Big Sky Championship (Greeley, Colo.)

GRIZZLIES ENTER 2ND HALF IN GOOD STANDING

MONTANA AT PORTLAND STATE / THURSDAY, OCT. 18 / 8 P.M. (MT) / PORTLAND, ORE.

MONTANA AT SACRAMENTO STATE / SATURDAY, OCT. 20 / 2 P.M. / SACRAMENTO, CALIF.

The Grizzlies have put themselves in a good position. As the midway point of the Big Sky Conference volleyball season nears, Montana is 5-3 and within a game of first place. The winning streak, home victories and historic start have all been well documented, but now things get more challenging.

After winning just three conference matches a year ago, and two the year before that, it would be hard to blame opponents if they entered their matchups with the Griz penciling in a win. Through the first four weeks of the league schedule, though, opponents know that's no longer a reality.

Montana was picked to finish ninth in the Big Sky Conference preseason poll, voted on by head coaches, but has already earned three wins over teams picked ahead of the Grizzlies. Montana came from behind to knock off Sacramento State – a team that advanced to the tournament finals a year ago – before sweeping Portland State. Three nights later, Montana won the Brawl of the Wild against another team picked in front of the Grizzlies.

There's no sneaking up on opponents now, though. If Montana wants to reach its goal of qualifying for the Big Sky tournament – something that hasn't been accomplished since 2014 – the Grizzlies will have to continue to get better each week and stay ahead of team's counterpunches.

"We have to take advantage of the fact that we're kind of in charge of our own destiny at this point instead of needing several things to go our way," second-year head coach Allison Lawrence said. "It's a new problem, and it's a good one, and we have to be hungrier than ever."

The good news: Through the first eight matches, Montana has put itself in a good spot. The convoluted Big Sky standings have four teams tied for first place at 6-2 (Idaho, Idaho State, Sacramento State and Weber State). Just one game back, three more are at 5-3 (Montana, Northern Arizona and Northern Colorado).

The top eight teams qualify for the conference tournament, with Montana State (3-5) currently holding the No. 8 slot. Portland State and Southern Utah are 1-7, while Eastern Washington is still winless at 0-8.

"Any team can win on any given night in this league, and you can see that in the standings," Lawrence

ABOUT MONTANA

- Montana has already matched last year's win total (8).
- The Grizzlies' five Big Sky wins are as many as they won in 2016 and 2017 combined.
- Montana won five consecutive home matches from Sept. 1-Oct. 11.
- The Grizzlies have played in seven five-set matches, going 5-2 and winning four in a row.
- Senior OH Mykaela Hammer was named the Big Sky Conference Offensive Player of the Week on Sept. 24. During conference play, she ranks fifth in the league with 3.74 kills per set.
- MB Olivia Bradley ranks fifth in Big Sky play with a .343 hitting percentage, best among all freshmen.
- Junior setter Ashley Watkins has more than 2,100 career assists. She currently ranks ninth in UM history. Her 10.70 assists-per-set average in 2018 ranks fifth in conference play.
- Montana has used three liberos, but freshman Sarina Moreno has started each of the past 16 matches. Her 4.68 Big Sky digs-per-set average ranks seventh.
- Sophomore MB Baily Permann is averaging 1.07 blocks per set during Big Sky play (eighth).
- Three of Montana's losses have come to top-30 teams nationally.
- UM improved in every statistical category from 2016 to 2017, including a 40-percent increase in blocking (132-spot improvement nationally).
- The Grizzlies returned every player who earned a start in 2017, in addition to 99.9% of their kills, 99.5% of their blocks, 95.7% of their assists, 83.6% of their service aces and 81.6% of their digs.

ABOUT PORTLAND STATE

- PSU is just 1-7 in Big Sky play, but took Idaho State and Weber State (both tied for first place) to five sets last week. The team's Oct. 4 win at Eastern Washington snapped its 15-match losing skid.
- Five players average at least 1.95 kills per set, led by senior OH Jenna Mullen (3.08, ninth in Big Sky).
- In last week's loss to Weber State, junior OH Toni McDougald had a career-high 19 kills. Her 2.22 kills-per-set average ranks third on the team.
- Also against Weber State, freshman OH Peyton McBride became the first Viking since 2012 to record 20 kills and 20 digs in a match. McBride ranks third on her team for digs and sixth for kills.
- PSU runs a 6-2 offense, utilizing two setters.
- The Vikings rank in the upper half of Big Sky play with 16.24 digs per set (fifth), led by senior DS Hadley Heck (4.06, 10th).
- PSU ranks eighth in Big Sky play with 1.91 blocks per set. The Vikings rank ninth for opponent hitting and 10th for all other statistical categories.

