punt 52 yards to the Gamecock 13-yard line, leading to a quick 3-yard touchdown run from White. On their next drive, the Bulldogs appeared to add another touchdown from Daijun Edwards, but a penalty negated the score and they would have to settle for a 32-yard field goal from Jack Podlesny. Following Tyson Campbell's first career interception and subsequent 40-yard return, Georgia opened the final quarter impressively as Daniels connected with Arian Smith on a 31-yard touchdown.

South Carolina responded with its longest drive of the night, closing out with a 7-yard touchdown pass from Luke Doty to Nick Muse, but the ensuing extra point was blocked by Jalen Carter. The Bulldogs would run out the last nine minutes of the game with a 13-play drive to the Gamecock 1-yard line, including 11 rushes from Edwards.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"I'm really proud of our guys. I don't know if really anybody understands the college football environment this year. It is just so different, 2020 has been so different in terms of motivation. These kids sacrifice a lot to have this season. They don't get to go and do things they normally do. The season has really been long and all across college football with the injuries, COVID concerns and cancellations it has been a really unique year. I just want to give our kids a lot of credit for sticking through it, staying together and continuing to fight. This group has really stuck together, and I want to give them a lot of credit for that."

Channing Tindall returned to his hometown and recorded one of four QB sacks by the Bulldog defense.

- The Bulldogs tallied a season-high 332 yards on the ground on 46 attempts for a 7.2 average and four TDs. It was the first 300+ yard rushing attack since going for 323 against Vanderbilt last year and the most since getting 426 against UMass in 2018.
- With the 45-16 win, Georgia now leads the all-time series 52-19-2 including winning five of the last six. Kirby Smart won his 50th game as the Bulldogs coach. He is 50-14 in this his fifth season including 4-1 against the Gamecocks.
- Freshman Arian Smith had a 31-yard TD reception for his first career catch. He is the first Bulldog to score on his first touch since Demetris Robertson scored on a 72-yard run against Austin Peay in 2018.
- The longest active starting streak on offense belongs to center Trey Hill now with 26 while the longest streak on defense belongs to junior DB Eric Stokes at 23. Redshirt sophomores Azeez Ojulari, and Zamir White along with junior Channing Tindall (a native of Columbia, S.C.) served as the captains. It was the second straight week that Ojulari was a captain, a first for the Bulldogs this year. Ojulari, senior Monty Rice and junior Jamaree Salyer each have been a game captain a team-high three times this year.

No. 9 Georgia 49, No. 25 Missouri 14

Dec. 12, 2020 • Memorial Stadium • Columbia, Mo.

COLUMBIA, Mo. - With a second-half offensive surge, the ninth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs pulled away from the 25th-ranked Missouri Tigers, 49-14, Saturday afternoon in front of 10,830 fans at Memorial Stadium and an SEC Network television audience.

The Georgia defense immediately made its mark as Eric Stokes intercepted Missouri quarterback Connor Bazelak on the Tigers' second play from scrimmage, returning his fourth pick of the season 27 yards to the Missouri 23-yard line. The Bulldogs then ran six consecutive times, culminating in Kenny McIntosh's 2-yard scoring rush, his first of the season. After a Mizzou punt, James Cook added to the Bulldogs' lead with a 37-yard catch-and-run touchdown on third-and-8, bringing the score to 14-0 halfway through the first quarter.

Missouri answered on its ensuing possession as a 29-yard trick play reception set up a 2-yard touchdown run from Bazelak. For much of the second quarter, both teams struggled offensively, but the Tigers blocked a Jake Camarda punt and returned it to the Bulldogs' 1-yard line. After two goal line stops, tailback Larry Rountree broke through the line for a score, tying the game at 14 with just over a minute before halftime.

In need of a response, Daniels and the Georgia passing game quickly moved down the field with three straight long completions, culminating in a terrific 36-yard touchdown catch by Pickens. The offense carried the momentum into the second half, beginning with a 36-yard White rush into Missouri territory. Three plays later, Daniels again found Pickens for a 31-yard touchdown reception. After the Tigers stalled near midfield, the Bulldogs broke the game open as White took off for a 43-yard touchdown rush.

On the ensuing Georgia possession, a 36-yard completion from Daniels to Darnell Washington set up Cook's second touchdown of the day, a 9-yard rush. Edwards would then wrap up the Bulldogs' scoring for the day with a 6-yard touchdown run on the second play of the fourth quarter, becoming the fourth different Georgia runner to score in the contest.

Coach Kirby Smart said…

"Really proud of our team, proud of our seniors, proud of our leadership, proud of our staff, and proud of our support staff. It was some really tough conditions to play in today, and it just goes to show you that not everybody across the country loves football the way the kids do, especially in our conference, but they love it and they love it at Georgia. The leaders on this team said they wanted to play well and they practiced really hard this week... At the end of the day, those kids showed up to play and play physical and play fast, and they practiced hard all week when, across the country, that's not happening in every place. I'm proud of the way those guys handled it."

George Pickens outraces the Missouri defense to score his second touchdown of the day.

- In a little more than three quarters of action, redshirt sophomore QB JT Daniels finished 16-for-27 for 299 yards and 3 TDs in a 49-14 victory. Georgia finished with 615 yards of total offense (299-passing, 316 rushing), the most since going for 656 against Arkansas State last year. This is the second straight game with 40+ points by the offense after a 45-16 road win over South Carolina.
- Freshman Daijun Edwards got his first career TD, a six-yarder and finished with a career-high 103 yards on 11 attempts. Along with Zamir White's 126 yards, this was the first time since the 2018 Kentucky game that the Bulldogs had a pair go over 100 yards. That day it was D'Andre Swift (157) and Elijah Holyfield (117).
- Junior Eric Stokes notched his team-leading fourth interception on Missouri's opening possession and returned it 27 yards to the MU 23. It led to a TD and a 7-0 edge. Georgia now has 9 interceptions on the year, the most since 2017 when the Bulldogs had 12.
- At kickoff, the temperature in Columbia was 39 degrees. In the Kirby Smart era, the previous coldest temperature at kickoff was 40 degrees against Missouri last year in Athens. The last time Georgia played a game that began in the 30s was the 2014 Belk Bowl in Charlotte on Dec. 30. It was 39 degrees, and the Bulldogs defeated Louisville 37-14.

KIRBY SMART

Head Football Coach

• FIFTH SEASON AS GEORGIA COACH • 51-14 RECORD IN FIVE SEASONS • 2017 SEC CHAMPIONS • SEC EASTERN DIVISION CHAMPS 2017-19 • 2017 NATIONAL RUNNER-UP • 2017 GEORGE MUNGER AWARD (NAT'L. COACH OF THE YEAR BY MAXWELL CLUB) • ONE BUTKUS AWARD WINNER • ONE THORPE AWARD WINNER • ONE LOU GROZA AWARD WINNER • FIVE 1ST-TEAM ALL-AMERICANS • FIVE 1ST ROUND NFL DRAFT PICKS • TWENTY-ONE NFL DRAFT PICKS OVERALL

Three straight SEC Eastern Division championships, 51 wins, one SEC title, three bowl victories, and an appearance in one national championship game are more than respectable rewards over a five-year period. That's what Georgia got when it hired Alabama defensive coordinator and former Bulldog player and assistant coach Kirby Smart to head the program in December, 2015.

His impact, along with a stellar coaching staff, players, and a passionate fan base has put Georgia on the national stage four years running.

The 2020 Bulldogs became Smart's fourth consecutive team to earn a New Year's Six bowl game. With a Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory, this year's Bulldog senior class could tie the record for the most wins by a senior class in school history (44) set by the 2005 and 2019 teams. This is also Smart's fourth straight team to finish the regular season ranked in the top ten of the College Football Playoff rankings.

Smart's 2019 Bulldogs became the first team in school history to win 11 or more games for a third straight season. The senior class posted a four-year record of 44-12, matching the school record of 44 wins for a senior class. Along the 2019 schedule, Georgia defeated three Top 15 teams in the final CFP ranking — Notre Dame, Florida, and Auburn — and finished as the fourth-ranked team in the final polls. The Bulldogs capped their season with a dominant victory over Baylor in the Allstate Sugar Bowl game.

Georgia in 2018 posted an 11-1 regular season record, a second straight SEC Eastern Division title, and a ranking as high as number four in the College Football Playoff poll. Georgia landed in the Allstate Sugar Bowl on Jan. 1, 2019—the program's tenth all-time appearance in the New Orleans classic. For his efforts, Smart was named a semifinalist in the Maxwell Club George Munger National Coach of the Year balloting and a finalist in the Bobby Dodd Trophy Coach of the Year competition.

Smart's second season in 2017 was a special one, with an 11-1 regular-season record, an SEC championship, a win over Oklahoma in the Rose Bowl Game (College Football Playoff semifinal) and advancement into the College Football Playoff National Championship Game in the program's first appearance. In the SEC championship game, the Bulldogs avenged their only regular-season loss with a 28-7 victory over Auburn. It was the first conference title since 2005 for the Red and Black.

Both Smart and his players reaped the bounty of their banner 2017 season. He was named George Munger National Coach of the Year by the Maxwell Football Club, SEC Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and SEC Coaches, and the Regional Coach of the Year by the AFCA. Roquan Smith earned first-team All-America honors and the Dick Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker. Smith, Isaiah Wynn and Sony Michel were all taken in the first round of the 2018 NFL Draft, which also claimed seniors Nick Chubb, Lorenzo Carter and Javon Wims in subsequent rounds.

In Smart's first season leading the Bulldogs, Georgia made its 20th straight bowl appearance and posted four fourth-quarter comebacks, including wins over No. 8 Auburn and No. 22 UNC. He led the Bulldogs to an 8-5 final record, which included a victory over TCU in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl.

Smart has also made a profound impact in recruiting circles by posting the nation's third-ranked class in 2017, followed by three more classes of signees that ranked either first or second by every authority.

In addition to his coaching duties, Smart oversees the Kirby Smart Family Foundation, which is focused on being champions in the community by supporting needy children and families facing adversity.

Smart officially came home to Georgia on Dec. 6, 2015, but he had unfinished business at Alabama, which was still chasing a national title. He juggled two jobs for a month until Jan. 11, 2016, when the Crimson Tide won its fourth national championship in a 7-year span. Twelve hours later, he was at work in Athens, where he remains one of nine head coaches at schools from Power 5 conferences that are coaching at their alma mater.

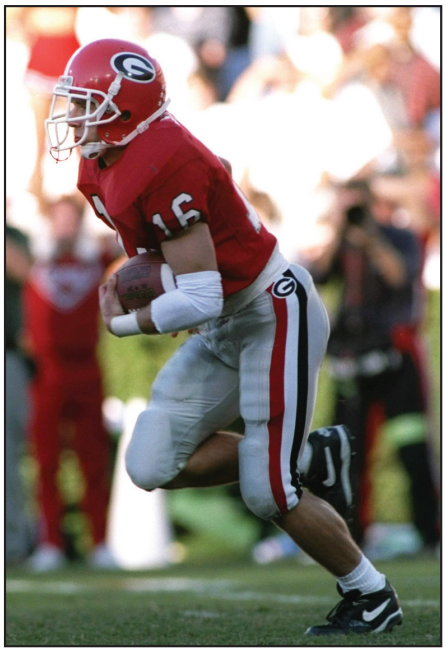
Smart had served on the Alabama staff the previous nine years, the past seven as defensive coordinator. During his tenure at Alabama, the Crimson Tide won three BCS National Championships, one College Football Playoff national title, three SEC crowns, six SEC Western Division titles, and was ranked in the nation's final top 10 the last eight years in a row.

Smart was one of the nation's most respected defensive coordinators. During his time at Alabama, he coached players at three different positions, in addition to his coordinating duties. He was recognized as the 2012 AFCA Assistant Coach of the Year and the 2009 Broyles Award winner as college football's top assistant. He also was a finalist for the 2015 Broyles Award.

Prior to joining the Alabama staff in 2007, Smart spent the 2006 season as safeties coach with the NFL's Miami Dolphins. He served six years on the collegiate level as the running backs coach at Georgia (2005), defensive backs coach at LSU (2004), graduate assistant at Florida State (2002-03), defensive coordinator/linebackers coach (2001) and defensive backs coach (2000) at Valdosta State, and administrative assistant at Georgia (1999).

Smart was the running backs coach for Georgia's 2005 SEC Championship team. His unit averaged 162.2 rushing yards per game, third in the SEC. He coached Thomas Brown, Danny Ware and Kregg Lumpkin — all future NFL players. In 2004 at LSU, he tutored two NFL draft picks: Corey Webster (2nd round, New York Giants) and Travis Daniels (4th round, Miami).

As a player, Smart was a four-year letterman at defensive back for Georgia, where he was a First-Team All-SEC pick as a senior. He finished his career with 13 interceptions, a mark that still ranks sixth in UGA annals, and paced the Bulldogs with six interceptions in 1997 and five in 1998. He led the SEC in interceptions during his final season. Smart also scored two points as a collegian. He was the first player in UGA history — and one of just two Bulldogs since the rule was introduced in 1988 — to return a blocked PAT for two points, having brought one back 88 yards against New Mexico State in his freshman year of 1995.



Smart was a first-team All-SEC choice as a senior in 1998, when he led the league with five interceptions. Smart had six interceptions in his junior season of 1997.

A four-time member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll, Smart received his bachelor's degree in Finance from Georgia in 1998 and his master's in Physical Education from Florida State in 2003.

The Bainbridge, Ga., native is married to the former Mary Beth Lycett of McDonough, Ga., a 4-year letterwinner and 2-year starter, on the Georgia women's basketball team from 2000-03. The couple met long after their undergraduate days at Georgia, when Lycett — then working in the UGA Athletic Association Business Office — helped arrange Smart's trip to interview for the Bulldogs' running backs coaching job in 2005. They are the proud parents of twins Weston and Julia (born Feb. 8, 2008) and son Andrew (born May 25, 2012).

Dan Lanning

Fain and Billy Slaughter Defensive Coordinator -- Outside Linebackers

Dan Lanning was named the Fain and Billy Slaughter Defensive Coordinator in February, 2019, after serving one year as Georgia's outside linebackers coach. He joined the Bulldog staff after two years as inside linebacker coach and recruiting coordinator at the University of Memphis.

In Lanning's two seasons coordinating the Georgia defense, his charges have ranked among the nation's leaders in several categories, including total defense, scoring defense and rushing defense. He was also named one of five finalists for the 2019 Broyles Award, which is presented to college football's assistant coach of the year.

In his first year at Georgia, Lanning was part of a coaching staff that led the Bulldogs to their second straight season with 11 or more wins, second straight SEC Eastern Division title, and appearance in a New Years Six bowl game. The UGA defense finished second in the SEC in total defense and third in pass defense and opponent third down conversions.

Lanning joined the Memphis staff in 2016 after spending the 2015 season at Alabama as a graduate assistant coach with the outside linebackers. Prior to Alabama, he held positions at Pittsburgh (2011), Arizona State (2012-13) and Sam Houston State (2014).

At Memphis he was part of a staff that that led the Tigers to their third 10-win season in school history and finished in the top five in the country in turnovers gained two years in a row.

At Alabama, Lanning was a member of the coaching staff that guided the Crimson Tide to a 14-1 record, the SEC Championship and the 2015 College Football Playoff (CFP) national title. Lanning worked with a Crimson Tide defense that ranked top-10 nationally in five statistical categories.

Lanning began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant on the staff at Pittsburgh in 2011. He also includes stops at Arizona State (2012-13) and Sam Houston State (2014) before coming to Alabama in 2015.

Lanning got his start in coaching at Park Hill South High School in Riverside, Mo., from 2008-10. In his three seasons there, he served as an assistant coach with emphasis on special teams, defensive backs and wide receivers.

A Richmond, Mo., native, Lanning played linebacker at William Jewell College, located in Liberty, Mo. He earned two Bachelor of Science degrees in physical education and secondary education in 2008. Two years later, Lanning completed coursework for his master's degree in secondary administration from William Woods University in Fulton, Mo.

Lanning and his wife, Sauphia, have three sons: Caden, Kniles and Titan.

Todd Monken

Offensive Coordinator — Quarterbacks

NFL and college veteran coach Todd Monken was named Offensive Coordinator at UGA on January 17, 2020.

Monken, a native of Wheaton, Ill., came to Georgia after serving as offensive coordinator with the Cleveland Browns in 2019. He had also held the offensive coordinator position with the Tampa Bay Bucs for three seasons (2016-18) and head coaching position at Southern Miss for three years (2013-15). The Knox College (Ill.) graduate also coached the wide receivers his first two seasons in Tampa Bay.

In 2019, Monken directed a Browns offense that was led by former Bulldog standout Nick Chubb, who was second in the NFL with 1,494 yards on 298 carries (5.0 yards/carry) and eight touchdowns.

In 2018, he helped the Bucs lead the NFL in passing offense and finish third in the league in total offense. The Buccaneers set numerous club records including total yards, passing yards and passing touchdowns. Wide receiver Mike Evans thrived under Monken's offense as he earned his first two Pro Bowl selections and topped 1,000 receiving yards in all three seasons.

In 2013, Monken took over a program at Southern Miss that had finished 0-12 the previous season. By the end of his third season, the Golden Eagles had reached the postseason, going 9-5 in 2015, winning the Conference USA West division and playing in the Heart of Dallas Bowl.

Before joining Southern Miss, Monken spent two seasons as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for Oklahoma State (2011-12), his second stint with the Cowboys after having worked as the passing game coordinator and wide receivers coach from 2002-04. During his time as offensive coordinator, the team set school season records for total offensive yards, passing yards, completion percentage, points scored and passing touchdowns. He worked with quarterback Brandon Weeden and wide receiver Justin Blackmon, who both went on to be first round picks in the 2012 NFL Draft.

Between stints at OSU, Monken served as the passing game coordinator/wide receivers coach at LSU from 2005-06. He then spent four seasons (2007-10) working as the wide receivers coach for the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Monken began his coaching career at Grand Valley State, spending two seasons as a graduate assistant (1989-90), before holding the same title at Notre Dame (1991-92). He also coached at Eastern Michigan, where he worked as the defensive backs/wide receivers coach (1993-97), before being elevated to the offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach (1998-99). In addition, Monken served as the running backs coach (2000) and the wide receivers coach (2001) at Louisiana Tech.

Monken was a three-year letterwinner at quarterback for Knox College. He earned a bachelor's degree in economics and a master's degree in education leadership from Grand Valley State. Monken is a member of the Knox College Athletic Hall of Fame. He and his wife, Terri, have one son, Travis.

Scott Cochran

Special Teams Coordinator

Scott Cochran was named Special Teams Coordinator in February, 2020, after serving 13 years as head strength and conditioning coach at Alabama.

In Cochran's first year overseeing Georgia's special teams units, the Bulldogs have ranked among the nation's leaders in kickoff coverage and net punting, while junior punter Jake Camarda has remained all season in the top five nationally in average per punt.

A two-time National Strength Coach of the Year, Cochran was on the staff of six national championship teams – five at Alabama (2009, '11, '12, '15, '17) and one at LSU (2003). Nationally regarded as one of the best in the area of strength and conditioning, Cochran received one of the highest honors in his field when he was named the 2011 Samson Strength & Conditioning Coach of the Year, as featured in American Football Monthly.

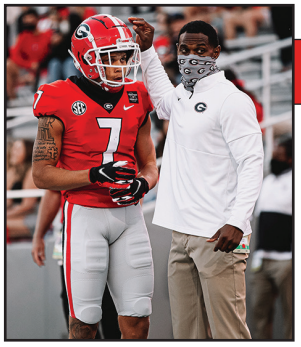
Smart and Cochran both began their Alabama careers in 2007 and spent nine years together before Smart left to take his current position in Athens. Cochran implemented an offseason workout plan at Alabama before spring practice each year, which included the well-known "Fourth Quarter Program" to help players develop physically and prepare for upcoming practices.

On the way to the 2009 national championship, Alabama won the fourth quarter by an astounding margin of 121-32. The Tide continued this trend in 2011, dominating the fourth quarter 111-18 en route to the program's second national title in three years. A third title in four years proved strong in the fourth quarter as well posting a 118-47 advantage. The 2015 team won the fourth quarter 138-80 while the 2017 title team boasted 97-47 advantage.

Cochran joined the Bama staff in 2007 after spending three seasons with the New Orleans Hornets of the NBA as an assistant strength coach. With the Hornets, he worked with standouts Chris Paul, Baron Davis, David West and Tyson Chandler.

Prior to joining the Hornets staff, Cochran worked at both LSU (2001-03) and University Laboratory High School (1998-2001) in Baton Rouge. He then was hired on to the full-time staff for the 2003-04 season.

A native of New Orleans, Cochran earned a bachelor's degree in Kinesiology (2001) and a master's degree in Sports Management (2003) from LSU. He was born on March 21, 1979, and is married to the former Cissy Schepens. They have three children, including one son Beau and two daughters, Savannah and Lucy.



Cortez Hankton

Pass Game Coordinator — Wide Receivers

Former NFL wide receiver Cortez Hankton was named Pass Game Coordinator and Wide Receivers Coach in February of 2019 after serving the 2018 season as an assistant coach in charge of the receivers.

In his first year at Georgia, Hankton was part of a coaching staff that led the Bulldogs to their second consecutive season with 11 or more wins, second straight SEC Eastern Division title, and appearance in a New Years Six bowl game. Hankton coached several big-play receivers in Terry Godwin, Mecole Hardman and Riley Ridley who combined for 1,475 receiving yards and were all taken in the 2019 NFL Draft.

Hankton joined the Georgia staff in February, 2018, after coaching wide receivers for three seasons at Vanderbilt. Prior to his time in Nashville, Hankton coached receivers for three seasons at Dartmouth in the Ivy League (2012-14). During that time, he helped the Big Green to a 20-10 overall record, including an 8-2 mark in 2014.

Hankton was signed as an undrafted rookie free agent in April, 2003, by the Jacksonville Jaguars. In his four years with the Jaguars, he caught 34 passes for 310 yards and a pair of touchdowns, both of which came in his sophomore campaign in 2004. Hankton signed with Minnesota in 2007 and spent the entire 2008 season on injured reserve with Tampa Bay.

A native of New Orleans, Hankton received his bachelor's degree in business administration from Texas Southern in 2002, where he set season and career records for receiving yards. He and his wife, the former Shon Holder, were married in July, 2014. They are the parents of sons Cortez "Trip" III and Cruz.

Todd Hartley

Assistant Coach — Tight Ends

Todd Hartley, a University of Georgia graduate who had previously been a full-time staff member of the Bulldog football program, was named tight ends coach on January 14, 2019.

In 2019, the Bulldogs became the first team in school history to win 11 or more games three straight seasons, won its third consecutive SEC Eastern Division title, and earned it third straight appearance in a New Year's Six Bowl game (2018 Rose, 2019 Allstate Sugar, 2020 Allstate Sugar). The 'Dogs defeated Baylor in the 2020 Allstate Sugar Bowl to complete a 12-2 season. He coached Charlie Woerner in 2019, a member of the senior class that won 44 games—tied for most victories in school history.

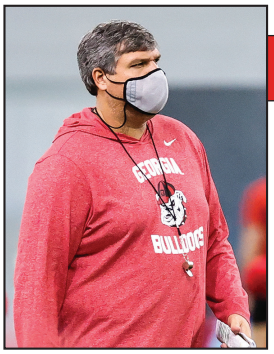
Hartley, a native of Gray, Ga., served as Miami's Special Teams Coordinator and Tight Ends Coach from 2016-18. During his tenure at Miami under head coach Mark Richt, Hartley coached tight end David Njoku before he was taken in the 2017 NFL Draft as the 29th overall pick and also guided tight end Christopher Herndon, who was taken in the fourth round of the 2018 draft.

Hartley arrived in Miami after serving as Georgia's Director of Player Personnel in 2015. Before his return to Georgia, he spent four years at Marshall serving in a variety of roles, including tight ends and safeties coach and recruiting coordinator from 2011-14.

Hartley originally joined the Georgia program as a student assistant at the end of the 2005 season. He worked with the offense and special teams until the spring of 2008 while he was an undergraduate.

Georgia had an 11-win season and tallied three bowl victories during Hartley's years working with the Bulldogs, including a 41-10 rout of No. 10 Hawai'i in the 2008 Sugar Bowl. He was instrumental in preparation of the Georgia defense for the 2009 Independence Bowl at a time when only one full-time defensive assistant was on staff.

Hartley graduated from Georgia with a degree in health and physical education in May, 2008. He and his wife Jessica have four children: Tucker, Teagan, Tenley and Tatum.



Matt Luke

Associate Head Coach — Offensive Line

Matt Luke, head coach at Ole Miss for the past three seasons, was named Associate Head Coach and Offensive Line Coach at Georgia on Dec. 10, 2019.

Luke brings a wealth of experience, both as a developer of talent and a builder of offenses. During his 25 years in the collegiate game, both as a player and coach, he has worked alongside a number of successful coaches. On the field he has tutored 17 all-conference players, including All-Americans and first-round NFL draftees Laremy Tunsil and Laken Tomlinson.

A native of Gulfport, Miss., Luke was named the interim head coach at Ole Miss in time for the 2017 season. After a 6-6 regular season, capped by a road victory over Mississippi State in the Egg Bowl, the "interim" tag was removed from his title.

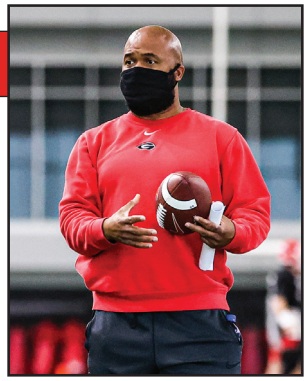
Luke lettered four seasons (1995-98) as a center at Ole Miss. A starter in 33 career games for the Rebels, he served as team captain in 1998 as the Rebels posted a 7-5 ledger and defeated Texas Tech in the Independence Bowl.

After his playing career, Luke was a student assistant coach at Ole Miss in 1999, and he graduated in May 2000 with a degree in business administration. His coaching career included stops which led to his head coaching position at Ole Miss: Murray State (OL, 2000-2001), Ole Miss (OL/TE, 2002-2005), Tennessee (OL/TE, 2006-07), Duke (Co-Off. Coordinator/OL, 2008-2011), Ole Miss (Co-Off. Coordinator/OL, 2011-2016).

Luke is married to the former Ashley Grantham of Oxford, Miss., and the couple has two sons, Harrison (born Feb. 18, 2008) and Cooper (born July 20, 2011). Luke's father, Tommy, was a defensive back at Ole Miss in the 1960s while his brother, Tom, quarterbacked the Rebels from 1989-91.

Dell McGee

Run Game Coordinator — Running Backs



Dell McGee was named Run Game Coordinator and Running Backs Coach after one season as Assistant Head Coach. He had served the previous two seasons as an assistant coach, overseeing running backs.

In his five seasons at UGA, McGee coached four 1,000-yard season rushers: Nick Chubb (1,345 in 2017 and 1,130 in 2016); Sony Michel (1,161 in 2017); D'Andre Swift (1,049 in 2018); Elijah Holyfield (1,018 in 2018); and Swift again in 2019 (1,218). In the 2018 NFL draft, Michel was the 31st player picked by New England and Chubb was 35th pick of the draft by Cleveland. Chubb and Michel finished their careers as the Nos. 2 and 3 career rushers in UGA history, amassing over 8,400 combined yards and 87 touchdowns. Additionally, Rivals.com named McGee the 2018 National Recruiter of the Year after the Bulldogs signed the consensus No. 1-rated recruiting class.

Just 10 days before he came to UGA, McGee led Georgia Southern to victory in its first-ever bowl game (GoDaddy Bowl) as interim head coach.

He served as running backs coach at GSU the previous two seasons, during both of which the Eagles led the nation in rushing offense—384 yards per game in 2014 and 363 yards per game in 2015.

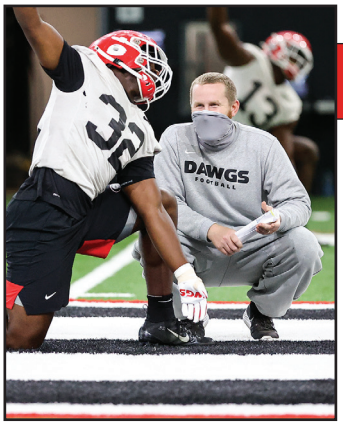
McGee developed Carver-Columbus High School into a perennial powerhouse. The Tigers rattled off seven straight seasons with 10 or more wins, including a perfect 15-0 season en route to the Georgia state title.

