New England Patriots owner Robert K. Kraft '63 earned both the NCAA Theodore Roosevelt Award and was named one of the NCAA's 100 All-Time Most Influential student-athletes.

Columbia quarterback Paul Governali '43 won the prestigious Maxwell Award, college football's national player of the year in 1942.

End Bill Swiacki '48 was a consensus First Team All-America selection and played a key role in Columbia's monumenal win over Army in 1947.

Tight end Andrew Kennedy '11 was Columbia's last Associated Press First Team All-America honoree in 2010.

NOTABLE COLUMBIA ALL-AMERICANS

WALTER CAMP ALL-AMERICANS (1899-1924)

EDWARD BRUCE '04
Walter Camp All-America 1903 (third team)

One of college football's first great centers … An outstanding blocker for rushing greats William Morley and Harold Weekes … Also played guard … Became an artist after graduation.

WALTER KOPPISCH '25
Walter Camp All-America 1923 (third team), 1924 (first team),
National Football Foundation Hall of Fame

Fast and powerful halfback who was considered the fastest back in the East … Halfback on the last Walter Camp All-America team in 1924 … The only player in Columbia football history to be elected captain in three consecutive seasons — 1922, 1923 and 1924 … After Columbia's disputed 6-2 victory over NYU in 1922, Koppisch smashed the Violets single-handedly in 1923, scoring all three touchdowns in a 21-0 win with runs of 65, 45 and 25 yards … Also starred in track … Became a stockbroker after graduation.

Walter Koppisch '25

WILLIAM MORLEY '02E
Walter Camp All-American 1900 (first team), 1901 (third team),
National Football Foundation Hall of Fame

Regarded as one of the early immortals of Columbia football … A daring, slashing running back and a good kicker, but especially honored as a star defensive back … No less an expert than the great Knute Rockne called Morley one of the two best backs in the era before the forward pass … Teamed with another Lion immortal, Harold Weekes, to engineer a famed 5-0 upset of Yale in 1899 … Following his playing days, he was named Columbia's head coach in 1902, leading the Lions to a 6-4-1 record. He coached the next two teams to 9-1 and 7-3 records, and concluded his coaching career after the 1905 season with a career mark of 26-11-3. The .688 winning percentage is the best-ever among Columbia football coaches … When Columbia dropped football following the 1905 season, Morley returned to his home in the New Mexico territory, opened an establishment called the Navajo Lounge, and worked in the cattle business ... He also owned a successful livestock operation into the 1920s, and was inducted into the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in 1960.

LT. CHESTER ROBB '19
Walter Camp All-America 1918 (second team)

Scored two touchdowns in a 33-0 victory over Union, highlighting 5-1 season in 1918 … Began his college career at Penn State, and in 1918 was at Columbia as a member of the S.A.T.C., forerunner of the R.O.T.C. … Considered to be on active duty while at Columbia, and held the rank of lieutenant at the same time he served as Columbia's captain.

Harold Weekes '03

RICHARD SMITH '04E
Walter Camp All-America 1903 (first team)

Fullback who could run, block and starred on defense … Especially noted for his brilliant play in the 1903 Penn and Cornell games, which probably earned him a spot on the All-America squad … A lawyer and banker in Oregon after graduation.

TOM THORP '05
Walter Camp All-American 1903 (second team), 1904 (second team)

No information available.

HENRY van HOEVENBERG '02
Walter Camp All-America 1902 (third team)

Three-year letterwinner at right end … His brother, Huyler, played left end at Rutgers, and they lined up directly opposite each other in the 1900 and 1901 matchups between the two schools … Also played baseball, wrestled and rowed … Continued in football after graduation as Rutgers head coach in 1902, pro player and referee in 1903 and 1904, and as a Columbia assistant coach in 1905.

PHILIP VON SALTZA '06
Walter Camp All-America 1905 (second team)

No information available.

HAROLD WEEKES '03
Walter Camp All-American 1899 (third team), 1900 (second team),
1901 (first team),
National Football Foundation Hall of Fame

Outstanding back … Placed on Walter Camp's All-Time All-America eleven in 1901 … Walter Camp called Weekes "the best end runner the game has ever seen. He was stockily built, yet not short; powerful and fast, and has that particular burst of speed at the right moment that enabled him to circle almost any end" … In the nation's biggest upset of 1899, Weekes ran for a 70-yard touchdown which (in a different scoring system) gave Columbia a 5-0 shocker over Yale on October 28 … Became a member of the New York Stock Exchange after graduation.

CHARLES WRIGHT '02
Walter Camp All-American 1899 (second team), 1900 (second team)

NOTABLE ALL-AMERICANS SINCE 1935 (FIRST, SECOND, THIRD TEAM)

BRIAN BASSETT '95
1994 (third team)

A quarterback when he entered Columbia, he made a successful transition to tight end and eventually became one of the best in the nation … Caught 34 passes as a junior to lead the Lions, and as a senior in 1994 when he caught 62 passes for 793 yards and three touchdowns … His 62 receptions ranked him second in the Ivy League, and first among the nation's Division 1-AA tight ends … First-team All-Ivy League selection … A co-captain, he helped Columbia to its best season in almost 23 years.

PATRICK EBY '18
2018 (first team)

Four-year long snapper who earned consensus First Team All-America honors by STATS FCS and Phil Steele Magazine. A native of Baltimore, Eby played in 40 straight games and snapped 247 punts, 84 point after attempts and 58 field goals.

JOE FERRARA '35
1933 (first team)

Outstanding tackle of the 1934 Rose Bowl game and was a 1933 consensus All-American … Also All-East and All-Metropolitan pick … Switched to guard in 1934.

WADE FLETCHER '05
2004 (third team)

Played two seasons at tight end with the Lions after transferring from Northern Colorado … 1,449 receiving yards ranked him seventh all-time at Columbia … 874 yards in 2003 was fifth-most ever for a Lion receiver and was the highest total in the nation for a tight end that season … Nine touchdowns in 2003 equaled the most in the NCAA that season for a TE … Caught one of the most memorable touchdowns in Columbia history on a 49-yard "Hail Mary" as time expired in 2003 to give the Lions their first victory at Princeton since 1945.

PAUL GOVERNALI '43
1942 (first team)
National Football Foundation Hall of Fame

Regarded by many as the greatest college passer of his time … Awarded the Maxwell Trophy, equivalent to the Heisman, as college football's player of the year in 1942 … In the era of the run, he completed 175 passes in three seasons for 2,513 yards and 25 touchdowns … 3,333 yards of total offense … Five touchdown passes vs. Fort Monmouth in 1942 is still the Columbia record, 80-plus years later … Once rushed for 180 yards in one game, and broke all of the Lions' punting records … Following graduation, played professionally for five years, two with the Giants, while coaching and attending graduate school at Columbia … Earned a doctorate in education in 1951 … Served many years as head coach at San Diego State (undefeated in 1956) before becoming a full-time professor and chair of the physical education department.

PAUL KALIADES '73
1971 (third team)

Earned national acclaim as a hard-hitting middle linebacker on the 1971 Columbia team which went 6-3 and finished in third place in the Ivy League … Earned All-Ivy, All-East, and All-America honors that season, and even garnered some Heisman Trophy votes … Also handled the placekicking chores as one of Columbia's last straight-ahead kickers … Chosen as the Eastern Player of the Week after a memorable game at Cornell, in which he made almost 20 tackles, most of them head-to-head with All-America running back Ed Marinaro, despite playing with his left arm taped to his chest, due to a separated shoulder! … The following week, kicked the winning field goal with less than a minute to play to give Columbia one of its greatest all-time victories, 31-29 over a Dartmouth team undefeated over two seasons … Lives in New Jersey, where he works in real estate management.

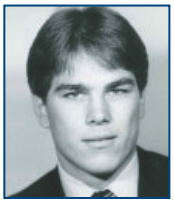

ANDREW KENNEDY '11
2010 (first team)

A tight end, Kennedy earned First Team All-America honors by both the Associated Press and Walter Camp Foundation ... Had an outstanding senior 2010 season for the Lions, leading all FCS tight ends in receptions (50), receiving yards (616) and touchdowns (nine) ... A First Team All-Ivy League honoree, led all Ivy League receivers in touchdown catches, ranked third among Ivy receivers in yards per game and fourth in receptions per game ... Concluded career with 103 receptions for 1,187 yards and 15 touchdown receptions, which ranks fourth all-time at Columbia ... Also finished career ranked among Columbia all-time tight ends in receiving yards, receptions and receiving touchdowns ... Top career game was a seven-catch, 148-yard, two-touchdown contest vs. Princeton, Oct. 2, 2010 ... Scored three touchdowns after catching five passes for 64 yards at Yale, Oct. 30, 2010 ... The three-touchdown game remains tied for the school record for most touchdown catches in a game ... Finished 2010 season with two multi-touchdown catch games.

LOUIS KUSSEROW '49
1948 (first team)

Like Bill Swiacki, Louis Kusserow earned national acclaim for his role in Columbia's 21-20 victory over Army in 1947 … Scored a second-quarter TD against the Cadets, the first allowed by Army that season; scored the game-winner on another run midway through the fourth quarter; cemented the victory by intercepting a pass at midfield during Army's final possession … Made a major impact in his freshman season, when he scored 15 touchdowns … A halfback and fullback, and a full-time safety on defense, Kusserow set numerous school records and still held 11 moving into the 21st century … He still holds records for rushing, scoring and pass interceptions … Among his greatest accomplishments is leading the nation with 193 all-purpose yards per game in 1948, the same year he also led all major college players with 108 points and scored at least one touchdown in every game … That year, he returned a kickoff for 100 yards against Dartmouth, which still remains the longest play in Columbia history … Kusserow went into pro football following graduation with the New York Yankees of the All-American Football Conference and New York Yanks of the NFL … Played four years for Hamilton of the CFL, earning all-star recognition each year and leading the team to the Grey Cup championship … Following his 1957 retirement, he became one of the nation's leading television sports producers for NBC, with six World Series, five Super Bowls (including the first one) and 15 years of professional golf coverage.

Part of Columbia's dynamic passing game in the early 1980s that featured All-America quarterback John Witkowski and wide receiver Bill Reggio ... Earned Third Team All-America honors as a senior in 1983 after finishing with 69 catches, 888 yards and five touchdown receptions ... In 1982, he led the nation in receptions (84) ... Led the Ivy League in receiving yards and set Columbia's season record for most receiving yards in a season with 1,000 as a junior in 1982, a record that stood for 35 years until Josh Wainwright broke it by one yard in 2017 (1,001 yards) ... Also owns Columbia school records for most season receptions (84 in 1982), most Ivy League season receptions (56 in 1982), most receptions per game in a season (8.40 in 1982), and most 100-yard receiving games in a career (10 from 1981-83) ... Over three-year career, caught 176 passes for 2,207 yards and 11 touchdowns.

NOTE: Notable All-Americans listed on these pages are players who were named to First, Second and Third Team All-America honors. Honorable mention honorees are not listed.

SID LUCKMAN '39
1938 (first team)
National Football Foundation Hall of Fame

Columbia has had many great quarterbacks, but Sid Luckman is the only one in both the College and Pro Football Halls of Fame … Luckman is hailed as the man who elevated pro football to the level it now holds by revolutionizing the game. With Luckman at the helm of the Chicago Bears, the T-formation became the most feared tool in football's chest … Led the Bears to four NFL championships, including the historic and devastating 73-0 rout of the Washington Redskins in the 1940 title game ... Threw six touchdown passes in a game in 1943, then topped it with seven against the New York Giants ... That same year, in the 1943 NFL championship game, against the same Redskins, he tossed five more TD passes, an NFL title game record that stood untouched until 1990 … At Columbia, Luckman was an All-America quarterback, a star defensive back, and a great punter … He gained national prominence, especially after he led the Lions to 1938 upsets of Army, 20-18, and Yale, 27-14 ... He completed 10 of 17 passes vs. Yale, including two of more than 50 yards, punted for a 40-yard average, ran the ball 20 times for 103 yards, kicked all the Lions' field goals and extra points, and was the outstanding defensive player of the game! … The Bears made him their No. 1 draft pick in 1939.

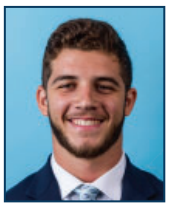

CLIFF MONTGOMERY '34
1933 (first team)
National Football Foundation Hall of Fame

Quarterback and captain of the 1933 team, which lost only one game and went on to win the Rose Bowl … Helped to win the game by leading the lone scoring drive in 7-0 victory, and was named Rose Bowl's Player of the Game … It was his fake handoff to Ed Brominski on the famed KF-79 play that sprung Al Barabas loose on his game-winning touchdown … Starting QB on 1932 team, considered Columbia's greatest to that point — the Lions were 7-1-1, their only loss to Brown, 7-6, by a single point … Columbia went 25-3-1 during his career … Selected for the first College Football All-Star Game, in Chicago in 1934 … Played professionally with the Brooklyn Dodgers football team before going into business … Had long career with McGraw-Hill publishing … As United States Navy Lieutenant Commander during World War II, commanded landing craft group in landing at Okinawa, for which he earned the Silver Star ... For many years also served as a prominent college football referee.

MIKE PYSZCZYMUCHA '71
1969 (HM), 1970 (third team)

Regarded as one of the best centers in college football in 1970 … Fierce run blocker who specialized in the pancake block, and equally outstanding as a pass blocker, although standing only 5-11 … Named Columbia's player of the week several times, a rare honor for a lineman … Native of Belgium who grew up on Long Island … Career FBI agent … Fluent in Russian, he served in Moscow for many years … Later changed his name to "Pysczymuka" because his given name had too many letters to fit on various forms ... Had two sons who both played football at Rutgers.

MIKE ROUSSOS '22
2019 (third team)

Entertaining return specialist and wide receiver with an uncanny ability to change pace and direction on punts and kickoffs ... After only two seasons at Columbia, tied or set Columbia school records for most combined return yards in a season (907), most career 50-yard returns (6), and most career return touchdowns (3) ... Earned STATS FCS Third Team All-America honors and HeroSports All-America Sophomore First Team honors in 2019 after earning Freshman All-America accolades as a first-year in 2018 ... Earned First Team All-Ivy League honors in back-to-back seasons for the first time since Jeff Adams (2009-11) ... Breakout game came in the last contest of the 2018 season vs. Cornell when he returned a punt 91 yards for a touchdown, then with 45 seconds left and Columbia trailing 21-17, picked up a squib kickoff and weaved through the Big Red defense 87 yards for the game-winning touchdown and Lion win.

