ON THE PROWL

Georgia State is red-hot entering today's match with an 10-match winning streak. The Panthers, with three wins this weekend, could set a record for consecutive wins under third-year head coach Chase Hodges. An 11-match winning streak would best GSU's previous best of 10 straight wins set last season and this year. Georgia State's all-time record for consecutive wins is 14.

NOSTRA-THOMAS?

Want to figure out if Georgia State will win today? Try watching GSU sophomore Thomas Cook in his singles match. The Lilburn, Ga., native has an uncanny ability to set the tone for Georgia State victories. Since he first became a regular last season in the Panthers' lineup, Cook has 27 victories in singles play. In those 27 matches where Cook triumphs in his singles match, GSU owns a 26-1 record as a team.

A LOOK AT THE RATTLERS

Florida A&M of the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference swings through Atlanta for tonight's match after playing two matches on St. Patrick's Day in Durham, N.C. The Rattlers took on North Carolina Central and Maryland Eastern Shore in those matches.

ALL SYSTEMS GO

Every single member of the Georgia State men's tennis team owns a winning streak heading into today's match. The longest of which belongs to freshman Matias Hatem, whose incredible rookie campaign has led him to a 13-1 record and 11 straight victories. Cook has won nine consecutive matches and junior Victor Valente has won seven straight matches.
