THE STORYLINE

Hitting the road for the first time this season, Harvard men's basketball will travel to Holy Cross and Manhattan Nov. 16 and 18, respectively, for 7 p.m. and 1 p.m. tipoffs. The action in Worcester can be found on the Patriot League Network, while Saturday's clash in NYC will be broadcast on ESPN3.

WHAT TO WATCH FOR

- Harvard is off to a 2-0 start after victories over MIT and UMass. Sophomore Bryce Aiken leads the Crimson with 21.5 points per game, including a career-best 30 in a 70-67 (OT) victory over the Minutemen. The performance included a game-winning triple from Aiken with just 1.9 seconds to play.
- Winning its first two games at home, Harvard departs Cambridge for a nation-long 39-day road trip that spans eight games. Tied with Penn for the longest stint away from home in the country, the Crimson will play games in four different states on the road trip.
- The all-time winningest head coach in Harvard men's basketball history, Tommy Amaker returns to the Harvard sidelines for the 11th season. The Thomas G. Stemberg '71 Family Endowed Coach for Harvard Men's Basketball has directed the Crimson to a period of unprecedented prosperity in the form of four NCAA tournament appearances (2012-15), five Ivy League championships (2011-15) and six 20-win seasons (2010-15). Amaker owns a 371-244 career record: 195-104 at Harvard, 108-84 at Michigan and 68-55 at Seton Hall.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Opening the season with a career-best performance, Harvard men's basketball sophomore Bryce Aiken was selected as the Ivy League Player of the Week for Nov. 6-12.

Aiken became Harvard's first player to net 30 in a game since Wesley Saunders '15, guiding the Crimson to a 70-67 (OT) victory over Massachusetts. The Randolph, New Jersey native poured in 12 of Harvard's final 16 points, including a game-winning stop-and-pop 3-pointer from 26 feet with just 1.9 seconds to go in the extra frame. Aiken also scored 12 points in the opener against MIT, and shot a dazzling 58 percent from 3-point range over the weekend.

STARTING FROM THE TOP, NOW WE'RE HERE

Harvard was picked by the media in the preseason to don the Ancient Eight crown in March, which would be its sixth in eight seasons. The Crimson received six first-place votes and 121 total points, edging Yale and Princeton for top honors by three and seven points, respectively. Penn was chosen to finish fourth as the final team to qualify for the second-annual Ivy League Tournament.

LAST TIME OUT

Scoring 12 of the Crimson's last 16 points, including a game-winning 3-pointer with 1.9 seconds to go, sophomore Bryce Aiken led Harvard men's basketball to a 70-67 win over Massachusetts in overtime on Sunday afternoon at Lavietes Pavilion.

Aiken netted a career-best 30, including four threes, while also adding a career-high eight rebounds and four assists. Sophomore Chris Lewis was in double figures for the second-straight game with 15 points, while junior Corey Johnson pitched in 10 of his own, including two triples.

DOUBLE-DOUBLE TROUBLE

Controlling the paint in the season opener, sophomore Chris Lewis tallied his first-career double-double with 13 points and 10 rebounds against MIT Nov. 10. The big man followed it up on Sunday with a 15-point performance, and he co-leads the team in rebounds through two outings.

THE NEW GENERATION

After being ranked the 10th youngest team in the NCAA according to KenPom rankings, the Crimson returns a core group to the court in 2017-18. Sophomores Chris Lewis, Justin Bassey and Seth Towns all return this season after starting 20-plus games last season as freshmen. Sophomores Bryce Aiken (14.5) and Towns (12.3) led the team in points per game.

WELCOME, WELCOME, WELCOME!

With the roster spots left by the graduating seniors, Tommy Amaker and his coaching staff added three members from the Class of 2021.