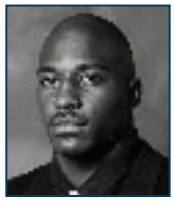

BILL SWIACKI '48
1947 (first team)
National Football Foundation Hall of Fame

Outstanding receiver with both Columbia and the New York Giants, Swiacki will always be remembered for his heroics in Columbia's landmark 21-20 victory over Army in 1947 that snapped the Cadets' 32-game unbeaten streak … Caught nine passes in the game, including a catch for the Lions' second touchdown that The New York Times said "will have to rank with the great catches of all time." … Set up Columbia's winning TD with another great catch, for 26 yards to the Army three yard line … Also set Lion records for receptions and yards that season … Named to 16 All-America teams … Eighth in the 1947 Heisman voting … Starred at Holy Cross for two seasons before serving 3 1/2 years in the Army Air Corps as a second lieutenant and navigator on a B-17, then enrolled at Columbia after the war … Fine baseball catcher who signed with the Boston Red Sox … Played three seasons with the NFL's New York Giants, setting three more records, and two with the Detroit Lions, including the 1952 NFL championship season … Served two years as head coach of the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL, and was an assistant coach with the Giants and L.A. Rams … Son Bill, Jr., was a three-sport star at Amherst who was drafted by the L.A. Dodgers and pitched in their system.

One of the most prolific quarterbacks in Ivy League history … Despite playing on largely unsuccessful teams, completed 613 of 1,176 passes (52%) for 7,849 yards and 56 touchdowns — in just three varsity seasons! … As a junior, hit 250 of 453 passes for 3,050 yards and 29 touchdowns …Followed that with 234 for 429 as a senior, for 3,152 yards and 23 TDs … Still holds Columbia game, season and career records for pass attempts, completions, yards and touchdowns … At one time, held many Ivy League and some national records … Best known for two games — a 1982 contest at Dartmouth in which he was 39 of 64 for 466 yards and five touchdowns, and the final game of his career, in 1983 at Brown, when he led the Lions from a 42-14 fourth-quarter deficit to narrowly miss a victory, as the Lions lost 42-36 … Also a fine hitter on the Columbia baseball team … Drafted in the sixth round by the Detroit Lions, and moved from No. 3 to the starting quarterback by the end of the 1984 season; also played with the Houston Oilers, and the London Monarchs of the WLAF … Lives in the Buffalo area, and is in the banking business.

MARCELLUS WILEY '97
1996 (third team)

Came to Columbia as a running back and made a position switch to defensive end, ultimately becoming one of the best two-way players in modern Ivy League history … Dominant defender who used his speed, quickness, strength, and 6-foot-5, 270-pound frame to make Third-Team All-American, First Team All-East and First Team All-Ivy League in 1996 … Posted 63 tackles, 17 for losses, with 6.5 sacks, eight passes defensed in 1996 … Also blocked three field goal attempts … As an imposing short-yardage tailback, ran for 118 yards on 32 carries and scored five touchdowns, three against Holy Cross … Co-captain as Columbia went 8-2 in 1996, its best record in 51 years, and finished second in the Ivy League … As a sophomore running back, led the Lions in rushing (421 yards) and scoring … Rushed for 736 yards and scored 18 touchdowns in his career, while posting 97 tackles, 26 for losses … Broke up 13 passes, blocked four field goals, and recovered eight fumbles … Drafted in the second round of the 1997 NFL draft, the 53rd player selected, by the Buffalo Bills; after four seasons, joined the San Diego Chargers … All-Pro and played in the Pro Bowl (2002) … In 2002, Wiley had one interception for a 40-yard return and had 31 solo and five assisted tackles … He also had six sacks … Went on to enjoy a 10-year career in the National Football League with the Buffalo Bills (1997-2000), San Diego Chargers (2001-03), Dallas Cowboys (2004) and Jacksonville Jaguars (2005-06) ... Currently works as a television analyst for Fox Sports and previously was a commentator for ESPN.

CAREER PASSING: 14,686 YARDS, 137 TDS.

In his 12 NFL seasons with the Chicago Bears, Sid Luckman became the first successful T-formation quarterback. One game in Luckman's second season, the 1940 NFL title game, which saw the Bears defeat the Washington Redskins, 73-0, showcased the explosive possibilities of the T attack. Almost immediately, many other pro teams began to adopt the new formation.

Bears' owner and coach, George Halas, first presented Sid with a Bears T-formation playbook when he was practicing for the College All-Star game in 1939. Astonished and somewhat alarmed by the complexities of the new system, Sid was not an instant success. He fumbled frequently, had trouble with handoffs, and in general flunked his first T test. Halas shifted Luckman to halfback for a while before making another effort, which, on the second try, paid dividends.

Not all teams had the success with the T-formation that the Bears enjoyed. Chicago won four NFL championships, just missed a fifth, and Luckman was a major reason for the success. The crafty quarterback was named first- or second-team all-league from 1940 through 1948 and won the NFL's Most Valuable Player honors in 1943.

Although Sid may be best remembered for the 73-0 victory over the Redskins, because the Bears went ahead so early in the game, he actually had to pass only six times, completing four for 102 yards and a touchdown. Apparently, just the threat of Luckman and the T was enough to keep defenses off balance. Luckman had many more outstanding games but two, both in 1943, stand out above the rest. On November 14, Sid Luckman Day at the Polo Grounds, he passed for a record-tying seven touchdowns in a 56-7 win over the New York Giants. Later that year, in the championship game against the Redskins, he threw for 276 yards and five touchdowns in a 41-21 triumph.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION HALL OF FAME INDUCTEES

PAUL GOVERNALI • INDUCTED 1986

Years at Columbia: 1940-42; Position: Halfback; Jersey Number: 41; Height: 5-11; Weight: 186
High School: New York, N.Y. (Evander Childs H.S.); Place of Birth/Date: New York, N.Y.; Jan. 5, 1921;
Place of Death/Date: San Diego, Calif./Feb. 14, 1978

A native New Yorker, Paul Governali went right from stardom at Evander Childs High School to stardom at Columbia. A skillful passer and play caller under coach Lou Little, Paul won honors as an All-American from the All-American Board, Associated Press, Colliers and United Press. Among his additional honors were All-Scholastic at Evander Childs (1938), All-America at Columbia (1942); AP Best All- Around Eastern College Athlete (1942); Maxwell Memorial Award Winner (1942); First Runner-up Heisman Trophy (1942). Paul was also All-Ivy League in baseball at Columbia in 1942 and was selected to the All-Time Columbia baseball team. He served in the Marines from 1943 to 1946, then played football for two years for the Boston Yanks and the New York Giants. From 1949 to 1956 he returned to Columbia to work for his doctorate and to assist coach Little. Prior to his death in 1978, at the age of 57, he was Professor of Physical Education at San Diego State University.

PERCY HAUGHTON • INDUCTED 1951

Place of Birth/Date: Staten Island, N.Y./July 11, 1876; Place of Death/Date: New York, N.Y./Oct. 27, 1924

The Columbia coach was near death on October 27, 1924. Percy Haughton had been a hard-driving man, yet his final words were ones of gratitude and respect for his players. Just before the end, Haughton whispered, "Tell the squad I'm proud of them." Indeed, Haughton was a human contradiction but a gifted coach in a career that stretched a broken path from 1899 to 1924 and included tenures at Cornell (1899- 1900), Harvard (1908-1916) and Columbia (1923-1924). His overall record was 91-17-6, and his Harvard teams enjoyed an unbeaten streak (30-0-3) of 33 games in 1911-15. With the Crimson, Haughton was 71-7-5 over the 9 seasons. Haughton had starred with Harvard in his playing days, and even then, his shrewd, innovative mind was evident. Later, he would become the first to deploy the hidden-ball trick and the "Mouse Trap" play, in which his defense would allow the enemy through the line before chopping him down from the side. In his book, "Football and How to Watch It," Percy wrote, "Football is a miniature war game played under somewhat more civilized rules of conduct, in which the team becomes the military force of the school or university it represents."

WALTER KOPPISCH • INDUCTED 1981

Place of Birth/Date: Pendleton, N.Y/June 6, 1901; Place of Death/Date: New York, N.Y./Nov. 2, 1952

In the Columbia-New York University game of 1924, the NYU defense knew that victory depended upon its ability to stop the Lions' fleet-footed Walter Koppisch. However, the NYU effort failed miserably. Koppisch stunned the rival defense with electrifying touchdown runs of 76, 67 and 55 yards- all in one quarter- as Columbia register a 40-0 win. Koppisch's performance prompted Lion coach Percy Haughton to proclaim: "He's the best back I've ever coached!" But Koppisch was also an all-around talent. He was also a bone-crushing blocker on offense and a defensive player of bruising tackling abilities. A four-year letterman for Columbia, Koppisch captured All-America recognition in both his junior and senior seasons. And in 1970, when Columbia celebrated its 100th anniversary of football competition, Koppisch was a leading vote-getter in that centennial balloting. Ironically, one of his teammates during those early seasons of the 1920s was to gain greatness in another sport. Lou Gehrig, the New York Yankee baseball legend, was a lineman for the Lions, clearing paths for Koppisch. Koppisch was truly one of the outstanding breakaway runners in the history of Eastern football.

LOU LITTLE • INDUCTED 1960

Place of Birth/Date: Leominster, Mass./Dec. 6, 1893; Place of Death/Date: Delray Beach, Fla./May 28, 1979

He was a man who cared more for the personal growth and well-being of his players than he did for his won-lost record. Lou Little was a gifted teacher of football but, more importantly, a coach who seemed more interested in being a humanitarian. A Leominster, Mass. native, Little became a strapping star tackle at Penn (1916-19). From 1920-23, he was a captain and coach of the Frankford Yellow Jackets, a leading pro team of the period. Serving as head coach at Georgetown from 1924-29, Little's teams compiled a 41-12-3 record. Several weeks before he began his tenure as head coach at Columbia in 1930, he told a group of alumni, "I did not come to Columbia to fail!" Over the next 27 years, Little's Lions were seldom out-thought, never out-fought. From 1936, until his retirement in 1956, he had only six winning campaigns, yet he developed many of the game's leading players, including Sid Luckman, Gene Rossides, Lou Kusserow, Ventan Yablonski and Al Barabas. Little's pet single-wing play was the double-spin run or pass and his teams used it with immense success. A past president of the AFCA and chairman of it's Rules Committee, Little retired in 1956 and became a member of the NFF's Executive Committee. His Columbia record: 27 years, 1930-56, 110-116-10. Career record: 33 years, 1924-56, 151-128-13.

SID LUCKMAN • INDUCTED 1960

Years at Columbia: 1936-38; Position: Halfback; Jersey Number: 42; Height: 5-11; Weight: 190;
High School: Brooklyn, N.Y. (Erasmus Hall H.S.);
Place of Birth/Date: Brooklyn, N.Y./Nov. 21, 1916; Place of Death/Date: North Miami Beach, Fla./July 5, 1998

Sid Luckman played left halfback for Columbia from 1936-38. He ran, passed, punted, kicked extra points, called signals and played safety on defense. In his first game, he ran 40 yards for a touchdown and threw passes for two touchdowns against Maine. In his senior year he led Columbia to a 20-18 upset of Army. Luckman returned a kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown, threw two touchdown passes and kicked an extra point. Columbia was only 3-6, but The Sporting News named him as an All-America halfback. Luckman never played in the T formation in college but the Chicago Bears drafted him because he was a great passer. They made him a T formation quarterback, and in 1940 he helped the Bears to their greatest victory, a 73-0 walloping of the Washington Redskins in the NFL championship game. His college coach, Lou Little said, "there is no better back in football." In 1960 both Luckman and Little were inducted into the NFF's College Football Hall of Fame. Luckman played 12 years with the Bears, threw 139 touchdown passes, was all-pro four times, league MVP in 1943, was named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1965. He coached at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy.

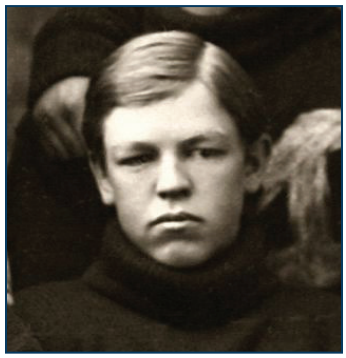

CLIFF MONTGOMERY • INDUCTED 1963

High School: Brackenridge, Pa. (Har-Brack Union H.S.), Saltsburg, Pa. (Kiski Prep);
Place of Birth/Date: Pittsburgh, Pa./Sept. 17, 1910; Place of Death/Date: Mineola, N.Y./April 21, 2005

It was the 1934 Rose Bowl, and heavily favored Stanford was dominating Columbia despite a scoreless deadlock early in the second period. Cliff Montgomery was about to call the most famous play in Columbia football history a newly-devised option-type play which was known as "KF-79". On two attempts, the play had failed, yet Montgomery decided to "give it one more chance." His Lions took their positions on an unbalanced line, the ball was snapped, Montgomery handed to fleet little halfback Al Barabas - 18 yards - Touchdown! Columbia won, 7-0, and Montgomery was voted the game's Most Outstanding Player. The imaginative Lion quarterback of coach Lou Little's Lions would gain All-America mention. Calls like the KF-79 play of the 1934 Rose Bowl were Montgomery's strength as he displayed a quarterbacking persistence which led Columbia to a 22-3-2 record during his three varsity seasons. Montgomery played a season with the football Brooklyn Dodgers before becoming one of the country's leading football officials. Montgomery enlisted in the U.S. Navy during World War II and rose to the rank of Lieutenant Commander. He was decorated for his participation in the invasion of Okinawa.

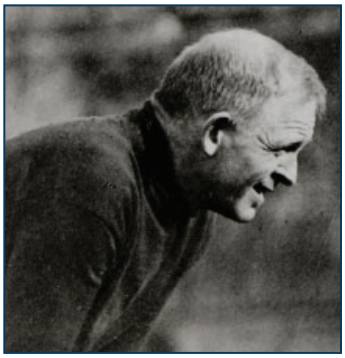

BILL MORLEY • INDUCTED 1971

High School: Pennsylvania Military Academy
Place of Birth/Date: Cimarron, N.M./March 17, 1876; Place of Death/Date: Pasadena, Calif./May 27, 1932

The Columbia backfield of 1899 could strike from every position, often with electrifying results. It was that backfield which became the first Lion squad to beat Yale, and the 5-0 victory over the Elis was carried off through the efforts of this Hall of Famer, Bill Morley. Morley's exciting gains and devastating blocks took the heart out of the Eli defense. Columbia finished at 8-3-0 that season. After playing one season at Michigan in 1895, Morley went on to receive All-America honors in 1900 and 1901 with Columbia. During his three Columbia seasons, Morley helped the Blue and White amass a record of 23-11-1. The following year, Morley became the first Columbia graduate to assume the head coaching duties at the school. He was equally successful as a coach, chalking up a 26-11-4 record during four seasons at the Columbia helm. His 1902 team finished 9-1, losing only to Yale. After his brief service as Columbia coach, Morley returned to his native New Mexico where he worked as a mining engineer and rancher until his death in 1932.

