The Particulars

Harvard opens its 137th season Saturday night with a stern test against the Holy Cross Crusaders at Harvard Stadium.

For the fourth time in the last five years, Harvard was selected to win the Ivy League championship in a poll of the national media. The Crimson will once again have a tough test immediately as reigning Patriot League champion Holy Cross will be playing its third game of the season while Harvard is in its first.

Opening Day

Harvard is an impressive 111-23-2 in season-openers (.827). The Crimson has won its opening game in seven of the last nine years and is 10-6 on Opening Day under current head coach Tim Murphy.

Let There Be Light

Harvard is playing its fourth straight home-opening game under the lights at The Stadium. Harvard is 3-0 in its previous openers including a win over Holy Cross in 2008.

Series History

Saturday's game will be the 64th meeting between Harvard and Holy Cross in a series that dates to 1904. Harvard, which enjoyed 36 consecutive home games in the series from 1904 to 1980, holds a 38-23-2 series lead.

Harvard has won six of the last eight meetings and 10 of the last 13 although Holy Cross

Harvard's Last Time Out

In a game of inches and legendary fourth down gambles to end its 2009 campaign, Harvard stunned Yale by scoring two touchdowns late in the fourth quarter as the Crimson downed the Bulldogs, 14-10, in the 126th playing of The Game in front of 52,692 fans at Yale Bowl.

With Yale leading 10-0 late in the fourth, Harvard drove 76 yards in just 1:50 on six plays as Collier Winters found a streaking Matt Luft for a 41-yard touchdown with 6:46 remaining. The score would never have been possible were it not for Gino Gordon, who spun out of a tackle on fourth-and-four from his own 30 yards line, eventually rumbling 19 yards to keep Harvard's hopes alive.

MEDIA INFORMATION*CREDENTIALS

All credential requests to cover Harvard football should be directed to Kurt Svoboda at least five days in advance of the game. Credentials will be issued only to accredited members of the working media.

INTERVIEWS

Interviews with student-athletes, other than those immediately following a game, must be arranged through Harvard's Office of Athletic Communications so as not to interfere with the students' academic schedules. Game-day interviews will not be granted until the end of the contest. Harvard maintains a closed locker room at all times.

NEW ENGLAND FOOTBALL WRITER'S LUNCHEONS

Harvard hosts a weekly gathering of coaches, media and sports information directors every Wednesday at noon through the college football season at Dillon Field House. Harvard head coach Tim Murphy speaks at each luncheon and is available for individual interviews following the sessions. Reservations are not required, but media members should be aware of the cost of $10 per person.

PRACTICES

Harvard football practices are open to the media, provided the outlet makes prior arrangements with the Office of Athletic Communications. Contact Kurt Svoboda for practice times.

GAME PROCEDURES

Postgame interviews are conducted in the Murr Center Lounge. Please see a representative from each school to arrange interviewees. Game notes and other materials are provided for your convenience. Please find appropriate recycle bins in the press box and discard of your materials upon completion of the game.

Yale eventually found itself in fourth down with 22 yards to go from its 25 yard line at 2:40 on the clock. With the league's best punter in Tom Mante waiting to boot it down field, Yale instead called an improbably reverse run fake punt that fell seven yards shy as Collin Zych came up with the stop, giving Harvard the ball at Yale's 40 yard line with 2:25 as a stunned Yale crowd looked on.

It took Harvard just three plays to devastate the crowd again as Chris Lorditch cut across the middle of the field and then swiftly past two defenders up the seam as Winters lofted a perfect pass over the inside coverage. Thirty two yards later, Harvard suddenly led 14-10.

Holy Cross' Last Time Out

Massachusetts quarterback Kyle Havens threw for 293 yards and two scores as the Minutemen jumped on Holy Cross early and didn't let up in a 31-7 victory on Saturday in Amherst.

In addition to Havens' performance through the air, the Minutemen (2-0) rushed for 232 yards and two more touchdowns as the Crusaders (1-1) failed to slow down a multi-faceted Massachusetts offense.

The Minutemen jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter after a 19-yard touchdown reception by Dan Sheeran and a 1-yard touchdown run from John Griffin.

A Jonathan Hernandez 1-yard touchdown run followed by a 3-yard touchdown reception by Rob Blanchflower and a 37-yard field goal by Caleb Violette as time expired in the first half gave Massachusetts a 31-0 lead.

The running back duo of Griffin, who rushed for 75 yards, and Hernandez, who added 71, led the way on the ground for the Minutemen.

Holy Cross was limited to 43 rushing yards and held the ball for just 21 minutes.

Harvard Coach Tim Murphy

In his 17th season as Harvard's head coach, Tim Murphy enters Saturday's game with a 104-55 record with the Crimson and a 136-100-

1 overall head coaching record, which includes five years at Cincinnati and two years at Maine. Murphy is one of just five coaches to win 100 games since the formation of the Ivy League in 1954. Murphy has led Harvard to five Ivy League championships (1997, 2001, 2004, 2007, 2008). He is 11-4 all-time against Holy Cross.

Holy Cross Coach Tom Gilmore

Tom Gilmore is in his seventh season at Holy Cross sideline, and he enters the game against Harvard with a 40-28 record with the Crusaders. Gilmore, who played at Penn as an undergraduate, was the 1985 Ivy League player of the year. He is 2-4 against Harvard as a head coach.

Elite Company

With 104 career victories on the Harvard sideline, head coach Tim Murphy ranks second on the Crimson's all-time wins chart. Murphy is 13 wins away from Joe Restic's school record 117 wins (from 1971-93).

Ivy Era Coaches

Since the formal naming of the Ivy League in 1956, just five coaches have reached the 100-win plateau with two of them being Harvard men.

Carm Cozza, Yale: 179

Bob Blackman, Dartmouth 127

Al Bangnoli, Penn: 122

Joe Restic, Harvard: 117

Tim Murphy, Harvard: 104

Success

Over the past 12 years, Harvard has won five Ivy League championships (four outright) and had two undefeated seasons while posting the Football Championship Subdivision's second-highest winning percentage this decade.

Did You Say Nine Times?

The Crimson has finished with at least seven wins in each of the last nine years, becoming the only program in Ivy League history to have such a stretch of success. Three years ago, Harvard became the first Ivy team to post a string of even seven such seasons together.