McGee was a two-year starter and four-year letterwinner at Auburn from 1992-95, helping preserve the Tigers' undefeated 1993 season with a critical interception against Alabama.

McGee and his wife Linda have a son, Austin.

Glenn Schumann

Co-Defensive Coordinator — Inside Linebackers



Glenn Schumann was named Co-Defensive Coordinator & Inside Linebackers coach at Georgia in February of 2019 after three seasons in charge of the Bulldogs' inside linebackers.

In 2019 he was part of a coaching staff that led Georgia to its third straight season with 11 or more wins, third straight SEC Eastern Division title, and appearance in a New Years Six bowl game. The Georgia defense led the nation in scoring defense and rushing defense, ranking among FBS leaders in several other categories.

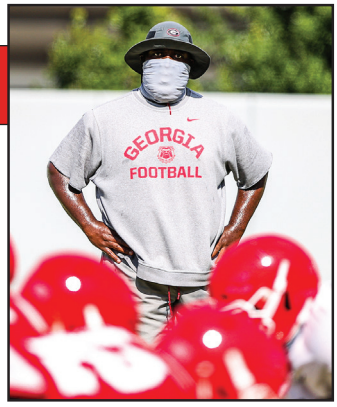
Schumann's star pupil over his first two years was Roquan Smith, the Bulldogs' leading tackler who capped his junior season by winning the Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker. Smith in 2017 was a consensus All-American, SEC Defensive Player of the Year, and he finished in the top ten in the Heisman Trophy voting. He has led the Chicago Bears in tackles in each of his first three years as a professional.

Schumann spent eight years with the Crimson Tide, first as an undergraduate analyst (2008-Dec. 2011) and then as a graduate assistant (Dec. 2011-Feb. 2014). He was named Director of Player Development and Associate Director of Player Personnel in Feb., 2014.

Born in Valdosta, Schumann graduated from McKinney Boyd High School in McKinney, Texas, where he lettered in both football and basketball. He earned his B.A. degree from Alabama in 2011 and his M.S. in sports management UA in December, 2013. He and his wife Lauren were married in the summer of 2015 and the couple has a son, Bryson Eric Schumann, born in September of 2019.

Tray Scott

Assistant Coach — Defensive Line



Tray Scott was named defensive line coach at UGA on February 10, 2017, after serving two years in a similar position at the University of North Carolina (2015-16).

In 2019 he was part of a coaching staff that led Georgia to its third straight season with 11 or more wins, third straight SEC Eastern Division title, and appearance in a New Years Six bowl game. The Georgia defense led the nation in scoring defense and rushing defense, ranking among FBS leaders in several other categories.

Scott's top player during his tenure at UNC was Nazair Jones, an All-ACC tackle who had 70 stops, 9.5 for lost yardage and 2.5 QB sacks as a junior in 2016. Jones was a third-round selection by the Seattle Seahawks in the 2017 NFL Draft.

Prior to moving to North Carolina, Scott served two years (2013-14) as defensive line coach at UT Martin, an FCS team in the Ohio Valley Conference. He also held positions as defensive line graduate assistant at Ole Miss (2012), assistant coach at Arkansas State (2010-11). Scott was also a graduate assistant coach at his alma mater, Arkansas Tech, from the fall of 2008 until the spring of 2010.

Scott earned his bachelor's degree in sociology from Arkansas Tech in 2008. He also received his Master's degree from Arkansas Tech in 2010. He is married to the former Sarah Fancher and the couple has a son, Julian Thomas Scott, born on May 22, 2017.

Charlton Warren

Assistant Coach — Defensive Backs

Charlton Warren was named Defensive Backs Coach in January 2019, after coaching the secondary at the University level for more than 14 years.

In 2019 he was part of a coaching staff that led Georgia to its third straight season with 11 or more wins, third straight SEC Eastern Division title, and appearance in a New Years Six bowl game. The Georgia defense led the nation in scoring defense and rushing defense, ranking among FBS leaders in several other categories.

Warren, a native of Atlanta, spent the 2018 season coaching cornerbacks at Florida and the 2017 season coaching Tennessee's defensive backs and serving as the program's special teams coordinator. In addition to stops at North Carolina (2015-16) and Nebraska (2014), Warren worked at his alma mater of Air Force from 2005 to 2013 in a variety of roles.

Warren graduated from Air Force in 1999 with a degree in Human Factors Engineering. While stationed at Warner Robins AFB from 2000-03, he earned an MBA from Georgia College and State University. Before returning to the Academy in 2005, Warren was stationed at Eglin AFB, Fla., as an air-to-ground weapons program manager for the Air Armament Center.

During his time at Air Force, Warren was a three-year letterman at defensive back for the Falcons, helping the program achieve consecutive 10-win seasons in 1997 and 1998, including a 12-1 record and an outright conference title in 1998.

Warren is married to Jocelyn Warren and the couple has three children: Jayree, Teya and Chase.

Scott Sinclair

Director of Strength & Conditioning

Scott Sinclair was named Director of Strength and Conditioning in January of 2015. In the past five years, he has played an integral part in Georgia's rise to prominence. During that time, the Bulldogs have posted three straight seasons of at least 11 wins, won or shared the past four SEC East Championships and played in three straight New Year's Six bowl games.

Sinclair came to Georgia after two years at Marshall. He joined the Marshall program in January, 2013, after nine years as an associate director of strength and conditioning at Central Florida, where he worked with the football, baseball and track programs.

In 2012, he was awarded the highest honor in his field when he was certified as a master strength and conditioning coach (MSCC) at the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association's national conference.

Sinclair served as an assistant strength and conditioning coach at Georgia Tech from 2001-03. While with the Jackets, he worked as the assistant director of player development for the Yellow Jackets' football squad. From 1999-2001, he worked in the Wake Forest strength and conditioning department.

A native of Rockingham, N.C., he earned his bachelor's degree in sports medicine from Guilford College in 1999. Sinclair, a member of the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association, received a master's degree in physical education from UCF in 2006. Sinclair and his wife, Farrah, have one son, Creed, and one daughter, Asher.

SEC Special Teams Player of the Year & All-SEC First Team, as selected by the league's 14 head coaches...semifinalist for the Ray Guy Award, which goes annually to the nation's top collegiate punter...current average of 47.9 yards per punt would rank 2nd nationally, but his 31 punts fall just shy of NCAA qualifying standard (3.6 punts/game)...a key reason behind Georgia's Top 10 national ranking in net punting (42.66 avg.)...named SEC Special Teams Player of the Week after season-opening performance in win at Arkansas...punted seven times for an average of 49.9 yards, with a long of 63 yards...dropped five of his punts at the 11-yard line or better...for the Arkansas and Alabama games, he was named to the "Ray's 4" list of top punters by the Ray Guy Award (nation's top punter), which also named Camarda to its pre-season watch list...his two punts vs. Tennessee were a 49-yarder (downed at the UT 8) and a season-long 64-yarder, booted from his own goal line... punted four times vs. Alabama for a 49.0 average, including three downed inside the 20-yard line...punted just twice in win at Kentucky, but both were downed inside the 10-yard line...earned his 2nd SEC Special Teams Player of the Week award after the game...serves two additional valuable roles: holder on placement kicks, and he's taken over kickoff duties in the past six games... just two of his 35 kickoffs have been returned, with 31 touchbacks.

2019

Punted 61 times for a 46.84 average...ranked 6th nationally (4th in the SEC) in punting average...a major factor in Georgia's improvement in net punting from 70th nationally in 2018 to 8th in 2019...SEC Special Teams Player of the Week after he punted 11 times (tied for third most in UGA history) for a 50.7 average in win at Auburn...twenty-five of his punts were downed inside the opponent's 20-yard line...three of his four punts vs. Georgia Tech were downed inside the 20, one of which was fumbled and resulted in a Georgia TD...two longest punts of his career were both downed inside the 10-yard line (67 yards, downed at the Auburn 2 in 2019; 66 yards, downed at the South Carolina 7 in 2018)...also had a 65-yarder in season opener at Vanderbilt...had punts of 64, 63 and 54 yards in the rain vs. Kentucky...had a 61-yard boot vs. Arkansas State...as Georgia's holder on placement kicks, he had a key 6-yard rush on a successful fake field goal in third quarter of Sugar Bowl win over Baylor...the Bulldogs scored their third TD of the game on the next play...has 30 career punts over 50 yards, nine of which covered 60 or more yards...co-winner of Special Teams Most Improved Player, awarded at team's post-season awards gala.

2018

Coaches Freshman All-SEC Team...won the starting punter's job in preseason camp...finished season with a 42.6-yard average on 43 punts ...punted three times for a 55.0 average in opener vs. Austin Peay...had three punts over 60 yards (63, 60, 62)...also has 10 punts downed or fair caught inside the 20-yard line...four of those were downed inside the 10, including two at the 1-yard line (vs. Fla., Auburn)...punted once at Kentucky for 55 yards, and once vs. Ga. Tech for 45 yards...went eight quarters without punting, a stretch that covered three games (Aub., UMass, Ga. Tech)...also served as the Bulldogs' holder on placement kicks.

High School

Norcross, coached by Keith Maloof... one of three kicking specialists picked to play in the 2018 Under Armour All-American Game...247Sports.com three-star prospect...Ranked as the #2 punter nationally...rated as both a five-star kicker and punter by Kohl's, as well as the nation's #1 kicker/punter, #1 punter and #4 kicker...PrepStar Magazine three-star prospect and a member of the PrepStar All-Southeast Region Team...2017 All-State Class 7A First Team punter by both the AJC and the Georgia Sports Writers Assn...kicker and punter for Norcross from 2015-17...made four field goals outside of 50 yards, with a long of 55, as a senior...averaged 46.2 yards per punt with a long of 65, with 13 punts downed inside the 20...USA Today 2017 Preseason All-USA First Team at punter...attended multiple Kohl's Kicking Camps...

Sinkwich Leads Bulldogs Past TCU In 1942 Orange Bowl

Georgia All-American quarterback Frankie Sinkwich, playing with an oversized chin mask to protect a broken jaw, put on an offensive display still considered by many as the greatest in any bowl game as he led his Bulldogs to a 40-26 win over Texas Christian before 35,786 fans in the 1942 Orange Bowl game (a record crowd in '42).

Sinkwich passed for touchdowns of 61, 60 and 15 yards and raced 43 yards on a QB draw for another score. He completed nine of 13 passes for 243 yards and rushed for 139 yards for a total offensive gain of 382 yards.

Georgia scored first as Ken Keuper rushed two yards over the goal line to give the Dogs the early 6-0 lead. TCU tied the game less than four minutes later after a Lamar Davis fumble led to a Horned Frog score from the four yard line. TCU kicked the point after and led 7-6. Georgia answered soon after the score on a 60-yard pass play from Sinkwich to Melvin Conger, giving the Bulldogs a 12-7 lead they would never relinquish.

When the Dogs left the field at halftime the score stood 33-7, prompting head coach Wally Butts to proclaim it the greatest offensive performance he ever saw by a UGA team. He also believed the Georgia squad, at the end of the 1941 season, was the most powerful he coached.

The lead was 40-7 in the third quarter before TCU mounted a late three-touchdown effort. Bruce Alford caught two passes for scores from Emory Nix and Frink Kring scored on a 53-yard play from Kyle Gillespie for the 40-26 final.

The 1942 Orange Bowl was played less than a month after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and was a record-setting event. Sinkwich set five individual Orange Bowl records in the win for combined rushing and passing yards (382), touchdown passes (3), points scored (24), yards gained on touchdown pass plays (136) and yards gained on all touchdown plays (179). Georgia's four touchdown passes set a bowl team record, as well as the Dogs' four interceptions. The combined seven touchdowns for Georgia and TCU also set a new Orange Bowl mark.

Trippi Gets Helms Award In 1943 Rose Bowl

With All-American Frankie Sinkwich hobbling on two sprained ankles, his young sophomore understudy — Charley Trippi — paced Georgia to a 9-0 victory over UCLA before 90,000 in the 1943 Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

Trippi rushed 27 times for a net gain of 115 yards and received the Helms Award as the game's outstanding player.

Recently the Rose Bowl named its all-time first team and put Trippi at left halfback.

Tackle Red Boyd blocked a Bob Waterfield punt which rolled out of the end zone for a safety to give Georgia two points in the last quarter. A few minutes later center Clyde Ehrhardt intercepted a Waterfield pass and returned to the UCLA 25. Sinkwich finally scored from the one and Leo Costa converted.

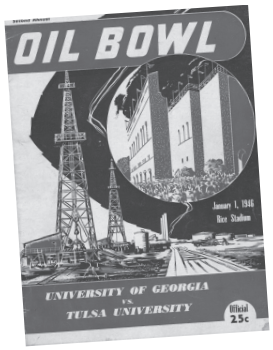
Rose Bowl MVP Charley Trippi (62) and 1942 Heisman Trophy winner Frank Sinkwich led the Bulldogs to victory in Pasadena.

Trippi's Immortal Punt Return Helps Defeat Tulsa In 1945 Oil Bowl



Charley Trippi was at his best as Georgia defeated Tulsa, 20-6, in the Oil Bowl at Houston before 27,000 on Jan. 1, 1946.

He passed 64 yards to John Donaldson for Georgia's second TD and returned a punt 68 yards for the final Bulldog tally in the fourth quarter — a run still considered by many as the greatest punt return of all time. He completely reversed his field and ran over two Tulsa tacklers who had him trapped near a sideline.

Charley Trippi accepts National Pro Football Hall of Fame trophy.

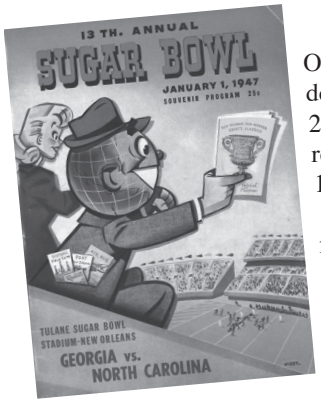
Trippi Closes Great Career In '47 Sugar Bowl Playing Entire 60 Minutes



On a chilly and rainy day in New Orleans, Georgia battled back from two deficits to knock off North Carolina, 20-10, in front of 75,000 in the 13th renewal of the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 1, 1947.

Charley Trippi led the way for the Bulldogs, playing all 60 minutes in his last game wearing the red and black. His 67-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter to Dan Edwards gave the Dogs a 13-10 lead that the club would not relinquish.

The win was Georgia's 16th consecutive victory and gave the Bulldogs a perfect season (11-0) for just the second time in school history.

The scoring started when North Carolina's Walt Pupa ran 25 yards in the second quarter for the first lead of the game. Kicker Bob Cox added the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Georgia was held scoreless into halftime, but Johnny Rauch plunged into the endzone from one yard out in the third quarter and was followed by George Jernigan's extra point for a 7-7 tie.

Cox gave the Tar Heels the lead later in the third quarter with an 18-yard field goal, but the play of the day, Trippi's 67-yarder to Edwards, answered the Tar Heel score and Georgia never looked back.

Rauch, Geri Shine In 1948 Gator Bowl

Joe Geri

Georgia's All-America quarterback Johnny Rauch had one of the best days of his career in Jacksonville, completing 12 of 17 passes for 183 yards. Captain Dan Edwards caught five passes and Joe Geri averaged 43.5 yards on seven punts.

The game remained scoreless after one quarter of play, but Maryland's Lu Gambino ran 35 yards for the first score of the game. The Terps held that 7-0 lead into halftime.

Georgia took the opening drive of the second half 87 yards, capped by Rauch's 1-yards plunge into the end-zone. Maryland answered with an 80-yard drive of its own and took the lead again on Gambino's second TD of the day. Later in the third, Georgia drove to its own 40 yard line but fumbled away possession. Three plays later the Terps were leading 20-7.

The fourth quarter was all Georgia, as the Bulldogs scored once on a Geri four-yard run and again on a nine-yard pass from Rauch to John Donaldson. The extra point was no good after Geri's TD and time ran out on a tied ball game with Georgia knocking on the door for another score.

A&M Zips Past Georgia In 1950 Presidential Cup Tilt

Georgia lost its seventh visit to a post-season affair, 40-20, to Texas A&M in the first and only Presidential Cup game at College Park, Md., before 12,245 fans on Dec. 9, 1950.

Georgia's Zippy Morocco, who later was to set the all-time SEC basketball scoring record, scored two touchdowns on brilliant runs, the first coming on a 65-yard punt return and the other a 23-yard rush.

A&M jumped out early and never looked back, scoring 40 unanswered points through three quarters of play. Before two minutes had been played in the opening quarter, the score was 13-0 after Bob Smith took the opening kickoff 100 yards and Glenn Lippman scored from five yards out after a Bulldog fumble. Another 81-yard TD rush by Smith in the first quarter buried the Bulldogs.

Morocco scored on a two-yard run in the third and a 65-yard punt return in the fourth to get the Dogs on the board. Lauren Hargrove added the last score of the day on a one-yard rush to make the final 40-20.

Tarkenton's TD Passes Key 1960 Orange Bowl Win

Francis Tarkenton directed two excellent scoring drives of 62 and 71 yards in Georgia's 14-0 victory over Missouri in the 1960 Orange Bowl before 75,280.

Late in the first quarter Tarkenton anticipated a quick kick to set up the first score. He returned it 17 yards to the M 38. On third down and nine he passed to Fred Brown for 12 to the M 25. On third and 14, he fired to Bill McKenny, rookie RHB from Jacksonville, for 29 yards and the TD, Durward Pennington's PAT made it 7-0.

Ridlehuber Rips Raiders In 1964 Sun Bowl

The 7-0 conquest of Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl at El Paso Dec. 26, 1964, before 28,500 may have been the Bulldogs' best game of a glorious "Cinderella" season.

The defense held the Red Raiders' vaunted offense, which led the Southwest Conference with almost 300 yards per game, to only 128 yards (32 rushing and 96 passing). And, the offensive troops rolled up 329 yards (245 rushing and 84 passing), their second best performance of the season.

Preston Ridlehuber had by far the most productive day of his Georgia varsity career and clearly deserved the trophy awarded him as the game's outstanding performer. Preston ran 19 times for 87 yards, completed 4x5 passes for 77 yards, giving him a total of 164 yards.

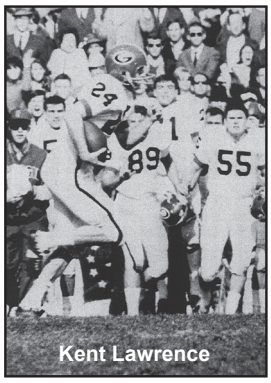
Kent Lawrence Sets Cotton Bowl Record As Bulldogs Win Big over SMU



Kent Lawrence

Georgia magnificently upheld the honor of the SEC with its decisive 24-9 victory over Southern Methodist University, Southwest Conference champ, Dec. 31, 1966, in Dallas' Cotton Bowl before 75,504.

Kent Lawrence established a Bulldog bowl-game rushing record vs. the Mustangs. His 149 yards in 16 carries erased the old Georgia bowl-game mark of 139 yards in 22 rushes by Frank Sinkwich vs. TCU in the 1942 Orange Bowl.

Lawrence's 74-yard TD rush on the game's third play also was the longest scoring play in Bulldog bowl annals. He was voted the game's outstanding player.

Bob Etter's 28-yard FG put Georgia out front 10-3 at the quarter. Steve Neuhaus set up another score with an interception at the SMU 33. Kirby Moore hit Billy Payne on a 20-yard scoring pass and Etter made it 17-3.

There was only one score in the last half. The Bulldogs drove 59 yards to goal early in the fourth quarter with Ronnie Jenkins carrying nine of the 12 rushes. Jenkins scored from the one. Etter made it 24-9.

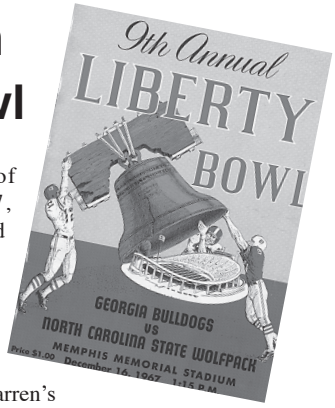
N.C. State Rallies Past Georgia In 1967 Liberty Bowl



A record Liberty Bowl crowd of 35,045 at Memphis Dec. 16, 1967, saw N.C. State, led by former Bulldog head coach Jim Donnan, trim Georgia, 14-7.

The Wolfpack cashed in their scoring opportunities, drawing first blood in the second quarter on a 65-yard drive—aided by a timely 15-yard penalty —that saw Donnan pass 6 yards to Martell for a TD. Warren's PAT made it 7-0.

Georgia retaliated with a fine 68-yard scoring drive, Lawrence starting things off with a 42-yard kickoff return. Kirby Moore hit on four passes, three to Dennis Hughes and one to Billy Payne. Ronnie Jenkins scored from the one and Jim McCullough's PAT knotted the count at 7-7 midway the second quarter.

State went ahead early in the fourth quarter, driving 73 yards with Barchuk scoring from the one. Warren's PAT was good.

Georgia again fought back and mounted a great 98-yard drive that ended with Lawrence failing to score by inches after taking a pitchout from Moore at the N.C. State 3 and sprinting to the 1. Lawrence was voted the game's most valuable offensive back, while Edgar Chandler was the most valuable offensive lineman.

Georgia Upset by Arkansas Razorbacks In 1969 Sugar Bowl

A huge Sugar Bowl crowd of 82,113 saw Arkansas, champion of the Southwest Conference, upset Georgia, champion of the Southeastern Conference, 16-2, on Jan. 1, 1969.

The Bulldogs had the ball six times in the first quarter but lost possession three times on fumbles and once on a pass interception. But the Georgia defense played well and the quarter ended scoreless.

The Razorbacks moved 65 yards for a TD early in the second quarter, scoring on a 27-yard pass, Montgomery-Dicus. White's PAT made it 7-0.

Midway the second quarter David McKnight tossed Burnett for a six-yard loss and a safety to make it 7-2, but a Bulldog fumble a few plays later gave Arkansas position for a 34-yard field goal by White which made it 10-2 at halftime.

Georgia ''blew'' a good chance early in the third quarter after recovering an Arkansas fumble on the kickoff. Brad Johnson fumbled on the goal line on third down, and the ball went out of the end zone.

A fumble and pass interception in the fourth quarter put Arkansas in position for two more field goals by White (24 and 31 yards).

Nebraska Too Much for Dogs In 1969 Sun Bowl

Nebraska turned out to be every bit as good as advertised.

''They were the best team we played all season,'' said Captain Steve Greer following the Cornhuskers' 45-6 victory before a sun-baked Sun Bowl crowd of 31,176 in El Paso Dec. 20.

The Cornhuskers took advantage of a strong wind to kick four field goals in the exceptionally-long first quarter (scoreboard clock broke and officials admitted afterwards that the first quarter was too long).

Trailing 18-0 after the first quarter, Georgia fought back to hold the big and fast Big Eight co-champions scoreless in the second quarter. But the Nebraskans took advantage of six pass interceptions and two fumble recoveries to run up the score, 14 points in the third quarter and 13 in the fourth.

Paul Gilbert directed Georgia's lone TD in the fourth quarter. He completed passes of 16 yards to Charley Whittemore, 11 to Dennis Hughes, then scored himself from the six. Jim McCullough's PAT kick was wide.

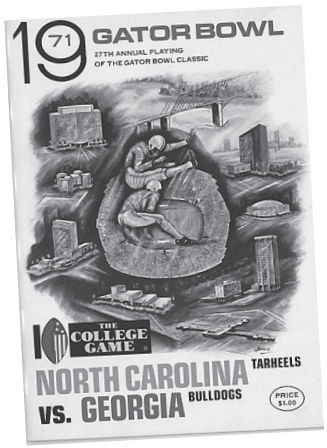
Poulos Superb in 1971 Gator Bowl



Georgia played perhaps its finest defensive game of the season to beat North Carolina 7-3 in the Gator Bowl, Dec. 31, 1971, before 71,208.

The Bulldogs held the Tar Heels to only 181 yards total offense (115 rushing and 66 passing).

Dennis Watson was the defensive hero, making tackles time and time again. He made three straight tackles during one stretch.

Offensively, the Bulldogs gained a lot of ground (322 yards) but were sporadic, particularly in the first half. But, following the Tar Heels' lone scoring drive of the game which resulted in a 35-yard FG by Craven, the Bulldogs finally mounted a beautiful 80-yard march that settled the issue.

The scintillating sophomores, Jimmy Poulos and Andy Johnson, ran the ball from Georgia's 20 to the G 43. Then Johnson hit split end Lynn Hunnicutt on a great 32-yard play to the NC 25. On the next snap, Poulos broke around left end down the sidelines to score, side-stepping the safety. Braswell made it 7-3.

The nation's TV audience once again was thrilled by the exploits of Poulos, the Greek Streak, who set a Georgia bowl rushing record in the Gator Bowl. He netted 161 yards on 20 carries to better the old Bulldog bowl mark of 149 yards on 16 rushes by Kent Lawrence against SMU in the 1966 Cotton Bowl.

Tough Terps Trimmed in 1973 Peach Bowl

Hats off to the Bulldogs for their thrilling 17-16 triumph over the Terrapins in the 1973 Peach Bowl Dec. 28 before 38,017 in Atlanta Fulton County Stadium.

Early in the second quarter, thanks to runs by Horace King and Andy Johnson, Georgia reached the Maryland 17 but was stopped. Johnson hit Jimmy Poulos on a screen and the Greek Streak went 62 yards for a score in one of the finest runs ever made by a Georgia back. Two plays later Maryland's Carter and White hooked up on a 68-yard haymaker and Mick-Mayer's PAT tied it 7-7.

Later Mike-Mayer put Maryland out front 10-7 on a 36-yard FG. Then the Bulldogs roared back with one of their best drives of the season. Captain Bobby Burns ripped up the middle for 21. Johnson hit King for 30, then ran 12 after faking a pass to the UM 9. With the clock running out, the Bulldogs had to settle for a 26-yard FG by Leavitt to make it 10-10 at halftime.

Tremendous defensive play set up Georgia's go-ahead TD late in the third quarter. Following Golden's 43-yard punt to Smith, tackled in his tracks at the UM 11 by Glynn Harrison, Sylvester Boler smashed through and hit QB Kinard as he was pitching out to Jennings. The hit caused a fumble that was recovered by Dick Conn at the Maryland 8 yard line. On third down, Johnson scored from the one and Leavitt made it 17-10.

A nine-yard punt and fumble by Richard Appleby, on an end-round, presented Maryland with two FG opportunities in the fourth quarter. Both were cashed in on by Mike-Mayer (25 and 28 yards) to close the gap to 17-16.

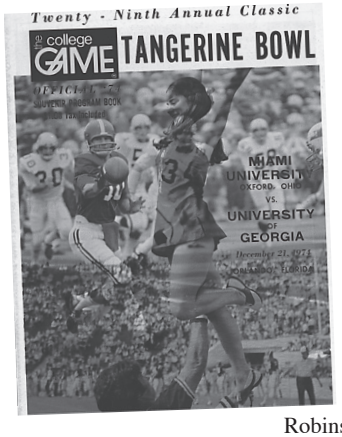
Dogs Fall To Miami 21-10 in 1974 Tangerine Bowl



Miami of Ohio won its 23rd in a row with a 21-10 vicotry over Georgia in the Tangerine Bowl before 20,246 at Orlando, on Dec. 21, 1974.

It might have been a close game had not the Bulldogs given Miami two easy scoring chances with fumbles at their own 25 (first play from scrimmage) and 22. The Redskins cashed both opportunities, and in between, marched 68 yards to goal, QB Smith passing seven yards to E. Taylor for the TD.

After trailing 7-0, Georgia did make a good drive, first down at the UM 9, the big gainer being a 43-yard pass, Robinson to Appleby. But the vaunted Miami defense held and Allan Leavitt kicked at 21-yard FG.

Georgia came back strong in the second half and won it, 7-0. The defense played considerably better.

Midway through, the third quarter Butch Box, covering a Bucky Dilts punt, recovered a fumble at the Miami 41. Glynn Harrison immediately broke loose for 28 yards to the UM 13. Five plays later Ray Goff plunged over from the one and Leavitt made it 21-10.

Georgia outgained Miami in total offense, 274 to 242. Georgia had only 74 yards rushing but 200 passing. Miami had 228 rushing, 14 passing.