FRANK "BUCK" O'NEILL • INDUCTED 1951

Years at Columbia: 1920-22; Position: Head Coach; Schools: Colgate, Syracuse, Columbia
Place of Birth/Date: Syracuse, N.Y./March 6, 1875; Place of Death/Date: Hamilton, N.Y./April 21, 1958

Frank "Buck" O'Neill played football at Williams College. He was head coach at Colgate in 1902, again in 1904-05. His teams had an 18-8-2 record there. O'Neill moved to Syracuse and coached there for three terms: 1906-07, 1913-15, and 1917-19. He also maintained a law practice during these years. His 8-year coaching totals at Syracuse were 52-19-6. O'Neill moved to Columbia and in 1920-22 had an 11-14 record. All told from 1902-22, he was a head coach 14 years with a combined record of 81-41-8. O'Neill was named a charter member of the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame in 1951.

GEORGE SANFORD • INDUCTED 1971

Place of Birth/Date: Ashland, N.Y./June 4, 1870; Place of Death/Date: New York, N.Y./May 23, 1938

At the entrance to Rutgers Stadium, inscribed upon a bronze plaque, is a tribute to George Sanford. It was financed and installed by his players, the men "...he inspired to deeds beyond themselves." Undoubtedly, Sanford was an inspirational leader of men, a gentleman who excelled as both player and coach. Sanford played center on the 1891 and 1892 Yale teams which held their 26 opponents scoreless. Though he was never chosen to an All-America team, a 1927 poll named him the all-time Yale center. Sanford began his coaching career at Columbia (1899-1901), called in to revive the football program which had been abandoned after the 1891 campaign. His 1899 team defeated Yale for the first time ever, and it was at Columbia that Sanford developed the famous "Flying Hurdle Play" which saw young Harold Weekes catapulted over the scrimmage line. Moving to Rutgers (1913- 1923), Sanford had marked success as his club rolled to 56- 32-5. He was hailed as a "miracle worker" in 1917, after his Rutgers team beat heavily-favored Newport Naval Reserve All-Stars, 14-0. Between his terms at Columbia and Rutgers, Sanford devoted his energy toward a successful insurance brokerage business.

BILL SWIACKI • INDUCTED 1976

Years at Columbia: 1942, 46-47; Position: End; Jersey Number: 81; Height: 6-2; Weight: 198
High School: Southbridge, Mass. (Westbury H.S.)
Place of Birth/Date: Southbridge, Mass./Oct. 2, 1922; Place of Death/Date: Sturbridge, Mass./July 7, 1976

He will be forever known as the man who upset Army, Bill Swiacki, Columbia's acrobatic Lion. On an October afternoon in 1947, the Cadets brought an incredible 32-game streak to Columbia's Baker Field, only to have a little-known end named Swiacki rise to stardom. Swiacki caught 9 passes that afternoon, one for a touchdown; but no one would forget the catch that downed the Cadets, 21-20. Late in the final period, Columbia had the ball at the Army 27 when quarterback Gene Rossides dropped back to pass. The throw was a low liner and the crowd began to moan in despair when Swiacki flung his out-stretched body toward the ball. The groans suddenly erupted into wild cheers as Swiacki's long fingers clutched the ball just above the turf and pulled it in at the Army three-yard line. Two plays later, Lou Kusserow scored and Ventan Yablonski kicked the conversion point that spelled victory for the Lions. The version of Swaicki's falling, diving, sliding body would be indelibly etched in the memories of all who witnessed that incredible catch. Swiacki played at Holy Cross in 1942, served in World War II, and finished his college career at Columbia.

HAROLD WEEKES • INDUCTED 1954

High School: Oyster Bay, N.Y. (Oyster Bay H.S.);
Place of Birth/Date: Oyster Bay, N.Y./April 2, 1880; Place of Death/Date: New York, N.Y./July 6, 1950

A human projectile, Harold Weekes participated in one of the most dangerous of all football plays - the "flying hurdle." Mounted on the shoulders of teammates, Weekes was catapulted head-long across the line of scrimmage, landing on his feet and streaking away from the stunned defenders. He was gifted with unique agility and became known for his long-yardage runs. For example, as a freshman in 1899, Harold broke loose and streaked 55 yards to a touchdown that proved the decisive points in a 5-0 upset of previously unbeaten Yale. It was Columbia's first victory over the Elis in 18 seasons. For the next three years, Harold Weekes continued to dazzle enemy defenses, earning All-America honors each season. Walter Camp claimed Weekes "was powerful and fast, and had that certain burst of speed at just the right moment." During Weekes' four-year career at Columbia, the Blue and White won 29 games, 19 by shutout. Following graduation, Weekes worked as a successful broker on the New York Stock Exchange. He died in 1950.

WILLIAM V. CAMPBELL • THE CAMPBELL TROPHY • ESTABLISHED 1990

Named in honor of William V. Campbell, the former chairman of Intuit, former player and head coach at Columbia University and the 2004 recipient of the NFF's Gold Medal, the trophy has become the most prestigious and desirable "academic" award in college football. The trophy recognizes an individual as the absolute best in the country for his academic success, football performance and exemplary community leadership. In 2014, Fidelity Investments became the trophy's presenting sponsor, while the New York Athletic Club became its official home in 2013. Known as "The Coach of Silicon Valley," Bill Campbell became one of our country's most influential business leaders, playing critical roles in the success of Apple, Google, Intuit and countless other high tech companies. The captain of the 1961 Columbia Ivy League championship team, he found his true calling after an unlikely career change at age 39 from football coach to advertising executive. His ability to recruit, develop, and manage talented executives - all lessons learned on the gridiron - proved to be a critical component of his ability to inspire his business teams to the highest levels of success. Later in life, Campbell was driven by a heartfelt desire to give back, and he quietly gave away tens of millions of dollars to multiple charities while also finding an hour and half each autumn weekday to coach an eighth-grade boys and girls flag-football team near his home in Palo Alto, Calif. Campbell passed away April 18, 2016, at the age of 75.

Ken Germann '43

KEN GERMANN

The award is named for Ken Germann '43, who was a two-sport athletic standout in football (1940-42) and basketball (1941-42). He also worked as a football assistant coach from 1958-60, and served as Columbia's Director of Intercollegiate Athletics from 1968-73. As athletic director, he realized a lifelong dream when he succeeded George Furey in 1968. In addition to guiding Columbia Athletics through a turbulent period for the University in the late 1960s, he was a key figure in the drive for a new gymnasium on the Morningside Heights campus, which culminated in the opening of the Marcellus Hartley Dodge Physical Fitness Center in December 1974. Germann had come from Rutgers, where he spent seven years as assistant director of athletics and head lightweight football coach.

MANIATTY-REMMER

The Maniatty-Remmer Unsung Hero Award is given to a player whose role is not always obvious to the outside observer, but without his contribution, the team would not be as successful.

The award is named after Connie S. Maniatty '43 and his friend Eugene Remmer '43, '43ENG. A Wall Street executive, University trustee emeritus and generous donor, Maniatty was a former football player, three-year Columbia letterwinner in baseball and avid tennis player later in life. Maniatty's support for Columbia and its athletics programs was legendary, particularly his work raising millions of dollars for the construction of Lawrence A. Wien Stadium. A former Columbia trustee, Remmer was the founder and chairman of Chemtex Inc., an engineering company that specialized in the export of technology to developing countries. A rower at Columbia, Remmer, was an oarsman in his undergraduate years and was captain of the varsity boat in his junior and senior years. He received the Alumni Athletic Award in 1981. Columbia's second floor suite at Lawrence A. Wien Stadium is also named the Maniatty-Remmer Lounge.

TOUCHDOWN ON GAME-OPENING KICKOFF

Oct. 18, 1924
George Pease runs 90 yards for a touchdown on the opening kickoff at Penn. Columbia ends up losing 10-7 at Franklin Field.

Nov. 28, 1936
George Furey receives the opening kickoff and rambles 79 yards through the Stanford defense to give the Lions a 7-0 lead. That proved to be the only score in the game as Columbia claims a 7-0 win over Stanford at the Polo Grounds.

Harvard, Sept. 21, 1996	Win	20-13	Bobby Thomason hits David Ramirez for a 12-yard TD pass to give Columbia a walk-off victory in overtime. Columbia's defense stops Harvard on its possession as Roy Hanks intercepts a pass to seal the win. Marcellus Wiley blocks a 23-yard field goal attempt by Harvard to preserve a 13-13 tie in regulation, sending the game into the extra period.
at Penn, Oct. 12, 1996	Win	20-19	In overtime, Matt Linit breaks a 19-19 tie as he converts the extra point following a Dennis Lee TD pass from Paris Childress on third-and-10 from the 25-yard line. Penn scores the first touchdown in overtime to take a 19-13 lead, but Columbia's Brett Bryant blocks the extra point. Linit hits a 44-yard fourth quarter FG to send the game into overtime.
Princeton, Sept. 30, 2000	Loss	24-27	Columbia misses a FG on its first overtime possession, then Princeton's Taylor Northrop converts a 24-yard walk-off FG to give the Tigers a 27-24 victory. Princeton sends the game in OT with a FG with 24 seconds left in regulation and overcame a 24-14 deficit with 7:22 left in the game.
Bucknell, Sept. 22, 2001	Loss	20-23	Sam Warren's potential game-tying 47-yard field goal sailed wide-right as Bucknell claims a 23-20 OT win at Columbia. Bucknell's Chris Lundberg converted a 31-yard FG to give the Bison the lead. Bucknell sent the game into overtime with a 90-yard, 18-play TD scoring drive that ate up 8:51 of time.
Princeton, Oct. 2, 2004	Loss	26-27	Princeton's Jon Veach scores on a 1-yard TD run and Derek Javarone converts the extra point to give the Tigers a 27-26 win. The first possession in overtime saw Rashad Biggers put Columbia up 26-20 with a 17-yard TD run, but Nick Rudd's extra point attempt was blocked. Princeton sends the game into overtime on a 27-yard field goal with 2:11 left in regulation.
Brown, Nov. 19, 2011 (2OT)	Win	35-28	Columbia's defense used a goal line stand to stop Brown on a fourth-and-goal from the 1-yard line to preserve the double overtime victory. Sean Brackett runs for a 16-yard TD for the game-winning score in the second overtime period before Brown gains possession and the Lions' register their goal line stand. Columbia came back from a 21-7 deficit with two Sean Brackett fourth quarter TDs to send the game into OT.
Penn, Oct. 14, 2017	Win	34-31	Columbia wins on a walk-off 24-yard TD pass from Anders Hill to Josh Wainwright in OT. Penn took a 31-28 lead after a 41-yard field goal on the first possession of OT. The Homecoming crowd of 13,081 fans stormed the field after Hill found Wainwright open in the end zone and watching Columbia battle back from a 21-7 fourth quarter deficit with 21 straight points.

at Princeton, Sept. 30, 2017	28-24	With 1:12 to play, Ronald Smith takes a pass from Anders Hill and races 63 yards down the middle of the field for the game-winning score. A Ben McKeighan interception seals win for Lions.
Penn, Oct. 14, 2017	34-31 (OT)	Columbia wins on a walk-off 24-yard TD pass from Anders Hill to Josh Wainwright in OT. Penn took a 31-28 lead after a 41-yard field goal on the first possession of OT. The Homecoming crowd of 13,081 fans stormed the field after watching Columbia battle back from a 21-7 fourth quarter deficit with 21 unanswered points.
Cornell, Nov. 17, 2018	24-21	First-year Mike Roussos returns a squib kickoff 87 yards for a touchdown and 24-21 Columbia lead with 45 seconds to play. The play occurs after Cornell grabbed a 21-17 lead after scoring a touchdown with 58 seconds to play. Roussos also returned a punt 91 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter.
Harvard, Nov. 9, 2019	17-10 (OT)	Ben Mathiasmeier steps in front of a Harvard pass for a walk-off interception. Alex Felkins sends the game into overtime on a 26-yard field goal with 1:45 left in regulation. Mike Roussos scores on a 1-yard touchdown run after Ty Lenhart hits Rory Schlageter for a 25-yard pass.

Ron Szczypkowski makes a diving catch on defender Art Boland at Baker Field vs. Cornell on Nov. 3, 1956. The game marked legendary head coach Lou Little's final home game coached at Columbia. Three weeks later, Szczpkowski catches another touchdown pass from quarterback Claude Benham in the game's final two minutes to send Little out in style with a 18-12 victory at Rutgers (Nov. 24, 1956).

Safety Ben Mathiasmeier intercepts this pass in overtime to secure a 17-10 win over Harvard on Nov. 9, 2019.

Lou Little (seated, in suit) coached Columbia for 27 years from 1930-56. He is Columbia's all-time coaching leader in victories (110), seasons (27) and games (236). Since he served as head coach at both institutions, the Columbia-Georgetown annual football series is named in his honor: the Lou Little Cup. To his left is Aldo "Buff" Donelli (sailor's hat). Donelli was Little's assistant from 1945-46 and later became Columbia's head coach.

Note: All positions are denoted in one of three ways: Head Coach, Assistant Coach and Staff. All coordinators, position coaches and one-year coaching staff assignments are denoted as an "Assistant." All administrative positions are denoted as "Staff." For specific coaching staff assignments, see the Year-by-Year Coaching Staff chart.

Current UCLA head coach Chip Kelly was an assistant coach at Columbia from 1990-91. Kelly has also served as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, San Francisco 49ers and at Oregon.

Current Florida head coach Dan Mullen was an assistant coach at Columbia from 1996-97. Mullen has also worked as the head coach at Mississippi State and Offensive Coordinator at Florida.

Former Columbia assistant coach Sean Ryan (2003-05) is now the Quarterbacks coach for the Houston Texans. Ryan has spent the last 10 years in the NFL with the New York Giants and Texans.

STUYVESANT FISH

NUMERICAL ROSTER

This list is not a letterwinners list, it is simply a list of players who wore each jersey during each given year. The list was taken from rosters printed in game programs and other sources through the years. If you have any additions and/or corrections to this list, please e-mail Greg Hotchkiss at gh2469@columbia.edu. Through 1942 season.

YEAR-BY-YEAR FOOTBALL LETTERWINNERS

This list contains the names of those players who have worn and earned the Varsity Football C from 1917-current day on a year-by-year basis. Through the years, the criteria for earning a letter has changed. If there are any edits or additions to be made, please contact Greg Hotchkiss in the Columbia Athletics Communications Office at gh2469@columbia.edu.

MEMORABLE COLUMBIA-BROWN GAMES

Nov. 17, 1919
Columbia shocks the football world by tying Brown 7-7 at South Field. The Lions stop a 90-yard TD drive by Brown in the closing seconds.

Sept. 24, 1955
Claude Benham hits Ed Spraker for a 7-yard touchdown pass and Roy Altman connects on the extra point to give Columbia a 14-12 third quarter lead and eventual victory.