SERIES VS. THE VIKINGS

Montana has won three of the past five matchups vs. Portland State, but overall, the series that began in 1975 has belonged to Portland State. The Vikings are 58-17 all-time vs. UM, including 29-5 in Portland. Montana has lost 16 of its last 17 matches in Portland, but the win came in 2015. During last month's home victory over the Vikings, senior Mykaela Hammer led the Griz with 16 kills on .500 hitting.

ABOUT SACRAMENTO STATE

- Entering its Thursday match vs. Montana State, Sacramento State has won six of its past seven matches, including sweeps last week over Idaho State and Weber State (tied for first place).
- Senior OH Mikaela Nocetti ranks second in Big Sky play with 4.48 kills per set (47th in NCAA). She takes more than one-third of her team's swings, with no other players averaging more than 2.50 kills per set.
- Nocetti is a 2017 All-Big Sky selection and the reigning Big Sky Offensive Player of the Week.
- The Hornets lead the Big Sky and rank seventh nationally with 1.78 service aces per set. They have three players ranked in the top 10 in the Big Sky, including senior DS Skyler Takeda (0.51 per set, 12th in NCAA).
- The Hornets rank in the top four in the Big Sky for service aces, hitting percentage, opponent hitting and blocking.
- Three Hornets average at least 0.89 blocks per set, including senior MB Lana Brown (1.10, sixth in Big Sky play).
- Brown (.343, sixth) and senior MB Brie Gathright (.305, 10th) both rank in the top 10 in Big Sky play for hitting percentage.

SERIES VS. THE HORNETS

Montana is just 14-30 all-time against Sacramento State, but has won 10 of the past 16 matchups since 2008. The Grizzlies are 4-16 all-time in Sacramento. In last month's come-from-behind victory, senior Mykaela Hammer had 23 kills on .409 hitting. Missy Huddleston (21) and Sarina Moreno (19) combined for 40 digs, while Baily Permann led UM with six blocks.

MONTANA VOLLEYBALL

said. "Depending on who gets hot at the right time, that will dictate who passes each other up."

Montana will officially reach the halfway point of its conference season on Saturday at Sacramento State, but the second half will unofficially begin Thursday when the Grizzlies travel to Portland to take on the Vikings for the second time.

Portland State was picked to finish fourth in the preseason poll, but got off to a tough start due to an array of injuries. The Vikings seem to be finding a rhythm now, though. After beating Eastern Washington Oct. 4 on the road, they took Weber State and Idaho State to five sets. The Wildcats and Bengals are part of the tie for first place.

Sacramento State led the Grizzlies 2-0 in both teams' league opener, before Montana stunned the Hornets by winning the final three sets. Since then, Sacramento State is 6-1 with its only loss coming at preseason favorite Idaho. The team is on a three-match winning streak, with all three wins coming in straight sets.

Still, most of what the Grizzlies are focusing on has little to do with the opponent across the net and more on themselves. They'll reference back to the previous time the two teams squared off, or look into patterns and tendencies, but for the most part, it's about controlling themselves.

"Our whole goal the entire season has been to get better each week, as cliché as that sounds," Lawrence said. "A lot, a lot of what we're focusing on is just our side. It's managing our own errors, it's being consistent with our energy and communication, it's hitting our assignments. Those are all things that are completely dictated by us."

First serve in Portland is scheduled for Thursday at 8 p.m. MT. The Griz and Hornets begin battle Saturday at 2 p.m. MT. Both matches can be watched on Pluto TV.

TALKING HISTORY

Montana is off to one of its best starts in recent memory, and along the way has accomplished several rare feats.

- Still with at least 10 matches to play, Montana has already matched last season's win total and is currently tied for its most total wins since 2013.
- The Grizzlies opened Big Sky Conference play with three consecutive victories, marking their best start since 2006. With five wins through their first seven conference matches, Montana's 5-2 start had only been accomplished one other time since 1995.
- With five Big Sky wins already under its belt, Montana has matched its conference win total from 2016 and 2017 combined.
- Montana won five consecutive home matches from Sept. 1 through Oct. 11, its longest home winning streak since 2011. Overall, the team's five home wins are its most in a season since 2013. The Grizzlies are nearing the home win total from 2015-17 combined (six).
- The Grizzlies have won two true road matches, matching their total from 2016 and 2017 combined.
- From Sept. 15-25, Montana won four consecutive matches overall, its longest winning streak since 2013.

