GRIZ SPOTLIGHT SHINES ON ACADEMICS AND IN THE COMMUNITY

The 2014-15 Griz basketball team paints the "M" on the university campus, one of the teams' community projects.

Montana had eight of its 12 programs post term GPAs of 3.05 or better for the 2014 spring semester. That gave the Grizzlies a term GPA of 3.06 and a cumulative GPA of 3.08, their 18th consecutive semester having a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher, dating back to fall 2005.

Posting the highest term GPA for the fifth time in the last six semesters was the women's cross country team at 3.64. Soccer came in at 3.51, volleyball at 3.44, women's track and field at 3.30, men's cross country at 3.09 and women's basketball at 3.05. Basketball had a GPA of 2.96, their best term in the last seven semesters. Women's golf had a semester GPA of 2.96, football a 2.82 and men's track and field a 2.81.

The University of Montana student-athletes volunteer annually to support various organizations, community events and educational activities. The Griz believe it is important to be invested in the community and work diligently to extend a helping hand whenever possible. The Griz student-athletes devoted over 1,400 hours of their time within Missoula and the surrounding communities during the 2013-2014 academic year.

Griz in the Community is a program that enables student-athletes to have a holistic college experience by giving back to the surrounding community and the state of Montana. Student-athletes from every team have made over 300 appearances since the beginning of the program in 2008.

UM student-athletes have continued to participate and serve in various community events which provide local fans the opportunity to interact with the Griz, including:

- American Red Cross Local Elementary and Middle Schools Missoula Buddy Walk* Missoula Food Bank • United Way of Missoula • Watson's Children Shelter • Western Montana Fair • YMCA
- Not only do the Griz student-athletes participate in community service events, but they make it a priority to take part in community engagement. The objective of community engagement is to build lasting relationships with organizations within the community. Reoccurring projects that the Griz student-athletes participate in include:
 - Active 6 Flagship Griz for Kidz Toy Drive Habitat for Humanity Missoula Food Bank Network Super Grizzly Dip, Special Olympics

2013 Women's Cross Country team won the Athletic Director's award for the team with the highest GPA.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS FACILITY IMPROVEMENT PLAN

Facility Needs for Grizzly Athletics are Not Always Visible to the Public

On the surface the University of Montana athletic venues are among the best in the Big Sky Conference and the Football Championship Subdivision. Dahlberg Arena, Washington-Grizzly Stadium, West Auxiliary Gym and South Campus Field have hosted legendary competitions in their respective sports. Without a doubt, our fans and student-athletes are in good shape come game day.

Washington-Grizzly Stadium rivals many of the larger stadiums as the most intimidating place for a visiting player to step foot. When the Griz burst out of the tunnel they are greeted by the roar of more than 25,000 fans – a sound that tests the nerves of the most seasoned players.

Everyone in attendance gets to witness the pageantry and excitement that is Grizzly football. However, very few fans get the opportunity to go behind the scenes and see those areas that matter most in the everyday life of the student-athlete – the training, practice, and service facilities. It is the weight room, academic center, meeting rooms and locker rooms where all student-athletes spend the vast majority of their time. It is where Montana Grizzlies are made! In these critical areas, UM is significantly lacking and pales in comparison to the image portrayed by the thundering stadium on those glorious fall Saturdays.

Infrastructure and Student-Athlete Success Go Hand-In-Hand

Student-athletes know what to look for when visiting a college campus. In order to recruit the best student-athletes, focus on their academic and athletic welfare, and continue the success UM Athletics has enjoyed over the many years, the university must improve these vital "infrastructure" facilities. Upgrades for these facilities have been identified as a top priority by the athletic department and the university president.

The existing academic center is undersized at 700 square-feet and can only serve a small number of the 300-plus total student-athletes. The weight room has limited space and is currently split between three separate rooms, making the working area difficult to supervise, unsafe, and ineffective. Meeting space is currently limited to one small room and a student-athlete lounge doesn't exist.

The women's locker room facilities have recently been improved. The men's locker room was renovated in 1992, and a remodel is beyond overdue. The space has become too small and there are concerns relating to the health and well-being of UM's student-athletes.

Facility Renovation and Construction Plan

With support from the university administration and private donors, the athletic facility improvement plan includes the following:

A new academic center that will be the first of these facility upgrades, and construction began in the fall of 2014. This facility will provide our student-athletes with ample space to study and meet regularly with their academic advisors (see artist rendering on page 14). The lower level will remain a lobby to accommodate fire code restrictions and the Adams Center.

The next priority will be to construct a new building next to the Grizzly Pool adjacent to the southwest corner of Washington-Grizzly Stadium (see artist rendering below). This building will house a new student-athlete weight room, football locker room, football lounge and football meeting rooms. It will connect to the Adams Center and allow the football team to continue to access the field through the existing player tunnel.

The weight room and locker room will sit below grade and make up the first level while the second will include a mezzanine level for the weight room, the football lounge and meeting rooms as well as a wider concourse in the football stadium complete with additional rest rooms and concession stands. All spaces will be functional and open.

After the completion of the new weight room/locker room building, the space where these were previously housed will be renovated into multiple locker rooms for the sports of men's basketball, men's tennis, and men's track and field as well as a new larger, central location for the athletic equipment room. The addition of locker rooms will also open up space to help the university host more outside events

ADAMS CENTER / DAHLBERG ARENA

First opened in 1953 as the Harry Adams Field House and named after famed atheletic director, head track and field coach, assistant football coach, and three-sport athlete at UM, the field house had a two-year renovation in 1999, opening as the Adams Events Center in 2001.

Along with being the home of the University of Montana Athletic Department, the Adams Center also hosts concerts with such famous acts as Elton John, Sting, Bob Dylan, James Taylor, Pearl Jam, and Wilco; the University and local high school graduations; trade shows, among other activities.

Dahlberg Arena, name after men's basketball coach and former UM basketball player George "Jiggs" Dahlberg, the home of the Griz and Lady Griz, has a capacity of 7,321. George "Jiggs" Dahlberg coached at Montana from 1937-38 to 1941-42 and then again from 1944-45 through the 1954-55 season. Jiggs, from Butte, Montana, came to UM as an athlete for the 1922-23 season and earned three varsity letters in basketball and football.