Danilo Djuricic, a forward from Ontario, captained the Canadian Men's National U16 and U17 teams and won a silver medal in the U16 FIBA Championships. Reed Farley is a guard from California, who was a four-year starter and three-year captain with his high school team in La Jolla, California. The second guard joining the Crimson is Rio Haskett. The three-year starter is an elite athlete that was a senior captain at his high school in Richmond, Virginia. In his four years he helped his high school to a 90-11 record.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

With the new season comes a newer-looking building. Lavietes Pavilion has been redone just in time for the season. The renovations include new locker rooms, coaches offices, and improved concession and merchandise areas for fans.

The arena now features fresh new bathrooms, upgraded bleacher seating and a brand-new video board and sound system.

ATHLETE ACTIVISM

Former Harvard men's basketball standout and current NFL Today on CBS host James Brown '73 came to campus alongside Dr. Harry Edwards, Professor Emeritus of Sociology at UC Berkeley. The two discussed social issues surrounding sports. This was the second year Head Coach Tommy Amaker has put on an event like this, after last year inviting Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to campus.

This social issue discussion gained national media attention in an article from the AP, which was also featured in the New York Times, ABC News, Washington Post, USA Today and many others.

CREATING A WINNING CULTURE

Harvard has posted a 173-68 (.715) overall record since the start of the 2009-10 season, ranking as the 19th-highest win percentage in the country over the last seven-plus seasons.

Harvard has posted a 94-16 (.854) record at Lavietes Pavilion since the start of the 2009-10 season, representing the 18th highest home-court win percentage in the country over the last seven-plus seasons.

GETTING DEFENSIVE

The Crimson ranked first in field goal percentage defense (41.2), first in blocked shots (4.8) and second in scoring defense (65.8) in the Ivy League. Harvard held nine opponents to under 40.0 percent shooting and nine to under 60 points (8-1).

Under Tommy Amaker, Harvard held six opponents to fewer than 40 points and eight opponents to less than 30.0 percent shooting last season.

FROM WAY DOWN TOWN

The Crimson averaged 8.2 triples per game. Junior Corey Johnson ranked third in the league with 2.5 triples per game. Harvard set a new program record for the second-straight year with 229 3-pointers 2016-17.

SCOUTING HOLY CROSS

The Crusaders hold an early 1-0 record after a 69-64 victory at Sacred Heart to open the season last Friday. Holy Cross went 15-17 a year ago, including a 9-9 conference record.

The team graduated its top-two leading scorers, and top returner Karl Charles opened the season with a 23-point outburst while also chipping in a team-high four rebounds. Holy Cross connected on 9-of-23 3-pointers in the debut, with six different players hitting one from downtown. Holy Cross last made the NCAA Tournament in 2015-16.

CRASH THE GLASS

Last season, the Crimson ranked second in the Ivy League in rebounds per game with 35.9, trailing only Yale, which averaged 36.5. Through two games, Harvard is averaging 38 per game.

ON THE PAINT

Harvard registered 4.78 blocked shots per game last season, best in the Ancient Eight. Chris Lewis and Zena Edosomwan ranked 3-4 in the conference with 1.8 and 1.3 blocks per game, respectively. Lewis is swatting 3.0 per game this season.

NONCONFERENCE WATCH

Harvard has gone 101-58 in non-conference play under head coach Tommy Amaker, including nine-straight seasons with a .500 record or better in out-of-conference action. Harvard is 2-0 in 2017-18.

Harvard owns a 15-23 record against power conference opponents under Tommy Amaker. The Crimson defeated Boston College in six straight seasons from 2009-2014, again last season, and has also topped Auburn, California, Cincinnati, Colorado, Florida State, Michigan, TCU and Utah.

Harvard will face strong non-conference opponents this season, including St. Mary's, Kentucky, and Minnesota, among others.

SCOUTING MANHATTAN

The Jaspers open their season Wednesday night, Nov. 15, against St. Francis Brooklyn. A year ago, Manhattan went 10-22 with a 5-15 MAAC record.

Seniors Xavier Turner and Zane Waterman return after posting double-digit scoring averages a year ago, at 14.9 and 14.5, respectively. The Steve Masiello-led team is looking for its first NCAA Tournament berth since the 2014-15 season.