IN THE RANKINGS

Several Grizzlies rank among the Big Sky leaders for several statistical categories:

- Olivia Bradley's .343 Big Sky hitting percentage ranks fifth in the league and first among freshman attackers. She has UM's top-two individual hitting percentages this season, including a .625 clip (10-0-16) vs. Eastern Washington.
- Mykaela Hammer's 3.74 kills-per-set average in Big Sky play ranks fifth.
- Ashley Watkins ranks fifth in Big Sky play with 10.70 assists per set.
- Sarina Moreno ranks seventh in Big Sky play with 4.68 digs per set.
- Baily Permann's 1.07 blocks-per-set average in Big Sky play is the eighth-best in the league.
- Missy Huddleston's 24 kills vs. Gonzaga are the fourth-most by a Big Sky athlete this season. Hammer's 23 vs. Sacramento State rank fifth.
- Ashley Watkins' 46 assists vs. Portland State are the most in a three-set match this season.

EFFICIENT HITTING

In Montana's four-set victory over Eastern Washington last week, the Grizzlies hit .328, their highest hitting percentage since 2015.

The Grizzlies made just four hitting errors through the first two frames, attacking at a .423 clip in Set 1 and .500 in Set 2. Montana's second-set percentage was the highest this season, while its first-set numbers were the third-best. To no surprise, Montana is 5-1 this season when recording a higher attack percentage than its opponent.

Entering the week, no individual player had gone a match with at least five kills without making an error. It happened twice over the weekend, however, with freshman middle blocker hitting .625 vs. Eastern Washington (10-0-16) and Cassie Laramée attacking at a .474 clip (9-0-19).

FRESHMAN IMPACT

With every starter returning from 2017, there wasn't a lot of room for newcomers to fit into the rotation, but two true freshmen have found their groove.

Middle blocker Olivia Bradley has earned 13 starts this year, including 10 in the past 12 matches. The freshman not only leads the Griz for hitting (.303), but her .343 Big Sky hitting percentage ranks fifth in the league. Bradley ranks fourth on the team for kills (1.73 per set), second for blocking (0.71 per set) and third for total points (2.32 per set).

Sarina Moreno didn't travel with the Griz to the team's first road trip, but took over at libero midway through the fourth match of the season and has played each match since. Her 4.16 digs-per-set average rank seventh in the Big Sky, and she has increased that number to 4.68 during league play, also adding 12 service aces (third on the team).

NEARING 100

Redshirt senior Mykaela Hammer has been a staple for the Grizzlies over the past five seasons. In addition to playing for three head coaches, she has switched positions multiple times, doing whatever her team needed from her. As a sophomore in 2016, playing as both an outside and middle, Hammer led the Grizzlies for blocks. A year later in 2017, she was the team leader for kills, and is on pace to again lead Montana in that category in 2018.

Hammer will likely surpass 800 career kills this weekend, and is nearing 200 career blocks as well. The senior is also approaching another milestone. If all goes according to planned, Montana's match at Montana State on Oct. 23 will be Hammer's 100th career match. Of her 97 matches played thus far, she has earned 77 starts, including 24 matches in a row and 60 of the past 61.

CLUTCH DOWN THE STRETCH

Of Montana's 20 matches, seven have gone to five sets, including three already during Big Sky play. Montana is 5-2 in five-setters and a perfect 3-0 during league action.

"Our fifth-set stats are off the charts," head coach Allison Lawrence said. "There's no more pressure than a fifth set, and we have the ability to step up our game during pressure situations."

In the fifth set, Montana has more kills, digs, and service aces than its opponents, and is hitting .051 higher (.217 compared to .166) than its season average. Despite the fifth set being a shortened frame (going to 15 points instead of 25), senior Mykaela Hammer is averaging 3.14 kills per set on .386 hitting during deciding frames.

SETTING UP THE GRIZ

Setter Ashley Watkins moved into ninth place in Montana history, now holding more than 2,100 career assists. Making the feat even more impressive, Watkins is just a junior, and she spent her freshman season hitting during half of the team's rotations. At her current pace, Watkins could finish her career near the top five in school history.

HOME-COURT ADVANTAGE

Sept. 25 was a special night for the Montana volleyball team. Not only did the Grizzlies defeat rival Montana State in come-from-behind fashion to even the all-time series ledger at 56-56, but with the victory, Montana improved to 3-0 in Big Sky play for the first time since 2006.