Coach's Road Trip

This summer, Tim Murphy embarked on a week-long journey overseas to speak with men and women of the United States military as part of the Coaches Tour 2010. The purpose of the trip was to provide service men and women with a break from the rigors of active duty while providing a temporary outlet of something sports-related.

Murphy was joined on the trip by Oregon head coach Chip Kelly, Illinois coach Ron Zook and West Point head coach Rich Ellerson. Murphy and Kelly were also guest lecturers at the USC Coach of the Year Clinic at The Galen Center Pavilion in Los Angeles, Calif. earlier in the summer.

Oh Captain, My Captain

Harvard captain Collin Zych was named as the Ivy League Preseason Defensive Player of the Year by the College Sporting News as part of its 2010 FCS Yearbook edition. Zych was named to the same honor by The Sporting News and has also earned the honor from Lindy's.

This summer, Zych was named to three different preseason All-America teams and also has an invitation to the Football Championship Subdivision Senior Scout Bowl later this year.

Tough Scheduling

Harvard has the toughest non-conference schedule as compiled from the preseason rankings from Any Given Saturday and The Sports Network. In order of hardest schedule:

1. Harvard- #14 Holy Cross, TOP 50 Lafayette, TOP 50 Lehigh
2. Princeton- TOP 50 Lehigh, TOP 50 Lafayette, #21 Colgate
3. Penn- TOP 50 Lafayette, #1 Villanova, Bucknell
4. Brown- TOP 50 Stony Brook, Rhode Island, #14 Holy Cross
5. Dartmouth- Bucknell, Sacred Heart, #14 Holy Cross
6. Cornell- Wagner, Bucknell, #21 Colgate
7. Columbia- Fordham, Towson, TOP 50 Lafayette
8. Yale- Georgetown, TOP 50 Albany, Fordham

Conference Call

Harvard has won 16 of its last 21 non-league games dating back to 2003. Harvard's last undefeated nonleague schedule came in 2008 (3-0) and was the fourth time in a six-year span that the Crimson went undefeated against the Patriot League's trio of Holy Cross, Lafayette and Lehigh.

League Matters

See Them On Sunday

Harvard currently has four players on NFL rosters. Matt Birk '98 was a six-time All-Pro center for the Minnesota Vikings and now suits up for the Baltimore Ravens, while Ryan Fitzpatrick '05 plays for the Buffalo Bills. Desmond Bryant '09 is a defensive tackle for the Oakland Raiders and Chris Pizzotti is on the Green Bay Packers. James Williams was signed by the Indianapolis Colts during preseasson camp.

NFL

Over the past 12 years, Harvard has seen 21 players move on to professional careers, including All-Pro Matt Birk '98 (Baltimore Ravens) and Jamil Soriano '03, who won a Super Bowl ring with the New England Patriots. Quarterback Ryan Fitzpatrick '05 (Buffalo Bills) started 13 games for the Cincinnati Bengals in 2008 and 10 games for the Buffalo Bills in 2009. Desmond Bryant was one of the leading tacklers among defensive linemen for the Oakland Raiders in 2009.

Champions Abound

Every four-year player recruited by Crimson head coach Tim Murphy has both graduated and been part of at least one Ivy League championship team. Murphy has led Harvard to Ivy League championships in 1997, 2001, 2004, 2007 and 2008.

Pomp And Circumstance

Five Harvard players — senior defensive end Josue Ortiz (Avon Park, Fla.), junior offensive lineman Scott Fritz (Houston, Texas), junior defensive end John Lyon (Durham, N.C.), sophomore linebacker Joshua Boyd (Hyde Park, Mass.), and sophomore offensive lineman Jim Deng (Old Saybrook, Conn.) — were valedictorians of their high school classes.

The Stadium

Harvard's record at Harvard Stadium since 2001 is 39-8 while winning 19 of its last 22 there. The team has four undefeated home marks in that stretch (6-0 in 2001, 5-0 in 2004, 5-0 in 2007, 5-0 in 2008).

800

With its win at Lehigh on Oct. 3, 2009, Harvard became the ninth school in Division I to record 800 wins all-time ... The Crimson has an all-time record of 805-377-50 (.674).

Road Trip Huh?

From 2000-09, Harvard posted a 36-11 in road games. The Crimson was 27-7 in Ivy League road games during that span.

Helping Hands

Over the past six seasons, Harvard is 30-6 in games in which a Crimson running back has rushed for at least 100 yards.

Out Of The Gates

Harvard has won its Ivy League opener in 10 of the last 11 seasons with nine of the wins coming against Brown and the other coming against Columbia.

Get Them Early

Dating back to the start of the 2003 season, Harvard is 43-1 when leading at halftime.

Where We Are Now

Saturday's game will be Harvard's 1,233rd varsity football game. The Crimson has an all-time record of 805-377-50 (.672).

Over Par

Harvard has scored points in a school-record 117 consecutive games. The Crimson has not been shut out since a 24-0 loss to Columbia in the 1998 season opener.

Magic Numbers

Harvard is 267-5-1 all-time (.979) when the Crimson scores 30 or more points.

Moving Up

Harvard now has 805 wins and is the second-winningest program in FCS history behind Yale (857).

Playing The Percentages

In 2009, Harvard football put the finishing touches on a decade that saw Harvard post the second highest national winning percentage in the Football Championship Subdivision and seventh highest in all of Division I. Harvard's .768 winning percentage from 2000-09 trailed only Montana while FBS schools Texas, Boise State, Oklahoma, Ohio State and Florida were the only schools to finish ahead of Tim Murphy's Crimson. Rounding out the national top 10 in the decade was LSU, USC and Appalachian State.

Recognition

Harvard has had at least one All-American in each of the last 11 years.

The Digits

Coming into the 2010 season, Harvard's record over the past ...

Five seasons: 40-11

Six seasons: 47-14

Friendly Confines

Harvard is 415-217-34 all-time in Harvard Stadium. Its 400th career home victory came in 2006 in a 33-23 victory over Cornell in front of 13,287.

In The Name

Harvard Stadium is the nation's first sports venue to use the term "Stadium." The next oldest just hosted its final game as Yankee Stadium was retired following a Sep. 21 victory against Baltimore.