Along with an expansion of facilities, concessions and rest rooms, theather style seating was added. Two new practice gyms (WAG and EAG) were added to the venue along with a 7,000 square foot weight room, 4,500 square foot athletic treatment center, academic center and meeting rooms.

The women's locker room was expanded along with the equipment room. In 2004 a wide screen Griz Vision TV was added on the north end of the arena and a central scoreboard was added above the floor.

The University of Montana also replaced its portable sports floor with a new permanent state of the art maple sports floor. The new floor is 15,000 square feet. The floor is called the FOCUS and is manufactured by Connor Sports Floors and was installed by Northern Hardwood of Deer Park, Wash. The floor is a fixed resilient sectional channel system with a plywood panel subfloor and a continuous recessed lineal padding, featuring Nike grind material.

The floor is 2001 DIN compliant, which means it meets or exceeds all athletic performance qualities as measured by DIN. DIN testing measures the floors performance in some specific categories: Ball rebound: Measures the basketball's response off the sports floor system as compared to the ball's response of concrete (fast play and quick response); shock absorption measures the flooring system's ability to absorb impact forces normally absorbed by the athlete when landing on a hard surface (user friendly and comfortable).

Attatched to the Adams Center through the Hall of Champions are two gyms, the WAG, home to Montana volleyball with a practice court for basketball, and the EAG, a practice gym for tennis and track and field.

With support from the university administration and private donors, the athletic facility improvement plan includes the following: Construct an academic center, meeting rooms and additional offices in the open space between the current athletic complex and the student recreation center. Lower level will remain a lobby to accommodate fire code restrictions and the Adams Center. Relocate the current weight room to a site to be finalized. The new strength and conditioning center would feature approximately 10,000 square feet of training space to serve all student-athletes.

Travis DeCuire (pronounced: Dee-cure) was formally introduced as the University of Montana's 27th men's head basketball coach on Monday, June 2, at a press conference in the Max & Betty Swanson Grizzly Sky Club, located in UM's Adams Center/Dahlberg Arena. DeCuire was initially named the Grizzlies' new mentor on Saturday, May 31, by UM's Director of Athletics Kent Haslam.

This past season DeCuire, a former standout point guard for the Grizzlies, completed his sixth season on the University of California coaching staff and his second as the Golden Bears' associate head coach. Regarded as one of the top mentors in the game, DeCuire helped former Cal (and Montana) mentor Mike Montgomery transform Cal into one of the winningest programs in the Pac-12 Conference during his time in Berkeley. The Bears reached the postseason all six years he was on the staff.

"It's a great opportunity for Travis, and the folks in Missoula and the state of Montana are going to love him," said Montgomery via a phone interview. "He so excited to have te opportunity to be a head coach. He is very prepared; he's very anxious; and he will work his tail off for you guys.

"He understands the game and what we did at Montana, and what the things that we kind of passed down from our years there," Montgomery said. "He played there, and he understands all of that stuff. He's going to obviously run his own program, but I am sure he'll use some of those things that we passed down to him from our stint with the Griz.

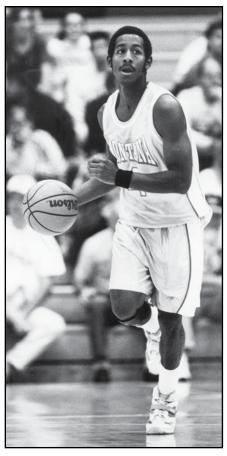

"He knows the city and he knows the university," Montgomery said. "He's got a lot of pride in the fact that he's a Griz. He knows what you watch out for in regards to the players. He's great with families. He's a real people-person. He cares > about the kids; he ran a foundation in Washington; and he's going to make sure that his players graduate. He will also make sure his players stay on track. He's going to be very good for those young kids."

> Before his six-year stint at Cal, he spent five seasons as an assistant coach to former Griz head coach and player Blaine Taylor at Old Dominion, where he helped the Monarchs to a combined record of 117-53. The mark included 94 wins his final four years - the most in school history over a four-year stretch. ODU reached the postseason each of those four years as well, and advanced to the NCAA Tournament in both 2005 and 2007.

> In addition, the Monarchs reached the National Invitation Tournament semifinals in 2006 and the quarterfinals of the College Basketball Invitational in 2008. ODU's best overall record came in 2004-05 when the Monarch's finished 28-6 overall. They also won 24 games each of the next two seasons, posting marks of 24-10 in 2006 and 24-9 in '07.

> DeCuire, from Seattle, Wash., has head coaching experience from stints at Sammamish High School and Green River Community College in Washington.

Prior to joining the staff at Old Dominion, he had two successful years as head coach at Green River Community College in Seattle. After taking over a last-place program in 2001-02, DeCuire guided the team to a conference championship and its first 20-win season in over 20 years, earning league Coach of the Year honors in 2003 to cap off his second season.

"I am excited to have Travis return to the University of Montana and lead the Griz men's basketball program," Haslam said in a press release. "I identified Travis as a very strong candidate early in the search process. The more time I spent with him understanding his vision not only for our program, but for the studentathletes he will mentor, the more impressed I became with him as a person and as a coach. I know Griz fans join me in welcoming Travis, his wife Sabrina, and their daughters Brianna and Tamia to the Missoula community."

DeCuire earlier served as head coach at Sammamish High School in Bellevue, leading the school to two conference titles, a state tournament appearance and three consecutive trips to the district tournament.

GRIZ COACHING STAFF Chis Montana Basketball 2014-15

As a point guard for Montana from 1992-94 DeCuire was named All-Big Sky Conference as a junior and senior. He set a school record in just three seasons with 435 career assists. He also established UM's single-season mark with 199 assists as a senior in 1993-94, when he was ranked 12th in the nation, averaging 7.1 assists a game.

He was the recipient of the Grizzlies' Carl Dragstedt Award (MVP) as a junior (he shared it with forward Matt Kempfert that season) and senior, and received the John Eaheart Award (Outstanding Defensive Player) following his senior year.

