TEAM USA VISIT

On Aug. 18, 2014, the United States Military Academy hosted USA Basketball's Men's National Team as it prepared for the 2014 International Basketball Federation (FIBA) World Cup.

In its tour of the Academy, the team visited the West Point Cemetery, witnessed demonstrations at the Combat Water Survival Swim Lab in Arvin Gymnasium and ate lunch with cadets at Washington Hall. The tour continued with a walk to Trophy Point, where the team posed for photos.

The day ended with a two-hour practice at Christl Arena, where members of Team USA participated in shooting contests with members of Army's men's and women's basketball teams.

TEAM USA VISIT

MIKE KRZYZEWSKI

"You walk around this place and you just feel good about being an American. You feel a little bit more proud of being a USA Basketball player or coach. I love West Point. It is the foundation of who I am."

- DUKE MEN'S BASKETBALL COACH, 1969 WEST POINT GRADUATE
MIKE KRZYZEWSKI

JAY BILAS

"Every time I come back, my appreciation for the Corps of Cadets and what West Point is all about grows. When I come here, I leave with an amazing feeling about the place that people just couldn't describe."

- ESPN ANALYST JAY BILAS

STEPHEN CURRY

"To see what the cadets' day-to-day life is like and to see where most of that service starts is pretty amazing. They treated us well the whole day and gave us a huge applause in the Mess Hall. This is a day I'll remember for a long time."

- GOLDEN STATE WARRIORS GUARD STEPHEN CURRY

"Having a chance to talk to the cadets and asking why they wanted to be here was a great experience. You watch all the organization and see the guidelines that everyone lives and operates by and how they work together is a really cool thing to see."

The 2014-15 campaign will mark the 25th season that the Donald W. Hollender Center has served as home to the Army women's basketball team. The Black Knights officially moved into Army's premier winter sports showcase for the 1990-91 season. That move coincided with Army's return to the Division I level of competition in joining the newly formed Patriot League.

The women's team left behind some fond memories at Central Gymnasium, its home since first hitting the hardwood in 1976-77, in favor of the modern and luxurious facility located across the street from Michie Stadium.

The Hollender Center has been the men's home court since the winter of 1985 when they said goodbye to the USMA Field House – a home they had known for many decades.

In the beginning, the women joined the men for doubleheaders at Christl Arena, while hosting the Empire State Tournament their last four years as a Division II school (1987-90). Army won the ESC Tournament title and the automatic NCAA Division II Regional bid in 1988, while finishing runner-up its final year (1990).

The Hollender Center houses not only the Edward C. Christl Jr. Arena that seats 5,043 for basketball, but the Joseph S. and Frederick H.S. Tate Rink that seats 2,648 for ice hockey as well. The building, dedicated Oct. 1, 1988, was named for Maj. Donald W. Hollender (USMA '56), who was killed in action in Vietnam in 1967. While at West Point, Hollender excelled in basketball and football. He earned All-America honors in the latter, and has been enshrined in the College Football Foundation Hall of Fame. Hollender was inducted into the Army Sports Hall of Fame in 2006.

The basketball arena was named for 1st Lt. Edward C. Christl Jr. (USMA '44), who was killed in Austria in 1945. Elected captain of the basketball team his senior year, Christl led the Cadets to a perfect 15-0 record.

The building is constructed of concrete and steel-framed masonry complete with spectator and support facilities. It contains two concession areas, an Army Athletic Association gift shop, ticket office, sports medicine room, storage areas and offices for coaching and administrative personnel for both basketball and hockey programs.

Christl Arena possesses a Horner hardwood basketball floor, which has been refurbished several times over the past decade. The floor measures 149 x 116 feet. Showers and locker facilities for Army's men's and women's squads, plus three visiting team locker rooms are located close by. The arena also contains six portable basketball supports and fixed chair and bench seating for spectators.

During the 1999-2000 season, the Academy enhanced patrons' game-viewing pleasure by replacing the four-sided overhead scoreboard at midcourt with two wall-mounted units. The scoreboards, located on the north and south walls of Christl Arena, feature state-of-the-art signage and digital displays, along with accompanying boards that show player point and foul totals.

During the summer of 2012, Christl Arena underwent a facelift, including a redesigned court and updated concourse, which features new signs and pictures of the Black Knights throughout the years.

Christl Arena has been host to other sporting events such as international volleyball and gymnastics meets, exhibition basketball contests and wrestling matches. It has also been the site of various intercollegiate and high school championship tournaments, including the NCAA Men's and Women's Collegiate Rifle Championships in 2009. Christl Arena also hosted the 2005 NCAA Men's Gymnastics Championship and did so again in April 2010.

Christl Arena hosted quarterfinal and semifinal rounds of the Patriot League men's and women's tournament in 1994-95 and again in 1998-99. Christl served as the backdrop for the 2006 and 2014 Patriot League Women's Tournaments. After earning the No. 1 seed in the postseason tournament in 2006 and the No. 2 seed in 2014, the Black Knights hosted the quarterfinal and semifinal rounds as well as the championship game. Christl also served as the site for the opening two rounds of the women's tournament in 2007-08.

The Army women have authored a 217-127 (.631) mark during their 24-year stay at Christl Arena.

The 2014-15 women's basketball media guide was prepared to assist the media in its coverage of the Black Knights. Requests for additional information should be directed to Harrison Antognioni, Assistant Director of Athletic Communications, U.S. Military Academy, 639 Howard Road, West Point, NY 10996.

Media Credentials: All media credentials for 2014-15 Army women's basketball home games at Christl Arena must be made in advance to Harrison Antognioni of athletic communications. Credentials will be held for pick-up at the ticket office "Will Call" window located in the main lobby of the Holleder Center.

Photographers: All photographers attending Army basketball home games must have their credentials clearly displayed. Requests for credentials should be made in advance and directed to Harrison Antognioni. Limited space is available along each baseline and positions will be made available on a priority basis.

Press Row: Press row is located courtside on the west side of the basketball floor of Christl Arena. The official scorer, timekeeper, public address announcer and both teams are located opposite press row. Press Row Phone: (845) 938-4441.

Telephones: For filing convenience, several telephones are located along press row in Christl Arena. All calls should be made collect, with a credit card or to an "800" number. West Point telephone lines require a "99" prefix for all calls off post. Those desiring their own private line should contact Verizon at (845) 890-2850 for installation procedures.

In-Game Services: Pregame notes, cumulative statistics, media guides and game programs will be made available prior to the start of each game in the Media Room, located just outside the Christl Arena main doors. Computer generated team and individual statistics, box scores and play-by-play, will be passed out to the media at halftime and again at the conclusion of the game. A facsimile machine is available should media wish to transmit box scores or stories via that method. Additionally, data terminals are placed along press row, delivering official courtside statistics throughout the game. Please contact the athletic communications office at least 24 hours in advance to reserve a press row location near one of the terminals.

Radio Information: The U.S. Military Academy will provide one (1) telephone line for one visiting radio station, with commercial groups granted preference over student stations, unless otherwise indicated by the visiting team's athletic communications contact. The line may be reserved through Harrison Antognioni. There is a rental fee of $75 for all visiting radio stations of non-Patriot League member schools, and all calls should be charged to the outlet or billed to a credit card. Checks must be payable to: Army Athletic Association and received on the day of the game. For additional information on reserving phone lines, contact Harrison Antognioni at (845) 938-6996 or contact Verizon at (845) 890-2850 to reserve a line. Be sure to inform Verizon offices that the line will be placed along press row in Christl Arena, and then notify the athletic communications office that reservations have been made.

Post Game Interviews: Army head coach Dave Magarity will be available to the media following a 10-minute "cooling off" period. Anyone wishing to speak with a specific player should notify Harrison Antognioni before the players enter the locker room. Those players will also be made available. Interview policies and procedures for Army's opponents will be determined by visiting sports information directors.

In-Season Interviews: All player and coach interviews must be scheduled through Army's Office of Athletic Communications by contacting Harrison Antognioni. Please call at least 24 hours in advance for "in-person" and phone interviews. Army practice sessions are closed to members of the media, unless accompanied by a member of the athletic communications staff. Please contact Army's Office of Athletic Communications in advance to determine the status of practice and to gain clearance into the workout. Practice will generally run from 3:30-6 p.m. during the week.

On The Web: Members of the media can access Army game notes, box scores, cumulative statistics, player bios and recaps of previous games at the Army Athletic Association's official website www.goARMYsports.com, maintained by CBS Sports.

The Patriot League, which Army is a member of in several sports, publishes a weekly report including standings, Players and Rookies of the Week, team notes and updated statistics will be placed on the league's web site: www.patriotleague.com.

2013-14 SUCCESS

Army completed arguably the best season in team history in 2013-14, winning a Division I program-record 25 games and advancing to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2006. Individually, Kelsey Minato had a season for the record books, setting a number of program single-season marks to include scoring average (22.0 points per game), total points (725), three-pointers (82), free-throw percentage (.924) and free throws (207). She also became the quickest player in Army women's basketball history to reach the 1,000-point plateau, doing so in 59 career games.

Following the regular season, Minato was named Patriot League Player of the Year for the second consecutive season, becoming the second Army player to win back-to-back Player of the Year honors after Lisa Russell (USMA '95) did it in 1993 and 1994. Also earning individual postseason accolades were Jen Hazlett and Dani Failor, who were selected to the All-League second team and All-Rookie Team, respectively.

The Black Knights finished 25-8 overall and 14-4 in the Patriot League, tying for second at the end of the regular season before defeating Holy Cross in the conference championship game and earning the league's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament.

MOVING ON

Army will move on from one of the more versatile players in recent years in Jen Hazlett. Hazlett was Army's second-leading scorer with 13.7 points per game while averaging a team-best 7.5 rebounds per game a season ago. Hazlett's scoring and rebounding averages as a senior were both career highs. A two-time All-Patriot League second team selection, Hazlett was recognized on the All-Patriot League Tournament Team after averaging 12.3 points and 8.7 rebounds in the three tournament games. She also recorded double-doubles in the league quarterfinals and semifinals, with 11 points and 11 boards against Boston University and 19 points and 10 rebounds against American.

MOVING FORWARD

Army returns four of its five starters from 2013-14, including Minato, senior Olivia Schretzman and juniors Brianna Johnson and Aimee Oertner. The Black Knights also welcome back key bench players in junior Jean Parker and sophomore Dani Failor, along with a group of additional role players capable of producing.

Johnson and Schretzman started all 33 games for the Black Knights in 2013-14, with Schretzman averaging 6.2 points and 5.6 rebounds per contest and Johnson putting up 5.2 points per game to go along with 3.8 rebounds per game. Oertner appeared in the starting lineup 30 times, posting averages of 5.8 points and 4.1 rebounds.

Magarity knows replacing Hazlett's versatility will be a challenge, but hopes multiple players will be able to step in and produce on a consistent basis.

"I don't think we have one player that's going to step in and replace Jen," Magarity said. "I'm hoping we have a variety of players that can contribute, whether it is more production from our post players or having some of our guards step up."

Among those other players that will be asked to step up are Failor and Parker.

Parker made 31 appearances last season, leading all bench players with 4.8 points per game to include an average of 8.4 points over the final seven contests of the year. Failor was the most productive freshman in 2013-14, averaging 4.3 points and 3.9 boards in 33 games, while also drawing three starts.

NEWCOMERS FOR 2014-15

Magarity and his staff welcomed eight players to the program this summer, including post players Jahla Osborne and Lena' Hicks. Osborne registered 384 points and 263 rebounds as a senior at Colonial Forge High School in Stafford, Va., while Hicks played four years of high school basketball at Elkton High School in Elkton, Md., before suiting up for a season at USMAPS. Both players will be looked upon to add depth to Army's front line this season.

"Jahla Osborne has been impressive, and we have some players out of our prep school in Lena' Hicks and Janae McNeal, who I feel can make contributions," Magarity added.

McNeal, who competed at USMAPS last season, scored over 2,000 points in her high school career at Courtland High School, while leading the team to the Virginia State Championship game during her junior and senior campaigns.

Among the other additions to the team are direct commits Nicole Heavirland, Margaret Anne Hubbell, Daizjah and Destinee Morris, and USMAPS product Aliyah Murray.

DAVE MAGARITY HEAD COACH NINTH SEASON AT ARMY

Records:

459-431 Overall (31 Seasons)

146-97 at Army (Eight Seasons)

A Hudson Valley coaching veteran chosen to lead an up-and-coming program at one of the nation's most prestigious institutions. That's the storyline that unfolded in April 2006 when the leadership at the United States Military Academy announced Dave Magarity as Army's eighth women's basketball head coach in program history.

Magarity was chosen to take the reins following what had been a "Cinderella" storybook season in 2005-06 for the Black Knights until their head coach, Maggie Dixon, died suddenly that spring.

Magarity spent the 2005-06 season on the bench with Dixon, serving as associate head coach and playing an integral role in the Black Knights' magical campaign during which the team won its first-ever Patriot League Tournament title, accompanied by an NCAA Tournament berth.

Magarity has since been writing his own story in the West Point history books, one that has maintained a rich winning tradition as one of the Academy's most celebrated women's sports.

Leading Army to its second NCAA Tournament appearance and arguably its best season in 2013-14, Magarity became the program's all-time wins leader, showing a 146-97 record through eight seasons at the Academy. Magarity surpassed Lynn Chiavaro (132 wins) to become Army's wins leader after his team defeated Holy Cross on Jan. 15, 2014. The 32-year coaching veteran reached the 400 career win threshold in 2011-12 and shows a 459-431 record.

Magarity guided Army to a 25-8 finish in 2013-14, setting the program's Division I record for victories in a season. The 25 wins equaled the team's all-time wins mark that Army established as a Division II program in 1983-84.

After finishing tied for second in the regular season, the Black Knights claimed their second Patriot League Tournament championship, thanks to a seven-game winning streak that was capped by a 68-58 win over Holy Cross in the conference title game. Army advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the second time as a Division I program, and for the fourth time overall.

By leading Army to the NCAAs, Magarity became just the second coach to take both a men's and women's program to the NCAA Tournament, after he guided the Marist men's team to the dance in 1987. He joins William "Speedy" Morris, who reached the NCAA Tournament with the men's and women's basketball teams at La Salle.

Sophomore Kelsey Minato joined Lisa Russell (USMA '95) as the only Army player to earn back-to-back Patriot League Player of the Year nods following her record-setting season. Minato established Army single-season records in points (725), free throws (207) and three-pointers (82), while also topping Academy single-season marks in points per game (22.0) and free throw percentage (92.4). Joining Minato as All-Patriot League performers were senior Jen Hazlett (second team) and freshman Dani Failor (All-Rookie Team).

Faced with an unthinkable challenge after the loss of Dixon, the Black Knights honored their late coach and ushered in the Magarity era with a stellar 24-6 record. Army posted an 11-3 mark in conference play, further cementing the fact that the Academy made the right decision in Magarity's hiring and that the program was in more than capable hands.

Seasons of 18-12 and 19-12 marks followed in 2007-08 and 2008-09, respectively, as Magarity continued to challenge his players with two of the most rigorous nonconference schedules in program history. Army faced top-25 teams in Connecticut, Rutgers and Ohio State over the span of two years in order to best prepare the team for Patriot League play in January.

A young Black Knight squad without a single senior on the roster posted an 11-18 mark in 2009-10. However, Magarity's club still managed to finish in a tie for fourth place and capture the fourth seed in the Patriot League Tournament.

The Black Knights' senior-dominated unit went 13-16 in 2010-11, bowing out to Bucknell in the Patriot League Tournament after tying the Bison for fourth place in the regular-season standings.

After graduating the team's top two scorers and four starters from the 2010-11 team, Magarity and his staff worked hard to exceed all expectations in 2011-12. Three months after being selected seventh in the Patriot League preseason poll, the Black Knights finished the regular season tied for third, clinching home-court advantage for the conference tournament. Army was narrowly edged out by Holy Cross in the quarterfinals to end the season 14-16.

The 2012-13 campaign was one of the most successful in program history. Magarity became the first head coach in Army's Division I history to record multiple 20-win seasons as he led a young Black Knight squad to a 22-9 record, just their second Patriot League regular-season title in program history and the program's first WNIT bid.

Army became the first team in conference history to sweep all major awards, with Magarity claiming the league's Coach of the Year. In addition to his coaching honor, freshman Kelsey Minato became the first in league history to be voted both the Player and Rookie of the Year, while senior Anna Simmers was tabbed Defensive Player of the Year. Minato was the first Rookie of the Year and second Player of the Year to be mentored by Magarity, while Simmers was the second Defensive Player of the Year.

Minato and Simmers were honored with All-Patriot League first-team selections, while Minato and classmate Aimee Oertner were unanimous picks to the All-Rookie Team. Army had multiple first-team selections for the first time in program history, while the two newcomer nods were also a program first.