Sept. 30, 1961
In what remains Columbia's largest all-time Ivy League win, the Lions score on each of their first four possessions and blank Brown 50-0. Russ Warren scores three touchdowns, two rushing and one on a blocked punt return.

Nov. 16, 1966
Jim O'Connor rushes for an Ivy League record 225 yards and scores a career-high four touchdowns as Columbia rallies to claim a 40-38 decision over Brown at Baker Field. Columbia trailed 24-6 at the end of the first quarter and 31-26 at halftime. The Lions take the lead when O'Connor scores on a 34-yard touchdown run and quarterback Marty Domres finds Richard Brown for a two-point conversion. O'Connor adds another touchdown for a 40-31 lead. The Lions total 396 rushing yards and 29 first downs in the game.

Nov. 19, 1983
Trailing 42-7, Columbia amazingly recovers three consecutive onside kicks en route to scoring 29 points in a fourth quarter comeback. Quarterback John Witkowski throws four fourth quarter touchdowns as the Lions storm back into the game. But in the end, Brown recovered the fourth onside kick and ran out the final two minutes of the game. On the day, Witkowski throws four TD passes, completes 30-47 passes for 378 yards with only one interception. Columbia falls to Brown 42-36.

Nov. 19, 1988
Columbia rushes for a school-record 444 yards on 57 carries in a 31-13 win over Brown at Wien Stadium. Greg Abbruzzese (198 yards) and Solomon Johnson (145 yards) lead the attack.

Nov. 23, 1996
Bobby Thomason hits David Ramirez for an 11-yard touchdown with two minutes left to give Columbia a 31-27 comeback win over Brown.

Nov. 18, 2006
Jon Rocholl converts a 27-yard field goal with three seconds to play to secure a 22-21 comeback win for Columbia. Brown led 14-0 in the first quarter and 21-12 with 13 minutes to play, but the Lions cut the deficit to 21-19 when Jordan Davis scores on a 6-yard run. The Lions drive 63 yards on 14 plays to set up the game-winning field goal.

Nov. 11, 2011
In the longest game in Columbia Football history (two overtimes), the Lions use a goal line stand to stop Brown on a fourth-and-goal from the 1-yard line to preserve a 35-28 double overtime victory. Sean Brackett runs for a 16-yard touchdown for the game-winning score in the second overtime period before the Lions' goal line stand. Columbia battles back from a 21-7 deficit with two fourth quarter TD runs by Brackett to send the game into overtime. Bracket ties a school-record with five touchdowns (4 rushing, 1 passing).

Nov. 10, 2018
Columbia scores 28 unanswered points and rallies from a 20-14 halftime deficit to defeat Brown 42-20. Kyle Castner is reponsible for five touchdowns as he throws two TD passes and rushes for three more.

MEMORABLE COLUMBIA-CORNELL GAMES

Nov. 1, 1947
No. 20 ranked Columbia blanks Cornell 22-0 in Ithaca. The Lions outrush the Big Red 217-77 as Ventan Yablonski scores 10 points in the game (touchdown, field goal and extra point). Columbia's defense stops Cornell four times in its own 20-yard line.

Nov. 3, 1962
Trailing 21-19 with two minutes left, quarterback Archie Roberts completes six of eight passes (five in a row) and leads the Lions 84 yards down the field ending in a game-winning, leaping 24-yard touchdown grab by Allison Butts with 19 seconds to play. Columbia, which claimed a 25-21 win, trailed 14-0 and 21-6 in the game. Harry Hersh added three touchdowns.

Nov. 2, 1968
The Lions come from behind in the game's final four minutes with a go-ahead 20-yard field goal by Rich Rose and a 38-yard TD pass from quarterback Marty Domres to Bill Wazevich to give the Lions an upset 34-25 win at Baker Field. Domres, who breaks nine Ivy League and Columbia records, throws three touchdown passes and completes 26 of 44 passes on the day for 396 yards and totals 447 yards of total offense.

Nov. 1, 1975
Doug Jackson rushes for three scores and 146 yards in a dominating 42-19 win at Schoelkopf Field.

Nov. 13, 2010
Columbia erases a 17-3 fourth quarter deficit with 17 unanswered points in a 20-17 win. Sean Brackett scores on a 1-yard touchdown dive with 37 seconds to play.

Nov. 10, 2012
Columbia shuts down Cornell in the second half and scores 24 unanswered second half points to win 34-17 at Wien Stadium. Marcorus Garrett rushes for an 86-yard touchdown and totals a career-high 187 yards on 25 carries, Sean Brackett throws three touchdown passes and Columbia's defense intercepts three passes in the win. Josh Martin adds three sacks on defense.

TOP COLUMBIA INDIVIDUAL PERFORMANCES VS. DARTMOUTH

Louis Kusserow, Nov. 6, 1948
Scores two touchdowns including a school-record 100-yard kickoff return touchdown and totals 279 all-purpose yards, 101 receiving and 64 rushing yards. The Lions lose 26-21 at Dartmouth.

Dick Carr, Dale Hopp, Nov. 7, 1953
Duo sparks Lions to 25-19 win at Baker Field as two-some combine to score all four Lions touchdowns. Carr throws four touchdown passes, completes 19 of 36 passes for 363 yards, while Hopp scores three receiving touchdowns and makes seven receptions for 160 yards. Hopp scores the game-winner in the fourth quarter.

John Witkowski, Don Lewis, Bill Reggio, Nov. 6, 1982
Witkowski sets numerous Ivy League records as he throws for five touchdowns, 461 yards and completes 39 of 64 passes in a 56-41 loss. Wide receivers Don Lewis (one TD) and Bill Reggio (three TD) both finish with 10 receptions apiece and 100-yard days. Witkowski's 504 total yards represents an NCAA record for total offense.

Solomon Johnson, Nov. 5, 1988
Totals 161 offensive yards, rushes for 140 yards on 29 carries and scores on a 56-yard TD to keep the Lions in the game.

Des Werthman, Nov. 7, 1992
Scores three touchdowns on four short runs, made 24 tackles (17 solo) and recovers a fumble in a loss in Hanover.

Quent Unsworth, Nov. 6, 1999
Blocks two punts and both lead to touchdowns as Columbia builds a 21-0 lead en route to a 21-14 win over Dartmouth at Lawrence A. Wien Stadium.

Johnathan Reese, Justin Logan, Oct. 21, 2000
Reese rushes for a school-record 236 yards and a career-high four touchdowns on 25 carries in leading Columbia to a 49-21 Homecoming victory over Dartmouth. Reese scores on touchdown runs of 72, 44, 10 and 2 yards and finishes with 242 all-purpose yards. Columbia intercepts five passes in the game and Logan returns a kickoff 82-yards for a touchdown and an interception 59 yards for touchdown.

Mike Roussos, Oct. 25, 2019
Roussos piles up 263 all-purpose yards, scored one rushing touchdown, caught seven passes for 83 yards and returned eight kickoffs for 177 yards. He also ran for a 54-yard kickoff return.

MEMORABLE COLUMBIA-DARTMOUTH GAMES

Oct. 17, 1931
Columbia registers a key 19-6 win over a strong Dartmouth team at Baker Field that improved the Lions to 4-0 on the year and was viewed as the Columbia program's "come-of-age" victory. Fans rush the field and tear down the goal posts. The Lions go on to finish 7-1-1 in 1931, 7-1-1 in 1932, 8-1 in 1933 and 7-1 in 1934.

Nov. 30, 1935
Joseph Vollmer runs 60 yards from scrimmage to defeat Dartmouth 13-7.

Nov. 8, 1947
No. 17 ranked Columbia registers its second straight shutout victory, this time defeating Dartmouth 15-0 in the mud at Baker Field. The Lions force five Big Green fumbles and score a safety, touchdown and extra point in the third period after a scoreless first half.

Nov. 7, 1953
Dale Hopp catches a 38-yard touchdown pass from Dick Carr with 1:22 to play to give Columbia a 26-20 victory. The duo sets a variety of Ivy League and school passing and receiving records.

Nov. 6, 1971
Paul Kaliades kicks a 34-yard field goal with 19 seconds left to help Columbia upset Dartmouth 31-29 at Baker Field. The kick, which travels just over the crossbar, snaps the Big Green's 15-game unbeaten streak. Dartmouth entered the game with an undefeated record over the previous two seasons.

Oct. 21, 2000
Columbia registers its largest victory ever over Dartmouth, a dominant 28-point, 49-21 Homecoming victory as Johnathan Reese rushes for a school-record 236 yards and a career-best four touchdowns. Columbia's defense intercepts five passes in the game.

Oct. 21, 2004
Nick Rudd kicks a 19-yard field goal with 13:15 to play to break a 6-6 tie and give Columbia a 9-6 win at Wien Stadium. Rudd kicks three field goals on the day.

Oct. 25, 2008
In front of a nationally televised Versus audience, M.A. Olawale comes off the bench to lead the Lions to a 21-13 win. On a rainy and windy day, Olawale scores an insurance touchdown on a fourth quarter 10-yard run, completes 7-7 passes for 111 yards and rushes for 52 yards on eight carries. Led by Lou Miller's three sacks, Columbia's defense holds Dartmouth to 174 total yards.

Oct. 22, 2016
Oren Milstein connects on three field goals to lead Columbia to a 9-7 win over Dartmouth during a windy Homecoming contest. The victory snaps Columbia's 15-game losing streak in Homecoming contests.

Oct. 21, 2017
Columbia notches a 22-17 win at Dartmouth. With Dartmouth in the red zone and the clock dwindling down, defensive end Mike Hinton storms around the right end and sacks the Big Green quarterback from behind to end the game. With the win, Columbia improves to 6-0 for the first time since 1996 and begins Ivy League play at 3-0 for the first time since 1996.

MEMORABLE COLUMBIA-HARVARD GAMES

Oct. 20, 1956
Columbia registers its first-ever Ivy League victory with a 26-20 win over Harvard at Baker Field. Claude Benham connects with Ed Spraker for a 69-yard touchdown pass with 2:58 left to give the Lions the win.

Oct. 21, 1961
Columbia took advantage of a variety of Harvard mistakes and used its rushing attack to notch a 26-14 win over Harvard at Harvard Stadium. Tom Haggerty (83 yards), Russ Warren (79 yards) and Jim O'Connor (74 yards) keyed the rushing attack as Columbia improves to 3-1 in Ivy League play and defeats Harvard, who it ends up tying for the league title.

Sept. 23, 1978
Columbia opens its season with a 21-19 road win over Harvard. The Lions rush for 236 yards in the victory.

Sept. 22, 1984
Lawrence A. Wien Stadium opens with a 35-21 loss to Harvard.

Sept. 16, 1995
John Harper runs for a 1-yard touchdown with 19 seconds left to give Columbia a 28-24 come-from-behind win on the road.

Sept. 21, 1996
Bobby Thomason hits David Ramirez for a 12-yard touchdown pass to give Columbia a walk-off 20-13 victory over Harvard in overtime. The Lions' defense stops Harvard on its final possession in overtime as Roy Hanks intercepts a pass to seal the win. Marcellus Wiley blocks a 23-yard field goal attempt by Harvard to preserve a 13-13 tie in regulation. The game marks Columbia's first-ever overtime contest.

Sept. 19, 1998
In its 1998 season opener, Columbia blanks Harvard 24-0 at Wien Stadium. The Lions dominate time of possession and limit the Crimson to 169 yards of total offense and eight first downs.

Nov. 8, 2003
Columbia upsets No. 23 Harvard 16-13 at Baker Field. A 10-yard pass from Jeff Otis to Zach Van Zant with 1:08 to play gave Columbia the comeback victory.

Nov. 9, 2019
Columbia snaps a 15-game losing streak to the Crimson, rallies from a 10-7 deficit, scores the game's final 10 points and defensive back Ben Mathiasmeier intercepts a pass to secure a 17-10 overtime win over Harvard. Alex Felkins' 26-yard field goal with 1:45 sends the game into overtime. A 25-yard pass from Ty Lenhart to Rory Schlageter sets up a 1-yard touchdown run by Mike Roussos. Harvard gets the ball and on its first play throws into the end zone. Mathiasmeier secures the victory with a walk-off interception.

MEMORABLE COLUMBIA-PENN GAMES

Nov. 18, 1961
Before 17,066 Baker Field fans, Columbia clinches a tie for the Ivy League championship and concludes its year with a 6-1 Ivy League record with a 37-6 win over Penn. The Lions, which led 23-0 at halftime, dominate the game as they outrush the Quakers 328-108. Tom Haggerty led the Lions with 119 yards in 20 carries, along with a 68-yard run in the third quarter. The Lions score their first touchdown of the day on a blocked punt by Dick Hassan, which was caught in the end zone by Lee Black. Fans storm the field and carry captain Bill Campbell off the field. The 31-point win still stands as Columbia's largest ever against Penn.

Oct. 2, 1976
Ray Hickey's 14-yard touchdown run culminates a 5-play, 66-yard scoring drive to give Columbia a 14-10 victory at Franklin Field.

Oct. 1, 1977
Columbia recovers four Penn fumbles and Bruce Stephens puts the game out of reach with an 18-yard fourth quarter touchdown run and hits Art Pulsinelli for a 48-yard touchdown pass. The Lions win 30-18 at Baker Field.

Oct. 12, 1991
Columbia registers its first win over Penn in nine years, registering a 20-14 Homecoming victory at Baker Field. Solomon Johnson scores on a 49-yard fourth quarter run to put the game out of reach.

Oct. 5, 1995
Columbia upsets No. 13 Penn 24-14 at Lawrence A. Wien Stadium. Trailing 14-10 in the third quarter, Columbia scores on a 39-yard punt return touchdown by Roy Hanks, then Columbia's Eric Keck recovers a fumble caused by a Charles Bettinelli which leads to a 2-yard touchdown run by Mike Cavanaugh to seal the win. On defense, Rory Wilfork totals 16 tackles, one sack and 4.0 tackles for loss.

Oct. 12, 1996
Columbia wins 20-19 in overtime as Matt Linit breaks a 19-19 overtime tie with the extra point following a Dennis Lee touchdown pass from Paris Childress. Penn scores the first touchdown in overtime to take a 19-13 lead, but Columbia's Brett Bryant blocks the extra point. Linit hits a 44-yard fourth quarter field goal to send the game into overtime.

Oct. 14, 2017
Columbia wins 34-31 in overtime on a walk-off 24-yard touchdown pass from Anders Hill to Josh Wainwright. Penn takes a 31-28 lead after a 41-yard field goal on the first possession of overtime. The Homecoming crowd of 13,081 fans storm the field after watching Columbia battle back from a 21-7 fourth quarter deficit. The win pushes Columbia to 5-0 in its historic season.