Name Recognition

Harvard Stadium, the Yale Bowl and the Rose Bowl are the only three college football venues recognized as National Historic Landmarks.

Three Amigos

Harvard boasts three wide receivers whom have all logged at least one 100-yard receiving game in their career (Marco Iannuzzi, Chris Lorditch and Levi Richards).

Defense

In its last 38 Ivy League games, just two teams have managed 400-yards against Harvard.

Perfection

With a 7-0 record en route to the 2007 Ivy Football title, Harvard tied Dartmouth for the second most perfect Ivy League seasons with four, three behind Penn. The Crimson has recorded 7-0 League marks in 1997, 2001 and 2004 prior to capturing the Ivy title in 2007 without a loss.

Better Than Average

In 2009, Harvard clinched its 110th season at .500 or better in the program's 136-year history. It marked the Crimson's 11th straight year at .500 or better.

Hall of Fame

Head coach Tim Murphy was inducted into the Springfield College Athletics Hall of Fame on Oct. 20, 2007 - just hours after leading the Crimson to a 27-10 victory over Princeton. A 1978 graduate of the college, Murphy joined five other members as the school's 35th class to be inducted.

Oh Captain, My Captain

Collin Zych (Plano, Texas) is the 137th captain of Harvard football. Harvard elects just one captain each season.

Video Killed The Radio Star?

Harvard will once again have live streaming of all home games on GoCrimson.com with the exception of the Yale game, which will be available on tape delay immediately following the game.

New in 2010, all home games will be available for On Demand viewing at any time during the season for fans who cannot watch the games live.

The Crimson returns to radio on this season on WBNW 1120 (Business Radio Boston) with Bernie Corbett and Mike Giardi '94.

Their call can also be heard on WPLM 1390 Plymouth and WESO 970 Sturbridge as well as on GoCrimson.com. Home games will be streamed live with the utilization of the Stadium's new four-camera video board operation.

The Freaks Come Out At Night

Harvard drew 18,898 fans to its 2007 season opener against Brown in the first night football game at the Stadium.

A year later, in its 2008 opener against Holy Cross, the Crimson drew 20,462 in the first Friday night game at the Stadium.

The Crimson drew 17,263 to its third night game - against Brown in 2009.

Harvard is 3-0 all-time in night games - with all of the wins coming at Harvard Stadium.

Behind Center

This season, Harvard starts its sixth different quarterback on Opening Day in the last seven years. This season, senior Andrew Hatch will be the starter with 2009 All-Ivy League selection Collier Winters missing this season with an injury.

Last year, Winters earned all-conference honors in his first season under center; In 2008, two-time Ivy Player of the Year and current Green Bay Packers' player Chris Pizzotti '09 started the openers; In 2007 it was All-Ivy QB Liam O'Hagan starting at Holy Cross. Pizzotti started the 2006 opener; Richard Irvin started in 2005, and current Buffalo Bills' QB Ryan Fitzpatrick '05 started the 2004 season-opener.

Running Downhill...

Despite being known for its pro-style spread offense, last season saw Harvard rush for at least 150 yards in five of its last six Ivy League games (251 vs. Cornell, 267 vs. Princeton, 315 vs. Dartmouth, 151 at Columbia, 176 at Yale).

Running Uphill...

Last season, Harvard allowed fewer than 65 rushing in four of its last six Ivy League games (62 vs. Cornell, 38 vs. Princeton, 64 vs. Dartmouth, minus-18 at Columbia for a total of 146 yards (36.5 per game) on exactly 100 carries (1.46 yards per carry).

Run Stoppers

Harvard has notoriously held Ivy League teams under 100 yards rushing. Since 2008, Harvard has held nine of 14 teams under the century mark. Going back to 2006, the Crimson has held Ivy foes under 100 yards in 19 of 28 games including five times each in 2006, 2007 and 2009.

Meet You at 100

Last season, then-junior RB Gino Gordon (8 rushes, 119 yards, 3 TDs) and eventual Ivy Rookie of the Year Treavor Scales (20 rushes, 120 yards, 2 TDs) became the first Harvard duo in 10 years to rush for at least 100 yards each in a game versus Dartmouth. Both players had their century marks before the end of the third quarter as Harvard built a big lead ... The last time two backs collected 100 yards apiece came in 1999 when Chris Menick (22 rushes for 115) and Chuck Nwokocha (14 rushes for 110 yards) broke out against Cornell.

Scales and Gordon combined for 239 yards on 28 carries (8.5 ypc) against Dartmouth.

100 &amp; 100

Gino Gordon became the first player at Harvard to record both 100 rushing and receiving yards in a single game (119 rushing on 8 attempts, 103 receiving on 4 receptions) when he did so against Dartmouth.

All-Purpose

With 222 all-purpose yard against Dartmouth, Gino Gordon became the first Crimson player to reach 200 all-purpose yards since Clifton Dawson had exactly 200 on Oct. 14, 2006 in a 24-7 win over Lafayette. Dawson had 144 rushing yards and 56 receiving yards in the game.

Dawson is the last player to have more all-purpose yards than Gordon when he accumulated 223 yards (103 run, 28 receiving, 92 on kickoffs) in a 42-14 win over Dartmouth on Oct. 29, 2005.

Lonely At The Top

Harvard is the only school in Division I Football Championship Subdivision that has registered two unbeaten, untied seasons since 1995. The Crimson was 9-0 in the 2001 season before going 10-0 in 2004.

Top Of The Charts

Harvard has won seven national championships in football — in 1890, 1898, 1899, 1910, 1912, 1913 and 1919.

Perfect In Postseason

Harvard has played one postseason game in its history. The Crimson defeated Oregon, 7-6, to win the Rose Bowl Jan. 1, 1920. It's the only time since 1898 that Yale hasn't been Harvard's last opponent.

Rose Garden

Harvard has won more Rose Bowl games (one) than two current members of the Pac-10 (Arizona, Washington State) and one member of the Big Ten (Indiana). Harvard has won as many Rose Bowl titles as Oregon, Oregon State, Minnesota, Penn State and Arizona State.

Home Improvement

The three-year old FieldTurf playing surface at Harvard Stadium was the first phase of a three-step, $5 million upgrade to the facility. Stadium lighting was completed in 2007 and a state-of-the-art, pressurized removable bubble is placed over the field following the conclusion of each season in December, allowing for year-round use of the 105-year-old facility. After 1,204 games, Harvard played its first night game Sept. 22, 2007 against Brown - and won, 24-17 - at Harvard Stadium.

