Major League Baseball Draft Picks

The Blue Devils eclipsed the century mark during the 2024 draft as five pitchers were selected by Major League clubs. That mark ties the 2015 squad, who had five hurlers selected in the MLB Draft.

48

Major League Baseball Players

Duke baseball has produced 48 Major League Players in program history, including five in the previous two seasons.

18

All-America Selections

Duke added a pair of All-America selections in 2024, pushing the program total to 18. Since 2018, the Blue Devils have produced seven All-Americans and right-hander Charlie Beilenson was honored as the first consensus All-American in program history in 2024.

45

Most Wins in Program History

The program record of 45 wins was set by the 2018 club. Only two teams in the history of Duke baseball have accomplished the 40-plus win mark (2018 & 2024).

119

All-ACC Recipients

The Blue Devils have tallied 119 All-ACC recipients since joining the league. In 2024, Duke produced a program high seven recipients and landed four on the first team.

19

Freshman All-America Selections

Duke added a pair of freshman All-American selections in 2024, moving the tally to five in the past two seasons. The Blue Devils also produced the first freshman All-America utility player last season, as Kyle Johnson joined Marcus Stroman.

BOLD ITALIC represents program record

Located on Duke University's West Campus in Durham, Jack Coombs Field has been the home of Duke Blue Devils baseball since 1931. The stadium, named after legendary coach and former Major League Baseball player Jack Coombs.

Coombs enjoyed a remarkable MLB career as a pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics (1906-14), Brooklyn Robins (1915-18), and Detroit Tigers (1920). In 1910, he won 31 games during the regular season and three games in the World Series, leading the Athletics to the championship. A versatile athlete, Coombs occasionally played as an outfielder. Transitioning to coaching, he became a championship-winning leader at Duke University (1929-52), mentoring players who advanced to the majors. The field honors his legacy and impact on the Duke baseball program.

Renovations in 2001 and 2011 added an indoor hitting facility, upgraded fencing, lighting, and a modernized scoreboard. Used for weekday games, with weekend match ups played at Durham Bulls Athletic Park for the majority of the season, Jack Coombs Field combined Duke's baseball tradition with modern amenities.

Beginning during the 2024 season, the Blue Devils returned to Jack Coombs Field full-time in preparation for a phased enhancement plan which began on August 12, 2024.

In collaboration with LeChase Construction and Ewing Cole Architecture, Duke Athletics announced a phased enhancement plan for Jack Coombs Field. The plan aims to celebrate the school's historic baseball program with facility upgrades that better support its competitive future and player development, while dramatically enhancing the spectator experience.

The first phase includes new dugouts, an updated playing field with new dimensions, new bullpen, outdoor hitting facility, and group hospitality areas behind the outfield fence, upgraded tiered lawn seating on the first base line, a new player development lab/indoor training facility, and upgraded facility lighting and player development technology.

Ongoing fundraising for the project will prioritize a player clubhouse and coaches' office building, an improved entry plaza and gate, additional restrooms, concession/hospitality areas, and broadcast/media space.

Duke's baseball program has been on the school's most consistent and successful programs over the past decade, appearing in six NCAA Tournaments and three NCAA Super Regionals, while winning two ACC Tournament Championships.

CHRIS POLLARD

DUKE BASEBALL HEAD COACH

Chris Pollard became the 25th baseball coach at Duke University in June 2012, following successful tenures at Pfeiffer and Appalachian State.

Since his arrival at Duke, Pollard has overseen the development of 46 MLB Draft picks, 24 All-ACC selections, nine Freshman All-Americans, and seven All-Americans. Under his leadership, Duke has made three Super Regional appearances (2018, 2019, 2023) and won two ACC Tournament Championship titles (2021, 2024) - both firsts for the program. He also guided Duke to three consecutive postseason appearances (2018, 2019, 2021) for the first time in school history, ending a 55-year postseason drought in 2016.

Heading into the 2025 season, Pollard has amassed 379 career wins at Duke, just three shy of becoming the program's all-time winningest head coach. In 2023 and 2024, the Blue Devils set multiple program records, including most home runs, strikeouts, fielding percentage, and runs in consecutive seasons. In 2024, they broke the home run record for the second straight year, hitting 115 home runs, and set a single-game record with 11 home runs against George Mason.

The team finished the 2024 season with a 40-20 record, marking only the second time in school history to achieve 40-plus wins, both under coach Pollard. The Blue Devils also claimed their second ACC Tournament title, going undefeated in the tournament since its move to Truist Field.

In 2024, closer Charlie Beilenson became Duke's first consensus first-team All-American, while freshman Kyle Johnson was named the program's first Utility All-American since Marcus Stroman in 2010. Duke set a school record with seven All-ACC honorees, matching the program record with four first-team selections.

In 2023, Duke made its third Super Regional appearance with a 39-24 record, highlighted by a sweep of 12th-ranked Louisville and back-to-back top 15 series win. The Blue Devils won the Conway Regional Championship, defeating Coastal Carolina, 12-3.

Pollard also led Duke to its first ACC Tournament Championship in 2021, breaking the program's 60-year conference title drought. Duke's 12 consecutive wins in May secured the ACC title and a spot in

The 2020 season, cut short by the COVID-19 pandemic, saw a historic moment when right-handed pitcher Bryce Jarvis threw the first perfect game in Duke history against Cornell.

Pollard's 2019 team reached its second consecutive NCAA Super Regional, ending the season as a consensus top 20 team. It was also Pollard's sixth consecutive 30-win season, making him the first Duke head coach to accomplish that feat in his first seven years.

In 2018, Pollard led Duke to its first Super Regional and its first 40-win season, setting a program record with 45 wins. Under his guidance, Duke earned a school-record 18 ACC wins and spent 13 weeks in Baseball America's top 25.

Pollard revitalized Duke baseball starting in his first season, setting a school record for wins by a first-year head coach. His 2014 team earned 16 ACC wins and finished in the top four of conference standings for the first time in two decades. He also led Duke to its first NCAA Tournament appearance in 55 years in 2016, becoming the fastest Duke coach to reach 100 career wins.

Pollard has been instrumental in recruiting top talent to Durham, with 46 Blue Devils selected in the MLB Draft during his tenure, including a school-record-tying seven picks in 2018. Of those 46, 15 were picked the top 10 rounds, representing a significant portion of Duke's selections during that timeframe.
