Dr. Carl V. Patton University President

Carl Patton became president of Georgia State University on July 1, 1992. With more than 40,000 students seeking degrees, Georgia State is one of the nation's largest urban research universities.

With his expertise as an academic leader and urban planner, Patton has helped Georgia State become a vital part of the downtown Atlanta community. He launched a university-wide planning effort that produced the Main Street Master Plan. This innovative strategy continues to increase the university's footprint in the downtown community and shape the university's future growth. Key components of the plan include:

- Establishing a campus identity based on a central campus corridor
- Investing in key research areas to advance knowledge and discovery
- Increasing the university's involvement with the downtown community
- Securing private funding sources to supplement state allocations for building projects
- Creating a university endowment

Patton's focus on recruitment of world-class faculty, strengthened academic programs and improved campus infrastructure continues to increase recognition for Georgia State through national rankings, peer journals and media reports. "The spirit of innovation thrives at Georgia State," says Patton. "Through teaching, research, scholarly activities, and service, Georgia State is a source of limitless potential for individual development and the improvement of our society."

The list of renovations and new construction completed since his appointment includes the Rialto Theater, Haas-Howell and Standard Buildings, Robinson College in the former C&S bank headquarters, Commerce Building, North Metro Center, Helen M. Aderhold Learning Center, Student Center, Recreation Center, the former Wachovia Building soon to house the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies and student housing at the Village and the Lofts. Now he's working on a new residential complex and a new Science Park that will combine teaching and research laboratories with an economic development incubator.

Patton serves on the boards of many organizations dedicated to strengthening the downtown community. He and his wife, Gretchen, live in a downtown loft within walking distance of his campus office. They have two children and three grandchildren.

Education and Previous Positions:

- Vice president for academic affairs, University of Toledo
- Faculty and administrative positions, University of Illinois and the University of Wisconsin
- Doctoral and master's degrees in public policy, University of California at Berkeley
- Master's degrees in urban planning and public administration, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
- Bachelor of Science degree in community planning, University of Cincinnati

Mary McElroy Director of Athletics

Mary McElroy became Director of Athletics at Georgia State University in July 2005, as Georgia State was joining the Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) a year earlier than planned. University President Dr. Carl Patton hired McElroy as the first female Athletic Director at Georgia State, and made her the only current female African-American athletics director at a non-historically black college at the NCAA Division I level.

Dr. Patton's confidence in McElroy has paid off handsomely as Georgia State's teams recorded two CAA championships, five individual conference year-end awards and over 25 all-conference recipients under her guidance. She has been able to fund for assistant coaches for designated sports and increased the athletic department staff, as well as develop and implement a Strategic Plan that established the athletic department vision and defined the pathways to those objectives. McElroy received the NCAA Division I-AAA Female Administrator of the Year Award (photo) in Sacramento, Calif. in October.

The first year has also seen record development for financial support with regards to scholarships and increased revenue streams. Facility upgrades have seen improved locker and training rooms in the Sports Arena. New partnerships with ISP Sports (sponsorships), adidas (apparel) and XOS (Web site) have also been reached.

A three-phase plan for the building of the Panthersville Athletics Complex has begun that will result in new practice fields, a soccer and track and field stadium, new tennis courts, and locker room facilities for those teams. Upgrades are ongoing for the softball and baseball facilities already there.

The program is working within the framework of NCAA guidelines as student-athletes responded in their first year by posting the highest combined grade point average ever in school history.

The vision of being "the student-athlete's first choice" is beginning to be realized as the recognition of the University's stature and the CAA level of respect rise.

McElroy graduated from the Naval Academy ('87) where she spent four years as a student-athlete and then five years as a Marine Corps supply officer. Her athletic management career began in 1992 as she worked her way up to assistant athletic director at Navy. She was Senior Woman Administrator and oversaw compliance for 29 sports. She also served a stint as Director of Alumni Services at Navy.

Mary McElroy earned a master's degree in Management from Georgia Tech ('00) and a certification from the Executive Management Program from the Sports Management Institute ('04). From 1999-00 to 2004-05, McElroy had been on the athletic management team at Georgia Tech as their Senior Associate A.D. and Senior Woman Administrator. During that time, her responsibilities included overseeing five sports, including basketball, and supervising the game day operations for basketball as well as the compliance staff.

Within the NCAA and ACC, McElroy was appointed to the NCAA Management Council in April 2005, and was a member of the NCAA Volleyball Committee. For the ACC, McElroy served as chairperson of the Softball Committee, was on the Women's Basketball Committee, the Head Trainer's Committee, the Senior Woman Administrator's Committee, and an Ad Hoc Committee on student-athlete welfare.