GOLD FOR CANADA

Freshman Danilo Djuricic helped lead Canada to gold at the 2017 U19 FIBA World Championships in Cairo, Egypt. Playing a crucial role for the team, Djuricic averaged 10.4 points, 4.7 rebounds and 2.0 made 3's per game. The championship was Canada's first in the event's history.

AIKEN BREAKIN' ANKLES

Sophomore point guard Bryce Aiken became the eighth player in program history to earn Ivy Rookie of the Year honors, including the third under head coach Tommy Amaker.

KINGS OF MASSACHUSETTS COURTS

Harvard is 34-14 overall against its in-state rivals under head coach Tommy Amaker, and owns a 26-7 record against Boston area schools with Amaker at the helm. Harvard played four Division I schools from Massachusetts, and six overall, last year (4-2). They play four in the 2017-2018 season, and are 2-0 thus far.

DETUR BOOK PRIZE

Chris Egi was announced as a recipient of the Detur Book Prize, the oldest prize awarded by Harvard College, two years ago. The Detur Book Prize recognizes sophomores who attained very high academic standing in their first year at the College.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Entering the season, the Crimson had played on TV 95 times since 2010-11. Harvard is slated for an Ivy-leading 23 games on national or regional television in 2017-18.

SOLD OUT

The Crimson played in front of a sold-out Lavietes Pavilion crowd four times last season, and is 1-for-2 this season. Since 2010-11, the Crimson has played in front of a full house a total of 41 times.

MARGIN OF VICTORY

Under head coach Tommy Amaker, the Crimson has won 48 games by 20 or more points, 12 games by 30 or more points, and three games by 40 or more.

ON THE SIDELINES

Head coach Tommy Amaker's 195 wins are the most at Harvard and the sixth-most in the Ivy League since the conference began competition in 1956. His 94 Ivy League victories, meanwhile, sit sixth in conference history.

Amaker has led Harvard to five Ivy League championships, tying him with former Penn coach Bob Weinbauer (1977-82) for the third-most titles in Ancient Eight history.

MID-MAJOR TOP-25

Harvard was slotted at No. 7 in the preseason Mid-Major top-25, trailing Gonzaga, Saint Mary's, Vermont, Charleston, Oakland and Bucknell. The Crimson was one of three Ivy teams included, and was picked 12 spots above Yale and 14 above Princeton.

FIBA U19 WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS

Chris Egi, Corey Johnson and Weisner Perez represented their respective countries at the 2015 FIBA U19 World Championships in Greece.

Egi, who was appointed as a captain by his coaching staff, paired with Johnson to lift Team Canada to a fifth-place finish, the country's highest finish at the competition. Perez, meanwhile, helped the Dominican Republic finish 13th in its first appearance since 1983.

BEATING THE ODDS

The Crimson is 4-11 against ranked opponents since 2008-09, marking the only four wins over ranked opponents in program history.

- 1/7/09 - at No. 17 Boston College, W, 82-70
- 11/25/11 - vs. No. 20 Florida State, W, 46-41
- 3/23/13 - vs. No. 10 New Mexico, W, 68-62
- 3/20/14 - vs. No. 15 Cincinnati, W, 61-57

COMEBACK KIDS

Harvard overcame double-digit deficits three times last season, at Cornell (a 12-point hole), against Penn (a 15-point hole) and at Brown (a 10-point deficit). Last year, the Crimson overcame a 21-point deficit with 9:02 remaining at Cornell on Feb. 20, 2016, marking the second-largest comeback by the Crimson under head coach Tommy Amaker.

NAIL BITERS

Last year, Harvard was 1-4 in games decided by three points or less and is 21-25 all-time in games decided by three points or less under head coach Tommy Amaker.

EXTRA SESSIONS

Under head coach Tommy Amaker, Harvard is 14-4 when going to overtime, and 1-0 this season. This includes a 4-1 mark in double-overtime contests and a 1-0 record when needing three overtimes.