As a freshman at Chaminade-Hawaii he was a starter and team MVP in 1990. He then transferred to Montana and redshirted in 1991. He attended Mercer Island High School (Wash.), where he was a three-year starter and all-state, team MVP, and a McDonald's All-America honorable mention pick as a senior.

He has a strong commitment to community service, and founded and acted as president of the Fastbreak Basketball Association, an organization that assists in teaching life lessons and building self-esteem through basketball to more than 500 students in the Seattle-Tacoma area. In addition, he has extensive experience in counseling with the Echo Glen Children's Center in Snoqualmie, Wash., from 1996-98 and with the Ryther Children's Center in North Seattle from 1995-97.

DeCuire graduated from Montana in 1994 with a degree in marketing. He and his wife, Sabrina, have two daughters; Brianna (21) and Tamia (3). Travis' birth date is Nov. 21, 1970

Jonathan Metzger-Jones will be in his fourth season as an assistant coach in 2014-15 at the University of Montana

He has been an assistant coach for the Grizzlies the previous three seasons, and was retained by new head coach Travis DeCuire.

During his stint at Montana, the Grizzlies won two Big Sky Conference regular-season and post-season tournament championships, and advanced to two NCAA Tournaments in 2011-2012 and 2012-2013.

In his first two seasons with the Griz, they registered back-to-back 25-7 regular-season records, and went 34-2 in Big Sky games.

In his first year at Montana Jono Metzger-Jones helped the Griz to a record- breaking season. The 2011-2012 Grizzlies set the standard for consecutive wins (14), overall conference record (15-1), road record in conference (7-1), and all-conference selections (four). It was also the third consecutive postseason appearance for the Griz -- a first for the program. The 25-7 overall record was the third best in the 107-year history of Griz basketball.

Jono's duties at Montana include all aspects of recruiting, scheduling, player skill development with an emphasis on perimeter players, preparation and implementation of opponent scouting reports, game strategy, film breakdown, player academics, facility coordination, summer camps, and equipment.

On the court, Jono works primarily with the Griz perimeter players. The past three seasons he helped guards Will Cherry and Kareem Jamar earn first team All-Big Sky Conference honors. Both players saw their shooting percentages increase dramatically during their careers at UM.

Cherry upped his three-point shooting from 22% in the 2010-11 season to 38% as a senior, including a 41% clip in conference. Jamar increased his three-point percentage from 38% in 2010-11 to over 44% in 2011-12.

Prior to arriving in Missoula, Jono spent four seasons on the staff of Bob Williams at UC Santa Barbara. In his time there he helped lead the Gauchos to two Big West regular-season championships and back-to-back Big West Conference Tournament titles and NCAA berths -- a first in UCSB basketball history.

In the 2007-2008 season UCSB broke the school record for wins in a season (23) on its way to capturing the Big West regular-season crown and a berth in the NIT. The 2009-2010 Gauchos broke another school record by becoming the first team in school history to win both the Big West regular-season and tournament titles in the same year, and that team won 20 games and advanced to the NCAA Tournament. In 2010-2011 the Gauchos captured the Big West tournament championship to earn a return trip to the NCAA Tournament.

Prior to UCSB Jono began his coaching career as the Director of Operations at Cal State Fullerton under the guidance of head coach Bob Burton. In his one season there he helped the Titans to a 20-win season.

Jono played collegiately at the University of the Pacific where he was named co-captain of the team his senior year. He finished his career ranked in the program's top 10 all time in three-point shooting. Prior to his time at UOP he played two seasons at West Valley Junior College under Burton, whom he later worked for at CS Fullerton.

After his college career at UOP, he played three seasons in professional leagues in Italy, Switzerland, Finland, and Denmark.

A native of Oakland, California, he graduated from Bishop O'Dowd High School in 1997. He earned his B.S. in Business Administration from UOP in 2002.

Jono is married to the former Alison Keck, (B.A. Washington State '03, M.A. Gonzaga '07) who works as the Assistant Director of Development in the School of Journalism at the UM Foundation. Jono and Allison have a son Jason, who was born Jan. 29, 2014.

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH KEN BONE

With 21 years as a head coach at the collegiate level, Ken Bone brings a wealth of experience to the University of Montana's basketball and to head coach Travis DeCuire's staff.

Most recently he was the head coach at Washington State University for the previous five seasons. During his tenure with the Cougars he took them to two postseason tournaments, including the NIT semifinals in 2010-11. He had a five-year record of 80-86 in Pullman, and is the sixth-winningest head coach in school history.

In 2011-12 Bone became the fifth WSU head coach to take his team to two postseason tournaments, and just the third to accomplish the feat in consecutive seasons, as the Cougars made their first appearance in the CBI, reaching the championship round where they fell to Pittsburgh, two games to one.

As the Cougars' second-year head coach in 2010-11, he led his squad to a 22-13 overall mark and to the semifinals. Prior to his stint at WSU, Bone spent the previous four years as the head coach at Portland State, leading the Vikings to back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances in 2007-08 and 2008-09.

The Vikings went 23-10 during each of the last two years, the two best seasons in the 48-year history of the program. In his four seasons with the Vikings, Bone posted a 77-49 record for a winning percentage of .611 - the best by any PSU coach since basketball was reinstated in 1996-97. Bone led PSU to its finest season in school history in 2007-08, winning a school-record 23 games en route to the Big Sky Conference regular season and tournament titles and making the school's first appearance in the NCAA Division I Tournament. As a result, Bone earned Big Sky Coach of the Year honors, becoming the first Viking basketball coach to do so.

In 2008-09 the Vikings again won 23 games on their way to a second-place regular season finish in the Big Sky and second-straight conference tournament title. The automatic berth in the NCAA Tournament meant PSU was going dancing for the second time in program history, and the second year in a row, this time as a No. 13 seed. The season included PSU's first win over a ranked opponent when the Vikings upended No. 7 Gonzaga 77-70 in Spokane (Dec. 23, 2008). In his four years, the Vikings had 10 All-Big Sky selections.

Bone has a 361-202 record as a head coach, including 12 seasons at his alma mater, Seattle Pacific University. He registered a 253-97 (.723) record with the Falcons between 1990 and 2002. Bone's SPU teams claimed six outright or shared Pacific West Conference championships and earned eight NCAA playoff appearances. The Falcons made five trips to the NCAA Division II Sweet 16 over a span of eight years, including a semifinal appearance in 2000 that capped a 27-5 season.