Other Notable Football Alumni

Harvard football players have distinguished themselves professionally in a number of fields. Hon. Hamilton Fish '10 was a two-time All-America who went on to a distinguished career as a United States representative. Former U.S. attorney general Hon. Robert F. Kennedy '48 was a three-year letterwinner for Harvard, while his brother, Hon. Edward M. Kennedy '54 lettered for the Crimson in 1955 (and caught Harvard's lone touchdown pass against Yale in 1954); Academy Award-winning actor Tommy Lee Jones '69 was a first-team All-Ivy League offensive tackle for the Crimson and a member of Harvard's undefeated 1968 team.

Double Agents

Harvard graduate and current offensive coordinator Joel Lamb '93 was the offensive coordinator at Yale for three years — and an assistant in New Haven for nine — before joining the Harvard staff in 2006.

Tony Reno, the secondary coach and special teams coordinator, was Yale's defensive backs coach for six seasons.

Breadth

Harvard sponsors 41 varsity sports, the most of any NCAA Division I college. There are roughly 1,200 student-athletes who compete in intercollegiate athletics at Harvard - more than any other Division I school.

Harvard fields the largest Division I athletic program in America with 41 Division I varsity sports. Sports Illustrated placed Harvard in the top 45 of "America's Best Division I Sports Colleges," the only Ivy League school to appear in the top 50.

Geography Class

Harvard's roster includes players from 31 different states.

The App State Addendum?

The Associated Press allowed its voters to cast ballots for non-FBS teams starting with the Sept. 10, 2007 national survey. The last non-current-FBS member to be ranked in the then-AP Top 20 was Colgate with a 9-0 mark at No. 20 in the Nov. 7, 1977, national ratings.

Bay State Banner

Holy Cross is Harvard's only 2010 opponent that is located in the state of Massachusetts.

History Made

Clifton Dawson '07 became the first offensive player in Ivy League history to be named to the first team four times. The only four-time first team All-Ivy pick on defense in school history is Dawson's former teammate Dante Balestracci '04.

He Did It

Clifton Dawson '07 set the Ivy League's all-time rushing mark (4,841 yards) in 2006, breaking a 35-year-old league record of 4,715 yards, which had been held by Cornell's Ed Marinaro since 1971.

Equal Footing

Though Ed Marinaro played just three seasons of varsity football (freshmen were not eligible for varsity competition then), he had 918 career rushing attempts — only two fewer than Clifton Dawson '07 had when Dawson broke the league record.

Elite Company

A look at Clifton Dawson's '07 current standing among the Ivy League's career leaders:

CAREER RUSHING YARDS

1. Clifton Dawson, Harvard (2003-06) 4,841

2. Ed Marinaro, Cornell (1969-71) 4,715
3. Chad Levitt, Cornell (1993-96) 4,657
4. Nick Hartigan, Brown (2002-05) 4,488
5. Mike McLeod, Yale (2005-08) 4,514

CAREER RUSHING TOUCHDOWNS

1. Clifton Dawson, Harvard (2003-06) 60
2. Mike McLeod, Yale (2005-08) 54
3. Nick Hartigan, Brown (2002-05) 52
4. Ed Marinaro, Cornell (1969-71) 50
5. Keith Elias, Princeton (1991-93) 49

Making His Points

Clifton Dawson '07 scored 398 points in his career, shattering Harvard's previous school record of 215 points, held for 91 years by Charlie Brickley '15. He finished his career ranked fifth all-time in Division I FCS in points and sixth in rushing TDs.

Four Times

Clifton Dawson '07 became just the ninth Division I player in history to reach 1,000 yards in four different seasons. The eight other players who have done it are Tony Dorsett (Pittsburgh, 1973-76), Amos Lawrence (North Carolina, 1977-80), Denvis Manns (New Mexico State, 1995-98), Jerry Azumah (New Hampshire, 1995-98), Ron Dayne (Wisconsin, 1996-99), Adrian Peterson (Georgia Southern, 1998-01), DonTrell Moore (New Mexico, 2002-05), and Steve Baylark (Massachusetts, 2003-06).

Miscellany

Harvard has won 139 national team championships in 18 different sports, most recently the 2009-10 women's squash title.

Harvard is the nation's oldest university, founded in 1636.

The Price Is Right

In welcoming the Harvard College Class of 2012, Harvard ushered in a dramatic expansion of our financial aid programs. Through a series of reforms over the past few years, families with incomes up to $60,000 are no longer expected to contribute to the cost of their children's undergraduate education; families earning up to $180,000 will be asked to contribute just a modest fraction of their incomes (generally 10 percent or less); and grants have replaced loans for all undergraduates receiving aid. Harvard has long sought to attract the most talented and promising students, whatever their financial means. It remains a paramount priority to make that ideal real.

That is true not just in the College but across the University. The Medical School initiated a new financial aid program, designed to reduce the cost of a four-year medical education by an average of $50,000 for families earning $120,000 or less. Newly entering JD students at the Law School can look forward to a tuition-free third year if they commit to at least five years of public service after graduation. Throughout the Schools we have substantially increased our investment in financial aid--by nearly 30 percent in the past three years alone. Harvard will continue to strive not only to enroll the very best students from across the economic spectrum, but also to ensure that the burden of excessive debt does not deter Harvard graduates from pursuing careers reflecting their highest aspirations.

Tradition

Harvard boasts one of the oldest and most successful college football programs in America, with numerous national and Ivy League Championships in its history. Since helping inaugurate intercollegiate competition more than 150 years ago, Harvard has become synonymous with excellence in athletics and academics. Success.

Academics

Harvard is universally regarded as the top academic institution in America and also has the highest graduation rate (approximately 98 percent). Harvard student-athletes pursue a wide range of academic courses along with their peers. Over the past three seasons alone, the football team graduated an award-winning opera singer in Noah Van Niel, a dual-degree holder with a bachelors and master's degree in Andrew Berry who was named the nation's Student-athlete of the Year and Cheng Ho, whose well-known story saw him evolve from a Taiwanese immigrant to an All-Ivy League running back and current NFL employee.