Cinderella Dogs Bow to Hogs in 1976 Cotton Bowl

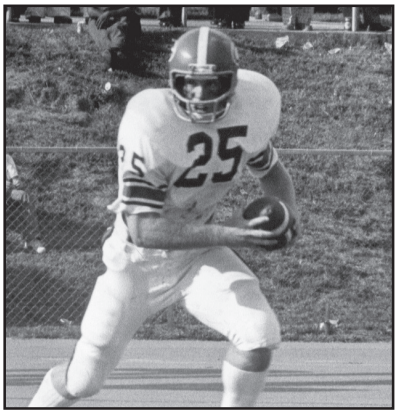
The big clock in the Cotton Bowl showed 1:49 left in the first half with Georgia leading Arkansas, 10-0. Not a soul there or any one of the millions watching CBS-TV had any idea then that the Bulldogs, who had played almost a perfect game for nearly a half, would suffer one tough blow after and finally succumb, 31-10 on Jan. 1, 1976.

Georgia amazed the crowd of 74,500 by taking the opening kickoff and ramming the ball all the way to the A4. But the Razorbacks held and Georgia had to settle for a 35-yard FG by Allan Leavitt.

In the second quarter Matt Robinson connected with Gene Washington on a nifty 21-yard scoring play and Georgia led 10-0.

But two Georgia fumbles in the last two minutes of the first half resulted in an Arkansas FG (Little, 39 yards) and TD (Forte, 1-yd. rush).

It was a scoreless third quarter but the Hogs tallied three times in the final period.



"Glidin' " Glynn Harrison led Georgia to the '76 Cotton Bowl.

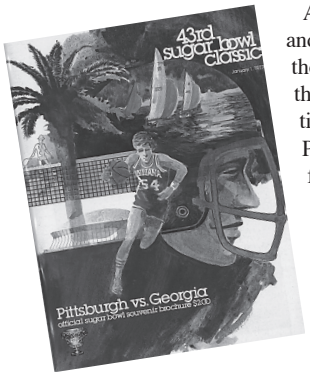
#1 Pittsburgh Tops Dogs In '77 Sugar Bowl



Armed with a number four national ranking and the distinction of being first team to represent the conference in the SEC's "marriage" with the Sugar Bowl, Georgia's dreams of a national title were convincingly shattered by top-ranked Pittsburgh, 27-3, in the Sugar Bowl shootout for the national championship.

With a Sugar Bowl record crowd for the Superdome of 76,117 fans looking on, Pittsburgh made believers of the whole nation in justifying their top national billing.

Junior quarterback Matt Cavanaugh and heralded Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett supplied most of the offensive fireworks for the Panthers in building a 21-0 halftime lead. Cavanaugh directed his team 80 yards in the first quarter for Pitt's initial score, covering the last six yards himself on a keeper. In the second quarter, the Pittsburgh junior unveiled a brilliant passing game to account for another Pittsburgh score by hitting FLK Matt Jones for a 59-yard scoring strike. Dorsett added the Panthers' third TD of the day on an 11-yard burst to make the halftime tally 21-0.

The Bulldog offense, which had been stymied all day by the swarming Pittsburgh defense, finally was able to put something on the scoreboard in the third quarter. On Pitt's first possession of the second half, fullback Elliott Walker was separated from the ball on the Panthers' own 26-yard line, where defensive end Lawrence Craft fell on it for the Bulldogs. But several plays later, Georgia found themselves faced with fourth and goal on the seven and had to settle for Allan Leavitt's 25-yard field goal for their only score of the day.

Pitt's Carson Long added field goals of 42 and 31 yards as the Panthers claimed the 1976 national championship.

Stanford Rallies For Win In 1978 Bluebonnet Bowl

Georgia's Wonderdogs outgained Stanford 504 yards to 338, but lost the game 25-22 before 34,084 fans in the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston on December 31, 1978.

Fumbles and penalties, missed PAT's and FG's and precision passing by All-American QB Steve Dils, enables the Cardinal to overcome a 22-0 deficit in the second half.

The Bulldogs played their best game of the season in running up an early advantage to the 22-0. They scored on their second possession in the first quarter, Rex Robinson kicking a 31-yd FG. On their third possession, Georgia's Buck Belue passed to flanker Carmon Prince 22 yards for a TD, but Robinson missed on the PAT to make Georgia a 9-0 leader.

As the half closed, Jeff Pyburn directed an 80-yard drive in seven plays as he spotted Prince for an eight-yard strike. Robinson was wide again on the PAT and Georgia led 15-0.

Georgia drove 75 yards to goal after the second half kick-off and took only six plays as Pyburn dove in from the one, making the score 22-0.

Two Bulldog fumbles accounted for Stanford's first pair of touchdowns, and their third tally came on a 14-yard pass from Dils to Ken Margerum. The two-point conversion was good, knotting the score at 22. The Cardinal recovered another Georgia fumble to set up their go-ahead field goal of 24 yards. Georgia came back strong, driving to the Stanford 14, but Robinson missed on a 31-yard attempt.

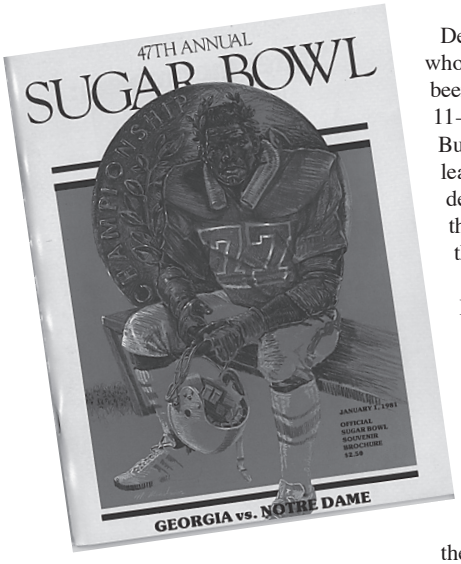
Georgia Whips Irish For 1981 Sugar Bowl Win And The National Championship



Determined to silence the critics who claimed that Georgia had been lucky in streaking to a perfect 11-0 regular season slate, the Bulldogs journeyed to New Orleans, No. 1 ranking in hand, and defeated Notre Dame, 17-10, in the 1981 Sugar Bowl to claim the national championship.

Played before a record Sugar Bowl crowd of 77,895 in the Louisiana Superdome, the game was one where Georgia capitalized on early Irish mistakes to take a 17-3 lead at halftime.

Notre Dame took the ball on the first possession of the contest from its own 20 all the way to the UGA 32 where kicker Harry Oliver booted a 50-yard field goal to give the Irish a 3-0 lead with 10:41 to go in the opening quarter.

Oliver tried another field goal moments later from the 48, but this time Bulldog freshman rover Terry Hoage slipped through the line to step in front and block the attempt, giving Georgia the ball at the ND49. Nine plays netted 20 yards and placekicker Rex Robinson was called on for a 46-yard field goal. The All-American was successful to tie the game at three apiece with less than two minutes remaining in the first period.

On the ensuing kickoff, Georgia capitalized on confusion among two Notre Dame return men, and Bulldog senior Bob Kelly recovered a loose football at the Irish one-yard line. Freshman marvel Herschel Walker, who would go on to gain 150 yards (the first 100-yard performance against the Notre Dame defense all season) and win the Miller-Digby MVP Trophy, dived on the second play for the touchdown. Robinson coverted the PAT and Bulldogs were up, 10-3, still in the first quarter.

Erk Russell's defense, which led the country in takeaways during the season, recovered another Notre Dame fumble early in the second period as Irish fullback John Sweeney was separated from the ball at the ND22 and Bulldog senior roverback Chris Welton pounced on it.

Walker broke an off tackle play for 12 yards to the ND10. Quarterback Buck Belue swept left for seven more to the Irish three-yard line, setting up a second and goal situation. Belue gave it to Walker and the 6-2, 220-pounder stormed into the endzone for his second score of the game. Robinson added the PAT and Georgia enjoyed a 17-3 lead.

Down 14 points, Notre Dame drove the second time it had the ball in the second half from its own 40-yard line to the G13. On a third down play there, Irish QB Blair Kiel dropped back, threw into the endzone to flanker Pete Holohan, only to watch Georgia's All-American cornerback Scott Woerner step in at the last minute to bat the pass away. Notre Dame's Oliver came in to kick a 30-yarder, but the ball sailed wide right.

The Irish finally got a touchdown after Georgia punted on the next possession. The passing of Kiel and running of tailback Phil Carter took Notre Dame 57 yards in 11 plays as the drive was climaxed by a one-yard plunge by Carter for the touchdown. Oliver booted the PAT and the Georgia lead was now 17-10 with :54 seconds of the third quarter showing on the Superdome scoreboard clock.

After Georgia was unable to move the ball, senior Mark Malkiewicz was called in to punt. The boot carried to the Irish 46 and Notre Dame, with momentum mounting, took over. Seven plays later, the Fighting Irish were at the G21 and fourth down staring them in the face. Oliver's 38-yard field goal attempt went wide to the left this time and the Bulldogs clung to their seven-point lead.

After two unsuccessful possessions by each team, Notre Dame got the ball one last time with 5:10 to go in the ballgame at the ND43. Carter ran around the end for seven yards to midfield. On second down, 6-1, 265-pound defensive guard Eddie Weaver caught Kiel behind the line for a four-yard loss, setting up a third and seven play. A Kiel-to-Nick Vehr pass got six yards back, making it fourth down, one yard to go.

A running play looked to be forthcoming, but Kiel surprised everyone when he faded back, looking for Dean Masztak, the big tight end, on the side line. One Bulldog, apparently not surprised by the call, was cornerback Woerner, who stepped up in front of Masztak for the interception (his second of the game) at the G34. Only 2:56 remained.

Runs by Belue and Walker gave the Bulldogs a first down at the G47. Two plays after that, Georgia recorded the biggest first down of the game when Belue hit his very first completion of the day on a seven-yard pass to senior flanker Amp Arnold. Walker got the Bulldogs another first down at the ND 38, where Georgia ran off three plays and watched the clock expire, prompting a sea of UGA fans to engulf the playing field for the national championship celebration.

Pitt Edges Bulldogs 24-20 In 1982 Sugar Bowl

Pittsburgh QB Dan Marino hit tight end John Brown on a fourth-down, 33-yard TD pass with just 35 seconds left to give the Panthers a come-from-behind 24-20 win over Georgia in the 1982 Sugar Bowl, dashing the Bulldogs' hopes for a second straight national championship.

Perhaps the most exciting of the holiday games of '82, the Pitt-Georgia matchup had six lead changes for the 77,224 who were in attendance at the Superdome.

Early in the fourth quarter it was Pittsburgh which capitalized on a Dog fumble at the G23. Four plays later, QB Marino found John Brown open for a six-yard TD play. The conversion put the Panthers, 17-13 with 11:40 to play in the game.

But the Bulldogs, entering the game ranked No. 2 in the country, weren't quite through yet. Taking over on the G20, Georgia drove the distance in 10 plays, climaxing the drive with a Buck Belue-to-Clarence Kay TD pass from six yards out. Kevin Butler's PAT put the lead in Georgia's favor, 20-17, with 8:31 remaining.

Each team failed on a possession and, with 3:46 left, the Panthers got the ball on the P20. Eleven plays later, they were at the G33, fourth down and five. Seconds later, TE Brown was in the endzone on the receiving end of Marino's game-winner.

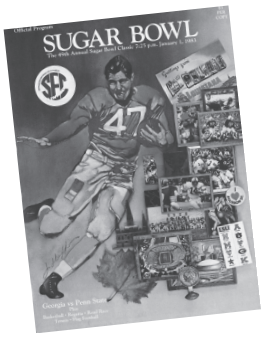
Penn State Clips Dogs 27-23 In 1983 Sugar Bowl



After staking Penn State to a 20-3 second-quarter lead, the Bulldogs staged a great comeback but came up short, 27-23, to the Nittany Lions before 78,124 in the '83 Sugar Bowl Classic. The outcome foiled Georgia's chances for another national championship and a perfect 12-0 season.

Trailing 20-3 with only :39 remaining in the first half, Georgia took over on its 34-yard line. Lastinger completed four of five pass attempts, the final completion coming on a 10-yard scoring play to Herman Archie. Butler's PAT cut the deficit to 20-10 at intermission.

The Bulldogs took the second half kickoff and drove 69 yards in 11 plays as Herschel Walker, who netted 103 yards on the day, ran in from a yard out. Penn State's lead now was only 20-17.

The Nittany Lions took possession late in the third quarter at their 19. Six plays advanced the football to the G47. From there, Blackledge found his receiver Garrity, who made a diving catch in the endzone for a TD. Gancitano's PAT increased the PSU lead to 27-17.

Georgia didn't roll over, however. With 5:38 left to play, the Dogs took the ball at the P43 after a fumbled punt. Six plays later, Lastinger found TE Clarence Kay for a nine-yard TD pass. Only 3:54 remained. The two-point try failed and Georgia trailed 27-23.

Georgia could not prevent the Nittany Lions from getting two first downs and used up its allotted timeouts as Penn State ran out the clock. The game ended with the ball rolling into the Georgia endzone after a 62-yard punt from Ralph Giacomarro.

Georgia Upsets Texas 10-9 In 1984 Cotton Bowl

Georgia senior QB John Lastinger ran 17 yards for a go-ahead TD with just 3:22 left on the clock to lift the Bulldogs to a 10-9 Cotton Bowl Classic triumph over No. 2 Texas before 67,891 in Dallas on Jan. 2, 1984.

The winning TD had been set up when Bulldog sophomore Gary Moss recovered a Craig Curry fumbled punt at the Longhorn 23-yard line. Lastinger called his own number on the third play from scrimmage and darted outside right for the TD.

John Lastinger stretches for the winning TD in the final minutes.

Texas had one more possession, but the Bulldog defense rose up recording two sacks (Kenny Sims and Ed Moore) to back the Longhorns up from their 28-yard line all the way to their seven. Georgia took control and ran off the final 2:19 on the clock after converting a fourth down play at the Texas 36.

As expected going into the Cotton Bowl, defense was the key for both teams as there were just 13 first downs and three points each achieved in the first half. Texas grabbed an early 3-0 lead with 10:32 to go in the first quarter when freshman Jeff Ward booted a 22-yard FG. The Bulldogs, after Moss returned a punt 29 yards to the Longhorn 43 late in the quarter, used four plays to move to the Texas 26 where Butler came in and kicked a 43-yarder.

Ward added his second three-pointer on the day with 7:10 to play in the third quarter as he connected on a 40-yard field goal. After a Georgia fumble at the G37, the Longhorns moved 26 yards in eight plays to the G11 where Ward came on and extended the Texas advantage to 9-3 with 3:50 to play in the third quarter.

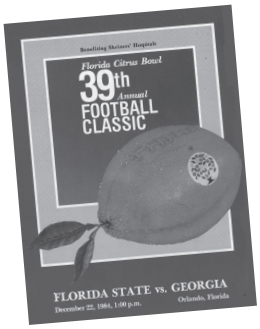
FSU Rallies To Tie Bulldogs In 1984 Citrus Bowl



Georgia placekicker Kevin Butler's attempt of a 70-yard field goal fell just a foot short as time expired in the '84 Florida Citrus Bowl, enabling favored Florida State to hold off the upstart Bulldogs and earn a 17-17 tie before 51,821 in Orlando on Dec. 22, 1984.

The Bulldogs, who had hoped to use the Citrus Bowl as the start of their 1985 season, stormed out to a 14-0 halftime lead. Florida State battled back to tie the score through the efforts of a talented offense and an aggressive punt rush with under four minutes remaining.

After averaging 35.3 points a game, the Seminoles were held to just 10 points through three quarters until noseguard Lenny Chavers blocked a Chip Andrews punt, which was picked up by teammate Joe Wessel for a Seminole touchdown. Darrin Holloman's sweep around the left side gave FSU a two-point conversion and knotted the game at 17 late in the fourth quarter. The Dogs tried to repeat the miracle they had staged earlier in the season against rival Clemson in which they drove up field in the closing seconds enabling All-American Kevin Butler to kick a conference record 60-yard FG and secure a Georgia victory. FSU's defense proved to be a bit stiffer than that of Clemson, and after three incomplete James Jackson passes, Georgia coach Vince Dooley called on Butler once again, but his kick fell just short of the crossbar and the game ended deadlocked at 17.

Although disappointed with a tie, Georgia walked off the field encouraged by the play of their underclassmen. Freshman QB James Jackson saw his first stretch of extensive playing time and responded by earning the game's Most Valuable Player trophy. The game's most valuable offensive player was another Georgia freshman, TB Lars Tate, who scored both of Georgia's TDs. Senior CB Kevin Harris was awarded Defensive Player of the Game, giving the red and black a clean sweep of the awards ceremony.

Dogs, Wildcats Tie 13-13 In 1985 Sun Bowl Game

A Sun Bowl crowd of 52,203 saw the Georgia Bulldogs rally for 10 fourth quarter points to pull even with the Arizona Wildcats, 13-13, then watched as both teams miss potential game-winning field goals in the final two minutes to preserve the tie.

Georgia struck first, marching 72 yards in 13 plays to set up a 37-yard FG by Steve Crumley. Crumley, who had pulled a muscle in his kicking leg before the final game of the regular season, reinjured himself on the kick, however, and was unable to continue.

Arizona responded on the following possession to tie the game, driving to the G1 before an illegal procedure penalty on fourth down forced the Cats to call upon All-American Max Zendejas to tie the score at three from 21 yards.Zendejas added a 52-yarder, and the the Wildcats made it 12-3 when Martin Rudolph picked off QB James Jackson's pass and returned it 35 yards for a TD. Georgia backup kicker Davis Jacobs was true on a 44-yard field to close the gap to 13-6.

With 12:35 to play senior DB Tony Flack recovered RB James Debow's fumble at the A23 to set up what would be the game's last score behind Tate on the ground. With 1:14 left, Jacobs missed a 44-yard field goal.

Georgia held Arizona until the Wildcats gambled on fourth-and-two from their own 36, and David Adams rambled for 25 yards on a draw play with DL Henry Williams executing a game-saving tackle at the G39. The Wildcats drove to the 22, called time out, and Zendejas' 39-yard attempt went wide and Georgia averted a last-second defeat.

B.C. Edges Dogs 27-24 In 1986 Hall of Fame

Boston College scored a five-yard TD pass with 32 seconds remaining to nip Georgia, 27-24, in the first Hall of Fame Bowl held at Tampa on Dec. 22, 1986, in front of 25,368 in Tampa Stadium.

The last second win spoiled a brilliant comeback from a 13-point halftime deficit by Georgia which actually took the lead, 24-20, with a five-yard TD run by QB James Jackson with 11:51 left in the game.

The Bulldogs, after scoring first to lead 7-0, watched Boston College score 20 straight points before halftime.

Georgia came out in the third quarter to score 10 points and added another seven in the final period to take the lead. B.C. got the ball the final time with 2:38 left and drove to the Georgia 27 when an incomplete fourth-and-two pass appeared to have iced the game for the Dogs. But a pass interference penalty gave the Eagles new life and three plays later, they scored on a five-yard TD toss.

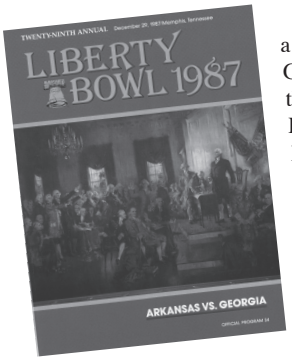
Kasay Kick Defeats Arkansas In 1987 Liberty Bowl



Freshman placekicker John Kasay booted a 39-yard field goal with no time left to give Georgia a 20-17 come-from-behind victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks before 53,249 fans at Liberty Bowl Stadium in Memphis, Tenn., on Dec 29, 1987. The victory provided Georgia with its first nine-win season since 1983 and the first victory over Arkansas after two previous attempts.

Bulldog QB James Jackson was the Georgia most valuable offensive player after rushing for 72 yards and completing 15 of 25 passes for 148 yards. Bulldog LB John Brantley was the Georgia most valuable defensive player.

Kasay's game-winning kick was set up when Georgia cornerback Carver Russaw intercepted an Arkansas pass and ran it back to the Razorback 43-yard line with 46 seconds to play. Arkansas had missed a 35-yard field goal with 1:42 left which would have given them the lead. The Bulldogs ran three plays to set up Kasay's, kick the big one being a Jackson-to -Sadowski pass for 16 yards to put the Dogs in field goal range.

Georgia had trailed at halftime, 10-7, and Arkansas took the second half kickoff and drove for a touchdown to take a 17-7 lead with 11:35 left in the third period. But the fourth quarter belonged to Georgia.

Kasay kicked a 24-yard FG with 14:57 left to cut the lead to 17-10, and James Jackson scored on a five-yard run to tie the score at 17.

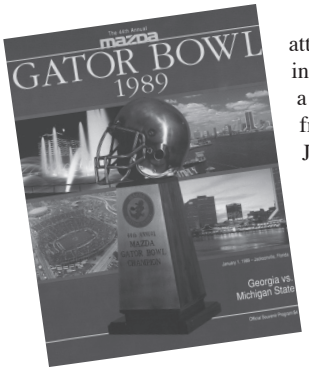
Dogs Use New Tricks To Win 1989 Gator Bowl



Largely discarding their trademark rushing attack, Vince Dooley's Bulldogs took to the air in the 44th Mazda Gator Bowl en route to a 34-27 victory over the Michigan State in front of 76,236 fans in Jacksonville, Fla., on Jan. 1, 1989.

Georgia not only secured its second straight 9-win season but handed Dooley the 201st, and final, win of his illustrious 25-year coaching career. QB Wayne Johnson, who was named Georgia's MVP for the game, had a career-high 227 yards and three touchdowns. Two of Johnson's three TD strikes went to tailback Rodney Hampton, who also carried the ball 10 times for 109 yards and a TD.

Georgia took a 7-0 lead on a 6-yard Johnson-to-Hampton touchdown pass. By halftime, the Dogs led 17-7. Georgia scored again in the third when Johnson capped a 64-yard drive with an 18-yard pass to tight end Kirk Warner.

MSU closed the gap to 27-20 with 14:24 to play, but the Dogs countered on their next possession when Hampton raced 32 yards for his third touchdown. The Spartans scored once more, but Georgia, which finished the season ranked 15th, hung on for a 34-27 win.

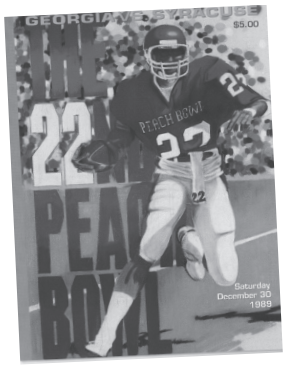
Syracuse Nips Georgia 19-18 To Win '89 Peach



With :25 left in the game, Syracuse PK John Biskup booted a 26-yard field goal to lift the Orangemen over the Bulldogs, 19-18, in Atlanta at the 22nd Peach Bowl on Dec. 30, 1989.

Despite putting together an impressive opening drive and coming up with several big plays, the Dogs couldn't sustain a balanced offensive attack throughout the game. Georgia's leading rusher Rodney Hampton was held to 32 yards on the ground, while Syracuse TB Michael Owens ran for 112 yards on 14 carries. The Georgia passing attack was limited to 88 yards, the first time all season the Dogs were held under 100 yards in the air.

Georgia opened the game with a 66-yard drive, capped off by a 5-yard TD pass from QB Greg Talley to tight end Kirk Warner. Syracuse answered with an 80-yard drive of its own, with Owens scoring from one yard out.

In the second quarter, Syracuse suffered from three miscues, but managed to stay close. The first came when Georgia linebacker Mo Lewis set a new Peach Bowl record with a 77-yard interception return to the Syracuse five. The Bulldogs were unable to get into the end zone, however, and had to settle for a John Kasay field goal. In the second half, the Orangemen gave up a safety, and Georgia added a TD for an 18-10 edge going to the fourth.

Syracuse rallied, first with a 94-yards drive to close to 18--16. Then, Biskup's field goal lifted the Orange over Georgia in the closest Peach Bowl since 1973.

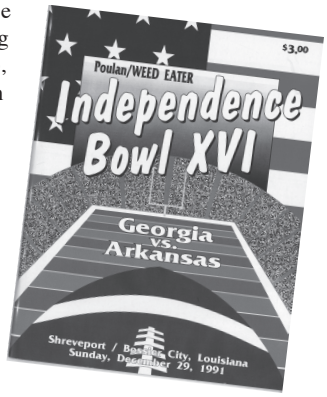
Georgia Beats Arkansas 24-15 In '91 Independence



Georgia completed the 1991 phase of "Operation Turnaround" by beating the Arkansas Razorbacks 24-15 in front of 46, 932 fans and an ABC-TV national television audience in the 1991 Independence Bowl.

The Bulldogs jumped out to a 14-0 lead behind two scoring strikes thrown from Eric Zeier to Arthur Marshall and Andre Hastings stretching their lead to 17-0 on a 39-yard FG by freshman Kanon Parkman.

The Razorbacks battled back and got on the scoreboard with a 7-yard run by the Hogs' leading rusher, E.D. Jackson. The run capped off an eight-play 37-yard drive by the Razorbacks.

The second half continued to be a showcase for the play of Hastings and Zeier and the ball-hawking Georgia defense led by junior linebacker Torrey Evans.

Georgia's defense forced Arkansas quarterback Jason Allen into throwing five interceptions. Evans came off the bench for the injured John Allen and played brilliantly, recording four tackles, an interception and fumble recovery to earn defensive MVP honors.

The game's offensive MVP, Hastings caught four passes for 94 yards and outran all pursuers on a third quarter 53-yard reverse that put the Bulldogs out front 24-7. The Hogs added eight points in the fourth quarter, but it was too late, the Bulldogs had won the Independence Bowl.

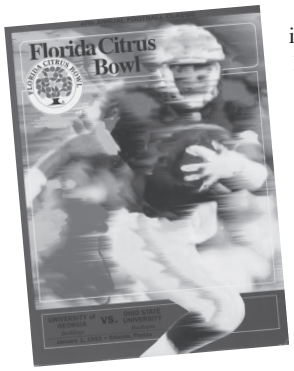
Dogs Beat Ohio State In 1993 Florida Citrus Bowl



Georgia secured its best finish in a decade, including a top-10 final ranking and the first 10-win season since 1983, with a 21-14 victory over Ohio State. A New Year's Day crowd of 65,861 attended the 47th annual Florida Citrus Bowl.

Offensively, Georgia found ball control to its liking in the first quarter as it opened the game with its longest touchdown drive of the season. The Bulldogs drove 80 yards in 14 plays, grinding up 6:18 on the game clock, to take a 7-0 lead. Georgia then opened it up in the second quarter, calling for passes on five of its first eight plays. An Eric Zeier fumble just inside OSU territory proved costly as the Buckeyes drove 54 yards to paydirt in 11 plays for a 7-7 halftime tie.

After the break, Andre Hastings ignited the Dogs' offense on the opening kickoff of the second half with a spectacular 49-yard return. Then from the OSU 45, Garrison Hearst gained all 45 yards on four carries en route to a 14-7 Bulldog advantage. But after a short punt by Georgia, which the Buckeyes returned to the UGA 33, Ohio State seized the opportunity and tied the game again, 14-14, on a five-yard run by Robert Smith.

Slowly, the Buckeyes had taken control of the game's momentum and after a 45-yard completion to Smith to the UGA 15, it appeared Ohio State would take its first lead of the game. But quarterback Kirk Herbstreit fumbled, and the Bulldogs drove 80 yards in 11 plays to take the victory. A final Buckeye drive ended with a desperation pass intercepted in the endzone.

Virginia Rallies For 34-27 Win In 1995 Peach Bowl

At the Peach Bowl, two of the nation's most fatestruck teams took to Atlanta's Georgia Dome in search of season-ending consolation. Although the Bulldogs entered the contest as underdogs, Georgia again battled back from adversity, this time a 14-0 deficit with 4:09 left in the first quarter, only to lose in the closing minute. Virginia's Demetrius Allen proved the difference, returning a Kanon Parkman kickoff for an 83-yard TD with :57 remaining.

Sophomore QB Hines Ward engineered the Georgia comeback, lighting up the Cavalier secondary for 413 yards on 31 of 59 passing. Figure in another 56 yards rushing, and Ward had set new Georgia bowl records for pass attempts, completions, yards passing and total offense. However, a pair of first-quarter interceptions and a blocked Dax Langley punt led to an easy 14 points for Virginia and considerable red and black frustration.