Magarity is one of just four active Division I women's basketball coaches to make the transition from the men's side to coaching women. The short list also includes Paul Westhead (Oregon), Alan LeForce (Coastal Carolina) and Dennis Wolfe (Virginia Tech).

Magarity has mentored five 1,000-point scorers at Army, including Jen Hazlett '14 and Kelsey Minato, who both reached the plateau in 2013-14. The other players to reach the 1,000-point mark under Magarity's watch, Cara Enright '08, Alex McGuire '09 and Erin Anthony '11, make up one of the most celebrated trios in Army history, as they represent the program's second, third and fourth-leading scorers, respectively. Magarity's marquee recruit from day-one, Anthony wrapped up a decorated career ranked second on Army's career rebounding list. A two-time CoSIDA/Capital One Academic All-America selection, Anthony was a four-year all-league performer and three-time Patriot League Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

Along with Anthony, Enright and McGuire, Magarity groomed 2007-08 Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year Maragree King '08. His players have combined to win 15 All-Patriot League citations, seven All-Rookie Team honors and three Player of the Year (Enright, Minato) awards.

One of the most well-respected and recognizable faces in the basketball community, the honors and awards for Magarity are plentiful. In addition to 2013's Patriot League honor, he was presented with the Anaconda Lifetime Achievement Award at the 2008 Men's Basketball Final Four in San Antonio, Texas. In his first season at Army, the N.Y.-Metropolitan Basketball Writer's Association named Magarity its Coach of the Year. Following the landmark 2005-06 campaign, the Army team was bestowed with the Jimmy V Foundation Comeback Award, AT&T National Sportsmanship Award and Patriot League Sportsmanship Award, further rooting Magarity's influence on the program.

Magarity added to his coaching accolades when he was named the Basketball Coaches Association of New York Division I Women's Basketball Coach of the Year following the 2013-14 campaign. A mainstay on the banks of the Hudson with 30-plus years of head coaching experience, Magarity's respect for West Point runs deep.

"I have had many opportunities to bring men's teams that I coached to West Point, and I have always held a strong feeling for the Academy as an outsider," Magarity said upon taking his current position. "To be given this opportunity is one of the most special gifts that I could receive as a coach. The commitment and dedication to excellence here is outstanding. I am honored to be a part of this great tradition."

Magarity arrived at West Point in October of 2005 following a brief stint as the Assistant Commissioner/Director of Men's Basketball Operations for the Mid-American Conference (MAC). Magarity was responsible for basketball scheduling, working closely with the MAC coordinator of officials and served as a liaison between the league office and the 12-member institutions. Prior to joining the MAC, he held a similar position with the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference (MAAC) based in Edison, N.J.

"It was a tremendous honor and thrill for me to be named the head coach at West Point," Magarity said. "Maggie Dixon and I, and the staff, started something very special. It's an honor for me to embrace the opportunity, continue what we started and expand on that success for years to come."

"The decision I made to stay here was probably one of the smartest decisions I have made in my life, professionally," he continued. "To be at West Point with the support of the athletic administration and surrounded by some of the finest young cadet-athletes in the country, is an opportunity I am excited and absolutely thrilled about as we move forward."

2014 PATRIOT LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

In 23 years as a men's head coach, including 18 just 31 miles north of West Point at nearby Marist College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Magarity tallied an overall record of 313-334 (.484), with 253 of those victories coming with the Red Foxes.

During his coaching tenures at Marist and St. Francis University (Pa.), Magarity was honored as Coach of the Year in four different leagues. He was first named Coach of the Year at St. Francis in 1981, earning NABC Division I District III accolades, before garnering recognition at Marist during the 1986-87 season when he won ECAC Metro honors.

He was honored again following the 1994-95 campaign, being dubbed the Northeast Conference Coach of the Year, and the following season was recognized by the NABC for the second time in his career. He would again earn NABC Coach of the Year honors following the 2000-01 and 2001-02 seasons. Magarity was selected the MAAC Coach of the Year in 2001-02 by the league's coaches. He won CollegeInsider.com's top coaching honor three times (2000, 2001, 2002) and the Sport Magazine New York Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association Award once in 1988.

Under his direction from 1986 to 2004, the Red Foxes saw unparalleled success as he led his teams to an NCAA Tournament appearance in 1987 and to the National Invitational Tournament in 1996. Of the 18 Marist teams he coached, 15 of them reached double digits in wins and two eclipsed the 20-win plateau, including a 22-win performance during the 1995-96 season. His squads played in two conference tournament championship games and won the ECAC Metro Conference regular-season title in 1987-88.

His coaching career began at St. Francis in 1973 as a graduate assistant and then as an assistant coach until taking over the reins of the program in 1978, becoming the youngest Division I head coach in the nation at the time (27). In his third campaign, Magarity led the Red Flashes to a 17-10 mark, the most wins in a season for St. Francis in a dozen years, and earned District III Coach of the Year honors as a result.

Magarity began his Empire State coaching career as an assistant at Iona College under then-head coach Pat Kennedy. While a member of the Gaels coaching staff, Magarity helped Iona to a pair of 20-win seasons and two NCAA Tournament appearances (1984, 1985). After three successful years at Iona, Magarity headed up the Hudson River to take over the program at Marist.

In his first season at the helm of the Red Foxes in 1986-87, Magarity made a name for himself, leading that group to the institution's first-ever 20-win season (20-10) and the team's second consecutive berth in the NCAA Tournament. Magarity's squad ranked 11th in the country in field goal percentage defense (.425) and scoring defense (62.9). The Red Foxes won 14 of their last 15 games that season as Magarity took home ECAC Metro Coach of the Year honors.

In his second campaign, Magarity and the Red Foxes continued to impress as they finished 18-9 overall and earned a share of the ECAC Metro Conference regular-season crown with a 13-3 conference mark. Marist continued to show that defense was a key to Magarity's coaching philosophy, ranking second in the nation in field goal percentage defense holding opponents to 40.1 percent shooting from the floor. Marist also showed that it could score, connecting on 45 percent of its three-point attempts to rank 13th nationally. The Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association honored Magarity by presenting him the second annual Mike Cohen "Good Guy" Award. That June, Magarity saw Marist gain national prominence when Rik Smits was the second pick overall of the 1988 NBA Draft by the Indiana Pacers. Smits played 13 seasons in the NBA and was selected to the East squad for the NBA All-Star Game in 1998. He retired in 2000 ranked second in the Pacers' franchise history in points (11,125), rebounds (4,601) and blocked shots (959).

Magarity led Marist to only its second 20-win season in 1995-96, compiling a school-record 22 wins, and posted a school-record .759 winning percentage (22-7). The Red Foxes earned the program's first bid to the NIT, and Magarity was recognized as the NABC District II Coach of the Year. Four players from that squad were named All-Northeast Conference.

The Red Foxes and Magarity won a share of the MAAC regular-season title in 2001-02, the first since joining the league prior to the start of the 1997-98 campaign. Marist went 13-5 in MAAC action on its way to an overall 19-9 record.

During his 18 seasons at Marist, Magarity coached a total of 11 Red Foxes who eclipsed the 1,000-point mark for their careers. But his tenure was marked by more than just playing success. Magarity coached two Academic All-Americans and graduated better than 95 percent of his players who completed their NCAA eligibility.

Magarity left the coaching ranks following the 2003-04 season to serve as director of athletic development at Marist from April through September 2004 before accepting his position at the MAAC, where he stayed until moving over to the Mid-American Conference in June 2005.

A 1974 graduate of St. Francis in Loretto, Pa., Magarity earned a bachelor's degree in business management and marketing.

Magarity, who hails from Philadelphia, Pa., and his wife, Rita, have three children: Maureen, Katie and David, Jr., and two granddaughters, Charlotte and Taylor. All three Magarity children are Marist graduates, while Maureen served as her father's assistant and eventually associate head coach at Army before departing to take the head women's basketball coaching position at the University of New Hampshire in May 2010.

she guided three of the program's top guards - Erica Prosser, Tricia Smith and Alex Ross - to All-Patriot League selections. All three players went on to garner major Patriot League honors and help Lehigh to back-to-back conference titles.

In addition to her coaching duties at Lehigh, she also oversaw compliance, marketing, team travel, equipment, academics, alumni relations, community outreach, facilities and game management.

Mullen spent 2005-07 as the top assistant at Southern New Hampshire after serving as the director of basketball operations at Northern Illinois in 2004-05.

As a player, Mullen spent two seasons at Rhode Island, leading her team in assists each year before transferring to New Hampshire. A two-year captain, she was one of the top feeders in Wildcat history and finished her two-year career with 218 assists, the 14th-highest mark in school history. Mullen was named to the America East Academic Honor Roll in each of her two seasons.

Mullen received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from New Hampshire in 2003. She earned her a Master of Business Administration degree from Southern New Hampshire in 2006.

COLLEEN MULLEN

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH

FOURTH SEASON AT ARMY

Colleen Mullen joined Army's staff as an assistant coach in July 2011 and was promoted to associate head coach a year later. Mullen made her way to West Point after two years at Long Island University where she was the top assistant and recruiting coordinator. She also spent a season as an assistant coach at Patriot League foe Lehigh. Along with assisting all aspects of the program, Mullen is also Army's recruiting coordinator.

"I am excited to have Colleen join our coaching staff here at the Academy," head coach Dave Magarity said upon her hiring. "She brings a wealth of experience and an infectious energy as a recruiter. She has a strong background as a teacher of the game, and her ability to work with our young backcourt will be critical for our future success as a team."

A proven point guard as a collegiate player for both Rhode Island and New Hampshire, Mullen has continued to cultivate her expertise at the guard position since entering the coaching ranks.

In 2013-14, Mullen helped develop an Army backcourt that led the Black Knights to a team-record 25 wins and their second NCAA Tournament appearance as a Division I program.

Under Mullen's watch, sophomore point guard Kelsey Minato turned in arguably the best single-season performance in team history. Minato set Army single-season records in points (725), free throws (207) and three-pointers (82), while also topping the Academy's single-season list in points per game (22.0) and free throw percentage (92.4).

The Black Knights drained a program-record 212 three-pointers in 2013-14, while Minato and senior guard Jen Hazlett (73) finished the year first and second on Army's single-season three-point shooting list, respectively.

Minato claimed her second straight Patriot League Player of the Year honor in 2013-14, while Hazlett was recognized on the all-league second team.

Army's backcourt shined in 2012-13, as Minato became the first in Patriot League history to be voted Player and Rookie of the Year, while the Black Knights had two first-team All-Patriot League selections for the first time in program history, with both honorees being guards (Minato, Anna Simmers).

The Black Knights' high-scoring perimeter unit helped Army average its highest scoring output since 2007-08 thanks in large part to the second-most accurate three-point shooting contingent in the Patriot League. The Black Knights' success rate beyond the arc was their highest since 2008-09, while their 158 triples were the most Army had made since 2004-05.

The Black Knight ball handlers were the most precise in the conference during Mullen's first season as associate head coach, as Army led the Patriot League in least turnovers per game and ranked as high as ninth in the nation in the category.

During her seven-year coaching tenure prior to Army, Mullen has churned out a plethora of decorated guards and secured top-rated recruiting classes. In her two seasons at Long Island, she helped lead the Blackbirds to an appearance in the Northeast Conference finals and helped record the second-highest win total in program history with a 22-10 mark in 2009-10. She mentored two-time first team All-NEC player Ashley Palmer, while point guard Kiara Evans ranked eighth nationally in assists per game (6.4) under Mullen's watch.

Her duties at Long Island also included managing the program's budget, overseeing the assistant coaching staff, coordinating all on and off campus recruitment and serving as the academic coordinator. The Blackbirds successfully improved their overall team grade-point average from a 2.84 in 2010 to a 3.19 in 2011. A proven recruiter, her first recruiting class was ranked 88th nationally by All-Star Girls Basketball Report. Mullen was also responsible for signing first team All-America junior college player Ebony Davis out of St. Louis, Mo.

Prior to her tenure at Long Island, Mullen spent 2007-08 at Lehigh where she oversaw player development with an emphasis on the backcourt. During her short stint at Lehigh,

EMILY GARNER ASSISTANT COACH THIRD SEASON AT ARMY

Army head coach Dave Magarity announced the addition of Emily Garner as an assistant coach to the women's basketball staff on June 21, 2012. Garner spent the previous two seasons with the Long Island University women's basketball program following a four-year playing career at Army's Patriot League foe Lafayette.

"Emily was a freshman during my first year at West Point," said Magarity at the time of her appointment. "I remember her being one of the best rookies in the league and went on to have a really solid career. She was a terrific player and really hard worker, qualities which have carried through to her coaching career."

"Everyone I spoke to, from her high school coach in Virginia, to the Athletic Director at Lafayette, to her fellow staff members at LIU, was tremendously complimentary of her abilities and attitude," continued Magarity. "As a player and a coach, she's always exhibited a lot of class. She's a great addition to the Army women's basketball family."

In her second season mentoring the Army post players in 2013-14, Garner helped the Black Knights win their second Patriot League championship and second NCAA Tournament berth as a Division I program. The Black Knights totaled 38.0 rebounds per game, while Army's 5.2 rebounding margin was tops in the Patriot League. Freshman forward Dani Failor was named to the conference's All-Rookie Team after averaging 4.3 points and 3.9 rebounds while appearing in all 33 games.

In her first season behind the Army bench, Garner guided forward Aimee Oertner to a unanimous All-Rookie Team selection after the standout post player notched 81 rebounds during her freshman campaign.

Prior to coming to West Point, Garner spent the previous two seasons with the Blackbirds, serving as an assistant coach (2010-11) and director of basketball operations (2011-12). During that time, LIU averaged 20 wins per season while earning consecutive berths to the Northeast Conference Championship.

For Army, the Virginia native's responsibilities include monitoring the team's academic progress while also serving as the point of contact for marketing initiatives and community outreach and relations projects. Her recruiting efforts will focus on her home region of the Mid-Atlantic and Southeast.

Garner began her coaching career at her alma mater, Robinson Secondary High School in Fairfax, Va. She was an assistant coach for the Rams, while serving the same role for the Potomac Valley Tarheels AAU squad.

Garner was a four-year member of the Lafayette women's basketball team, playing in 108 career games. She led the Leopards in rebounding for two seasons while also garnering a pair Patriot League Academic Honor Roll citations.

Garner, who graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English with a minor in economics and business in 2009, remains on Lafayette's all-time top-10 lists for career rebounds, free-throws made and free-throws attempted, as well as single-season marks for rebounds and free-throw attempts.

As a shooting guard at Molloy, McLaughlin led the Lions to a pair of NCAA Tournament bids, including the program's first in 2008 after claiming the East Coast Conference title. As a graduate student in 2010, McLaughlin led Molloy to a team-record 22 wins, another ECC crown and its second trip to the NAAs.

McLaughlin comes from a family with military history as both grandfathers served in World War II. McLaughlin's maternal grandfather served in the Army while her paternal grandfather was in the Navy and worked on the U.S.S. Terry destroyer in the Pacific.

JENNA MCLAUGHLIN

ASSISTANT COACH

SECOND SEASON AT ARMY

Army head coach Dave Magarity announced the hiring of assistant coach Jenna McLaughlin on Aug. 21, 2013. McLaughlin arrived at West Point after serving as an assistant coach at NYU. McLaughlin's primary roles include assisting in player development, recruiting, scheduling and team operations, while also coaching the guards and wing players.

"Jenna is a great addition to the staff," said Magarity. "I've known her for a number of years after having the chance to see her at NYU and Sacred Heart and have always been very impressed with her. She comes highly recommended. Jenna brings a lot of energy to the staff and has a great understanding of this business at all levels. We're excited to have her."

McLaughlin excelled in her first season at Army, mentoring a solid backcourt that led the team to its second Patriot League Tournament championship in 2013-14.

McLaughlin played important roles in the development of sophomore guards Kelsey Minato and Jean Parker, as well as in the fine-tuning of senior guard Jen Hazlett. Minato achieved a plethora of Academy single-season records including points (725), free throws (207), three-pointers (82), scoring average (22.0) and free throw percentage (92.4).

Additionally, Hazlett's 73 three-pointers are the second most in team history, while Parker's shooting improved over the course of the season, as she finished with 35 three-pointers. As a team, Army's 212 three-pointers on the year also topped the program's all-time list.

McLaughlin, who played collegiately at Molloy College, spent the 2012-13 season on the NYU sidelines. The Violets' season was highlighted by an upset victory over 13th-ranked Washington as well as a standout freshman campaign by Megan Dawe, who was voted UAA Rookie of the Year and ECAC Division III Metro Rookie of the Year.

McLaughlin, who graduated from Molloy in 2009 with a bachelor's degree in history before remaining in Long Island to pursue a graduate degree, took her first coaching assignment out of college at Sacred Heart University. The Carle Place, N.Y., native spent two seasons with the Pioneers, who went 43-20 during her stint to include an NCAA Championship bid in 2012. While at SHU, McLaughlin completed a master's degree in teaching.