In 2000, Bone was recognized as both NABC District 8 Coach of the Year and Pac-West Conference Co-Coach of the Year. During Bone's final season at Seattle Pacific, the Falcons posted a 24-5 record, advanced to the second round of the NCAA playoffs and were ranked ninth in the final 2002 poll.

Between his stints at SPU and PSU, Bone spent the 2002-05 seasons as an assistant coach at the University of Washington, playing a major role as the program returned to national prominence. In 2005 Bone helped direct Washington to the Pacific-10 Conference title as the Huskies earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament and advanced to the Sweet 16. The previous year, Washington had a runner-up finish in the Pac-10 regular-season standings. In 2004 the Huskies advanced to the championship game of the Pac-10 Tournament and competed in the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1999.

He began his coaching career as an assistant coach for a season at Shorewood High in 1982-83. After that he went to Stanislaus State where he was an assistant for a season (1983-84), and served as the head coach there for one year (1984-85). That was followed by one season as the head coach at Olympic Junior College in 1985-86. He then moved on to his alma mater at Seattle Pacific, where he was an assistant coach from 1986-90 and was the head mentor there from 1990-2002.

A Seattle native, Bone graduated from Seattle Pacific in 1983 and received his master's in athletic administration in 1993. He played two seasons (1980-82) at SPU after one-year stints at Shoreline and Edmonds (Wash.) Community College. He is a Shorecrest (Wash.) High School graduate.

ASSISTANT COACHES / BASKETBALL SUPPORT STAFF

Chris Cobb is an up-and-coming young coach and begins his first season as an assistant for mentor Travis DeCuire in the University of Montana's basketball program.

Cobb came to Montana after a five-year stint at Chico State, which had unprecedented success during his tenure there. Last season the Wildcats advanced to their third straight NCAA Tournament appearance, and won the school's first ever NCAA game to advance to the Elite Eight.

He was a key in Chico State's first championship team in the California Collegiate Athletic Association in 2011-12 (the first in school history), working for head coach Greg Clink.

At Chico State he was a key component of the team's scouting, recruiting and player development efforts, and helped oversee the academic program while also assisting in the promotion of the Wildcats' clinics and summer camps.

During his tenure with the Wildcats he coached and helped to develop seven all-league players, two All-West selections, and one NCAA Division II All-American.

Cobb came to Chico after serving as an assistant to head coach Bill Treseler at San Francisco State during the 2009-10 season.

He joined the coaching ranks immediately after completing a fouryear career in N.A.I.A school Menlo College in Atherton, Calif., where he was a two-time All-California Pacific Conference first team selection, and part of the Oaks' conference championship team in 2008. He's ranked second in career assists and in also second in career 3-pointers made at Menlo College.

Cobb was an outstanding prep player at Bishop O'Dowd High School in Oakland, and was instrumental in leading the Dragons to three straight Hayward Area Athletic League titles and a 2004 appearance in the state championship game. He was named first team all-league his junior and senior seasons, and was an All-Northern California Division III first team selection as a senior.

He received his bachelor's degree in business management from Menlo College in 2009. He earned his master's degree in kinesiology, with an emphasis on sports administration, from Fresno Pacific University in 2012. Chris is single.

Marlon Stewart is in his initial season as the director of basketball operations at the University of Montana.

He came to Montana after a two-year stint at the University of Virginia, where he was involved in scouting and video work. Last season Virginia was the ACC champion, a number one seed in the NCAA Tournament, and advanced to the Sweet 16.

A 2008 graduate of Washington State, Stewart served as the video coordinator for the Cougars in 2006-07 and 2007-08. In both of his two seasons in Pullman the Cougars participated in the NCAA Tournament.

He worked as the video coordinator at the University of California-Berkeley from 2009-12, when first-year Grizzly head coach Travis De-Cuire served as an assistant for mentor Mike Montgomery. During his three-year stay in Berkeley, the Bears advanced to the NCAA Tournament three times. Marlon is single.

GRIZ RETURN ONE FULL-TIME STARTER & SEVEN LETTERMEN

MISSOULA, MONTANA – The University of Montana Grizzly basketball team enters the season with just one full time starter, two half-time starters, and seven lettermen, and a lot of question marks at several positions.

The Griz are coming off a 17-13 season and were 12-8 in the Big Sky Conference, which put them in a thee-way tie for second place (with North Dakota and Northern Arizona).

First-year head coach Travis DeCuire and his staff need to replace three-plus starters, including three-time first team All-Big Sky Conference selection Kareem Jamar.

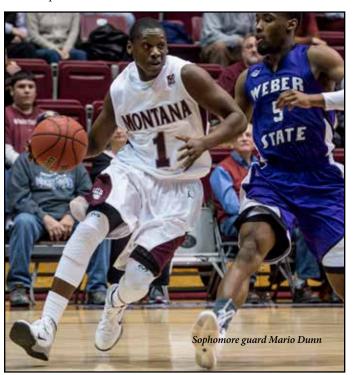

Last season Jamar, a 6-5, guard/forward, led Montana in scoring and rebounding at 18.8 points a game. Jamar ended his prolific career ranked fourth in school history in scoring (1,673 points) and assists (407), and 12th with 664 career rebounds.

Also departed are guard Keron DeShields (28 starts), and center Eric Hutchison (21 starts). DeShields was third on the team in scoring (11.8 ppg) and an honorable mention all-league pick a year ago as a junior, while Hutchison averaged 3.8 points per game.

The lone full-time starter back is guard Jordan Gregory (29 starts), while guard Mario Dunn and forward Mike Weisner had 16 and 15 starts, respectively.

Lettermen returning are 6-2 sophomore guard Riley Bradshaw (played in 20 games) and 6-4 Brandon Gfeller (27 games), 6-6 senior center Chris Kemp (29 games), and 6-5 sophomore forward Jack Lopez (16 games).

"We're a little thin when it comes to experience," DeCuire said. "The guys are competing. There's some potential there. We've just got a lot of learning to do, especially with the change and transition – throwing a bunch of new information at guys; sometimes you feel like the entire team is made up of underclassmen.