What's more, though, the match was played in front of 1,314 fans, the largest crowd since 2009 and the 10th-largest on record.

"That was probably one of the most special moments for me in eight years here," head coach Allison Lawrence said. "To see the crowd that showed up for that match, along with the band, it was such a unique energy, and really gave us excitement and motivation. It was a special night for our program, and I'm really proud of our performance."

From Sept. 1 through Oct. 11, Montana won five consecutive home matches, its best stretch since 2011. Overall, the Grizzlies are 5-3 at home this season, with their three defeats coming against a pair of top-30 teams (Utah and Iowa State) and preseason league favorite Idaho. Making the record even more impressive, the team's five home wins in a season are its most since 2013. In fact, the Grizzlies won just six combined home matches from 2015-17.

SEARCHING FOR THE RIGHT LINEUP

In 20 matches, Montana has used 14 different starting-lineup combinations, not repeating the same one until the eighth match of the season. Overall, just three combinations have been repeated, and none more than five times. Setter Ashley Watkins and outside hitter Mykaela Hammer have started all 20 matches.

"We have a lot of players who, statistically, are very close to each other," head coach Allison Lawrence said. "Competition is what is going to make our team at its best the most often. Playing time might be tough to come by at times, but when someone goes in and makes a difference, they'll earn a start the next time."

HAMMER NAMED PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Senior outside hitter was named the Big Sky Conference Offensive Player of the Week on Sept. 24. Hammer averaged a double-double with 19.5 kills and 10.0 digs over two matches, doing so on at an impressive .443 efficiency. Her 4.88 kills-per-set average was nearly double the next-closest Grizzly.

In a come-from-behind victory over Sacramento State, Hammer recorded a career-high 23 kills on .409 hitting, eclipsing her previous high for kills on the final swing of the match. The Grizzlies found themselves trailing two sets to none, but closed the third set on a 10-5 run to extend the match. Hammer had three kills during that stretch. Trailing 15-11 in the fourth set, Montana used a 9-4 run to take the lead. During that period, Hammer had four kills. The Grizzlies then scored three of the final four points to earn a 25-23 advantage, with a pair of kills coming from Hammer. In the deciding fifth frame, the Grizzlies jumped out to a 5-0 lead and never trailed. Hammer had two kills during the 5-0 run, plus the final point of the match.

Two nights later vs. Portland State, Hammer again led the Grizzlies, this time with 16 kills on .500 hitting. The outside hitter also recorded three service aces.

Montana jumped out to an 11-5 lead in the first set, with Hammer recording four kills and serving five points during the run. Leading by just one, 13-12, in the second set, Hammer had three consecutive points – a kill and back-to-back service aces – to force a Vikings timeout. She had seven kills, an ace and a block in Montana's Set-3 victory to seal the match.

CELEBRATING ITS PAST

For the first time in more than a decade, Montana hosted an alumni weekend (Sept. 21-22), welcoming back 13 former players – including All-Americans, school record-holders, conference champions and some of the top students and athletes in school history.

"That was one of the highlights of my whole coaching career, not just as a head coach," Allison Lawrence said at the time. "The moment that the alumni saw each other, to see them and feel their energy and hear their stories was really special for me and for our team."

The night before the match, the past and present Grizzlies ate dinner together, reminiscing and sharing stories, in addition to passing along advice to the younger group.

"The biggest thing was to see their relationships now," Lawrence continued. "I don't think they talk very frequently; they have their own busy lives. But the way those bonds come back when they're in this environment I think made our team realize what the bigger picture is and what this is all about, which is who you are for your teammates."

NON-CONFERENCE COMPETITION

Of the 12 teams Montana played in the preseason, four have either been nationally ranked or have received votes in the AVCA top-25 coaches' poll this season. The Grizzlies challenged themselves by playing two teams from the Pac-12 and another from the Big 12, but all around, their opponents had success throughout the first month of the season. The combined non-conference winning percentage of Montana's 12 preseason opponents was .570 (81-61), with nine teams posting a .500 record or better.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM PRESEASON

- Montana earned victories over Gonzaga (3-2), UTEP (3-0) and South Dakota (3-2).
- Senior outside hitter Mykaela Hammer was named to the Montana Invitational and Borderland Invitational all-tournament teams. At the Roadrunner Classic, outside hitter Alexis Urbach and setter Ashley Watkins earned all-tournament honors.
- Montana out-blocked its opponents six times during the preseason, averaging 2.1 blocks per set. Sophomore middle blocker Baili Permann has led the Grizzlies for blocking six times.
- During a seven-match stretch from Aug. 31 through Sept. 14, Montana was out-dug just one time (in a victory at UTEP). The stretch featured three matches vs. top-30 opponents.
- Montana hit a season-best .229 in a five-set loss to New Mexico State. It marked the first time in more than a year that the Aggies, who now own a 16-match home win streak, had been pushed to five sets at home.