LISA STRACK

ASSISTANT COACH

FIRST SEASON AT ARMY

Army head coach Dave Magarity announced the addition of Lisa Strack as an assistant coach to the women's basketball staff on July 1, 2014. Before coming to West Point, Strack spent two seasons as the video coordinator for the Virginia Tech women's basketball program after a four-year playing career at American University.

"I am fortunate and excited to have Lisa join our staff," Magarity said. "I have known her for quite a while and have always admired her toughness and work ethic as a player. She comes to West Point with solid experience and she will have a positive impact on our young team."

Strack spent the 2012-13 and 2013-14 seasons at Virginia Tech, where she worked as the video coordinator with the women's basketball team. During her time in Blacksburg, Va., Strack was responsible for breaking down film and assisting in recruiting visits.

No stranger to the Patriot League, Strack was a four-year standout guard at American University prior to taking the position at Virginia Tech.

A 1,000-point scorer and two-time All-Patriot League selection at American, Strack led the Eagles in scoring and rebounding during her senior year and earned Patriot League Player of the Year honors. As a senior, she was named American's Female Student-Athlete of the Year, while serving as a team captain and starting in all 31 games.

Strack capped her playing career by leading American to a program-record-tying 23 victories, a 14-0 mark in the Patriot League and the school's third WNIT appearance in four seasons.

Strack graduated as just the ninth American women's basketball player to record 1,000 points and 500 rebounds in her career, finishing with 1,059 points and 500 rebounds. She was also the Patriot League's steals leader in 2011-12, registering 2.6 steals per game, and ranked in the top 10 in the conference in scoring and assists, with averages of 11.5 points per game and 2.8 assists per game.

Additionally, Strack was recognized on the 2010 Patriot League All-Tournament Team and garnered All-Rookie Team honors in 2009.

A native of Langhorne, Pa., Strack graduated from American in 2012 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration.

KRISHAWN TILLETT Student Assistant Coach

A member of West Point's Class of 2015, Krishawn Tillett played three seasons as a guard on the Army women's basketball team. She spent parts of those three seasons sidelined due to knee injuries. Head coach Dave Magarity welcomed Tillett as a student assistant coach in her final year at the Academy.

As a player, Tillett appeared in 29 games while starting once. She averaged 8.2 minutes and 2.2 points per game during her three seasons.

In the 2013-14 season, Tillett played a crucial role off the bench for the Black Knights, including a career-high 10-point effort against Bucknell on Feb. 15. Tillett came up big again in Army's 68-58 Patriot League Championship victory over Holy Cross on March 15, when she scored seven points to help the Black Knights advance to their second NCAA Tournament berth as a Division I program.

Why I Chose West Point

I couldn't pass up such an amazing opportunity. The school has so much to offer in terms of leadership training, academic opportunities, and a great future. I also wanted to go to a school where I could play basketball.

2013-14 SEASON IN REVIEW

- The 2013-14 Army women's basketball team turned in arguably the best season in program history after finishing 25-8, including a 14-4 mark in the Patriot League. Army claimed its second Patriot League title to earn the conference's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament for the second time in the team's Division I history.
- The 25 victories marked Army's most as a Division I program, while tying the all-time team record that the team set as a Division II program in 1983-84.
- In his eighth season as head coach, Dave Magarity became the program's all-time wins leader, recording his 133rd victory at the Academy on Jan. 15, 2014. Magarity finished the season with 146 wins as Army's mentor.
- Sophomore Kelsey Minato was named Patriot League Player of the Year for the season season in a row, joining Lisa Russell (USMA '95) as the only Army player to earn recognition as the conference's top player in back-to-back seasons. Also garnering postseason conference awards were senior Jen Hazlett and freshman Danielle Failor, who landed on the all-conference second team and all-rookie team, respectively.
- Along with contributing to the team's wins record, Hazlett and Minato left their own marks in Army's record book. Both players reached the 1,000-point milestone for their careers, with Hazlett reaching the plateau at American on Jan. 25 and Minato eclipsing 1,000 career points on Feb. 26 at Boston University.
- The pair became the 16th and 17th 1,000-point scorers in Army women's basketball history, and were just the second duo to reach the milestone in the same season after Kim Hall (USMA '81) and Pat Walter (USMA '82) both hit the mark during the 1980-81 season.
- Minato became the quickest player to score 1,000 points, after achieving the plateau in 59 career games. The sophomore also set a number of Army single-season marks to include scoring average (22.0), free-throw percentage (92.5), total points (725), free throws (207) and three-pointers (82). She also established a total of 18 single-game scoring records and matched one other (3 NCAA, 8 Patriot League, 4 Army women's basketball, 4 Christl Arena) during a contest against Holy Cross on Feb. 12, 2014. Included in her records were a Patriot League standard of 49 points and an NCAA-record 26-of-26 performance from the free-throw stripe.
- Army split its season series with service-academy rival Navy, but earned a win in the Star game on Feb. 8, 2014 to extend its winning streak in the Star series to two games.
- Army, which entered the Patriot League Tournament as the No. 2 seed, began its title run with a narrow 49-45 win over Boston University in the conference quarterfinals on March 6 before the Black Knights topped third-seeded American, 68-55, on March 10. Army drew a match-up with fifth-seeded Holy Cross in the conference title game on March 15, marking the fifth time the schools have met in the league championship. Army prevailed for a 68-58 victory over Holy Cross and earned the Patriot League's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament.
- Army, which earned a No. 13 seed in the NCAAs, faced No. 4 Maryland in the tournament's first round on March 23 in College Park, Md., ultimately falling to a 90-52 defeat. Minato scored a game-high 27 points to establish an Army record for most points in an NCAA Tournament game.
- Following the season, Minato earned another honor, as she was selected to the All-Met first team to become the fifth Black Knight to earn multiple All-Met recognitions.

WEST POINT, N.Y. – Army women's basketball won its third straight on Wednesday night with a 66-52 victory over visiting Manhattan. Three Black Knights scored in double figures including sophomore guard Jean Parker, who totaled career highs in points, rebounds and assists, leading Army to its sixth consecutive regular-season win at Christl Arena.

Parker recorded 13 points, six rebounds and three assists in 26 minutes of action, all four figures being career bests. Senior Jen Hazlett snapped out of a two-game skid to score a team-high 18, while sophomore Kelsey Minato stretched her double-digit scoring streak to 20 games with a 14-point showing.

The Black Knights eclipsed the 40-rebound mark for the third time this season, winning the battle of the boards 46-30 as sophomore Olivia Schretzman led Army in caroms for the fourth time this year. Schretzman grabbed a game-high nine rebounds as her season average remained in double digits (10.3).

Army (3-1) led nearly wire-to-wire, with Manhattan (1-2) taking a 10-9 lead at 13:38, before Hazlett pushed the Black Knights back ahead 33 seconds later, where they would remain for the rest of the game. Minato made the Army advantage double digits with under a minute to play in the first by sinking one of her three three-pointers. The Black Knights led 34-23 at the break.

The Jaspers got no closer than nine the rest of the way, while Army's lead grew to as much as 24 with just under three minutes to play. The Black Knights nearly made it three straight games of an increased team shooting percentage, before missing their final four attempts from the floor. Army finished 27-of-65 for a 41.5-percent clip, its second-best field goal percentage of the season.

Along with her 18 points, Hazlett chipped in six rebounds and five assists. Minato added four dishes as well, while sophomore Aimee Oertner recorded her third-consecutive double-digit block performance with a pair of swats.

Army's four-game homestand wraps up Saturday when the Black Knights host Brown at 1 p.m. The Bears are 2-1 this season after defeating intra-state rival Bryant on Wednesday night, 66-61. Brown defeated Army last season in Providence, R.I., 48-45.

WEST POINT, N.Y. - Army's undefeated mark on its home court remained intact as the Black Knights dispatched Morgan State 73-48 in a women's basketball tilt at Christl Arena on Tuesday night. Four Army players scored in double figures, including a game-high 16 by sophomore Kelsey Minato and a career-best 13 by classmate Brianna Johnson.

Army (6-1) held Morgan State (1-4) without a point for nearly three minutes as the Black Knights opened the game on a 14-2 run. Army maintained a double-digit advantage from the 15:23 mark on, extending its lead to as many as 22 in the first. The Lady Bears got no closer than 11 after Army's initial surge, as MSU's heave at the halftime buzzer came up short and the Black Knights took a 34-21 lead into the break.

The second half started much like the first as Army broke out on a 12-0 burst over the first three minutes, a span in which the Lady Bears committed three turnovers and six fouls. MSU cracked the second-half scoring column after 3:25 of play. Army's eighth-year head coach Dave Magarity shuffled in 13 players, 10 of which scored on the night.

Freshman Danielle Failor led Army's bench-scoring effort with 10 points on 5-of-7 shooting, while junior tri-captain Olivia Schretzman snagged a game-high eight rebounds to go along with eight points. Schretzman's effort helped Army out-rebound MSU, 46-30.

The Black Knights' lead stretched to 27 in the second as Morgan State got no closer than 22 for the rest of the game.

Army limited the Lady Bears to season-low totals for points (48) and shooting percentage (.286). The totals were the lowest by an Army opponent since American tallied 46 points on Feb. 23, 2013, and Navy shot 28.3 percent on Feb. 16, 2013.

Up next for the Black Knights, Army will begin a three-game road stretch as nonconference play begins to wind down. The Black Knights will travel to Yale on Dec. 7. Army defeated the Bulldogs at Christl Arena last season, 53-47. Yale shows a 3-4 record and will host Bryant on Wednesday prior to its showdown with the Black Knights.

NEW HAVEN, CONN. - Army's nationally ranked stingy defense forced Yale into 20 turnovers, keeping the Bulldogs out of offensive rhythm as the Black Knights earned a 68-56 win in New Haven, Conn., on Saturday afternoon. Army women's basketball turned those turnovers into 24 points as the Black Knights earned their first win at Yale since 2002.

Sophomore Kelsey Minato scored a career-high 26 points to stretch her Patriot League-leading double-digit scoring streak to 24 games, eclipsing the 20-point mark for the third time this season. Minato shot 71.4 percent from the floor, leading Army which shot 61.7 percent, its highest clip since Jan. 3, 2008 (.684 vs. UMES).

After trading baskets for the first eight minutes, Army (7-1) went on a 21-2 run over an eight-minute span, forcing six Bulldog (4-5) turnovers during that period, to pull ahead 32-14 with 3:25 left in the half. Yale battled back in the final minutes of the stanza to cut the Black Knights' advantage to 34-19 at the break, with Minato boasting a game-high 14 points.

Army held Yale without a bucket for the first two minutes of the half before the two teams once again traded baskets, with the Bulldogs cutting the Black Knights' advantage to 13 points with 15 minutes to play. Sophomore Aimee Oertner helped to keep the Bulldogs at bay, however, scoring a season-high 14 points to go along with four blocks and five rebounds.

Army's lead grew to 25 with seven minutes to play and hovered around the 20-point mark until the game's final minute when the Bulldogs scored eight unanswered points to get within 12 points at the final buzzer, the closest margin since the six-minute mark of the first half.

Minato and Oertner were joined in double figures by senior Jen Hazlett, who totaled 10 points and added six rebounds. Yale's Janna Graf and Sarah Halejan totaled 13 points apiece.

The Black Knights dominated the paint, scoring 42 points inside the key to Yale's 14, while winning the battle of the boards 30-26.

Army's game at Yale marks the beginning of a three-game road swing as the Black Knights' nonconference schedule draws to a close. Following the game in New Haven, Army will travel to Philadelphia, Pa., to face Penn Wednesday night. The Quakers are 2-2 heading into the weekend. Penn will travel to Bucknell on Saturday prior to its tilt with the Black Knights.

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Senior Jen Hazlett scored a game-high 15 points. With all 15 coming in the second half, to lead the Army women's basketball team to a 64-63 win over American in Patriot League action on Saturday afternoon at Bender Arena. With the win, the Black Knights improve to 14-5 overall and 6-2 in the conference, while the Eagles, who entered the day in second place in the Patriot League, fall to 13-6 and 6-2.

Hazlett hit a three-pointer with 3:54 left in the game to become the 16th 1,000-point scorer in Army women's basketball history. The senior entered the game 11 points shy of the milestone, and now stands with 1,004 career points, ranking her 16th in program history.

Hazlett added a game-high eight rebounds to her 15-point afternoon, while sophomore Kelsey Minato totaled 14 points to extend her league-leading double-digit scoring streak to 35 games. Classmate Brianna Johnson equaled her career high of 13 points and also controlled five boards, and sophomore Aimee Oertner scored 10 points. Junior Jordan Elliott tallied six points on a perfect 3-of-3 showing from the field, while classmate Olivia Schretzman posted five points and six rebounds.

Junior Jen Dumiak led American with 14 points on 6-of-12 shooting, while adding six assists and five rebounds. Redshirt senior Geleisa George posted 12 points, sophomore Michelle Holmes turned in 11, and junior Arron Zimmerman recorded nine points and six boards.

Bertner netted the first six points for Army to give the visitors an early 6-4 lead before American scored the next five to take control of a 9-6 advantage 3:38 into the opening frame. Johnson capped a 10-4 Black Knight run with a lay-in at the 13:29 mark, scoring all eight of her first-half points during the stretch. The Eagles answered with a 13-4 run that lasted 7:26 to move back in front by six points at 26-20. Both sides attempted to take control of game, but neither was able to sustain better than a 5-0 run during the rest of the first frame. Army outscored the hosts 12-8 over the half's final 5:06.

The game's back-and-forth flow continued into the early minutes of the second half until Minato knocked down a jumper 3:20 into the stanza to spark a 10-0 run for the visitors. During the run, Hazlett scored her first points of the game, knocking down a pair of three-pointers to leave Army with a 44-39 advantage with 12:32 left in the contest. Hazlett started to heat up after netting her first six points, as she was 5-of-7 from the field, 3-of-4 from beyond the arc, and 2-of-2 on free-throws during the game's last 14:18, while accounting for 15 of her team's 25 points during that stretch.

American scored four in a row to halt Army's run and climb back to within one point with 11:29 remaining before Holmes capped a 10-4 run at the 7:41 mark to put the Eagles up by five. The Black Knights responded with a 14-11 run to complete a 10-point swing that put them up 62-57 with 3:13 left. American cut the lead to one after back-to-back lay-ups by Holmes and George, but Hazlett drained a pair of free-throws at the 1:44 mark to give Army a three-point lead. Holmes converted a lay-in with 1:30 remaining in the game to again cut the Black Knight lead to one.

American had a chance to take the lead with three seconds left, but missed a mid-range jumper. After the missed shot, the ball caromed off an Army player to give the Eagles the ball under their own basket with 0.7 ticks left. The hosts fired a last shot as time expired, but it was off the mark, sparing Army its second last-second setback in the last three games.

WEST POINT, N.Y. – Sophomore Kelsey Minato scored a career-high 32 points, while tying a program record with six three-pointers during Army's 72-45 win over Boston University in Patriot League women's basketball action on Wednesday evening at Christl Arena. The Black Knights improve to 15-5 overall and 7-2 in the conference after the victory, while the Terriers drop to 8-15 and 3-6.

With 32 points, Minato extended her league-leading double-digit scoring streak to 36 games. The sophomore also knocked down a career-best 12 field goals, as she hit 12-of-22 from the field. Wednesday's game was the third time Minato has made six shots from long range (6-for-8), and the first since doing it earlier this season at Ohio State on Dec. 13.

Minato also added four assists in the contest, while senior Jer Hazlett tallied 22 points on 9-of-13 shooting to reach 1,026 points for her career and move into 14th on Army's all-time scoring list, passing Jamie Arundell (USMA '98; 1,007 points) and Pam Pearson (USMA '85; 1,010 points). Hazlett also controlled eight rebounds, and junior Olivia Schretzman totaled six points, seven rebounds and four assists.

Sophomore Clodagh Scannell finished with 14 points to lead Boston University, while senior Rashidat Agboola tallied eight points and a game-high 12 rebounds. Freshman Sarah Hope and senior Danielle Callahan contributed nine and seven points, respectively.

Following a three-pointer from Black Knight sophomore Brianna Johnson to open the game, the Terriers went on an 11-0 run that lasted 1:57 to take an eight-point lead 3:50 into the first half. Army responded by outscoring Boston University 18-4 during the next 10:24, thanks to 11 points from Minato and seven from Hazlett during the run. Both teams were about even in the frame's last 5:28, with the Black Knights outscoring the Terriers 12-11 down the stretch. Army finished the opening stanza without turning the ball over, marking just the second time this season the Black Knights have achieved that feat. Army last played a turnover-free half during the second period of its 75-67 win at Stony Brook on Nov. 29.

The Black Knights began to pull away early on in the second half, as they outscored the Terriers 17-5 in the opening 5:03 of the frame. Hazlett scored 10 of Army's next 19 points during the ensuing 9:59, while hitting 4-of-4 from the field and 2-of-2 from three-point range to build the hosts' advantage to a game-high 31 points, 69-38. Boston University netted seven of the game's final 10 points, but Army's lead proved insurmountable, as the Terriers could only cut the Black Knight advantage to 27 points by the end of the tilt.