"There are some adjustments obviously to create more points offensively and be a little more entertaining," DeCuire said. "But, it's still percentage basketball and the plays will look the same, just executed a little quicker. We'll run on makes and after free throws, not just walk the ball down the floor and run in sets, but we just might get into those sets a little quicker."

The Grizzlies' Achilles heal a year ago was rebounding (they were ranked 344th out of 345 teams in total rebounds with 813 last season), but they compensated for that deficiency by taking care of the ball. Montana had the seventh fewest turnovers (299) in Division 1, and was ranked 16th in the country in turnovers per game (10.0 pg).

Montana was also ranked among the national leaders last season in field goal percentage (24th, 47.7%); free throw percentage (41st, 73.8%); and three-point percentage (57th, 37.4%).

"Defensively we have put in a brand new concept, so that's the biggest piece for us to learn," said DeCuire. "Two of our biggest emphasis right now are defensive rebounding and defensive field goal percentage – trying to keep the ball out of the paint and force our opponent to shoot contested jump shots. If we can do that we will be fine defensively, which will allow us to play the way we want offensively."

Gregory, a 6-2, 185-pound senior from Pueblo, Colo., was Montana's third leading scorer last season, averaging 13.8 points a game. He was ranked third in the Big Sky and 55th in the nation in free throw percentage (85.8%) and 11th in scoring.

A 6-7 senior from Walla Walla, Wash., Weisner was fourth on the squad in scoring, averaging 8.1 points per game a year ago. He was ranked second in the league in three-point percentage (46.6%) and tied for 13th in treys made per game (1.6). He was 36-of-38 (94.7%) from the line.

Dunn, a 6-0 sophomore from Oakland, Calif., started in 16 of UM's 20 Big Sky games. He was fifth on the team in scoring (6.3 ppg).

None of Montana's four returning lettermen, Bradshaw, Gfeller, Kemp, and Lopez, averaged more than 2.8 points per game. Kemp tied for sixth on the squad in rebounds (2.1 pg).

A key returnee is 6-8 junior forward Martin Breunig who was in the program last year, but came to UM via the University of Washington and had to redshirt due to NCAA transfer rules.

Montana has two players from the junior college ranks in sophomore guard/forward Jermaine Edmonds Jr. and sophomore guard Daniel Nwosu.

The 6-5 Edmonds Jr., from Richmond, Calif., averaged 14.5 points per game at Diablo Valley College a year ago. Nwosu, 6-2, is from Ottawa, Ontario, and averaged 13.2 points per game at Casper College in Wyoming last season.

The Griz added three players from the high school ranks who may see action this season. That trio included Bryden Boehning, a 6-10 center from Glendive, Mont.; 6-6 forward Gavin DeJong from Manhattan, Mont., and 6-8 forward Fabijan Krslovic, who hails from Abbotsbury, NSW. Australia.

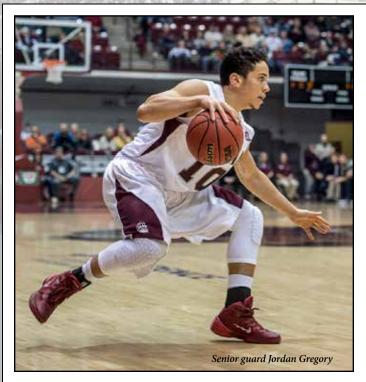

Boehning (pronounced BAY-ning), averaged 15.0 points and 11.0 rebounds per game as a senior. DeJong missed his senior season in hoops because of a football injury, but averaged 18.0 points and 12.0 rebounds per game as a junior. Krslovic represented his country in the 2013 U19 World Championships, and he also played on Australia's Under 17 National Team.

POINT GUARD

Dunn started in 15 of 20 Big Sky games as a true freshman, and was fifth on the team in scoring in conference games, averaging 7.0 points per game. He averaged 27-plus minutes, and shot 54.8% from the floor and 50.0% from three-point range in league play.

2014-15 OUTLOOK Gris Montana Basketball 2014-15

"Mario has improved a lot," DeCuire said. "I watched him play a lot in high school and he played a number of positions, so he was never true to the point. He's doing a good job with that transition. He's worked hard, and is probably as competitive as anyone I have coached."

Bradshaw saw action in 18 of 20 league contests, averaging around seven minutes per game, and scored 10 points, playing both at point guard and at the two guard position.

"Riley Bradshaw would be the other guy at the point at this point in time," noted DeCuire. "Those two go head-to-head every day, and he is also improving, in terms of decision-making and getting others involved. He was built to score, and sometimes that transition to the point in this system is difficult for a guy like that.

"Jordan Gregory will be someone else who will definitely create depth for us at that position," added DeCuire. "He's run a lot of point the last two or three workouts that we've had and has looked good. He allows us to play a little bigger during stretches, and rest the other guys a little bit. I think versatility could be one of the strengths of ours, and moving guys at both positions will allow us to play more guys."

TWO GUARD

Gregory was an honorable mention All–Big Sky selection and was the conference's 11th leading scorer last season with his 13.8 points a game. He was second on the team a year ago, scoring in double figures in 23 contests, 17 of which were conference games. His 34.3 minutes per game last season was the eighth highest average in the league.

Nwosu, a lefty, started in 31 of 32 games last season at Casper College, and shot 43.7% from three-point range and 84.0% from the line.

"Daniel came in competing early," DeCuire said. "He definitely set the tone in terms of how competitive it was going to be for that position, and has continued to do that."

Edmonds Jr., a prep teammate of Dunn at Salesian High School, also averaged 4.0 rebounds and 3.6 assists per game, and shot 47% from the floor and 40.5% from behind the arc as a freshman at DVC last season. Edmonds Jr. And Dunn were pivotal members of Salesian's California Division 1V state championship team in 2012, as well as the No. 1-ranked, 30-4 team in Northern California in 2012-13.

"Jermaine has come on as of late with more confidence. I think that he is a player who is bigger, provides more length at that position, and can play the two or the three," said DeCuire.