When the NCAA Women's Final Four was played in Atlanta in 2003, McElroy was the tournament manager. She was also on the Atlanta Local Organizing Committee for the Men's Final Four in Atlanta in 2002.

As a student at the Naval Academy, McElroy played varsity basketball in the CAA. She was a captain of the club softball team and still stays active athletically in local Atlanta softball leagues.

A native of Great Mills, Md., she is married to a fellow Naval Academy graduate, Terry ('86), and they have two sons, Darrin and Austin.

Carol Cohen
Associate A.D./Student-Athlete
Development/ Senior Woman Administrator

For 19 years, Carol Cohen has been an instrumental component for athletics and has held a variety of positions within the department. She is currently in her seventh year as Senior Woman Administrator.

Cohen is responsible for having developed and implemented the Program for Academic Support Services (P.A.S.S.) in 1990, the first ever academic support program at Georgia State. The academic program, which is now called Panther Promise, has expanded to include life skills, a career development component as well as stress management and psychological counseling.

Cohen's State connection began in 1987 as a graduate assistant coach with the women's basketball program. Later that year, she added duties as head coach of the women's tennis team.

Cohen serves as sport administrator to women's basketball, softball, men's and women's tennis, and volleyball. Her other areas of responsibility include overseeing the following: student-athlete academic support services and continuing eligibility, policies and procedures for the department, and the fifth year program to ensure graduation of student-athletes.

Cohen is a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports, Enrollment Management Advisors Group, Faculty Senate Committee and the Admissions and Standards Committee. Cohen currently serves as a member of the CAA Competition Committee and acts as the departmental scheduler for the CAA. She is also the liaison to the CAA's softball coaches committee.

Before receiving her master's degree in human resources development from Georgia State in 1991, Cohen was a standout basketball and tennis player at Berry College (B.A., psychology, '87) in her hometown of Rome, Ga.

Cohen is married to the school's Broadcast Coordinator, Dave Cohen, who has handled the men's basketball play-by-play duties on radio for 23 seasons. The couple resides in Alpharetta, Ga., with their 6-year-old son, Samuel, and 2-year old son, Jackson.

Matt Gillett
Associate A.D.
Finance/Business

In his third year as the director of finance and business for the Georgia State University athletic department is Matt Gillett.

He is responsible for developing and overseeing all financial aspects of the department, including budgeting and fiscal management.

Gillett is the sport administrator for the men's and women's cross country, golf, and track teams. He also is administrator for the Sports Medicine department.

Certainly no stranger to Georgia State, Gillett previously served as a budget analyst in the university's Office of Budget and Planning since 1998. In 1997-98, he was a student assistant within the same office.

Gillett earned his bachelor's degree in psychology from State in 1998.

He first attended Texas A&M University in College Station for two years before transferring.

As an undergraduate at Georgia State, he was part of the Student Government Association. Gillett is also a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

As a college student, Gillett worked from 1993-97 as a carpenter/foreman at Labskill Inc., a southeastern construction company.

In high school, Gillett participated in football and track. He currently enjoys playing soccer, running and watching movies.

Gillett was born Nov. 17, 1972 in Fort Wayne, Ind., but raised in Houston, Texas.

He and his wife, Liz, presently reside in Atlanta.

Monique Holland

Associate A.D./Operations & Compliance

Monique Holland enters her second season at Georgia State as the Associate Athletic Director for Operations and Compliance. Her duties also include sport administration for the Panthers' men's soccer and baseball teams. Holland is no stranger to Georgia State, having earned her master's degree from the University in 2001.

Prior to her current appointment, Holland was assistant director of membership services at the NCAA Indianapolis headquarters.

She served at Clayton State University as Assistant Athletic Director for Compliance and was the Senior Woman Administrator there while also handling game day logistics and managerial operations.

A former assistant women's basketball coach at Georgia Tech for five seasons, Holland concluded her duty as a member of the Yellow Jackets' athletic staff as the assistant director of compliance. Her assistant coaching experiences across town at Tech also included two trips to the postseason WNit.

Residing in Atlanta during the 1996 Olympics, Holland helped as an assistant venue logistics manager, working with basketball and gymnastics.

A magna cum laude graduate of Alabama State in 1996, Holland garnered academic all-America honors as a basketball player.

Holland currently resides in Atlanta.

Jon McLamb

Associate A.D./Development & Marketing

Jon McLamb begins his second year with the challenging task of helping fund the school's move into the Colonial Athletic Association as the Associate Athletic Director for Development and Marketing.