Army is back in action on Saturday, Feb. 1 when it begins the second half of its Patriot League schedule by hosting Loyola at 1 p.m.

WEST POINT, N.Y. - Army overcame a 10-point deficit in the first half and outscored Loyola, 14-3, in the extra session to pick up a 56-45 overtime victory in Patriot League women's basketball action on Saturday afternoon at Christl Arena. The win sends the Black Knights to 16-5 overall and 8-2 in the conference, while the setback drops the Greyhounds to 5-16 and 2-8.

Sophomore Kelsey Minato led all scorers with 18 points, while tallying five rebounds and three assists. Classmate Aimee Oertner posted 13 points on 5-of-8 shooting and collected a game-high seven boards, three blocks and three steals. Sophomore Jean Parker hit a pair of three-pointers to finish with 10 points and five rebounds off the bench.

Freshman Lauren Daugherty netted a career-high 15 points for Loyola, while senior Nicole Krusen contributed 12 points. Classmate Nneka Offodile turned in a seven-point, four-rebound performance for Greyhound squad that used just seven players in the contest.

After regulation ended at a 42-42 tie, Army was successful on 4-of-5 of its attempts from the floor in overtime, while holding Loyola to 1-of-5 from the field. Parker knocked down a triple 27 seconds into the extra period before Offodile scored her team's next three points to even the score a 45 apiece with 2:53 left on the clock. Sophomore Brianna Johnson knocked in a jumper with 2:37 remaining before assisting on Minato's three that came 1:02 later and was part of an 11-0 Black Knight run to close the game.

Both teams struggled shooting in the first half, with Army hitting 7-of-22 from the floor and Loyola converting 5-of-14. The Black Knights led 12-10 at the 9:31 mark of the opening stanza, until the Greyhounds went 10-of-11 from the foul line as part of a 16-4 run that last 6:32 to grab a 26-16 advantage with 1:08 remaining in the period. Army cut Loyola's lead to six by halftime after a 5-1 run in the final 48 seconds of the half.

Army extended their 5-1 run to a 24-5 stretch thanks to a 9-of-18 showing on field goals through the second half's first 13:11. The Black Knights received points from seven players during the run, including six from Minato and five from Parker. Army controlled six of its 13 offensive rebounds in the contest during its run, as it turned a 27-21 halftime deficit into a 40-31 lead with 6:49 left in regulation. Loyola answered with a run of its own, outscoring the hosts 11-2 in the second frame's final 6:30. Greyhound sophomore Jeneh Perry converted a pair of free-throws at the 1:23 mark to knot the contest at 42-42 before each team had a chance to end it in regulation.

Army drew a pair of fouls, with the last coming with 33 seconds left, which allowed it to use all but three seconds of the remaining time to take a final shot. The Black Knights ran the clock down to under 10 seconds before Krusen made a steal with three ticks left. Senior Jen Hazlett stole the ball back for Army just two seconds later, but there wasn't enough time to get a clean look at the basket before time expired.

The Black Knights return to the court on Wednesday, Feb. 5 when they travel to Bethlehem, Pa., for a 7 p.m. match-up against Lehigh.

2014 PATRIOT LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

Basketball became the first women's sport to join the time-honored Army-Navy rivalry tradition when the two service academies met at the Dartmouth-Burger King Invitational on Jan. 18, 1981, in Hanover, N.H.

Center Pat Walter poured in 18 points and guard Dena Caradimitropoulou chipped in with 14 as Army prevailed 65-48 in the first meeting. Trailing 18-15 with 7:31 remaining in the first half, Army reeled off nine straight points to pull ahead 24-18 at intermission. The Black Knights continued their surge into the second half as they stretched that slim lead to a 48-31 bulge and never looked back in coasting to the win.

Army harassed Navy into shooting 27 percent from the field, and the Midshipmen also struggled at the line, converting just 8 of 23 chances. The Black Knights shot 77 percent from the stripe (17-22) and 39 percent from the floor (24-61).

The rebounding was equal as the Black Knights pulled down 50 caroms and Navy grabbed 49. Walter and Navy's Bernie Boska each grabbed 10 boards. The Mids also had two players in double figures. Colleen Cassidy scored 18 points, sharing scoring honors with Walter, and Lynne Coe added 12.

The Army-Navy Trophy, awarded annually to the winner of the competition, was established 26 years ago through the generosity of Army donors Francis and Joe DeVito. The Trophy (pictured below) consists of a five-inch diameter crystal basketball which sits on a sterling silver pylon. Army's and Navy's seals are etched on the pylon. Army will host this year's "Trophy Game" on Feb. 8 at Christl Arena.

Navy captured the inaugural Trophy after defeating Army, 68-55, at Annapolis on Feb. 25, 1989. The Black Knights were a 47-41 winner in the first "Trophy Game" at West Point the following year where it resided for a five-year period (1990-94).

The two academies met once annually until Navy's entrance into the Patriot League in 1991-92. They began clashing twice a season, facing each other an unprecedented three times during Navy's first year in the league with the third showdown coming in the opening round of the league tournament. Army and Navy have since faced each other four more times in the Patriot League Tournament, twice in the opening round (1997 and 1998), while meeting for the first time in the quarterfinals in 1998 and again in 2001.

After taking the measure of Navy three times its inaugural year in the conference, Army went on to claim the next four meetings to stretch its win streak, which began in 1990, to nine straight. Navy ended its drought when it won the "Trophy Game" (66-51) at Alumni Hall on January 21, 1995. The win was the Mids' first home victory over Army since 1989 and first league win over the Black Knights after losing seven straight.

Army's 1980-81 team was the first to take on Navy in women's basketball history.

Army avenged that first-round loss with a hard fought 52-49 triumph at Christl Arena in a quarterfinal-round tournament game to extend its home streak over the Mids to five straight. The Black Knights snapped a five-game drought on Feb. 23, 2002, with a 75-67 victory capturing the "Star Game" for the second time in four years.

While Army struggled, Navy was dominating at home, away and at the tournament over the next three-plus seasons before its run was snapped in 1998-99 under first-year head coach Sherri Abbey-Nowatzki. The Black Knights' 51-50 upset in the "Trophy Game" at Alumni Hall halted the Mids' nine-game series win streak in the same place it started.

Meeting three times in 2000-01, Navy won both the regular-season encounters, including the "Trophy Game" on Saturday, Jan. 26 at Alumni Hall. The Black Knights bested the Mids when they won 73-61 in the quarterfinals of the Patriot League Tournament on March 2.

In the winter of 2001-02, the two schools split with each winning on its home court. The Mids captured the first meeting (71-60) at Alumni Hall on Jan. 26 and the Black Knights won at Christl Arena to even the "Trophy Game" series at 7-7.

In 2003, Army lost a heartbreaking triple-overtime thriller in Annapolis. Navy escaped with the narrow victory on a free throw in the closing seconds. Each team earned a victory on its home court in 2004, as the Black Knights captured their eighth Trophy with a 65-60 win.

Beginning in 2004, Army won six consecutive Trophy Games to establish a series record. The Black Knights went 9-3 during that six-year stretch for Army's most successful run since the early '90s.

Navy defeated Army, 54-48, to capture its first star since 2003 on Feb. 20, 2010, at Christl Arena, as the road team would claim the Trophy in each of the next three meetings. The 2013 was no different as Army defeated Navy in Annapolis, 48-40, holding the Midshipmen to a series-low point total en route to its first season sweep of Navy since 2008.

Army broke the trend in 2014, when the Black Knights defeated Navy, 54-48, in the Star game at Christl Arena on Feb. 8, becoming the first team to win the Trophy on its home court since 2008.

INSIDE THE SERIES

- Army and Navy first met on Jan. 18, 1981, at the Dartmouth-Burger King Invitational, in what was a pre-determined draw. The annual series officially began the following season as Navy claimed the first Gold Star, 79-73, at West Point.
- First Patriot League Tournament meeting was March 6, 1992
- The series is tied for the 12th time in history, 31-31
- Army is 14-15 at home, 15-14 in Annapolis, 2-2 at neutral sites
- Army leads Navy, 16-10, in Star Trophy Games

Kelsey Minato had a pair of impressive games against Navy in her first season at West Point - cracking the Army-Navy record book with accurate outside shooting. Minato was named a National Player of the Week nominee by ESPNW following her second-straight clutch performance against the Midshipmen in mid-February to finish her rookie season with an 18.0 ppg average against the service academy rival. In 2014-15, Minato scored 25 points in the first meeting with Navy before totaling 14 points in Army's Star game win over the Midshipmen.

2014 PATRIOT LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

In October of 1982, Dr. Peter Likins, then-president of Lehigh University, shared a vision he had with several of his colleagues. That dream became a reality two years later when the Colonial League was established.

The league, formally organized in 1984, was founded on the principles of maintaining teams of athletes whose academic ability and progress are representative of the entire student body, the awarding of athletic scholarships on the basis of need, and holding institutional presidents directly responsible for governance and policies.

Founding members of the league included Bucknell University, Colgate University, Davidson University, the College of the Holy Cross, Lafayette College and Lehigh University. Fordham University ultimately replaced Davidson after three years of football competition.

Originally formed as a football-playing league, the Colonial League began formal competition in 1986 and was renamed the Patriot League in December 1989.

It was at the beginning of the 1990-91 academic year that the Patriot League began competition in 23 sports, including football. Just prior to that year, the United States Military Academy joined the league. The United States Naval Academy followed for the 1991-92 season to boost league membership to eight. During the summer of 2001, American University formally joined the Patriot League in all sports and began competition that fall.

In its second decade of competition, the league now includes American, Army, Bucknell, Colgate, Holy Cross, Lafayette, Lehigh and Navy as full members, and Fordham and Georgetown as associate members.

Alan W. Childs, Dean of Academic Services at Lafayette College, was selected as the league's first executive director in 1986. Dr. Childs helped bring the league to its feet by setting a strong foundation and adhering to the principles outlined by Likins and the other league presidents.

Former Army athletic director Carl Ullrich, who was inducted into the Army Sports Hall of Fame in September of 2007, was named the league's first full-time executive director in May 1989. For one year, he served in a dual capacity as Army athletic director and Patriot League director. He retired from West Point in the summer of 1990 and served the league full-time until retiring in the summer of 1993. Connie Hurlbut succeeded Ullrich and became the first woman to be named executive director of a Division I league.

Hurlbut oversaw the league's operation for six seasons until resigning her post in the spring of 1999 to become Director of Operations for the WNBA.

Carolyn Schlie Femovich, named to the league's top post soon after Hurlbutt's departure, ushered the league into its second decade of all-sports competition in 2001-02 and continues to steer the league via a myriad of regional and national initiatives.

The Black Knights have captured the Presidents' Cup—signifying the league's all-sports champion—four times, including walking away with the hardware in the spring of 2005 for the first time since 1997. Army's men have captured 10 all-sports championships in the last 18 years, including a streak of six in a row from 1992-93 through 1997-98.

Army women's basketball is 161-165 in the Patriot League since the inception of the conference in 1990-91. Army won Patriot League titles in 2005-06 and 2013-14.

2014 PATRIOT LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

1976-77

After President Gerald Ford signed legislation in 1975 that declared women would be permitted to seek nomination and attend a military institution, the U.S. Military Academy welcomed its first co-ed class in July of 1976.

That historic change not only impacted the nation's armed forces, but also dramatically reshaped the profile of the academies' athletic program. Basketball was the first women's sport at the U.S. Military Academy to field a team, and played an intercollegiate schedule at the club status its first year.

There were no fall sports that first year, but plans were being laid in August for a women's basketball team with Dennis VanFossen heading the program. More than 30 players tried out with the roster finally being trimmed to 11 players, but only six had experience in organized high school basketball.

That group was affectionately dubbed the "Sugar Smacks" by the Corps. Smack is cadet slang for a plebe or freshman and the sugar was added in referring to the feminine gender.

On December 1, 1976, Army hosted Skidmore College before a capacity crowd in the Central Gymnasium in opening a 20-game schedule (with all but two played at home). Army went on to close out its first year with an impressive 15-5 mark, showing it was ready for the next step – varsity status in 1977-78.

The first team averaged 68.9 points a game, tallying 1,309 points along with grabbing 750 rebounds. Army shot 38.6 percent from the floor and 50.7 percent at the charity stripe. Colleen Brennan led the team in scoring, assists and free throws. She piled up 327 points (19.2 ppg.), shot 72.5 percent from the line and dished off 64 assists. Christi Stevens topped the team with 232 rebounds (12 rpg.) while Carol Barkalow finished second in scoring (13.2 ppg.) and rebounding (9.2 rpg.).

Army's performance its first year at the club level showed it was ready to move to the next step in its elevation to varsity status.

Joe Ciampi, a successful local boys' coach at Marlboro High, was named to head the women's program. He enjoyed tremendous success during his tenure, compiling a 39-10 record over a two-year period.

Army played its first intercollegiate game at New Paltz, just a few miles away from the Academy, on Monday, Nov. 28 at 7 p.m. The team literally ran New Paltz off the floor, jumping out to a 42-9 lead at the half, on its way to a lopsided 84-

1976-77: Dennis VanFossen served as the head coach of the first women's sport added to the Army athletic program in July of 1976.

1977-78: Army opens its first varsity season at the Division I level. The Black Knights finished the season with an impressive 18-5 record.

17 decision. Dena Caradimitropoulou, a plebe from Tucker, Ala., was the leading scorer with 15 points along with 14 points from Melissa Miles, while Kim Hall and Laurie Utchel chipped in with 10 points apiece.

Army made its home debut two days later at Central Gymnasium, hosting Fordham in a 4 p.m. tilt. The gym was overflowing as the cadets cheered the ladies on to a 65-56 decision over the Rams.

Army rolled to its third straight victory, defeating Cortland State, 82-73. Ciampi's squad built a 19-point lead in the first half, then preserved that margin over the final 20 minutes. The Black Knights then suffered their first defeat, bowing 58-53 in the first game of a doubleheader at St. John's. Army outscored the Red Storm 32-31 in the second half, but was unable to overcome an 11-point first-half disadvantage.

Army would only lose four more times as it spun an 18-5 mark. Among its highlights was a 62-51 win over Indiana University, the defending state champions. Carol Barkalow and Caradimitropoulou shared individual scoring honors in compiling 13.8 averages. Earlier in the year, Barkalow set a school single-game mark with a 30-point effort in a 71-40 home victory over Long Island University.

1978-79

Army's second varsity season and final year in the 1970s resulted in its first 20-plus win season as head coach Joe Ciampi guided the team to runner-up honors at the New York State AIAW Championship.

Army exhibited balanced scoring throughout the season en route to compiling a 21-5 mark. The Black Knights set a school single-game record in scoring 111 points to defeat visiting New Paltz by a 72-point margin. That latter record still stands, though the former mark for points was broken in 1986-87.

After gaining a postseason berth, the first in its short history, Army joined St. John's, Fordham and C.W. Post at the AIAW Tournament hosted by Iona. Seeded second, Army edged St. John's, 50-48, in its semifinal game, but bowed in the finals to top-seed Fordham, 63-60.

Dena Caradimitropoulou topped the team in scoring with 278 points (10.6 ppg.). Kim Hall was next at 9.6 ppg., along with ripping down a team-high 193 boards.

After leading Army to an impressive start, winning 80 percent of its contests the first two varsity years, Ciampi accepted the head coaching position at Auburn where he coached until his retirement following the 2003-04 season.

1979-80

The first women's class marched into its senior season with a new name and a new coach with Liz Cousins becoming the first woman to head the program. As the first class moved up the ranks, Army traded its "Sugar Smacks" moniker for the more sophisticated Black Knights.

Under Cousins' direction, the Black Knights posted their fourth straight winning campaign. Stevens made history in being elected captain all four years.

Pat Walter and Kim Hall finished one-two in scoring and rebounding. Pat Walter averaged 11.2 ppg. in scoring while grabbing 214 rebounds, followed by Hall's 10.8 ppg. and 213 boards.

1980-81

Harold Johnson, an assistant to Liz Cousins, became the third varsity coach at the helm when he took over the program. He went on to produce a 123-86 mark during his seven-year tenure.

Johnson did not disappoint his inaugural season as he led Army to runner-up honors at the New York AIAW Championships, while tying the school record for victories in compiling a 21-13 mark.

It was the second time in history that the Black Knights finished runner-up in a state tournament. His efforts earned him "Coach of the Year" honors by the Eastern Women's Intercollegiate Newsletter.

Seeded fourth at the tournament, Army upended top-seed St. John's 69-66 in overtime, but lost in the finals to C.W. Post, 69-59.

Army and Navy also met for the first time in a predetermined draw at the Burger King Classic sponsored by Dartmouth with Army claiming a 65-48 victory.

