OPENING TIPS

• No. 11 seed Columbia meets No. 6 seed West Virginia in the First Round of the NCAA Tournament on Friday. Opening tip from Carmichael Arena in Chapel Hill, North Carolina is scheduled for 2 p.m. ET.

• The Lions earned their first NCAA Tournament win in program history on Thursday, rallying back from a 13-point halftime deficit to defeat 11th-seeded Washington, 63-60, in the First Four. Riley Weiss scored a game-high 24 points, 19 of which came in the second half with 14 coming in the fourth quarter.

• Kitty Henderson is the winningest player in program history, earning her 100th career win on Thursday. She holds a career record of 100-26 (.794) in her four-year career. Henderson is a three-time Ivy League Regular Season Champion, 2023 WNIT Finalist and has led Columbia to the NCAA Tournament twice.

• Columbia is the outright Ivy League Regular Season Champion. The Lions went 13-1 in league play to claim their first outright title. They have won three straight regular season titles, sharing it in both 2023 and 2024.

• Head coach Megan Griffith is the winningest coach in Columbia women's basketball history, improving her record to 146-90 (.619) with Thursday's win. She is 12-7 (.632) in her career in postseason play. Griffith has been named the Ivy League Coach of the Year each of the last three seasons.

• The Lions earned their way into the field of 68 as an at-large selection for the second year in a row. Last season, they made their NCAA Tournament debut in the First Four, falling to Vanderbilt, 72-68, in Blacksburg, Va.

• Columbia is led by senior captains Kitty Henderson and Cecelia Collins. Both are 1,000-point scorers in their collegiate careers. Henderson was named the 2024-25 Ivy League Defensive Player of the Year and was a unanimous First Team selection. The point guard ranks No. 1 in program history in career assists (491), No. 2 in steals (191), No. 4 in points (1,337) and No. 6 in rebounds (694).

• The Lions and Mountaineers have met one other time, Dec. 2, 2007, in Morgantown, W. Va. West Virginia was ranked No. 16 in the country at the time and defeated Columbia, 74-41.

DANCING ON! COLUMBIA DEFEATS WASHINGTON FOR FIRST MARCH MADNESS WIN

Thursday, March 20, 2025

(11) WASHINGTON 60
(11) COLUMBIA 63

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. — Columbia women's basketball erased a 13-point deficit and stormed back to defeat No. 11 seed Washington in a First Four thriller, 63-60, at Carmichael Arena on Thursday evening.

Columbia (24-6, 13-1 Ivy) advances to the First Round to take on No. 6 seed West Virginia on Saturday. Tip-off from Carmichael Arena is set for 2 p.m., and the game will air live on ESPN News.

Riley Weiss posted a game-high 24 points, with 14 coming in the fourth quarter. Cecilia Collins had 12 points, while Kitty Henderson added 11. The Lions outscored Washington, 42-26, in the second half.

"I'm really proud of our team for responding," said head coach Megan Griffith. "Halftime was a big turning point for us, just in the trajectory of the game obviously, but also us understanding we were beating ourselves a little bit there too."

Columbia trailed 34-21 at the break before making adjustments out of the locker room. Henderson led the charge in the third quarter, converting on a layup to cut the deficit to six with 5:43 left in the third quarter. The Lions still trailed 45-40 heading into the final frame before making their final charge.

Weiss opened the fourth quarter by draining a triple on the right wing and was fouled on the play to bring the Lions within one. On Columbia's next trip down, she knocked another trey to give the Lions their first lead of the day, 47-45, with 7:47 on the clock.

A 7-2 spurt gave Columbia a 54-49 advantage before Savvia Sellers scored on back-to-back possessions to bring the Huskies back within one with 4:44 remaining. Washington eventually knotted things up just over a minute later before Susie Rafiu gave the Lions the lead back for good with a putback at the 3:04 mark.

Maria Avlijas drilled a wide-open look from beyond the arc to bring the cushion back up, and both teams struggled to convert on the offensive end down the stretch. Weiss buried a pair of free throws with 18 seconds left, giving the Lions a 61-57 lead, but Elle Ladine hit a deep 3-pointer a few seconds later to make it a one-point game.

Weiss knocked down two more from the charity stripe and forced Ladine into a tough shot on the defensive end that was well off the mark to effectively seal the game.

The Huskies dominated in the paint, led by Dalayah Daniels' first-half double-double. Washington scored 30 points in the paint and held the Lions to just 2-of-15 shooting from beyond the arc in the first half to build their early lead.

"In the first half, honestly, we were really trying to close off the exits and let (Daniels) go to work, and she went to work," Griffith said. "So at halftime, we said we've got to be better in the gaps. We're going to send doubles in the post to make her think. She's a nice passer, but let's speed her up. We didn't want to do it right away. We wanted to do it on the dribble, and I thought we executed that well. Then, our press was just way more in sync. (Sellers) is a really special player, but to make other people have to pass through the press and make decisions was the main goal. I thought those adjustments our team executed really well in the second half."

Sellers posted 21 points and six assists to lead the Huskies. Daniels finished with 17 points and 11 rebounds.