In his first year at State, he set records for total funds committed for athletics. He introduced a Life Member giving level with founding members. He established a grassroots giving initiative called IMPACT and he grew an endowed scholarship program.

Familiar with Atlanta, McLamb came to State after tours of duty at Agnes Scott College and Georgia Tech.

McLamb served as the Assistant Athletic Director for External Operations for a year and a half at Agnes Scott. He had been the associate director for the Alexander-Tharpe Fund while at Georgia Tech.

For two years, McLamb was the associate general manager for ISP Sports for Georgia Tech.

McLamb earned his bachelor's degree from East Carolina University in 1992. For the Pirates of ECU, McLamb was a four-year letterman in tennis.

He is a native of Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Jon and his wife, Kerri, reside in Atlanta.

Awilda Ragland

Assistant A.D.
Business

Awilda Ragland is in her 20th year at Georgia State University. Ragland came to Georgia State in 1987 as an accounting clerk with the student accounts office.

Transferring in 1988 to the position of business manager for the athletic department, she provides the financial support for operations, recruiting and scholarship budgets for all 16 sports programs at State. She was elevated to assistant athletic director for business in 2006.

In addition to providing financial support to all sports, Ragland is also the housing and book loan coordinator for the student-athletes and servers on the Human Resource Administrative Committee as the Athletic Department representative.

Prior to arriving in Atlanta, Ragland worked as a civilian for the United States Armed Forces Central Accounting Division in Frankfurt, Germany and later at South Carolina State University in Orangeburg, where she met her husband, James, who was a former football player and then assistant coach there.

Originally from Brooklyn, N.Y., Ragland is a graduate of James Madison High School.

Ragland and her husband have a son, Jerry (30), who lives in North Carolina, and two daughters, Ashley (20) and Jasmine (19), both of whom attend Georgia State.

Kevin Olivett

Assistant A.D.
Marketing

Kevin Olivett enters his second year at Georgia State. He was hired in March 2006. His duties include marketing and promotions as well as ticket sales for men's basketball. Olivett acts as the athletics liaison between multi-media rights holder ISP and Georgia State. He also serves as the on campus athletics contact to student and campus offices and organizations.

Olivett returns to the Atlanta area after a year and a half in Ohio as the manager of corporate sales and promotions at the University of Akron. Olivett was responsible for all corporate sponsorship and marketing programs and group sales to Zips' football, volleyball and basketball games.

Prior to his position at Akron, Olivett was a group sales associate and marketing and operations manager for four years in the athletic offices at Georgia Tech. Olivett coordinated group ticket packages and managed marketing and promotions operations for several sports, including football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball, baseball, softball and swimming and diving at Tech.

A 1999 graduate of Slippery Rock University with a bachelor's degree in sport management, Olivett served as a graduate assistant in the ticket office at Wichita State University from 1999-2000. He received his master's degree in sport administration in 2001.

A native of Olean, N.Y., Olivett currently lives in Atlanta.

Robert Slavis

Assistant A.D.
Compliance

Robert Slavis is in his third year with the athletic department after being named its Assistant Athletic Director for Compliance in May 2004.

Slavis handles all NCAA compliance issues, along with other administrative duties.

Prior to coming to Atlanta, Slavis served as the assistant director of compliance at Jacksonville (Fla.) University from 2001-04.

While pursuing his master's degree at Florida State University from 1999-2001, Slavis worked as a graduate assistant in the athletic department's office of compliance and legal affairs.

He also spent time assisting in Florida State's athletic ticket office.

Slavis earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Union College (Schenectady, N.Y.) in 1996.

He then earned his master's in athletics administration at Florida State in 2000.

Born in Newport Beach, Calif., Slavis was raised in Loudonville, N.Y.

Slavis now resides in Atlanta.

Jennifer Santiago

Assistant A.D.
Student-Athlete Development

In her sixth year with Georgia State, Jennifer Santiago was elevated to Assistant Athletic Director for Student-Athlete Development in the spring of 2006, after serving as an academic coordinator for five years. Santiago works with more than 200 Georgia State student-athletes to ensure they do their best in the classroom. More specifically, she currently monitors the academic progress of student-athletes in the sports of men's basketball, women's basketball, baseball and men's golf.

Before coming to State, Santiago taught and coached on the high school level for four years in three different cities around the country. She was a teacher and girls' basketball coach at Stockbridge High School in Henry County, just south of Atlanta, before arriving at Georgia State. Prior to that, she taught and coached both girls' basketball and girls' track at Booker High School in her hometown of Sarasota, Fla.

After acquiring her bachelor's degree in English and history from Villanova University in Philadelphia (1993), she earned a master's degree in education at the University of Pennsylvania (1996).