Kim Hall closed out the season as the team's leading scorer (11.8 ppg.) and rebounder (7.8 rpg.). In early February, she became the first woman in Academy history to score 1,000 points.

1980-81: Kim Hall becomes the first woman in Army history to score 1,000 career points.

2014-15 ARMY WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

1981-82

Facing one of the most challenging schedules in history, a young and inexperienced team turned in a strong showing in the first Metro Atlantic Conference championships, bowing to St. Peter's in the finals, 65-51, en route to a 15-14 mark.

Pat Walter became the second Black Knight to reach the 1,000-points milestone, breaking Kim Hall's mark by two points (1,108). Yearling Melody Smith, named to the MAAC all-tournament team, topped the team in scoring (10.2 ppg.) and was the only player in double figures.

1982-83

Army suffered its first losing campaign, struggling to an 11-16 mark in its final year in the MAAC (4-6) and Division I. It would be eight years before Army returned to Division I level of competition.

Army enjoyed depth in the frontcourt, but lacked that ingredient in the backcourt. Smith, an All-MAAC pick, led the team in scoring with a 16.5 ppg., hitting 48.5 percent from the floor and 85.4 percent from the stripe. Plebe Pam Pearson finished second in scoring (9.7 ppg.) and led the team in rebounding (9.3 rpg.), while Alma Cobb wasn't far behind in averaging eight caroms a game.

1983-84

Army's introduction to Division II proved an incredible success.

Armed with a fast-breaking style of basketball, Coach Harold Johnson led the Black Knights to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Division II Tournament and a school record 25-3 mark. Army, ranked fifth nationally at the conclusion of the season, won the New York State R.T. French Women's Cup and was the Eastern Regional champion.

A clutch basket by freshman Laurie Goetz and four free throws by Melody Smith in the final 28 seconds carried Army to a 59-53 victory over Utica in an NCAA Division II East Regional game at the Army Field House. That win earned Army a trip to the NCAA quarterfinals where it faced Valdosta State, ranked third nationally, on St. Patrick's Day. Luck was not with the Black Knights whose 10-game winning streak was snapped in a 92-65 defeat.

The Lady Blazers broke open a 17-17 game by pulling away 36-25 with 3:52 left until intermission, then pulled out to a 10-point lead at halftime. Valdosta State stretched its lead to 16 and Army was unable to mount a comeback. Foul shooting proved a factor as Army shot 33 percent and the Lady Blazers hit 71 percent. Jenni Moehringer led Army with a career-high 24 points and Pam Pearson chipped in with 15. Both were named to the all-tournament team.

Smith became the third Black Knight to score 1,000 points along with becoming Army's all-time scoring leader just nine games into the season. She scored 409 points her final year in closing out her career with a school record 1,420 points that stood for another 20 years.

Pearson, who broke the school single-game rebounding mark with 22 against St. Francis (Ill.), became the first women's basketball player named to an All-America squad with her selection to the second team by the American Women's Sports Federation. Johnson was named the Northeast Region "Coach of the Year" along with being selected an All-America Coach.

1984-85

Army just missed a winning season (14-15), but the Black Knights continued their assault on the record books. Pam Pearson reached the 1,000 point plateau at the conclusion of her junior year, the first player to do so in three years. She shattered Kim Hall's record for career rebounds, and her mark of 881, set over a three-year period, has yet to be matched.

Pearson repeated as a second team All-America and won several conference and regional awards. Her frontcourt mate, Julie Del Gioro, was an honorable mention All-America, while Harold Johnson again was selected an All-America coach. Del Gioro topped the team in scoring with 14.9 ppg. and was second in rebounding at 8.6 in grabbing 240. Pearson was the rebounding leader with 317 (10.9 ppg.) and was second in scoring (14.4 ppg.). Sophomore Laurie Goetz also broke into double figures in averaging 10.1 ppg. along with dishing off 111 assists.

The Black Knights reached the semifinals of the Empire State playoffs, closing out the regular-season league play tied for third with a 7-5 mark. Drawing a home berth, Army defeated New York Tech in the quarterfinals, 74-62, to advance to the semis where they fell to Mercy, 90-80. The season highlight was a two-point (54-52) win at Navy.

1985-86

The season proved significant as Harold Johnson posted his 100th career win at the Army helm in a 19-11 campaign. The Black Knights defeated Navy, 66-53, for the third straight time in Army's new showcase, Christl Arena. The Black Knights were fourth in the Empire State Conference regular-season standings, reached the semis of the playoffs and were runner-up at the ECAC South Division II playoffs.

Julie Del Gioro wrote her name into the record book in several categories her final year. She shattered the season scoring mark with 476 points to move into second place on the career charts with 1,270 points. She also climbed into the No. 2 spot in rebounding with 827 rebounds while bettering the school record for career steals (175).

In addition to garnering second team All-America honors, Del Gioro was selected first team all-region and all-league. Johnson was named a College Division All-America coach for the third straight year.

Army turned in its best performance in the Empire State Conference to date after claiming the runner-up spot in both the regular-season and playoffs to close the books on an 18-14 campaign.

It proved a banner year for team captain Laurie Goetz who shattered six school marks. The four-year "floor general" broke the record for points in a game (39) and season (568) in closing out her career as the second-leading scorer in school history with 1,331 points. Her record for points in a game has yet to be equaled.

Goetz also set assist marks on season (129) and career (436) levels as well as career steals (168). At one point, she ranked 12th among the NCAA Division II scoring leaders. Among the many accolades she earned was third team All-America honors and being selected the Empire State's "Player of the Year." Johnson picked up his fourth All-America coaching certificate in his final year at the helm. He departed as the all-time winningest head coach with 123 victories in closing out a seven-year run. Both marks would later be broken by his assistant, Lynn Chiavaro.

Chiavaro was elevated to the head position after serving for five years as Harold Johnson's top assistant. She became the fourth mentor to take over the reins and second woman to head the young program.

Chiavaro did not disappoint, directing Army to the Empire State Tournament title and its second-ever NCAA appearance en route to a 19-13 record. She was tabbed as the Metropolitan "Coach of the Year" following the success she met her rookie year.

Jennifer Fleming was named the MVP of the ESC tournament after igniting a 17-0 run in rallying Army to the title. She broke the Academy mark for season assists (182) in closing out her sophomore year.

1988-89

Youth and inexperience took its toll as the best Army could manage was just one win in its final seven games to finish under .500.

In spite of its 11-15 mark, Army ranked third in the nation in scoring defense for the second straight year after holding its opponents to 57.5 ppg. The Black Knights, the defending ESC champions, were at one point tied for first place in the regular-season standings, but settled for fourth place and a playoff berth against Pace. The Setters rallied in the second half to eliminate Army with a 64-58 decision.

Jennifer Fleming, a first team all-league pick, averaged 13 points in leading the team in scoring, while finishing second to plebe Kim Kawamoto (153) in assists with 112. Leeann Duhoski, second in scoring (8.4 ppg.) and first in rebounding with 171 caroms, was named a second-team ESC pick and Heather Bryn earned honorable mention.

1989-90

Though a postseason bid eluded Army its final season at the Division II level, the Black Knights had several highlights on which to reflect.

Troubled by an injury-riddled first half, the Black Knights rallied from an 0-7 start to win 19 of 22 games in the second half for a final 19-10 mark.

Army ranked first in the nation in scoring defense (49.3 ppg.) and third in field goal percentage defense (35.0). The Black Knights were runner-up in the Empire State Conference and defeated Navy, 47-42, to snap a three-year Mid reign. Jennifer Fleming reached the 1,000-point milestone, the seventh Black Knight to accomplish that feat. She broke the mark for career steals (230) and moved into second place on the assist charts with 415. Kim Kawamoto ranked 14th nationally in assists with 186 after eclipsing the school single-season mark of 182 held by Fleming.

Army's return to Division I saw the Black Knights struggle early before rebounding with a solid showing in the newly formed Patriot League where they reached the finals of the postseason tournament. The Black Knights compiled a 20-10 mark, ranked second in the nation in scoring defense and scored a series high 69 points in posting an 18-point win over Navy for its first victory at Annapolis since 1985. Army swept the service academies, beating Air Force 76-58 for first place at the Florida Tech Tournament.

Army ranked eighth nationally in field goal percentage defense, 30th in rebound margin and captured two tournament crowns. Kim Kawamoto led the league in assists and ranked 12th nationally in the final NCAA statistics. She shattered six records, breaking the career standard for assists (562) and steals (214) along with shattering her own season and single-game marks in both.

1991-92

In spite of starting off the season with a young and inexperienced frontcourt, Army ranked nationally in scoring defense (13th) for the fifth straight year along with topping the Patriot League for the second straight year.

Seeded fourth in the league tournament, Army opened with a 77-65 victory over Navy, defeating the Mids an unprecedented three times with their entrance into the league. Army fell to top-seed Fordham, 83-72, in the semis in closing the books on a 17-12 campaign.

Plebe center Lisa Russell was tabbed Patriot League "Rookie of the Year" after garnering weekly honors seven times. She closed out her first season with 393 points (13.6 ppg.) to set a school plebe scoring mark, while becoming just one of three freshmen to score 300 points

Kim Kawamoto established nine USMA records in closing her career as Army's game, season and career leader for assists, steals and three-pointers. She missed only one start (the first game of her plebe year) in 114 games and is the only player to accomplish that. Kawamoto ranked nationally in assists (5th) for the third straight season.

Senior captain Mary Langendorf left an impressive legacy in becoming the first player in school history to record 1,000 career points, grab over 500 rebounds and hand out 275 assists.

1992-93

A young Army squad shined on the hardwood, earning league and national recognition. The Black Knights were ranked nationally for the sixth straight year in scoring defense (10th/57.8), swept Navy and posted their first league win over Holy Cross, 54-52.

Lisa Russell walked off with the top Patriot League honors for the second straight year with her selection as co-MVP. A first team all-star pick, the 5-9 forward led the league in scoring (18.2 ppg.) and field goal percentage (51.2). She was named a third team All-America by the American Women's Sports Federation and selected to the inaugural All-Met first team by the Metropolitan Basketball Association.

Russell became the fifth Black Knight to earn All-America honors, but just the second selected as a sophomore. She topped the team in scoring for the second straight year and led the Black Knights in rebounding (7.1 rpg). Her 492 points were the second highest single-season mark in school history. Sophomore Carrie Garinger set USMA records for three-point field goals on game (5) and career (25) levels en route to finishing second in scoring (9.3 ppg.).

Seeded No. 4 at the league tournament, Army suffered a 50-46 loss to No. 5 Bucknell in the opening round to finish at 12-15.

1993-94

Army ranked nationally (12th) in scoring defense for the seventh straight year, compiled a 17-11 overall record and finished fourth in the league (8-4) standings. The Black Knights extended their win streak over Navy to nine straight following a two-game sweep in February, while Lynn Chiavaro recorded her 100th career win at West Point.

Lisa Russell wrote the headlines for the third consecutive year. In late December, she became the ninth Black Knight to score 1,000 points, but did so faster than any other player. She repeated as the league's Co-MVP, bettered her school mark for the second-highest season total with 526 points, while her 18.8 ppg. remains a school best. The 5-9 forward became the league's all-time leading scorer with 1,411 points (which has since been broken) and closed out the season just 12 shy of the Army record. Russell elected to sit out her final year following surgery to repair a fractured vertebra in her lower back.

Carrie Garinger finished second in scoring with 342 points (12.2) and pulled down 118 rebounds in spiraling into the top 20 on the career scoring (775) and rebounding (302) charts.

Army reached the semifinals of the league tournament for the third time in four years, bowing to eventual champion Fordham, 68-48. Garinger was named to the all-tournament team.

1994-95

With just one starter back to form Army's nucleus, a young Black Knight team suffered through a 4-23 season. Navy snapped Army's series win streak at nine, while putting the skids to a seven-game league drought in posting its first home victory since 1989. The Black Knights defeated Navy in the second meeting to extend their home domination over the Mids to five straight. In the Hudson Valley Challenge Trophy, Army rallied to edge Marist, 50-49.

Julie Schellhase broke the single-season mark for three-pointers with 25. Jamie Arundell topped the team in scoring (11.1 ppg.) and was second in rebounding (5.2 rpg.). Schellhase finished second in scoring (9.4 ppg.), while Kim Hanson topped the team in rebounding (5.6 rpg.).

1995-96

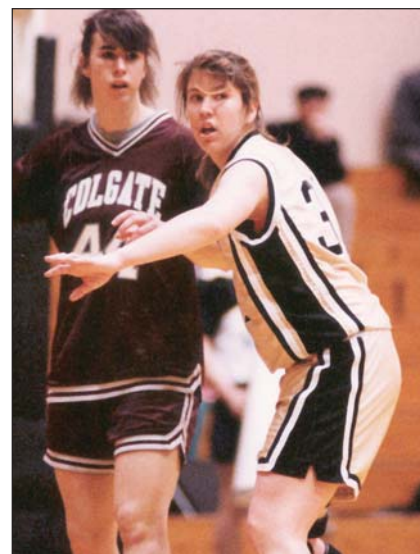

Defying a last-place ranking in the preseason coaches' poll, Army jumped out to a 2-1 start in the Patriot League. That success proved short-lived as the team struggled with a depleted lineup during a 14-day suspension period due to disciplinary action. After losing its hold in the first-half standings, Army was unable to return to that early success.

The Black Knights defied the odds once again when they upset defending champion and preseason favorite Holy Cross, 68-62, at Christl Arena to earn a share of fifth place with Navy and a chance to control their destiny with two league games remaining. That win proved the high point of a difficult schedule as Army dropped its final two regular-season games to finish sixth in the standings.

Jamie Arundell was named to the Patriot League second team all-star unit after leading the team in scoring (11.5 ppg.) and rebounding (5.9 rpg.). Kim Hanson grabbed a team-high 145 rebounds to close out her career 15th on the charts with 445 caroms. Senior guard Carrie Jeanneret moved into fourth place in career assists with 327. Plebe Karen Callahan set a USMA Christl Arena record in a 20-rebound performance against Cornell, and Lynn Chiavaro became the winningest coach in school history with 125 victories.

It was not a kind season and proved the worst in school history as Army suffered through a frustrating 1-25 campaign. Army fell to Navy three times as its losing skid to the Mids stretched to six straight dating back to 1995-96.

Julie Schellhase, whose three-pointer lifted Army to its lone win over Colgate, broke the school career mark for treys with 53. Adrienne Quimby topped Army in scoring (9.9 ppg.) and rebounding (5.1 rpg.). Laura Worthing, the top point producer with 250 points (9.6), was a second team all-league pick.

1997-98

Army suffered though its fourth straight losing campaign which resulted in head coach Lynn Chiavaro resigning at the conclusion of a 7-20 season after an 11-year reign. Jamie Arundell provided many of the individual highlights in becoming the 10th player in Black Knights history to eclipse the 1,000-point mark in closing out her career ranked 10th in scoring (1,007 points) and 11th in rebounding (528). She earned second team all-Patriot League honors after finishing among the leaders with 334 points and 174 rebounds. Freshmen Dawn Halfaker and Megan Work were named to the all-rookie team, the first time any Army players were picked for that unit since the 1992 season. Halfaker broke Army's single-season mark for steals (85), tops in the league as well, in earning a national ranking of 18th (T).

The Black Knights hosted their first-ever tournament Thanksgiving weekend inviting Air Force, St. Francis (N.Y.) and St. Bonaventure to that inaugural field.

1998-99

Sherri Abbey-Nowatzki took over at the Army helm and became the sixth head coach of the women's basketball program.

Army's 62-56 defeat of Yale in December was its first over an Ivy League school, spanning 12 games, since the 1995-96 season. Nowatzki's most impressive of four milestone victories came in Patriot League play.

2014-15 ARMY WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

A first-round league road defeat of Lafayette proved one for the record books as Army's 56-53 verdict snapped a 10-game losing streak in its first-ever win on the Leopards' home court.

Army's 51-50 triumph over Navy in the annual "Trophy Game" at Alumni Hall snapped a nine-game losing streak to the Mids and returned the trophy to West Point for the first time since 1994. Nowatzki's cagers didn't rest on their laurels as they had one more shocker left, that coming in the opening round of the postseason tournament hosted by Army.

The No. 7 seed Black Knights became the lowest-seeded team in Patriot League tournament history to pull off an upset when they upended No. 2 Bucknell 72-67 in the tip-off game.

Senior co-captain Laura Worthing led Army in scoring with 328 points (11.7 ppg.) in closing out her career with 847 points to rank 16th on the all-time scoring charts along with a school-record 57 three-pointers. Sophomore Therese Kelley was named to the league's second team and plebe Halaevalu Helu was an all-tournament pick.

1999-2000

Though a young Army team had its share of peaks and valleys, the Black Knights' 6-3 mark in January proved their best monthly showing since 1994. During that time, Army ranked third in the Patriot League. Army's win over Lafayette (91-60) set a pair of Christl Arena records and the Black Knights defeated Navy at Alumni Hall for the second straight year.