Once again, Georgia's defense kept the team's hope alive. Besides limiting Virginia to 256 yards total offense, the UGA "D" even gave the 70,824 audience a temporary charge when defensive tackle Jason Ferguson returned UVA's Walt Derey fumble 10 yards for a TD—Georgia's first tie of the game (27-27) with only 1:09 left.

Bobo, Edwards Lead UGA Past Badgers in '98 Outback Bowl

Mike Bobo

Mike Bobo completed 26 of 28 passes for 235 yards and one touchdown and running back Robert Edwards ran for three more scores as Georgia defeated Wisconsin 33-6 before an Outback Bowl crowd of 56,186 and an ESPN national television audience.

Bobo, who earned MVP honors, set an Outback Bowl record for best completion percentage (92.8). He also set Outback and Georgia records for consecutive completions with 19. Edwards set a Georgia bowl mark and tied an Outback record with three rushing touchdowns. Senior Hines Ward set an Outback Bowl record for receptions and yardage with 12 catches for 122 yards.

Georgia sported a new look for the Outback Bowl, donning black pants instead of the traditional "silver britches" to go along with the Bulldogs' white jerseys and red helmets. "The players came to me a while back and requested we do something special for the bowl game," Georgia head coach Jim Donnan said. "The idea the players liked best was wearing black pants. After discussing it with (athletic director) Coach Dooley we decided to go along with the players' suggestion for this game."

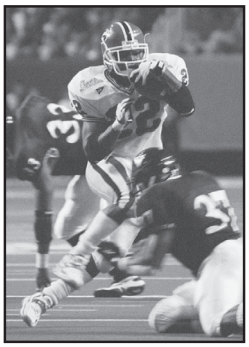
Georgia Rallies Past Virginia In 1998 Peach Bowl



Olandis Gary

No. 19 Georgia rallied from an early second-quarter deficit of 21-0 to post a thrilling 35-33 win over 12th-ranked Virginia. A Peach Bowl record crowd of 72,876 in Atlanta on Dec. 31, 1998 was in attendance for the memorable comeback.

Virginia capitalized on three second quarter interceptions by Georgia freshman Quincy Carter, turning each of them into a touchdown to build a 21-0 lead. Georgia got on the scoreboard when Carter connected with senior Tony Small on an 11-yard score with 1:15 left in the second quarter.

Georgia got its first lead of the night when Olandis Gary capped a 67-yard drive with a 2-yard run on the Dogs' first possession of the fourth quarter. The Bulldogs then built an 8-point lead when Carter called his own number on a quarterback sneak from the one-yard-line with 7:01 remaining.

Georgia staved off the Cavaliers late by stopping a 2-point conversion and then watching as their last-ditch field goal sailed wide left with just 19 seconds remaining.

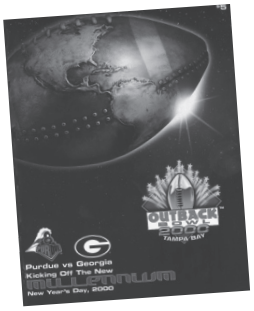
Record Comeback Highlights '00 Outback Win over Purdue



Georgia kicked off the new year by staging the largest comeback in bowl history, scoring 28 unanswered points to defeat Purdue 28-25 in overtime at Raymond James Stadium in front of 54,059 in a game broadcast by ESPN.

Purdue jumped out to an early lead in the first quarter behind three Drew Brees touchdown passes. In the second quarter Brees threw his fourth touchdown pass to Chris James. Purdue missed three of the four extra point opportunities to lead 25-0 with 10:38 left in the first half.

Georgia got its first points of the game on a Terrence Edwards 74-yard touchdown run off an option reverse to cut the lead to 25-7. Quincy Carter, who had 243 yards on 20 of 33 passing with two touchdowns (one rushing, one passing), helped continue the Georgia surge when he scored on an eight-yard run with 4:22 left in the third quarter. Patrick Pass made the two-point conversion to move the score to 25-18.

The Bulldogs tied the score at 25 with just 1:19 left in regulation, when Randy McMichael caught a Carter pass over two defenders for an eight-yard touchdown. In overtime, Georgia managed to stop Purdue on its first drive when Dorsch missed a 43-yard field goal. After two Pass rushes for 19 yards, Hap Hines nailed a 21-yarder to cap the Bulldogs' come from behind victory.

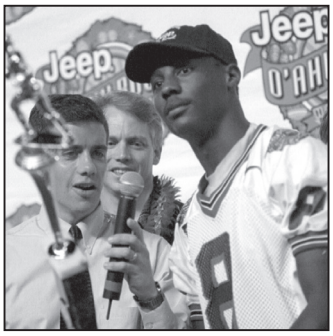
Georgia Cruises Past Virginia In 2000 O'ahu Bowl



Terrence Edwards

The 24th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs (8-4) defeated Virginia 34-17 in the 2000 Jeep O'ahu Bowl in front of an Aloha Stadium crowd of 24,187 and an ESPN television audience on Christmas Eve.

Georgia jumped out to a 17-0 lead in the first quarter. The Bulldogs got on the board with a 35-yard field goal by freshman kicker Billy Bennett. On the Bulldogs' next series, one play after a successful fake punt, Edwards scampered 40 yards into the end zone on a reverse to give Georgia a 10-0 lead. On Virginia's next possession, freshman safety Kentrell Curry recovered a Cavalier fumble in the end zone for the 17-0 lead.

The Cavaliers pulled within 24-14 in the third quarter as senior linebacker Byron Thweatt returned a Georgia fumble 58 yards, but that was as close as Virginia would get. Georgia added two more touchdowns for the final margin, a 21-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Cory Phillips to freshman receiver Damien Gary and a four-yard fumble return by sophomore safety Cap Burnett after senior linebacker Kendrell Bell knocked the ball loose.

Edwards was named MVP after leading UGA in both receiving and rushing with eight catches for 79 yards and five rushes for 97 yards and one touchdown.

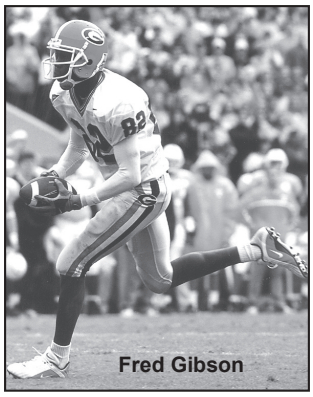
Eagles Edge Dogs In 2001 Music City Bowl



Fred Gibson

Running back William Green scored a 7-yard touchdown with 4:43 remaining to lift Boston College to a 20-16 win over Georgia at the Music City Bowl.

Running back Verron Haynes capped his Georgia career with 132 yards on 27 carries, including a 1-yard scoring run in the third quarter. That touchdown gave the Bulldogs a 16-10 lead.

The Bulldogs began the game with some trickery when Fred Gibson took the opening kickoff and gave a reverse handoff to Decory Bryant, who raced 86 yards to the Boston College 18. On Georgia's second play, Greene found Gibson on a swing pass and he fought his way into the end zone from 15 yards out.

Boston College grabbed the lead in the second quarter when quarterback Brian St. Pierre threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to receiver Dedrick Dewalt. The play was set up by Green's 75-yard run, the longest play allowed by the Bulldogs this season.

Sciortino then converted from 26 yards out to give the Eagles a 13-7 lead. The Bulldogs answered with Bennett's 24-yard field goal as Georgia trailed 13-10 at the break. Haynes' third-quarter touchdown gave the Bulldogs their final lead of the contest.

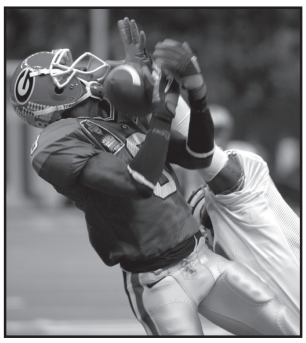
2003 Dogs Get Record 13th Win In Nokia Sugar Bowl



Terrence Edwards

Georgia bowl MVP Musa Smith rushed for 145 yards and Billy Bennett kicked four field goals as Georgia defeated Florida State 26-13 before 74,269 fans in the Nokia Sugar Bowl. Georgia completed the season at 13-1, the most wins in school history.

The Bulldogs' defense forced three turnovers by the Seminoles, including cornerback Bruce Thornton's 71-yard interception return for a touchdown. Nose tackle Ken Veal's fumble recovery led to one of Bennett's four field goals.

Bennett staked the Bulldogs to a 3-0 lead in the first quarter . The Seminoles took their only lead of the game in the second quarter as quarterback Fabian Walker found receiver Anquan Boldin on a 5-yard scoring toss. Thornton's second-quarter interception and score gave Georgia the lead for good.

Bennett pushed the advantage to 20-7 by drilling a 42-yard field goal early in the third quarter. On FSU's next possession, Veal's fumble recovery set up a third Bennett field goal, pushing Georgia ahead 23-7.

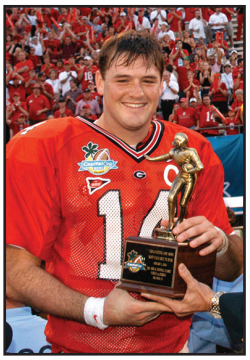
Georgia Defeats Purdue In OT In 2004 Capital One Bowl



David Greene

After scoring the game's first 24 points, Georgia needed a Kregg Lumpkin overtime touchdown run to hold off Purdue, 34-27, in front of a Capital One Bowl crowd of 64,565 and an ABC national television audience.

The Bulldogs opened the game with a nine-play, 68-yard drive culminating in a six-yard Fred Gibson touchdown pass from quarterback and offensive MVP David Greene (left). The Bulldogs used a Billy Bennett field goal and two more Greene TD passes--one each to Gibson and Reggie Brown--to open a 24-0 lead with 4:47 left in the first half.

Purdue answered with a touchdown and field goal to pull within 14, 24-10, at halftime.

Purdue scored the fourth quarter's first points on a Kyle Orton two-yard run with 9:11 left. Georgia then used up 4:44 on a 12-play, 57-yard drive ending in a 40-yard Bennett field goal. Late in the fourth, Purdue needed just three plays to go 66 yards and pull within three, 27-24, on a Kyle Orton three-yard touchdown pass. Ben Jones kicked a 44-yard field goal with 49 seconds left to tie the game at 27-all.

On the first possession of overtime, Lumpkin pushed his way into the end zone to give the Bulldogs a 34-27 lead. Purdue also drove inside the 10 yard line, but failed to convert.

Bulldogs Beat Badgers In 2005 Outback Bowl

David Pollack

Georgia (10-2) held off a late Wisconsin rally to defeat the Badgers 24-21 in front of 62,414 Outback Bowl fans at Raymond James Stadium and an ESPN national television audience.

It was the last game for several Bulldog seniors, including All-American DE David Pollack (right) whose three-sack performance earned him Outback Bowl MVP.

Overall, Georgia's defense stifled the Badgers' offense, allowing just 13 points while recording seven quarterback sacks and forcing and recovering two fumbles.

Wisconsin (9-3) took an early second-quarter 6-3 lead in a battle of field goals, but Georgia's offense came to life in the middle of the game. Senior QB David Greene connected on a 24-yard touchdown to Fred Gibson and later a 24-yard TD to senior Jeremy Thomas.

Freshman Thomas Brown notched his fourth 100-yard rushing game of the year with 111 yards on 16 carries, including a 29-yard touchdown run to give Georgia a 24-6 lead.

West Virginia Upsets Dogs In 2006 Nokia Sugar Bowl

Kregg Lumpkin

Georgia was unable to overcome a 28-0 deficit and fell to West Virginia 38-35 in the 2006 Nokia Sugar Bowl in front of 74,458 fans at the Georgia Dome and an ABC national television audience.

Despite three touchdowns and 277 yards passing by quarterback D.J. Shockley, the Bulldogs' late rally fell short after they outscored the Mountaineers 35-10 to finish the game. Tailback Thomas Brown led Georgia with 78 yards rushing, including a 52-yard touchdown.

West Virginia started the game's scoring with three touchdowns in the first quarter and went up 28-0 with 14:10 remaining in the second quarter. Georgia got its first points at the 12:58 mark in the second quarter on Kregg Lumpkin's career-long 34-yard touchdown run.

The Bulldogs managed to close the gap to 38-35 after Shockley connected with fellow senior Bryan McClendon for a 43-yard touchdown with 5:13 left in the fourth quarter. But West Virginia converted a fake punt in the game's final drive, enabling the Mountaineers to run the clock out.

Bulldogs Rally Past Va. Tech In 2006 Chick-fil-A Bowl

Tony Taylor

Georgia stormed back from an 18-point deficit to defeat 14th-ranked Virginia Tech 31-24 in the Chick-fil-A Bowl in the Georgia Dome in front of a bowl-record crowd of 75,406 and a national ESPN television audience.

Bulldog linebacker Tony Taylor (two interceptions) and quarterback Matthew Stafford (129 yards, 1 TD) were named the Defensive and Offensive MVPs. In the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs got scoring runs from tailback Kregg Lumpkin and fullback Brannan Southerland along with one of kicker Brandon Coutu's three field goals (including a Georgia bowl record 51-yarder) to complete the comeback.

Georgia led 3-0 after the first quarter, but then the Hokies built a 21-3 halftime edge. Taylor's interception at the start of the fourth quarter set up the game-tying touchdown, a 3-yard Lumpkin run. On the Hokies' next possession, Charles Johnson sacked Sean Glennon and caused him to fumble, which Quentin Moses recovered. It led to the go-ahead field goal by Coutu.

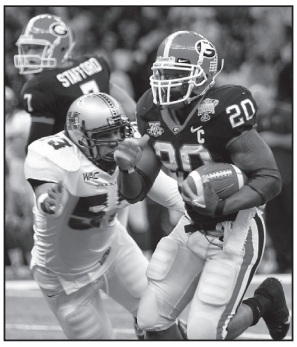
Bulldogs Blast Hawai'i To Win 2008 Sugar Bowl



Thomas Brown

The Bulldogs trounced previously undefeated Hawai'i 41-10 in the Sugar Bowl on New Years night from the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans, La. This was the most points the Bulldogs have ever scored in a bowl game as well as their largest margin of victory in a bowl game.

Georgia struck early against the Warriors, starting with a Knowshon Moreno 17-yard touchdown run with 9:42 in the first quarter. Moreno also had an 11-yard scoring run late in the first period.

Early in the second half, defensive end Marcus Howard sacked Warrior quarterback Colt Brennan on the goal line and recovered Brennan's fumble on the play for a TD, the first of his career. Thomas Brown got in on the scoring action with a one-yard scamper in the third quarter, and QB Matthew Stafford got into the books with an 11-yard TD pass to Sean Bailey midway through the second quarter.

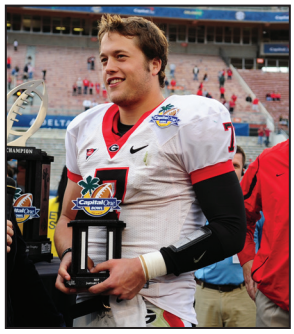
Bulldogs Notch 10th Win At 2009 Capital One Bowl



Matthew Stafford

Matthew Stafford threw three touchdown passes in the final 18 minutes against Michigan State, as the Bulldogs posted a 24-12 Capital One Bowl victory in front of 59,681 fans and an ABC national television audience.

The first half was ugly for Stafford, projected to be an early first-round NFL draft pick, and Georgia. He was just 6-for-14 with an interception in the first half and Michigan State (9-4) led 6-3. In the second half, he looked more like the quarterback NFL teams covet. He completed 14 of his final 17 throws, including three TD passes.

Stafford started the comeback by directing a 10-play, 96-yard drive midway through the third quarter. He went 6-for-6 for 92 yards and capped it with a 35-yard touchdown toss to Michael Moore. Stafford and Aron White hooked up on a 21-yard TD toss with 9 seconds left in the third quarter to put Georgia up 17-6.

Dogs Defeat Texas A&M For Independence Bowl Win

Georgia closed out the 2009 football season in dominant fashion as it defeated Texas A&M 44-20 in the AdvoCare V100 Independence Bowl in front of 49,653 fans in Shreveport, La.

After the Aggies tied the game early in the third quarter, Georgia scored 30 unanswered points to win with relative ease. The 44 points was a Bulldog bowl record.

Neither team scored until the final 2:33 of the second quarter, when Georgia followed an A&M touchdown with two quick scores before halftime, highlighted by Brandon Boykin's kickoff return.

A 49-yard field goal by Blair Walsh with 9:25 left in the third quarter gave Georgia the lead for good and started the string of 30 consecutive points.

Brandon Boykin

Georgia's defense, coached by defensive line coach Rodney Garner and graduate assistants Mitch Doolittle and Todd Hartley, was led by sophomore linebacker Marcus Dowtin, who had nine tackles. Junior linebacker Rennie Curran had eight, and junior safety Reshad Jones had five tackles and an interception.

No. 24 UCF Edges Bulldogs In 2010 Liberty Bowl

Georgia saw its four-game bowl winning streak stopped by dropping a 10-6 decision to #24 Central Florida in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl, marking Georgia's first postseason loss since the 2006 Sugar Bowl.

UCF's Latavius Murray scored on a 10-yard touchdown run with 9:01 left, and the Knights were able to stave off Georgia to post the victory. The Bulldogs had the ball last and converted two fourth downs before Kemal Ishmael knocked down Aaron Murray's final throw into the end zone as time expired.

The Bulldogs also started both halves driving down field easily before bogging down and settling for field goals of 20 and 41 yards by Blair Walsh. These teams went to halftime tied at 3-3 after a first half in which both Georgia and UCF wasted chances at the end zone.

No. 12 MSU Rallies Past Bulldogs In 2012 Outback Bowl

Tavarres King

Georgia dropped a 33-30 decision to Michigan State in a thrilling three-overtime game in the Outback Bowl in front of 49,429 fans and a nationally televised ABC audience.

Bulldog junior Tavarres King set a school-record with 205 yards receiving on six catches, including a career-long 80-yard TD. Defensive back Brandon Boykin, who was named the MVP of the game, forced a safety, returned a punt 92 yards for a TD and scored on a 13-yard run.

With 2:06 left, MSU quarterback Kirk Cousins led a 10-play 85-yard drive that tied the game at 27-27 to send it into overtime. After an interception by Bacarri Rambo on MSU's first possession, Georgia senior Blair Walsh missed a 42-yard field goal to send it to another overtime. Both teams exchanged field goals in the second OT. The Spartans opened the third OT with a field goal that gave them a 33-30 lead. Georgia had a chance to tie it again, but its 47-yard field goal attempt was blocked, sealing the win for the Spartans.

Bulldogs Defeat Nebraska In 2013 Capital One Bowl

Chris Conley

No. 5 Georgia handed the 21st-ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers a 45-31 loss in front of 59,712 fans and a national TV audience in the Capital One Bowl.

On the second Georgia drive of the game, Aaron Murray capped an 80-yard drive with a 29-yard completion to Arthur Lynch.

Nebraska answered with a pair of TDs to take a 14-9 lead, but the lead didn't last, as Todd Gurley rushed for a 24-yard TD. The Huskers responded with a six-play, 44-yard drive that resulted in a 39-yard field goal that made it a 23-17 game midway through the second quarter. After a Georgia three-and-out, Nebraska took a 24-23 lead on a 16-yard pass to Rex Burkhead.

On the opening drive of the second half, Nebraska scored on a two-yard TD run by Burkhead that extended Nebraska's lead to 31-23. Georgia answered on the following drive with a 49-yard touchdown grab by Chris Conley. Georgia scored TDs on its next two possessions to take a 45-31 lead and seal the bowl victory.

Nebraska Holds On For 2014 TaxSlayer.com Gator Bowl Win

No. 23 Georgia Bulldogs sustained a 24-19 loss to Nebraska in the TaxSlayer.com Gator Bowl in front of 60,712 fans in Jacksonville and a national ESPN audience.

Todd Gurley

After a scoreless first quarter, Hutson Mason led Georgia on an 12-play, 38-yard drive that produced a Marshall Morgan 39-yard field goal. Nebraska, however, took advantage of a fumbled punt return by the Bulldogs to take a 7-3 lead with 9:05 left in the second quarter. The teams traded field goals to complete first-half scoring with the Huskers holding a 10-9 edge.

Nebraska forged ahead 24-12 with touchdowns on its first two possessions of the second half. The latter came on a 99-yard pass from Tommy Armstrong, Jr. to Quincy Enunwa with 4:58 left in the third quarter.

Georgia scored its first touchdown of the game at the start of the fourth quarter when Hutson Mason passed for 25 yards to Todd Gurley. Later in the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs looked to take the lead, twice driving inside the Nebraska 20. Georgia was unable to convert on either fourth down, however, allowing Nebraska to come away with the victory.

Chubb, Bulldogs Power Past Louisville in 2014 Belk Bowl

Nick Chubb
Belk Bowl MVP

Nick Chubb rushed for a UGA-bowl record 266 yards to propel No. 13 Georgia past 20th-ranked Louisville 37-14 in front of a crowd of 45,671 and a national ESPN audience in the Belk Bowl at Bank of America Stadium in Charlotte.

Georgia struck first, taking a 7-0 lead on a nine-play, 60-yard drive in the first quarter. On 2nd-and-14, Hutson Mason connected with Chris Conley for a 45-yard touchdown that gave the Bulldogs a 7-0 lead after the Marshall Morgan PAT.

The Cardinals answered on the next drive, going 84 yards on nine plays to tie the game at 7-7. Gerald Christian scored the TD on an 11-yard pass from Kyle Bolin.

Already leading 20-7 at halftime, Georgia broke the game open late in the third quarter. Chubb's 82-yard run, starting at his own 3-yard line, paved the way for Sony Michel to score from two yards out with 5:41 left. After UL answered with a score, the Bulldogs put the game out of reach in the fourth period with a Morgan field goal and an 8-yard TD run by Chubb.

Godwin, Bulldogs Hold Off Penn State for TaxSlayer Win

Terry Godwin
Taxslayer Bowl MVP

After jumping ahead 24-3 in the third quarter, Georgia was able to hold on and beat Penn State 24-17 in the TaxSlayer Bowl at Jacksonville's EverBank Field.

Freshman Terry Godwin became the first non-quarterback to throw for a score for Georgia since 2005, and the first Bulldog wideout to throw for a score since 1998, when he hit senior Malcolm Mitchell in stride for a 44-yard strike for the first touchdown of the game. Later in the first half, he pulled in a 17-yard touchdown from Greyson Lambert.

After Sony Michel's third-quarter TD run pushed Georgia comfortably ahead, Penn State finally broke through on the first play of the fourth quarter. Backup quarterback Trace McSorley connected with Geno Lewis for a 17-yard score. Two drives later, McSorley hit DaeSean Hamilton for a TD that trimmed the margin to 24-17.

Georgia got the ball back and consumed most of the remaining 6:07 with a solid drive. Bulldog defenders, however, had to preserve the victory by batting down a 43-yard Hail Mary heave by McSorley on the final play.

Ground Attack Pushes Dogs Past TCU in Liberty Bowl Win

Sony Michel

The Georgia Bulldogs grabbed the school's 30th all-time bowl victory in a 31-23 win over the TCU Horned Frogs in the Autozone Liberty Bowl at the Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium in Memphis.

Georgia junior tailbacks Nick Chubb and Sony Michel combined for 268 total yards and three touchdowns. Chubb amassed 142 yards on the ground, including a 13-yard touchdown run that strengthened the Bulldogs' lead to eight points at 31-23 with 2:48 left in the game.

Michel, the Liberty Bowl Offensive MVP, supplied the Bulldogs with one rushing touchdown on 87 yards and another on 39 receiving yards. On the defensive side of the ball, sophomore lineman Trenton Thompson collected three sacks, a Liberty Bowl record, and was named Liberty Bowl Overall MVP and defensive MVP.

Georgia took its first lead of the game at 21-16 on a 4-yard pass from Jacob Eason to Javon Wims midway through the third quarter. The Horned Frogs answered late in the period with a short touchdown pass of their own. Rodrigo Blankenship's 30-yard field goal 90 seconds into the fourth quarter gave Georgia the lead for keeps.

Bulldogs Top Sooners 54-48 (2OT) In Classic Rose Bowl Game

• Sony Michel's 27-yard touchdown run in the second overtime capped one of the wildest games in program history, a 4-hour roller coaster ride that sent Georgia into the National Championship Game.

• Michel's winning score was his fourth of a career-best game, one in which he gained 181 yards rushing and also caught four passes.

• Georgia overcame a 17-point second-quarter deficit and and a 7-point margin in the final minutes of regulation. Nick Chubb scored the equalizer on a 2-yard sprint around right end with just 55 seconds left, knotting the score at 45. The tying drive covered 59 yards in seven plays.

• After an exchange of field goals in the first overtime, Lorenzo Carter blocked a Sooner field goal from 27 yards to give Georgia the advantage. It was the Bulldogs' third block of a placement kick in the 2017 season and fourth block overall.

Bulldogs' Bid for Title Falls Short vs. Alabama

Mecole Hardman

• Alabama defeated Georgia 26-23 in the 2018 College Football Playoff National Championship Game in Atlanta, overcoming two 13-point deficits and an errant field goal attempt that would have won it in regulation.

• Still, the Bulldogs led in overtime on the strength of a 51-yard field goal by Rodrigo Blankenship. They even took the upper hand by sacking Bama quarterback Tua Tagovailoa for a 16-yard loss on the Tide's first play in the extra period. But on second down, Tagovailoa hit DeVonta Smith for a 41-yard scoring pass that ended the game.

• Georgia controlled the first half, taking a 13-0 lead on Mecole Hardman's 1-yard run just before intermission. Hardman scored again on an 80-yard pass from Jake Fromm with 6:52 left in the third quarter, answering Bama's first score of the night.

• This game marked Georgia's first appearance since 1982 in a game where victory would have given it a national title in football.

• It was also the first time that any Bulldog team had played consecutive overtime games. Georgia is now 8-6 all-time in overtime contests, including 3-3 at neutral sites.

Longhorns Hold Off Bulldogs in Sugar Bowl

• A fast start by Texas -- aided partly by a pair of early Georgia miscues -- enabled the Longhorns to post a 28-21 upset victory over the Bulldogs in the 2019 Allstate Sugar Bowl.

• Texas tallied scores on four of its first five possessions in building a 20-7 first-half lead. The margin reached 28-7 before Georgia put together two scoring drives in the fourth period, the latter touchdown with :14 left.

• The Longhorns took the opening kickoff and drove 75 yards in 10 plays for their first score. The ensuing Georgia drive stalled at the 41-yard line, where a low snap caused punter Jake Camarda to field it with his right knee touching the turf at the 27. Georgia's defense, however, forced the Longhorns to settle for a 37-yard field goal.

• Later in the first quarter, a D'Andre Swift fumble at his own 12-yard line gave Texas another scoring opportunity. QB Sam Ehlinger scrambled for a 9-yard touchdown three plays later for a 17-0 margin.

• Georgia finished the season 11-3. The Bulldogs made their 55th all-time bowl appearance, including the program's 22nd consecutive appearance. Its record in bowl games is now 31-21-3.

• Elijah Holyfield became the 15th UGA rusher to gain 1,000 yards in a single season. He went over the 1,000-yard mark on his first carry of the second half. Teammate D'Andre Swift had surpassed that milestone in the SEC Championship game. It marked the second straight year that Georgia had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers after Nick Chubb and Sony Michel had done it in 2017.

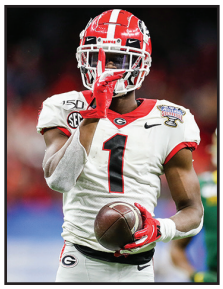
Dogs Make Victorious Return to Big Easy



George Pickens

• Fifth-ranked Georgia closed the 2019 season with a 26-14 victory over #7 Baylor in the 86th Allstate Sugar Bowl before 55,211 fans at the Mercedes-Benz Superdome and an ESPN primetime television audience.

• The Bulldogs won this game with a roster that scarcely resembled the one that had played 13 previous contests. As many as 15 scholarship players missed the Sugar Bowl for various reasons. Hardest hit were the offensive line -- which lacked three key players and coach Sam Pittman, who left to become head coach at Arkansas -- and a defense that was missing at least six regulars. OL Warren Ericson, RB Zamir White and DT Devonte Wyatt all made their first career starts in the game.