Oct. 19, 2019
Columbia rushes for a season-high 255 yards and the Lions' defense limits Penn to 93 yards as it registers its largest Homecoming victory in school history and largest ever win over Penn, 44-6. The Lions led 44-0, outgained Penn 413-232 in total yards and registered 24 first downs to Penn's 14.

MEMORABLE COLUMBIA-PRINCETON GAMES

Nov. 6, 1900
Bill Morley and Harold Weekes lead the Columbia rushing attack as the Lions defeat the Tigers 6-5. The win begins a four-game win streak for Columbia.

Nov. 17, 1945
Before 20,000 Princeton fans, Columbia utilizes a dominating rushing game and tough defense to roll over the Tigers 32-7 en route to an 8-1 overall record and No. 20 Associated Press national ranking. Princeton completes just three passes in the contest and scores on a long pass in the closing seconds to avoid a shutout.

Oct. 6, 1973
Mike Delaney's 21-yard touchdown pass to Mike Crowley ties the game at 13-13 with under 2:00 to play. Rudy Gisolfi converts the extra point to give Columbia a 14-13 victory at Baker Field.

Oct. 14, 1978
Joseph Ciulla's 10-yard touchdown run with 4:46 to play gives Columbia a 12-10 lead. Columbia then converts a two-point conversion after Ciulla runs it in on a fake PAT play and takes a 14-10 victory.

Oct. 9, 1982
John Witkowski passes for four touchdowns and 316 yards and Bill Reggio catches a career-best three touchdown passes of 9, 52 and 20 yards as Columbia defeats Princeton 35-14 on Homecoming. Trailing 14-7 at halftime, the Lions hold the Tigers scoreless in the second half and score 28 points in the third quarter en route to the win at Baker Field. Witkowski completes 24 of 40 passes and Reggio makes 12 receptions for 171 yards. James McHale rushes for 136 yards and a TD on 29 carries and Don Lewis finishes with 11 catches for 111 yards and a TD as the Lions rack up a school-record 30 first downs in the game.

Oct. 8, 1988
Columbia breaks its 44-game losing streak and wins its first game ever at Lawrence A. Wien Stadium with a 16-13 Homecoming victory over Princeton. Solomon Johnson's 2-yard touchdown run with under five minutes to play seals the win. Princeton has one last chance to tie the game, but a 49-yard field goal in the closing seconds falls short. Columbia's Greg Abbruzzese rushes for 182 yards on 37 carries.

Nov. 1, 1997
Hashim Dalton intercepts two passes, Columbia's defense shuts down Princeton and Norman Hayes rushes 43 times for 175 yards in a 17-0 Columbia victory. Princeton gains just 120 total yards and eight first downs in the game.

Oct. 4, 2003
Columbia quarterback Jeff Otis connects with tight end Wade Fletcher for a 49-yard "Hail Mary" touchdown as time expires to complete a comeback and improbable 33-27 win at Princeton. The Lions battle back from a 20-0 first quarter deficit. It is the Lions' first win at Princeton since 1945.

Oct. 3, 2009
Columbia forces three turnovers and blanks Princeton 38-0 at Princeton Stadium. M.A. Olawale throws two touchdown passes and 201 yards.

Oct. 2, 2010
Columbia notches a 42-14 win as it defeats Princeton in back-to-back years for the first time since 1931 and 1932.

Sept. 30, 2017
Columbia improves to 3-0 with a 28-24 comeback win over Princeton. Anders Hill hits Ronald Smith for a game-winning 63-yard touchdown pass with 1:12 to play and Ben McKeighan finishes with two interceptions including the game clincher in the last minute. Smith has a school and Princeton stadium record 236 receiving yards.

TOP COLUMBIA INDIVIDUAL PERFORMANCES VS. YALE

Sid Luckman, Oct. 1, 1938
In a all-around dual threat game, Luckman sparks Columbia to a 27-14 upset win at Yale as he throws for 169 yards and a touchdown, completes 10 of 17 passes and rushes for 103 yards on 20 carries. Luckman gains national prominence for his performance after he throws two passes of over 50 yards, averages 40.0 yards per punt, kicks all field goals and extra points and is named the game's most outstanding defensive player.

Louis Kusserow, Oct. 13, 1945
Intercepts a school-record four passes and leads the Lions to a 27-13 win at Baker Field.

Louis Kusserow, Oct. 9, 1948
Before 55,000 Yale Bowl fans, Kusserow scores three touchdowns and piles up 259 all-purpose yards in a 34-28 victory. While rushing for 171 yards on 18 carries, including a 56-yard scamper, Kusserow sets two career Columbia career scoring records in the process: most points scored and most touchdowns.

Mitchell Price, Oct. 11, 1953
Averages 11.2 yards per play as he throws for 322 yards and three touchdowns passing while completing 12 of 20 passes. The Lions drop a 35-28 loss.

Allison Butts, Oct. 14, 1961
Scores a touchdown, a two-point conversion and intercepts two passes to lead Columbia to an 11-0 shutout at Yale.

Allison Butts and Archie Roberts, Oct. 13, 1962
Butts and Roberts intercept two passes apiece as Columbia wins a 14-10 victory on Homecoming. With under 2:00 left, Butts intercepts a pass and rambles 68 yards the other way to seal the win.

Doug Peck, Oct. 27, 2001
Makes two touchdown receptions (12 and 76 yards), including the game-winner in the third quarter and finishes with a career-best 186 yards receiving on nine catches in 28-14 win over Yale.

Andrew Kennedy, Oct. 30, 2010
Scores three receiving touchdowns after catching five passes for 64 yards in a 31-28 loss.

MEMORABLE COLUMBIA-YALE GAMES

Oct. 28, 1899
Harold Weekes scores on a brilliant 70-yard run for a touchdown to give Columbia a 5-0 triumpf over Yale, which had been rated as "invincible." William Morley also stars in the victory which proved to be a powerful force in putting the Lions among the football elite.

Oct. 12, 1946
In one of the top upsets in school history, Columbia comes from behind to defeat No. 15 ranked Yale 28-20 before 65,000 rain-soaked fans in New Haven. The Lions score 15 points in the fourth quarter using a 46-yard touchdown drive and a blocked punt by Moose Hasselman leading to a Ventan Yablonski field goal, which gave the Lions a 22-20 lead. Adam Rakowski recovered a Yale fumble in the end zone for Columbia's final score.

Oct. 13, 1962
Archie Roberts' third quarter 26-yard touchdown run proves to be the game-winner as Columbia registers a 14-10 Homecoming win over Yale. Roberts also picks off two Yale passes. With 2:00 to play and Yale on Columbia's 5-yard line, Allison Butts makes a tackle for loss then intercepts a Yale pass and returns its 68 yards to seal the win.

Oct. 11, 1958
A dominating defensive performance leads the way as Columbia blanks Yale 13-0 at Baker Field. In the first quarter, guard Gene Appel intercepts a Yale pass and rambles 63 yards for a touchdown. Dick Donelli connects with Bob Federspiel for an insurance score late in the game.

Oct. 16, 1971
Trailing 14-13, Columbia converts a game-winning two-point conversion when John Sefcik completes a pass to Mike Jones for a 15-14 win. William Irish makes a one-handed touchdown grab on a Don Jackson pass to pull Columbia within one point (14-13 with 1:36 to play).

Oct. 26, 1996
Columbia's Matt Linit converts a 35-yard field goal with 2:13 left to break a 10-10 fourth quarter tie at Yale. Yale is held to 156 total yards and eight first downs as Rory Wilfork (5.0 TFL) and Marcellus Wiley (3.0 TFL) lead Columbia's defense.

Oct. 26, 2012
Trailing 22-19, Columbia scores on a 2-yard pass from Sean Brackett to Marcorus Garrett with 45 seconds to play to win a 26-22 victory at Wien Stadium. Brackett throws for 328 yards and two touchdowns in the victory.

Oct. 31, 2015
In Al Bagnoli's first-ever Ivy League victory at Columbia, the Lions' defense holds Yale to just five first downs, 120 yards of total offense and -14 rushing yards in a 17-7 win at the Yale Bowl. Placekicker Cameron Nizialek scores on a 13-yard run off a fake field goal to seal the win.

SECTION 6

FOOTBALL HISTORY & TRADITION

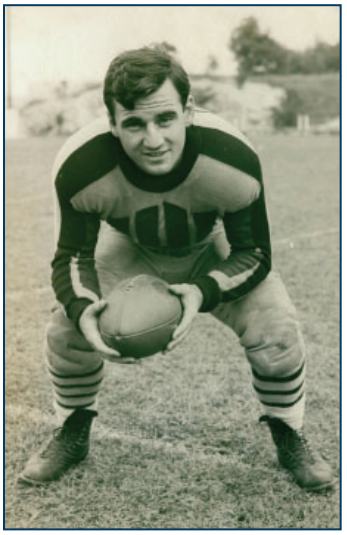

HISTORY OF COLUMBIA FOOTBALL

COLUMBIA: NATION'S THIRD OLDEST COLLEGE FOOTBALL PROGRAM

HISTORY NOTES

- The Columbia football team is the third-oldest college football program in the United States after having played in the fourth all-time college football game on November 12, 1870 against Rutgers University in New Jersey. The first three college football games were played between Princeton and Rutgers in 1869 and 1870.
- Columbia was one of the first three schools to take up the game. Columbia's 1870 contest against Princeton was the first football game played between future Ivy League Schools.
- First Game: sometime in early November 1870 – while November 12 is most cited, others claim November 5 or 11th – Columbia's intercollegiate football journey began with a short trip to New Brunswick, N.J. to play Rutgers, which they lost 3–6 in the first college football game between schools from different states (first interstate game).
- Columbia has claimed two mythical national championships: in 1875 and 1933. The 1875 team went 4-1-1 and was named national champions, while the 1933 squad defeated Stanford and was referred to as a national champ.
- Early in the 20th century Columbia Football experienced success. The 1915 squad was the only squad in school history to go undefeated and untied. It wasn't until the 1930s until Columbia rose to consistent national prominence under head coach Lou Little. The 1933 edition of the Lions won an unofficial national title by upsetting top-ranked Stanford 7–0 in the Rose Bowl on New Years Day 1934. Lou Little, who coached the team from 1930 to 1956, is in the College Football Hall of Fame. Pro and College Football Hall of Fame inductee, Sid Luckman, a NFL MVP and 4-Time NFL Champion played his entire college football career at Columbia.
- Two Columbia football players were finalists for the Heisman Trophy. Sid Luckman finished in third place in the voting in 1938 and Paul Governali was the runner-up for the Heisman Trophy and won the Maxwell Award (national player of the year) in 1942.
- In 1956, Columbia football began competition in the Ivy League. Established in 1954, The Ivy League is a collegiate athletic conference comprising sports teams from eight private universities: Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Penn, Princeton and Yale. The conference name is also commonly used to refer to those eight schools as a group beyond the sports context and the term Ivy League has connotations of academic excellence and selectivity in admissions.
- Pro Football Hall of Famer Sid Luckman played his college ball at Columbia, graduating in 1939. Luckman is also in the College Football Hall of Fame. Other Lions to have success in the NFL include offensive lineman George Starke, the Washington Redskins' "Head Hog," during the 1970s and 1980s, quarterback John Witkowski (1980s) and defensive lineman Marcellus Wiley (1990s). Perhaps the most famous personality associated with Lions football was a running back who saw limited success on the field: writer Jack Kerouac, who left school and went on the road after one injury-marred season at Columbia.

1934 ROSE BOWL

COLUMBIA 7, STANFORD 0 • JANUARY 1, 1934

The 1934 Rose Bowl is still remembered for Columbia's 7-0 victory over Stanford, one of the greatest upsets in college football history.

In 1934, the Rose Bowl was the only bowl. The Orange Bowl and the Sugar Bowl wouldn't begin until 1935, the Cotton Bowl until 1937. The custom of the day was that the Pacific Coast champion got to pick its own opponent in the Rose Bowl.

That was fine with Stanford, the coast's top team, which tried to attract another West Coast team. However, the Indians had beaten all of the coast's best teams, and none wanted to chance another shot at the best of the west.

Next, Stanford reached across the nation… for Princeton, which had gone 9-0. But the Tigers declined the bid. So did Michigan, the unofficial national champion.

At the time, most of the great New York City sports columnists were syndicated nationally, and as the Lions posted victory after victory, they jumped on the Lions' bandwagon. Losing only to Princeton, the Lions topped Virginia, 15-6, Penn State, 33-0, and Navy, 14-7. The latter was the real eye-opener; just one week earlier, Navy had shut out Notre Dame.

Reading those New York columnists convinced the Stanford administration. Moments after Columbia closed the 1933 season with a 16-0 shutout of Syracuse, the Rose Bowl extended the bid.

Although Columbia's players and fans were ecstatic, the University didn't jump at the bid. There were academic considerations – besides their time out in California, travel would consume two four-day stretches – by train. And then there was the prospect that the Lions were simply lambs being led to the slaughter by the powerful Indians.

Eventually, however, Columbia accepted the bid; a reaction, some have said, to the strong urging of former Lion quarterback and World War I Medal of Honor recipient William "Wild Bill" Donovan.

Most of the West Coast sportswriters and fans gave Columbia little chance of victory. Perennial Rose Bowl hosts, Stanford was 8-1-1 in 1933, ranked second in the unofficial national rankings. They boasted a quick and powerful running attack, led by All-American backs Bob "Horse" Reynolds and Bobby Grayson, who was considered another Red Grange.

They hadn't counted on Columbia's defense, crafted by the great Lou Little, who had only joined Columbia in 1930, but would go on to be a Hall of Fame coach. Little had found weaknesses on the Indian attack and exploited them.

Columbia had an assist as well – the weather. It rained steadily for a full week, flooding the field so much that the game was almost postponed, and the fire department had to be called to pump the water from the field.

The muddy field hindered the Indians, but didn't stop it. Stanford was still able to gain ground – Grayson gained 160 yards, more than the entire Columbia team – but every Stanford drive was halted by the fierce Lion defense, and the Indians fumbled the ball away eight times.

Despite the presence of All-American quarterback Cliff Montgomery, Columbia was unable to cross the goal line early in the game. The Lions had a great chance in the first quarter with a special play Little had devised, a "naked" reverse designed to combat the over-pursuing Stanford defense, but a desperation tackle by the Stanford safety stopped it.

Late in the second quarter, Columbia began moving again. Montgomery brought his team downfield, and completed a pass to Tony "Red" Matal for a first down on the Stanford 17. Little pounced on the opportunity, and called his special play again.

"KF-79," he called, a combination of letters and numbers that still lives in Columbia football history. Montgomery faked a handoff to halfback Ed Brominski, who sprinted to the right with the Stanford defense in full pursuit. But the QB pulled the ball back and handed it off to his fullback, Al Barabas, who sped around left end – totally "naked" – for all of his blockers, to continue the deception, were accompanying Brominski.