Juniors Megan Dempsey and Therese Kelley wrote the headlines in the new millennium. Dempsey broke the USMA season mark for three-pointers in draining 46 after having made just one her first two seasons to rank fourth on the all-time charts. Kelley became just the second Army player named to the Patriot League first team. The 6-2 forward topped Army and ranked among the league's leaders in scoring, rebounding, blocks, free throw percentage and field goal percentage.

2000-01

Recording one of the greatest turnarounds in Division I women's basketball history, the Black Knights began the season with a 4-0 record and their best start in 15 years.

After capturing its own tournament for the first time in the program's history, Army went on to post a 15-game mark of 13-2, its best at the Division I level.

Army was the lone Patriot League team to beat defending champion Holy Cross, 87-71, the win coming at home. The victory helped Army capture the No. 4 seed at the league tournament where the Black Knights beat archrival Navy, 73-61, in the quarterfinal round.

For the fifth time in school history, the Black Knights advanced to the league's semifinal round where they were defeated 70-50 by eventual champion Holy Cross.

Finishing the season with a 19-10 mark, Army posted the most wins since recording 20 victories in 1990-91. It marked just the seventh time in school history Army compiled at least 19 wins in a season.

Senior Therese Kelley became only the second Army player to be selected a two-time Patriot League first team pick. She also became only the 11th Black Knight to score 1,000 points and grab 500 rebounds. Freshman Katie Macfarlane was chosen to the league's second team all-star unit and rookie team after collecting the second-best mark by a freshman, scoring 340 points and grabbing 236 rebounds. Senior Megan Dempsey closed out her career owning three-point field goal records on both the single-season and career records.

2001-02

With just two seniors, Army's youngsters came together in the second half of Patriot League play. Sophomore Katie Macfarlane led the team in scoring (18.3 ppg.) and rebounding (10.2 rpg.) and was named to the all-Patriot League first team. Macfarlane, the lone league player to average a double-double, was also named to the All-Metropolitan second team.

Army finished the season with an 11-18 overall record and 5-9 mark in the Patriot League. For the second time in as many years, the Black Knights defeated perennial Patriot League power Holy Cross, 68-67, at home in Christl Arena.

Highlighting Army's non-conference schedule was a trip to Notre Dame to face the defending national champions. The Black Knights fell, 89-57.

Junior Christine Gassman was the team's second-leading scorer at an increase of more than 8.0 ppg. from her sophomore campaign. Senior team captain Halaevalu Helu finished second in rebounding at 5.5 rpg. and senior Christina Canelli topped the team in assists (2.8 apg).

2002-03

Despite occupying the No. 6 seed in the Patriot League ranks, the Black Knights played the role of spoiler by upsetting two of the top teams in the conference. Army shocked No. 3 Lehigh and second-seeded American to advance to their first Patriot League title game since 1990-91. The Black Knights' magical run came to end there, however, as top-seeded Holy Cross successfully defended its title with a 78-65 defeat of Army in the championship.

Junior Katie Macfarlane continued her stellar play in the post, becoming the only player in the conference to average a double-double. A first team all-league selection for the second year in a row, Macfarlane averaged 17.7 points and 10.6 rebounds per outing. She was also selected to the All-Metropolitan second team.

Macfarlane was one of three players on the Black Knight roster to start all 31 games, along with seniors Amy Saal and Christine Gassman. Saal ranked second on the squad with a scoring average of 10.5 points per game, while Gassman, the Academy's all-time leader in three-pointers, tallied 8.8 points per game. Gassman shattered Megan Dempsey's record for three-pointers made and finished her career with 112, smashing the previous record of 82.

One of the highlights to the 2002-03 campaign was Army's trip to Puerto Rico for the San Juan Shootout. While there, the Black Knights matched up with one of the most prolific teams in Division I women's basketball in the former national champion Tennessee Lady Vols.

The Black Knights finished the 2002-03 slate with an overall record of 15-16, which included a notable 72-69 victory over service-academy rival Air Force.

2003-04

Senior co-captain Katie Macfarlane wrote many of Army's headlines in garnering a plethora of honors, including being named the Patriot League's "Player of the Year". She led the league in scoring and ranked second in rebounding. Macfarlane was chosen as the conference's "Player of the Week" four times, giving her 12 such citations for her career, and earned her third consecutive All-Patriot League first team certificate.

The 6-0 forward from Clarence, N.Y., amassed 48 career "double-doubles" and ended her illustrious career with a 16.8 scoring average and a 9.8 rebounding average. She became the league's and Army's all-time leading rebounder with 1,143 boards along with being the Black Knights' leading scorer.

Macfarlane closed out her career with numerous single-game, single-season and career records at the Academy. In addition to her scoring and rebounding records, she is also Army's all-time leader in free throws made and attempted along with field goals made and attempted. She is the only Black Knight ever to lead the squad in rebounding in each of her four years on the team.

Freshman Jen Hansen was named to the league's all-rookie team. The Black Knights defeated Navy (65-60) in the "Star Game" at Christl Arena.

Army finished 14-14 overall and 6-8 in the league. The Black Knights also captured the North Star Invitational championship in Fairbanks, Alaska over the Thanksgiving Holiday.

2004-05

Senior co-captain Shavonne Holden and freshman scoring sensation Cara Enright, along with sophomore Jen Hansen and senior Lindsay Brent, headlined the Army team. Both Holden and Enright were named to the Patriot League second team, and Enright earned all-rookie team honors on her way to being named the Patriot League's Rookie of the Year.

Enright led the Black Knights with a 13.2 scoring averaging, while Brent was Army's leading rebounder, averaging 6.4 rebounds. Hansen set a new Black Knights' record for 3-pointers made in a season, and Enright chipped in at third on the list.

Holden finished her career 11th in rebounds, 16th on the career points ledger and seventh in career free throws.

Army earned its highest seed in the Patriot League Tournament, third, since the creation of the league prior to the 1990-91 season, but the Black Knights run to the tournament title was spoiled by No. 6 seed Colgate in the opening round.

The Black Knights concluded the 2004-05 campaign with an overall record of 15-13 and 8-6 in conference play. Army's eight Patriot League victories were the most since 1993-94, in which the Black Knights also captured eight wins. It also marked the first time the Black Knights swept Navy in the yearly series since the 1993-94 season.

The Black Knights experienced a coaching change at the top on Oct. 5, just 11 days before the start of practice as Maggie Dixon was named the seventh head coach of the Black Knights.

The change proved beneficial for both Dixon and the Black Knights as she led Army through one of its most storied seasons in the history of the program. The Black Knights capped a 20-11 campaign with a bid to the NCAA Division I Tournament and were among those also receiving votes in the final Associated Press poll.

The Black Knights began the season with a tough non-conference slate, which left the squad with a 6-7 record heading into league play.

Army won its first league contest in overtime against Colgate and turned around to face a Holy Cross squad, who historically had given the Black Knights fits. Army squeaked out a 59-56 victory against the Crusaders and began to build momentum. Army came across a few road blocks in Lehigh and Colgate, but the Black Knights won the first six straight contests of the month of February and clinched the Patriot League regular-season crown with a 71-52 victory at Lafayette on Feb. 21.

The Black Knights earned the top seed in the postseason tournament for the first time in program history and earned the right to host a quarterfinal and semifinal round at West Point's Christl Arena.

Army advanced to the championship game for just the third time in its 16 years as a member of the Patriot League, and first since 2003, after breezing past No. 8 Lafayette, 74-55, and No. 5 Colgate, 73-55, in the quarterfinals and semifinals, respectively.

After sweeping their nemesis Holy Cross during the regular season for the first time, the Black Knights met the Crusaders in the Patriot League Championship game at West Point. Sophomore Stefanie Stone drained the winning free throw with 8.8 seconds remaining and Army held on to defeat the Crusaders and stamp the Black Knights' ticket to the NCAA Tournament.

It marked the first trip to the "Big Dance" at the Division I level for Army or any of the three service academies.

The Black Knights earned a No. 15 seed and faced No. 2 Tennessee in the first round of the Cleveland Regional in Norfolk, Va.

Dixon was tabbed the Patriot League's "Coach of the Year" in her first season at the helm. Sophomore Cara Enright was honored as the league's "Player of the Year," and freshman Alex McGuire became the second straight Army player to capture Patriot League "Rookie of the Year" accolades.

Junior Jen Hansen became the Academy's all-time leader in three-pointers during the first contest of the season against Coast Guard for 143 three-point field goals for her career. The Seminole, Fla., native also led the Black Knights in free throw percentage, successfully connecting on 46 of 53 attempts moving her into first place on the career free throw percentage ledger (122-151-.808).

Enright rewrote several of Army's single-game records and continues to move up the career charts. Her 511 points are the sixth-highest single-season mark. Her 94 free throws made tied her with Julie Del Giorno for seventh on the single-season ledger, while for the second consecutive season, she etched her name into the single season three point field goals made list.

The Norco, Calif., native catapulted into 18th place on the Black Knights' career scoring list. In her 59 games thus far as a Black Knight, Enright amassed 881 points for a 14.9 average, second in the career list.

Stone set an Army record for single-season field goal percentage, connecting on 98 of 170 attempts for a .576 average. She also is ninth in free throws made, after sinking 90 foul shots a year ago.

McGuire had the second-best performance from the foul line of any Black Knight player. McGuire's .856 (77-90) percentage ranks second behind Pat Walter (.882) on the single-season free throw percentage list.

2006-07

Army opened the 2006-07 campaign with a heavy heart, following the sudden passing of 2006 Patriot League "Coach of the Year" Maggie Dixon on April 6, 2006. Under first-year head coach Dave Magarity, who served as Dixon's assistant in 2005-06 after a 23-year run as a Division I men's basketball coach, the Black Knights set an Army Division I record for wins with a 24-6 mark. The team went 11-3 in Patriot League play for the second year in a row, while also matching the most road wins (11-3) in the program's history.

After dropping its season-opener to in the inaugural Maggie Dixon Classic on Nov. 12 at Christl Arena, the Black Knights spun off five straight wins. The Black Knights' 72-48 win over Troy on Nov. 24 was a special night for junior guard Cara Enright, as she became just the 13th player in Army history to score 1,000 points. At the end of 2006-07, Enright stood fifth in Army history with 1,329 career points.

Following a tough 65-54 loss at Seton Hall on Nov. 26, the Black Knights embarked on a record-breaking, 13-game winning streak that spanned from Nov. 30 thru Jan. 16. During that stretch, Army knocked off Colgate, Holy Cross, Lehigh and American to start conference play with a 4-0 record. Unfortunately, the end of Army's run came at the hands of Navy on Jan. 21 at Christl Arena.

However, the Black Knights got revenge for that loss by winning the annual Army-Navy "Star" game less than a month later in Annapolis, Md.

Army's 11-3 conference record was enough to earn the Black

Knights the second seed heading into the Patriot League Tournament at Navy's Alumni Hall. Army's record-breaking season came to an end with a 57-53 loss to Lehigh on March 3, 2007 in the opening round of the tournament.

Enright (first team) and sophomore guard Alex McGuire (second team) earned All-Patriot League honors at the end of the season. Enright was also a first team All-Metropolitan Area honoree, while Magarity picked up "Coach of the Year" honors by the same organization.

Army's post-season honors included the Jimmy "V" Foundation Comeback Award, AT & T National Sportsmanship Award and Patriot League Sportsmanship Award.

2007-08

Facing one of its toughest schedules in recent memory, Army put together its fourth-straight winning season with an 18-12 mark. The Black Knights went 9-5 record to tie Lehigh for third in the final Patriot League standings.

A crop of four talented seniors, a budding junior class and a pair of rookies that played like veterans helped Army to a successful second season under head coach Dave Magarity.

The Black Knights faced four 2006-07 NCAA Tournament teams, highlighted by meetings with then-No. 1 Connecticut in Hartford, Conn., and then-No. 3 Rutgers at Madison Square Garden as a part of the Maggie Dixon Classic.

Army kicked off Patriot League play with a pair of home wins over Colgate and Holy Cross before heading out on the road for three straight contests. The team continued to have an up-and-down conference run, but it did include sweeps of Holy Cross, Lafayette, Colgate and archrival Navy throughout the year.

Army nabbed the fourth seed heading in to the Patriot League Tournament, which was held at West Point's Christl Arena for the second time in three years. Army drew Bucknell in the quarterfinals, a team that the Black Knights had fallen against just seven days prior in the regular season finale. Despite a sparkling 25-point effort from senior guard Cara Enright in what was her final game as a Black Knight, Army dropped a 50-47 heartbreaker in overtime on a Bucknell buzzer-beater.

Enright (second team), junior guard Alex McGuire (first team) and freshman forward Erin Anothony (rookie team) earned all-league status. Senior guard Margaree King also earned Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year plaudits.

2008-09

2014-15 ARMY WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Army rebounded from a tough 1-4 start to win nine of its next 10 games, beginning with a crucial 54-44 win at rival Air Force during a Thanksgiving trip to Colorado. The Black Knights' lone loss between Nov. 29 and Jan. 10 came to nationally ranked Rutgers at the Maggie Dixon Classic on Dec. 14 at Madison Square Garden. The Black Knights closed out non-conference play with an 11-6 mark.

A 3-4 record during the first half of Patriot League play left the Black Knights in the middle of the pack. The team rebounded, however, to go 5-2 during the second half of conference play to salvage a tie for third in the final league standings. That final run included the Black Knights' fifth-straight "Star" game win (58-50) over Navy on Feb. 21 in Annapolis. At the close of the regular-season slate, Army found itself in a four-way tie with Bucknell, Navy and Holy Cross for third place. After exhausting all tiebreakers, the Black Knights played as the No. 5 seed in the Patriot League Tournament, which top-seeded Lehigh hosted at Stabler Arena.

Army drew No. 4 Holy Cross in the first round and sent the Crusaders packing following a 54-47 win. Appearing in the semifinals for the first time since winning the title in 2005-06, Army's season came to an end to the host Mountain Hawks (61-42). Then-sophomore point guard Nalini Hawkins poured in 20-plus points in both games and was named to the All-Tournament Team.

Senior G Alex McGuire earned first team all-league honors, while sophomore F Erin Anthony was named to the second team, and also became the first Army women's basketball player to be named Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

2009-10

Without a single senior on the roster, a young and inexperienced Army team pulled out a fourth-place finish in the Patriot League in 2009-10. The Black Knights needed a key win at Bucknell in the final game of the regular season to clinch the No. 4 seed in the Patriot League Tournament. They left Lewisburg, Pa., with just that in the form of a 49-37 triumph.

Despite enduring its first losing season in head coach Dave Magarity's tenure at Army, the Black Knights tied Holy Cross and Colgate for fourth in the final Patriot League standings (5-9).

Throughout the non-conference slate, Army took on a pair of nationally ranked opponents in No. 16 Oklahoma and No. 24 Georgia Tech. Playing on their home court, the Black Knights managed to hold a 29-23 halftime lead over the Sooners but could not hang on in what turned out to be a respectable 59-46 defeat.

For the second year in a row, junior F Erin Anthony led the Patriot League in rebounding (10.4 per game), while finishing second in scoring (16.1 points per game). The postseason accolades poured on for the Allentown, Pa., native as she was named first team All-Patriot League, first team All-Met Basketball Writer's Association, Patriot League Scholar-Athlete of the Year (second year in a row) and a CoSIDA/ESPN The Magazine First Team All-American.

The Black Knights drew No. 5 Holy Cross in the Patriot League Tournament, a team they swept during the regular season, at the Hart Center in Worcester, Mass. While Anthony scored her 1,000th career point during the contest, Army came out on the short end of a 57-53 decision in the quarterfinal match-up.

2010-11

Army relied on the experience of four starting seniors to guide it through a 2010-11 season that saw the Black Knights finish in a tie for fourth place in the final Patriot League standings and record a 13-16 record.

The Black Knights reeled off a six-game win streak to start the New Year, won their first four Patriot League games and reclaimed the Army-Navy "Trophy" to highlight the 2010-11 campaign. The Black Knights drew the fifth seed in the Patriot League Tournament and bowed to Bucknell for the third time in the quarterfinals.

As expected, Army leaned heavily on senior F Erin Anthony for the season's entirety. The Allentown, Pa., native finished her decorated career as Army's fourth all-time leading scorer and second all-time leading rebounder. She joins Katie Macfarlane '04 as the only two players in program history to record 1,000 points and 1,000 rebounds. Anthony also became the Black Knights' all-time leader in blocked shots (234) in her final season. A first team All-Patriot League performer, Anthony garnered a fourth Patriot League Scholar-Athlete of the Year award and was named an Academic All-American for the second time. She was also one of 10 national finalists for the prestigious Lowes Senior CLASS Award.

Army also bid farewell to starters Nalini Hawkins, Jessie Coiffard and Laura Baranek. Hawkins finished her career with 944 career points.