• Freshman George Pickens, who was named the Sugar Bowl MVP, had a career-high 12 catches (tying a UGA bowl record) for 175 yards and 1 TD. In the first half alone, he had 11 for 165 yards and one TD. His 27-yard TD catch early in the second period gave Georgia its first measurable distance from the Bears.

• With the victory, the 2019 class tied the mark for most wins by a Bulldog senior class with 44. They matched the 2005 group that went 44-9 with a pair of SEC titles. The 2019 class finished with a 44-12 record, one SEC title, three consecutive SEC Eastern Division crowns and was the 2018 CFP Runner-Up.

• Georgia made its 11th all-time appearance in the Sugar Bowl, and the Bulldogs are now 5-6. Georgia made its 23rd consecutive appearance in a bowl game, the second longest active streak in the country. Overall, Georgia improved to 32-21-3 in bowls.

Although the University of Georgia is now known as the home of Uga, the pure white English bulldog, several mascots led the Red and Black before Frank W. Seiler provided the current lineage beginning in 1956.

The Goat -- Feb. 22, 1892

Georgia's mascot for its first football game against Auburn, February 22, 1892 in Atlanta, Ga., was a goat. Old newspaper clippings indicate that the goat wore a black coat with red U.G. letters on each side. He also had on a hat with ribbons all down his high horns, and the Auburn fans yelled throughout the game "shoot the billy-goat."

Trilby, 1894

Trilby with owner Charles H. Black

In 1894, Georgia's mascot was a solid white female bull terrier owned by a student, Charles H. Black, Sr., of Atlanta. Trilby, named after a novel by George Du Maurier, served as the campus pet and mascot for the Chi Phi fraternity.

Disputing stories speculate the origin of the Bulldog nickname, and the story of Trilby provides yet another opinion: "...every day Trilby took herself down to old Herty field with her master for football practice. She ran signals with the best of them and became an accustomed figure on the athletic field...One morning, Trilby failed to appear for her breakfast and after a frantic search she was finally discovered proudly washing the faces of her newborn family, 13 white puppies...Late one dusky fall afternoon, Trilby appeared for a grid workout and scampering after her came her 13 children, darting through players' legs, barking and pace. 'Well,' suggested one of the players, 'Trilby has brought us a name, Bulldogs.' ...Every time a game was played on Herty Field, the boys would floss Trilby and her 13 offerings up with red and black ribbons, and so attired they have gone down in history as perhaps the first 'sponsors' in southern football." —Ruth Stanton Cogill (Atlanta newspaper)

"After the rein of Trilby and her family, chaos developed in the mascot department at the university. Many games had several, depending on which alumnus got his dog to the game first." —AJC, Nov. 18, 1962

Mr. Angel, 1944-46

Mr. Angel

Mr. Angel, a brindle and white colored English Bulldog owned by Eastman,Ga.,-physician, Warren Coleman, filled a void during some of the war years.

There was no mascot roaming the sidelines and Coleman took Mr. Angel to games and stood with him on the sidelines. His picture on the field and with the Georgia cheerleaders appears in the 1945 and '46 UGA annual, the Pandora.

Butch, 1947-50

Butch was a brindled English bulldog owned by Mabry Smith of Warner Robins, Ga. He was spotted by students who were attending the 1946 Georgia-Georgia Tech game in Athens, and the canine appeared to be suited for the mascot position. Smith agreed to loan Butch to the University during the football season along with a female puppy named Tuffy. The female died of a heart attack following the Georgia-Kentucky game in 1948, but Butch continued to serve. Spending the off-season at Smith's home in Warner Robins, Butch was tragically shot in the summer of 1951 by a policeman after the dog escaped from his pen and was found roaming the streets. Butch is buried behind Smith's business along Watson Boulevard.

In 2004 plans for a marker honoring Butch in his hometown were put into motion by longtime Warner Robins resident Guy Fussell.

Mike, 1951-55

Bronze statue of Mike

Butch was succeeded by Mike, another brindled English bulldog, owned by C. L. Fain. Mike lived in the field house on campus and died of natural canine causes in 1955. As his master's thesis, Gene Owens of Fort Worth, Texas, cast the bronze statue of Mike which is located at the entrance of Memorial Hall

Uga Takes the Field

Sanford Stadium Graves

In the last 100 years of intercollegiate football, Georgia's Uga has established himself as the nation's most well-known mascot. The line of pure white English bulldogs, which epitomizes everything Georgia, has been owned by the Frank W. "Sonny" Seiler family of Savannah, Ga., since Uga I first graced the campus in 1956.

Through the years, Uga has been defined by his spiked collar, a symbol of the position which he holds. He was given his name, an abbreviation for the university, by William Young of Columbus, a law school classmate of Seiler. Each of the Uga mascots is awarded a varsity letter in the form of a plaque, identical to those presented to all Bulldog athletes who letter in their respective sports.

As determined and published by the Pittsburgh Press, the University of Georgia is the only major college that actually buries its mascots within the confines of the stadium. Ugas I-IX are buried in marble vaults near the main gate in the embankment of the South stands. Epitaphs to the dogs are inscribed in bronze, and before each home game, flowers are placed on their graves. The memorial plot attracts hundreds of fans and visitors each year.

For the past 20 years, Uga's jerseys have been custom-made at the beginning of each season from the same material used for the players' jerseys. Old jerseys are destroyed.

Uga's on-field home is a permanent air conditioned doghouse located next to the cheerleader's platform, providing comfort in the heat of August and September. The custom-made doghouse is a gift from the Bahamian Bulldog Club of Nassau, Bahamas, through the courtesy of Fred Hazlewood.

Uga I, 1956-66
"Hood's Ole Dan"
Record: 53-48-6

Uga I

The current Uga line of solid white English bulldogs began with Uga I, Hood's Ole Dan, born Dec. 2, 1955, in Columbus. Uga I was given to Cecelia Seiler by a friend, Frank Heard of Columbus and appeared in his first game in the 1956 home opener. As recalled by Sonny Seiler, "...his original red jerseys were made by Cecelia. It was necessary to take up children's t-shirts to fit the dog in the right places. There is no telling how many of these jersey's he wore out. During the early games in Athens, especially the hot ones before he had a dog house, the large green hedges that surround Sanford Stadium afford welcomed shade in the heat of battle. Unfortunately, the hedges constantly tore these jerseys and new ones had to be made."

"Ole Dan's Uga"
Record: 42-16-3

Uga I was succeeded by his son, Ole Dan's Uga at an impressive pregame ceremony at Homecoming, 1966. With the Georgia Redcoat Band lining the field, Uga II was led to the center of the field by Charles Seiler, son of Sonny and Cecelia. The student body erupted in a cheer that was picked up by the entire stadium, "Damn Good Dog!"

Uga II had an impressive reign as he watched Georgia participate in five bowl games and win two SEC championships.

Uga III

Uga III, 1972-80
"Seiler's Uga Three"
Record: 71-32-2

Born Oct. 9, 1972, Seiler's Uga III was present for Georgia football's finest moment as Herschel Walker took the Bulldogs to the 1980 national championship. He led Georgia to six bowl games in nine years and closed out his career in ultimate fashion winning the 1980 NCAA championship. Uga III retired on the 100th football game of his career, marking the season-opener of the 1981 season. He died just weeks later.

Uga IV

Uga IV, 1981-89
"Seiler's Uga Four"
Record: 77-27-4

Uga IV was perhaps the most active of all the Georgia mascots, standing as the only one to attend a bowl game every year of his service (1981-89). He took over for Uga III in the 1981 season opener and over the next nine seasons, led Georgia to a record of 77-27-4. The highlight of his career was his personal appearance at the Heisman Trophy Banquet with Herschel Walker in New York on December 9, 1982. Uga IV was escorted through thebanquet hall by the president of the Downtown Athletic Club, and was earlier photographed with Herschel by photographers from across the country. The proud Bulldog donned his game jersey for the outing and added the formal touch of a collar and black tie. Uga IV was the first mascot invited to the Heisman Banquet.Declared "Dog of the Decade" by Vince Dooley in 1991, Uga IV was posthumously awarded the highest honor available to University of Georgia mascots — the Georgia varsity letter.

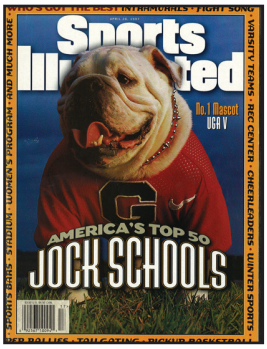
Otto, 1986
"The Substitute"
Record: 3-1

Otto

Although Otto was not pure white like his father, he was called upon to fill in for his younger brother, Uga IV, who injured ligaments in his left hind knee when jumping off a hotel bed before the Vanderbilt contest. In four games during the 1986 season, Otto led the team to a 3-1 record and also co-mascotted (along with Uga IV), a victory over instate rival Georgia Tech. After winning his first two games, fans cheered, "2-and-0 with Otto!" Dooley, serving as head coach during Otto's brief tenure, favored the substitute the most. "I have always had a great affection for those who came off the bench and performed, and he did that and had a great time," Dooley said. Otto is buried in the Seilers' backyard.

Uga V, 1990-99
"UGA IV's Magillicuddy II"
Record: 65-39-1



In the first game of 1990, Uga V officially began his reign as the Georgia mascot, taking over from his father Uga IV, who passed away at his home in Savannah on Feb. 26, 1990. Uga V was the last pup sired by Uga IV and was born on March 6, 1990.

Named in honor of one of the greatest Bulldogs, Dan Magill, former Assistant Athletic Director for Public Relations and longtime tennis coach and sports information director. Surprisingly, the Seiler family became aware that Uga IV's mate was expecting only 10 days before the litter was due. This notice came a week after Uga IV had passed away at his home in Savannah from kidney failure. There were only three pups in the litter and the last one born on March 6 was the only solid white male.

Uga V had been perhaps the most well known of all the Bulldog mascots, highlighted by his appearance on the cover of the April 28, 1997, Sports Illustrated which declared him the nation's best college mascot. Rocketed to stardom, he also appeared in Clint Eastwood's "Midnight In The Garden Of Good And Evil" — filmed in his hometown of Savannah, Ga. He died on Nov. 22, 1999, just over two months after his retirement.

Epitaph: "Nation's Best College Mascot"—Sports Illustrated

Uga VI

Uga VI, 1999-2008
"Uga V's Whatchagot Loran"
Record: 87-27

In 2007, Uga VI became the winningest mascot in school history and owned a record of 87-27. The fall of 2008 would have been his 10th season after Uga VI reigned over more games than any other mascot with 114. He died on June 27, 2008. In his last game, the Bulldogs defeated Hawai'i 41-10 in the 2008 Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

The pregame passing of the bone ceremony from Uga V to his heftier and friskier son, Whatchagot Loran, took place at the 1999 Georgia-South Carolina contest. Only a year old at his coronation, Uga VI stood as the biggest of all the Uga mascots weighing in at 65 pounds — 20 pounds heavier than his father.

His first season climaxed in a magnificent come from behind victory over Purdue at the Outback Bowl in Tampa. The 2000 season ended in Hawaii, but due to the distance and a quarantine rule, Uga VI missed the O'ahu Bowl, marking the first time the Georgia mascot had missed the postseason game since the 1969 Sun Bowl.

Alongside first-year head coach Mark Richt, Uga VI saw his third consecutive 8-4 season, which included a 26-24 win at then-No. 6 Tennessee for the Bulldogs' first win in Knoxville since 1980.

Uga VI and Georgia experienced their best run in two decades during the 2002-05 seasons. That stretch included 44 wins, a pair of SEC titles and appearances in the Sugar, Capital One and Outback Bowls.

In 2007, Uga VI passed Uga IV (77-24-4) for the most wins of any bulldog in school history.

"Loran's Best"
Record: 16-7

Uga VII

The seventh in the Uga line of Georgia mascots was introduced to the Georgia people on Aug. 30, 2008, during pre-game ceremonies of the Bulldogs' season opener against Georgia Southern.

"Loran's Best" officially became "Uga VII," when he was introduced for the first time to the Sanford Stadium crowd prior to kickoff of the Georgia vs. Georgia Southern game. He was escorted onto the field by members of the Frank W. "Sonny" Seiler family of Savannah who have owned the continuous line of mascots since Uga I took up the mantle in 1956.

Uga VII passed away unexpectedly on Nov. 19 of heart-related causes. It was the Thursday before the final home game of the 2009 season and the Bulldogs did not have a live mascot at the game. Instead, a wreath was placed on UGA VII's doghouse, and the players wore a special UGA VII decal on their helmets to remember him. "Russ," the five-year-old half brother of Uga VII, served as the Bulldog mascot for the Georgia Tech game in Atlanta and helped his squad to a 30-24 win. He was the first substitute mascot since "Otto" in 1986.

Epitaph: Gone Too Soon

Uga VIII, 2010
"Big Bad Bruce"
Record: 4-2

Uga VIII

Born Sept. 12, 2009 in Savannah, Ga., Uga VIII is the grandson of Uga VI. He carried on the tradition of more than 60 years of all-white bulldogs bred by Frank "Sonny" Seiler and family.

Uga VIII was named in honor of Dr. Bruce Hollett from the University's School of Veterinary Medicine. Dr. Hollett has been a longtime caregiver for the famed line of English bulldogs. UGA VIII served six games in the 2010 season before he became ill and missed the AutoZone Liberty Bowl. He passed away with lymphoma on February 4, 2011.

Epitaph: He Never Had a Chance

Uga IX, 2012-14
("Russ", 2009-2012: 16-9)
Record: 44-19

Uga IX

"Uga IX, formerly "Russ," the half-brother of Uga VII, served as interim Bulldog mascot for a total of 25 games. He worked nine games during the 2009 and 2010 seasons after Uga VII and VIII passed away. He roamed the sidelines at all 14 games during the 2011 season. He then served for two wins at the beginning of the 2012 season before being promoted as Uga IX prior to the Florida Atlantic game on Sept. 15, 2012. His time as mascot included the 2011 and 2012 SEC Eastern Division championships, three road wins at Georgia Tech, a victory over Texas A&M in the 2009 Independence Bowl in Shreveport, La., and a win over Nebraska in the 2013 Capital One Bowl. He was the first substitute mascot since "Otto" in 1986.

Epitaph: He endeared himself to the Georgia people. His dedication to duty when called upon was exemplary.

Uga X, 2015-Present
"Que"
Record: 61-17

Uga X
"Que"

Uga IX officially retired as the Bulldogs' mascot at the end of the 2014 season. After a three-month "audition" in that role, his grandson "Que" was formally crowned as his successor in a collaring ceremony prior to the Georgia-Georgia Southern game on Nov. 21, 2015. Que assumed the title of Uga X at the age of 2 1/2 years. During his audition, he made appearances at the Countdown to Kickoff event in July 2015, as well as Picture Day in August, before presiding over the entirety of the 2015 football season. Que capped his inaugural season by leading the team to a 24-17 victory over Penn State at the 2016 Taxslayer Bowl.

The Arch

Serving as the official symbol of the University of Georgia, the Arch was built in the 1850s and originally served as part of a larger iron fence securing the campus. Daniel Redfearn (BL 1909, BS 1910) is credited with making the Arch the sacred symbol of UGA. Recognized as one of the school's finest icons, students today hold the Arch in high regard as its three pillars represent the virtues of wisdom, justice, and moderation.

The Arch

The "G"

In 1963 after becoming the Bulldogs' Head Football Coach, Vince Dooley redesigned the football uniform, choosing a red helmet with a black "G" on a white background as the dominant feature of the new uniform for the 1964 season.

He discussed with his staff that a forward-looking "G" would be an appropriate emblem for the helmet of the Georgia team. Dooley had just hired John Donaldson, former Georgia player from 1945 to 1948, as backfield coach. Donaldson was keen on the idea of a new image and volunteered his wife, Anne, who had a BFA in commercial art from UGA, to design a logo for the new Georgia helmet with the general specifications Dooley had outlined. Dooley accepted Anne's original "G" which fit his vision for a forward look to Georgia's new emblem.

Since the Georgia "G", though different in design and color, was similar to Green Bay's "G", Coach Dooley thought it best to clear the use of Georgia's new emblem with the NFL team. Athletic Director Joel Eaves called for permission, which was granted. However, since its inception in 1961, the Green Bay "G" has been redesigned several times and now looks like Georgia's original 1964 "G." Georgia is proud that the Packers apparently liked the special nuances of the Bulldogs' forward-looking "G".

Georgia's oval "G", eventually replacing Georgia's old block "G" as the official UGA symbol, has stood the test of time. It made its first appearance in the opening game in 1964 and was an immediate hit with the Georgia fans, especially after Dooley's first three teams were so successful—highlighted by the 1966 SEC Championship.

"Silver Britches"

Silver Britches were an innovation of Coach Wally Butts, who took over as head coach in 1939. The handsome pants complemented the bright red jersey and made for a striking uniform. Through the years, fans referred to the Bulldogs' silver britches in their chants and on banners, but the phrase really caught on in the early fifties with a cheer, banners, and colorful vests that proclaimed "Go, You Silver Britches." Coach Vince Dooley re-designed the uniform when he came in 1964 and used white pants; however, he re-instituted the silver britches in 1980 just prior to what turned out to be Georgia's national championship season.

The Chapel Bell

The ringing of the chapel bell after a Georgia victory is a tradition that continues even though freshmen are no longer ordered to do the chore. In the 1890's, the playing field was located only yards from the Chapel and first-year students were compelled to ring the bell until midnight in celebration of a Bulldog victory. Today students, alumni, and townspeople still rush to the Chapel to ring the bell after a gridiron victory.

"Glory, Glory"

Among the University's oldest and most lasting traditions is the school fight song, "Glory, Glory," which is sung to the tune of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." It was sung at games as early as the 1890's, but arranged in its present form by Georgia's immortal musician-composer Hugh Hodgson in 1915. There have been many Bulldog songs through the years and at least two collections dating back to 1909 have been published, but none have enjoyed more acceptance than "Glory, Glory."

"How 'Bout Them Dogs"

This is a slogan of recent vintage, but one that has become a battle cry of Bulldog fans probably because of its obvious grammatical slur. It first surfaced during the mid to late 1970's especially during the 1978 season when the Bulldogs posted several remarkable, come-from-behind victories. It gained national attention and exposure when Georgia won the national championship in 1980. A major wire service used the phrase in its story of Georgia's victory over Notre Dame and many newspapers picked it up in glaring headlines across the country proclaiming "How 'Bout Them Dogs!"

"Bulldogs"

Many oldtimers say Georgia acquired the nickname, "Bulldogs," because of the strong ties with Yale, whose nickname is "Bulldogs." Georgia's first president, Abraham Baldwin, was a Yale man and the early buildings on campus were designed from blueprints of the same buildings at Yale. However, the first references to the nickname "Bulldogs" actually came in the 1910's (1911-20) by Atlanta newspaper writers covering both football and baseball games. Although used occasionally during the previous decade, the nickname began to be consistently used around 1920.

On Nov. 3, 1920, Morgan Blake of the Atlanta Journal wrote about school nicknames and said "The Georgia Bulldogs would sound good because there is a certain dignity about a bulldog, as well as ferocity." After a 0-0 tie with Virginia in Charlottesville on Nov. 6, 1920, Atlanta Constitution writer Cliff Wheatley used the name "Bulldogs" in his story five times. Gene Hinton also used the term "Bulldogs." The nickname seemed to be off and running.

"Between The Hedges"

A reference to Sanford Stadium that dates to the early 1930's. The famous Chinese privet hedges that surround Sanford's playing field were only one foot high when the stadium was dedicated in 1929 and were protected by a wooden fence. It was natural for a clever sports writer, referring to an upcoming home game, to observe "that the Bulldogs will have their opponent 'between the hedges." At least one old-timer says the phrase was first coined by the legendary Atlanta sportswriter Grantland Rice.

"Lone Trumpeter"

Seven minutes before kickoff in Sanford Stadium, the Bulldog Nation directs its attention to a lone trumpeter standing in the upper deck of the southwest corner of the stadium. The soloist is recognized and begins to play the first 14 notes of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The Battle Hymn solo was originally composed in 1987 as a student project by Jeff Simmons and became a part of the pre-game traditions in 2000. Each year, 25-30 members of the Redcoat Band audition for one of the 4-5 soloist positions.

Greg McGarity

J. Reid Parker
Director of Athletics

NOTE: As announced on Nov. 30, McGarity will retire on Dec. 31, 2020, as the J. Reid Parker Director of Athletics at UGA.

Athens native and University of Georgia graduate Greg McGarity was named Director of Athletics at UGA on August 13, 2010, after serving 18 years in the athletic department at the University of Florida.

During McGarity's tenure, the visibility and operations of UGA's 21-sport athletic program have grown significantly. The annual budget of the Athletic Association has increased from $89 million in 2010 to $153 million today. Under his watch, UGA teams won seven national team championships and 21 SEC titles, as well as five SEC Eastern Division crowns in football. Georgia's finish in the Learfield Directors' Cup, which annually measures athletic teams success in NCAA championships, was in the top 25 every year during his tenure and as high as 8th in 2018.

In addition, McGarity has been at the forefront of facility expansion and renovations which have totaled over $210 million, highlighted by the $30 million William Porter Payne and Porter Otis Payne Indoor Athletic Facility and the $63 million West End Zone addition at Sanford Stadium. Currently underway is a $40 million expansion of the Butts-Mehre Heritage Hall, which has served as the administrative center for the Athletic Association, as well as the operational hub for the football program, since 1987.

A 1976 graduate of UGA's Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communication, McGarity was a letterman on the 1973 Bulldog tennis team and began his career in athletics administration at UGA in 1977. He rose through the ranks to become Assistant AD for Facilities and Event Management in 1988. In 1992, McGarity joined the University of Florida, where he held several senior leadership roles in athletics before returning to UGA in 2010 as Athletic Director.

McGarity is married to the former Sheryl Holland, who graduated from UGA in 1976 with a Bachelor of Science degree in education. They have one son, Alex, a graduate of the University of Florida and the University of Georgia.

Josh Brooks

Interim Director of Athletics Designee

NOTE: Brooks will become UGA's Interim Director of Athletics on Jan. 1, 2021.

Josh Brooks, now in his 11th year at UGA, currently serves as the Senior Deputy Athletic Director. As announced on Nov. 30, he will assume the title of Interim Director of Athletics, effective Jan. 1, 2021.

Brooks returned to UGA in 2016 as Executive Associate Director of Athletics after serving as Deputy Athletics Director at the University of Louisiana Monroe from 2015-16 and Director of Athletics at Millsaps College from 2014-15. He was promoted to Deputy Athletic Director at UGA in May, 2018, and in January, 2020, was named Senior Deputy Director of Athletics.

Brooks had previously served in capacities at UGA as Director of Football Operations (2008-11) and Assistant and Associate Athletic Director for Internal Operations (2012-14).

Brooks has worked closely with UGA Director of Athletics Greg McGarity and oversees all internal and external athletic operations. He has been involved in the scheduling of future football games as well as overseeing bowl game operations. In addition, he serves as the liaison with the Office of University Architects and other campus departments on all athletic construction projects. Brooks has also served as the sport facilitator for the football and men's and women's track and field and cross country programs.

A native of Hammond, La., Brooks graduated from LSU with a degree in Kinesiology and completed his Master's degree in Sport Management from The University of Georgia. He and his wife, Lillie, have twin sons, Jackson and James, born in July of 2009 and a third son, Davis, born in March of 2012.

Jere W. Morehead

President
University of Georgia

President Jere W. Morehead began his tenure as the 22nd University of Georgia President on July 1, 2013. Under his leadership, UGA has risen in the rankings of the best public colleges and universities and has completed a series of initiatives to enhance student learning and success, including a requirement for experiential learning for all undergraduates.

Additionally, the University completed the most successful capital campaign in its history, raising $1.45 billion, and launched an Innovation District initiative to create UGA's campus of the future, where students and faculty will partner with industry to generate ideas and solutions to continue the University's role as a powerful driver of economic development in Georgia. During President Morehead's tenure, UGA has increased its research expenditures by 41% and has been ranked among the top five universities in the U.S. for research-based products reaching the marketplace for the past five years. UGA was ranked No. 1 in the nation for FY2017.

In keeping with his focus on student success, President Morehead launched the ALL Georgia Program to support students from rural areas and created the Double Dawgs program, which enables students to save time and money by earning an undergraduate and graduate degree in five years or less.

President Morehead has served the University of Georgia since 1986 in both faculty and administrative roles. Before becoming President, he was Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost from 2010 to 2013. Prior to 2010, he held several key administrative assignments, including Vice President for Instruction, Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, Associate Provost and Director of the Honors Program, and acting Executive Director of Legal Affairs.

He is the Meigs Professor of Legal Studies in the Terry College of Business, where he has held a faculty appointment since 1986. He is a co-author of several books and book chapters, including The Legal and Regulatory Environment of Business, and he has published scholarly articles on legal topics ranging from export controls to jury selection. He has served as Editor-in-Chief of the American Business Law Journal.

President Morehead serves as Co-Chair of the University Leadership Forum, a national initiative led by the Council on Competitiveness. He also serves as Vice Chair of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division I Board of Directors, a member of the NCAA Division I Administrative Committee, and a member of the NCAA Board of Governors. He previously served on the NCAA Presidential Forum; the Working Group on Name, Image, and Likeness; and the Federal and State Legislation Working Group. He is Vice President of the Southeastern Conference (SEC) and a member of the SEC Executive Committee, and formerly chaired the SEC Working Group on Compliance, Enforcement, and Governance.

He has received several University-wide teaching awards, including the Josiah Meigs Award—UGA's highest honor for teaching excellence, the Richard B. Russell Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching, the Teacher of the Year Award in the Terry College of Business, and the Lothar Tresp Outstanding Honors Professor Award.

President Morehead holds a bachelor's degree from Georgia State University and a law degree from the University of Georgia.

Georgia Quarterback JT Daniels Steps Into SEC Network Spotlight, 'Loves The South'

By: Mike Griffith, Dawgnation
Published Dec. 1, 2020

ATHENS — The JT Daniels hype has begun, albeit with somewhat of a small sample size and a more limited audience than Georgia football is accustomed to having.

The No. 8-ranked Bulldogs (6-2) find themselves on the brink of elimination in the SEC East heading into a 4 p.m. contest with Vanderbilt (0-8) on Senior Day.

The outgoing players have a chance to finish as the program's winningest team if they can close the regular season with wins over the Commodores and Missouri and then beat a bowl opponent.

Much of the excitement around the program, however, centers around the promising future of the offense now that Daniels has taken over.

Spotlight appearance

The transfer quarterback from USC appeared on the Marty & McGee Show on ESPN this week, introducing himself to many in the SEC's footprint on the popular show.

Daniels was dressed in all black, sans the mustache that had fans comparing his original Georgia mug shot to Val Kilmer's Doc Holiday character in the Western movie "Tombstone."

Alas, Daniels admitted to the show hosts he had never seen the movie, as it was released in 1993, years before he was born.

It wasn't really what Daniels said, so much as fans seeing how he looked and sounded.

Calm, relaxed, well-spoken and without any hint of "California Surfer Dude" lingo that some incorrectly associate with Los Angeles QB gunslingers.

Daniels revealed he had never gone fishing or hunting before growing up in Los Angeles, and his first trip to a lake was last July.

"The biggest difference from where I grew up to here, the first thing I noticed was how much more nature I can see here," said Daniels, who arrived at Georgia in May. "I drive down the highway, and I can see trees — those don't really exist in Los Angeles."

Strong start

Daniels debuted for Georgia two weeks ago with a 28-of-38 passing performance that netted 401 yards and 4 touchdowns against Mississippi State.

Daniels sounded like the least surprised person in the room in the postgame, to the extent it would be hard to know which team he played on by the tone of his voice in the press conference.

Smart reeled in the UGA pass game last week. It limited Daniels to 10-of-16 passing for 139 yards and 2 touchdowns — another TD pass was dropped — in a 45-16 win in a name-your-score kind of game over the depleted Gamecocks.

Still, Daniels' QB metrics compare favorably to the SEC's top players at the position and add credence to Smart hiring noted NFL offensive coordinator Todd Monken to design and call plays for the Bulldogs.

Not everyone is impressed with Daniels.

FoxSports analyst Joe Klatt has loudly questioned Georgia being ranked ahead of BYU in the College Football Playoff standings.