Diversity

Harvard students are regular kids, who come from all corners of the country. With its diverse student body and metropolitan environment, Black Enterprise ranks Harvard as one of the nation's top colleges and universities for African-Americans.

Boston/Cambridge

Boston is the unrivaled "College Town, USA" with more colleges and universities than any metropolitan area in the country. The Sporting News dubbed the city the nation's best sports town in 2002, 2004 and 2005.

Offense

A system that has smashed numerous school and Ivy League records and annually ranks among the top-performing units in the nation. Harvard became the first school in Ivy history to average over 500 yards per game in Ivy League play, when it did so in the 2000 season.

TIM MURPHY

Thomas Stephenson Family Head Coach for Harvard Football

By any measure, Tim Murphy has led Harvard's storied football program to its most prosperous and successful era since the early 20th century - a trend he hopes to continue into 2010 as he enters his 17th year as the Thomas Stephenson Family Head Coach for Harvard Football.

One of the game's finest teachers and motivators, Murphy took charge of the Harvard program prior to the 1994 season and has since led the program to a dominant state within the Football Championship Subdivision.

He is the first Harvard coach since the legendary Percy Haughton to lead the Crimson to two unbeaten, untied seasons in his tenure. The 2008 season culminated in Harvard's fifth Ivy League championship under Murphy (13th overall), its second consecutive Ivy crown, and the third in five seasons. The 2008 Crimson finished the year ranked 14th in the FCS Coaches Poll and continued a tradition of winning never before seen in the storied Ivy League.

In accumulating a 9-1 overall record in 2008 and a 7-3 record in 2009, Harvard continued its streak as the first and only team in Ivy League history to record nine consecutive seasons with at least seven victories. Harvard's current stretch is the program's best nine-year run since a 28-year stretch of seven-plus win seasons came to an end in 1911. The team's nine-year win total of 70 (70-19) is one shy of its program-record output from 1908-1916.

Just the fourth head coach to man the Harvard sideline in the last 56 years, Murphy enters the 2010 season with a 104-55 record with the Crimson. His overall head coaching record stands at 136-100-1 through 23 years, including five seasons as head coach at Cincinnati and two at Maine.

Equally as impressive, every four-year player recruited by Murphy to Harvard has both graduated from the university and been part of at least one Ivy League championship team.

Murphy enters the 2010 season ranked second in school history in total wins, trailing only the legendary Joe Restic (who won 117 games with the Crimson) on the all-time chart. The two coaches are closely linked and remain close. In the spring of 2008, Murphy joined Restic as Harvard coaches to be honored with the National Football Foundation Eastern Chapter's Ron Burton Distinguished America Award, given to a former football player who has carried the lessons learned on the field to his larger community.

Murphy has guided the Crimson to four outright, and five overall, Ivy League titles in the past 13 years. The 2001 Harvard squad posted its first undefeated, untied campaign since 1913, while the 2004 team went a step further by going 10-0 to mark the first perfect season with at least 10 wins since 1901. Murphy's 1997 Crimson also won the Ivy title, which was Harvard's first in 10 years. In a game that will go down in history as one of equal importance and dominance, the 2007 championship season was capped by a 37-6 victory at Yale against a previously undefeated Bulldog team that was highly ranked in both total offense and defense.

The 2006 season saw Murphy's Harvard squad log another program first as the Crimson registered wins against the Ivy League and Patriot League champions for the first time in the same season in school history.

The 2004 season, meanwhile, stands as arguably the Crimson's finest in more than 100 years. The Crimson went 10-0 on the year and had an average margin of victory of 20.5 points. Harvard scored at least 31 points in nine of the 10 games, had a double-digit winning margin in eight games, held its last six opponents to 14 points or less, dealt two shutouts and allowed just one touchdown in the last three games.

Harvard finished the year as the only undefeated school in the FCS and one of just five unbeatens in all of college football (along with Southern California, Auburn and Utah from the FBS and Linfield from Division III). The Crimson finished the season ranked No. 13 in the final Sports Network Division I-AA national poll and the ESPN/USA Today poll, marking Harvard's highest finish in the national rankings since the formation of the Division I-AA polls. Harvard's final Sagarin Rating stood 37th among the 239 Division I football schools, ahead of Minnesota, Brigham Young, Clemson, Stanford, Maryland, Alabama, Nebraska, Syracuse, Michigan State and Penn State, among others.

Murphy saw two Harvard players achieve All-America status and one earn Academic All-America recognition in 2004, while the Crimson had 15 players, the most in school history, named All-Ivy League. Harvard's starting quarterback, Ryan Fitzpatrick '05, was tabbed as the league's player of the year and went on to play in the East-West Shrine Game and the Hula Bowl.

Murphy himself was named the American Football Monthly Division I-AA national coach of the year and was a finalist for the Eddie Robinson Award. He was named the New England Division I-AA coach of the year for the fourth time in his career.

Murphy's 2001 Harvard squad finished 9-0 overall and 7-0 in the Ivies, and was ranked No. 19 in the final Sports Network poll. Harvard committed just nine turnovers, averaged 445.0 yards in offense and scored at least four touchdowns in every game. Murphy was both New England Division I-AA coach of the year and Grid Iron Club of Boston I-AA coach of the year, and received AFCA District I coach-of-the-year honors. He was also a finalist for the Eddie Robinson Award.

Previously, Murphy led Harvard to the 1997 Ivy championship, when his squad finished 9-1 overall and 7-0 in League play. It marked the first time in school history that the Crimson had posted a perfect Ivy record. Murphy was named the Scotty Whitelaw ECAC Division I-AA coach of the year and New England coach of the year.

Since 1994, Harvard has had 69 first team All-Ivy selections, five Ivy rookies of the year, four Ivy players of the year, six first team All-Americans and sent 21 players on to pro football, including five-time All-Pro Matt Birk '98 of the Baltimore Ravens. In addition, 10 of his players have received national academic recognition (either CoSIDA Academic All-America or the FCS All-Academic Team). Before sending two players to the 2008 CoSIDA Academic All-American team in 2008, Harvard had a national-best six players recognized on the All-District 1 team.

Murphy, past president of the FCS (Division I-AA) Coaches Association and a member of the Division I-AA Football board of trustees, is Harvard's first endowed coach. In October 1994, Thomas F. Stephenson '64 M.B.A. '66 established a $2 million endowment fund that supports the head football coach in much the same way that an endowed chair supports a professor. Stephenson chose to name the fund for members of his family, who have been active participants in the Harvard community for four generations.