2011-12

Army went 14-16 and 8-6 in Patriot League contests, but despite the somewhat lackluster record, Army grew in leaps and bounds during a season that many predicted would find the Black Knights in the bottom half of the conference.

Army was picked to finish seventh in the conference's preseason poll after losing four starters from the 2010-11 squad, but ended in a tie for third with rival Navy at regular-season's end.

With 18.9 points per game, Anna Simmers averaged the highest scoring output against league foes since 2003-04, garnering All-Patriot League first-team honors. Combined with second-team member Jen Hazlett, the pair formed the conference's highest-scoring duo since 2002-03. Hazlett chipped in 13.1 points per league game to rank sixth in the conference.

Hazlett was one of Army's most balanced players during her sophomore campaign, averaging a team-best 7.5 rebounds per contest and racking up six double-doubles to lead the squad. In addition, her 30-point scoring performance against Colgate was the most by a Black Knight since 2005.

Erin Anthony '11 is the only three-time Patriot League Scholar-Athlete of the Year in conference history.

Freshman Olivia Schretzman collected All-Rookie honors, marking the first time since 2007-08 the Black Knights nabbed a trio of certificates.

Head coach Dave Magarity reached a personal milestone by earning his 400th career win and finished the year one win shy of the century mark for victories at Army.

2012-13

The 2012-13 season was one for the record book as Army went 22-8, including 11-3 in Patriot League play to claim a share of the regular-season conference title along with Navy, despite a season sweep of the Midshipmen. A young Army squad, which had just one senior play significant minutes and one junior on the roster, made Patriot League history as the Black Knights swept all four year-ending major awards.

Head coach Dave Magarity, who won his 100th game at the Academy to become just the third coach in program history to reach triple-digit victories, was tabbed Patriot League Coach of the Year for the first time in his career. Anna Simmers, Army's leading scorer for two consecutive seasons, was voted the conference's Defensive Player of the Year and was named to the All-Patriot League first team.

Freshman sensation Kelsey Minato made league history by becoming the first to be named both Player and Rookie of the Year in the same season. Minato, who was the conference's leading scorer in league games, was also a unanimous All-Rookie Team choice and All-Patriot League first-team selection. Classmate Aimee Oertner was also a unanimous All-Rookie pick.

Army set program records for lowest defensive scoring average, finishing the season ranked seventh in the country, as well as least amount of turnovers per game, which ranked 17th nationally. The Black Knights held two Patriot League foes below 40 points for the first time in history. Army won both the Gold and Silver Stars in the same season for the first time since 2009.

Despite the successes, Army's stay in the Patriot League Tournament came to an abrupt end as the top-seeded Black Knights were ousted by No. 8 Colgate at West Point in the quarterfinals. By virtue of winning the conference's regular-season title, Army earned an automatic bid into the WNIT for the first time in program history. Despite leading for the majority of the first half, the Black Knights fell at Fordham in the first round, 55-46.

At season's end, Minato picked up another honor as the lone freshman to earn All-Met honors. Minato, who set an Army record for most Patriot League Rookie of the Week citations, became the sixth Black Knight to garner All-Met recognition as she was voted to the second team.

2013-14

The 2013-14 Army women's basketball team turned in arguably the best season in program history after finishing 25-8, including a 14-4 mark in the Patriot League. Army claimed its second Patriot League title to earn the conference's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament for the second time in the team's Division I history.

The 25 victories marked Army's most as a Division I program, while tying the all-time team record that the team set as a Division II program in 1983-84.

In his eighth season as head coach, Dave Magarity became the program's all-time wins leader, recording his 133rd victory at the Academy on Jan. 15, 2014. Magarity finished the season with 146 wins as Army's mentor.

Sophomore Kelsey Minato was named Patriot League Player of the Year for the season season in a row, joining Lisa Russell (USMA '95) as the only Army player to earn recognition as the conference's top player in back-to-back seasons. Also garnering postseason conference awards were senior Jen Hazlett and freshman Dani Failor, who landed on the all-conference second team and all-rookie team, respectively.

Along with contributing to the team's wins record, Hazlett and Minato left their own marks in Army's record book. Both players reached the 1,000-point milestone for their careers, with Hazlett reaching the plateau at American on Jan. 25, 2014 and Minato eclipsing 1,000 career points on Feb. 26, 2014 at Boston University.

2014 PATRIOT LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

The pair became the 16th and 17th 1,000-point scorers in Army women's basketball history, and were the first duo to reach the milestone in the same season.

Army split its season series with service-academy rival Navy, but earned a win in the Star game on Feb. 8, 2014 to extend its winning streak in the Star series to two games.

Minato became the quickest player to score 1,000 points, after achieving the plateau in 59 career games. The sophomore also set a number of Army single-season marks to include scoring average (22.0), free-throw percentage (92.5), total points (725), free throws (207) and three-pointers (82). She also established a total of 18 single-game scoring records and matched one other (3 NCAA, 8 Patriot League, 4 Army women's basketball), 4 Christl Arena) during a contest against Holy Cross on Feb. 12, 2014. Included in her records were a Patriot League standard of 49 points and an NCAA-record 26-of-26 performance from the free-throw stripe.

Army, which entered the Patriot League Tournament as the No. 2 seed, began its title run with a narrow 49-45 win over Boston

Kelsey Minato '16 set a number of Academy records against Holy Cross on Feb. 12, 2014 to include a program-best 49 points and an NCAA-record 26-of-26 performance at the free-throw line.

University in the conference quarterfinals on March 6 before the Black Knights topped third-seeded American, 68-55, on March 10. Army drew a match-up with fifth-seeded Holy Cross in the conference title game on March 15, marking the fifth time the schools have met league championship. Army prevailed for a 68-58 victory over Holy Cross and earned the Patriot League's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament.

Army, which earned a No. 13 seed in the NCAAs, faced No. 4 Maryland in the tournament's first round on March 23 in College Park, Md., ultimately falling to a 90-52 defeat. Minato scored a game-high 27 points to establish an Army record for most points in an NCAA Tournament game.

Following the season, Minato earned another honor, as she was selected to the All-Met first team to become the fifth Black Knight to earn multiple All-Met recognitions.

2014 PATRIOT LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

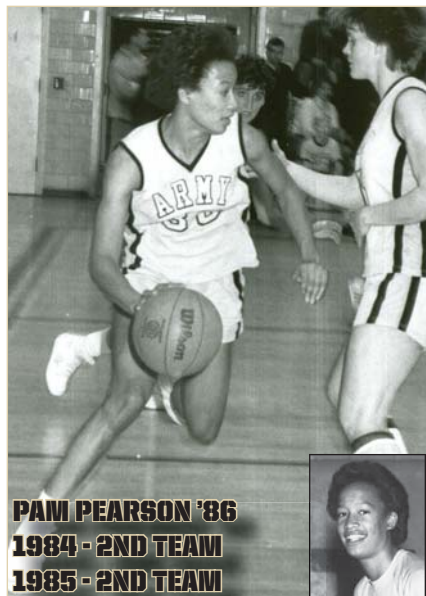

In 1984, Pam Pearson became the first Army women's basketball player to earn All-America honors when she was selected to the second team. During that season, Pearson became Army's all-time leading scorer and top rebounder for a sophomore, scoring 332 points and grabbing 314 boards.

The next season, Pearson repeated as a second team selection and was joined by Julie Del Giorno, who was an honorable mention. Classmates, Del Giorno became the second-highest scorer as a junior and Pearson became the third, with 418 and 417 points, respectively. Bettering her mark in rebounding, Pearson grabbed 317 boards to lead all juniors. Ending her career at Army, Pearson became the all-time leader in rebounding with 881 boards and at the time ranked fourth on the all-time scoring list with 1,010 career points.

As a senior in 1986, Del Giorno became Army's second all-time leading scorer (1,270) and rebounder (827) on her way to being named second team All-America. Joining her was Laurie Goetz, who was selected to the third team after she scored 267 points and averaged 9.9 rebounds as a junior.

After being selected to the fourth team in 1991, Kim Kawamoto was chosen to the third team her senior.

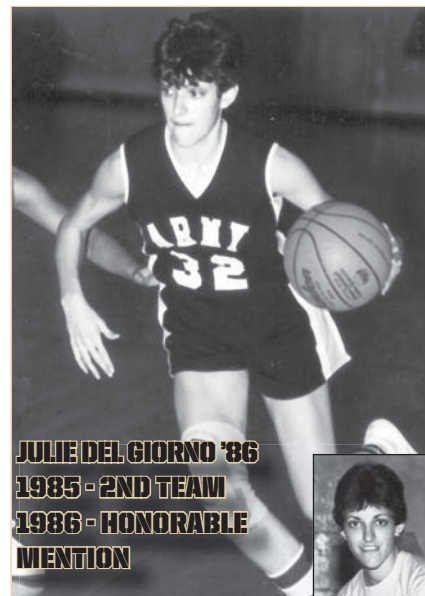

The most recent Black Knight to be named an All-America, Lisa Russell earned the honor in 1993 when she was selected to the third team. As a sophomore that year, she led the team with 492 points. In just three seasons, Russell became Army's second-leading scorer with 1,411 points.

2014-15 ARMY WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

MAJ. GENERAL. PHILIP H. DRAPER AWARD

Established in 1993, the Draper Award is given annually to the Most Valuable Player of the Army women's basketball team and is named in honor of Philip Draper. A 1929 West Point graduate, Draper spent nearly three decades on the Banks of the Hudson, serving two tours and teaching French before returning from 1951-53 as the Graduate Manager of Athletics. Draper's son, Stephen, also graduated from West Point in 1964. His wife, Lucy, was instrumental in the passage of the federal legislation to admit women into the gates at five national service academies. The family stayed at West Point until they had the opportunity to witness the first female cadets sworn in at Trophy Point in 1976. This award is funded by the Draper family and was presented for the first time at the graduation awards convocation, where it continues to be awarded today, in 1994.

COL. FREDERICK A. MOUNTFORD AWARD

The Mountford Award is named in memory of Col. Frederick A. Mountford, a 1909 West Point graduate who captained the baseball team while also lettering in football. As a father of two daughters, he encouraged young women to participate in athletics, laying the groundwork for this award. In 1979, the Mountford family donated this leadership award to Army Women's Basketball in his memory. It is given annually to the Army women's basketball team captain.

WEST POINT

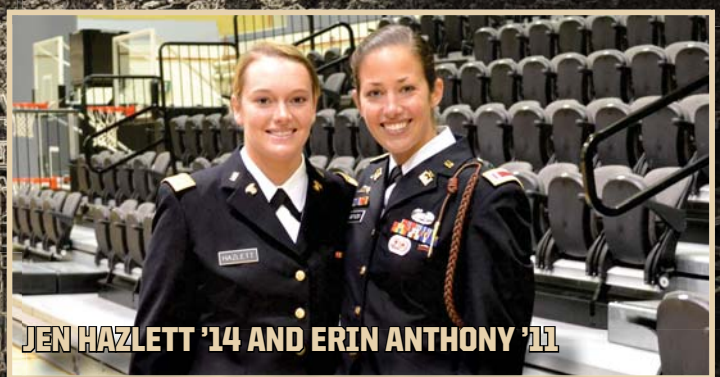

The United States Military Academy is renowned because of its historic and distinguished reputation as a military academy, and as a leading, progressive institution of higher education. Made legendary in books and movies produced over the years, the Academy's "Long Gray Line" of graduates includes some of our nation's most famous and influential men: Ulysses S. Grant, Robert E. Lee, Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson, George S. Patton, Omar Bradley, Douglas MacArthur, Dwight Eisenhower and Norman Schwarzkopf.

Because of this superb education and leadership experience, West Point graduates historically have been sought for high level civilian and military leadership positions. Their numbers include two U.S. presidents, several ambassadors, state governors, legislators, judges, cabinet members, educators, astronauts and corporate executives.

Today, West Point continues to provide hundreds of young men and women the unique opportunity to develop physically, ethically and intellectually while building a foundation for an exciting, challenging and rewarding career as an Army officer in the service of our nation. Cadets have much more responsibility in running the Academy than students in most other colleges or universities. It adds to the leadership experience.

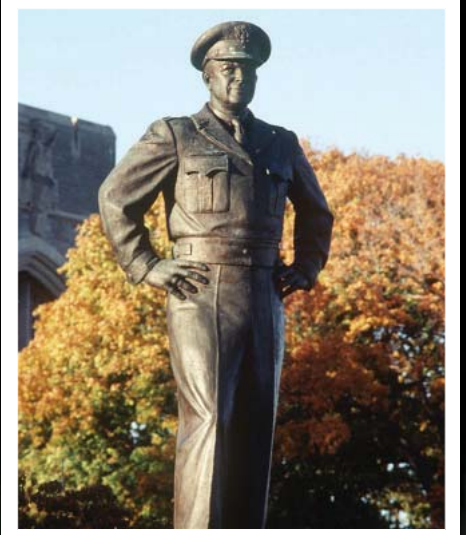

Cadets succeed at West Point because of the support they receive from the staff and faculty. After all, many faculty members are West Point graduates and understand the challenge cadets face on a daily basis. They also serve as ideal role models, showing cadets what Army life is like.

The U.S. Military Academy's primary strength is its ability to develop leaders of character who are committed to "Duty, Honor, Country" and selfless service to our nation.

DISTINGUISHED GRADUATES

FRANK BORMAN

ROBERT E. LEE '29

The Academy's ninth Superintendent (1852-55), Lee was a model cadet during his four years at West Point. He graduated second in his class and never earned a single demerit during his four years at the Academy. At the beginning of the Civil War, he was selected to serve as Commanding General of the Army, but instead resigned his commission and was named General-In-Chief of the Confederate Army from 1861 to 1865. Lee's surrender to Ulysses S. Grant (USMA 1843), at Appomattox Court House, Va., ended the Civil War. Fort Lee, Va., was named in his honor.

ULYSSES S. GRANT '43

Grant distinguished himself during the Civil War at the Battle of Vicksburg in 1863; his victory secured control of the Mississippi River for the Union. President Abe Lincoln later appointed him Commanding General of the Army in March 1864. On April 9, 1865, at Appomattox Court House, Va., Robert E. Lee (USMA 1829) surrendered the Army of Northern Virginia to him, ending the Civil War. Grant later served as the 18th President of the United States from 1869 to 1877. Today, his image graces the $50 bill.

GEORGE W. GOETHALS '80

Goethals became an architect and was builder of the Panama Canal, 1904 TO 1914.

JOHN J. PERSHING '86

Considered the second most senior officer in Army history, behind only George Washington, Pershing served as commander of the American Expeditionary Force during World War I. The two-million-plus troops of the AEF made a decisive contribution to the defeat of Imperial Germany. Pershing's abilities as a leader distinguished him among European commanders, and through repeated successes on the battlefield, promoted American prestige around the world. He served as Army Chief of Staff in 1921, and was named General of the Armies of the United States upon his retirement in 1924.

DOUGLAS MacARTHUR '03

After World War I, MacArthur returned to West Point to serve as the Academy's 31st Superintendent from 1919 to 1922. During that time, he was responsible for the revitalization of the Academy. He was later promoted to General of the Army and served as Supreme Allied Commander in the Pacific Theater during World War II. During that time, he received the Medal of Honor for leading defense preparation and operations on the Philippine Islands. He later served as Supreme Allied Commander, Japan, and as commander, United Nations Command in the Far East. He was one of only five officers to be promoted to General of the Army (five stars).

GEORGE S. PATTON JR. '09

"Old Blood and Guts," Patton was one of the most colorful commanders in the Army. During World War II the famed commander of the 2nd Armored Division and later the Third Army displayed courage and daring as prominently as the pair of ivory handled revolvers he wore. Patton accomplished one of the most remarkable feats in military history in December 1944, when he quickly turned the Third Army northward to reinforce the Allied southern flank against the German attack in the Battle of the Bulge. The General's doctrine of aggressive employment of massive armor forces continue to prove themselves in combat arenas around the world.

OMAR N. BRADLEY '15

During his career, Bradley earned a reputation as one of the best infantry commanders in World War II. He commanded the 82nd Airborne and 28th Infantry Divisions before going on to command the 1st Army and the 12th Army Group. After the war he served as Army Chief of Staff from 1948 to 1949 and served as the first Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff from 1949 to 1953. He was the last Army officer to be promoted to General of the Army (five stars), and the Bradley fighting vehicle is named in his honor.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER '15

During World War II, Eisenhower served as Supreme Commander of Allied Forces Europe from 1943 to 1944, during which he led the D-Day invasion of Europe. During that time, he was promoted to General of the Army (five stars). After the war, he served as Army Chief of Staff from 1945 to 1948 and was named President of Columbia University in 1948. He served as the 34th President of the United States from

ROBERT KIMBROUGH

1953 to 1961 and was one of only five officers to be promoted to General of the Army (five stars).