CHASING HISTORY

- Harvard won at least 20 games in six straight seasons from 2009-15, matching Penn (1969-75) for the longest streak of 20-win seasons in Ivy League history.
- The Crimson won five straight Ivy League championships from 2010-15, becoming just the second program in Ancient Eight history to win at least five successive titles (Penn 1970-75, 1978-82).
- The Crimson made four-straight NCAA tournament appearances from 2011-15, joining Princeton (1989-92) and Penn (1970-75) as just the third program in Ivy League history to represent the conference in the Big Dance in four successive years.

THE THOMAS G. STEMBERG '71 FAMILY ENDOWED COACH FOR HARVARD MEN'S BASKETBALL

At halftime of the team's game versus Princeton on Feb. 21, 2015, Harvard Athletics announced the endowment of the department's coaching position: The Thomas G. Stemberg '71 Family Endowed Coach for Harvard Men's Basketball.

INTERVIEW REQUESTS

All requests for interviews with Harvard student-athletes and coaches must be made through Zach Reynolds, assistant director of athletic communications. Please note that student-athletes' phone numbers and e-mail addresses will not be released to the media per department of athletics policy. Game-day interviews will not be granted until the conclusion of the contest.

CREDENTIALS

All credential requests to cover Harvard men's basketball must be made through Zach Reynolds, assistant director of athletic communications, 48 hours in advance of the game. Harvard reserves the right to accept or deny all credential requests.

Credentials may be picked up at the Will Call window in front of Lavietes Pavilion, which opens one hour prior to the start of contests.

MEDIA SEATING

Media seating is available on a limited basis behind the bleachers located opposite the visiting team's bench. A staircase is available behind the bleachers opposite the home team bench to access the seating.

POSTGAME PROCEDURE

Head coach Tommy Amaker and select student-athletes will be available at the postgame press conference in the Lavietes Pavilion Lounge following the NCAA mandated 10-minute cooling-off period. Harvard maintains a closed locker room policy.

All requests for visiting coaches and student-athletes should be made through the visiting team's SID.

RADIO BROADCASTS

Radio stations wishing to broadcast Harvard men's basketball games must make arrangements through Zach Reynolds, assistant director of athletic communications, at least one week in advance of the game. Two analog phone lines are available for visiting stations, and a maximum of three credentials will be provided for any broadcast crew. ISDN lines are not available inside Lavietes Pavilion.

IVY LEAGUE NETWORK

The Ivy League Network returns for a fifth season as the Ivy League's home for all live streaming and on-demand video content. Broadcast in full HD and featuring multiple camera angles and replay, the ILDN provides fans with unprecedented access to the Ancient Eight.

AT HARVARD...

ACADEMICS

At the foundation of Harvard's lofty reputation is a liberal arts curriculum taught by some of the world's great scholars. Nobel laureates and Pulitzer Prize-winning authors teach introductory and Gen Ed courses, and all faculty are readily available for students.

Now equally well-known for its professional schools, Harvard originally received recognition as the country's first and finest undergraduate institution. It has long been committed to reforming college curricula and, in fact, the whole elective system began here over a century ago. Today, Harvard maintains its strong commitment to the undergraduate with one of the broadest programs in existence. Students may concentrate in any of 48 fields, including African-American studies, computer and environmental sciences, engineering, government, classics, and folklore and mythology. The majority of courses offered at Harvard have fewer than 20 students, and most departments feature a "tutorial" system of teaching and learning.

THE HARVARD STUDENT

While Harvard has long been a leader among universities, it is equally committed to developing leaders among people. Thus, its enrollment is not comprised of 6,700 "geniuses." Instead, the University prides itself on attracting the best all-around young individuals—those with the energy, innovation and creativity to enliven a classroom.

Some students show unusual academic promise through experiences or achievements in study or research. Others are more "well-rounded" and have contributed in many different ways to the lives of their schools or communities. Still others could be called "well-horsed," with demonstrated excellence in one particular endeavor. And many students bring perspectives formed by unusual personal circumstances or experiences.