Murphy was named head football coach at Harvard Dec. 6, 1993. He came from the University of Cincinnati, where that fall he had directed the Division I-A Bearcats to their finest record in 17 years. Murphy's first head coaching position was at the University of Maine, where, in 1987, he led the Black Bears to their first NCAA Division I-AA playoff berth.

At Cincinnati, Murphy led the Bearcats to an 8-3 record in 1993, their first winning campaign since 1982 and the school's best overall mark since 1976 (9-2). Cincinnati was the fourth-most improved team in Division I-A (an increase of five wins over 1992), and finished the regular season ranked 27th in the country in the USA Today/CNN poll and 28th in the AP poll. It was the program's highest ranking in school history at the time.

This success came after Murphy inherited a program that had a condemned stadium, no practice facilities, and the loss of 19 scholarships after being placed on probation for infractions incurred by the previous coaching staff. He attained all of his short-term goals, including: NCAA compliance, an improved graduation rate, reconstructing the strength and conditioning program and development of a successful major college team. When Murphy took over at Cincinnati in 1989, he was only 32 years old and was the youngest Division I head coach in the nation (along with Dave Rader at Tulsa).

While improvement was consistent throughout his tenure, it all came together in 1993. In that summer, Cincinnati was recognized by the College Football Association for being one of only 20 Division I schools to graduate a minimum of 70 percent of its most recent recruiting class. On the field, the Bearcats had their third-highest point total in school history (302), and set school marks for offensive plays, first downs and fewest turnovers. In addition, Cincinnati won that year's Independent Football Alliance championship (which included then-independents Memphis, East Carolina, Tulsa and Southern Mississippi).

Murphy started his head coaching career at Maine, in 1987 and 1988, when he became the youngest head coach in the country (at age 30) upon succeeding current Dartmouth head coach Buddy Teevens. His first team finished with an 8-4 record (the Black Bears' finest record in 23 years), shared the Yankee Conference title, and advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA tournament for the first time in school history. For those accomplishments, Murphy was named Division I-AA New England coach of the year and was the AFCA Northeast Region coach of the year.

Murphy also has extensive experience as an assistant coach. He was the offensive coordinator at Maine in 1985 and 1986, when the Black Bears both rushed and passed for more than 2,000 yards in the same season for the first time in school history. He was the offensive line coach at Boston University for three seasons, from 1982 through 1984, and helped the Terriers to Yankee Conference titles and NCAA Division I-AA playoff berths each year. Murphy was also the defensive line coach at Lafayette in 1981, working under Bill Russo when the Leopards posted their best record in school history (9-2), just one season after the squad went 1-10.

Murphy began his coaching career as a part-time assistant at Brown in 1979, and was promoted to assistant varsity offensive line coach the following season. A native of Kingston, Mass., Murphy graduated from Silver Lake High School in 1974. He then attended Springfield College, where he became a four-year starter and was a small college All-New England linebacker as a senior, and graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1978. Murphy earned his M.Ed. from Springfield the following year, did additional postgraduate work at Boston University and was accepted to the J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Business at Northwestern and the Colgate Darden School of Business at Virginia.

Murphy was chosen to sit on the board of trustees of the American Football Coaches Association in January 2005 and was named to Springfield's All-Decade Team in 2006. In October, 2007, the night following Harvard's 27-10 victory over Princeton, Murphy was inducted into the Springfield College Athletic Hall of Fame.

Murphy resides in Wayland with his wife, Martha Kennedy Murphy, and the couple's three children: Molly Kennedy; Conor Timothy; and Grace Katharine.

COACHING RECORDS

Percy Haughton 1899 (1908-16)

Harvard enjoyed its most prosperous era of the early 20th century when Percy Haughton, a member of the Crimson's 1898 championship team, took over as the team's head coach. Prior to Haughton's hiring, it was customary for colleges to change head coaches every year or two, regardless of the team's record. In nine years along the Crimson sideline, Haughton's teams went 71-7-5, won three national championships and finished unbeaten five times. Known for his brilliant schemes that utilized deception and power, Haughton coached the Crimson until he joined the service during the first World War.

John Yovicsin (1957-70)

Arriving at Harvard in 1957 with a somewhat limited coaching background — some years as a high school coach in Pennsylvania before five years as the mentor at Gettysburg College — John Yovicsin guided Harvard through the early years of formal Ivy League competition and delivered three Ivy championships to Cambridge. He went on to win 78 games in 14 years, and his .644 winning percentage stood as the best by a Harvard coach with more than five years on the sideline since 1926.

Joe Restic (1971-93)

The man who came to define Harvard Football through three decades, Joe Restic coached more games and won more games than any head coach in Crimson history. Restic and his trademark multiflex offense helped Harvard win five Ivy League championships, including a pair of outright titles and back-to-back crowns on two occasions. In 23 years along the Harvard sideline, Restic finished with 117 wins — 39 more than anyone else in Harvard's history — and 92 victories against Ivy League opponents, good for third in conference history.

Tim Murphy (1994-Present)

Harvard has seen its football record book rewritten under current head coach Tim Murphy. With five Ivy League championships and two undefeated seasons to his credit, Murphy and his signature no huddle, multiple-formations offense have made the Crimson at least a contender for the championship every year. Murphy's 1997 team made history as the first Harvard squad to go unbeaten and untied in Ivy League play, while his 2001 and 2004 teams stand among best in school history. The 2001 team went 9-0 overall and 7-0 in the league to finish with a perfect record for the first time in 88 years, while the 2004 squad went 10-0 for the Crimson's best record since 1906.

In a 2007 season marked its fourth undefeated league season since 1997, Harvard became the first program in the storied history of the Ivy League to record at least seven victories in seven consecutive seasons with a total of 54 wins from 2000-07.

The Crimson continued the pace in 2008 with its 13th league championship. The Crimson became just the eighth team in Ivy history to win the title after losing the league opener. An undefeated non-conference schedule propelled the Crimson to a 9-1 mark with four players being selected All-America.