ALEXANDER M. HAIG JR. '47

Haig served as Chief of Staff to President Richard Nixon from 1973 to 1974; Supreme Allied Commander in Europe 1974 to 1979; President of United Technologies Corporation 1980 to 1981 and Secretary of State during the Reagan administration from 1981 to 1982.

FRANK BORMAN '50

An astronaut from 1962 to 1970, Borman commanded the first circumlunar flight of the earth. He later served as President of Eastern Airlines.

FIDEL V. RAMOS '50

One of the Academy's international cadets, Ramos served as a Philippine Army officer after graduation. He eventually became the country's military Chief of Staff and later Secretary of National Defense. He also served as President of the Republic of the Philippines from 1992 to 1998.

EDWIN E. ALDRIN '51

An astronaut from 1963 to 1972, Aldrin participated in the first manned lunar landing with Michael Collins (USMA '52) and was the second man to walk on the moon.

EDWARD WHITE '52

An astronaut from 1962 to 1967, White was the first man to walk in space and was one of the three astronauts killed in the Apollo I disaster in 1967.

H. NORMAN SCHWARZKOPF '56

As Commander-in-Chief, United States Central Command from 1988 to 1991, Schwarzkopf's command ultimately responded to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait with the largest U.S. deployment since the Vietnam War, including portions of the Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps as well as units from dozens of nations around the world. After retiring, Schwarzkopf received the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

PETER M. DAWKINS '59

Dawkins was Cadet Brigade Commander (First Captain of the U.S. Corps of Cadets) as a senior and became the third Heisman

JAMES V. KIMSEY

Trophy winner in Army football history. He later served as chairman and CEO of Primerica.

JAMES V. KIMSEY '62

Kimsey was the founding chairman of America Online, and was named chairman emeritus in 1996. He founded the Kimsey Foundation in 1996.

MICHAEL W. KRZYZEWSKI '69

Krzyzewski served as head basketball coach at West Point from 1974 to 1979 before assuming similar duties at Duke University. Krzyzewski has led the Blue Devils to three national championships and was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in October 2001. He coached the U.S. at the 2008 Olympics in Beijing.

MARTIN E. DEMPSEY '74

General Martin E. Dempsey serves as the 18th Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. In this capacity, he serves as the principal military adviser to the President, the Secretary of Defense and the National Security Council. By law, he is the nation's highest-ranking military officer. Prior to becoming Chairman, the general served as the Army's 37th Chief of Staff. Dempsey served as the Deputy Commander and then Acting Commander of U.S. Central Command. Before becoming Chief of Staff of the Army, he commanded U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command.

RAYMOND T. ODIERNO '76

Odierno commanded the 4th Infantry Division during the fall of 2003 which, along with Special Forces units, captured Saddam Hussein in December of that year. Odierno helped plan and coordinate the raid that netted Iraq's fallen dictator. He currently serves as Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army.

ROBERT S. KIMBROUGH '89

Kimbrough was named one of 11 new astronaut candidates by NASA in May 2004. Kimbrough ranks among Army Baseball's career leaders in saves. A veteran of Desert Storm, he currently works for NASA in Houston as a flight simulation engineer and participated in a space shuttle mission in 2009.

WHY WEST POINT?

FRANK BORMAN

"I think if my dear mother were alive, she would tell you nothing comes close to graduating from West Point, even going to the moon." - ASTRONAUT FRANK BORMAN

"The combination of an education at West Point and the experience of a career in the armed services will prepare you in a unique way for a rich diversity of further career and service in civilian life."

- HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER GLENN DAVIS

GLENN DAVIS

"I believe in the code ... 'Duty, Honor, Country.' I believe in service to one's country. The institution of the armed forces has thrived on its commitment to developing excellence. It is meritocracy in action. Race, religion, wealth, background count not." - PRESIDENT GEORGE H.W. BUSH

GEORGE H.W. BUSH

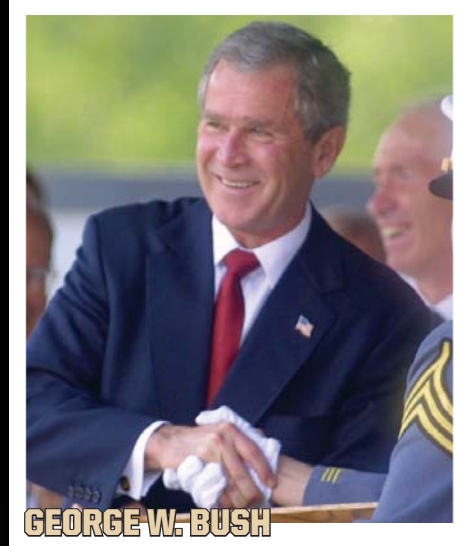

"From the birth of our existence, America has had a faith in the future -- a belief that where we're going is better than where we've been, even when the path ahead is uncertain. To fulfill that promise, generations of Americans have built upon the foundation of our forefathers -- finding opportunity, fighting injustice, forging a more perfect union. Our achievement would not be possible without the Long Gray Line that has sacrificed for duty, for honor, for country." - PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA

"My four years at West Point were wonderful. I loved every minute of it and particularly the last three years. I loved the history. I loved the tradition. I liked wearing the uniform. I felt like I belonged there. Everything was meaningful to me. There is no question in my mind the proudest day of my father's life was the day I graduated from West Point. There is a picture of the two of us standing on 'The Plain' and he is just beaming." - GENERAL H. NORMAN SCHWARZKOPF

"I was so proud to be on the verge of entering the only institution in American society at that time that was totally integrated, in which I would have the opportunity to rise, based solely on performance and ability. The nation always looks to West Point and always looks to each and every one of you to follow always the angels of your nature." - GENERAL COLIN POWELL

"How great it must be, gosh how great it must be to be a member of this Corps. To know that camaraderie of discipline, of manners, of courtesy, of human sensibility, of one's duty to his fellow man." - JOURNALIST WALTER CRONKITE

"In every corner of America, the words 'West Point' command immediate respect. This place where the Hudson River bends is more than a fine institution of learning. The United States Military Academy is the guardian of values that have shaped the soldiers who have shaped the world." - PRESIDENT GEORGE W. BUSH

"This place reeks of honor and discipline. With this show, we've been to a lot of great campuses all throughout the country over the years—and folks, let me tell you - there is absolutely nothing like this! Do yourself a favor and go look up West Point's wikipedia page and compare that to your local college - that ought to shut you down for a while!" - COLIN COWHERD, ESPN RADIO HOST

BRIGADIER GENERAL
TIMOTHY E. TRAINOR
DEAN OF THE ACADEMIC BOARD

Brigadier General Timothy E. Trainor, Ph.D., is the 13th Dean of the Academic Board at West Point. Trainor's former position was Professor and Head of the Department of Systems Engineering at the U.S. Military Academy.

Brig. Gen. Trainor graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree from West Point in 1983 and entered the Engineer Branch of the U.S. Army. As an engineer officer, he served in operational assignments around the world to include Germany, Honduras, Fort Bragg, N.C., Fort Riley, Kan., and Sarajevo, Bosnia.

Brig. Gen. Trainor deployed to Basrah, Iraq, in the summer of 2007 and worked with the UK-led Provincial Reconstruction Team in helping the provincial Iraqi leaders improve their infrastructure revitalization plans.

Brig. Gen. Trainor has a Master of Business Administration from the Fuqua School of Business at Duke University and a Doctorate in Industrial Engineering from North Carolina State University. He is a member of the Military Applications Society of the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences; the Military Operations Research Society; the American Society for Engineering Management; and the American Society of Engineering Education. He is a past president of Epsilon Mu Eta, the National Engineering Management Honor Society.

Brig. Gen. Trainor currently serves on the Board of Fellows for the David Crawford School of Engineering at Norwich University. He teaches courses in engineering management, systems engineering and decision analysis. As an analyst, he helped develop the Installation Status Report that provides the Army a standardized means to assess infrastructure and environmental conditions on installations to support resource allocation decisions. He has applied decision analysis methods in completing an organizational analysis of the Army's Installation Management Agency and in assessing defense security cooperation programs.

BOO CORRIGAN

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Boo Corrigan was named the Academy's director of athletics on Feb. 1, 2011.

"We have an opportunity to work every day with a truly exceptional group of young people," Corrigan said. "The opportunities they receive through intercollegiate athletics will help shape their own leadership styles as they become officers in the U.S. Army. We have a great team that focuses daily on our cadet-athletes. We strive to enhance their overall experience as they develop into the leaders our nation needs."

In his short time as athletic director, Corrigan has strengthened and expanded Army Athletics' relationships in several key areas. In his tenure, Army has secured a new apparel agreement with Nike, a new pouring rights contract with Coke and bringing in the Aspire Group to enhance ticket sales and better serve Army season ticket holders. Corrigan also crafted the Team Army concept, a comprehensive plan designed to add significant value to Army's corporate sponsorships while maintaining the tradition of West Point Athletics.

Under Corrigan, Army has experienced incredible success on the fields of friendly strife, including winning the star series against Navy as well as the overall competition in 2013-14.

Corrigan, who has a proven record as a fundraiser, spearheaded changes in the Army A Club and ticket operations that have resulted in more than $20 million dollars in major gifts and record-setting annual giving during his tenure. During that time the funding for a new lacrosse facility, that is scheduled to break ground, was secured, while raising a record amount in each successive year.

In addition to his role in enhancing revenues for Army Athletics, Corrigan led a strategic planning process that developed a new mission statement and goals for the department.

In his first full three years at West Point, Corrigan has overseen a program that owns 11 Patriot League regular season or tournament championships and sent eight teams to the NCAA postseason (rifle). Thirty-three cadets have earned a major award from their conference.

Last season, Corrigan led Army Athletics to its first star series victory since 1996, going 12-11 in star series competitions against Navy. It was the 12th victory in the series for the Academy. West Point went 18-13 overall against the Mids during the year and has a 34-29-1 mark versus Navy in the last two seasons.

Army finished a very successful campaign in 2013-14 with an overall record of 235-173-7 for a .575 winning percentage, the highest mark since 2004-05.

In 2013-14, the Black Knights brought home league titles in men's tennis, baseball and women's basketball. Army won regular season titles in men's tennis and baseball, while the women's hoops squad won the league tournament and was a 13th seed in the NCAA Tournament. Ten of Army's squads participated in Patriot League postseason, while rifle earned an NCAA berth for the 11th-straight season.

In 2012-13 alone, Army accounted for more than 100 all-league citations. Hockey's Cheyne Rocha and lacrosse's Brendan Buckley each captured the Senior CLASS Award in their respective sports, making Army the only school in the nation to have multiple winners in 2012-13.

During the 2012-13 season, Army teams combined to post an overall record of 236-183-8 for a .562 winning percentage. The winter sports programs had their best season in five years as the women's basketball team won the Patriot League regular season title, the men's basketball team posted its first winning season in 28 years and the rifle squad advanced to the NCAA Championships for the 10th consecutive season.

It was also a great year in the competition against fellow service academies. Army split the season series versus Navy, 16-16-1, marking the best winning percentage against the Mids (.500) since 2004-05. The Black Knights owned a 4-2-1 record against Air Force, improving the record to 20-18-2 (.525) versus service academy foes in 2012-13.

Cadet-athletes have continued to thrive in the classroom under Corrigan's watch. In his two full years, Army has boasted seven Academic All-Americans, including six first-team selections. Lacrosse's Brendan Buckley became the first Army athlete to capture Academic All-American of the Year honors in 2012. In 2011, the Black Knights' football team boasted two first-team CoSIDA Academic All-Americans, a first for the program since 1957. Since the start of the 2011-12 season, Army boasts six Patriot League Scholar-Athletes of the Year, including Buckley, a two-time overall men's winner.

Twenty of Army's 24 NCAA programs scored above the national average in the 2013 NCAA APR report. The men's cross country and wrestling teams earned public recognition for finishing in the top 10 percent of their respective sport. The cross country squad boasted a perfect score of 1,000.

In addition, former football standout Andrew Rodriguez, Class of 2012, became the first Army player to win the National Football Foundation's William V. Campbell Trophy, which is presented annually to the nation's top football scholar-athlete. Rodriguez later was honored with the Amateur Athletic Union's James E. Sullivan Award as the top amateur athlete in the country. He was the first Army player to receive the award since 1946 and was just the third player in history (Peyton Manning, Tim Tebow) to win both the Campbell Trophy and Sullivan Award.

Army has been the focus of national attention since Corrigan's arrival. He was instrumental in supporting the CBS documentary, "Game of Honor," that chronicled the Black Knights' 2011 football season leading up to its annual showdown with arch-rival Navy. Not only was the two-hour program broadcast to a national audience on Showtime, but also won the Emmy Award for Best Sports Documentary. The Army football team was also the focus of a behind-the-scenes book titled, "Soldiers First," written by New York Times writer Joe Drape.

Corrigan has also made his mark on the aesthetics of historic Michie Stadium. In order to upgrade the appearance and provide a better experience for Army fans, Corrigan implemented a Michie Stadium branding and signage campaign that began in 2011. The first phase of the project was completed prior to the 2012 season.

In addition to his duties at West Point, Corrigan has been an active leader in the Patriot League, serving as chairman of the conference's Broadband Committee.

Corrigan, who was the senior associate athletic director for external affairs at Duke University starting in August 2008, brings a wealth of leadership to his post. He is a proven administrator with 18 previous years of experience in all areas of revenue generation, external affairs, staff management and leadership.

Corrigan's chief responsibilities at Duke included the oversight of the Blue Devil corporate partnerships and the Marketing, Promotions, Ticket, Internet Operations, Sports Information and Video Services departments. In only two years at Duke, Corrigan was responsible for the negotiation of multi-media rights to ISP.

A supervisor of the 2009 NCAA Champion women's tennis and 2010 NCAA Champion men's lacrosse programs, Corrigan was a part of three NCAA Championships at Duke in just two seasons. He is currently a member of the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Rules committee and the Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Lacrosse Committee, while serving on the Executive Budget Committee at Duke.

Prior to arriving at Duke in August of 2008, he oversaw Notre Dame's corporate relations and marketing as an associate athletic director for five years. During his stint at Notre Dame, Corrigan spearheaded the redesign of its official athletics website and creation of 15-20 hours of original video content weekly. That resulted in a 35 percent increase in page views and unique users. Corrigan also worked directly with ISP Sports, CSTV, and NBC Sports from a sales and marketing standpoint.

Before joining the staff at Notre Dame, Corrigan spent nearly three years as the associate athletic director for marketing at the United States Naval Academy. He was responsible for turning the marketing department from a deficit to profit in his first year with full budget responsibility for the department. Corrigan also was intimately involved with the re-branding of the Annual Giving Campaign (The Blue and Gold), which led to an increase of 75 percent year over year donations.

His collegiate experience also includes a stint as assistant director of marketing at Florida State from 1992-95.

Corrigan is a 1990 University of Notre Dame graduate with a degree in economics. He is married to the former Kristen Aceto, a former field hockey and lacrosse player at the University of Virginia who also earned a master's degree from the school. The couple has three children, Finley, Tre and Brian. He is the youngest of seven children of Gene and Lena Corrigan.

WEST POINT ACADEMIC GOALS

Graduates anticipate and respond effectively to the uncertainties of a changing technological, social, political and economic world.

Upon achieving this overarching goal, graduates will be able to:

- think and act creatively
- recognize moral issues and apply ethical considerations in decision-making.

- listen, read, speak, and write effectively

- demonstrate the capability and desire to pursue progressive and continual intellectual development, and demonstrate proficiency in six domains of knowledge:

Engineering and Technology
Information Technology

Math and Science
History

Culture
Human Behavior

Long recognized as one of the premier academic institutions in the United States, the U.S. Military Academy provides a challenging curriculum that culminates in a bachelor of science degree upon graduation.

More than 25 fields of study and 19 optional academic majors are available to cadets as West Point strives to educate and train the Corps of Cadets so that each graduate shall have the attributes essential to professional growth as an officer in the regular Army.

The USMA curriculum is also geared toward providing West Point graduates with an intellectual foundation for increasing responsibility (as they ascend the ranks) through a balanced undergraduate education.

The Academy's highly competitive academic environment, coupled with its broad-based academic curriculum, has helped West Point rank fourth nationally in the number of both Rhodes Scholars and Hertz Scholars that it has produced.

The West Point curriculum is divided into three portions - core courses, an engineering sequence and a field of study. Cadets are required to take 26 core courses plus five additional classes in one of seven engineering sequences (mechanical, electrical, civil, nuclear, systems, computer or environmental).

Beginning with the first semester of the junior year, cadets begin to take electives for their chosen field of study. Fields of study require completion of nine additional courses, bringing to 40 the number of classes a cadet must pass in order to receive a degree.

The selection of an optional major involves anywhere from one to four - usually three - additional courses above and beyond the nine field of study electives. This will allow the Cadet to expand his or her realm of study within a chosen discipline.

Physical education and military science courses round out the challenging curriculum. Cadets are required to incorporate classes from both disciplines into each semester's class schedule, creating a standard six-course load for each academic term.