The end result is an undergraduate population drawn from every state and many foreign countries, one that brings together a grand diversity of social, ethnic and economic backgrounds.

ADMISSION

There is no formula for gaining admission to Harvard. Academic accomplishment in high school is important, but the Admissions Committee also considers many other criteria such as community involvement, extracurricular activities and work experience. There were over 37,000 applicants for the class of 2019.

Strength of character, ability to overcome adversity, and other personal qualities often play a part in admissions decisions.

Grades and test scores are relied on to help assess academic promise, but they are by no means relied on exclusively. Evidence that you are willing and able to take on academic challenges or that you possess strengths not fully revealed in objective information is also of interest to the Admissions Committee.

FINANCIAL AID

In welcoming the Harvard Class of 2012, Harvard ushered in a dramatic expansion of its financial aid programs. Through a series of reforms, families with incomes up to $65,000 are no longer expected to contribute to the cost of their children's undergraduate education; families earning up to $150,000 will be asked to contribute just a modest fraction of their incomes (generally 10 percent or less); and grants have replaced loans for all undergraduates receiving aid. Harvard has long sought to attract the most talented and promising students, whatever their financial means. It remains a paramount priority to make that ideal real.

HOUSING SYSTEM

Both academically and residentially, Harvard College is fully coeducational. The centers of campus life are the residential houses. The house system, established in 1930, provides a small college atmosphere within the university.

Each house has several faculty members and a staff of residential tutors associated with it, as well as dormitories, dining halls, libraries, intramural athletic teams and a number of social events.

There are 12 residential houses, while a 13th unit, Dudley House, provides a parallel life for the students who live off-campus. All freshmen live in or next to Harvard Yard. "The Yard" is the center of the university, and the hub of Harvard's activity.

Resident adult advisers help students explore the academic and non-academic opportunities of their first year. A wide range of programs are designed especially for first-year students—in the arts, intramural athletics and Freshman Seminars.

Students run nearly 400 organizations and programs on campus. There are men's, women's and mixed voiced choruses, plus over half a dozen a cappella groups.

Six orchestras, smaller ensembles, chamber groups and rock bands also thrive. Twenty-two dance groups represent diverse cultures and modes of artistic expression from around the world. There are two student newspapers and numerous political, feminist, ethnic, cultural and religious journals.

In addition, there are several student organizations that focus on diversity and social justice issues.

DIVERSITY

There are more than 50 cultural, ethnic, and international student organizations at Harvard, as well as communities representing nearly every major religion.

The Harvard Foundation for Intercultural and Race Relations sponsors many activities that celebrate the ethnic and cultural diversity at Harvard. One of the most anticipated events is Cultural Rhythms, a festival that highlights the talents of Harvard students and offers ethnic foods from around the world. Past emcees have included Queen Latifah, Jackie Chan, Andy Garcia, and Halle Berry.

THIS DATE IN HARVARD BASKETBALL HISTORY

November 11, 2007 – Amaker is on the Board

Tommy Amaker earns his first win on the Harvard sideline with a 90-60 victory over Northwestern State. All five Harvard starters reached double-digits in the victory led by Andrew Pugar '09 who contributed 20 points and five assists.

November 26, 2011 – Celebration in the Bahamas

Harvard won the inaugural Battle 4 Atlantis tournament with a 59-49 victory over Central Florida. The Crimson defeated Utah in the opening round, 75-47, before knocking off No. 20 Florida State, 46-41, to reach the title game. Keith Wright '12 was named tournament MVP.

November 29, 2013 – Laurent Rivard '14 for 3!

Laurent Rivard '14 sank five 3-pointers in the team's 76-64 win over Green Bay at the Carrs/Safeway Great Alaska Shootout, moving him past Dan Clemente '01 as Harvard's career record holder. Rivard graduated with 287 makes from behind-the-arc and as the program's all-time leader with 123 games played.