MONTANA VOLLEYBALL

- The Grizzlies out-hit their opponents twice during the Borderland Invitational, holding UTEP to .150 efficiency.
- The Grizzlies recorded more service aces than their opponents in each of the final two matches of non-conference play (CSU Bakersfield and South Dakota).
- Hammer recorded 20 kills vs. New Mexico State. She has led the Grizzlies for kills a team-high five times this season.
- Junior outside hitter Missy Huddleston has recorded double-figure kill totals six times, including 24 on .333 hitting in a five-set win over Gonzaga. Trailing 14-13 in the fifth set, she had a kill and service ace to set up match point for Montana. She also has three double-doubles and has led UM in hitting percentage a team-high four times.
- Urbach had 21 kills on .390 hitting vs. CSU Bakersfield and 16 kills at a .483 clip in the season opener against UC Riverside. She has led Montana for kills four times this season.
- Watkins has four double-doubles and a team-high 12 service aces.
- Over the past four matches, freshman middle blocker Olivia Bradley is averaging 2.07 kills and 1.07 blocks per set. She has led the Grizzlies in blocking four times this season.
- True freshman Sarina Moreno has started eight matches at libero, averaging 3.71 digs per set in those matches, including a career-high 20 vs. Gonzaga. She also has six service aces.
- During the Montana Invitational, junior middle blocker Janna Grimsrud totaled 12 blocks over two matches. On the season she is averaging 1.50 blocks over 10 sets.
- Against New Mexico State, Montana used an 8-0 run to force a deciding fifth set. The Grizzlies and Aggies were tied at 13-13 in the final frame before NMSU won the final two points.
- The Grizzlies learned how to close out tight sets late at UTEP. They led 23-22 in the first set before winning two of the final three points. The two teams were knotted at 23-23 in Set 2, before Montana won the next two points. Tied at 24-24 in the third set, the Grizzlies got back-to-back kills to seal the match.

A SIGNATURE WIN

After a 0-5 start to the year, the Grizzlies earned a signature win over Gonzaga (Sept. 1), winning the first two sets before rallying in the fifth frame to win, 17-15. In the deciding set, Montana trailed 14-13 before scoring four of the next five points.

"I think I jumped as high as I have since college," head coach Allison Lawrence said after the match. "I was very emotional. We had players crying, we had coaches hugging. We're a program that has been starved for wins, and I want us to be so hungry that when that last ball falls, it's the feeling of coming up for air and all of your emotions come pouring out."

The result was even more important considering Gonzaga is one of Montana's regional recruiting rivals.

HANGING WITH THE BEST

Montana knew the challenge would be steep, facing a pair of top-30 teams nationally. The Grizzlies were up for the challenge, however. Despite losing in straight sets to both Utah and Iowa State (Aug. 31), Montana showed fight, and pushed the Power-5 teams in many sets.

Against No. 22 Utah, the Grizzlies jumped out to an early lead and forced the Utes to call timeout first. Montana led by as many as three points, and as late as 17-16. In the third set, Montana was within a single point, 15-14, midway through the frame. Montana was even better against Iowa State. In the second set, the Grizzlies led by as many as seven points, 15-8, and were tied at 21-21. The two teams were knotted at 20-20 in Set 3, before Iowa State again closed the set on a run.

SARINA'S DEBUT

Freshman Sarina Moreno, who did not travel with the team to Montana's first tournament in California, made her collegiate debut during the second set vs. Utah (Aug. 31). She had six digs vs. the Utes, and has continued to find her comfortability. In her 16 starts, the libero has averaged 4.19 digs per set, in addition to 12 service aces.

COMING HOME

Montana played a home match in the month of August for the first time since 2014, hosting the four-team Montana Invitational (Aug. 31-Sept. 1). A year ago, Montana played its first 15 matches away from home, playing its own gym for the first time on Sept. 28.