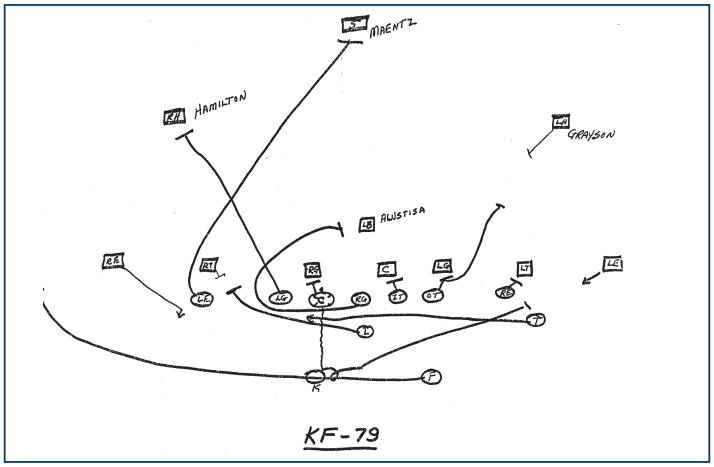

Barabas's biggest worry was that same Stanford safety. Sure enough, he sniffed out the play, and came after the Lion ball carrier, but left end Owen McDowell slanted over and cut down the safety. Barabas went into the end zone untouched.

Newell "Newt" Wilder kicked the extra point, and the Lions entered halftime with a 7-0 lead. In the second half, both defenses took command. It was hard, physical play – don't forget, there was minimal padding in 1930s football, and no face masks – and Stanford needed many substitutes, including some for Grayson, who suffered a broken foot and a broken rib. Columbia, however, played the entire game with just 17 men.

Finally, after yet one more Stanford try was halted, time ran out, and Columbia was a 7-0 victor, the toast of the college football world. As the team made its way back across the nation – by train – fans turned out by the hundreds at nearly every station, even ones at which the train didn't stop, just to get a glimpse of the 1933 Columbia Lions football team, vanquishers of mighty Stanford in the nation's only post-season bowl.

1947 COLUMBIA-ARMY GAME

COLUMBIA 21, NO. 6 ARMY 20 • OCTOBER 25, 1947

On October 25, 1947, Columbia halted Army's 32-game unbeaten streak in a dramatic 21-20 upset before a crowd of 35,000 packed into Baker Field's 32,000-seat wooden stadium. Among the dozens of journalists covering the game that day were two of sportswriting's immortals, Stanley Woodward and Red Smith of the New York Herald Tribune. This is the account of that game as related by those two giants of journalism in a rich prose style no longer seen in sportswriting. The comments in italics, linking the sportswriters' accounts, are those of Columbia historian Bill Steinman.

To set the scene: Columbia, with an excellent team that would finish 7-2, but coming off a 34-14 loss to Penn at Franklin Field; Army, perfect in 1944 and 1945, tied (0-0) by Notre Dame in 1946, and tied again by Illinois in 1947 – also a scoreless tie, for the 1947 Cadets had not allowed a point all season, outscoring their four opponents, 93 to 0. Would anybody ever beat Army? Would anybody ever gain that elusive victory which Red Smith called "the quarry which the entire American football pack harried for three years, 10 months and 29 days." It didn't start promisingly for the Lions.

Woodward: The first time Army got the ball it smashed to a touchdown in nine plays from its own 46 with Rip Rowan galloping 24 yards in one piece and Arnold Galiffa, the new T quarterback, firing a rocket pass and ultimately sneaking over. The line power and reckless drive of the Army backs made the game look one-sided at this point. Army barely missed a second TD after intercepting a pass on the Columbia two, but the Cadets scored again early in the second quarter on Bill Gustafson's 25-yard run to the one and Rowan's 1-yard plunge.

Woodward: The first indication that Columbia considered itself anything more than a bystander came after the second touchdown … the Columbians traveled 69 yards for a touchdown without interruption. In this march was unveiled the passing combination of [Gene] Rossides to [Bill] Swiacki. The former threw three and the latter caught two of them, the second on the 6-yard line with Winfield Scott covering him as with a tarpaulin.

Kusserow ran it over and the pattern of the game was revealed … Army was a running terror capable of 302 yards from scrimmage, which it did, and Columbia was a passing team capable of tapping the air routes for 263 yards, which it did. Furthermore, it gave a vague outline of the clutching ability of the lanky and loose-jointed [Bill] Swiacki. The Cadets scored their third touchdown just six seconds before the end of the half, taking over on their 20 after Columbia missed a field goal. On second down Rip Rowan went through left tackle and broke away.

Woodward: He faked one incipient tackler after another, tied Charley Klemovich into a bowknot with a cutback, and ran 84 yards for the touchdown. Jack Mackmull missed the extra point, but it didn't seem important at the time, for Army was in the lead, 20-7, and had been knocking holes in the Columbia line with savage abandon. The third quarter was devoid of both scoring and action. But the Lions seemed to become more sure of themselves and although the Army ground game continued to roll, they didn't allow the Cadets near the end zone.

Woodward: The Lions stopped each assault with a defense that was both inspired and bitter. And when the ball fell into the hands of the Columbians, they knew what to do with it. Early in the fourth quarter, Columbia's passing attack began to tell on the Cadets.

Smith: [Columbia used] a forward passing attack so versatile that it destroyed the Cadets' habitual poise. Early in the game, West Point rushed with a six-man line, hounding and harassing Rossides, ganging him so that he looked like New Year's Eve in Times Square. Even so, he contrived to throw accurately while in full flight, and Army decided to combat the passes at their destination rather than the point of origin. West Point ceased rushing, dropping the backers-up [linebackers] and a tackle to help cover the receivers. It didn't help. The Lions always had a halfback open on their right flank. Their short shots to crisscrossing ends were unstoppable. Early in the fourth quarter, Rossides started to hit. He fired to Bill Olson for two first downs, moving the Lions to the 28.

Woodward: From the Army 28, he heaved a colossal pass into the end zone. John Shelley apparently had Swiacki covered, but the latter made a headlong dive for the ball as it was about to hit the ground. In some unexplained manner he caught it, virtually off the ground. The Army players argued that he had trapped it, but it was ruled he caught it fairly, and that's the way it looked from the press box. Now up 20-14, the Cadets came back down the field to the Lion 34. They stalled there and were forced to punt. The center snap was high,

"Nothing like it has been seen since Al Gionfriddo robbed Joe DiMaggio in the sixth game of the 1947 World Series." -New York Times however, and Rowan just managed to knock it down before he was tackled. Columbia took over on its own 39.

Smith: They rang in a hand-off from Rossides to Kusserow, who then leaped and fired a buck pass. And when Rossides took aim for a long one, nobody could cover Swiacki.

As the Cadets fell back in panic, Rossides called upon a running game which had been helpless. He faked a pass and handed off to fullback Ventan Yablonski for 12 yards. Then he ran around left end for 15, setting up the famous pass reception.

Woodward: Then he fired the crucial pass of the game, almost inexplicably caught by Swiacki. The latter went down, looking over his right shoulder for the ball. At the last minute he took his eye off the ball, turned outward and made a full-length dive, catching the ball as if by magnetism. The ball was on the four. Rossides turned right end for two yards to the two. His next handoff went to Kusserow.

Smith: The legend of Army's invincibility … was concluded at 4:16 PM when Kusserow tunneled through left tackle and Ventan Yablonski converted the extra point that won for the Lions, 21 to 20.

Kusserow … was scraped off the turf by Swiacki, the brawny Columbia end whose prehensile paws had made all the Lion scoring possible. Swiacki's mitts, which have a reach of approximately 12 feet in all directions, had sucked in Gene Rossides' forward passes like a vacuum sweeper.

Woodward: Swiacki leaped and plunged like a dervish and brought off the greatest line of impossible catches of the twentieth century.

Smith: Kusserow and Swiacki embraced in the end zone. They walked back to their positions arm in arm. From the Columbia stands came a gesture of derision stolen from the Cadet Corps, a taunting flutter of thousands of handkerchiefs. From the neat ranks of Army rooters came silence, thick as a $4 sirloin.

Smith: Six minutes and 37 seconds later the game ended. Down came the north goal posts. At the south end a single cop stood guard over the Columbia cordwood. He took one look at the clamoring horde bearing down on him, shrugged, and helped rip down the timbers. Coach Lou Little followed his players, who were bulling in double file through swarms of idolaters, bearing Swiacki supine upon their shoulders.

Woodward: Strangers embraced each other … Old Light Blues who came to weep remained not only to pray, but to swing exuberant and unnoticed left hooks at each other. In the clubhouse, Little burbled incoherently as his players hoisted him on their shoulders.

Smith: The players flung Little up on their shoulders. "Who owns New York?" they sang.

Interestingly, neither writer mentioned anything about the remaining 6:37. Rowan returned the ensuing kickoff to the 26 and almost broke away; the Cadets moved to a second down on the 38, but Kusserow intercepted Galiffa's pass at the Columbia 44 and returned it to the Army 44. Rossides ran for six and one yards, handed off to John Nork for eight and a crucial first down. The QB ran for six more and after the teams traded offside penalties, ran for two to the 21. He then carried the ball one yard to the 20 as the game ended.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS • 1934 ROSE BOWL CHAMPIONS • 8-1 OVERALL RECORD • COLUMBIA HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE

1933 LIONS: THE STORY

To this day the 1934 Rose Bowl is remembered for Columbia's 7-0 victory over Stanford, one of the greatest upsets in college football history. The Lions posted victory after victory in 1933, losing only to Princeton. Columbia earned big-time wins against Virginia, 15-6, Penn State, 33-0, and Navy 14-7, which had shut out Notre Dame just one week prior.

In 1934, the Rose Bowl was the only college bowl game. The Orange Bowl and the Sugar Bowl wouldn't begin until 1935, and the Cotton Bowl began in 1937. During that time, the Pacific Coast Championship selected their opponent.

Shortly after the Lions closed the 1933 season with a 16-0 shutout of Syracuse, the Rose Bowl extended an invitation to Columbia.

Many sportswriters and fans gave Columbia little chance of victory. Unofficially ranked second in the nation, Stanford boasted a quick and powerful running attack, led by All-American backs Bob "Horse" Reynolds and Bobby Grayson.

However, Hall of Fame coach Lou Little put together an outstanding defensive game plan to counter the Stanford attack.

Grayson gained 160 yards on the ground, but the Lion defense forced eight fumbles to halt Stanford every time it mounted a drive.

Led by All-American quarterback Cliff Montgomery, Columbia was unable to cross the goal line early on. Late in the second quarter, Columbia began to march down the field and Montgomery used a gadget play to throw the Cardinal defense off guard.

Montgomery faked a handoff to halfback Ed Brominski, who sprinted to the right with the Stanford defense in full pursuit. But the QB pulled the ball back and handed it off to his fullback, Al Barabas, who sped around the left end—totally "naked"—since all of his blockers, to continue the deception, were accompanying Brominski. Owen McDowell slanted over to provide a key block and Barabas went into the end zone untouched.

In the second half, both defenses took command. The field was also in poor condition due to rain in the Pasadena area throughout the week. Finally, after one more Stanford drive was stopped, and time ran out, Columbia was the 7-0 victor, and the toast of the college football world.

TEAM NOTES

- Considered Columbia's greatest quarterback to that point, Cliff Montgomery was named the Rose Bowl Player of the Game.
- Montgomery went on to earn First Team All-America honors from the National Football Foundation. He concluded his three-year career with 177 points from 1931-33 and was eventually inducted into the NFF Hall of Fame.
- Defensively, Columbia allowed just 5.0 points per game and outscored its opponents 179-45 and registered four shutouts on the year.
- Columbia's lone setback was a 20–0 loss to Fritz Crisler's undefeated national champion Princeton Tigers.
- Columbia ran the single-wing offense.
- Head Coach Lou Little was in his fourth year at Columbia.
- Following the Rose Bowl victory, Columbia returned to New York City with a parade hosted by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia. The route took the parade from Penn Station up to Morningside Heights.

1947 COLUMBIA FOOTBALL TEAM

7-2 OVERALL • FINAL NO. 20 NATIONAL RANKING IN ASSOCIATED PRESS POLL • RANKED AS HIGH AS NO. 16

1947 LIONS: THE STORY

Coached by Hall of Famer Lou Little, Columbia's 1947 team featured some of most well-known players in the university's football history: Louis Kusserow, Gene Rossides, Ventan Yablonski, Bill Swiacki and Bruce Gehrke. Four of those players saw action in the National Football League. But it was the team's resiliency and toughness that won over fans and gained national acclaim.

While Columbia's offense received all the recognition and public accolades, it was Columbia's defense that guided the way in the Lions' five-game win streak to close out the season. Following halftime of the Army game, Columbia's defense allowed zero points the rest of the way and shut out opponents over the next 18 quarters. Syracuse managed to score its eight points on a safety and touchdown on interception return.

Columbia's 1947 team was a combination of returning veterans and a maturing of an outstanding group from its 1945 squad, an age grouping of several players who played in 1941 and 1942.

The Lions opened their season with a 40-28 victory over Rutgers. After leading 27-0, then trailing 28-27 with six minutes to play, Columbia found a way to score two late period touchdowns to register the win.

Following a hard-fought 13-6 win at Navy, No. 11 Columbia dropped a Homecoming battle of nationally ranked teams with No. 14 Yale 17-7.

The next week, before a record-70,000 Franklin Field fans, No. 8 Penn jumped out to an early lead en route to a 34-14 win over Columbia. The loss dropped the Lions to 2-2 on the year.

Coming off its loss at No. 8 Penn and trailing 20-7 and before a home crowd of 35,000 strong at Baker Field, Columbia showed its resiliency and achieved the improbable as the Lions notched an improbable 21-20 come-from-behind victory over the No. 6 ranked Cadets. In the second half, the Lions used an unorthodox passing attack to fight back and score two touchdowns – the second a TD pass from quarterback Gene Rossides to All-American receiver Bill Swiacki with 3:32 on the clock – to upset the mighty Black Knights 21-20. The victory halted a 32-game unbeaten streak by Army.

Following the Army victory, Columbia registered three consecutive shutouts and closed out its 1947 season on a five-game win streak.

First, No. 20 Columbia claimed its first game at Schoellkopf Field since 1933 with a 22-0 shutout of Cornell.

The following week, the Lions' defense forced five Big Green fumbles and scored a safety, touchdown and extra point in the third period to down Dartmouth 15-0 at muddy Baker Field.

A Gene Rossides pass to Bill Swiacki broke a scoreless 0-0 tie in the third quarter and Ventan Yablonski added a field goal to give the Lions a 10-0 win over Holy Cross and 6-2 overall record.

The Lions closed out the 1947 season with a penalty-filled 28-8 win over Syracuse. The two teams combined for 25 penalties on the day.