November 30, 2013 – Another Tournament Title in the Books

The Crimson jumped out to a 23-point halftime lead and held on down the stretch to defeat TCU, 71-50, and win the 2013 Carrs/Safeway Great Alaska Shootout. Laurent Rivard '14 hit five-three pointers for the second consecutive night and scored a team-high 15 points to lead the way.

December 5, 2011 – Harvard Enters National Rankings

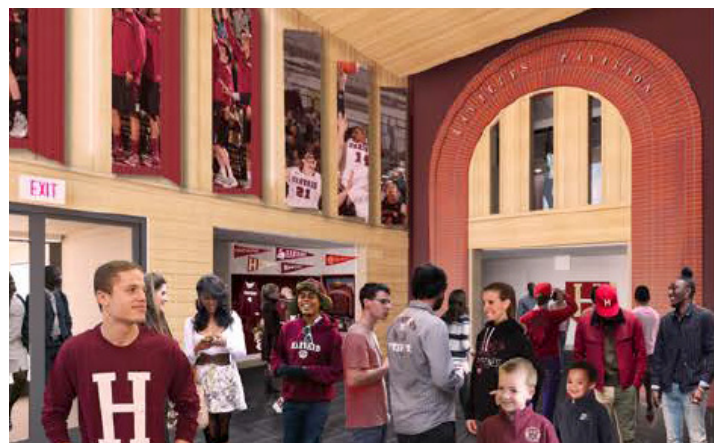

For the first time in program history, the Harvard men's basketball team is ranked in the AP and ESPN/USA Today Coaches national polls. The Crimson appears at No. 25 in the country in the AP rankings and No. 24 in the coaches poll.

NEW LOOK LAVIETES

The Harvard men's and women's basketball programs will compete in an updated facility for the 2017-18 season.

Harvard basketball has completed a major renovation and significant expansion to its home, Lavietes Pavilion. Construction began in May of 2016 and finished in the fall of 2017. The project expanded the front entrance of the building by 5,000 square feet, providing space for brand new locker rooms, coaches' offices and an upgraded entryway.

Also noticeable will be new bleacher seating, a video board and dramatically improved sound system. In addition, the heating and air conditioning system was revamped.

In the 10 seasons since taking over as head coach of Harvard's men's basketball program, Tommy Amaker has reinvented the Crimson into an Ivy League power with a national presence. He has directed Harvard to a period of unprecedented prosperity in the form of four NCAA tournament appearances (2012-15), five Ivy League championships (2011-15) and six 20-win seasons (2010-15). Amaker is the all-time winningest coach with the Crimson, surpassing Frank Sullivan with a 74-66 win at Boston College Dec. 7, 2016.

Amaker was introduced as head coach by Nichols Family Director of Athletics Bob Scalise on April 13, 2007, following six seasons as head coach at Michigan and four at the helm of Seton Hall. Amaker owns a 369-244 career record: 193-105 at Harvard, 108-84 at Michigan and 68-55 at Seton Hall. He has earned numerous Coach of the Year awards, including the 2013 Clarence "Big House" Gaines College Basketball Coach of the Year Award, presented to the top minority basketball coach in NCAA Division I. In 2012, he was presented with district coach of the year awards from both the United States Basketball Writers Association and National Association of Basketball Coaches, and was a candidate for the AP National Coach of the Year. He has also been named a finalist for the Ben Jobe Award five times (2011-15), and the Hugh Durham Award three times (2011, 2012, 2015).

With Amaker at the helm, Harvard student-athletes have garnered four All-America honors, 11 All-District distinctions and 29 all-conference accolades. Additionally, Keith Wright '12 (2012) and Wesley Saunders '15 (2014) have been named Ivy League Player of the Year. Steve Moundou-Missi '15 (2015) and Agunwa Okolie '16 (2016) have garnered defensive player of the year plaudits, with Kyle Casey '13-14 (2010), Siyani Chambers '16-17 (2013) and Bryce Aiken (2017) earning rookie of the year honors.