COLUMBIA WOMEN'S BASKETBALL NOTES

RECORD WATCH

- Henderson is two assists from breaking Columbia's single-season record, which is held by head coach Megan Griffith '07. She now has 147 assists this season, one shy of Griffith, who had 148 as a junior in 2005-06.
- Henderson is now tied for seventh in career assists in Ivy League history (491), sharing that spot with Penn's Anna Ross (2014-18). Only six players in Ivy League women's basketball history have ever had 500 career assists. Nobody has reached 500 since Harvard's Brogan Berry in 2012.
- Henderson (1,337) is tied for fourth in program history in career points with Tori Oliver (2013-17). She is 110 points from the No. 3 spot, occupied by Ula Lysniak (1983-87).
- Henderson is tied for seventh in Ivy League history in career assists (491). Only six players in league history have reached 500 career assists. Harvard's Brogan Berry was the last to reach the milestone in 2012.
- Riley Weiss is 26 points away from a top-five spot on Columbia's single-season scoring list. She currently has 539 points this season. Camille Zimmerman holds the No. 5 spot with 565 in 2017-18.

WASHINGTON POSTGAME NOTES (MARCH 20)

- Columbia earned its first NCAA Tournament victory. It was Columbia's second-ever NCAA Tournament game, falling to Vanderbilt, 72-68, exactly one year ago on March 20, 2024, in the First Four.

- Columbia earned its first win against a Big Ten opponent in program history. The Lions were previously 0-3, falling to Iowa (2009), Illinois (2018) and Indiana earlier this season.

- Senior Kitty Henderson earned her 100th career victory as a member of the Columbia women's basketball program. She is the winningest player in program history with a career record of 100-26 (.794).

- Henderson had four steals in the game and now has 75 steals this season, which is a new program record. She surpassed the previous record of 72, held by Judie Lomax (2009-10).

- Columbia's 13-point comeback win tied for its largest such win of the season. The Lions came back from 30-17 down in the first half to defeat Princeton, 58-50, on January 20. It was four points shy of the largest comeback win program history, which also occurred in the postseason. The Lions came back from 17 points down to defeat Boston College, 54-51, in the 2022 WNIT.

ALL-AROUND ATHLETE

- Kitty Henderson is one of two players in the country averaging as many points (13.3), rebounds (6.1), assists (4.9), and steals (2.5) as she does. The only other player is Duquesne's Megan McConnell, who was named the Atlantic 10 Defensive Player of the Year. Duquesne is currently competing in the Second Round of the WNIT.

TRIPLE-DOUBLE TROUBLE

- Seniors Kitty Henderson and Cecelia Collins made NCAA history in Columbia's wins over Brown (Feb. 28) and Yale (Mar. 1) at Levien Gymnasium. Henderson posted a triple-double of 19 points, 12 rebounds and 10 assists in Friday's win against Brown. The very next day, Collins posted a triple-double of 16 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists against Yale. It marked just the second time in NCAA Division I women's basketball history that two different teammates recorded a triple-double in consecutive games. The last such occasion came in 2003, when Jackson State's Latesha Lee (Dec. 3) and Arnie Williams (Dec. 6) accomplished the rare feat.

- The triple-doubles were just the second and third in Columbia women's basketball history. The first came on January 28, 2023, when Kaitlyn Davis had 19 points, 12 rebounds and 10 assists in a 79-50 win over Dartmouth. Coincidentally, in both Davis' and Henderson's triple-doubles, each player had exactly 19 points, 12 rebounds, 10 assists, four steals and just one turnover. According to research from Stats Perform, Henderson and Davis are the only two players this century to post those exact stat lines in Division I women's basketball game.

NATIONAL COACH OF THE YEAR FINALIST

- Head coach Megan Griffith was named a finalist for the Kathy Delaney-Smith Mid-Major Coach of the Year Award presented by Her Hoops Stats. The five finalists are Griffith, Carly Thibault-Dudonis (Fairfield), Vanessa Blair-Lewis (George Mason), Carrie Moore (Harvard) and Aaron Roussell (Richmond). Griffith has guided the Lions to their third straight regular-season title and first outright.

- The Lions enter the Ivy League Tournament ranked No. 41 in the NET, which is 15 spots better than where they ended last season. They own notable non-conference wins over Atlantic Sun favorite FGCU and MAC favorite Ball State, as well as a combined 3-1 Ivy League record against Harvard and Princeton, the best of the bunch. Earlier this season, Columbia matched the program's longest winning streak with 11 straight. The Lions have earned votes in the AP Poll multiple weeks this season, marking their third-straight season receiving votes.

TRIO OF PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

- Kitty Henderson (4), Riley Weiss (3) and Cecelia Collins (1) have combined to win eight of the 17 Ivy League Player of the Week awards this season. No other school has had more than one player earn the Ivy League's weekly distinction. Nationally, the Lions are one of just five programs to have three or more players win their conference's player-of-the-week award this season. (Longwood, Northern Arizona, Green Bay and Gonzaga).