TEAM NOTES

- The majority of the 1947 team fought in World War II. The squad was a combination of players who played for Columbia before the war in 1941 and 1942 and returning veterans.
- Columbia's 1947 team was the last team in program history to close out a season ranked among the nation's top-25 teams in the Associated Press poll, as the Lions finished at No. 20.
- Columbia dropped two games on the year: both to nationally ranked teams: No. 14 Yale (17-7) on Oct. 11 and No. 8 Penn (34-14) on Oct. 18).
- On the year, Columbia outscored its opponents 170-113.
- Ironically, Columbia's defense led the way. Following halftime of the famous and well-publicized Army game (Oct. 25), no points were scored against the Lions' defense during the remainder of the season and through the last four contests . The points scored by Syracuse in the season finale were registered by a safety and an interception return.
- Columbia end Bill Swiacki earned First Team All-America honors and finished eighth in the voting for the Heisman Trophy.

1961 COLUMBIA FOOTBALL TEAM

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONS • 6-3 OVERALL • 6-1 IVY LEAGUE • COLUMBIA ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE

1961 LIONS: THE STORY

In the more than 150 years of intercollegiate athletics at Columbia, few teams have inspired as much passion and respect as the 1961 Ivy League football championship squad.

The epitome of the word "team," the 1961 Lions featured strong coaching, undeniable talent and indomitable leadership.

Under the tutelage of head coach Aldo "Buff" Donelli, the team had high hopes for the season as they arrived at Camp Columbia in the preseason.

Following a grueling few weeks of practice, Coach Donelli had his team ready for the season opener against Brown.

On opening day in Providence, tailback Russ Warren scored three times as the Lions roared past the Bears, 50-0. After one of the most lopsided victories in the history of Columbia football, the stage was set for a championship season.

In week two, Columbia took on its long-time rival from New Jersey for its all-important Homecoming Game. Trailing Princeton 23-20 in the fourth quarter, the Lions were inches away from a victory but would come up just short in a heartbreaking defeat.

But behind the strong leadership from Coach Donelli and captain Bill Campbell, what could have been a deflating loss became a springboard for future success.

Over the next six weeks, the Lions proved to be the class of the Ivy League on both sides of the ball, and getting star performances from different players every week.

Sophomore Al Butts scored a touchdown, a two-point conversion and picked off two Yale passes as the Lions shutout the Elis 11-0 in week 3.

The following week, the Lions' offensive line and running backs dominated Harvard, as Tom O'Connor, Russ Warren and Tom Haggerty combined to rush for more than 240 yards and four touchdowns in a 26-14 victory.

Against Cornell, the Lions' defense forced three turnovers and Haggarty scored on a punt return and a long run from scrimmage as Columbia pushed its Ivy League record to 4-1. With two league games to play, all the Lions would need to do was win out and they would clinch the league title.

Against Dartmouth, Dick Hassan provided the spark, scoring twice in the first quarter and Russ Warren provided the exclamation point with a 43-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter of a 35-14 Columbia rout.

The stage was set for a date with destiny. But the Lions would have to do it without their leader as Campbell would be unable to play due to injury.

Ever resilient, and in front of a passionate home crowd, the Lions would dominate Penn in all phases of the game. Lee Black was one of five Lions to get into the end zone, Tom Haggerty and Len de Fiore picked off passes as defense dominated the day with the Lions claiming a 37-6 victory and the Ivy League Championship.

Five Lions were named All-Ivy League following the year – Bob Asack, Lee Black, Tony Day, Tom Haggerty and Russ Warren. But more important than any single victory, or individual highlight, the 1961 Lions were all about the team.

TEAM NOTES

- Columbia registered five straight Ivy League victories, including wins in its last three conference games to claim the 1961 Ivy League Championship. The Lions won at Cornell (35-7) and followed with home victories over Dartmouth (35-14) and Penn (37-6) en route to the title.
- Defense was the key for the 1961 Columbia football team as the Lions allowed their opponents to score just 13.0 points per game and finish with 212.7 yards of offense per game. Columbia also teamed for 14 interceptions and held opponents to just 3.2 yards rushing per carry.
- Tom Haggerty (647 yards on 131 attempts, 9 TD) and Russ Warren (489 yards on 109 attempts, 6 TD) led Columbia's rushing attack. Tom O'Connor pitched in four rushing touchdowns and 418 yards on 84 carries. QB Tom Vassel threw for 639 yards and four TD.
- Columbia's 6-1 Ivy League record stands as the best conference record in school history.
- Columbia opened its 1961 season with a 50-0 win at Brown. The 50 points remain the most-ever scored by Columbia in Ivy League play.

1996 COLUMBIA FOOTBALL TEAM

8-2 OVERALL • 5-2 IVY LEAGUE • COLUMBIA ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE

1996 LIONS: THE STORY

Columbia's 1996 football team brought an energy to Morningside Heights that had been non-existent for decades prior. Beginning the year with a six-game win streak, the Lions finished the season with an 8-2 record and a second-place finish in the Ivy League standings. Both of those milestones proved historic.

The Lions last posted an eight-win season in 1945 and had never finished second in the Ivy League since formal league play began in 1956. The runner-up showing is the second-highest finish in program history following the 1961 Ivy League Championship team, which was inducted into the Columbia University Athletics Hall of Fame in 2010.

The season kicked off in thrilling fashion with Columbia knocking off Harvard in overtime, 20-13. Future second round NFL draft pick Marcellus Wiley blocked a 23-yard field goal attempt at the end of regulation to preserve a 13-13 tie, sending the game to the extra period. A 12-yard touchdown pass from Bobby Thomason to David Ramirez gave Columbia the lead and a Roy Hanks' interception sealed the victory.

Success continued the following two weeks with triumphs over Fordham and Holy Cross, moving Columbia to 3-0 with a fierce battle against Penn the next week. Overtime was once again a necessity for Columbia to come away victorious, as was another blocked kick. Identical to the Harvard contest, the Lions and Quakers went to overtime tied at 13-13 with Penn striking first. Lined up for the extra point, Columbia defensive tackle Brett Bryant swatted away the attempt to swing the momentum in the Lions' favor. On the next possession, quarterback Paris Childress hit receiver Dennis Lee for a deep strike and the game-tying score, with kicker Matt Linit nailing the extra point for the win.

The foot of Linit, in conjunction with a smart coaching adjustment by Tellier led to the Lions edging Lafayette the next week, 3-0. In exceptionally horrible conditions that featured 40-mph winds and horizontal sheets of rain, Linit knocked home a 24-yard field goal in the fourth quarter following a switch to the Wishbone formation that moved the Lions all the way down to the Lafayette six-yard line, setting up the score.

A stingy defensive effort moved the Lions to 6-0 on Oct. 26, as Columbia held Yale to just 156 yards of total offense in a 13-10 triumph. Undefeated to that point, Columbia moved into the Division I-AA national rankings at No. 24. Unfortunately, two tough losses to Princeton and Dartmouth dropped Columbia to 6-2, but the Lions roared back in the season's final two victories with Ivy League wins over Cornell and Dartmouth.

For all their accomplishments, the postseason awards poured in for the Lions. Tellier captured DI-AA Regional and National Coach of the Year honors. Star defensive end Marcellus Wiley earned a spot on the All-America third team, was selected to participate in the East-West Shrine Game and garnered a spot on the All-East and All-Ivy League first teams. Joining Wiley on the All-East first team was linebacker Rory Wilfork, while kicker Matt Linit picked up second team accolades. Wilfork and cornerback Roy Hanks completed a trio of first team All-Ivy League selections, with nine others earning second team or honorable mention recognition. Notching academic awards were Dennis Lee and Linit. Both earned a spot on the Academic All-Ivy League squad, while Lee also boasted a spot on the Academic All-District team.

The 1996 squad becomes the third team from the program to be inducted into the Columbia University Athletics Hall of Fame.

TEAM NOTES

- Closely contested games characterized Columbia's 1996 football season as the Lions won two overtime games and were victorious in six games decided by seven points or less.
- Senior Marcellus Wiley made the move to defense prior to the season. He ended up a Third Team All-American after finishing the year with 63 tackles and team-highs for tackles for loss (17.0) and sacks (7.0). He also pitched in five rushing touchdowns.
- Rory Wilfork was also a force on defense as he totaled a team-high 103 tackls and 15.0 tackles for loss.
- Columbia intercepted a school-record 21 passes.
- QB Bobby Thomason led the offense.

2017 COLUMBIA FOOTBALL TEAM

8-2 OVERALL • 5-2 IVY LEAGUE • 2ND PLACE IN IVY LEAGUE

2017 LIONS: THE STORY

The Columbia Football program experienced its best season in 21 years. An 8-2 regular season, a second place finish in the Ivy League and a 5-2 Ivy League record highlighted the 2017 campaign. Along the way, it was the Lions' resiliency, toughness and work ethic that captured the attention of their fans, the New York City media and national media members alike.

Leading the way was Columbia's 31-member senior class led by captains Landon Baty, Anders Hill, Lord Hyeamang and Bewley Wales, which experienced both ups and downs over a four-year span. The group started out with an 0-10 season as first-years and progressed from a 2-8 year as sophomores to 3-7 as juniors and then to 8-2 as seniors.

Over a four-year process and little-by-little, Head Coach Al Bagnoli, who began at Columbia in 2015, transformed the program's culture. Most importantly, the Lions' goal of playing meaningful games was achieved, right up until the final hours of the season.

If there was an Ivy League Most Improved Player Award, Hill undoubtedly would be a unanimous selection for that accolade. Hill completed a school-record 63.4 percent (206 of 325) of his passes for 16 touchdowns and only 10 interceptions. He was responsible for 19 of Columbia's 31 touchdowns and ranked among FCS national top-25 leaders in four different statistical categories.

Columbia jumped out a 6-0 record for just the second time since 1945. A game-winning Oren Milstein field goal as time expired gave the Lions a 17-14 win over Wagner in the season opener, Columbia went up 28-0 en route to a 35-14 win over Georgetown, then the Lions won a 28-24 Ivy League opener at Princeton as Ronald Smith caught a 63-yard pass for the game-winning touchdown and set the school-record with a 236-yard receiving day. The win over the Tigers gave the Lions national respect.

Following a dominant 41-17 win at Marist, Columbia moved to 5-0 after a thrilling 34-31 overtime win over Penn before 13,081 Homecoming fans. Hill found Josh Wainwright for the game-winning touchdown pass and chaos ensued as fans rushed the field in celebration.

The Lions moved to 6-0 following a dramatic, hard-fought 22-17 win at Dartmouth.

Following back-to-back losses at eventual Ivy League champion Yale (23-6) and to Harvard (21-14), Columbia claimed its last two matchups at Cornell (18-8) and vs. Brown (24-6).

The Lions were in the Ivy League title hunt up until the last quarter of play against Brown.

TEAM NOTES

- With an 8-2 overall, 5-2 Ivy League record and second place finish in the league, Columbia enjoyed its best overall record, best Ivy League season and highest finish in the league in 21 years and since 1996.
- Columbia was in the Ivy League Championship race all season long. The Lions entered the final weekend of the season needing a Yale loss coupled with a win over Brown to capture a share of the school's first Ivy League title since 1961.
- Columbia began a season with six straight wins for the first time since 1996. The 6-0 start marked just the second time since 1945 that Columbia began a year with six straight victories.
- Columbia's seven-game win streak from November 19, 2016 to October 28, 2017 marked the school's longest win streak since 1935 and third longest win streak in school history.
- Columbia's eight victories rank tied for the third most wins in school history following nine win seasons in 1903 and 1899 and tying eight-win seasons in 1901, 1933, 1945 and 1996.
- Columbia showed its resilience and toughness with two comeback wins against Penn and Princeton, two walk-off wins over Penn (34-31 in OT on walk-off TD) and Wagner (17-14 on walk-off field goal) and four victories that were secured in the last two minutes of regulation: Dartmouth, Penn, Princeton and Wagner.
- With victories over Dartmouth, Penn and Princeton, Columbia swept all three opponents in a season for the first time since 1971.
- Columbia's five-win turnaround ranked among the top five best yearly comebacks in the FCS. The Lions went from 3-7 overall and 2-5 Ivy League record in 2016 and an 8-2 overall and 5-2 Ivy League record in 2017.
- With its five Ivy League wins, Columbia tied for second-best win total in conference play. The Lions won six games in 1961 and five games each in 1992 and 2017.
- National Coach of the Year candidate Head Coach Al Bagnoli garnered three Coach of the Year awards including awards presented by the Ivy League, AFCA Region 1 and ECAC. He becomes Columbia's third all-time Region Coach of the Year, following Aldo Donelli (1961) and Ray Tellier (1996). Bagnoli was also one of 18 finalists for the STATS FCS Eddie Robinson National Coach of the Year Award and one of six finalists for the AFCA National Coach of the Year honor.
- Wide receiver Josh Wainwright set a school-record for season receiving yards (1,001 yards).

COLUMBIA FOOTBALL FACILITY HISTORY

SOUTH FIELD (1915-1922)

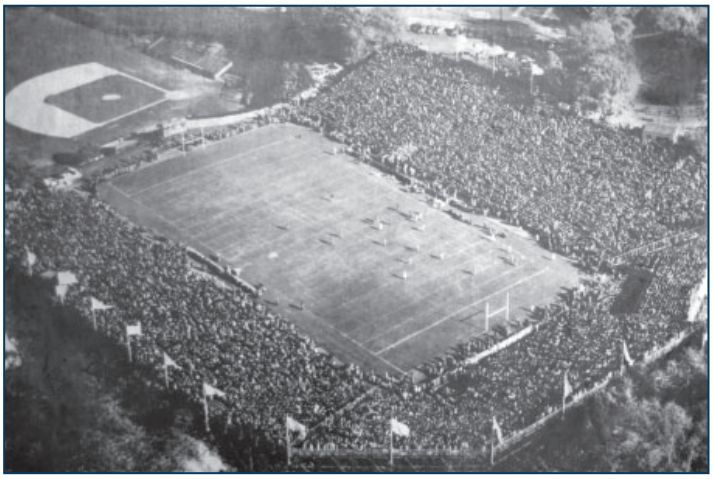

Prior to the acquisition of Baker Field, Columbia played its home football games at South Field. South Field initially opened as a practice field when the University moved to Morningside Heights in 1897. The current lawns in the middle of Columbia's Morningside Heights campus once formed a contiguous strip of grass upon which football games, practices and other sporting events were held. A football field was set up in the fall, and Lou Gehrig played baseball there in the spring. Prior to the first game at South Field in 1915, Columbia's field sports played their home games at the "Columbia Oval" in Williamsbridge, Manhattan Field and the Polo Grounds "Columbia Field." Columbia had to resort to rotating its sports around the cramped South Field, ship its athletes to the northern Bronx, or shell out money to rent a stadium. The current location of South Field is now referred to as the "South Lawn" on Columbia's campus. As part of tradition established in 2015, Columbia's current football team conducts its annual pre-game walk-through there on Fridays before home games.