Gfeller not only played in 27 games as a true freshman, but he also had two starts (USF and at Sacramento State). With a season of Division I hoops under his belt the prolific three-point shooter as a prep is expected to dramatically improve his shooting percentage this season.

"Brandon Gfeller is another guy who could potentially be at either one of those wing positions, depending on how we play," DeCuire said. "If we're going to play big for stretches, you can see Edmonds or Gfeller at the two, and then when we try to play a little quicker and spread the floor a little more, we'd play those guys at the three."

SMALL FORWARD

"It's (the three position) probably our biggest question mark going into the season, more so just in terms of who is going to step out and be the guy at the three position; who is going to be able to make shots and defend, and rebound," DeCuire said.

Weisner has been one of the most efficient three–point and free throw shooters in the Big Sky the past couple of seasons. In league play, despite just six starts, he was the Grizzlies' fourth leading scorer at 8.4 points per game, and shot 48.0% (36-of-75) from three-point range and 95.5% (21-of-22) from the line. Lopez saw limited action as a true freshman, playing in just nine games and 16 contests overall.

"There are guys like Jack Lopez and Michael Weisner who can play minutes at that position, allowing us to play Breunig at the four," DeCuire commented. "That's when we're talking about versatility. So you are going to see four or five guys at that position."

"Weisner and Lopez who I already named, and I could see Edmonds and Gfeller, also have moments when we play small ball and move Jordan Gregory to that position, and maybe Riley or Daniel Nwosu would be at the two," DeCuire said.

POWER FORWARD

Breunig, who practiced at the center position last season as a redshirt after transferring to Montana from UW, was moved to the four spot by DeCuire and his staff, although he still may get minutes in the post as well.

"The three and the five are the two positions that are going to determine how many minutes Martin is going to play at the four," DeCuire said. "I think that that is his more natural position, at least for us in style of play. I think he's got more of an opportunity to be more of an impact player from that position.

"But, given our lack of depth and experience at those spots, I am not sure how many minutes he (Breunig) will be there," DeCuire continued. "Our ability to play small with Weisner at the four and the way he can shoot the ball, could provide Breunig with some opportunities to be isolated and to play with more space and do some things. So, we'll be moving him around a little bit, but we are expecting a lot out of him this year."

POST

More consistent play by Kemp inside will be the barometer for Coach DeCuire in regards to how much he will be able to play Breunig at the power forward spot.

"There were times in the summer when Chris was the best offensive player on the floor and in the paint," said DeCuire. "There's been time when we've seen him as the best rebounder on the floor and in the paint. His ability to sustain that is what we need. We need to see it every day in practice. We need to see it every night in games. I think his conditioning is getting better, and that will lead to his improvement."

2014-15 OUTLOOK GALS Montana Basketball 2014-15

The progress of newcomers Boehning, DeJong, and Krslovic will also be a factor for the Grizzlies and what players see action in the paint.

"We've got some young guys competing for minutes at those same positions," said DeCuire. "Fabijan (FAW-bee-an) is a guy who can play the five or the four, depending on how we're playing. If we are playing power ball we'd have him at the four, which would allow us to do some things. He's very versatile with the ball in his hands – we can run offense through him.

"Then we've got Boehning and Gavin DeJong, who are two kids who can provide us with some minutes and depth inside," he said. "The question for them is will they be ready to play right away? Or will they benefit more from waiting, and spending those minutes in the future? Those things will be determined later – but a lot of upside on both of those young men.

"I think Fab (Krslovic) is more ready to play just because of his experience internationally," added DeCuire. "A lot of those kids, the foreign kids, have played at a high level and traveled, come in with more confidence.

"Bryden is a kid who is really skilled and has the body to perform right now," he said. "I think his confidence and assertiveness is next to come, with strength and experience. And then Gavin is a young man who did not play basketball last year because of an injury, so he's a little behind in terms of his feel and his decision-making. But, he's probably got as much upside as any of the bigs on the team, just given athleticism and his length."

THE SCHEDULE

The Griz begin their formidable non-league schedule at Colorado State on Nov. 15, a 16-15 team that returns four starters. Three days later Montana is at Boise State, a 21-13 team last season that returns three starters. BSU is one of six of Montana's nine Division I opponents this season that won 20 or more games last year. UM closes out its opening-season three-game road trip against Seattle University.

Montana takes a one-game hiatus from the road on Wednesday, Nov. 26, hosting the Carroll College Saints. They are back on the road again after that, playing at the University of San Francisco (Nov. 30) and at Cal a few days later on Dec. 3. The Dons return four starters from a 21-12 squad, while the Golden Bears, who were 21-14 a year ago, return two starters.

"It's definitely difficult to get teams to come to Missoula for a number or reasons," DeCuire said. "Cost to travel, or it's just always been a place that's tough to win at. Most of the road games were completed before getting the job, so the Colorado State game was already there. That's an approachable game. They've gone through some changes. They won't know much about us, so hopefully we can maybe catch them off guard and get off to a good start and play with confidence.

"The Boise State game was one that we scheduled late, in fact it was the last game that we put on the schedule," he said. "We tried to hold out for a home game for that weekend. It would have been better for us to have a home opener right after the Colorado State game. For us it was the opportunity to create a home-and-home with a former Big Sky foe, and a chance to have a home opener next year that creates a lot of good energy for us.

"The Seattle U game was also on the schedule ahead of time, but it works out to be a pretty good game for us," DeCuire said. "A large part of our staff is from Seattle, and it's going to be a huge recruiting base for us.

"After that, coming back, some of the games become a little more approachable, but once again the schedule is tough," DeCuire continued. "Davidson during finals week is very difficult, which puts a lot of pressure on that USF-Cal trip. We're going to try to steal one out of the Bay Area. Cal is as talented as anyone we're going to play this year, and probably a lot like us and not very deep. Maybe if we could pull something off in San Francisco when we get to the Berkeley area with some confidence we could pull something off there as well."

Yet another 20-win squad is next up for the Griz, as they play at the University of Milwaukee-Wisconsin on Sunday, Dec. 14. The Panthers are coming off a 21-14 season and have three starters back. The final non-league contest is Dec. 21, as UM hosts South Dakota, a squad that returns four starters.