In 2009, Harvard kept its streak of seven-plus-win season intact with a 7-3 record. The mark put the finishing touches on a decade that saw Harvard post the second highest national winning percentage in the Football Championship Subdivision and seventh highest in all of Division I. Harvard's .768 winning percentage from 2000-09 trailed only Montana while FBS schools Texas, Boise State, Oklahoma, Ohio State and Florida were the only school to finish ahead of Tim Murphy's Crimson. Rounding out the national top 10 in the decade was LSU, USC and Appalachian State.

THE HARVARD-YALE RIVALRY

It was the first rivalry in all of college athletics. Today, 157 years later, Harvard-Yale still stands as one of the best series in the world of sports.

These schools are familiar with being first and foremost. Yale fields 35 varsity sports and Harvard has 41, the most of any Division I school in the nation.

Harvard teams have won 139 national titles in sports ranging from crew to football and lacrosse to fencing. Yale has 104 national titles to its credit, including several in football, swimming and diving, squash and golf.

The schools have combined to capture 469 Ivy League championships since the circuit was formed in 1956 and combined to win eight League titles in 2009-10.

Former Harvard football coach Joe Restic, who guided the Crimson for 23 seasons until his retirement in 1993, quipped, "Each year, we're friends for 364 days and rivals for just one." While he was primarily assessing his relationship with his legendary Yale counterpart Carm Cozza, those words apply across the board.

Harvard-Yale is as much a debate as it is a feud. Think Lincoln-Douglas, not Hatfield-McCoy, though it should be noted the two schools jostled some eight years before the 1860 presidential candidates squared off on opposite podiums.

Yet a rivalry doesn't grow in stature by accident. Both schools have played major roles in advancing and shaping college athletics.

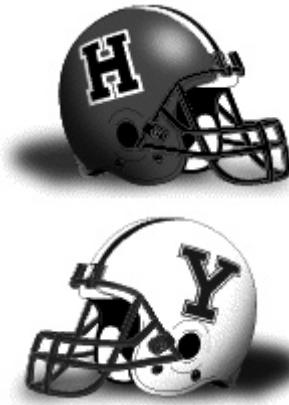

In 1843, Yale started the first college boat club in America; in 1884, Eli runner Charles Sherrill first demonstrated the four-point crouch for sprinters; in 1890, Yale introduced "cheerleaders" at a football game, a first in college sports; in 1896, the first intercollegiate ice hockey game featured Yale and Johns Hopkins (a 2-2 tie); and in 1897, Yale men's basketball played in the country's first 5-on-5 game.

Harvard, founded in 1636, has the distinction of being the nation's first college. Among its athletics firsts are: in 1877, the first baseball catcher's mask was used in a Harvard game, a fencing mask adapted by inventor Fred Thayer for Alexander Tyng; in 1896, Harvard freshman James B. Connolly became the first gold medalist of the modern Olympics (winning the hop, hop and jump); in 1901, women's field hockey was first introduced to America on the Harvard (Radcliffe) campus; in 1903, Harvard Stadium, the nation's oldest football stadium, was built; in 1905, Harvard played in the first intercollegiate soccer match (falling to Haverford, 1-0); and in 1947, Chester Pierce '48 became the first African-American footballer to play against a white college in the South when the Crimson met the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

The football rivalry, however, is arguably the most revered. Harvard and Yale have met 126 times on the gridiron since November 13, 1875 in New Haven (a 4-0 Harvard win). The series is the third-most-played in college football history and is now referenced around the country simply as "The Game." And, while combining for 18 national championships and 27 Ivy crowns, the annual contest still attracts sellout crowds to Cambridge and over 50,000 fans to the Bowl in New Haven.

Perhaps the best-known two-point conversion in college football history, Pete Varney brings in Frank Chiampi's pass in the end zone in Harvard's 29-29 'win' against Yale in 1968.

Yet it was football that nearly splintered relations between these two schools. In 1894, following a game known as the "Springfield Massacre" when seven players were carried off the field in "dying condition," Harvard and Yale broke off relations. Each blamed the other for the contest's unprecedented brutality.

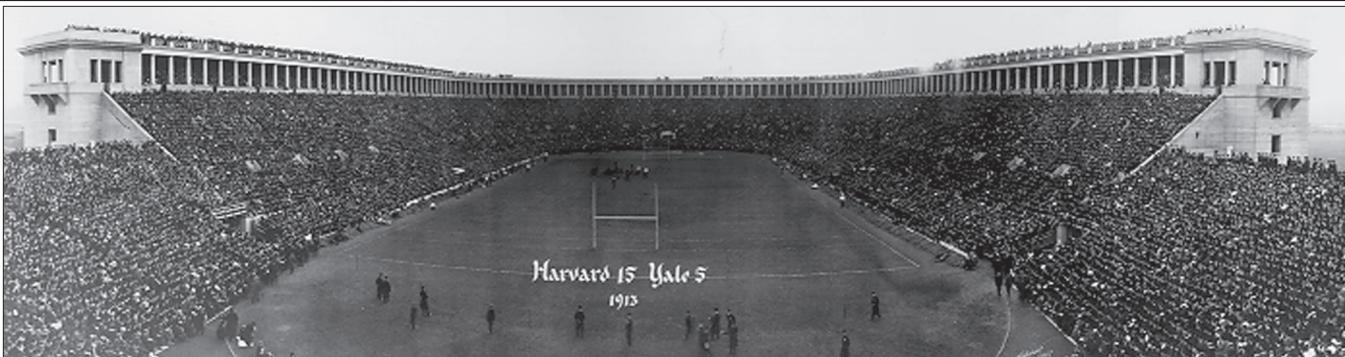

Historian George Sullivan wrote, "So savage was combat on a neutral Springfield gridiron ... that newspapers printed a casualty summary similar to those listing victims of a disaster. The game's violence appalled the world and ignited a national uproar about football ferocity-outrage that threatened the sport's future."

And the rivalry's as well. The schools didn't meet in football for two seasons, while the baseball, crew and track and field teams avoided each other for one. But the allure of competition was too great, and by 1897, the schools were back at it. Harvard's student newspaper, The Crimson, welcomed the resumption: "forgetting the past and resolving a generous open-handed rivalry for the future, Harvard joins hands with Yale and welcomes her heartily and joyfully to her old place as Harvard's nearest and dearest foe."

By 1898, the football game had relocated to its now-familiar and permanent perch as the final one on each school's docket.