BAKER FIELD (1923-1982)

The original tract of land on which the current Baker Athletics Complex stands was given to Columbia and purchased for $700,000 on December 31, 1921 by financier and banker George F. Baker. The 26-acre area was dedicated in April 1922 and hosted spring football practice that same year. In the fall, Columbia's football team continued to practice uptown, but played its games at South Field on the Morningside Heights Campus. The first stadium at the site, then known as the Columbia Football Stadium at Baker Field, opened in the fall of 1923 with 15,000 seats in temporary stands. Five years later in 1928, the University built the 32,000 wooden-seat stadium that served Columbia fans for 55 years, until the spring of 1983. Through the years, Columbia hosted 16 football games that surpassed 30,000 fans in attendance.

ROBERT K. KRAFT FIELD AT LAWRENCE A. WIEN STADIUM (1984-CURRENT)

Located on the banks of the Hudson and Harlem Rivers and within Columbia University's 27-acre Baker Athletic Complex, Robert K. Kraft Field at Lawrence A. Wien Stadium (pronounced WEEN) is the cornerstone of an impressive collection of facilities for Columbia Football. One of the most modern football stadiums on the East Coast featuring beautiful views of the Hudson River and fall foliage from adjacent Inwood Hill Park, Lawrence A. Wien Stadium was described by Sports Illustrated as "one of the most beautiful places in the country to watch a football game." In its fourth decade as the official Lions' Den, the stadium also boasts a 400-meter outdoor track and turf field. It is both the largest multi-purpose stadium and the only regulation-sized football stadium with a capacity of 10,000 or more on the island of Manhattan.

Walter Camp called Weekes the "best end runner the game has ever seen." After graduating from Columbia, Weekes became a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

DES WERTHMAN '93
All-around player who set an NCAA record for most career tackles per game (14.97) before launching a career in investment services.

LAWRENCE A. WIEN '27, '29LAW
A former Columbia trustee, prominent philanthropist, lawyer, real estate investor and entrepreneur, Lawrence A. Wien contributed over $20 million during his life to his alma mater including $6 million for the construction of a new stadium at Baker Field. Wien owned a variety of long-term ground leases to many of New York's most prominent landmarks including the Empire State Building, as well as many prominent hotels.

JOHN WITKOWSKI '84
Witkowski set a number of school passing records while playing quarterback for the Lions (1981-83). He was drafted in the 1984 NFL Draft and played five seasons in the NFL.

MARCELLUS WILEY '97
TV sports commentator who currently works at Fox Sports and previously worked at ESPN. A former NFL All-Pro football player, Wiley played 10 years in the NFL with the Buffalo Bills, San Diego Chargers, Dallas Cowboys and Jacksonville Jaguars. He played both defensive end and running back at Columbia.

RORY WILFORK '97
Wilfork is a two-time team captain and two-time All-East selection. He currently serves as Managing Director for SCS Financial and previously worked for Goldman Sachs.

VENTAN YABLONSKI '48
Yablonski was a fullback/linebacker and a 1946 NFL Draft pick who played four years with the Chicago Cardinals (1948-51). He kicked the game-winning PAT in the win over Army in 1947.

COLUMBIA FOOTBALL RIVALRIES

EMPIRE STATE BOWL: COLUMBIA VS. CORNELL (2010-CURRENT)

Empire Cup

Columbia and Cornell compete against each other annually in the Empire State Bowl. The rivalry took on the name Empire State Bowl in 2010, emblematic for Ivy League football supremacy in New York State. Each year's winner earns the right to take home the Empire Cup. The two schools have been playing on the gridiron since 1889.

The rivalry ranks as the 15th all-time most played series in the history of college football. The two schools have played in 97 consecutive years, which ranks as the third longest uninterrupted series in FCS football.

Beginning in 2018, the game will be the final contest on both team's schedules.

LOU LITTLE CUP: COLUMBIA VS. GEORGETOWN (2015-CURRENT)

Columbia and Georgetown compete in football for the rights to the Lou Little Trophy. Established in 2015, the trophy's namesake, Lou Little served as the head football coach at both institutions. Little coached at Georgetown from 1924-30 and helped bring the Hoyas into the modern era as he recorded a 41-12-13 record over six seasons, while also serving as athletics director. His .759 winning percentage is still the highest among GU head coaches who have coached more than 20 games. Little took over at Columbia in 1930 and continued his Hall of Fame career until 1956. At Columbia, he posted 110 victories and his most notable win came in the 1934 Rose Bowl, when the Lions defeated Stanford 7-0. Overall, his teams won 149 games, lost 122 and tied 11. The two schools signed on to officially play the Lou Little Cup series in 2015.

Lou Little Trophy

LIBERTY BOWL: COLUMBIA VS. FORDHAM (2002-15)

Liberty Cup

As two of the three NCAA Division I institutions in New York City to sponsor football (Wagner is the other), Columbia University and Fordham University competed for a special trophy in their annual game from 2002-15. Thus, the Liberty Cup was born.

The idea behind the Liberty Cup was to honor the alumni of both schools who were lost in the attacks of September 11, 2001. The Cup also honors all of those who lost their lives that day, including members of the various city and state agencies (FDNY, NYPD, EMS, Port Authority, etc.).

Each school created a scholarship fund with the host school donating the proceeds of the game to their respective fund.

Fordham won 11 of the series' 14 Liberty Bowl matchups.

COLUMBIA FOOTBALL TRADITION

FRIDAY WALK-THROUGH ON THE SOUTH LAWN

Each Friday before home football games, the Columbia Football Team conducts its weekly game walkthrough on the South Lawn in the middle of Columbia University's Morningside campus.

Patricia & Shepard Alexander Head Coach of Football Al Bagnoli brought football back to the South Lawn in his first season in 2015.

Practicing on the South Lawn honors Columbia's 127-year football tradition. The team played its games at the South Lawn prior to moving to the current Baker Athletic Complex in 1923. For many years, the two lawns formed a contiguous field, with wooden stands framing the end zones to the east and west and the 50-yard line pointed due north toward Low Memorial Library.

Players will wear tee-shirts and shorts, no helmets or cleats.

GOLD DINNER

In a tradition dating back to 1940, Columbia Football hosts its annual Gold Dinner each year. In the Gold Dinner's current format, the gathering is also used as a way to network with prominent alumni and former players. In 2018, each senior stood before the group and spoke about Columbia football.

According to a 1940 article in the Columbia Spectator, the event was established and planned in an effort to express appreciation for the fine work of the team during the past season. Invitations were extended to members of the school's faculty and administration.

In 1940, the senior members of the Lions football team received gold footballs as tokens of appreciation. The gold mementos were inscribed with the player's name, year and a blue "C" in raised enamel.

SEASON ENDING BANQUET

Each year, Columbia's Football season is celebrated with its annual awards and team banquet. The formal event set at Low Library typically begins with a reception, followed by dinner and banquet program featuring a team awards presentation.

A total of 12 awards are presented including: Sid Luckman Most Valuable Player Award, Most Valuable Offensive Player, Most Valuable Defensive Player, David W. Smyth Memorial Cup, Head Coach Career Achievement Award, Special Teams Award, Ken Gerrmann Freshman of the Year Award, Jack Armstrong Most Outstanding Offensive Lineman Award, Maniatty-Remmer Unsung Hero Award, Lou Little Coaches Most Improved Award, John J. Cirigliano Ironman Award and Phil Fusco Award.

Many of these awards date back many years.

TEAM CAPTAINS SINCE 1870

In a tradition dating back to the start of the Columbia Football program in 1870, team captains are selected each season. For much of its history, Columbia had- by tradition- a single captain, but in recognition of rules changes that resulted in separate offensive, defensive and special teams, the policy was changed in 1966 to allow for multiple captains. The names of all previous captains are posted on a plaque in the Columbia locker room.

COLUMBIA FOOTBALL TRADITION

SINGING OF ROAR, LION, ROAR AFTER VICTORIES

In a tradition dating back many years, the Columbia Football team celebrates wins by singing Columbia school song "Roar, Lion, Roar" with fans. Typically this happens in conjunction with the band playing the song after home wins, but in recent years, the Lions have struck their own a cappella tune after road wins.

ROAR, LION, ROAR
When the bold, teams of old, Wore the Blue and White,
Deeds of fame, made their name, Here at old Columbia.
Nowadays we can praise, Fighting teams again.
Hear the lion roar in pride, While the men of Morningside
Follow the Blue and White to Vict'ry…Roar, Lion, roar,
And wake the echoes of the Hudson Valley. Fight on to vict'ry evermore
While the sons of Knickerbocker rally 'Round Columbia! Columbia!
Shouting her name forever! Roar, Lion, roar,
For Alma Mater, on the Hudson Shore.

C ROCK

Located on the Bronx shore at the intersection of the Harlem and Hudson Rivers and opposite of Columbia's Baker Athletic Complex stands the "C Rock," a giant painted letter "C" on a 100-foot high cliff wall. In 1952, Columbia medical student and coxswain of the heavyweight crew Robert Prendergrast approached the New York Central Railroad for permission to paint the sign, which was granted. By the end of the fall of 1952, the crew completed the 60 by 60 foot sign in traffic white and ultramarine blue with a 12-foot stroke. Work was aided by a boatswains chair attached to drill holes at the top of the rock by ropes. The "C Rock" has been maintained by members of the Columbia rowing teams, who most recently repainted the sign in 1987.

COLUMBIA: LIGHT BLUE AND WHITE

The Columbia colors, light blue and white, were appropriated from the campus Philolexian and Peithologian Societies, the former claiming the blue and the latter the white, and were used as a combination as early as 1852. The particular shade of light blue became popularly known as Columbia Blue around the turn of the century and is in common usage today as a shade of blue. Several other colleges claim "Columbia Blue" as one of their school colors.

HOW COLUMBIA BECAME THE LIONS

The Lion was first adopted as a sports symbol by the Columbia University Student Board in 1910, following the presentation of a blue and white banner bearing a large Lion with the motto, "Leo Columbiae" (Lion of Columbia). George Brokow of the Class of 1909 first suggested the lion nickname as a reference to the institution's royal past. The University was originally named King's College since its charter in 1754 by King George II of Great Britain. The lion is the animal depicted on the English coat of arms. The original banner was the gift of the Society of the Early Eighties.

COLUMBIA FOOTBALL TRADITION

COLUMBIA FOOTBALL PLAYERS CLUB

The Columbia Football Players Club is a platform to communicate with and support former, current, and future players in an effort to strengthen the Football Program. Each year, the Columbia Football Players Club hosts six alumni functions on an annual basis. The functions are designed to connect multiple decades of players, provide mentorship and guidance to the current Columbia student-athletes and allow for career guidance.

The six events are as follows:

Alumni Rookie Player Draft/Kick-Off Cookout

Typically held the weekend before Columbia's season opener each season, members of the Columbia Football Players Club draft first-year members of the Columbia team to mentor throughout their four years at Columbia. Current players are selected through a mock NFL Draft and several alumni members attend the draft via conference call. Participants "improve" their position in the draft by donating money in order to move up in draft position.

The Alumni Player Draft immediately connects multiple decades of players, provides mentorship and guidance to the current Columbia student-athletes, allows for career guidance, and is an inexpensive way for football alums to stay involved.

Following the conclusion of the draft, alumni members attend the team's Kickoff Barbecue and meet their draftees.

Friday Night Homecoming Dinner

In a long-standing Homecoming tradition, the Columbia Football Players Club sponsors an alumni-only pre-event dinner held on Columbia's campus.

Saturday Homecoming Brunch

Senior Day Ceremony

The Columbia Football Players Club sponsors Columbia's Senior Day held each November at Robert K. Kraft Field at Lawrence A. Wien Stadium. Prior the final regular season home game, each senior is announced and honored with their family at the stadium.

Gold Dinner

In a tradition dating back to 1940, the CFPC hosts its annual Gold Dinner on campus. The gathering provides the Columbia Football senior class a way to network with prominent alumni and former players. According to a 1940 article in the Columbia Spectator, the event was established and planned in an effort to express appreciation for the fine work of the team during the past season. Invitations were extended to members of the school's faculty and administration. In 1940, the senior members of the Lions football team received gold footballs as tokens of appreciation. The gold mementos were inscribed with the player's name, year and a blue "C" in raised enamel.

Columbia Football Golf Outing

Each year in May, the Columbia Football Players Club holds an annual golf outing for former players and the program's graduating senior class. The fun-filled day is held at a golf course near New York City.

COLUMBIA FOOTBALL UNIFORM AND HELMET HISTORY

COLUMBIA UNIFORM AND HELMET HISTORY

Since the football program began in 1870, Columbia has sported a variety of different uniforms and helmets, all within the university's color scheme of Light Blue and White. Typically the program experienced uniform and helmet change upon the introduction of a new head coach.

After a pre-World War II-era which saw Columbia compete in classic light blue uniforms with a dark blue shoulder and four stripes down the center, Columbia first switched to the full light blue jerseys, white numbers and white pants under legendary coach Lou Little in 1952. The school stuck with a variation of that color scheme until Al Bagnoli became the head coach in 2015. Bagnoli introduced dark blue, pewter grey and anthracite colors into the current Lions' uniforms.

Since the modern-day helmet was introduced in the 1950s, Columbia has sported both light blue and white headgear with a variety of side logos including a lion, lion with paw, block C, modern lion, lion and block C combination, CU and white block C. In addition, Columbia has also worn helmets with script Columbia, the university seal and an interlocking CU. From the 1950s to 1970, Columbia wore blank white helmets with a blue stripe. That changed in 1971 when head coach Frank Navarro introduced a blue lion logo on the side. Head coach Robert Naso introduced a light blue helmet during his first year in 1980. The lion mascot first appeared on the Columbia helmet in 2003 when Bob Shoop became head coach and coach Norries Wilson introduced a light blue C in 2006.

Current head coach Al Bagnoli was the first coach to put the modern-day lion on the side of a white helmet. He also introduced the New York City skyline to back of the helmets in 2018.

HELMET NOTES AND CLARIFICATIONS

Research conducted and graphics produced by The Helmet Project at: http://nationalchamps.net/Helmet_Project/

Through most of the 1960s, Columbia used white helmets with a single light blue stripe, and with uniform numerals on the sides of the helmet in some dark color (probably black or blue). The side numerals were discarded by at least 1970, though during at least some games in 1970, the team wore numerals at the front of the helmet.

In 1981, this design was worn only during the first game of the season (vs. Harvard, Sept. 19, 1981); the Lion decals were added the following week and used for the remainder of the season.*

^This special design was worn during the October 18, 2003 Homecoming game against Penn and was intended to resemble the helmets worn by the 1961 Columbia team which won the Ivy League championship.