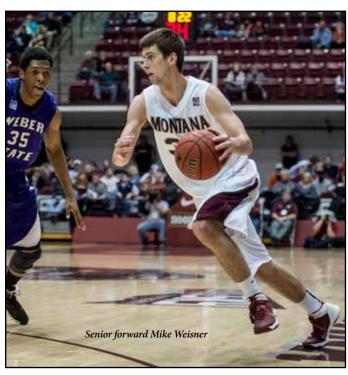

Montana begins its Big Sky slate with two home games, beginning Thursday, Jan. 1, hosting the Northern Colorado Bears, and then on Saturday, Jan. 3 they play North Dakota.

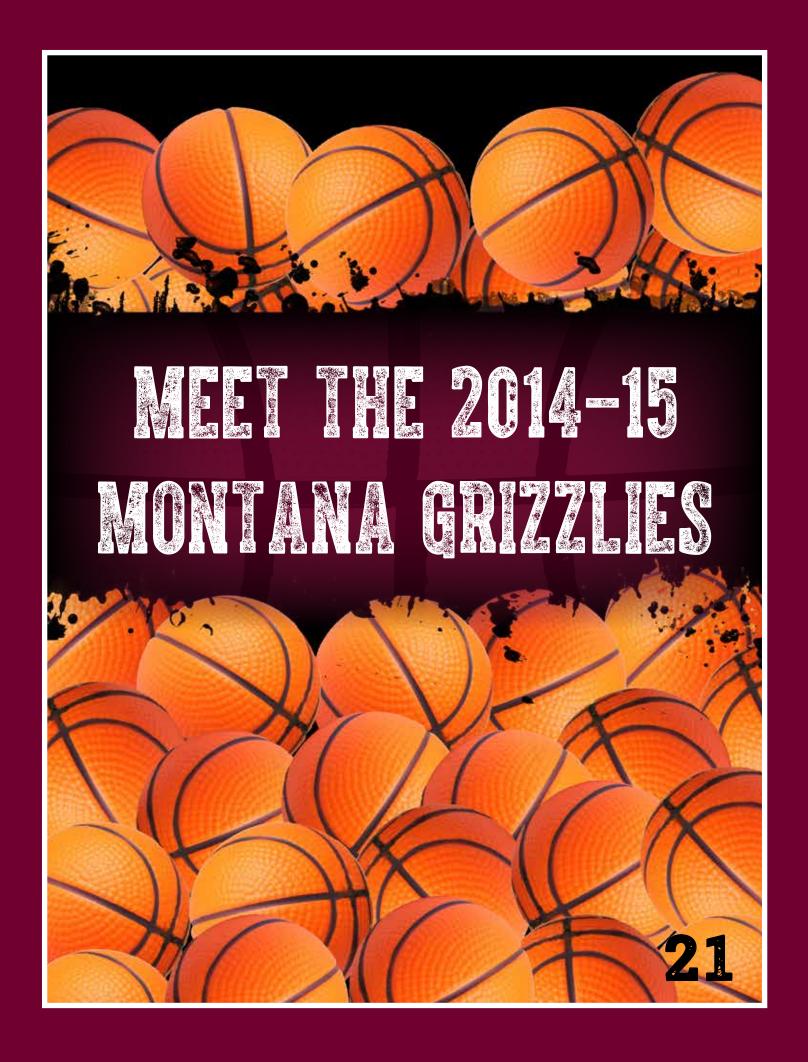

"It's a little early for me to have a feel for style of play and returning players, and those types of things," said DeCuire on his take for the Big Sky race this season. "But, Weber is always going to be Weber, and I think they're the team to beat until they're not. I would say teams like NAU, Sac State, and Portland State are returning players from teams that had strong finishes last year and shown a lot of upside. Obviously Eastern Washington is a team that people think will be good this year because they return a lot of guys who scored a lot of points.

"I am one to tend to look at teams on what they've done over the last few years," he said. "So I would say Weber is always the team to beat, like I said. NAU has figured out how to be up there.

And then the rest, just for us is just to see what happens to those teams in their non-league games before we pass judgement on any of them.

"But, one thing I do always remember, is travel is tough on teams," said DeCuire, who was a three-year starter at point guard at Montana from 1992-94. "Playing in football facilities has always been tough. Going into Idaho, Idaho State, and NAU your perception when shooting the ball is a lot different. Those are always going to be tough places to play. We are going to approach every game like a championship game and see where we are at at the end."

BIG SKY CONFERENCE

Montana Basketball 2014-15

The Big Sky Conference celebrated 50 years of men's athletics and 25 years of women's competition during the 2013-14 academic year.

The venerable and stable Division I Big Sky Conference observed its 50th birthday on July 1, 2013. To mark the historic occasion, the league honored its past by commemorating its top male and female athletes, as well as the top moments and teams.

Four of the current league members – Idaho State University, The University of Montana, Montana State and Weber State – have been with the league since its birth. Fellow charter member the University of Idaho brings the majority of its sports back to the Big Sky on July 1, 2014. Northern Arizona University enters its 45th season in the league, giving the league five members with at least 40 years of continuous membership.

The Big Sky Conference welcomed North Dakota and Southern Utah on July 1, 2013 as full members. UC Davis and Cal Poly joined as football affiliate members. Eastern Washington University, the University of Northern Colorado, Portland State University and Sacramento State round out the current membership.

The league has become one of the strongest Division I conferences in the West and is a national leader in the Football Championship Subdivision. Six times, Big Sky teams have won the Division I National Championship, including Eastern Washington in 2010. A Big Sky team has played for the national championship in three of the past five seasons. The Big Sky is one of three conferences in the western United States playing Division I football.

The Big Sky Conference was established in 1963 by six charter members – Idaho, Idaho State, Gonzaga, Montana, Montana State and Weber State. Those six schools formed the foundation of the Big Sky before the league expanded in 1970 by adding Boise State and Northern Arizona. Gonzaga left the Sky in 1979 and was replaced by Nevada, which gave the league eight members. The conference grew to nine schools in 1987 with the addition of Eastern Washington.

The 1990s saw change in the makeup of the league, beginning in 1992 when Nevada departed and put the Big Sky back at eight teams. In 1996 Boise State and Idaho left, and at the same time the conference added Portland State, Sacramento State and Cal State Northridge. The Big Sky maintained nine teams for five years before Cal State Northridge departed in the spring of 2001.