Klatt also said that Kirby Smart would trade Daniels for BYU quarterback Zach Wilson "in a heartbeat."

Smart probably disagrees, considering he was the one who first texted Daniels leading to the Zoom conversations between the former USC quarterback and Monken.

"I hit the portal and got a text from Coach Smart, and I was like wow, Georgia, it doesn't get much better than that when you're talking about places that have a great school, an amazing coaching staff, a great environment and great football," Daniels said. "They jumped to the top of my board immediately, as soon as I got that text."

Injury update

Some wondered why Daniels didn't play sooner this season, but Daniels said he's still working to get complete strength in his right leg after undergoing ACL surgery in late September of 2019.

"It feels strong enough, I have no concerns that I was ever rushed back out there where I might hurt it because I'm not strong enough," Daniels said. "The only things we are missing is just a little bit of right leg strength, I think we're a little bit off there, and it will still get sore and tight in some areas.

"But other than that, we're pretty close to 100."

Daniels said it has been a strong team environment in the quarterbacks room this season, sharing how he and Stetson Bennett have supported one another.

"First you have to stay he's a great player, and his story and his journey are unique," Daniels said of Bennett's 3-2 run as the starter. "It was great for me to see it, because he is an amazing person. He's a really good friend of mine.

"Every game I was out and I wasn't playing, I was on the sideline reporting to him what I was seeing, and every game I've been in, he's been doing the same for me. He's a team player."

Daniels' team

Co-host Marty Smith said everyone knows it's now clearly Daniels' team.

Time will tell on the direction Smart takes the Georgia offense, but at the moment it seems Daniels will be returning to the Bulldogs along with a supporting cast that includes future NFL receivers George Pickens, Jermaine Burton and Kearis Jackson, along with other young talents like Darnell Washington and Arian Smith.

The Georgia defense figures to be in a reload mode with seniors Malik Herring, Monty Rice and Richard LeCounte expected to leave after this season. Junior cornerbacks Tyson Campbell and Eric Stokes will also have decisions, along with junior nosetackle Jordan Davis and redshirt sophomore Azeez Ojulari.

That could mean Smart will lean more heavily on his offense and allow Daniels to push the ball downfield.

Daniels is still in the process of earning the head coach's trust, having already learned to throw the ball away earlier to avoid big losses and the devastating hits dished out in the SEC.

The former Southern Cal quarterback let it be known there is no place he would rather be.

"Everyone asks, 'How do you like the South?' And I have to tell them honestly, 'I absolutely love the South,' " Daniels said. "It fits me a lot better. It just fits me well. I feel at home here, just the same as I felt at home there."

Why the University of Georgia Loves Richard LeCounte As Much As He Loves It

Connor Riley, Dawgnation
Dec. 1, 2020

It is not yet known if senior defensive back Richard LeCounte will get to play in Sanford Stadium one last time.

The All-SEC defensive back hasn't played since Oct. 31 due to injuries sustained following a traffic accident. Kirby Smart provided a vague update on LeCounte's status on Wednesday.

"He's been out in practice and been able to run and do some things yesterday," Smart said. "He still has not had contact, but we are working on rehabbing him and getting him back."

Even if LeCounte were able to play, this is not the ending imagine for a player that has meant so much to the Georgia program.

The Riceboro, Ga., native has been a team captain, a vocal leader and the first recruit to commit Kirby Smart back in December of 2015. He helped lead the Bulldogs to three straight SEC East titles while playing on teams that won the SEC championship and Rose Bowl.

He brought so much to this team, his teammates and the school as a whole.

"He has been so loyal to Georgia in an era when that's not normal," Smart said. "It's normal to de-commit, move here, decide late. He committed early, he was a great player and he stayed an extra year for his senior year."

Smart still recalls the first time he met LeCounte back when LeCounte was either an eighth or ninth-grader. The latter was on a visit to Alabama with his Liberty County High School teammate Raekwon McMillan. While McMillan, a 5-star linebacker who went on to play at Ohio State and now plays for the Oakland Raiders, was the main priority, Smart pretty quickly picked up on the infectious personality LeCounte had.

LeCounte's high school coach, Kirk Warner, also noticed LeCounte's vibe and energy the first time he saw him as well.

"There's that aura about him and that leadership quality," Warner said. "He pretty much then backed it up on the football field."

LeCounte went on to shine on both the football field and basketball court at Liberty County. His future was obviously in football as his athleticism helped him become a 5-star prospect, the first of many Smart landed as Georgia's head coach.

Before he put on a Georgia jersey, LeCounte helped improve the Georgia program. He was one of the key architects of the 2017 recruiting class that included the likes of D'Andre Swift, Andrew Thomas and Isaiah Wilson. Much like he was on the football field, LeCounte was a vocal leader and recruiter for the class.

LeCounte, on two separate occasions, even donned a Santa suit for commitment videos for Jeremiah Holloman, Malik Herring and Nate McBride.

"He just inspires me to be great," Herring said of his teammate. "He just brought smiles and laughs to everybody."

Teammates describe LeCounte as vocal and energetic both on and off the football field. As a safety, those are obviously key traits to have when you have to make sure teammates are lined up properly.

But they're great qualities to have as well when it comes to interacting with people outside of the game.

LeCounte's energy even gets the normally reserved Monty Rice to come out of his shell.

"It's been good to be around him because I know when I first got to Georgia, I didn't talk to a lot of people at all," Rice said. "I stick to the people I know. I opened up to Rich and him and Malik (Herring) were kind of like the first people that I meshed with here.

"I'm thankful for him. He'll be a lifelong friend."

It wasn't until LeCounte's sophomore season that he emerged as a starter for the Georgia secondary. But he got better as a player every year, long ago putting to rest the doubts about his tackling abilities or how he'd manage in coverage.

LeCounte ended his junior season leading the SEC in fumble recoveries and finished second in interceptions. He played the best game of his Georgia career in a Sugar Bowl win over Baylor, as he intercepted two passes in a 28-14 win. It would've been easy for him to bounce and head to the NFL as Swift, Thomas and Wilson all did.

But LeCounte felt he had more to accomplish. He wanted to bring a national championship back to Georgia. He ultimately elected to return for his senior season.

He started his senior season much like he ended his junior campaign. He intercepted two passes in the season-opening win over Arkansas and went on to pick off another pass against Alabama. For all the struggles Georgia has had against the Crimson Tide, LeCounte did have an interception in the two games he started against Alabama. At this point in his career, it's fair to wonder what would've happened had he been playing safety in the 2018 National Championship game loss to Alabama.

In a win over Kentucky, he racked up a career-best 13 tackles while also having three pass break-ups and a fumble recovery. He was playing how 5-star safeties and First Team All-SEC players should.

Then came the traffic accident that slammed his —and Georgia's— season to a halt.

In the hours after returning from the win over Kentucky, LeCounte was riding on a dirt-bike when he struck a car that was turning into a gas station. After making contact with the car, LeCounte was thrown from his dirt bike and hit by a second car.

LeCounte sustained some bruised ribs, a shoulder injury, a concussion as well as some scrapes and bruises. The recovery process hasn't been speedy but LeCounte is expected to fully recover from those injuries.

"Ever since I've been starting in his place, he's been giving me good tips and things like that," LeCounte's replacement Christopher Smith said. "If he sees something, when I come back on the sideline he's going to give me a pointer. And I'm going to go out and use that to get better on the next drive."

Prior to the South Carolina win, Smart commented that Georgia really missed the confidence that LeCounte brought to the defense, in addition to his talents as a safety.

Even with LeCounte helping from the sidelines, the Georgia defense just hasn't been the same. It's one thing to replace what he does as a player, but what he brought to the team as a person has been far more beneficial to the Georgia program.

"He brings a whole lot of juice to the defense," safety Lewis Cine said. "For one, I'm really, really waiting for the day that he can come back. Hopefully, that's very soon. We love Richard, and that's what we're missing."

The coming game against Vanderbilt should in all likelihood be LeCounte's final game in Sanford Stadium. He has the potential to come back again due to NCAA rule changes, but he's already put the NFL off once before.

LeCounte's former coach understands what Saturday figures to be like for the star safety, as Warner was a tight end at Georgia from 1985-89. He knows what it's like to hear your name over the Sanford Stadium speaks and think back about your Georgia career.

Warner said it's a happy and sad moment. But for a player like LeCounte, the highs deserve to far outweigh the lows of his Georgia career.

"He's always represented himself in a class manner," Warner said of LeCounte. "That's just the type of kid he is. that's how his mom and his dad raised him. Just an A1, class-act person."

Smart gets that too as he was once safety and leader of the Georgia program. LeCounte was the first high school prospect to believe in Smart as a head coach and decided to commit to playing for Smart just days after he became the head coach.

LeCounte helped elevate the Georgia program and left it in a better place than when he arrived in January of 2017.

Through it all, LeCounte has kept that same energy, smile and personality that left an impression on Smart all those years ago.

"He loves the University of Georgia," Smart said. "That makes somebody special and people will remember that for the rest of his life."

Georgia Routs Missouri As Its Todd Monken-led Offense Continues to Blossom

By Seth Emerson, The Athletic
Dec 12, 2020

Georgia's offensive explosion, and all the hand-wringing that creates, has bled into the early signing week, so this is worth pointing out: Quarterback JT Daniels, running back Zamir White and receiver George Pickens, the three men passing, running and catching all over Missouri on Saturday, were all five-star recruits. And the man who called the plays, Todd Monken, was regarded as a five-star hire when Georgia got him nearly a year ago.

In the type of season that Georgia was hoping for and had the previous seasons, this would all be cause for excitement about the rest of this season. The potential for winning the SEC championship. The chance to do something big in the College Football Playoff.

But this is not that type of season, so as Georgia's offense was racking up 615 yards, passing and running away from Missouri, 42-14, there were two natural big-picture reactions:

1. Why couldn't it have been like this all season, i.e. why couldn't Daniels have been ready to go sooner?

2. How good will Georgia be next year … if it can keep this group together?

Forgive the question mark and cautious tone on that second point. This is Georgia football, where history tells you to curb your enthusiastic impulses. But if you could allow yourself unbridled enthusiasm, the point is obvious.

Georgia (7-2) has found its offensive identity. It's found an offense, period. The Monken hire is paying off, albeit too late to pay off this season. But it should mean big things for Georgia next year, whether you believe it was simply the insertion of Daniels at quarterback, or the gradual installation of Monken's system, or a combination of the two.

"There's no way I can put a barometer on that, you know," Kirby Smart said Saturday, when asked whether he attributed this offensive surge to Daniels becoming the starter, or Monken's system taking hold in a year where there was no spring practice, the expected starting quarterback opted out, and the next-best quarterback wasn't healthy right away.

"That's like if I had a crystal ball," Smart said. "There's two combinations. JT is throwing the ball and throwing it accurately, he's healthy. … (And) everyone is playing in coach Monken's system for what, the ninth game? The freshmen are growing up."

For all the criticism — almost all deserved — Smart and the Bulldogs have taken for the offense this season, take some perspective to realize how well they've actually progressed.

Let's say you went back to January and were told that: 1) A new offensive coordinator would be hired and would not have spring practice to install his system, and in fact, would have two months of only coaching his players over zoom and FaceTime. 2) The starting quarterback would turn pro and a grad transfer would be brought in as the replacement only to opt out midway through preseason. 3) You were already replacing four offensive line starters, the star tailback and several other key skill position players.

That was all a formula for, well, exactly what happened.

But ever since Daniels was installed as the starter three games ago, things have taken off. Both phases of the game, though not in the same game until Missouri, as Daniels pointed out.

"It was what we've been looking for the last couple weeks. I would say it was our first real complete game," Daniels said. "Mississippi State, great throwing, didn't run it like we wanted to. South Carolina, more of a statement game (where) we came out and tried to run it. Today we threw when the look said to throw and we ran when the look said to run."

You may argue the competition. Missouri (5-4) came in with the SEC's eighth-ranked defense in yards per play, fourth in total yards and seventh in scoring defense. So, middle of the road. And when you can put 42 on a mid-tier SEC defense, that's very good.

Smart also pointed this out: Missouri had the best third-down defense in the SEC, stopping opponents a league-low 35 percent of the time.

Daniels and Georgia converted 62 percent of the time — 8 for 13.

It helped to have Pickens, the 6-foot-5 wonder of a receiver who Daniels (299 passing yards, 3 TDs) basically credited for his own performance.

"I'll never overthrow George," Daniels said. "I'll always throw it up to him and you know a 50-50 ball with George is an 80-20 ball. Probably the most important thing he does, and I talk about it with him at least once a week, I'll tell him: I'll throw it to you every single time as long as you make sure it'll never gets picked if it's not the right throw. That's Georgia: One-on-one, throw it up to him."

White (126 rushing yards) is now coming into his own as well, after a slow start to his first season as the starter. But he wasn't alone, with four Georgia running backs — four! — scoring a touchdown Saturday. James Cook also caught a touchdown pass, with Monken seeming to finally unlock the mystery (it shouldn't have been a mystery) on how to use the dynamic junior.

It was the well-oiled machine that Georgia fans have been demanding, and Smart has been trying to deliver, even if he never issued a grand proclamation about opening up the offense.

"I have said repeatedly, JT is doing a tremendous job, I'm not going to take anything away from him," Smart said. "But I'm also going to recognize George Pickens being healthy, Warren McClendon being an older tackle, Jermaine Burton growing up, Darnell Washington growing up. There are so many factors. They are hearing plays and concepts for the 50th time instead of the fifth time. So, where that falls, who gets the credit? It really doesn't matter. What matters is we're playing better, and we still haven't reached our peak."

Smart, who has faced more criticism this year than in any other since he became his alma mater's head coach, isn't discounting that criticism. At least the big-picture part. Georgia lost to Alabama and Florida, and convincingly, in its two biggest games of the season, and those two teams will meet in the SEC championship while Georgia plays out the string.

But Georgia, to its credit, isn't playing like it it's just going through the motions. Players are not opting out, injured players are working to finish strong (Jordan Davis returned on Saturday, Richard LeCounte and Trey Hill are trying to do so). Georgia is finishing the season better than it started.

"They got reason to question," Smart said of Georgia's critics. "In the two biggest games we didn't play our best game. So it doesn't matter who's saying it. Everybody's got their opinion, they can say what they want. It's our job to control the narrative by how we play. And we do the best job we can of that."

They are right now. And the best thing Georgia can do between now and August is hold onto everybody: Pickens, the mercurial but spectacular talent. Daniels, the new but draft-eligible quarterback. Monken, the accomplished play-caller who, if his agent's phone rings, Georgia needs to make sure he doesn't go anywhere.

This offense doesn't need any changing. It just needs continuity.ergy, smile and personality that left an impression on Smart all those years ago.

‘Nobody plays harder’: How Azeez Ojulari Utilizes a Quiet Persona to Lead Georgia Football

By Gillian McIntyre, Red & Black
Oct. 30, 2020

Georgia’s front seven has been the Bulldogs’ main strength this season. Redshirt sophomore outside linebacker Azeez Ojulari is arguably the unit’s most impactful piece.

Richard Morgan, Ojulari’s head coach at Marietta High School, said his quiet persona allows his game to speak for itself and his leadership to show through production.

“It’s actually refreshing to see ... the guy that’s the leader, and the guy that everybody looks up to is the quietest guy in the room,” Morgan said. “He doesn’t have to say anything, and everybody knows he’s the leader.”

After recovering from an ACL injury suffered during his senior season at Marietta, Ojulari’s career at Georgia began to emerge as a redshirt freshman in 2019. He was Georgia’s first freshman to be named team captain since Kirby Smart became head coach, and he finished his freshman campaign with 36 tackles and a team-leading 5.5 sacks.

Through Georgia’s first four games of this season, Ojulari is on track to surpass 2019’s totals with 15 tackles, 6 tackles for loss, 3 sacks and 13 quarterback hurries. He’s turning heads as an established veteran who’s consistently having his way against opposing SEC offenses.

“They ask an awful lot of his position,” Morgan said. “I think the fact that he plays that position very well, and it’s something that has a lot of demands on it, I think that kind of sets the tone for the rest of the defense.”

Morgan recognized Ojulari’s potential at Marietta and immediately knew he would become special. The 6-foot-3, 240-pound outside linebacker has clear physical gifts that point to his ability, but Morgan said Ojulari’s intrinsic demeanor sets him apart.

Ojulari visited his coach at Marietta during Georgia’s bye week following its 41-24 loss to Alabama. Morgan said Ojulari hasn’t changed and is still the humble person he’s always been.

In a virtual press conference on Oct. 20, Ojulari diverted acknowledging his personal improvement. He instead noted that his development is a product of those around him.

“I’m just trusting the staff, my coaches and my teammates,” Ojulari said. “Just coming in and keeping my head down. Just working hard and knowing that I can get better every single day.”

While Ojulari remains the same, Morgan has also watched him grow from afar. He said he has seen Ojulari encompass a more vocal role among his teammates.

“I think every kid goes through that where they worry about, ‘Should I say this?’ Or, ‘Is anybody going to listen if I say this or say that?’” Morgan said. “I think as his stature has grown on the football field, the way other people see him, they put him highly rated now, and I think now he feels like he can say a few more things.”

Ojulari may not be the loudest in the room, but he leads by example. Georgia’s front seven executes even with frequent rotation, and Morgan said this group’s high-level performance begins with Ojulari.

Ojulari has been instrumental in Georgia’s pursuit to garner sacks and turnovers. Despite Georgia’s loss at Alabama, his quarterback pressure on the opening play allowed safety Richard LeCounte to pick off a pass from Alabama’s Mac Jones. Against Tennessee in Week 3, Ojulari recorded two sacks and recovered one of his two forced fumbles to earn SEC Defensive Lineman of the Week honors.

Now, if Ojulari has something to say, his game defends his advice, and people will listen.

“Nobody plays harder than him, so everybody respects his game. They respect him as a person,” Morgan said. “So now he’s able to speak about things more and have an even greater impact. I think everybody just kind of funnels in and says, ‘Look, I want to play at that high level, too.’ I’m just proud that Azeez is one of the leaders making all that happen.”

Beyond his play, Morgan believes Ojulari’s character stems from how his parents and culture raised him. Morgan said his family, including his brother BJ Ojulari, who’s a freshman defensive end at LSU, and his two sisters “live the right way.”

Ojulari’s grandfather, Prince Twins Seven-Seven, was a Nigerian prince and prominent artist. His daughter, Bolanle Ojulari, met Azeez’s father, Monsuru Ojulari, after moving to the United States. The Ojulari’s worked to implement a foundation for their children to live by — one built upon discipline, focus and respect. He said his son applies these values on and off the football field.

“You know, this society is different from where we came from,” Monsuru Ojulari said. “The foundation of life that we had, we hold onto it, and it’s the life we are living. So, we pass it onto them, too. Family comes first, respect every individual, you need to be disciplined, you have to know when to say no, you have to do the right thing … and give it all your best. God will take care of the rest. Just keep working hard.”

Monsuru Ojulari said he tries to attend his son’s games every Saturday. Other than that, he and his wife don’t check on their son too often. They know he’s tough, focused and making the right decisions on his own.

Morgan said Ojulari’s character and leadership abilities combined with his athletic ability is the exact formula for a special player. Yet Morgan is just as impressed by Ojulari outside of football.

“He’s going to be a tremendous person in adult life,” Morgan said. “He’s going to be a great dad. He’s going to be a great husband. I think he’s, in a way, the greatest young man I’ve ever met. I just hope that good things keep happening for him.”

Despite his bright future ahead, Morgan said Ojulari only thinks about setting goals for the next week and focusing on each trial as it comes.

“I think it’s important for the Georgia coaching staff and team to know that one of the guys that’s a real leader is bought in and focused on ‘We’re going to get this thing right, we’re going to win the rest of our games and we’re going to do this,’” Morgan said.

Georgia's Nakobe Dean Lives Up To Local Legend Status With Breakout Sophomore Season

By William Newlin, Red & Black
Nov. 4, 2020

It was a warm November night in Horn Lake, Mississippi, and Neketta Dean couldn't sleep. She was too excited. The next day, her son Nakobe and the 2018 Horn Lake Eagles were headed to the first football state championship in school history.

"It's like going to Disney World," said Dean. "The anticipation — you've seen all the great pictures, you've seen the videos and heard all these wonderful things. Now, you get to go to Disney."

That year, the Eagles were not a Cinderella team. They dominated their opponents in Mississippi's 6A region all season, outscoring them 473-120 over an undefeated 11-game regular season.

Future Georgia linebacking force Nakobe Dean presided over the historic run. A sophomore with the Bulldogs this season, Dean leads the SEC's top-ranked scoring defense in tackles. He recorded 14 against Kentucky last Saturday, by far a career single-game high, and the 19-year-old is on pace to nearly triple his total production from 2019.

Georgia brings an ailing defense to Jacksonville, Florida, this weekend. Dean, who said he felt he stepped into more of a leadership role this summer, will need to be active again to both rally the troops and keep the pressure on the Gators' offense.

But two years before being considered a difference-maker in a top 10 SEC matchup, Dean was the best player on the best team in his hometown's memory. The 2018 championship appearance was the crowning achievement for a team that changed what Friday nights meant in Horn Lake, a team that changed what it meant to wear the school's maroon and white. A day after Neketta Dean's sleepless night, the Eagles took home the trophy that cemented their legacy.

"Horn Lake just blew up," said Nikolas Dean, former Horn Lake offensive lineman and Nakobe's older brother. "Just blew up on the map after that season was over. It was [Nakobe] and the other talent they had on the team."

Horn Lake 2.0

It seemed like a switch flipped during Dean's sophomore season in 2016, when Horn Lake notched its first winning season in more than a decade. The Eagles went 9-3 that year, and in case people thought it was a fluke, they followed it up with another 9-3 stretch in 2017.

Things were different at Horn Lake, which is exactly what then-head coach Brad Boyette had intended when he took over ahead of the 2012 season.

"Job one wasn't so much winning a football game or a scheme or anything," Boyette said. "Our job one was changing a culture."

But it took time for the results to appear. Through her younger son's freshman season in which the team finished 2-10, Neketta Dean described the atmosphere around Horn Lake football as almost apathetic. The Eagles were perennial no-names languishing at the bottom of their division. With as much as her sons put into the program, they weren't getting the full experience.

By 2016, however, the Eagles had an entirely new team than when Boyette started. His philosophy of positive thinking — you have to believe you're a winning team to be a winning team — had trickled down to middle school ball, and the first class of kids to come up through the new coach's culture shift was Dean's. They had bought in.

Dustin Hectorne, Horn Lake's linebacker coach starting in 2016, called it a perfect storm of talent, mindset and circumstance.

"I think you had a lot of guys that were hungry for [success]," Hectorne said. "They knew that they were talented. They knew that when they lined up on Fridays, they could play with anybody."

Part of what made the 2016-2018 teams so great was that they'd played together for a long time. Described as a "transit town" by Hectorne and a "transient school" by Boyette, Horn Lake and its high school regularly saw people, and football talent, come and go. But they said Dean's class was more stable, building momentum toward its state championship run over years of mounting cohesion.

Another key part of Horn Lake's successful 2016-18 stretch was fielding the

No. 1 linebacker recruit in Mississippi. Dean was the epitome of what his coaches had tried to inject into the team.

"Coaches always talk about details," Boyette said. "And he was a firm believer in every little detail, trying to perfect it. Everyday he went to the practice field with an intent, with a purpose. And he never overlooked those details."

It also didn't hurt that Dean had a 40-inch vertical jump and could run a 20-yard shuttle in four seconds flat. He was Horn Lake's superstar, confirmed by his 147-tackle junior season — 25 for a loss — that attracted college recruiters like a moth to a flame.

On the cusp

2017 ended in disappointment for the Eagles. Despite its second straight 9-3 finish, Horn Lake fell in the second round of the playoffs to Starkville High School. Yet with their first taste of the postseason since 2003, the Eagles would be back for more."They took that frustration, that anger … and they turned it into all the right motivation," Boyette said. "We had a great offseason."

Boyette said he erected a mural in the team's locker room that read "1-0." The plan was to take the season one game at a time without a thought toward playoff redemption, let alone a state championship. It worked.

Horn Lake cruised through the regular season, pummeling every challenger along the way. The Eagles' closest game was a 28-17 victory over Oxford High School in October.

Meanwhile, the town went along for the ride.

"Not only did [the season] change the culture of the school, it changed the culture of the community," Neketta Dean said. "It afforded us the opportunity to bring the community together."

Dean said enthusiasm exploded for the team in 2018. The booster club brought in more money and business support, local restaurants bought team meals and even the police department offered security for away games. Rather than hosting scattered fans weary of another in-division blowout loss, the home field stands were packed with Eagles' faithful cheering on their emerging hometown heroes.

"All the things that give you a chance to have the resources to continue a successful program really all can be attributed to that group of kids," Boyette said.

Bringing it home

Horn Lake got off to a hot start in the 2018 playoffs. A shutout victory in the first round set up a second-round rematch against their 2017 spoilers from Starkville. The Eagles won 35-14, which Hectorne said was the moment they started to feel invincible.

"Nobody gave us a chance in that game," Hectorne said. "You get through that, and you're like, 'Man, alright, we're for real now. We really got a chance at this thing.'"

Next up and next down was Madison Central High School. On a rain-soaked field, Horn Lake made a fourth quarter comeback to eek out the 16-7 win and earn its first-ever championship bid.

The final obstacle to a title was Oak Grove High School, which was led by current Ole Miss quarterback John Rhys Plumlee. Boyette said the Warriors were a run-first team. On Nov. 30, 2018, it was all Plumlee.

"We watched every game that they played all year long," Hectorne said. "But they ended up doing some stuff we'd never seen."

Plumlee put up 348 yards through the air — almost 160 more than his season average — and four touchdowns. It was back and forth throughout until Horn Lake took a 31-27 lead with seven minutes left in the game. A subsequent interception killed Oak Grove's last chance to win.

Dean had six tackles in the game and no takeaways, but Hectorne credits his lead-by-example attitude throughout the season with cultivating what it took to win.Along with the trophy, Boyette was named Mississippi's high school coach of the year. Dean, who'd committed to Georgia 11 days before the state championship, won the Butkus Award after the season. He was officially the best high school linebacker in the country.

"He kind of shared that moment with the team," Boyette said. "And it was only in a way that Nakobe could do it. He was the most selfless kid I've ever been around … and every kid on our team felt they won the Butkus Award."

Dean still talks with current Horn Lake players via Twitter and phone conversations. His mom said she takes questions from parents about both football and academics, which have remained equal priorities for Dean in his pursuit of both a mechanical engineering degree and a national championship in Athens.

The Eagles are 4-4 this season. Boyette flew the coup after 2019, but Hectorne is still coaching linebackers and monitoring the lasting effects of Dean's exceptional class on the program.

"I know at the end of the day, if anybody's got my back, it's my town," Dean said in a virtual press conference on Oct. 20. "So, I'm going to continue to support my community back home."

Quick Chat: George Pickens

By: John Frierson
Published Sept. 21, 2020

George Pickens made a lot of highlight-reel plays during his freshman season on the Georgia football team. The talented wide receiver put on a show the last time we saw him, in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day — which feels like ages ago now — when he caught 12 passes for 175 yards in the Bulldogs' win over Baylor, earning MVP honors.

The 6-foot-3 and 200-pound Pickens, from Hoover, Ala., has been making big plays as long as he's been playing sports, including, he told me during a Quick Chat after practice Friday, dunking a basketball for the first time in sixth grade. Pickens and the Bulldogs will start making plays again Saturday, at long last, when they open their 2020 season at Arkansas.

During our Chat, Pickens also talked about life during quarantine, his favorite meal, that first dunk, skydiving, and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: How did you fill all the downtime and free time that you had during the months of quarantine?

Pickens: I went back to my old ways, what I used to do in high school; in high school, I used to have a lot of time on my hands just like quarantine, so I was just going to the field every day and working. I kind of figured that we were going to have a season even though people were saying no at the time. I was just working out every day.

Frierson: Being back home, did you almost feel like you were in high school again, sleeping in your bedroom and doing schoolwork during the day?

Pickens: Yeah, it was exactly how you said it. It was like high school all over again but I'm a little older. I still had Zoom calls, still had football, I still worked out at the same time every day. It was a lot like high school.

Frierson: What was your favorite toy when you were a kid?

Pickens: I've always been an Optimus Prime guy. I don't know, I've always liked the bad guys. Even if they don't win, they have the coolest things in the movie. I've always been a Transformers guy.