RANKED FOES IN MISSOULA

For just the fourth time ever, and the first time in 15 years, a nationally ranked volleyball team played in Missoula. The Grizzlies hung tough with No. 22 Utah, leading by as many as three points in the first set, and as late as 17-16.

MONTANA VOLLEYBALL

WE'RE (ALL) BACK!

The 2017 season was a rebuilding year, with a new head coach and zero seniors on roster. But the Grizzlies made promising strides a year ago, and now have the benefit of returning every statistical leader. In fact, every player who earned a start in 2017 is back.

Returning Production

- Kills: 99.9%
- Blocks: 99.5%
- Assists: 95.7%
- Service Aces: 83.6%
- Digs: 81.6%

TRENDING UP

The Grizzlies saw a three-win improvement during Allison Lawrence's first season as head coach. Even more impressive, UM improved in every statistical category from 2016 to 2017, including a 40-percent increase in blocking (132-spot improvement nationally).

It was a similar trend in Big Sky Conference play, with Montana improving its ranking in hitting percentage, opponent hitting, assists, kills, blocks and service aces.

WELCOME TO UM

In addition to returning nearly every contributor from 2017, the Grizzlies also added five freshmen to their roster. The newcomers made an immediate impact during fall camp, with Lawrence praising each of them for what they brought to the court.

"Olivia (Bradley) is fast and she thinks on her feet," Lawrence said of the Nampa, Idaho, native. "When she doesn't know what she's supposed to be doing – which is rare – she kind of pushes through it and grinds it out."

Bradley made two starts during her opening weekend, leading the team with five blocks vs. Akron (Aug. 25). She has played in 18 of UM's 20 matches (13 starts), and is averaging 1.73 kills on a team-best .303 hitting, plus 0.71 blocks per set. Montana's other freshmen are outside hitter Elsa Godwin (Missoula, Mont.), defensive specialist Sarina Moreno (Missoula, Mont.), defensive specialist Kelsey Nestegard (Pullman, Wash.) and setter Casey Stites (Bozeman, Mont.). Moreno has started at libero each of Montana's last 14 matches.

LOOKING AHEAD

Montana will have a quick turnaround. Once returning to Missoula, the team will practice once at home before traveling to Bozeman on Tuesday to take on rival Montana State. The Grizzlies won Round 1 of the Brawl of the Wild, 3-2, in front of more than 1,300 fans last month.

ALLISON LAWRENCE

Head Coach | 2nd Season/9th Overall | Oregon State, 2005

The 2018 season is Allison Lawrence's second year as head coach of the Montana volleyball program, her ninth overall. She was hired in January 2017 after serving the previous seven years as an assistant.

Lawrence joined the Grizzlies in the summer of 2010 after one season as an assistant coach at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas.

Montana went 8-21 in Lawrence's first year as head coach, matching the most wins for the program since 2013.

In Lawrence's seven seasons as an assistant, Montana three times finished .500 or better in Big Sky Conference matches and three times made the league's postseason tournament.

At the 2013 Big Sky tournament, No. 5 Montana defeated No. 4 Northern Arizona in the quarterfinals, the Grizzlies' first postseason victory since 1996.

Since Lawrence has been on staff, Jaimie Thibeault earned first-team All-Big Sky honors in 2010, Kayla Reno in 2013 and Hannah Sackett in 2015. The Grizzlies also have had three second-team selections during that time.

Lawrence, from Alta Loma, Calif., was a four-year starter at outside hitter for Oregon State, from 2001 to 2004. She graduated from OSU in 2005 with a degree in philosophy and added a master's degree in applied women's studies from Claremont Graduate University in 2008.

Lawrence was a freshman on Oregon State's NCAA tournament team in 2001 and would go on to earn honorable-mention All-Pac-10 honors as a junior and senior. She was awarded Pac-10 academic honors in 2002, 2003 and 2004, and was an academic all-district selection as a junior.

One of the top outside hitters in Beaver history, Lawrence finished her career ranked among OSU's leaders in both kills (1,255) and digs (965).

Lawrence was a volunteer assistant coach at Oregon State in 2005 and an assistant coach at Pomona-Pitzer in 2007 and La Verne in 2008, both NCAA Division III schools in Southern California. She also gained extensive coaching experience at the club level during that time.

Lawrence spent the 2009 season at Trinity. She helped lead the Tigers to a 30-win season and a spot in the NCAA Division III national quarterfinals. She is married to Nate Michael. They are the parents of two sons, Wyatt and Carson.