Football has also generated the most lore. The notorious flying wedge, the brainchild of Harvard assistant Lorin Deland, was introduced in the 1892 H-Y game. Harvard coach Percy Haughton is purported to have choked a bulldog to fire up his troops for the 1908 game (although just a story, whatever he did worked as the Crimson won 4-0). In 1923, Yale's T.A.D. Jones told his players, "Gentlemen, you are now going out to play football against Harvard. Never again in your whole life will you do anything so important."

The 1930s had the majestic Barry Wood (Harvard)-Albie Booth (Yale) battles. It was also the era when a Harvard illustrator drew a game program cover of a pilgrim unceremoniously sitting on Yale's famous captain's fence. Some Eli alums were so outraged that a suspension of the series was briefly discussed, before cooler heads prevailed (Harvard's 1995 football captain, Justin Frantz, became the first Harvard athlete invited to sit on the fence, and his picture with Yale captain Tony Mazurkiewicz graced that year's

The 1952 Game is remembered for the “ultimate insult” when Yale’s football team manager, Charlie Yeager, was put in the game to catch a two-point conversion that culminated a 41-14 Eli blowout at the Stadium. More than half a century later, that one still hurts.

Harvard’s 1968 “win” over Yale is still rated as one of the top college football games ever played. Both schools entered The Game owning identical 8-0 records, but Yale appeared well on its way to victory and a perfect season as thousands silently streamed out of The Stadium as the clock counted down. That’s before Harvard miraculously scored 16 points in the final 42 seconds to “defeat” the Elis, 29-29. An extra edition of The Crimson, issued just five minutes after the final gun, carried the now famous headline, “HARVARD BEATS YALE, 29-29.” Some joke that Harvard’s greatest “win” was actually a tie, but none of those people were wearing Crimson that afternoon.

Another memorable day came in 1982, when a group of MIT frat boys exploded a balloon out of the Stadium turf — at midfield, no less — during Harvard’s 45-7 triumph.

More recently, Yale rallied to win successive thrillers in 1998, 1999 and 2000. Harvard has had the edge through the early 21st century, however, as the Crimson won an unprecedented five straight against the Bulldogs from 2001-05. The 2005 Game immediately joined the ranks of the greatest in the history of the series as the Crimson rallied to force overtime before prevailing, 30-24, in the third extra session of the longest game in Ivy League history.

Another memorable moment was written in 2007 when the teams met at Yale Bowl in front of 57,248 fans with the Bulldogs ranked 11th and Harvard 25th. The teams were undefeated in Ivy play, marking just the fourth time in league history that two unbeaten teams had met in the final game of the year.

For Yale, a victory would also mean its first 10-0 season in 47 years and its first outright league championship in 26. Instead, the previously 9-0 Bulldogs were whipped, 37-6, marking Harvard’s most lopsided victory at the Yale Bowl since a 35-6 win in 1959. Had it not been for a late punt return for a touchdown by the Eli’s, Harvard would have had its most uneven victory since a 36-0 victory in 1914.

In 2009, Harvard limited Yale to just 90 yards of offense on a bone-chilling day at the Stadium as Harvard, which finished ranked 14th nationally, cruised to a 10-0 win. The victory gave Harvard its second-straight Ivy championship and would mark the final game for Yale coach Jack Siedlecki.

In 2010, Harvard again came away victorious, winning its fifth straight game at Yale Bowl by scoring two late touchdowns in a 14-10 thriller. With Yale leading 10-0 late in the fourth, Harvard drove 76 yards in just 1:50 on six plays to make it a 10-7 game. Yale got the ball back and converted a pair of first downs to move the ball to its own 37 as the clock crept inside the four-minute mark. Yale eventually found itself in fourth down with 22 yards to go from its 25 yard line at 2:40 on the clock. With the league’s best punter in Tom Mante waiting to boot it down field, new Yale coach Tom Williams instead called an improbable reverse run on a fake punt. John Powers evaded a would-be tackler in the backfield and moved behind a wall of blockers along the left sideline but Collin Zych blew up a double team block and Anthony Spadafino stopped Powers seven yards shy, giving Harvard the ball at Yale’s 40 yard line with 2:25 as a stunned Yale crowd looked on. It took Harvard just three plays to devastate the crowd again as Chris Lorditch cut across the middle of the field and then swiftly past two defenders up the seam as QB Collier Winters lofted a perfect pass over the inside coverage. Thirty two yards later, Harvard suddenly led 14-10 before linebacker Jon Takamura finished the victory with an interception.

In 2007, then-11th-ranked Yale entered The Game leading the nation in rushing but mustered just 106 yards of total offense in a 37-6 drubbing.

All About The Game

127 And Counting

With its 127th playing this year, the Harvard-Yale rivalry is the third-most played series in college football. Only Lehigh-Lafayette (145 meetings) and Princeton-Yale (132) have played more often.

Instant Classic

Harvard’s 30-24 triple-overtime win in 2005 stands as the longest football game in Ivy League history.

Familiar Faces

Harvard assistant coaches Joel Lamb and Tony Reno are former Yale assistants.

The Last In Line

In every formal season since 1898, Harvard’s final opponent has been Yale. There is only one exception, as the 1919 campaign was completed with a 7-6 Rose Bowl victory over Oregon. Harvard got there with a 10-3 decision over the Elis.

Double Duty

Wayne Johnson, Jr. (Harvard A.B. ’44, L.L. B. ’48) is the only player to have lettered for both Harvard and Yale in football. In 1942, Johnson played fullback for the Crimson and, against Yale, dropped a critical pass in a 7-3 defeat to the Elis. Soon after, he joined the Marines, where the Corps assigned him to Yale in a program that permitted undergrads to continue their studies while preparing for a commission. He played just one game for the Elis before an injury ended his season but was still awarded a letter.

Home Field Advantage?

Harvard is 24-22-1 at the Yale Bowl; Yale is 25-23-3 at Harvard Stadium. The visiting team has won 15 of the last 23 Games.

On The Charts

The Harvard-Yale rivalry was tabbed as the sixth-best rivalry in college athletics, according to Sports Illustrated On Campus. Alabama-Auburn was first on the list, followed by Duke-North Carolina, UCLA-USC, Army-Navy and Cal-Stanford.