Frierson: What did you make of the new uniforms that Georgia announced recently, particularly the throwback to the 1980 season with the white top and the red pants?

Pickens: I feel like that's a great thing. I feel like you play teams every year and they have this expectation, like, all right, we're playing Georgia and we know what they like to do. I feel like with the new uniforms, you never know what's going to happen because you've never seen us like this before. I feel like that's a good thing.

Frierson: What's something you could eat every day and never get tired of it?

Pickens: Shrimp alfredo. I can make it, and I've always been a noodle guy, so ramen noodles is another thing. If you ask anybody around here, in the facility, ramen noodles is probably the go-to for me, or pasta.

Frierson: When you think of home, what comes to mind?

Pickens: I play for Georgia and when I go home it's all Auburn and Alabama — that's all I hear all the time. When I'm there I just kind of ignore it. That's the only they know.

Frierson: You probably know a bunch of people at those schools so I'm guessing there's a good amount of trash-talking happening.

Pickens: Oh yeah, I know everybody on each roster, Auburn and Alabama.

Frierson: What was your best play in high school? Is there one that stands out above the rest?

Pickens: You can actually look it up on YouTube, on one of my highlights. We played Brookwood, out of Georgia, at Troy University, and I ran a 12-yard curl and I literally went through the whole team (defense). If you look at it on YouTube, it's like, whoa.

Frierson: Did you play any other sports?

Pickens: I played basketball and I used to play baseball, and I ran track for like a year.

Frierson: Do you remember your first dunk? I always ask because I never came anywhere close to touching the rim.

Pickens: My first dunk was in sixth grade.

Frierson: What?

Pickens: Yeah [laughs]. I dunked in a game, my first dunk was in a game in sixth grade. My parents were shocked that I did it.

Frierson: I'm shocked hearing about it. How tall were you in sixth grade?

Pickens: I was like 6-foot.

Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?

Pickens: Probably skydiving.

Frierson: Where did that answer come from?

Pickens: That's kind of just like how my brain works. Anybody that knows me, I've always been a guy that wants to risk it all. Deep-sea diving or going into a cage to look at sharks. I'd want to get great at that or flying or skydiving, just to see if I could do it.

Frierson: That was a very unexpected answer. Have you done anything like that or are you waiting until after you're done with football so you don't risk anything?

Pickens: I'll probably wait until my football days are done, but I'm most definitely going to do it.

Frierson: There's a lot of new on Georgia's offense this year — a new coordinator, a new starting quarterback, new starting running backs and offensive linemen — so what is it like being one of the veteran guys this season?

Pickens: The one thing that I've learned with me coming back as a veteran and me last year not being a veteran, is like, I see that the younger the players are, you actually have more depth. They're young so they can kind of go all day — they can run all day and catch all day.

We may not have the veterans but we have a lot of depth because of all the young guys and they can just run all day. I feel like that's a good thing.

Frierson: You obviously had an amazing game in the Sugar Bowl, so how much have you watched those highlights and how much does a game like that help you going into this season?

Pickens: I kind of go back to that game every now and then just to watch my game play, to see what I did that game. At the time, I'm in a little zone and I just lock in, and that's when you see the stuff that happened. When I go back and watch the game, I see like, what did I do and what did I change? That was a good game, so whatever I did, I don't need to change it.

Frierson: So much has happened in the world since then, does it feel like that game was two or three years ago?

Pickens: Yeah, it feels like a year or two ago with the whole COVID thing. I feel like the COVID thing is going to be a decade thing, like people aren't going to forget this for a long time.

Georgia's Kearis Jackson Displays Career-Long Resiliency As 2020 Reception Leader

By Griffin Callaghan, Red & Black
Nov. 6, 2020

A broken tibia and fibula put an end to Kearis Jackson's freshman football season at Peach County High School. It was the first of three major injuries Jackson suffered in high school, which he used as a springboard for improvement instead of disappointment.

Jackson rehabbed multiple injuries throughout high school and the beginning of his college career, all of which culminated in a breakout 2020 season. Jackson has quickly become one of Georgia's most dangerous targets in the passing game.

He played in only four games and caught five passes for 79 yards in 2019 after suffering a broken hand in the season opener against Vanderbilt. Through five games this season, Jackson leads Georgia with 24 receptions for 348 yards and a touchdown.

Chad Campbell, Jackson's former head coach at Peach County High School, said his breakout is not an accident. Natural born talent and character are just a few of Jackson's traits that stood out early.

"He was kind of like a household name," Campbell said. "He played JV as an eighth grader. We knew he was special early on. Great kid, and he is probably a better person than he is a player."

Bounce back

Fearless was a word both Campbell and Peach County assistant coach Todd Cooper used to describe their former standout receiver. Jackson was never afraid to push himself in the weight room, return punts and even fight through injury to finish a play.

In his sophomore year at Peach County, Jackson tore the tendon off the bone in his hip after catching a pass. He was injured nearly 25 yards out of the end zone, but still managed to limp in to score a touchdown.

"He is so tough," Campbell said. "If I had to say anything about him, it is about how resilient, how tough he is, and how he comes back."

Jackson worked his way back from injury time and time again. He suffered the broken leg in the playoffs his freshman season at Peach County, and missed the remainder of that year. Jackson also broke his hand in the state championship game his senior season.

"I've faced adversity all my life," Jackson said in postgame virtual press conference after Georgia's win over Tennessee. "Now I am getting an opportunity to go out there and make plays and execute every opportunity I am given."

Jackson is healthy now and able to show off his unique combination of speed and strength. Quarterback Stetson Bennett has already placed his trust in the now-healthy receiver for game changing pass plays and third down conversions.

Campbell is confident that as long as Jackson stays healthy, he will continue to improve as both a player and leader.

"He is a competitor," Campbell said. "When he is healthy, he is something special and I think everybody is finally seeing that now."

On track

Jackson's second love was running, a trait not uncommon for speedy wide receivers. He started out as a sprinter, running 100 and 400-meter relay races. Jackson's relay team broke the state record in the 4x100-meter race, setting them up as a No. 1 seed going into the final meet.

"Kearis has been running since he could walk," Cooper said. "His mom and his grandparents had him doing track. They ran state stuff, national stuff. He has always been a track guy."

Following his injury as a high school freshman, Jackson was unable to run track in the spring. He did, however, still need to satisfy his need to compete. Jackson picked up throwing events that year, including the shot put and discus, two events requiring an immensely strong athlete.

He fell in love with throwing, stoked by finding himself in yet another competitive environment. Jackson quickly rose to the top in the shot put and discus, winning a state title in the shot put his junior season and coming close to the same feat in the discus. Campbell said he would have won if not for simply a bad day.

Strength is a valuable asset for a fast receiver like Jackson. Cooper remembered the receiver's power and physicality while blocking in the run game. Jackson was between 180 and 190 pounds in high school but still out-performed the 300-pound shot put and discus specialists.

"I think you guys have seen how strong he is, Cooper said. "A lot of wideouts, you can tell they do not lift, but [Jackson] has never been shy in the weight room."

Back home

Being from the small town of Fort Valley, Georgia, Jackson carries an extra chip on his shoulder to prove himself at a major program like Georgia. He wants to set an example for both his hometown and the coming generation.

"I just want to have a positive effect on the kids back at home," Jackson said in a Sept. 30 virtual press conference. "Just showing them that I can do it and they can do it. I talk to a couple guys from my high school every now and again, just to check in on them, to encourage them."

Jackson always makes a point to visit his high school and speak to its current players on his off time. He takes pride in being a role model for athletes younger than him, and what he called a "neighborhood hero."

Jackson makes frequent visits back to his roots, whether his elementary school, or Peach County High, even offering pregame speeches at Peach County's weekend matchups. He knows how those younger players look at him, but said at the same time, he wants them to be even better.

"It is such a big deal because we can say everything we can to these kids, and we can tell them and we can show them, but sometimes our voice only carries so much weight," Cooper said.

Jackson's mother, Kimberly McGhee, has been another motivating force from his small town upbringing outside of his former school. But besides finding motivation, resiliency and the ability to bounce back have defined Jackson's career to this point. His breakout under new offensive coordinator Todd Monken is proving sustainable, as long as Jackson can stay healthy.

"He feels very, very good. He feels as healthy as he has ever been, feels the best shape he has ever been in," Campbell said. "I think everything is going well for him now, and he is playing with a lot of confidence."

Quick Chat: Tyson Campbell

By: John Frierson
Published Nov. 3, 2020

Tyson Campbell didn't grow up following the Georgia-Florida rivalry very closely. The junior cornerback is from Plantation, Fla., near Miami, but the annual football showdown between the Bulldogs and Gators, which will resume Saturday in Jacksonville, wasn't really on his radar.

Campbell was a star player at American Heritage School, as were former Bulldogs Sony Michel and Isaiah McKenzie. Campbell won two state championships in high school and went 50-5 during his career. He knows a thing or two about winning, for sure.

During a Quick Chat after practice Monday, Campbell talked about home, winning, Halloween, music and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: It's Georgia-Florida week so let's start with the most important question, what is your favorite Halloween candy?

Campbell: Probably Snickers or Sour Punch Straws. I don't really like sour candy but I like those in particular.

Frierson: Did you have a favorite Halloween costume when you were a kid?

Campbell: I didn't really dress up that much. I remember when I was little I was Scooby-Doo one time.

Frierson: What is it like growing up in Plantation, in South Florida?

Campbell: It was cool; I didn't grow up by the beach or anything, but it was nice because most of my family is always there and so it always felt like home. And sports-wise, you've got a bunch of talent around. Most of your friends are talented in football so it just makes the competitive nature of the game so much better.

Frierson: You won two state titles at American Heritage and your teams went 50-5 during your four years, so what is it like being a part of that kind of winning? What does that teach you?

Campbell: It teaches you that in order to win those games you need everybody to be on board with the team and you need everybody to have a strong work ethic. You have to have that ambitiousness to keep pushing through adversity and when you're on the top as well, just to keep maintaining that top mentality when everybody's trying to come for you and give you that first "L" of the season or that first "L" to stop a large winnings streak.

Frierson: How much does playing in a super-successful program with a bunch of guys that are going on to major colleges train you for a place like Georgia where you know the expectations are really high and you know that you've got to put in a lot of work?

Campbell: It's just like anybody else making that transition from high school to college, but it also gives you that inspiration that kids coming from your high school have come here and did what they dreamed of, and now they're living the dream of playing in the NFL. It was definitely motivating.

Frierson: Was Georgia-Florida a big deal when you were young? Was this a game that you paid much attention to?

Campbell: No, not really.

Frierson: So what's it like coming into it as someone mostly unfamiliar with the rivalry?

Campbell: It's pretty cool just being able to be a part of history and being able to a part of one of the biggest rivalries in college football. It's exciting and this is always one of the biggest games of the season for us every year.

Frierson: Do you have a creative side? Is there anything creative you do or wish you could do?

Campbell: I do like music, but I can't draw or anything. I'm really like a fan of old-school type music and I listen to modern music, R&B, like '90s R&B, pop, and all that kind of stuff.

Frierson: What do you listen to before a game? Do you have a regular playlist or do you mix it up all the time?

Campbell: I'll mix it up but it's usually rap. As far as the artists, I'll mix it up. Sometimes it will be Rick Ross, Future, Kodak Black, YoungBoy, mainly those people.

Frierson: What other sports did you play growing up?

Campbell: I played baseball for a little bit, then I moved to basketball, I was pretty good at basketball, and then I played football. In about seventh grade I also started running track.

Frierson: What was your favorite among the other sports?

Campbell: It's got to be a tie between track and basketball.

Frierson: Do you remember your first dunk?

Campbell: My first dunk was in ninth grade. I was just playing around with friends when I did it. I remember in middle school everybody was trying to see who could touch the rim or touch the net, but I dunked in ninth grade. It was cool, it was like a "wow" experience, like, wow, I really just did that.

Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?

Campbell: Drawing, I think. I just think it's amazing how some people can draw or paint certain pictures and stuff like that. I think that's pretty cool.

Frierson: If you could travel anywhere in the world on somebody else's dime, where would you like to go and who would you take with you?

Campbell: I would go to Bora Bora and I would take my girlfriend. I just think it seems really peaceful and a place where you can free your mind, no distractions, you're by the water, the nature, the sand and the trees and the flowers — it just seems really peaceful. It looks like a place where you can be yourself and free your mind.

So Far, So Good for Georgia Special Teams And the Scott Cochran Experiment

By Seth Emerson, The Athletic
Dec. 1, 2020

ATHENS, Ga. — The mask, or the job, may have dulled the Scott Cochran effect on Georgia's sideline. There have been no viral moments where Cochran jumps or screams or bounces around.

And yet is the very unexpected hiring of Cochran as special teams coordinator — a move that seemed unprecedented in major college football — paying off for Georgia?

Yeah.

Georgia has the best special teams in the SEC, at least going by the special teams efficiency rankings at both ESPN and FootballOutsiders.com. Three of Georgia's special teams units rank in the top 10 nationally — punting, kickoff returns and punt coverage — and three more rank in the top 30.

"The big emphasis last week was, 'Hey, punt return is lagging behind,'" head coach Kirby Smart said. "We cranked it up on punt return and did a better job."

When Smart hired Cochran earlier this year, it came out of nowhere. Cochran was nationally known as Alabama's strength and conditioning coordinator, doing television commercials with Nick Saban. So when Smart gave him the special teams job it surprised most everybody. Yes, Cochran brought personality that would help behind the scenes and translate to the recruiting trail. But was Smart taking too much of a risk with the on-field product?

Smart looked at it differently. He knew that specials teams coaching isn't done by one man. It's a staff-wide effort. It's not like offense or defense where you have two units on different sides of the field. Since special teams draws from offense and defense, practice is stopped for special teams practice and almost every coach participates.

Off the field, Cochran also has plenty of help in preparation: Greg Meyer has been at Georgia since 2018 as a special teams analyst and has extensive experience in special teams. A former college punter, Meyer was Eastern Kentucky's special teams coordinator (2016-17), a quality control coach for special teams at Tennessee (2013-15) and Cincinnati (2012), as well as a graduate assistant for special teams at Mississippi State (2010-11).

Todd Hartley, Georgia's tight ends coach, was Miami's special teams coordinator from 2016-18.

It also helps to just have good players. Punter Jake Camarda has been really good, save for a couple shanks. Placekicker Jack Podlesny, a walk-on who beat out a scholarship freshman, has made 77 percent of his tries. Kick returner Kearis Jackson has done everything except score a touchdown.

But there are 11 players on the field for every special teams play, and the results have been good:

- Punting: fourth nationally, first in the SEC, 47.8 yards per punt.
- Kickoff returns: fifth nationally, second in the SEC, with 31.9 yards per return.
- Punt coverage: 10th nationally (tied with five other teams), second in the SEC, 1.0 yards per return on only two punt returns.
- Kickoff coverage: 18th nationally, second in the SEC, opponents averaging 16.8 yards per return
- Punt returns: 29th nationally, third in the SEC, with 11.0 yards per return.
- Kickoffs: 24th nationally, sixth in the SEC, 63.6 yards per kickoff (touchback percentage ranks 11th nationally).

Something else that's helped Georgia's special teams: Minimizing virus problems. For all that hasn't gone right this season, that's one thing that has, at least so far. That's most important to the health and safety of each player and staff member, obviously, and on the field it's meant that Georgia has continued to be closer to full strength than most teams. That manifests itself on special teams, where the Bulldogs are still fielding top reserves, five-star freshmen or even starters.

Put another way: The units are very much in sync for a number of reasons.

Before the season began, Cochran talked about the transition to special teams coaching, pointing out that it wasn't totally new to him: He was a graduate assistant who "fell in love" with special teams and strength coaching, and ended up going with the latter. Now he was circling back to the beginning, so he had familiarity with the concepts. Plus he helped with Alabama's scout team on special teams over the years. But it was still a challenge, Cochran acknowledged.

"I feel like I have to be detailed, and I have to be very specific in my goals on who I am trying to reach, what players I'm trying to reach to do a better job — whether it be on kickoff or kick return," Cochran said. "So, it's very similar, but I feel like, because of the weight room, now I have to be way more detailed, and kind of planned on what I'm going to say."

But ultimately the reason Smart hired Cochran wasn't because he expected him to be the Erk Russell of special teams coaching. Smart wanted Cochran, the same guy who built the "Coach Yeah" reputation, a positive and inspiring force around the team. That, and not on-field coaching, is where Cochran has made his greatest impact, according to Smart.

"And I knew that when I wanted to hire him," Smart said. "The greatest impact he has is on the young men that are in the organization in terms of daily impact, life skills, support. During the COVID time, the 2020 time, which is very different — I think it has been an exponentially even better hire because he is tremendous at his relationships with the players. He's played a large part in our leadership group, which has been a tremendous help to me in terms of being able to spend time with those guys and talk to guys."

Georgia safety Christopher Smith was asked this week if Cochran's voice has been heard any less this year because of masking and other protocols. Smith let out a wry smile and shook his head.

"Coach Cochran is definitely a good boost to the team," Smith said. "It's been pleasant ever since he came onto the staff. He's been a good plus for us."

Quick Chat: Jamaree Salyer

Jamaree Salyer, astronaut. That has a nice ring to it.

The 6-foot-4 and 325-pound Georgia offensive lineman said during a Quick Chat after practice Wednesday that he would love to go into space for a day, "just to see what's out there."

During our Chat, Salyer, a junior from Atlanta, also talked about opening the season Saturday at Arkansas, and facing former Georgia offensive line coach Sam Pittman, now the Razorbacks' head coach. Other topics included video games and being a veteran on a Bulldog offense with a lot of new pieces this season.

Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: To be this close to finally playing a game again, are you about as excited as you've ever been for a football game?

Salyer: Yeah, it's really exciting. You know, the butterflies are there and you've got that first-game feeling, to get out there in a new environment, really. It's really cool, I've never been to Arkansas before, never been to Fayetteville, so it's going to be exciting.

Of course, this game has extra meaning for the offensive lineman, and it's going to be fun.

Frierson: What's it going to be like to see Coach Pittman again, only this time he's the head coach of the other team?

Salyer: He poured a lot into me while I was here, I was one of the Sam Pittman guys, and I really enjoyed my time with him here. He was great to me, treated me with respect, pushed me hard and I got a lot better under his wing. I'm excited to compete against him — it's kind of crazy.

Frierson: What do you think of the 1980-themed uniforms you're going to be wearing on Saturday?

Salyer: It will be pretty cool to be able to go out there in something new. We wear the red (jerseys) and silver britches every home game and we wear the white and silver britches every away game, so it's nice for a little changeup and it's nice to be able to commemorate the 1980 team. They did something really special, one of the only teams to do it, so it's nice to start a season off that way, commemorating a great team.

Frierson: Do you normally pay much attention to uniforms or is that more of a thing that fans care a lot more about than players typically do?

Salyer: Not really, I don't really care how they look I just want them to fit good so that I can go do what I've got to do.

Frierson: You're now one of the veteran guys on this offense, an offense that has a new coordinator, a new quarterback, new lineman, new lead running backs — do you feel like an old man around all these new people in prominent positions?

Salyer: It's different, but I wouldn't necessarily say I feel like the old man because we've got some fifth-year guys and we've got some other old guys on this team. I feel like I've kind of turned the tide, I'm not a young guy anymore, I'm a veteran, an older guy that people look up to. I've had to step into that leadership role this year and I'm really excited for it. The guys look up to me because I'm a guy that's going to do the right thing, and I'm excited to be that guy that people can come to and ask for advice, and just coach the younger guys up and show them how we play football.

Frierson: Does that come naturally to you, being a vocal leader?

Salyer: I was kind of the leadership guy even from a young age. From my sophomore year in high school I always kind of had that leadership role and I think it does come naturally to me. It's hard sometimes, and in college the stakes are higher, and this year they're higher than ever before with guys going in and out and just having younger guys ready to play, and the leadership role on this team and any college team is bigger because the stakes are really high.

I just try to make sure I do the right thing and encourage the young guys to wear their masks and social distance and just be a good role model on and off the field.

Frierson: When I talked to Eric Stokes yesterday, he talked about learning how to swim during the quarantine. Did you learn how to do anything new or pick up any hobbies or new interests during the spring and summer when you weren't as busy as you'd normally be?

Salyer: I didn't really pick up any new hobbies, but I'm a big video game guy so I played video games mostly during quarantine. I just tried to stay to myself, really; I actually stayed in Athens for most of the quarantine, I went home once or twice, but I stayed here and stayed inside playing video games when I wasn't working out.

It was pretty simple: work out, play video games, eat, sleep. It was great for the small stint that it lasted.

Frierson: Was there one video game that you took a really deep dive into?

Salyer: I played a lot of Call of Duty: Warzone. It's still pretty hot now, the new one, and I just played a lot of Call of Duty. I was just trying to get good at it, and I'm still working on it. I'm pretty persistent, I still wouldn't say I'm great at it, but I've probably won it three times out of all this time playing it.

I don't have the time now to just sit down and play the game like people do. Some people are really elite at the game, but I'm all right. I just go play for fun — my and my roommates will sit around and play just to pass the time after practice or something.

Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?

Salyer: I'd be an astronaut, honestly, just to be able to see what's out there. A lot of people talk about what's out there, and some people have their conspiracy theories, but I really want to see what's up there. I'd love to be a man on the space shuttle and take my crew up there, just to go see what's really out there.

Everybody has their different theories, that we live in a simulation, that nobody went to the moon, and I really want to see what's up there. If I could just go for a day and then come back, I would definitely do that.

Frierson: Are you a guy that questions things like whether we've landed on the moon? Do you pay attention to the conspiracy theories that are out there?

Salyer: I'd rather just see it for myself. I try not to make too much of anything. I want to see it for myself. I trust what science says, I trust what history says, so I'm not too much of a conspiracy theorist unless it makes too much sense and then I'll give it some thought. Other than that, I'd rather see it for myself.

Frierson: How are you in the kitchen? Have you learned to cook pretty well?

Salyer: I can get by, my mom didn't send me off to college not knowing how to fend for myself. I can get by, probably not with the healthiest of things. If I had to survive for a long time, I could make a meal as long as I had the money to go to the grocery store.

Frierson: If you were inviting some friends over, what would you make them? Do you have something you're best at?

Salyer: Shoot, this weekend me and my girlfriend just experimented with some Rotel dip, and it was pretty good. I feel like if I had friends over I would make some of that.

Quick Chat: Ben Cleveland

Before Georgia redshirt senior offensive lineman Ben Cleveland went over to Butts-Mehre Heritage Hall on Monday to do some interviews, he was on his phone checking Instagram. There, he said, he saw that exactly 5 years before, he and Jacob Eason were in Athens taking their official visits.

Both Cleveland and Eason not only signed with the Bulldogs but enrolled that spring. While Eason, the quarterback, later transferred after the 2017 season, the 6-foot-6 and 335-pound Cleveland, from Toccoa, Ga., has been here the whole time, starting off and on at right guard throughout his career.

The Bulldogs were scheduled to host Vanderbilt on Saturday in their pandemic-delayed home finale, when they would get a chance to hold their Senior Day celebrations, but that game was canceled because of squad size issues at Vanderbilt. During our Quick Chat on Monday, Cleveland talked about the holidays, bowfishing, making time for some peaceful moments, and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: We've got the holidays coming up, so what is the best present you've ever received?
Cleveland: Honestly, I don't think I've really asked for anything specific for Christmas in probably the last five or six years. It's hard to pick one present. I remember a couple of years ago, Santa Claus just wrapped up a couple of hundred-dollar bills and stick them under the tree.

The most enjoyable would be when I got a new dirt bike when I was probably 5 or 6, and then probably my first deer rifle that I got one year for my birthday.

Frierson: What is it like to get a dirt bike at such a young age? I was always kind of intimidated by those things but I'm guessing you never were.
Cleveland: We'd grown up riding 4-wheelers and things like that, so my brother and I, we both got dirt bikes for Christmas one year. We had a little track around the house that we'd ride on. It wasn't anything too big, it was just one of those things that you get on and go. Yeah, you'd fall off a few times, scrape your leg up, but it was still fun.

Frierson: What is a Cleveland family Christmas meal like? Do you all have any specific traditions?
Cleveland: We kind of switch it up every year, it's not the traditional meal that's basically the same thing as Thanksgiving. I think last year dad cooked some ribs and deer meat and stuff. Basically, any kind of wild game we've got in the freezer, that'll get thrown on the smoker, thrown on the grill, or something like that. It just depends from year to year.
Frierson: Which wild game is your favorite to eat?
Cleveland: I would say elk steaks are at the top of the list.

Frierson: Can you cook? Are you good in the kitchen?
Cleveland: Oh, yeah, I love to cook. Jamaree (Salyer) sometimes comes over, Jamaree and I live in the same apartment complex, and any time I cook for me and my fiancée, I'll invite him to come over to make sure he's fed.

Cooking is my getaway when I'm in Athens. I love to turn the smoker on, sit on the back porch and just hang out, just listen to the animals outside. I'll have my dog out there running around the yard. It's just one of those very enjoyable, peaceful moments.
Frierson: Have you gotten better at finding those moments during your time at Georgia? Do you need to get away more and find that quiet time?
Cleveland: I've made those moments happen regardless. Any chance that I get, whether it's a half-a-day trip here or there, just to get away, clear my mind and just relax and enjoy being outside. This is a full-time thing and we all love what we do, but everybody has to have what brings them back and what resets them. Mine is just getting away, cooking, sitting outside and really enjoying it.
Frierson: I know you're into bowfishing, how did you get started doing that?
Cleveland: I have friends that are into all different areas of the outdoors. I've got my friends that we deer-hunt with, I've got my group that we bowfish with, and it's basically just knowing different people and trying new things.

That one's not as relaxing. That one's a little on the stressful side because it can get a little hectic from time to time. It's almost more enjoyable than sitting there with a regular rod and reel. You've got action all the time; you're sitting there constantly looking for fish. It's a lot more difficult than just sitting there on the edge of the boat, throwing one in the water.
Frierson: It seems like it would be a lot more challenging. What's it called, refraction, with water and light, where what you see isn't exactly as things are?
Cleveland: I always tell myself, when I think I'm aiming low enough, aim a little bit lower. Once you get it figured out, it's a lot of fun.
Frierson: Is bowfishing something you'd like to do in a more exotic place, as well?
Cleveland: We've talked about going out to Texas and shooting some alligator gar and stuff like that. It helps our lakes out around here, shooting carp and gar, because they really do no good. Gar eat all the gamefish that people fish for in bass tournaments and stuff like that. Carp, they're an invasive species, so it's trying to help clean up our lakes around here, too.

I think I would enjoy going out to Texas or somewhere like that and shooting a big ole 200-pound alligator gar.
Frierson: What is it like to be at this point in your redshirt senior season? I'm sure in some ways it feels like you've been at Georgia for a very long time.
Cleveland: It's kind of weird. I was actually checking Instagram before I came over here and 5 years ago today, Jacob Eason and I, we were on our official visits up here. Man, kind of standing back and looking at it, it seems like a long, long time ago. But then you look at it from the reality of things and it's just like the snap of a finger. You blink and all of a sudden it's been 5 years.

I've seen a lot of people come and go through this place and made a lot of good friends. It's crazy to think that I've been here for 5 whole years, but there's definitely been a lot of good memories made and a lot of people who will still be my good friends in the long run.
Frierson: How have you changed the most as a person in all that time?
Cleveland: I think I had to mature really fast. I started appreciating the little things in life, as we were talking about, just finding that escape and getting away. I started to appreciate what little time I get with my family, stuff like that. I really started taking more advantage of that than I have in the past, because you realize it doesn't last forever. I think that's been the biggest lesson that I've learned, just take advantage of the little things in life.
Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?
Cleveland: Singing — I was actually talking to my fiancée about that last night, I want to be able to sing.
Frierson: Is there one song that you wish you could do to perfection?
Cleveland: That's a good question. I don't know, I'm very bouncy with my music, I kind of go off the wall with everything. I think I sound good when I sing in the truck but I know people listening to me don't like it.

It would be hard to pick out a song. I would say, I don't know, "Freebird" or some kind of Lynyrd Skynyrd some maybe.

Quick Chat: Malik Herring

With the Georgia football team having an unexpected off weekend following the postponement of the Bulldogs' game at Missouri, defensive lineman Malik Herring went home to Forsyth, Ga. Last Friday, the senior went to watch his old high school team, Mary Persons, play against its rival Crisp County.