Santiago married Matthew Balog in March 2001. The couple has two children, a son named Alexander (born April 8, 2003) and a son named Nicolas (born Oct. 6, 2004).

Mike Hurst

Assistant A.D.
Panthersville Facilities
and Operations

Mike Hurst, a longtime member of the Georgia State athletics staff, was elevated to his current position prior to the fall 2006 campaign.

Hurst previously served as head coach of the Panthers baseball team for 13 seasons (1994-2006) and qualified the team as one of the top six squads for the league tournament two straight years, 2005 and 2006, before joining State's administrative staff. In his role as Asst. AD for Panthersville, Hurst will oversee the three-phase Panthersville Plan for expansion — a $3 million plan that calls for the addition of new practice soccer fields, a track and field stadium complex, new tennis courts, a locker room facility and upgrades to baseball and softball facilities.

Hurst arrived on campus as an assistant baseball coach as the school revived the dormant baseball program after five years (1987-91). Another landmark role he played was as a lead spokesman for the Georgia Spit Tobacco Educational Program, part of a national program with Joe Garagiola.

A native of Fannin County, Georgia, Hurst grew up in Atlanta and graduated from Cross Keys High School before attending Mercer University- Atlanta, where he was selected as an NAIA ALL-South Region pitcher in 1975.

Hurst is married to the former Carol Almond. The couple married on February 17, 1992 and resides in Chamblee, Ga.

Carlton White

Director of Sports Information

Carlton White is in his second year after being named the sports information director in August 2005. White oversees the publicity for all athletic teams, serving as the contact for the women's basketball program.

Prior to State, White was an assistant director of sports information at George Mason University from 2001-05. At Mason, White handled public relations for 12 of the school's 22 intercollegiate athletic teams.

White, who spent three sports information internship seasons at Georgia Tech (1998-99), Georgetown (1999-2000) and Johns Hopkins (2000-01) before landing the Mason position, also directed media responsibilities for the 2001 NCAA Division I and Division III Women's Lacrosse Championships. He has supervised and assisted over 50 conference and NCAA championship events in the ACC, Big East Conference, Centennial Conference and CAA. He has also assisted at various events in and around the Atlanta area, including Braves games, NASCAR races, Falcons games and ATP tournaments.

White received his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from North Carolina State University in 1994 and a master's in sport administration from Georgia State in 1999.

Born and raised in Baltimore, White currently resides in Atlanta with his wife of nine years, Felisha.

Chuck Whitmire

Asst. Business Manager
Ticket Manager

Back as a member of the athletic department is Chuck Whitmire, who was re-hired as the Ticket Manager/Assistant Business Manager in 2004. Whitmire, who oversees the ticket operations for the department, along with handling business matters, first joined State athletics in August 2000.

After leaving State in September 2002, Whitmire went to work down the road at Georgia Tech, serving as a customer service representative in its athletic ticket office.

Before first coming to Georgia State, Whitmire was an event management intern at his alma mater, the University of Georgia, working in game operations for seven different sports. The previous year, he was a game operations assistant for five sports at Georgia Southern.

Whitmire's business background also includes 11 years with the Georgia Department of Revenue, working with everything from customer service to account audits.

Whitmire earned his bachelor's degree in business from Georgia in 1986. He later received a master's degree in sport management from Georgia Southern (1999) with a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

The 42-year-old Whitmire is a native of Decatur, Ga., and graduate of Woodward Academy, where he played football and golf. He now makes his home in Watkinsville, Ga.

Sarah Davis

Director of Events
and Operations

Sarah Davis enters her second season as the Director of Events and Operations at Georgia State. She was hired to her post in October 2005.

Her duties include the day-to-day management of the Sports Arena, as well as overseeing athletic and Arena events. Davis also supervises one graduate assistant.

A native of Atlanta, Davis attended the University of Georgia prior to her professional career and graduated in 2002 with a bachelor's degree in sports business.

Following graduation, she spent two seasons as an operations administrative assistant with the Professional Golfer's Association (PGA), working at the 83rd PGA Championship in Atlanta and the 84th PGA Championship in Minneapolis.

Davis returned to Atlanta in 2004 to work in the office of community and player relations for the Atlanta Beat of the Women's United Soccer Association.

She moved on to the Arena Football League's Georgia Force, where she spent two and a half years as the organization's Director of Events and Game Operations, while assisting in the event marketing department of the Force's parent company, the Atlanta Falcons.

Davis, who graduated from Georgia State in 2005 with a master's degree in sport administration and a focus on event management, lives in Atlanta.
