TCU RELAY TRADITIONAN UNMATCHED LEGACY IN RELAYS

A tradition rarely matched in the sprints and relays. TCU offers nothing less. And the proof is on paper and in the history books. TCU, the little school in Fort Worth, has produced more NCAA Championships in the 400-meter relay than any other school over the last 30-plus years.

It all started modestly with a fifth-place finish by the mile relay at the 1973 NCAA Outdoor Championships. Since then, TCU has gradually developed into a force to be reckoned with in collegiate track & field as the school has produced five NCAA Outdoor national champions in the 4x100-meter relay over the last 20 years. TCU also has produced three individual national champions. Raymond Stewart won two outdoor 100-meter crowns, an indoor 55-meter dash title, and ran on two 400-meter relay championship units. Kim Collins won indoor titles at 60 and 200 meters and anchored the winning 4x100-meter relay team during the outdoor season.

TCU has finished among the top 10 in the men's team standings at the NCAA Outdoor Championships 13 times since 1983. Five times (1986, 1987, 1989, 1991 and 1995) the Horned Frogs have placed in the top five, including a second-place finish (1993), a third-place finish (1988) and a pair of fourth-place finishes (1992 and 1996). They added a fourth-place finish in the 2000 NCAA Indoor Championships and came back with a second-place finish in the 2001 Indoor Championships.

Throughout a history spanning back to the 1930s, TCU track has produced numerous individual All-Americans and All-American relay units. And those honorees have not been limited to the sprints. In 1998, Khadevis Robinson won the 800-meter title at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. Other All-Americans include 800-meter William Maru (1989-1990), middle distance runner Eliud Njubi (2001), shot putters Jordan Reynolds (1990 and 1992) and Stevanie Wadsworth (1992-1993), javelin thrower Joe Brown (2008), triple jumper Jonathan Jackson (2007) and long jumpers Aundre Edwards (2002-04) and Cleavon Dillon (2002-04).