Harvard capped the 2016-17 season with an appearance in the inaugural Ivy League tournament. The Crimson - the 10th-youngest team according to KenPom rankings - finished 18-10 overall, including a 10-4 mark in Ancient Eight play. On Dec. 7, 2016, Amaker became the all-time winningest coach in Ivy League history, surpassing the previous mark with a 74-66 win at Boston College. Amaker also ended the season as the all-time leader at Harvard in Ivy wins (94).

Harvard finished the 2014-15 regular season tied with Yale for the Ancient Eight crown. The Crimson defeated the Bulldogs in a one-game playoff for the right to represent the Ivy League in the NCAA tournament, where it fell to fourth-seeded North Carolina, 67-65, despite taking a 65-63 lead with 1:15 to play. Harvard also completed its second straight season sweep of traditional Ivy powers Penn and Princeton during the regular season, becoming the first program in conference history to do in consecutive years.

In 2013-14, the 12th-seeded Crimson knocked off fifth-seeded Cincinnati in the tournament's second round, and nearly pulled off an upset of fourth-seeded Michigan State to reach the Sweet 16. Harvard finished the year with a 27-5 overall record and a 13-1 mark in the Ivy League, setting program bests for both overall victories and conference victories, and also captured the title at the Great Alaska Shootout along the way. Additionally, a record six Crimson were named to the All-Ivy League teams, including player of the year Wesley Saunders '15.

A year earlier, Harvard earned a historic win in the NCAA tournament as the 14th-seeded Crimson upset third-seeded New Mexico, which was ranked 10th nationally. The victory was the first by the Crimson against a top-10 opponent and left Harvard among the nation's top 32 teams at season's end.

A win in the NCAA tournament was a natural progression after the 2011-12 season, perhaps the best overall campaign in program history and the first in which the Crimson claimed sole possession of the Ivy title. En route to ending its 66-year NCAA tournament drought, Harvard debuted in the national rankings, climbing as high as No. 21 in the ESPN/USA Today coaches poll and No. 22 in the Associated Press poll. The Crimson also won the inaugural Battle 4 Atlantis tournament, with wins against Utah, No. 20 Florida State and Central Florida.

Harvard's first Ivy crown came in 2010-11, when the Crimson went 23-7, tied Princeton at 12-2 in league play, and made its first NIT appearance. The 2009-10 campaign ended in the CollegeInsider.com Tournament, Harvard's first postseason berth since 1946.

At Michigan, Amaker inherited a program that was reeling from institutional and NCAA sanctions but led the Wolverines to the postseason three times, winning the 2004 NIT title and reaching the championship game of the 2006 NIT. The Wolverines were ranked as high as No. 20 in the nation during the 2005-06 season.

Seton Hall reached the postseason every year during Amaker's tenure. He led the Pirates to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen in 2000 and to three appearances in the NIT. He was credited with bringing in the top recruiting class in the country, including the national high school player of the year, for the 2000-01 season.

Amaker served nine years as a graduate assistant, assistant coach and associate head coach at Duke, working for legendary head coach Mike Krzyzewski. He was an assistant on two NCAA championship teams with the Blue Devils (1991, '92) and helped Duke to three other Final Fours in eight NCAA tournament appearances. Duke was a combined 230-80 in Amaker's nine years on the Blue Devils coaching staff.

A native of Falls Church, Virginia, Amaker began his career in college basketball as a four-year starter at Duke, leading the Blue Devils to four NCAA tournaments and an appearance in the 1986 national championship game. He served as captain as a senior in 1987, and was the winner of the Henry Iba Corinthian Award as the nation's top defensive player. Amaker was enshrined in the Duke Sports Hall of Fame in 2001. In 2013, Amaker was inducted in the Washington Metropolitan Basketball Hall of Fame.

A 1987 Duke graduate with a bachelor's degree in economics, Amaker was selected by the Seattle SuperSonics in the 1987 NBA draft. He currently serves on the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, and is a former board member of USA Basketball where he was a member of the Men's Collegiate and Men's Senior National Committees, helping to select members of the gold-medal-winning 1996 U.S. Olympic team.