It was a tough night for Mary Persons, a 38-7 loss, and the 6-foot-3 and 280-pound Herring said he wished he could have suited up one more time for his alma mater. Along with making about a million great defensive plays in high school, Herring was highly efficient on offense, scoring five touchdowns on six receptions in his final two seasons.

During a Quick Chat before practice Monday, as the Bulldogs get set to host Mississippi State this week, Herring talked about his days on offense, his favorite Thanksgiving dish, dunking in sixth grade and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: How did you spend your unexpected weekend off? Did you do anything fun?
Herring: I went to my high school football game and I'd say that's fun but we lost, so it didn't turn out fun. It was a rivalry game, too, and they lost. It was their first loss to them in seven or eight years.
Frierson: What is it like going back to watch your old team play? Does it feel different?
Herring: Yes, it definitely feels different. When I was out there, I wanted to take one of them boy's pads off and jump in so fast, but I couldn't.
Frierson: I was looking back at your stats from your high school days and I saw where you only had six catches in your last two years, but five of those went for touchdowns. That's a pretty good efficiency rate.
Herring: [Laughs] I appreciate it.
Frierson: You obviously made a ton of plays on defense, but what do you remember about your days on offense?
Herring: My days on offense were fun, I miss them, really. I tell Tre' McKitty, I'm going to take his spot at tight end, but he doesn't believe me.
Frierson: What other sports did you play growing up?
Herring: I played basketball, I'm the baby LeBron James at basketball. I also played baseball, I played first base and third, and a little bit at pitcher. I also did a little bit of catching in one game, too. I got too hot so I couldn't do it any more. I about passed out with all of that equipment on in the summer.
Frierson: I always ask this of the men's basketball players that I talk to, do you remember your first dunk?
Herring: My first dunk, I was in the sixth grade. On Sundays I would always go play with the older people, so I go in there, we're hooping, and I was always touching the rim, touching the rim. One day I just did a little baby dunk and they were all like, oh, that boy just dunked. And I was like, yeah, I'm fixing to turn it up now.

I tried to dunk every time I got in the gym after that.

Frierson: How tall were you in sixth grade?
Herring: I think I was like 6-foot or 5-11, one of those.
Frierson: We've got Thanksgiving coming up, so what is your favorite Thanksgiving dish?
Herring: The dressing is my favorite. I go home — Walter Grant came with me last Thanksgiving — and I had a half plate of dressing and a half plate of macaroni. He was like, "Bro, where's your meat at?" And I was like, "I eat this every time."
Frierson: What is it about the dressing that's so special?
Herring: I think it's that gravy that my auntie puts in it, but then the cranberry sauce makes it pop.
Frierson: How are you in the kitchen?
Herring: I cook some fish, fry some fish, bake some fish — that's about it, though, I don't really try to do anything else.
Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?
Herring: Man, that's tough. I think I'd want to be one of the top sprinters, like Usain Bolt. I just want to see how it feels to be fast like that — super fast, scary fast, lightning fast.
Frierson: Did you ever do track and field? I would guess you had some coaches wanting you to do the shot put.
Herring: I did the shot put and discus. I used to ask my coach to let my run with the sprinters so I could see if I was fast or not, but he wouldn't let me run with the sprinters.
Frierson: Do you have a creative side? Is there anything creative you do or wish you could do?
Herring: I wish I could sing. There's not one song I wish I could sing but I'll be listening to Rod Wave and all them, and they're singing and I'm singing along with them thinking I sound just like them. Then my homeboy's like, "You need to stop."
Frierson: Who is the funniest guy on the team?
Herring: Probably Mark Webb. He's just goofy and his voice travels. Actually, Mark and Jordan Davis. J.D.'s just a big, goofy teddy bear and Mark is just funny all over.

Quick Chat: Nolan Smith

GeorgiaDogs.com
By: John Frierson
Published Nov. 11, 2020

Nolan Smith is a builder and a creator. The Georgia outside linebacker was pretty much obsessed with Legos when he was young, which led to a passion for engineering. Smith can also create in the kitchen, and while he can cook the turkey for Thanksgiving, don't expect him to eat any of it.

A 6-foot-3, 235-pound sophomore from Savannah, Smith heads into Saturday's game against Missouri with 17 tackles and 1.5 sacks, and his 12 quarterback pressures rank fourth on the team. During a Quick Chat after practice Tuesday, Smith talked about engineering, good food, his start in football and much more.

Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: What do you remember about your very first year playing football? Is there one memory that stands out from those early days?
Smith: I remember my first Oklahoma drill, and when I first hit somebody I said, I love this sport, this is the type of sport I want to be a part of. I was 4, I've been playing football since I was 4 years old.
Frierson: Did you play a bunch of other sports growing up, as well?
Smith: I played basketball and I was a really good baseball player. I played center field and I played second base and catcher. I loved playing baseball, it was my second-favorite sport after football. I probably played baseball all the way up to my sophomore year, before I went to IMG (Academy).
Frierson: When did you know you were good at football? Was there a turning point or specific moment when you realized you had a bright future in it beyond high school?
Smith: I don't know, maybe not until I signed my letter-of-intent, really. All that could be taken away, you could tear your ACL, knock on wood, or anything can happen, so I was just trying to work every day like I never had any offers.
Frierson: I read where you were majoring in Biochemical Engineering, so how did you get interested in that? And can you explain exactly what that is?
Smith: I changed my major just because I had too many labs, but I did it for about a year and a half. Biochemical engineering is for people that work with the body and make medical devices that help, like prosthetic legs and prosthetic arms and stuff like that. It's about engineering and your body mechanics and fluids all working together as one.

I'm now majoring in civil engineering.
Frierson: Obviously engineering is something you're really into, so when did that begin?
Smith: I love building things. I do a lot with my hands. Even my room back home, I ordered the parts and I built the whole room myself.

I used to have one of the greatest Lego collections ever. I used to have 1,000-piece Legos, like rocket ships and spaceships and things that I just pieced and put together myself.
Frierson: Do you still do any of that stuff now just to relax?
Smith: I don't do it now but we do it for projects (in class). I'll build a small-scale Talmadge Bridge in Savannah, and then I'll have to draw it to scale and stuff like that.
Frierson: After football, what do you envision yourself doing?
Smith: I want to open up my own engineering firm. Go somewhere and help the roads; I don't know, be a part of the community, be a small piece and try to take care of something in the world.
Frierson: Speaking of Savannah, when you think of home what comes to mind?
Smith: Good food. I mean Savannah food is some of the best. I'd say Savannah and Atlanta have the best food in Georgia.
Frierson: Is there one dish that comes to mind?
Smith: I love going to Chive and getting the calamari.
Frierson: How are you in the kitchen?
Smith: I'm a really good cook. I grew up with my grandmom and my grandfather, so I do a lot of cooking and a lot of hands-on handyman work.
Frierson: We've got Thanksgiving coming up pretty soon, so what is your favorite Thanksgiving dish?
Smith: My favorite dish is ham. I don't eat turkey but I cook all the turkey for my Thanksgiving, and I'll carve it. I'll do a fried turkey and a baked turkey but I don't eat it — I just know how to cook it and carve. I can't even taste it to tell you if it's so good because it's so dry to me.
Frierson: Why don't you eat turkey?
Smith: I don't know, it's dry and nasty [laughs].
Frierson: You've sort of already answered this but I'll ask it anyway, do you have a creative side? Is there anything creative you do or wish you could do?
Smith: I'm probably going to sit down and teach myself how to play the piano sooner or later. I did it when I was a little kid, I was in music, and I played the saxophone a little bit but I never took it very seriously.
Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?
Smith: Being a great person, just walking around being happy. That's what I try to do now, but imagine you're seeing a person walking down the street and he's happy and he hasn't got a care in the world. He's one of those genuinely happy people — he's not happy because he's rich or anything, he's just living the good life and he's happy. I'd love to live that life.
Frierson: You strike me as someone that's kind of doing that already.
Smith: I hope, I try, I try to strive every day.
Frierson: Jordan Davis also strikes me as one of those guys.
Smith: Yeah, I love J.D. Me and J.D. have very similar personalities.
Frierson: If you could travel anywhere in the world on somebody else's dime, where would you like to go and who would you take with you?
Smith: I'd go to Spain and I'd probably take my girlfriend, my grandmom and my mom — 100 percent of the special ladies in my life. We'd go out to Spain, and the thing about Spain is, I know a lot about it. They do a lot of fresh markets and they have some of the best food.

Those European countries have some of the best food in the world because they catch it fresh every day and then they sell it the same day at the market, so that's what makes it so special.

Quick Chat: Zamir White

Published Oct. 26, 2020

You hope to learn something new every day, right? Georgia running back Zamir White introduced me to something new during our Quick Chat on Monday, though it may not be something I'll be first in line to eat.

When asked what meal he always looks forward to eating when he goes home, the redshirt sophomore from Laurinburg, N.C., a town of about 15,000 located 90 miles or so east of Charlotte, included "hog maws" in his answer. In 48 years of living around the South, I'd never heard of hog maws.

During our Chat, White, who leads the fifth-ranked Bulldogs with 266 yards rushing and five touchdowns on 64 carries heading into Saturday's game at Kentucky, also talked about taking it easy at home last weekend, when he knew he might have a bright future in football and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: How did you spend your off weekend and how happy were you to get a break after four games?

White: It was great, just to be able to go home and just relax with my family and eat good and relax and take a little break.

Frierson: When it comes to going home and eating good food, what's the one meal that you always look forward to when you go home?

White: My momma made me some hog maws and rice. It's either that or some macaroni and cheese or grilled food — we cook out a lot. Or it's just any soul food; I just like to eat.

White: [Laughs] They're basically like chitlins but they don't stink like chitlins [laughs].

Frierson: How are you in the kitchen?

White: Growing up where I'm from, the deep country life, you've got to know how to cook and work.

Frierson: If you were having a couple of teammates over for dinner, what would you make them?

White: I would move them some chicken or something like that, some fried chicken and macaroni.

Frierson: We've got Halloween coming up, so what is your favorite candy?

White: I would say Twix, probably. I love candy.

Frierson: How old were you when you first got started in football? Did you play a bunch of different sports when you were young?

White: I started playing flag football at 7, and I played several different sports. My middle school coach made the whole football team play soccer, so I played football, baseball, soccer and basketball.

Frierson: How did you like soccer? With your speed, you could have been a really dangerous forward.

White: It was fun but it wasn't for me, though [laughs].

Frierson: Who was your favorite player growing up? Was there somebody you looked up to and wanted to be like?

White: It was a guy that played at my high school and now he plays for the (Detroit) Lions, Tony McRae. Growing up, he played running back; he's a corner now but back in high school he was a crazy good running back.

Frierson: Is it surprising that your high school, Scotland High, has produced some guys that are playing big-time football?

White: Yes, sir, because not many people have made it this far.

Frierson: When did you know you had a chance to play at a school like Georgia? When did you know, without patting yourself on the back, that you were good?

White: I would probably say the middle of my 10th-grade year when I started getting a lot of offers. I was locked in on being the best player and student that I can be, just focusing on school and my SATs and all that to get to college. I was just locked in on that type of stuff and I was ready.

Frierson: If you could travel anywhere in the world on somebody else's dime, where would you like to go and who would you take with you?

White: I would like to go to Africa, just to see the history and the land and the animals and all that stuff. And I would probably take my mother with me.

Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?

White: I think I'd want to be the President, probably. Or maybe a billionaire [laughs].

Frierson: It's fair to say that 2020 has been a pretty rough year in a lot of different ways but is there something that has inspired you or brought you a lot of hope and optimism?

White: Just seeing how strong we were together, just going through everything together. We were there for each other through it all, like the virus and all that. This team came together and we did it. We're not perfect but we did a good job with it. I'm proud of us.

Quick Chat: Mark Webb

Mark Webb always has something interesting to say. The Georgia defensive back is among the most chatty players on the team, and he's been that way throughout his Bulldog career. His teammates frequently mention him, along with Richard LeCounte, when asked about the funniest guys on the squad.

Webb, a senior from Philadelphia, spent the previous three seasons playing alongside his cousin, running back D'Andre Swift, who is now in the NFL. While Swift is a rookie with the Detroit Lions, Webb is still a Bulldog and still making plays, like his first career interception last Saturday in Georgia's win over Auburn.

During a Quick Chat after practice Tuesday, Webb talked about his first pick, what he did during quarantine, growing up in Philadelphia, and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: What was it like to be back playing a game in Sanford Stadium on Saturday?
Webb: It was amazing, the atmosphere was definitely amazing. Even though we can't have all the fans in the stadium, it was definitely amazing to be back between the hedges. Just running out on the field, that never gets old.
Frierson: How good did it feel to get that first interception?
Webb: That felt great. I've been waiting for it, asking God for it, and just for it to finally come when my mom and dad were in the stands, it doesn't get any better than that. I couldn't ask for much more, I was definitely thankful for it.
Frierson: How did you spend your free time over the shutdown this spring and summer?
Webb: During the quarantine I usually just spent my time bettering myself and bettering my craft. When gyms and things shut down, I had to be able to motivate myself and put myself in a position to work out and find things like technology that could help me at the house. I did a lot of running, training and going to fields, just training and working on a lot of things that I've made mistakes on before.
Frierson: Is it a little weird not having D'Andre as a teammate this season?
Webb: It is weird because we always talked every day, and with him being here I'd always see him around. Sometimes it made things easier, he'd always remind me of stuff. It's a huge difference now and I definitely feel it, but it's just how it is now.
Frierson: Halloween is only a few weeks away, so what's your favorite Halloween candy?
Webb: It's definitely going to be Twizzlers all the way. The red ones — I don't know about the black ones, I can't do the black ones.
Frierson: What was your best Halloween costume?
Webb: I had a throwback, a 2003 rapper outfit that I put on. That was probably my best outfit and I wore that last year.
Frierson: What's the best meal you've ever had? Is there one dining experience that stands out above the rest?
Webb: I've had a couple of different meals, but I'd say the best meal was on Christmas, with my mom and my uncle Darren, D'Andre's dad, they put out a meal that is definitely top-notch on Christmas and Thanksgiving. It's some of the best food you'll have, by far.
Frierson: If you could travel anywhere in the world on somebody else's dime, where would you like to go and who would you take with you?
Webb: The first place I would go is Brazil. I would take all my brothers, or the people I call my brother. I can't just take one — if I take one I have to take all of them.
Frierson: What is it about Brazil?
Webb: I feel like it's just nice over there. I realize that a lot of people don't go there or talk about it that much, and I know it's nice weather over there. I just don't want to be where everybody else is at.
Frierson: I know you're a great athlete and a sharp individual, but is there something you've tried to get good at and just never did?
Herring: I would have to say Madden (the NFL video game). I haven't played in so long but it seemed like every time I picked up that controller to play Madden, I'd always get beat bad.
Frierson: How competitive are you when it comes to things like that? Do you let it get to you or are you able to not really care because it's only a video game?
Webb: I'm very competitive in probably everything I do, so I try to stay away from it just because of that. I know how mad I get about things, and I know so many losses are going to get to me after a while.
Frierson: What was your favorite toy when you were a kid?
Webb: I really didn't have a favorite toy. I just liked playing basketball. I always had a basketball court, like a Fischer-Price basketball goal, and that was probably my favorite thing.
Frierson: What was it like growing up in Philadelphia? Do you look back fondly on your childhood in Philadelphia?
Webb: It was definitely a growing experience. There are a lot of things that go on in Philly, tough people, tough times, and things like that made me who I am today. I wouldn't change it for nothing because some of the things made me tougher. Coming to college and being in the real world now, Philadelphia groomed me to be able to handle those things today.

Quick Chat: Kenny McIntosh

Kenny McIntosh grew up in a football family. The Georgia sophomore running back from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has two older brothers that play and their dad was a good high school player.

One of McIntosh's older brothers, RJ, a defensive lineman, played at Miami and is now in his third season with the New York Giants. The other, Deon, is a running back at Washington State after starting his collegiate career at Notre Dame. You can imagine the level of competition around the McIntosh house when they were all young.

Heading into Saturday's big game between No. 3 Georgia and No. 2 Alabama, McIntosh has 17 carries for 80 yards, four receptions for 51 yards and he's been very good returning kickoffs, averaging 42.8 yards on his four attempts. During a Quick Chat after practice Wednesday, McIntosh talked family, football and more.

Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: It's obviously a big week for you guys, playing at Alabama, so how do you keep out the distractions that come with maybe the biggest college football game of the season?

McIntosh: I don't engage with the outside world. I've been doing this all my life and Georgia going against Bama, that's a big-time deal, everybody talks about it, but for me it's just another game on the schedule. It's just another time for me to go out there and compete and show my talent.

Frierson: What was the most important thing you learned from having older brothers that were very good players and playing big-time football ahead of you?

McIntosh: Just having older brothers and being able to look up to them growing up, it's every little boy's dream. My brothers, they just guided me. One brother played the same position as me, so me and him talk a lot. They just guided me and helped me coming up, like when I first got to college they were telling me what I should expect and things to look out for, and just to keep grinding.

My dad really put that in our heads at a young age — competing, that's all we did since I was young. I give that to my father, my father put that in us.

Frierson: Was your dad a really good player, really good athlete, too? You all had to get this ability from somewhere.

McIntosh: We definitely got it from my dad. He played running back at Dillard High School down in Fort Lauderdale, and he was a great running back, but unfortunately he didn't make it in college.

Frierson: We've got Halloween coming up, so what's your favorite Halloween candy?

McIntosh: I'd say Reese's.

Frierson: The Pieces, the Peanut Butter Cups, what are we talking about?

McIntosh: It doesn't really matter, whichever one is available.

Frierson: Did you have a favorite Halloween costume when you were a kid?

McIntosh: I'd say my Spiderman costume, I was real into Spiderman when I was a kid.

Frierson: Do you have any gameday superstitions or rituals? Is there something specific you do before every game?

McIntosh: I really just listen to music and get into my game mode, get my mind right, clear my mind, and go out there and do what I've got to do. I'll put on whatever song I'm feeling at that moment, it just depends on how I'm feeling in the locker room.

Frierson: Do you have a creative side? Is there anything creative you do or wish you could do?

McIntosh: I wish I could sing. I've got a little vocal ability [laughs], but I wish I could sing, I wish I could dance. I used to dance a lot.

Frierson: Who's the best dancer on the team?

McIntosh: It used to be my boy Divaad (Wilson), but on the team right now? That's a tough one — I'd have to give it to J.D. (Jordan Davis). If you know J.D., you know J.D.'s always dancing, in the locker room, when we're outside of the facility, he's going to dance.

Frierson: What other sports did you play growing up?

McIntosh: I also played basketball and I ran a little track in middle school. My dad always wanted to get me into baseball, but I didn't really like it much.

Frierson: Do you remember your first dunk?

McIntosh: Yes, I do remember my first dunk. It was never in a game, it was right after a game. I think it was like our homecoming or something like that, so we had all the fans there after the game. We just started doing a little dunk contest and I ended up getting it in there.

Frierson: Do you regret not ever getting one in a game?

McIntosh: Oh, yeah, definitely, I definitely regret that.

Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?

McIntosh: Let me say being a champion because I haven't won anything in college football yet. Being a champion for one day and seeing how it feels, getting the taste of it, I'm always going to want to taste it again.

Quick Chat: Warren McClendon

Warren McClendon has deep Georgia football roots. The redshirt freshman right tackle is the nephew of Willie McClendon, the great tailback from 1976-78, and he's the cousin of former Georgia receiver and later assistant coach Bryan McClendon, now at Oregon.

At 6-foot-4 and 320 pounds, McClendon, from Brunswick, Ga., doesn't have the body to play receiver or running back — he went from quarterback to lineman when he was young —but as he's shown this season, starting the past seven games, he can get the job done at right tackle.

Frierson: Obviously you're trying to forge your own path, but how much does it mean to you to continue the McClendon tradition at Georgia?

McClendon: It's a big deal — to my family it's a huge deal. It's not as big to me as it is to them just because I didn't get to see my uncle and my cousin play. They're just happy for me to be here and they just love that I'm here.

Frierson: Your uncle was a running back and your cousin was a wide receiver, so when did you know that those positions weren't for you and that being a very good lineman was in your future?

McClendon: It was probably fifth grade when I started gaining a bunch of weight, so I went from quarterback to offensive line [laughs].

Frierson: What was that transition like? Was it disappointing because quarterback is the most high-profile position or did you realize that the offensive line was the best spot for you?

McClendon: I knew that was the best spot for me. I was just a little kid out there having fun.

Frierson: What's something you could eat every day and never get tired of it?

McClendon: Steak, definitely steak. I'll have it with a loaded baked potato with cheese, bacon, and sour cream.

Frierson: ow are you in the kitchen? Can you cook?

McClendon: I can cook a little bit. I can cook a steak.

Frierson: When you were home during quarantine, did you do much cooking then? Did you get better in the kitchen during that time?

McClendon: My mom, she took care of the cooking. When I'm home, she cooks, she doesn't want me in the kitchen. She says I'll mess it up.

Frierson: Do you have a favorite dish that she makes?

McClendon: It's probably a steak, but she also makes a good chicken alfredo. And sometimes she'll do this roast that's really good, I love that.

Frierson: What was your favorite toy when you were a kid?

McClendon: That was probably my golf club set, my little plastic golf club set.

Frierson: Who is the funniest guy on the team?

McClendon: That's hard because we've got a bunch of funny people. I think Ben Cleveland's pretty funny. I talk to him every day and he's pretty funny.

Frierson: What is it like playing next to Ben (Cleveland), a guy that's been here for so long and has so much experience? How much has he helped you become the player you are today?

McClendon: It's definitely good having a veteran player playing next to me. He's seen and played a lot of football, so he definitely helps me out when we're on the field. If I don't understand something, he'll help explain it to me.

Frierson: When did you know you were good? Was there a turning point or a specific moment?

McClendon: It was probably my freshman year of high school, that's when I started getting big-time offers.

Frierson: Was it like to go through that at such a young age?

McClendon: It was a good experience. Freshman and sophomore year were good, and then junior year it just got to the point where I was doing interviews every day and had coaches talking to me — it just got to the point where it was getting stressful. That was when I went ahead and committed to Georgia.

Frierson: If you could travel anywhere in the world on somebody else's dime, where would you like to go and who would you take with you?

McClendon: I've always wanted to go to Dubai. I'd go to Dubai and I'd take my family, my parents and my sister. Dubai seems like a nice place to go and I've always wanted to go there since I was a little kid.

Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?

McClendon: I would want to be great at golf, because me and my dad play golf all the time when I'm home and he beats me every time, and it just makes me mad. I started playing around eighth or ninth grade, and at that age I just tried to kill the ball and I'd end up slicing it and end up in the woods.

McGarity Went From 'Hanging Around' To Leading The Way

NOTE: As announced on Nov. 30, Greg McGarity will retire on Dec. 31, 2020, as the J. Reid Parker Director of Athletics at UGA.

When Georgia men's tennis coach Manuel Diaz arrived in Athens as a freshman in the fall of 1971, having flown from Puerto Rico to Atlanta and then taken a bus the rest of the way to his new home, there to pick him up at the old Greyhound bus station downtown, in a Volkswagen Bug, was a teenager he'd come to know well.

Long before Greg McGarity, Georgia's J. Reid Parker Director of Athletics, spent the past decade in a corner office on the top floor of Butts-Mehre Heritage Hall, the Athens native was a high school kid working in numerous capacities for men's tennis coach and sports information director Dan Magill.

"I got here and guess who picked me up at the bus station? Little Greg McGarity," Diaz said with a laugh Tuesday.

"Coach Magill was busy with sports information because football season was about to start, so Greg ran to the Greyhound station to pick me up and brought me to McWhorter Hall to register my freshman year."

It was the beginning of a long friendship and working relationship. While Diaz went on to a great All-American career on the court before becoming one of collegiate tennis' best coaches of all time, McGarity went from working for Coach Magill as a high school and college student, to serving as Georgia's women's tennis coach, to a great career in athletic administration.

After 10 years as Georgia's Director of Athletics, McGarity announced Monday that he was retiring at the end of December.

"It certainly has been great seeing him grow up and now grow a little bit old," joked Diaz, who took over for Coach Magill as head coach in the fall of 1988 and has won four NCAA team titles and 28 SEC championships.

For many years, Coach Magill was the men's tennis coach, sports information director and secretary of the Georgia Bulldog Club. McGarity said he used to hang around Georgia's tennis courts when he was young, along with his brother, Stu, and Mick Basinger, brother of the Oscar-winning actress Kim Basinger. It was through them that he met Coach Magill and started a life-changing relationship with one of the most important and influential people he's ever known.

"He was my mentor," McGarity said Tuesday. "As we all know, he worked seven days a week. And to be exposed to that type of work ethic and at the same time have so much fun doing it, it was modeling the way to say, I'd love to do this.

"I think his ability to juggle three jobs, to work in an office environment with three other people in the same room, and to be able to be ultra-successful in everything he did, I can't think of a better example to have for a professional life."

In Magill's book "Match Pointers," about his lifetime in collegiate tennis and his 34 years coaching the Bulldogs, he described McGarity as "my prize protégé" in the section on Georgia women's tennis great Lisa Spain Short.

McGarity said he was very grateful that his parents "embraced that relationship" at such a young age. "Before I was able to drive, if my parents hadn't have been open to the idea of taxiing me around, I would have never been there," he said.

An avid tennis player growing up, McGarity spent time on the Bulldogs' squad and lettered in 1973. He was teammates with the likes of Diaz and Gordon Smith, but McGarity said the letter he was awarded by Magill was "generous" given that he was more like a manager than one of Georgia's players.

"Just to be around those guys like Gordon and Manny, and just to be hanging out with them was just so much fun," McGarity said. "But there's Coach Magill letting me be around. He could have easily said, 'Hey, Greg, you just need to move on and do other things because I just don't have time for you.' But it was the direct opposite: 'Can you be here on Sunday? Can you be here Saturday?'"

McGarity was always there, always eager to help.

"Greg was a go-getter and he was always well-grounded," Diaz said of the McGarity he knew when they were young. "He was one of these kids that never got in trouble and always did the right things. He was very disciplined and that obviously paid off for him."

During his four seasons as the women's tennis coach, from 1978-81, McGarity's teams posted a record of 51-44. His first season was the fifth in the program's history, and McGarity signed and coached for one year the program's first NCAA champion, Lisa Spain Short.

"We had some good times. When I was a freshman and he would come up to the fence (at the McWhorter Courts), I was just as wild as I could be and he didn't know what else to say," Short recalled earlier this year. "He would always come up to the fence and say, 'How you feeling, Lisa? How you feeling? Everything OK? Can I get you some water?' And I would be like, 'No! Don't get me anything!'

"I think he aspired to greater things but he was good at that job, too."

That wild freshman matured into a stellar senior that captured the NCAA singles title in 1984, and earlier this year she became the first Georgia player to be voted into the ITA Women's Tennis Hall of Fame.

"Coaches never bat a thousand but every now and then you make a really good decision that turns into obviously one of the greatest players in Georgia women's tennis history and our first NCAA champion for women," McGarity said after Short made the Hall of Fame.

After leaving his coaching position to work in athletic administration, McGarity rose higher and higher in Georgia's athletic department. Then, while out for a run during a convention in South Florida, he passed then Florida athletic director Jeremy Foley. They spoke briefly, later had lunch and in 1992 McGarity joined Foley's staff in Gainesville.

Eighteen years later, in August 2010, he returned home, taking over Georgia's athletic department. Timing is everything, McGarity said. If he hadn't been tagging along with his brother and some friends back when he was a kid, he might not have wound up working for and with Coach Magill for all those years. And if he hadn't been out for a jog that day, he might not have met Foley and spent all those great years at Florida.

"I was just fortunate to be at the right place at the right time, and the stars aligned," he said.

Anyone that knew Coach Magill, who died in 2014, knew that while he loved to laugh and tell stories, he also worked incredibly hard — and he expected the same of you. McGarity might have been in the right place at the right time, but he had to deliver and produce day after day after day.

McGarity has done that throughout his long and distinguished career, one that surely made his longtime friend and mentor proud.

"I think he'd be happy, I hope he'd be proud, and I hope he would understand that he's really the reason I am where I am today in the world of college athletics," McGarity said, "because of his generosity and his open-armed approach to letting me just kind of hang around."

The kid that hung around, that would work in Magill's garden or drive to the bus station to pick up a new player, he went on to run the whole show one day. It's a great story that on Dec. 31 will come to a very happy ending.