The Big Sky now includes nine states spanning from the Pacific Ocean to the Red River Valley of North Dakota. The league is represented along the entire west coast with institutions in Washington, Oregon and California. League schools also range up and down the Rocky Mountains with institutions in Montana, Idaho, Utah, Arizona and Colorado. It is "The Heart of the American West."

On Feb 25, 1963, the name Big Sky was adopted by the six presidents of the charter members as the name of the new conference. The name Big Sky originated in a novel written by the late A.B. (Bud) Guthrie of Great Falls, Mont., in 1947 entitled "The Big Sky." Jack Hollowell, a former Montana advertising director, promoted the Big Sky theme for the Treasure State. While on a track and field trip from Pocatello, Idaho, to Missoula, Mont., legendary Dubby Holt of Idaho State saw a "Welcome to Big Sky Country" sign as his team entered Montana. Holt, and his athletes thought "Big Sky" would be a perfect name for the new conference. Harry Missildine of the Spokane Spokesman-Review called for the newly formed league to be named the Big Sky Conference in his column dated Feb. 20, 1963.

The Big Sky sponsors championships in 15 sports, including men's and women's cross country, indoor and outdoor track and field, basketball and tennis. In addition, there are also championships in football, and women's volleyball, golf and soccer. The Big Sky sponsored softball for the first time in 2013. Men's golf will return as a conference sport in 2014-15.

In 1988-89, the Big Sky Conference first began sponsoring women's sports. The former Mountain West Conference existed from 1982-88, sponsoring championships for women's sports at the same institutions the Big Sky had men's programs. The Big Sky merged with the Mountain West in 1988, forming one league for both men and women.

Doug Fullerton, the fifth commissioner of the Big Sky Conference, is in his 20th year at the helm. Fullerton took over the Big Sky on July 1, 1995, replacing longtime commissioner Ron Stephenson, who passed away in 2011. Stephenson served the league for 14 years. Steve Belko was the commissioner from 1977-81, while John Roning held the post from 1971-77. The first league commissioner was Jack Friel, who served from 1963-71.

2014-15 Preview

The 2014-15 Big Sky Conference men's basketball season will feature changes to the championship structure, as well as the addition of a new team. The University of Idaho returns to the Big Sky Conference, the league where the Vandals called home from 1963-1996. Idaho, which lost in the WAC Championship game in 2014, won Big Sky Conference postseason Championships in 1981, 1982, 1989 and 1990.

The Vandals are led by coach Don Verlin, who enters his seventh season in Moscow. The addition of Idaho brings the Big Sky to 12 men's basketball members. League squads will play 18 conference games. League teams will play seven conference members twice, and the other four members once. Teams will play nine league home games and nine conference road games. The top eight teams will advance to the 2015 Big Sky Conference Championship, which will be hosted by the regular-season champion.

The No. 1 seed will no longer receive a bye to the semifinals. The first day of the conference tournament will feature four quarterfinal games with the

No. 1 seed playing the No. 8 seed, the No. 2 seed taking on the No. 7 seed, the No. 3 seed playing the No. 6 seed, and the No. 4 seed playing the No. 5 seed. There will be no reseeding following the first round.

Both Montana schools are under the direction of new coaches. Former Montana point guard Travis DeCuire has taken over the Grizzly program. DeCuire previously served as an assistant coach at Cal. He replaced Wayne Tinkle, who is now the head coach at Oregon State. Brian Fish, a former assistant at Oregon, is now in charge at Montana State. Fish replaced Brad Huse, who resigned after eight seasons.

Weber State is the defending league champion. Under the direction of Randy Rahe, the Wildcats have won 106 conference games the past eight seasons, and played for the league championship five times. Weber State lost conference MVP Davion Berry, but returns Freshman of the Year Jeremy Senglin and Defensive Player of the Year Joel Bolomboy.

Sacramento State, which advanced to the conference tournament for the first time since 2006 last season, returns all five starters. Eastern Washington returns four starters, including junior guard Tyler Harvey, who finished eighth in the nation in scoring as a sophomore and was named First Team All-Conference.

Jack Murphy begins his third season at Northern Arizona, and the Lumberjacks figure to contend for the title. Quinton Upshur, a senior guard returns after earning First Team All-Conference honors and the Top Newcomer honor last season. North Dakota played for the league championship last season, but must replace a trio of outstanding guards - Troy Huff, Aaron Anderson and Jamal Webb. Forward Jaron Nash is the top returning player for the Green & White.

Northern Colorado and Portland State both advanced to the semifinals in 2014. Both squads return two starters.

Idaho State enters its third season under Bill Evans. Sharp-shooting Chris Hansen returns to lead the Bengals.

Southern Utah returns all five starters as Nick Robinson hopes to lead the Thunderbirds up the standings.

On July 26, 2013, the NCAA Committee on Infractions (COI) issued its findings regarding a NCAA investigation into the UM football program that began in February 2012. In its findings, the COI found that The University of Montana and a former head football coach failed to monitor its football program. Specifically, violations occurred as a result of the following: (A) boosters providing extra benefits to student-athletes, some of which resulted in two student-athletes competing while ineligible, (B) during one season, an undergraduate student assistant participated in coaching activities resulting in the football program exceeding the permissible limit of football coaches and (C) the institution and football coach failed to monitor these activities. As a result of the findings, UM is subject to the following penalties: (1) public reprimand and censure, (2) three years of probation from July 26, 2013, through July 25, 2016, (3) a limit of 59 football equivalency scholarships during the 2014-15, 2015-16 and 2016-17 academic years, (4) with regard to the 2011 football season and games in which the student-athletes competed while ineligible, the vacation of wins and participation in the FCS Championship Playoffs, as well as vacation of the individual statistics for the involved student-athletes, (5) forfeiture of $3,000 which will be donated to local charities, (6) reduction of undergraduate student assistant positions by two during the 2013-14 academic year and (7) external review of $the compliance program. \ During the three-year probationary period, the institution will submit annual progress reports to the$ COI regarding compliance with all penalties and self-corrective actions.
